

Rotunda

Oct. 1920 - June 1921

Vol. 1

B²

A

B¹

B¹

A

B²

DUMMY

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 1.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 29, 1920.

INTRODUCING "DUMMY".

Why another "dummy" with over six hundred of us already here? There is a reason! When a publisher wants to show what a book or magazine looks like he gets up a blank, brainless thing, which he calls a dummy.

As we go to print, no name has yet been selected for our new weekly paper, and we wish this week only to give an idea of what it will look like. Hence we adopt this printers' term pro tem.

Perhaps the students will want another name; but having heard it used so oft, and so endearingly, we think it a not altogether inappropriate name for the little paper which seeks to be a spokesman for the average normal school girl. For convenience, therefore, we shall call it Dummy until we get a better name.

It is true that we need, and have needed long time, a paper which would represent the activities of the students and the school. Through Dummy it is our aim to give their thoughts and actions; their joys and petty griefs; their mistakes, pet grudges and secret ambitions, hopes and ideals.

We want our paper to stand for loyalty to the Normal School and to uphold the real ideals which she represents and the aims toward which she strives. When we see mistakes made we shall advocate coming out in the open and talking about them and we shall try to suggest means to correct them.

We shall have fun too. We shall get it and give it through Dummy. For school is no less the place for fun than for work, and who does not like a joke? Dummy wants your jokes.

Dummy hopes to be also the connecting link between the alumnae and alma mater. To the alumnae we have to say that in our columns we shall gladly give space to your contributions and we hope for your subscriptions.

Also we want Dummy to be a link between our friends in the community and the school, for from time to time we shall flash light on the life in the Training School.

All this we undertake to do, not solely by the efforts of the staff alone, but through contributions from all of our constituents.

And now, girls, will you please lend us your thoughts and ideas? Don't depend on somebody else to do it; for it will not get done. Whenever you think of something witty or something you'd like someone else to know about—just "slip it through the slot" to us.

Y. W. C. A.

New Citizens Campaign—An Announcement

What a relief it is not to have to influence

Johnny to vote this year! What a relief it is to walk right up to the polls and vote for the President of the United States one's own self!

Regardless of age, knowledge, or present condition of servitude, every girl in school is going to have the opportunity of participating in the presidential campaign, beginning Monday, October 25th. On that day you will cease to live on halls, but will become a residing, prospective, voting citizens of a State instead. Your State will see that you pay your one cent poll tax and become, not a prospective, but an actual voting citizen. Also your State will send your delegates to the National Convention Wednesday night. If you have well instructed them, they will nominate your desired candidates for president and vice-president of the United States, and place the planks in your platform.

Then, if you have well chosen, your candidates on their "front-porch" or "stump" speech campaigns (the stump may be carried around with the speaker) will convince the majority of us that they are the best executives for this great country of ours by November 2d.

"Little Red Riding Hood."

An operetta which was presented by the Training School children on Friday night, Oct. 29d, was one of the most interesting features of the last school week. Normal School girls who participated in the operetta were: Elizabeth Finch, playing the role of grandmother; Evelyn Barnes, of woodman; Pattie Garrett, of Red Riding Hood's mother. Dabney Jarman acted most successfully the part of the wolf.

A number of people were present at the performance, and many of the older ones among them experienced again the thrills of youth in actually seeing the exciting scene between the wolf and Red Riding Hood.

The operetta was, on the whole, very successful. The money raised will be of great service in the health campaign for the benefit of which it was given.

The costumes of the children were beautiful and lent a great deal to the attractiveness of the play. The music was good all the way thru. Much credit is due Miss Munoz, under whose direction the operetta was given, and Lily Thornhill, who acted as accompanist.

Dr. Jarman Says:

"Stand by your guns."
"Practice by the case."
"Think it out as you go."
"It's all right to be enthusiastic!"
"Leave off the whitewash."
"Don't paint."
"Look your prettiest."
"Bury your rats."
"Co-operate."

CITIZENS' RURAL CONFERENCE.

At Farmville, November 11th-14th.

Miss Florence H. Stubbs, head of the Department of Rural Education in the Normal School, has been appointed local director for the Virginia Citizens' Conference on Rural Education and Country Life to be held here November 11th-14th. She is assisting the staff of the United States Bureau of Education at Washington to arrange an inspiring program which will make this conference the greatest rally of forces for rural progress ever held in Virginia. Public-minded citizens from every walk of life, "live wires" in their communities, are expected from all parts of the State. And, by the way, hundreds of Normal School girls have taken advantage of this opportunity to write home and urge their friends to come and spend the week-end in Farmville, November 11th to 14th. A "grand" time is expected.

Among the speakers will be Commissioner P. P. Claxton, head of the Bureau of Education at Washington; Governor Davis, Superintendent Harris Hart, and Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, of Virginia; Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education; Dr. Warren H. Wilson, country church leader, and Miss Mabel Carney, authority and writer on the country school; both of Columbia University, New York; and many other national and State leaders.

This conference promises to make Farmville and the Normal School the center of rural progress for Virginia.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE STARTED.

In preparation for a hard schedule this season the candidates for the basketball team have started practice in the gymnasium and on the field. Some of the girls who are trying out are veterans in the game, among whom are, Dorothy Wells, Addie Wells, Delma Van Sicker, Sarah Moore, Helen Trevilian, Frances Smith, Frances Barksdale, Ida Paulet, Erna Shotwell, Grace Bailey, Elizabeth Bugg and Elise Anderson, many others are recruits. With such promising material at hand and with Miss Barlow as coach we are expecting brilliant results from the different teams, especially for the double-header coming off Thanksgiving. The Juniors and fourth years had better work up some pep to save themselves from defeat this year. If the Juniors wish to hold the "Cup" they will have to get down and do some hard work for the Juniors of last year are "Seen-Years" now.

Miss Barlow (addressing line in gymnasium class): Oh, what an awfully crooked line this is. Everybody fall out and look at it.

DUMMY.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Boeok
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones ----- Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIALS

TO THE NEW GIRLS.

Dummy has a very definite message to you who have left your homes and come to find your place in our home and in our school community. We have walked down the same path that you are now walking. We have felt the same feeling of strangeness in our new environment and new friends. Perhaps in your search for a thorough understanding of college life your scale of values has been somewhat disarranged. - You have unconsciously applied your decision in regard to a type or one activity to college life in general. If you new girls wish to feel the invigorating atmosphere of the Normal School; if you want "to catch step" and "fall in line" with the old girls who maintain the spirit of "co-operation" so much advocated by our president—then listen now and you will have the "open sesame" to all the treasures so near and dear to the "old girls." First, hear all you can; second, see all you can; and third, know all you can.

How can you be sure that you are hearing, seeing and knowing everything for which our school community stands? There is only one way. By attending all student body meetings and association meetings, both religious and social; by mingling with your nearby neighbors and table friends; by attending Sunday School and church, and by doing your part to learn these old girls you yourself will have caught the spirit of these girls. You will have become one of them and with them in their love for Alma Mater. Try it! Dummy guarantees the prescription!

MARY STEPHENSON, '21.

Also subscribe to Dummy.

PEP.

It may be love that makes the world go round, but it's P-E-P that keeps athletics on the go. You may support every other activity in the school but if you are physically able and do not participate in or give your support to athletics, you're a slacker and a poor citizen of this school community. An athletic association, like any other chain—is as strong as its weakest link. But it is better to be that weakest link than that famous or rather infamous "missing link." Pleading with a person to go out for athletics is like pleading with one to buy Liberty Bonds. In the case of Liberty Bonds you invest your money and draw it out increased—and in athletics you invest your time and get back material gain in health, spirit and appearance. Perhaps you say you have P-E-P, but have you? Do you know what Pep really is?

"Vigor, vitality, vim, and punch—
That's Pep.

The courage to act on a certain hunch—
That's Pep.

The nerve to tackle the hardest thing
With feet that climb and hands that cling
And a spirit that never forgets to sing—
That's Pep.

"Sand and grit in a concrete base—
That's Pep.

Cheerful smile on an honest face—
That's Pep.

To smile and to say "You're the better man,
You beat me fair in the race we ran;"
To say "I will"—for you know you can—
That's Pep."

—DELMA VAN SICKLER.

INQUIRY COLUMN.

After this issue this column will be devoted entirely to inquiries and suggestions from the readers. If you are in doubt as to any kind of school news or gossip you can have your doubts removed through our "Inquiry Column." Slip your questions in the box early in the week.

Have you seen Mr. "Fettig?"

Times have changed and we with the times! Instead of visiting the book-room with plodding steps and trembling limbs we will be kindly assisted by Mr. Fettig. He has kindly consented to deliver all orders.

Any "dummies" who are not versed in the art of holding the hands of the bachelor members of the faculty may apply to Miss Munoz for instructions.

Get Christine Shields to direct your class songs! She adds "pep" by patting her foot.

The saddest words of tongue or pen?

We know them well, by heck;
Offsetting these, the sweetest are:
"I'm sending you a check."

Isabel Flippin—"All the great folks are dying, and I don't feel very well myself."

Agnes—"Martha, why did you put that sulphuric acid on your arm?"

Martha—"To see if Mr. Fettig knew how to keep it from burning."

Hiker, in a letter to a friend: "—and we have to walk two miles every day in order to get our S. N. S. letters."

Friend's reply: "I think it is perfectly dreadful that you have to walk so for your mail."

MISSES DAVIDSON
The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE FACULTY, ACCORDING TO THE SEVEN AGES OF MAN.

I draw the wizard's circle upon the sands and blue flames spring from its circumference. I inscribe a circle and green flames come, responsive to my magic words. I touch the center with my wand and red flames, like adders' tongues, leap from the earth. O'er this I place my caldron filled with blood and as it boils I speak my incantations, and make my mystic signs and passes watching the crimson mist as it rises to meet the spirit of the air. I chant my conjurations as I leared them from the great Key of Solomon and While I do so the ruddy fumes assume human forms which pass through the seven ages of man—as in a panorama. While the caldron boils their cloud forms grow ever more distinct, till at length, I can trace their features. I recognize them.

First—into this world a little babe—

With double dimpled chin,
Puckered lips, a bonny mouth,
Without a tooth—came in.

The parents fond, with tender pride,
Did call him "Baby Jim!"
Why—when he was only one times three
He could read Plato and philosoph-ee!

But when a schoolboy he became
He shirked his work and lost this fame—
He didn't dote on English book,
He'd fish beside some shady brook.

But then as a lover, dashing and gay,
With his flute a serenade he'd play
Beneath his lady's window sill
'Till she'd call out, "Oh, stop! I'm ill."

But war—alas! A call to danger—
And off so bold rode Jimmy Grainger;
It must have been in the Civil War,
But of that age I know no more.

When he came back with ideals high,
He thot pedagogy he would try.
So, with some notes and sober looks
He opened up his English books.

Next then—he's married—and doting dad,
In punctuality very bad!
Has hands to scrub and heads to brush
And many a child's complaint to hush!

And last, in second childishness,
With comforts all around to bless,
With no more classes when bells do ring,
He is—sans hair, sans teeth, sans flute—sans everything!

In our next issue, if you are wise,
You'll scan each word with open eyes,
For there will be a story drear—
It might pertain to Mr. —

—"The Wizard."

W-A-T-C-H

Make Your Headquarters at
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

SUNSET SAILING.

M. B.

With a tired heart,
At eve we part,
From the many cares of day,
When the sun sinks low
And a crimson glow
Has lit the dreaming bay.

Through purple gales
The evening waits,
And the sea is free from gales.
With a silver oar
I push from shore
My boat with golden sails.

Through the shadows rift
In peace I drift,
For my twilight voyage is done;
On the wings of the west
I float to rest
Toward the heart of the setting sun.

THE ALPHABET OF SUCCESS.

Attend carefully to details.
Be prompt in all things.
Consider well, then decide positively.
Dare to do right, fear to do wrong.
Endure trials patiently.
Fight life's battle bravely.
Go not into the society of the vicious.
Hold integrity sacred.
Injure not another's reputation.
Join hands with the virtuous.
Keep your mind free from evil thoughts.
Lie not for any consideration.
Make many friends.
Never try to appear what you are not.
Observe good manners.
Pay your debts promptly.
Question not the veracity of a friend.
Respect the counsel of your parents.
Sacrifice money rather than principle.
Trust thyself.
Use your leisure for improvement.
Venture not on the threshold of wrong.
Watch carefully over your passions.
Extend to every one a kindly greeting.
Yield not to discouragement.
Zealously labor for the right and success is certain.—Exchange.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Every person mentally and physically able to do so should take the American Red Cross instruction in First Aid Treatment. It's a life-saver and a pain-saver on the farm, in the factory, on the street, at the office, in the home, wherever accidents may occur. Here's a young wife who inexpertly wielded a can-opener and received an ugly gash across her wrist from the jagged can lid. Mother was there, however, with the First Aid kit and Red Cross instruction, and probably prevented a case of blood poison by giving prompt and proper treatment before the doctor arrived.

About 12,000,000 boys and girls, composing nearly half the school population of the United States, are members of the Junior Red Cross, which is helping the children of Europe, while at the same time it is doing an important work here at home. Kalitan Chetwof, who wears the engaging smile shown in this picture, is the son of an Indian guide and trapper. He is the youngest Junior living in the neighborhood of Juneau, Alaska—and he sends greetings to fellow Juniors of the United States.

Their Diversion.

Jud Tunkins says that some men who would scorn to bet on a horse race play politics, strictly as a game of chance.

"CO-OPERATION."

After studying psychology under Mr. Coyner, Mr. Bell, and Miss Stubbs, we are all persuaded that people in general are much more liable to obey when they know the reason for the request. Consequently, as an aid to the Home Department, we have added the reason for each request made in these table regulations; first, to let Dr. Jarman see how nicely we all co-operate with him, to make this school the best ever, and second, to keep Miss Mary from being mortified!

Dining Room Regulations.

1. Be well dressed. Avoid the old-fashioned style of pantalettes. Hair well arranged. Since burying your rats, this will be easy. Do not wear bedroom slippers—low heels are not dressy.
2. Ask blessing in concert. Any kind of concert but a "cat concert."
3. Finish your meal before leaving the table. Some one may bump into you going out of the dining room and make you bite your tongue.
4. After visiting another table, return your napkin to your table. They'd hate to use your soiled napkin.
5. Notify the office of the head of the home if you wish to have a guest in the dining room—or she may have to sit under the table.
6. Have your mail sent in care of your table number. Other people don't want to read his slushy letters.
7. Have napkin ring. All styles of folding have been exhausted.
8. Place chairs at the table when leaving dining room—so people won't say bad words when they stomp their toes.

Do Not—

1. Raise your voice. Nobody will miss anything if they don't hear you.
2. Take food from the dining room. The Greek's is still downtown.
3. Put bread on the table. Hold the whole slice in your hand if you haven't a bread and butter plate.
4. Reach across the table. Let somebody throw the bread to you.
5. Rest on the table. You may soil the cloth.
6. Handle silver while waiting for dessert. You may wear off the silver unnecessarily soon.
7. Throw water across the table. Throw soup.
8. Put chewing gum in plates and under the table—stick it in your shoe.

THE SEWING SHOP

Will make that Dance Frock or Traveling Costume just as you want it. Our corps of experienced dressmakers are at your disposal.

We Specialize on Rush Orders

MRS. T. N. LAYNE, Propr.

Upstairs, corner Main and Third Sts.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Linsey.....President
Virginia Blasingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Linsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jenkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies,
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

DUMMY

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 2.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 5, 1920.

S. N. S. AND W. C. T. U. IN THE FAIR PARADE.

Since November 1st was the first anniversary of the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, the Normal School students joined with the Farmville W. C. T. U. in celebrating the triumph. They took a prominent part in the parade of the Prince Edward County Fair in Farmville as usual and presented several of the most beautiful floats representing Victory and the place of the United States in leading the world in national prohibition. They joined the parade on Pine street, back of the Episcopal church, headed by the "Flower Basket" float of the training school. This float was a huge truck covered completely with fresh green vines and leaves. A wide band of green vines attached to the truck on either side served as a handle to the basket. Within this basket were flowers of lavender, pink, yellow and blue, represented by training school children with different colored paper bows on their hair.

The next float was "Victory." The third and fourth professional classes of the State Normal School presented this float. It was draped in white and ivy leaves and members of these classes dressed in white and crowned with ivy leaves walked beside it. The imposing figure representing "Victory," also, robed in white, stood on a pedestal on the float with a graceful trumpet to her lips.

Following this was the float of the first and second professional classes. Four girls preceded this float bearing the standard "Prohibition—Columbia Heads the World." Columbia stood on a pedestal on the float with one hand held high. Seated on this float were girls to represent Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy and Japan, or the leading nations of the world.

After this came the float of the third and fourth year high school girls, on the side of which was the placard, "Temperance Guards the Home." Here was pictured a happy family group with Temperance clad in white robes looking down upon them.

These four floats led the parade. Then came cars representing the different schools of the county. Each of these was well represented and thereby showed their interest and public spirit.

The W. C. T. U. members followed in cars bearing W. C. T. U. banners. Of the four floats that followed the Pilgrim Fathers was the most interesting. This was gotten up by the town high school.

After leaving Pine street the parade proceeded to Main and then up High street back to Pine again where they were judged. The training school float, "The Flower Basket," received the first prize. The Farmville High School float, "The Pilgrim Fathers," received the second. Three girls received prizes for being the prettiest: Katherine Stalard, as Victory; Sallie Obenchain, as Japan, and Mary Lindsey.

DEJEU, THE WIZARD.

DeJeu was a wizard, wasn't he? From the time the curtain was drawn and showed his instruments of magic, displayed against a back ground of Oriental tapestry, to the end of the performance an atmosphere of mystery prevailed.

DeJeu was an artist. The grace of his tapering fingers, the curve of his petite moustache and the wave of his auburn hair showed that. His stock of wit (most likely it is his stock in trade) was not only shown in his flow of language, but also in his ability to keep the attention of the audience upon what he was not doing.

It would be an endless task to discuss the magic and black art of the magician. He played with watches, flags, balls and handkerchiefs with a cleverness that was amazing. A few of the more sophisticated "saw through them all," but strange to say they showed a great density in explaining them at the breakfast table.

King and Lodge would have new material for their spiritualists' articles had they seen the spirits which DeJeu called up.

Part of the program was the music played on an instrument which was a curious combination of a piano and accordion. Later in the evening DeJeu appeared with his conthe federate and with his banjo the effect was very much that of a jazz orchestra.

The last number of the performance was the most fascinating. One might have imagined himself in the magic chamber of an Oriental magician as DeJeu so deftly swayed to and fro the movements of a golden ball as it floated before him. "Surely magic hath golden charms."

VIRGINIA'S NEW HOUR.

On Thursday, October 28th, a very interesting and instructive picture was presented at the Opera House by the Good Roads Commission of Virginia. Every audience in Farmville, broke into cheers when the scenes at the oldest and largest normal school in Virginia were shown.

TALK ON CITIZENSHIP.

Miss Pidgen, Director of the University School of Citizenship, addressed the Farmville Woman's Club in the Normal School Auditorium Wednesday afternoon, October 27th, on citizenship. The Woman's Club very kindly invited the second, third and fourth professional classes to attend and receive the benefit of this talk.

Miss Pidgen stated that giving the vote to the women enfranchised more people than had ever been permanently enfranchised at one time in the world before. This should not, however, result badly, for the majority of American women, if they are not up so well in politics, are intelligent. The importance of the women voting now that they have the vote, was emphasized. And it seems that thus far the women are responding readily, for in many counties more women have registered than men voted, at the last regular election.

Miss Pidgen gave detailed instruction in the marking of ballots and warned against the errors most frequently made. She then distributed "dummy" ballots that the ladies might see the form of official ballots. All who desired to do so marked them and she corrected any mistakes made in the marking.

Everyone enjoyed and profited by Miss Pidgen's talk.

... planning fewer of them in the country, than the juniors.

Seniors! The weather is just the kind for a hiking. Take Miss Barlow's advice and come out. Not only dig a hole for your ronge, but see that it stays in that hole.

All the girls seem to enjoy tennis, and it is seldom the courts are found vacant.

The girls are showing fine spirit in coming out for basketball, and the practices are such that they are looking forward to a great game Thanksgiving. Both juniors and seniors are expecting a hard battle, and both are hoping to win.

Seniors! Watch out for the juniors. They are young, but experienced.

Juniors! You must work; for the old girls on the senior team are out practicing, as well as some strong new ones. Ruth is a dandy player, though at times she thinks she is playing, not basketball, but football. Everyone is wondering who the tall senior forward is, who has only to drop the ball into the basket. Why, that is Helen—of course.

We feel that we are very fortunate, indeed, in having with us this year in the Department of Education, Mr. Leon E. Bell, who comes to us from New Hampshire.

Mr. Bell holds A. B. and A. M. degrees from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, and is a graduate student in psychology and philosophy from Boston University, and in psychology and education from the University of Chicago and Columbia.

Previous to his experience here he has been head of the Department of Psychology and Pedagogy at the State Normal Schools in Indiana, East Stroudsburg, Pa., and in Providence, R. I. He was district superintendent of schools in the State of Vermont for six years, after which he accepted the call to the Concluded on last page.

DUMMY.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Boeock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones ----- Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIALS

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION.

This November marks the second anniversary of National Prohibition. L. Ames Brown, referring to the W. C. T. U., in the October Atlantic Monthly says: "This is an organization of great scope and power, without whose efforts the adoption of national prohibition would have been extremely difficult." The same authority asserts that the Union indeed "used the Anti-Saloon League

5. Notify the office of the head of the home if you wish to have a guest in the dining room—or she may have to sit under the table.

6. Have your mail sent in care of your table number. Other people don't want to read his slushy letters.

7. Have napkin ring. All styles of folding have been exhausted.

8. Place chairs at the table when leaving dining room—so people won't say bad words when they stomp their toes.

Do Not—

1. Raise your voice. Nobody will miss anything if they don't hear you.

2. Take food from the dining room. The Greek's is still downtown.

3. Put bread on the table. Hold the whole slice in your hand if you haven't a bread and butter plate.

4. Reach across the table. Let somebody throw the bread to you.

normal school on the table. You may not have the privilege to participate in such a celebration with such a great organization as the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

HOLIDAYS.

The subject with which I am going to deal is one that plays an important part in a school girl's life. If I were to attempt to tell all that it meant to us, the editor would have to issue an extra. So, to save her the trouble, I shall briefly state only a few of the important points.

Holidays are the consummation on which the very existence of over six hundred girls in this school depends. When the lives of so many girls are at stake, it is bound to be one of vital importance, and by no means should be overlooked. From this I am sure we may say that the more holidays we have the less danger our lives are in. Without a holiday how could we endure the nervous and mental strain of classes? I have been here one year and two months, and no one realizes more than I, of what importance a holiday is to the heart of every daughter of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Virginia. You Juniors now see through a glass darkly, but at the end of the year you will know of what I speak.

But let us not think only of ourselves. Look at our worthy teachers—what it means to them. It means a change in the schedule of pouring knowledge in empty heads. Look at Mr. Coyner and see the pleasure he received from helping to decorate the float. Let us look again at Mr. Lear, the pleasure afforded him by riding horse-back in the parade. These alone would be sufficient to convince any one that a holiday was worth while.

It is very hard to state justly the importance of holidays, but we feel very much like the little boy, whose teacher asked him what a holiday was. He replied, "I don't exactly know, but I sure does like 'em."

INQUIRY COLUMN.

Questions on almost any topic excepting pedagogy and styles in dress will be answered free of charge. Pedagogical and fashion inquiries should be submitted to the Home Department or Miss Tabb.

Question—Why do we have to buy two-cent stamps when we had rather buy one-cent ones?

Answer—It saves wasteful licking and a "blow-out" at the postoffice.

Question—When was story-telling first begun?

Answer—When the registration clerks began to ask the ages of women voters.

Question—Tell me please, what makes "Cutie" cute?

Answer—Webster defines cute as—"Attractive by reason of daintiness or picturesqueness in manners or appearance as a child or small animal." We cannot improve on the description.

Question—Why does Mr. Lear have so many flirtations?

Answer—We venture to say, he hasn't yet found one that would stick.

Question—Who puts the jar on Dr. Jarman?

Answer—We are not sure whether it was the short haired woman, the whistling girl, the screeching steam engine, or the howling dervish on the halls.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

SIDELIGHTS ON THE FACULTY.

According to the Seven Ages of Man.
Here's the promised tale so drear,
It does pertain to Mr. Lear:

A babe into this world he came,
Great in mind, but small in frame,
Dimpled in cheek, and blue of eye,
Baby Merritt gave short, sharp cry!

In his early days of youth,
A thrifty lad was he, forsooth,
Much ado there was, God wot,
When a bicycle, his nickles bought.

Sturdy of body, with cheeks of tan,
Early went a-wooing this handsome young man,
Many he wooed and many he lost,
Much rode a-courting, regardless the cost!

Yet fearless was he—that daring we laud,
But, ambitious he grew and then went abroad,
Gathered learning and culture; no time did he “fool”—
Then returned home again, a teacher of school.

As teacher fain, would he argue
History and Civics his pupils ne'er knew.
But he did rouse their lost interests—
Hard-hearted man!—with vile “pop” tests!

Slowly to old manhood he grew,
Alas! said he, “Ne'er maid was true!”
And so with this our story ends:
Mr. Lear—sans hair, sans wife, sans all—but friends.

If you'll observe these columns close
We might write next of Miss Munoz!

Y'S AND OTHER Y'S.

Normal school girls have a little box
Filled with reddish stuff,
Whenever they have a special guest,
The stuff is there “sho-nuff.”

Miss Barlow wants to buy it
Dr. Jarman favors that, too,
But if they should rule it out
What would some old girls do?

With puffs and curls and powder gone,
And skirts down to the ground,
We'd be like “maidens all forlorn,”
Girls, just think where we'd be bound!

Gertrude: “Marge, have I got my hair on straight?”

Marge: “Um, huh. Have I got my lips on straight?”

Tell me not, oh songclass songster,
That you will not in chapel be—
On Monday morn as sure as you're born
For none escape that fatal “C!”

As you read these little rhymes,
Your thoughts drift back to other times,
But come—for you can do the same,

Just get some pep—get in the game.

Think of a rhyme,
Put it in every time;
The paper can't wait,
Come on—make it great.

Ask us a (Why?)
No doubt we'll reply,
To most any question,
If you make the suggestion.

I have never tried e'er this,
To bring to light these tales I list,
And this has been a sad mistake,
But t'was done for “Dummy's” sake.

RURAL CONFERENCE.

It is very interesting to know that a number of the speakers for the Rural Convention, November 11th-14th, are men of national note. Another interesting fact is that our library affords us writings not only about these speakers, but by them.

One of the speakers is Dr. Warren H. Wilson, the best known country church leader of America. Dr. Wilson has written a number of very interesting books, one of which we have in the library, “Evolution of the Country Community.” Dr. Wilson is editor of the most popular rural magazine, “The Home Man.”

Another of the speakers is Mrs. Henrietta Calvin, a national leader in Home Economics work. Mrs. Calvin writes for the Journal of Home Economics. We also have in the library a 1918 U. S. Bureau of Education Bulletin on Home Economics by Mrs. Calvin.

We will also have here Miss Mabel Carney, a national authority on the country school. One of Miss Carney's books, “Country Life and the Country School,” is in the library.

Dr. P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education will be among the speakers. Dr. Claxton writes for a number of magazines which are in the library. Some of them are the Independent, School and Society, Review of Reviews, and the Outlook.

Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education is another of the convention speakers.

Other speakers are Dr. Douglas H. Freeman, editor of the Richmond News Leader; Senator Carter Glass, Governor Westmoreland Davis, and Mr. Harris Hart, superintendent of Public Instruction in Virginia.

This is an opportunity no one, least of all future teachers of Virginia, can afford to miss.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

The presidential campaign put on by the Y. W. C. A. has been a prominent feature in school activities during the past week.

On Wednesday night the Democratic convention was held. As a result of this, Sarah Moore is running for president as Cox, and Katherine Stallard, for vice-president, as Roosevelt.

The Republican party was not large enough to hold an open convention. The candidates they elected are Elizabeth Williams as Harding, and Grace Beard as Coolidge.

Saturday morning, the first Friendship Circle, including the cabinet and all committees, met in the Association room.

The alumnae committee of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the town members of the alumnae association this week for the purpose of organizing an alumnae Y. M. C. A. Miss Caulling, Miss Rice and Merle Davis, chairman of the alumnae committee, gave short talks illustrating the plans for the alumnae Y. W. C. A. Evelyn Barnes and Patty Garrett sang, and refreshments were served.

SPORTS.

“Peppy” interest is being shown in sports. Both high school and professional students find hiking, tennis, and basketball delightful forms of recreation, as well as wonderful producers of class spirit.

The hikers are having a wonderful time and are willing to share their fun with all who heretofore have not participated. It is rumored that great hordes of juniors are out every morning, and, though the seniors are doing fine in that direction, it is feared that they are too fond of their rouge-boxes and are planting fewer of them in the country than the juniors.

Seniors! The weather is just the kind for hiking. Take Miss Barlow's advice and come out. Not only dig a hole for your rouge, but see that it stays in that hole.

All the girls seem to enjoy tennis, and it is seldom the courts are found vacant.

The girls are showing fine spirit in coming out for basketball, and the practices are such that they are looking forward to a great game Thanksgiving. Both juniors and seniors are expecting a hard battle, and both are hoping to win.

Seniors! Watch out for the juniors. They are young, but experienced.

Juniors! You must work; for the old girls on the senior team are out practicing, as well as some strong new ones. Ruth is a dandy player, though at times she thinks she is playing, not basketball, but football. Everyone is wondering who the tall senior forward is, who has only to drop the ball into the basket. Why, that is Helen—of course.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

LEON E. BELL

Department of Education in the State Normal Schools in Keene, N. H. From Keene he came to us.

Mr. Bell was a student for four consecutive summers at Teacher's College, Columbia University, and it is interesting to know that a few days ago he received official notice that Columbia University would confer upon him the degree of A. M. in Education this month.

At Columbia and elsewhere Mr. Bell has had courses under many eminent educators, among them Professor F. M. McMurry, a personal friend, and Professor S. H. Calvin, with both of whom all students taking courses in education are very familiar.

Mr. Bell was superintendent of city schools in Bay St. Louis, Miss., and taught at a summer session at the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, so this is not his first experience in the South.

He wanted and particularly planned to come to the South and to Virginia and we are more than pleased to have him and his family with us, our only regret being that more of us are not fortunate enough to have a class under him.

In speaking of coming to Farmville he says: "Now that I have arrived I am delighted with the South, with Virginia, with the people, and with the Normal School, president, faculty, and students. I have already experienced the exquisite Southern hospitality and hearty genuine friendliness that characterizes the people of the 'Sunny South.' While I was born in the North, in the State of New York, I am a Virginian now, an out and out Southerner, and I want you to regard me as such and one of you, and I sincerely hope to do my part in making all our life happier and better."

A CARD OF THANKS.

On Monday night of last week, October 25th, fire swept away a two-story building next to Paulett's crockery store on Main street.

Some Hampden-Sidney boys seeing the blaze against the sky, thought it was the State Normal School on fire and hired a car to come in and rescue the girls. They were sadly disappointed to find their hopes were not realized and returned in disgust to Hampden-Sidney.

The S. N. S. girls wish to express to them their sincere appreciation of their willingness to save us from a fiery death and regret that we were unable to fulfill their expectations.

THE SEWING SHOP

Will make that Dance Frock or Traveling Costume just as you want it. Our corps of experienced dressmakers are at your disposal.

We Specialize on Rush Orders

MRS. T. N. LAYNE, Propr.

Upstairs, corner Main and Third Sts.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Linsey.....President
Virginia Blasingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Linsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jinkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

DUMMY

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 3.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 12, 1920.

MISS WHEELER'S DEPARTURE.

Miss Leola Wheeler left the afternoon of November 5th for Columbia, S. C., where she expects to remain about six weeks. In February, Miss Wheeler will go to Panama where she will take up her new duties as the head of a Y. W. C. A. Hostess House.

Miss Wheeler came to Farmville eight years ago and during this time has had a leave of absence of one year, to do Red Cross work in France. While in Farmville she was at the head of the Reading Department and Director of the Dramatic Club at the State Normal School. As a teacher she could not be surpassed and the splendid success of the Dramatic Club is due to her supervision.

The faculty and student body greatly appreciate not only Miss Wheeler's untiring efforts to make those things with which she was closely associated a success, but her efforts to make everything in school the very best. She was always ready, with her jolly disposition, to help.

We wish her the greatest success in her future work but hope she will not become so interested in it as to prevent her return to the United States. When she returns it is hoped that she will resume her former duties at the State Normal School at Farmville.

ELECTION RETURNS—AN EXTRA.

The "Dummy" has gone so far as to get out "extras" when important and exciting things happen. The next thing we know we dignified seniors and juniors will be acting as newsgirls, running around crying, "Extra! All about the recent escapade of the six hundred!"

Now somebody is going to say that there hasn't been any such thing as an "extra," but if that somebody had been in the auditorium Tuesday night from nine-thirty to ten-thirty P. M., she would have seen quite a number of "extras."

"The Dummy" isn't so dumb after all. To the tune of the "Pilgrim's Chorus" rendered by our orchestra, and "Oh, By Jingo," a popular selection of the mandolin and guitar club, the returns from all over the country were brought in and thrown upon the screen (the big blackboard used on all occasions). As Cox's name went up with a seventy-five thousand majority from Virginia, the auditorium wasn't large enough to hold the shouts and applause that followed. Excitement reigned supreme. No wonder! Count on old Virginia every time to do what is right! What about that, you Republicans! No! Well, we Democrats will excuse you, for you can't help your faults. You had a chance to shout when Massachusetts was heard from. There was a faint sound from the rear of the auditorium as if some one were a little excited.

I almost forgot to mention the rest of the program. Christine and Smithy should certainly be congratulated on their courage to appear before the public, and on their good music. When it comes to harmony and playing ukeleles, they can't be beat.

As ten-thirty drew near the onlookers remained breathless. There it was in black and white, New Hampshire, fifty-seven thousand majority for Harding. No one knew what the morrow would bring, but Virginia could be a good loser as well as a good winner.

And so, to the soft strains of a lullaby, Miss Munoz marched us off to bed, much to our disgust. We were perfectly willing to sit up a little longer and hear the news for better or worse.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

There will be a meeting of the Democratic Irreconcilables tonight at 12 P. M., under the weeping willow in the graveyard. Bring your handkerchiefs.

THE NORMAL GOES TO THE COUNTRY.

Miss Stubbs, with the Guitar and Mandolin Club, motored to Darlington Heights recently. The purpose of their going was to re-organize a Community League. Miss Stubbs gave an interesting talk on the organization of a Community League. Miss Mamie Rice, the county nurse, gave a talk showing the relationship of health to the school work. The Mandolin and Guitar Club furnished music for the occasion. The Darlington Heights people expressed their appreciation in many ways, but one of the best that the Mandolin and Guitar Club enjoyed was the receiving of a nice box of fruit. The crowd reported a fine time and want to go again soon.

The work of the Girls' Reserve Club at Brown's Church School is progressing nicely. The Country Life Committee is trying to add a few things to the Club. This is being done by contributing magazines to their reading table, and also by the Club planting bulbs, under the instruction of the committee. These will be used for the schoolrooms.

Misses Bierbower, Shields, Colecott, and Crisman, attended a very successful Halloween party given at Fork School on last Saturday night. The music for the evening was furnished by Misses Shields, Crisman, and Colecott. The crowd was entertained by such features as "bobbing" for apples, having the palm read and by having their fortunes appear on a blank sheet of paper when held over a lighted lamp.

Miss Bierbower has been helping Randolph District this week to get ready for the Cumberland Fair. The rural girls are interested in the schools of this district and wish them good luck with their exhibits.

Several members of the Normal School faculty also attended the County Fair at Cumberland, November 4th and 5th, to serve as judges in the contests and to help with arrangement of exhibits. Mr. Grainger, with the assistance of his Second Professional English classes, selected the winners in the writing contests, the papers having been sent in to the Normal School for judging. Mr. Coyner, Miss Bierbower, and Mr. Grainger also judged other contests, including those in reading and declamation, and Miss Tupper judged the home economics work. The school exhibits were in charge of Miss M. Catherine Hill, principal of the Cumberland High School, a Normal School graduate in the class of 1915. Prominent among the competing schools was the Hamilton High School, of which Miss Madeline Warburton of the class of 1916 is principal.

MISS FLORENCE L. EISELE.

Surely every girl in school knows Miss Eisele by this time, and most of the girls know that if any library reference is wanted Miss Eisele will get it, and get it quickly. She has proved herself a ready helper in time of trouble upon mere occasions than one. So, if the faculty shows no merey in giving references, call on Miss Eisele, and she will help, and do it with a smile, too.

Miss Eisele is from Natchez, Mississippi. She graduated from the high school of her native town. Then she attended a girls' prep school for one year. After that time she taught for a while. In 1917 she graduated from the Atlanta Library Training School, Atlanta, Georgia. In September, 1917, she accepted an appointment at Washington with the Ordnance Department. In February, 1919, she was transferred to the Motor Transport Corps at Camp Jesup, Georgia. From there she came to Farmville, and is now ready and willing to co-operate with the girls in both work and play.

She says: "My chief ambition is to be fat. My besetting sin is being many minutes late to everything except meals. The one beverage I cannot drink is Coca-Cola. My favorite sports are horseback riding, dancing, swimming, tennis, theater-going, and 'set-back.' My political convictions, 'straight Democratic ticket.'"

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. conducted a mock presidential campaign under the direction of Miss Helen Draper, the under-graduate field representative from this school. The purpose of this campaign was to create a more intelligent Christian woman citizenship for future.

Concluded on last page.

DUMMY.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones ----- Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIALS.

OH, FOR A NAME!

Won't somebody please name Dummy! The staff has tried; the faculty has tried; Dr. Jarman has tried; everybody in school has tried. A great many names have been suggested and voted on, but as yet, nothing particularly appealing has appeared. "Dummy," they say is so dumb; "The News" is too old; "The Mirror" too reflective; "Normal Light" too bright; "Blue and White" hasn't local color enough, and "Pink Mule" is a vulgar brute, though he does have some kick. So there you are!

The name of the school paper should be original, distinctive, and full of "punch," but not too outlandishly clever or whimsical. Here's a chance for somebody to win everlasting fame.

COURTESY.

We do not desire to assume the attitude of the chronic faultfinder, but we do feel that attention should be called to one fault in particular which has forced itself upon our notice and to which by saying nothing we cannot give silent approval. This is the lack of courtesy so often manifest in the student body.

This is most often noticeable in the entertainments given in the auditorium. Oftentimes if the Star Course presents a musical number, the artist finds it necessary to wait between selections until talking ceases and silence is secured. Often those who entertain us are foreign artists and their accent is naturally and noticeably different from ours, yet this is no excuse for the discourteous comments which are made and that little ripple of laughter which is often heard throughout the audience. That is the height of rudeness. The impression it undeniably leaves with strangers is not immediately detrimental to the individuals who show this discourtesy, but, unfortunately, to the reputation and standing of the school. If to no one else it is unfair to and inconsiderate of our President.

Again, in our applause there is lack of courtesy and discrimination. We hear loud stamping of the feet on the floor, pounding of seats with the fists, and squeals of delight. For those things which are most beautiful, and for those classics by composers with which every girl should become familiar, we show a decided want of appreciation; while for those things which lack beauty and fine art and which are of a more ordinary and inferior nature we often show great enthusiasm.

Far be it from us to wish to take from school life all its joys and its natural expression of them, or to advocate that happy, high-spirited girls become straight-laced and confirmed old maids. But we ask you individually—is what we do when in a crowd always quite the genteel thing to do.

Our profession is a high and noble one, but how can we bring out the best in others if we ourselves lack one of its most valuable and necessary qualities as that of courtesy?

The college girl has a distinction wherever she may go and is judged either rightly or wrongly by her powers of discrimination and her conduct. And just so is one school judged in comparison with other schools. The character and personality of the students is an expression of what the school stands for. A girl is a Vassar girl, a Hollins girl, a Farmville girl, as the case may be, but that in itself classifies her according to the standing of her particular school, and likewise she classifies the school.

That the whole student body is judged by only a few is not right, but it is true nevertheless. We must not forget it. For in just that way is Farmville State Normal School judged.

Concerning the fault of which we have spoken we have to say that its correction rests with the student body itself. We can only call attention to it and beg that individual attention be given to this shortcoming—lack of courtesy.

RIP VAN WINKLE.

Are you asleep? "Certainly not," you say. Most assuredly you are not physically asleep, but are you mentally asleep? Are you asleep to the cries of "Dummy" for literary food to sustain her that you may enjoy her company? Are you asleep to the calls for school spirit which come from your Student Government Association? Are you asleep to the appeal to stand by your Y. W. C. A. and "play the game" fair and square with yourself? Are you asleep to the urgings of your president that co-operation of all is the key to a successful school community? If you are asleep to all school interests determine to wake up! Take some mental gymnastic training by contributing your part in each school activity! Give something! Your attitude and outlook on school life will determine the quality of your search.

On the Tennis Court.

Girl (learning to count—The score is now: Add-in thirty.

The Ninth Grade English teachers are taking up letter writing in their classes. The following is an extract from one of the letters:

"On the farm of my aunt there were pigs, horses, cows, and all other kinds of fruits."

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

SIDELIGHTS ON THE FACULTY.

According to the Seven Ages of Man.

As you read these columns close.
We'll tell you now of Miss Munoz.

A cunning babe, quite small in frame,
Into this world of ours she came—
Of Spanish blood and Spanish name.

First of our land New York she knew;
There through her childhood years she grew;
And there she spent her schooldays, too.

Then came her early teaching years.
When inexperience brought fears,
And close cropped hair brought even tears.

And next we find, without regret,
That she has turned a suffragette,
For politics she can't forget.

Next judge of character is she;
With just one look, why, she can see
What perfect "dummies," all, are we!

As teacher, here, we all will own
That she can cure a monotone
And e'en find music in a stone.

The seventh stage we must amend
For now we find her to the end
Sans nothing—still our guide and friend.

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS.

The first weekly assembly was held last Friday morning in the assembly room. The ninth grade entertained the school with a number of pleasing musical selections.

The Training School participated in the Fair with its usual effectiveness. The exhibit in the warehouse showed a variety of high class work in all grades. The school in the parade represented fall, and the idea was carried out effectively in all grades. The floats were unusually attractive, and the flower basket, grades 1-4, won first prize as the best school float.

Prizes were taken in all grades, numbering 32. They were distributed as follows: Grade 1, 5; Grade 2, 1; Grade 3, 4; Grade 4, 10; Grade 5, 1; Grade 6, 1; Grade 7, 3; Grade 8, 4; Grade 9, 3.

A PUPIL'S COMPOSITION.

The Tournament.

During the Fair this year they had a tournament here. I went to see it. I saw the knights on their horses; they had long sticks with a sharp piece of iron at the end. These were called lances. I thought they looked more like spears than they did lances. They took the lances and hooked rings off of a thing that looked like London Bridge, only one side was off. Some one drove a car on the track and gave out of gas. A horse with a man on his back jumped over the car.

Thomas Layne, Grade IV.

New Girl (to maid in dining room)—
"Mary, do you serve lobsters here?"

Maid—"Yes, miss, just sit right down; we serves anybody here."

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Athenian Literary Society.

The Athenian Literary Society held its first meeting October 2, 1920. As there were not enough girls present to have a regular business meeting no definite plans were made. Plans were discussed, however, for making this a "peppy" year. It was decided that the old girls would have a program and social meeting before any new girls were taken in. The following Thursday was set for this.

On October 7, 1920, from five to six, a program and social meeting was held in the Y. W. C. A. room. The program consisted of a reading by Elizabeth Williams, vocal solo by Dora Jett, a reading by Pattie Lee Darden. Lilly Thornhill entertained us on the piano, after which delightful refreshments of banana salad and sandwiches were served.

Games and a social period were enjoyed until supper.

Officers—President. Reva Graves; Vice-President. Ruby Paulett; Treasurer, Lily Thornhill; Recording Secretary, Sarah Porter; Corresponding Secretary, Ruth Myers; Critic, Mary Bolen; Reporter, Blanche Conwell; Censor, Frances Jordan.

There has been one meeting of the Argus Literary Society, which was a business meeting to elect officers. The following were elected:

President, Parke Morris; First Vice-President, Elizabeth Moring; Second Vice-President, Dorothy Schaefer; Secretary, Justine Gibson; Treasurer, Viola Johnson; Critic, Anna Vries.

NEWS OF FARMVILLE.

An informal recital was given at the Conservatory on October 28th. The numbers were very well prepared. Among those who took part were: Julia Asher, Grace Bailey, Maude Bailey, Evelyn Burger, Harriett Booker, Elizabeth Cash, Frances Newman, Vivian Phillips, Louise Schmidt, and Jane Smith.

Rev. Charles F. Weigel, who is well remembered as having held a meeting here last spring, was married in Farmville on October 27th to Mrs. Carrie H. Spence, sister of Mrs. H. A. Barrow on High Street.

As a result of the tournament last week held at the High School, the Knight of Buckingham, Guy McCraw, won first place, and W. H. Byrnes, Knight of Appomattox, second place.

One of the Sunday School classes of the Presbyterian Church delightfully entertained several town and Normal School girls Monday night at a Hallowe'en social in the home of Miss Nancy Watkins. Fancy costumes were worn, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

The boys in town celebrated Hallowe'en almost too roughly Monday night. Bonfires were built, foot-bridges torn up, and worst of all, Mr. Lear's car was stolen and broken up. The car was found, but the boys were not.

DR. JARMAN TALKS.

On Monday, November 1st, at chapel, President Jarman enlightened the minds of the students concerning the League of Nations.

He read and discussed an article by Dr. Irving Fisher, of Yale, which treated the following points:

First. It is necessary to join the League of Nations in order to be "in line" with the other nations of any consequence.

Second. We should go into the League willingly and eager to bear our share of the responsibilities in order to uphold the honor of the nation.

Third. Our entrance into the League of Nations is necessary to end war for three reasons:

(a) Our membership in the League is needed to "wind up" the World War, for it is not yet "over over there."

(b) It is necessary in order to prevent high taxation for the upkeep of a standing army and navy.

(c) It is necessary in order to prevent another great world war.

Fourth. Some critics object to the League of Nations on account of Article X. They do not understand the full meaning of the article but interpret it as a device by which the United States can be drawn into war.

The article states that the members "undertake to respect and preserve, as against external aggression, the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members." This means that the members will protect each other against forces outside the League.

Another thing which is frequently misunderstood is the power of the League to declare war. Some people have the idea that war may be declared by a majority, but in the League unanimity rules. This makes it almost impossible to declare war.

If the United States does not join the League of Nations she will be classed as a nation who has not fulfilled her duty. Will America be a slacker?

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

ture voters.

The details of the campaign were carried out to represent the regular national campaign, with a few necessary modifications. Each hall in the dormitory was given the name of a State, and every girl registered and paid a poll tax of one cent. Delegates were elected from each State to attend the party conventions at which Cox and Roosevelt, and Harding and Coolidge were nominated as respective leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties. There also, the planks of the platforms were tightly nailed down. Miss Sarah Moore and Miss Katherine Stallard were chosen as worthy representatives of the great leaders of the Democratic Party, while Miss Elizabeth Williams and Miss Grace Beard no less well represented the leaders of the G. O. P. Campaign speaking was not very extensive, but on election day the polls were crowded, and Cox and Roosevelt (Moore and Stallard), were elected by a large majority of the votes cast.

Though some twenty odd votes were incorrectly marked, Virginia bids fair to have future intelligent voters!

On Wednesday night we had a Blue Ridge Rally. The program was as follows:

Hymn

Special Music.....Ruby Goode
"Description of Blue Ridge"

Mary Garland
"Places of Interest"
"The Intellectual Side".....Merle Davis
"Good Times".....Helen Draper
"The Spiritual Side".....Virginia Blasingame
"Blue Ridge Songs".....Katharine Stallard Motto.

Last week we had our first Y. W. C. A. contribution "Pay Day." All of the girls heeded the admonition: "See That Your Team Bag Is Filled."

HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL

The honor rolls for the third and fourth year high school classes for October were announced on November 5th. Thirty-two per cent of the third year class and twenty-six per cent of the fourth year made the high grades required to get on the honor roll. It will be interesting to watch these classes throughout the year. The following are the names of those who won this distinction:

Third Year—Eunice Allen, Elise Anderson, Jennie Armstrong, Maude Bailey, Elizabeth Bugg, Jane Crawley, Elizabeth Diehl, Ethel Gish, Golda Goodwin, Georgie Jeffries, Alice Kinney, Willie Lackey, Caroline Morrow, Grace Noel, Lillian Nunn, Dora Fair, Louise Stephenson, Mary Taliaferro, Edith Trevilian, Sarah Von Schilling.

Fourth Year—Eliza Anderson, Grace Bailey, Edna Blanton, Mary Bolton, Phyllis Coyner, Thelma Derring, Ellen Easley, Sue Elder, Thelma Felts, Mary Forbes, Nellie Hardy, Mildred Jennings, Pattie Jeter, Bernice Johnson, Myrtle Kayton, Virginia Lindsey, Florence Miller, Addie Noell, Lillian Pool, Virginia Sizemore.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Linsey.....President
Virginia Blasingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Linsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jenkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

DUMMY

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 4.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 19, 1920.

CONCERNING THE CONFERENCE.

The Citizens' Conference on Rural Education began at 7:30 in the auditorium of the State Normal School on Thursday, November 11th. The following was the program for the evening:

Chairman.....Dr. J. C. Muerman
Invocation.....Rev. Mr. Diehl
Welcoming Addresses—Dr. Jarman, Mayor Davidson.

Address.....Dr. Winship
As we go to press, the conference is still in session, and since we are planning to devote our next issue to news of the conference, we are giving no detailed discussion of it in this issue.

We wish to mention however that Dr. Winship captivated the hearts of his audience in which the Normal School girls were not in a minority. His two memorable addresses were great events in the life of the school.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

During the past week-end we were very fortunate in having with us Miss de Bose, who gave several splendid talks to the Cabinet and assisted in organizing the High School Club.

On Monday night Miss Steele surprised the Cabinet by giving them a candy stew in the studio. While the candy boiled the business of the meeting was discussed. Then the candy was pulled by some of the girls while the others played, sang and recited. We tip-toed to our rooms and reported a "Jolly good time."

On Wednesday night the regular business meeting of the Association was held. Reports were made by the different committees, and an especially interesting one by Helen Draper, our Under-graduate Field Representative. After several team songs and rallies the meeting adjourned with the motto.

During the week-end the Y. W. C. A. girls co-operated with the Rural Conference in trying to make the visitors enjoy their stay at S. N. S.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED.

During the week of November 8th to 12th several girls were seen carrying to the post-office for Miss Stubbs waste paper baskets entirely filled with letters. We wonder with whom Miss Stubbs can be carrying on such an extensive correspondence. Looks "sorta" suspicious, doesn't it?

A teacher in the training school, explaining the meaning of commerce: "Children, commerce means trade. Jack, can you give me a sentence using commerce?"

Jack: "Yes'm. I commerced my dog for a cat."

ARMISTICE DAY.

Armistice Day was fittingly observed at the Normal School by everybody getting down and doing a good day's work. As Dr. Jarman explained at chapel that morning the best way to show our appreciation of what the boys "over there" did for us is to "carry on" over here. For November 11, 1918, didn't end everything that Germany started over six years ago. The singing together again of the songs we learned to love in war time, Dr. Jarman's impressive statement of the meaning of the day, two minutes for meditation as the bell rang at noon, and the inspiring opening of the Rural Conference that night, after a good day's work, made a fitting celebration of so solemn an anniversary.

But it did seem good to have the next day off, didn't it?

DR. JARMAN AT METHODIST CONFERENCE.

For several days last week President Jarman was absent from the Normal School attending the Conference of the Methodist Church at Norfolk, Va. He reports having spent a very pleasant though very busy time. That his return was a welcome event in school was shown by the applause with which the students greeted him when he entered chapel on Wednesday morning.

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS.

In the early autumn the Training School pupils, with suggestions from their supervisors and teachers, organized themselves into a band of citizens for the purpose not only of creating school spirit, but also of training the pupils as future citizens. Each of the upper grades decided to regard itself as a little country. The spirit that prompted this move has also permeated the lives of the pupils. There has been a happy co-operation among the grades and sections.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grades have shown much class spirit and rivalry in editing monthly magazines. The work has been very creditable and each grade is striving to make its magazine the best possible.

The faculty and pupils of the Training School wish to express their appreciation and thanks to Miss Eisele and to her class in library methods for undertaking the work of classifying and re-arranging the books in the juvenile library.

The girls will be pleased to know that Dr. Burrell is expected home in a week or ten days.

Mildred—I feel so tired tonight.

Sarah—Oh, I don't; I feel just like spring.

Mildred—Yes, you look fresh and green.

MISS SPEAR'S ARRIVAL.

On the evening of November 4th Miss Edna Norton Spear arrived in Farmville to take up her new duties at the State Normal School as head of the Department of Reading and director of the Dramatic Club. She relieves Miss Leola Wheeler, who recently gave up her school work to do Red Cross work in Panama.

Miss Spear comes to us from Boston and has a degree from Emerson College of Oratory and Boston University.

The school extends to Miss Spear a most cordial welcome as a member of the faculty and as a teacher in the institution. We hope she will be as pleased with her new work as we are to welcome her into the school.

"DR. JARMAN AND HIS GIRLS."

There are various ways in which we may express love and loyalty. We may with words and feeling declare our love openly; perhaps we may worship another silently as from afar, or yet again, we may make it evident by our actions.

Among the girls here at S. N. S. something really beautiful manifests itself in their love for Dr. Jarman and their expression of it. One particular way in which they show it is their applause whenever Dr. Jarman returns to chapel after an absence of several days.

During his absence a careful observer would note searching glances cast toward those entering the side entrance to the auditorium. When the familiar face of Dr. Jarman appears, the girls break forth into applause. They are always glad he has returned.

So often we hear the expression, "Dr. Jarman and his girls," and there is a world of meaning in that phrase. The Normal School girls are indeed his girls and their loyalty to him and love for him does not end with the completion of their course here. It endures and remains with them when they go out into the State to become teachers. And now, altogether, sing—

"What's the matter with Jarman!
He's all right."

TOWN NEWS.

Mrs. W. C. Newman delightfully entertained the Normal girls of the Episcopal choir last Friday night. Delicious refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. S. F. Badgett was hostess to several hundred guests last Saturday evening in celebration of her silver wedding. Among those invited were several students and the faculty of the school.

DUMMY.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones ----- Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIALS.

If you like your school paper, let us know it and continue your support. If you don't, take a hand in making it better. Every student is free to submit anything for publication by leaving it at the office or handing it to a member of the staff. All contributions will receive due consideration by the editors and will be published if suitable. Write pointedly and in as good form as you can. A contribution that is carefully written has better chances than one that is not. Use ink. Write on only one side of the paper. Leave margins for corrections and printing directions. Write legibly. Keep trying.

WHAT TYPE OF SCHOOL IS THIS?

Have we ever stopped to think what type of school ours is? Helen M. Bennett, in a study of college girl characteristics, has arrived at seven different types of schools which are mere reflections of seven types of girls. In the Woman's Home Companion for November she says: "College girls are not born, they are made. Every college sets its seal upon its graduates, marks them with its stamp and sends them out to bear witness, often unconsciously, as to the college product. This does not mean that there is no play of individuality but it does mean that there is a distinct type of girl coming from different colleges. Smith turns out the doer; Wellesley, the student; Vassar, the adventurer; Bryn Mawr, the social philosopher; Mt. Holyoke, the conservative; University of Chicago, the enterprising, and State Universities the general and practical girl."

Just what type of girl does the State Normal School send out? Are we practical? Are we efficiently training ourselves to undertake the problems, great or small, which will confront us as teachers? Or are we allowing ourselves to drift into careless ways? Are we forgetting the little things which are so small yet mean so much in developing a well-balanced personality?

Some keen observers and lovers of girl nature have noticed our changing attitude of which we ourselves are not aware. We shove and push in our haste to reach class or meals. We stand up, comment on other's dress or talk in an undertone at lectures, entirely forgetful of the respect due others around us; we have actually grown lax in our table manners due to a large extent to our great desire for the big things of school life. Let's turn over a new leaf! Let's become well-rounded girls—efficient in every phase of life! Let us not only be the practical girl as Miss Bennett designates us, but let us aspire to more than that. Let us be doers! Let us be keen and ever-ready to do the big tasks that await us here in school and even more yet—ever-willing and appreciative of the little courtesies and respect due our elders and fellow-students! Then when we leave Alma Mater's halls we will be worthy products, conscious of our true worth and permeated with her spirit.

"LEND ME"

Lend me your petticoat,
Lend me your hat,
Lend me your curlers,
And lend me your rat,

I "must be a-going"
To that co-tillion dance,
If I can't get an evening dress,
I haven't a chance!

Lend me your shirt-waist,
Lend me your skirt,
All S. N. S. girls
Sure like to flirt.

Lend me your wool hose,
Lend me your shoes;
I 'most died last Sunday,
From havin' the blues!

Lend me your bloomers,
And your crepe-de-chine gown
May I borrow a sweater,
To wear down town!

Lend me your collar,
Lend me a cuff;
And I need some cold cream,
And your powder puff.

Please lend me your long gloves,
If you don't mind;
And a pocket handkerchief,
Just this one time!

I'll borrow your tooth-brush—
Of course you don't care;
And just a few hairpins,
To fix up my hair.

Oh! lend me your "choaker"
I have an out-of-town date,
And your rings, too,—hurry!
Or I'll be late!

Lend me your suit, please,
To wear to the game,
Lend me your hand-bag,
I'm bound for the train!

Oh! it's "lend me that",
And it's "lend me this";
But if you don't borrow,
Just think what you miss!

First Girl—What did you make in cooking yesterday?

Second Girl—We made eggs.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

307-309-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WINSHIP STOWAWAYS.

The ox-team is gone and the automobile has come.

Don't sit on the tail of progress and say "Whoa."

New growth makes timber.

Nobody ever made timber worshipping yesterday.

How can we make the community the laboratory of the school?

George Washington was the father of the American farmer.

Learn to look around the corner of the mountain.

Cream of alfalfa soup.

Anybody who talks as much as I do occasionally says something.

The community is the real basis of democracy; you can't make a fabric without fibre.

Education must teach the boy and girl to function in the community.

The rural school must teach the child where he is, when he's there.

Say not "Welcome" when I come,

Say not "Farewell" when I go!

For I come not when I come

And I go not when I go.

A welcome ne'er I'll give you;

"Farewell" will never say.

In my heart I'm always with you,

Always will be every day.

—(Translation.)

NOTES FROM THE INFIRMARY.

Ode.

Oh, Infirmary, at S. N. S.,

An ode to thee we chant,

In memory of the long, sad days

When food was mighty scant.

Rows and rows of hungry mouths,

Waiting to be fed;

Longing for a piece of meat

Or a slice of bread.

At last it came, a lonely tray,

A dab of sauce and rice;

And on a dish a piece of bread—

A single, lonely slice.

It looked so thin, and it looked so frail,

And I wanted it very much;

I grabbed at it, 'twas but a hole

And vanished at my touch.

Infirmary, Infirmary,

An ode to thee we sing

In memory of "Starvation Days"

When we didn't get a thing.

—A. V.

1. Like hot chocolate! Go to the infirmary you'll get some for breakfast.

2. If you are not fond of bread take your meals at the infirmary. You'll certainly not get any there.

3. Ward 22 makes a splendid ball room. Bring your own music; Dr. Price does not furnish it.

Y'S AND OTHER Y'S.

An Episode.

Flicker, flicker, 'lectric light,
Thought I wrapped you up so tight!
But this knocking on the door
Tells me that you need some more.

Alas! it was the night of meeting!
Breathing stopped, as minutes fleeting
Marked the "call up" of this room—
And one fair sinner met her doom.

But she found Katherine calm and sad,
For all would shirk this job she had;
The sinner felt her knees did quake,
And then her heart in fear did quake.

For she was just one lonely girl,
And there was Minor! there was Marial!
So she looked Katherine in the eye
And said to her, "I shall not lie."

And now—

She of her freedom dreams—
How long that two weeks campus seems!

Moral—So stands a naughty set in good school!

ANCIENT CIVILIZATION.

By "One of the Sufferers."

She may be very sweet and dear,
She may be mighty nice,
But when she's teaching history
Her heart is cold as ice.

Twenty pages, more or less,

To study in a day;

Volumes in the library

To be covered in some way.

Ancient civilizations,

On which we must take notes—

All about how people dressed,

Their houses and their boats.

Note books to be kept in class

To study for a test;

Though we're given half of them

We have to guess the rest.

Then when the monthly test is over

Our papers we can't see;

We don't know where we made mistakes,

But must be satisfied with "E".

Miss Dora Jett spent the week-end of November 6th with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Temple, in Colonial Heights, Petersburg, Va.

We are all glad to know that Miss Elta Belle Walker, who has recently undergone an operation for appendicitis at the Johnston-Willis Hospital, Richmond, Va., returned to school Sunday, November 7, 1920.

How pleasant to know Mr. Lear,
Who has learned such volumes of stuff!
Some think him sarcastic and queer,
But a few think him pleasant enough.

A New Etymology.

English teacher: Miss A, spell studio.

Miss A: S-t-e-w-d-i-o.

E. T.: Why, Miss A, how do you spell it in that way!

Miss A: Isn't that where the girls have their candy stews!

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
219 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits,
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shows
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. B. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

AN ESSAY ON THE HEAD.

The human head is located at one end of the body and the feet at the other. The head can be told from the feet by shaking. If the thing you are shaking rattles it is the head, if it does not rattle it is the feet.

Men's heads are held on to their shoulders by Adam's Apple, while the women's are united by a swan-like neck.

The front of the head is the face and the back is a body of nothing entirely surrounded by hair—sometimes when a man's head is bald it is hard to tell the back from the front. An intelligent person we can tell in this way—the front is full of holes while the back is not.

Heads are useful for many things. They can be used for backgrounds for painting, patterns for valentines, blocks upon which to set hats, and incomes for barbers. They are also useful as rattle-boxes, and for filling up the front pages of magazines.

FOR SALE.

One Ford car with piston ring,
Two rear wheels, one front spring,
Has no fenders, seat or plank,
Burns lots of gas, hard to crank.
Carburetor busted halfway through,
Engine missing; hits on two.
Three years old—four in spring—
Has shock absorbers and everything.
Radiator busted, sure does leak;
Differentials dry, you can hear 'em squeak.
Ten spokes missing, front all bent,
Tires blowed out, ain't worth a cent.
Got lots of speed, will run like the deuce;
Burns either gas or tobacco juice.
Tires all off; been run on the rim—
A mighty good Ford for the shape it's in.
—Exchange.

JOKES

Kate, in geography class, very much distressed over spelling a word wrong on a test: "Miss Dietrich, I spelled that word all upside down."

Miss Dietrich, calm and composed: "I'll turn your paper upside down then, when I correct it."

"What is the meaning of 'alter ego?'" asked the teacher of the beginners' class in Latin.

"It means the 'other I,'" responded a pupil.

"Give me a sentence containing the phrase."

"He winked his alter ego."

Dr. (to patient): Well, how are you feeling this morning?

Patient: Very much better, thank you, doctor. The only thing that troubles me is my breathing.

Dr.: Um—yes, we must see if we can't get something to stop that.

"Cutie Coyner" is keeping up his "rep" by pulling off some very "cute" acrobatic stunts on the tennis court.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blosingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jenkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 5.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 26, 1920.

"CITIZEN'S" RURAL CONFERENCE.

The Citizens' Rural Conference held here from November 11th to 15th, inclusive, under the auspices of the United States Bureau of Education, was an unusual opportunity to the people of Farmville and the surrounding community and to the faculty and students of the Normal School.

The general management of the conference was under Miss Florence H. Stubbs, head of the Department of Rural Education. Due to the organized efforts and co-operation of several members of the faculty and a number of students, the conference was well advertised. A personal invitation was extended to country life leaders—citizens, teachers, preachers, etc.—through letters, while a general invitation was given to the public through clever posters distributed throughout Cumberland and Prince Edward counties.

The students of the Normal School assisted the rural department and faculty in making the program as enjoyable as possible through the music rendered by the Glee Club, the orchestra and community "sings."

The results are intangible and not to be measured so soon after the close of the conference. There are evidences, however, that a civic consciousness has been awakened; "a feeling of wholesome unrest" over country life problems; an appreciation of the country and a love for man as man which will be far-reaching in the influence exerted upon the citizens of Virginia.

Mr. J. C. Muerman, the executive secretary of the conference, specialist in rural education, of the U. S. Bureau of Education at Washington, presided at the opening session of the conference Thursday night, November 11th.

The conference opened with an invocation by Rev. Mr. Frederick Diehl, of the Farmville Episcopal Church. Then came an introductory address by Dr. J. L. Jarman, who, in behalf of the State Normal School, welcomed the citizens of Virginia to the meeting. There were also addresses of welcome by Mayor Davidson and Judge Watkins, of Farmville.

The address of the evening by Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, dealt with the problems underlying our whole educational system; for, said Dr. Winship, we are at the turning point; a time when everyone sees a change in life. As the world moves we move with it, although some move faster than others, and the sooner we realize that we are to do things according to the time the better.

Thirty years ago, said Dr. Winship, no one had ever seen an automobile. Twenty-seven years ago the first gasoline engine was made, and twenty-five years ago we had our first automobile race. Now there are

Continued on third page.

THE PERSONNEL OF THE CONFERENCE.

The full significance of the Rural Conference is impossible to state in words, but some suggestion of what it means may be had from a statement of the many interests represented by those in attendance and the many places from which they came. It should be remembered, furthermore, that every one who was present represented perhaps a great many at home.

The speakers themselves, of course, came from all parts of the United States, and may be said to represent the great national movement for better living and more abundant living throughout the country.

Among those in attendance were teachers, rural supervisors, divisional superintendents, home economic specialists, physicians, homekeepers, educational specialists, trustees, Y. W. C. A. secretaries, Red Cross workers, ministers, social workers, school league presidents, community league presidents, girls' club agents, students, rural school pupils, insurance agents.

It is especially important to note that the Richmond School of Social Service sent one representative, and there were also present two Red Cross workers from Washington, D. C.

It is also interesting to know that, notwithstanding the fact that a conference of the same type was being held at the same time in another county, so many counties were represented here. This shows to a great extent the interest that the people are taking in the rural conditions.

Representatives came from the following counties, not including the speakers: Prince Edward, Cumberland, Buckingham, Dinwiddie, Nottoway, Mecklenburg, New Kent, Roanoke, Nelson, Albemarle, Rappahannock, Charlotte, Montgomery, Henrico, Fairfax, Appomattox, Gloucester, Halifax, N. C., and from Nashville, Tenn.

To place the number at the minimum, there were over one hundred visitors outside of this county present, and over fifty per cent. were rural supervisors. Since the registration was not complete, it is impossible to make complete positive statements in regard to the personnel of the conference. But the facts at hand indicate that its influence must be far-reaching and permanent in the program of the State.

THE GULLEY CONCERT.

The Gulley concert, as a whole, was a disappointment. The S. N. S. girls were greatly delighted with the violinist and the cellist, but as for the rest of the program, especially the baritone songs, the limited applause received showed that it was adjudged as below the standard expected.

EUREKA—A NAME.

After a long and strenuous quest, the publishers of this paper, the folks at the State Normal School, have found a name for Dummy. And as in the famous quests of "ye olden times", what we sought was found not far away but right here at home. Everybody knew the rotunda has always been the center of school life here as it is the center of the great building that houses our life. But it required a special inspiration to enable everybody to decide by vote that ROTUNDA is the most suitable name for the paper. Hereafter the paper will be called by this name.

MISS EMMA M. DIETRICH.

Miss Dietrich, the new head of our Geography Department, comes to us from Ohio.

Miss Dietrich holds an A. B. degree from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, and has taken summer courses at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and at Worcester University, Worcester, Ohio.

Before she came to us she taught in the graded schools of Oberlin and Woodville, Ohio, was assistant principal at College Corners, and principal of the high school at Liberty, Indiana. Miss Dietrich has also taught in North Dakota, where she went, she assures us, "merely to see the country!"

Miss Dietrich has traveled widely in Europe, especially in Switzerland, where she was called by the illness of her grand-mother. She spent several months at the old home of her father and mother in Geneva, Switzerland.

As to her opinion of our school and our girls, we quote her:

"What do I think of Farmville? Well, when I think of Farmville I think of the six hundred plus girls that make up my Farmville. I have taught in several sections of the United States, but I have never met such a jolly, sociable and earnest group of girls as I have found here. I have felt at home with them all from the very first. In letters to my friends I have emphasized the earnestness of purpose that seems one of the outstanding characteristics of most of the girls I have learned to know best."

TOWN NEWS.

Miss Altha Duvall, of Farmville, a former Normal School student, was married at her home on Tuesday afternoon to Mr. Word, of Richmond. Miss Duvall has been teaching at the Conservatory for the past year or so, and is therefore well known to many of the girls.

DUMMY.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman.....Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson.....Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones.....Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring.....Business Manager
Helen Jarman.....Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden.....Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIALS.

Since this number is devoted so largely to the Rural Conference, for which we are indebted to the Department of Rural Education, we wish to call attention to the notable progress made by this department within the last few years.

It has come under the direction and leadership of Miss Florence H. Stubbs to hold a place of great importance.

Through this department the girls get actual contact with rural schools in this and adjoining counties, with results which are beneficial to all concerned. At times they furnish music for these schools and organize school clubs.

Miss Stubbs is county president of Community Leagues, and through her untiring efforts many have been established throughout this county.

The rural supervisor of Cumberland county, Miss Ada Bierbower, is also maintained by the Department of Rural Education.

The reports of the meetings of the conference contained in this double number are the work of the Second Professional Course IV, English Class, under the direction of Mr. Grainger. They furnish a good example of motivated composition work.

"CARRY ON."

Everyone of us who heard Miss Streeter's demonstrations felt a new influence in music. It appealed to our sense of the beautiful; to our appreciation of art and to our human sympathy. It made us dream dreams, see visions, and create ideals which we had never been able to organize into conscious thought. Dreams of the power of music over the heart of a little child! Longing for the power to work with such a child! Visions of the moulding of character and the kindling of ideals through the right type of music!

Emily Gordon, our delegate to the World's Christian Student Federation Conference, recently convened in Switzerland, writes back in the Association Monthly to American girls. She says: "The greatest difference in American and European girls is in the spirit in which they work. American girls work without the proper spirit, while European girls insist upon the spirit which results in service."

Can we fail "to carry on" that beautiful music brought to us by Miss Streeter? Our spirit and sympathy was with her. With such a spirit we cannot fail to give such inspiration to others. Such impressions "will flash upon that inward eye" long after we shall have left the associations which will recall them.

WHICH?

This cold is pretty hard on our bare ears, but a few courageous girls have braved the storm and kept up proposed style. Why can't all of us continue this good sense idea and slick our hair back? Something has to be done, because you can see how suicidal the result of tangling has proved to be—bobbied!

The great question of the day is, Shall we look "kinder" peculiar now or be bald-headed old maids in the future?

TOWN NEWS.

Miss Lucy Irving, who was operated on for appendicitis in Richmond, is convalescing.

Another marriage of the week was that of Miss Mildred Martin, the daughter of Mrs. William D. Martin, to Mr. Frank Harold Watkins, of Rocky Mount, Va. Miss Martin attended the Normal last year.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

During the Rural Conference we had with us Miss Clarke, secretary of the Rural and Country Life Department of the National Board, and Miss Copenhaver, assistant secretary of the Rural Department on the Field Committee. Miss Clarke gave us a splendid talk on "The Work of the Y. W. C. A. in Connection With the Country School and the Country Church."

This has been the World Fellowship Week of Prayer. We have had morning watch every day and special talks at prayers by members of the faculty. The program was as follows:

Monday: Africa—Miss Rice.
Tuesday: The Americas—Miss Dietrich.
Wednesday: Asia—Miss W. London.
Thursday: Australasia—Miss Scott.
Friday: Europe—Mr. and Mrs. Bell.
Saturday: Europe—Miss Smithey.

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS.

Many of the grades gave a free-will offering to the Junior Red Cross on Armistice Day. Quite a sum was realized and was greatly appreciated.

Miss Margaret M. Streeter gave several musical demonstrations Monday, November 15th, in the assembly room. Her demonstrations were enjoyed to the utmost, and her return is desired by everyone. The children proved that they not only have alert eyes, but keen ears as well.

Continued on seventh page.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS.

Dr. Diehl gave a very interesting talk to the pupils of the Training School Friday, November 19th.

The public is cordially invited to attend the bazaar which is to be held in the Training School December 10th. It is to be given under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross for the furtherance of the Red Cross work. There will be on sale all kinds of fancy articles, hand-painted cards, dolls, evergreens and Red Cross seals, besides delicious eats, such as ice cream, candy, peanuts and popcorn.

System of grading by a Seventh Grade pupil:

- A—is awful.
- B—is bad.
- C—is crazy.
- D—is dandy.
- E—is excellent.
- F—is fine.

Teacher: Jane, what is an abstract noun?
Jane: An abstract noun is something that can be felt but not seen.

Teacher: Will you give us an example, John?

John: A red-hot poker.

The fourth roll call of the Junior Red Cross was taken in the First Grade on Thursday, everyone in the grade becoming a member.

They learned to read the motto on the 1921 pin, "I serve," and are ready to put it into practice. During the coming week they are to bring to school scraps of cloth and rags to be used by the soldiers in insane hospitals in weaving rag rugs.

Although there was no membership fee this year, the First Grade children have made a voluntary offering of two dollars and seventy-seven cents.

THANKSGIVING.

The history of Thanksgiving is as old as the history of the human race. It is pre-eminently a religious festival and is an expression of gratitude to God for His mercies and blessings. With but few exceptions Thanksgiving has always had especial reference to the harvest.

The first Thanksgiving on record was the Feast of the Tabernacles, and was instituted by the children of Israel and commanded to be kept by Moses in gratitude to God for His protection during their forty years wandering in the wilderness.

Many nations have observed Thanksgiving, notably the Greeks, Romans, French and English races. Each nation celebrating the feast in their own way.

Thanksgiving Day in America was instituted by the Pilgrims and Puritans. Because of religious persecution in England these people went to Holland, and because they did not wish their children to learn Dutch customs and language they determined to come to America so they might worship God in their own way.

A ship called the Mayflower carried this band of brave people across the Atlantic, and they landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620—this year, 1920, being the three hundredth anniversary of this great event. The first winter was one of great suffering and many of their number died.

In the spring they planted their crops, the Indians having shown them how to plant the maize and other products of the soil. These crops were most abundant, and they decided to set apart a day of Thanksgiving and prayer. They met in the open, for they had no church, and returned thanks to God for His tender mercies to them. They invited their Indian friends, and had a feast of turkey, pumpkin pie and much more which the harvest afforded.

The people of New England continued this holiday all through the Revolutionary War, and in 1863 it was made a national holiday by President Lincoln. The year of 1920 should be made the greatest Thanksgiving Day in history, because we have so many precious things for which to be thankful for.

We are thankful for food, homes, kind parents, good schools, kind teachers, a Christian land filled with plenty, which we are willing to share with other lands. In our gratitude let us not forget the homeless orphans in Armenia. Let us help them.

We should all be thankful for the opportunities which are before us; also for the duties which go along with these and which are ours to perform.

"Let our hearts be filled with gratitude, his glad Thanksgiving Day to God, to whose all-wise providence we bow in homage."

"Thy name we bless, Almighty God,
For all the kindness Thou hast shown.
To this fair land the pilgrims trod,
This land we fondly call our own."

SIDELIGHTS ON THE FACULTY.

Now harken to this epic text,
Miss Stubbs will be our victim next.

Born where is heard the cock's loud crow,
Born where is heard the farmers' mow,
And there to childhood did she grow.

In rural school life she took part,
And in her childish vim she'd start—
New games she found in mind and heart.

And next she scorned without a fear
A matrimonial career;
'Tis good or we'd not have her here.

Through summer hours by shady pools
She studied books on facts and rules,
Then went to teach in rural schools.

Dissatisfied with what she knew,
She studied more, ambitious grew,
And found a place in college, too.

And then she came to S. N. S.,
The rural question here to bless,
And nature study here to stress.

Then last she comes without regret
To second childhood pleading yet,
"Girls, rural schools please don't forget."

"Madam," said the conductor politely to the lady; "you must remove that suit case from the aisle."

"Fo' de Lawd's sake, conductor, dat ain't no suit case, dat's mah foot."—Ithaca (N. Y.) Journal.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Picture Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE CARNIVAL.

All of us have attended carnivals before, but that one which came to the State Normal School Saturday, November 20th, was the finest show of its kind which is being presented in the present day.

The opening performance was the vaudeville held in the auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. One of the special features on the program was a solo dance of exceeding grace and artistic qualities, rendered by one of the foremost artists on the vaudeville stage of this city. Beautiful chorus girls sang the popular songs of today, among which were "My Alice Blue Gown" and "Let the Rest of the World Go By." The Junior and Senior classes presented several stunts, one of which was "Monkity Monk."

After the vaudeville the crowd followed the parade, which was led by the jazz band, and composed of the various performers of the circus. There were clowns and acrobats, trained animals, gymnasts, and tight rope walkers, the living wonders of the side shows, an old farmer and his wife, and the negro minstrels. The parade led the way to the gymnasium, where the marvelous acrobatic stunts and regular circus performances took place. The crowd found wonder and delight in the minstrel shows and side shows. Among the features presented at the side shows were Blue Beard's Wives, a Cherry Colored Cat, Siamese Twins, a Swimming Match, Tom Thumb and his Wife, the New Seven Wonders of the World, and many other unique attractions.

There were artistically decorated booths, where various wares were sold. But perhaps the greatest hit of the evening was the Most Beautiful Baby Ever Seen. This baby has won many prizes at previous shows, and we can indeed consider ourselves fortunate to have obtained this extraordinary feature for the carnival presented here at S. N. S.

THE "HU [MAN] ITIES" IN THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

According to the records left in Miss Tabb's office by the Second Professionals, they are devoting a good part of their time to studying the following subjects:

"Principals and Methods."
"Phys. Edd."
"Jim."

Mary Burwell: Let's change our room around."

Pauline Cheatham: "No, it's too much trouble."

Mary Burwell: "Oh, stop sitting on the tail of progress and shouting 'Whoa!'"

Dr. Tidyman in grammar grade methods: "How can you judge whether a cake is good or not?"

Thoughtful young lady on front seat: "By the effect."

Heard At Training School.

Violetta: "I didn't teach today."

Junior: "Why not?"

Violetta: "I only had four children and five of them were absent."

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blossingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrel.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jenkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

BAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 5.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 26, 1920.

"CITIZEN'S" RURAL CONFERENCE.

Continued from first page.

eight millions of automobiles in the United States.

Educational needs of today are different from those of yesterday and will continue to change. We must look forward and not backward. The greatest problem of the United States today is the financing of education, and to solve it will require the patriotism and foresight of Washington.

Incidentally, Dr. Winship said, George Washington was the father of farmers as well as of his country. He was the first man to plow subsoil, and he insisted on the rotation of crops and the breeding of sheep. Virginia is the mother of farmers, and Thomas Jefferson is second only to George Washington. If we leave Virginia out of the history of agriculture in America there will be no history.

Dr. Winship also stated that money put into taxes for schools is the only money that does not wear out. There are always some people who do not want things to change, and therefore do not want to spend their money for the improvement of education. But we must learn to look around the mountain of time and not build railroad stations for our grandchildren and schools for our grandfathers. Everyone is going forward and learning. That is the thing we are to deal with today. We are realizing more than the schools are for tomorrow and not yesterday.

Why is it that the country school today attracts so much attention? The best teaching in America may be found in the country; that is where you have boys and girls learn the real thing in the real way. We are asking for better rural schools everywhere which will enable children to learn things by doing them.

Utah is the leading State in the Union educationally. In Utah every boy and girl is looked after by the school twelve months in the year from the ages of six to eighteen years. The State realizes the boys and girls have to face the problems of a new generation.

Education teaches us to look around the mountain of time. Education is the challenge for boys and girls to grapple with the things that no one knows anything about in this day. N. A.

Dr. Winship spoke again the following morning, his topic being "Conditions Underlying Country Life."

The schools in rural districts, he said, are the worst in the country, yet they are the predominant factor in the advancement of the country people and should be the best.

More practical subjects should be taught in the country schools. Often a boy finds that after he has finished the high school and gotten his degree he cannot use the knowledge he has; especially if he goes back to the farm. "A child must learn where he is when he is there." He is in school to learn not to be taught.

The patrons of the school should co-operate with the school. The oil stove and Victrola in the school will bring co-operation and help the rural school in advancing. A county nurse should be in each county to supervise the health of the pupils. In North Dakota and Nebraska the oil stove and manual training in the schools have brought about co-operation.

Country life must be made more interesting, and the drift of people to the city must be stopped or we shall have a peasant class on the farms. All of this can be done through the improvement of country schools.

Mrs. Henrietta Calvin, specialist in home economics, Washington, D. C., also spoke at the Friday morning session. Her subject was "The Rural Home." First she reviewed the story of the beginning of our country, emphasizing the fact that our ancestors were rural people living in rural homes. She dwelt on the social importance, in its broadest sense, of the rural home, because 47 per cent. of American children are born in the country, and future American leaders will come from rural homes. She brought before us the vital necessity that country homes should be made livable, and social life should be provided for the boys and girls in order that they will continue to live in the country, and that people who cannot afford to make homes in the city will come to the country.

Mrs. Calvin thinks that to prevent the development of a peasant class distinct from the cultured class in our country something must be done to help our rural people build clean, attractive and livable homes. Her slogan is "Save the Soul of the Community." In concluding her very excellent address, she left with her audience this thought: "We must treasure the rural home that we may have in the future a good, clean, moral citizenship."

M. D.
The final address of this session was delivered by Mr. Thomas D. Eason, State Director of Vocational Education. Mr. Eason dwelt upon the small town as the connecting link between the open country and the developed cities, and explained this function of the small town. School and country fairs and other activities of local interest are also important as a means of linking these opposing elements in American life.

The great problem is to overcome the lack of co-operation between the country and the city. It is necessary to change the attitude of the city people who have applied the names "hayseed," "clodhopper," Rube, etc., to the farmer. City people also expect the farmer to supply them with cheap food. To do this the farmer has to labor continually, thus lowering his standard of living. Because of the continual struggle for bare maintenance, youths leave the rural districts for more alluring city prospects, which involve lighter work, more direct benefit and better social advantages. In order to remedy this influx to the city more reasonable accommodation in homes must be provided and a better and a more practical system.

Then, too, the farmer must have some part in the change by keeping a record and putting farming on a paying basis. The farmers must co-operate and get rid of the middle man. They must overcome their suspicion of city people gained by isolation.

Since the passage of the good roads and educational amendments we do not think the day is far off when we shall have a well balanced State. Virginia must be removed from the forty-third place in education. To do this both rural and city people must co-operate.

O. H.
Mr. Muerman, who also presided at this session, gave an opportunity for other leaders present to address the meeting after Mr. Eason finished. Brief talks were made by Mr. T. J. McIlwaine, division superintendent of Prince Edward county; Mr. A. E. Akers, of Halifax, N. C., and Mr. Worrell, of Richmond.

Very enjoyable music was furnished during this session by students of the Normal School under the direction of Miss Christine Murray.

Hon. Harris Hart, Superintendent of Public Instruction of Virginia, was the principal speaker at the Friday afternoon session. His subject was "The Solution of Rural Problems." The rural school, he said, has had many handicaps in the past, and the problem before us now is the removal of these handicaps.

In solving this problem Virginia has a difficult task. The social, economic, instructional and constitutional handicaps have kept the rural schools from becoming what they should. The passage of the educational amendments in Virginia has removed the constitutional handicap. By opening the eyes of the people to the present conditions of the rural schools, and by making them realize the necessity of the schools functioning in daily life, we will find the best solution of the remaining handicaps.

The limited communication in rural districts is a natural social barrier to the welfare of the rural schools. This may be met by the consolidation of the one and two-room schools into larger schools.

The drain upon the supply of teachers, the financial demand for higher salaries of the teachers, and the poor attendance of the pupils has made the economic problem a hard one to meet.

The instructional barrier is a grave one. The resourcefulness, initiative, independ-

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman	Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson	Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Boeck
Carolyn Rankin
Beth Jones	Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring	Business Manager
Helen Jarman	Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden	Asst. Business Manager

ence and skill required of the rural teacher mean that the most efficient teacher must be sent to the rural school. This must be met by granting a bonus to all teachers devoting their time to rural work.

The rural communities must be made to fully appreciate the fact that a term of nine months is very necessary for all schools. The term of seven months is too often found.

Any rural community can now have a school which is just as good as it wants. The way is open and it is up to us to make them what they should be.

On Friday night at the fourth meeting of the conference President J. L. Jarman presided. The first number on the program was a delightful violin solo by Miss Grace Holmes, from Lynchburg, after which Prof. J. C. Muerman, of Washington, D. C., was presented.

Prof. Muerman gave a very interesting stereopticon lecture, showing the progress made in the United States in rural education. By means of interesting slides, with brief, interesting explanations, the schools and school conditions in first one State and then another were shown. From crude, rural one-room schools situated on bad roads, supposed to lead to learning, the scenes changed to modern schools on improved roads, but widely separated and with crude means of transportation. The scenes following these represented a period fifty years ago when the first rural consolidated school, embracing all the schools in a vicinity of several miles, was built. This consolidation plan proved both practical and helpful, and is being adopted throughout the country. Adequate means of transportation are provided, and the school becomes a community center as well as an institution of learning. Prof. Muerman showed many typical examples of the working out of this plan.

Then he showed the significance of supervised play and gymnasium work in the rural schools, and the advantage of a system of home credits given to the students for certain types of work or duties performed on the farm.

The last few scenes brought home some conditions existing in Virginia. While the scenes were certainly optimistic, statistics show an opportunity for improvement here. Prof. Muerman expressed his belief that we would accept this opportunity, and closed with the following quotation: "Success to you and to Farmville School is the wish for you from a representative of the Bureau of Education in Washington, D. C."

On Saturday morning, November 13th, Superintendent T. J. McIlwaine, of Prince Edward county, presided. Addresses were delivered by Dr. Robert K. Nelson, of the State Board of Health, and Mr. A. E. Akers, Superintendent of Schools of Halifax county, N. C. Miss Margaret M. Streeter, the charming representative of the Victor Talking Machine Company, gave her first, or foundation, talk on musical appreciation, which is written up on another page. Other excellent and very enjoyable music was furnished by "Miss Munoz's girls."

At this meeting Mr. J. L. McBrian, of the U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, appeared on the platform for the first time and made several characteristic contributions to the discussions.

Dr. Nelson talked on "Sex Education." He stated that this is a difficult subject to treat, but one of the most important. The public school teacher must do her part in this educational work. She must watch the children and see that their parents talk to them on social hygiene at the time they need it. She can furnish the parents with leaflets on the subject. "The End of the Rope" is a good film and one that everybody should see.

Dr. Nelson also stated that rural leadership means planting yourself in the country and staying there and working for the people, through the people and with the people.

Address by Mr. Akers.

Following Miss Streeter's musical demonstration, Mr. Akers told what his county is doing for better rural schools.

At present Halifax county has three-day conferences for teachers at a group center. (The report of the last conference can be obtained by writing to Mr. L. C. Brogren, State Supervisor of Rural Schools, Raleigh, N. C.) In these conferences round table discussions are held. The teachers discuss what they as teachers have the right to expect of committeemen, and the committeemen discuss what they have the right to expect of teachers.

The county farm agent, home demonstrator and all the teachers are asked to be at the group center. The center school always has good teachers. The classes there are held until 11 o'clock and the other teachers have an opportunity for observation. A special class is given at 9 o'clock, to which all the teachers are invited, and later the methods, etc., used are discussed.

After a big lunch dinner the farm agent discusses problems with the fathers and boys, and the home demonstrator with the mothers and girls.

Motivation, group centers, good "movies," singing and contests helped to bring about consolidation.

E. M.

Mr. J. L. McBrian, specialist in rural education of the U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, presided Saturday afternoon, and talks were made by Dr. Roy Flannagan, of the Virginia State Board of Health; Mr. T. V. Downing, teacher of agriculture in the Nassawadox High School; Miss Helen Cunningham, Supervisor of Rural Schools of Albemarle county; Prof. W. B. Coggin, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and Mr. George W. Guy, executive secretary of the Co-operative Education Association. The Normal School orchestra played at the opening of the meeting, and Miss Streeter gave a musical demonstration.

Mr. T. V. Downing said that all of the States need home projects, especially in the rural school, for agricultural education must center around the home project.

It has been seen that the rural schools are not keeping pace with the city schools, because it has been unable to fit itself to the needs and demands of the community. Education must relate itself concretely to living, must meet real problems and adjust one to his or her place. In former years things have been purely cultural, whereas it should have been both cultural and practical. Work that really counts is done in the rural school. The pupils should be taught how to use their hands. If in a school the pupils cannot get the work suited to their environment, then change the curriculum. The way will be opened up toward home project work, and the pupils will learn something that relates to their real life.

In every community there must be a social center. Why not make the rural school this point? Here the families and teachers are brought together and the people see more clearly where their taxes go.

If the school has a good reading room leave it open all the time and let it be for the old as well as the young, and use the auditorium for the needs of the community.

This will finally make the school a pride to a community. The people will see that the work of the school relates to the needs of the rural home and will support it in all of its needs.

T. S.

Following Mr. Downing's talk, Miss Helen Cunningham, president of the Teachers' Association of Albemarle county, told about the progress made in rural education in Albemarle county.

She stated that Albemarle county now has a Victrola in every school in the county, both white and colored; also a large dictionary and a set of eight maps. These are looked upon as necessities. The work is now directed toward consolidation and hot lunches in the schools.

Miss Cunningham stated that five years ago this county had one supervisor and now it has four. The work in the county has been directed toward improving educational facilities, farm life, and health conditions.

First, the deplorable conditions were put before the patrons of the county; and to make a long story short, through close cooperation with the Red Cross, farm and home demonstrators and the commissioner, the conditions were greatly changed.

The supervisors are now working for standardized schools. That includes equipment from the beginning—laboratories and all.

Consolidation has been accomplished to a certain extent, but, of course, the mountain districts cannot be consolidated.

E. M.

Saturday Evening.

The Saturday evening session was one of particular interest to the teachers in the audience. Dr. J. L. McBrian, of the United States Bureau of Education, gave a very interesting lecture on "The Teacher." Dr. McBrian considers character, prudent conduct, scholarship, professional training, common sense, patience and faith in boys and girls as the necessary qualifications of a good teacher, and gave fitting illustrations to elucidate his opinions. He concluded the lecture with the work of the teacher, which, he says, is "to train girls for noble womanhood and boys to be men among men."

Miss Margaret M. Streeter gave the third lecture of her series on music appreciation and how it may be taught in the school. Special attention was given to rhythm, its various phases and how it may be taught.

L. S.

On Sunday afternoon, November 14th, Miss Emma Clark, one of the national secretaries for rural work of the Y. W. C. A., told us about the work that the association is doing in the country.

She said, in part: "The day of a great leader is past. Today leadership is put in the hands of the many, and in the future it depends upon the school boys and girls. Through the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. that these boys and girls will receive much of their training. The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to train the young people in Christian leadership."

"The world is facing one of the most trying situations it has ever faced. Now that the war is over, there are new problems arising and new methods for solving them are bound to come."

"Jesus said: 'I came that they should have life and have it more abundantly.' It is up to us to see that this great purpose of Jesus, which has become our motto, is accomplished."

L. S.

On the same occasion Miss Byington, a representative of the American Red Cross, talked on the work of the Red Cross in times of peace.

"The purpose of the present Red Cross drive is to promote the spirit of service," stated Miss Byington. The Red Cross seeks to mobilize the same spirit in times of peace as was so prominent during the war, by utilizing that spirit—first, to organize community health centers; second, to promote public nursing by endeavoring to induce each county to support a nurse who will teach the people to care for their bodies and surroundings more intelligently; third, to arouse community interest so that boys and girls may grow into healthful and useful citizens; fourth, to organize branches of Junior Red Cross.

This is a useful branch of the Red Cross. It teaches children loyalty and gives them a desire to serve.

E. M. W.

The usual Sunday night services were not held in the churches of Farmville last Sunday, but the congregations gathered in the auditorium, where members of the Citizens' Conference, together with the pastors of our churches, held a union service. Dr. J. L. McBrian, of the National Bureau of Education, presided.

The first number of the program was "Abide With Me," delightfully rendered by the Glee Club.—The Rev. Mr. Rankin and the Rev. Mr. Diehl told in a few effective words the needs of the rural church. Both showed that co-operation and consolidation are the most needed.

Among the speakers was Miss Emma Clark, of the Y. W. C. A., who pictured to the audience the good work which the combined efforts of the Y. W. C. A. and rural church could accomplish.

One of the most enjoyable and instructive numbers was that of Miss Margaret Streeter, who demonstrated the place of music in the country church. She brought out the point that this place, which is gradually being filled with poor music, may be filled with good music through the use of the talking machine.

D. G.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

On Monday, November 15th, Hon. Lee L. Driver, Director of Rural Education of Pennsylvania, gave an illustrated lecture on "Educational Progress." He emphasized especially the importance of rural school consolidation, saying that "the solution of school problems will come through the consolidated school."

In the last ten years improvements in agriculture and farm machinery have been far greater than the improvement of the school. The central figure of the school is the child, and children are pleading for help and opportunity. It is not only desirable that we give them the opportunities they so desire, it is decidedly a duty.

One-room schools are unfit for the education of children. The teachers are, in many cases, unqualified, classes are short, for many must be heard in one day, and the child is not given the advantage due him. Besides this, the sanitary conditions are very deficient.

By consolidating the rural schools these conditions can be overcome. In consolidated schools, at very little more expense, it is possible to have better teachers, equipment and sanitary conditions. Each of these schools should have an auditorium to be used as a community center, a gymnasium for physical education, a good playground, laboratories, rooms for manual training and domestic science, a good musical instrument of some kind, and an efficient and healthful means of transportation for the children living some distance from the school.

The children should be taught things that they really need in their lives, and that they are interested in, besides the "Three R's" of old-fashioned education.

Thus, for a little more cost we gain much. The children are really prepared for the problems of life and are taught to be efficient men and women.

A. V.

Mr. Driver illustrated his lecture with slides made from photographs taken by himself in the course of his work in Indiana, where, as county superintendent of schools, he carried on work which placed him among the national leaders in this field. The intimate glimpses he gave into his work and his witty remarks about it made his lecture especially delightful.

MUSIC IN RURAL SCHOOLS.

A series of very interesting addresses and demonstrations in music as given by Miss Margaret M. Streeter in the Normal School auditorium during the Rural Conference. In all of them she related music to the rural and community schools.

Miss Streeter began her series of addresses by asking the question, "What is meant by foundation in music?" The great majority of the people do not appreciate music because they have no foundation, nothing upon which to base their appreciation. In order to provide children with necessary expression they must be taught how to appreciate music—the real meaning of it. We have a greater need for music in the United States today than ever before. It was once used only for pleasure, but now it is a necessity. It is now being used in the industries and in all phases of life. Think of what an important factor it was in the great war. What would our boys have done without it? In fact, everybody is appreciating it more every day.

The educators have recognized the need of music. It is now being brought into the public schools everywhere. We should remember that children lack the experience in music and therefore we cannot expect them to understand and appreciate it. The plan in teaching them music is to relate all music to the experiences of the child. The tone language is not understood because it is not experienced.

We, the American people, are today the most unmusical people in the world. Many of us do not love the music we should. What kind of music is found on many of our pianos today? Jazz and ragtime mostly. These are the only popular music we have. Popular music is familiar music. A good definition of music appreciation is, "A thoughtful listening to music while attention is placed on characteristics in music." How does the average American listen to good music? Does he seem bored and inattentive, or does he seem to enjoy it?

Music is being brought into the schools by the use of the Victrola. It creates a capacity for music, and children may be taught best through its use. To teach them to appreciate and enjoy a musical selection we must tell them the story of the piece of music and then play it for them, demonstrating to them as well as playing.

Two slogans in music are: Learn to listen and then listen to learn. Using music in correlation with literature is a good method of teaching it. For example, all children study Indians at some time of the year in school. Tell them the story of Hiawatha and then play the range for them on the Victrola. Let them listen for the Indian characteristics. All schools should have a careful selection of records—not the hit and miss jumble, but that which is worth while, which the children can appreciate and which has a relation to their studies.

Among the most needed music for the rural schools is well rendered native songs with good accompaniments. For instance, "Swanee River." We sing our native songs very poorly because we think we already know them well enough and are not taught them. We're trying to get America to sing, for she is not a singing nation. How can we get the people interested in these native songs? We must impress the children as well as the older people. Will "Me and My Gal" be remembered fifty years from now? No, because there is nothing to hold it; but let us play "Listen to the Mocking Bird" and note the bird characteristics. Isn't there something in that worth holding to?

There are four elements of music—rhythm, melody, harmony and form. Rhythm pertains to time, is the life of music and is beneficial. There are four steps in developing rhythm:

1. Free expression in music.
2. Imitative rhythm.
3. Loosely organized rhythm.
4. Highly organized rhythm.

Rhythm can be overworked, as in jazz and ragtime. It may be reformed with harmony and melody as a background. "Except ye play as little children ye cannot enter the kingdom of health." Teach the little children music by having them to play their games in accompaniment to it, as in "Did You Ever See a Lassie?" Play it on the Victrola and have them sing, and make their movements rhythmically with it.

The Victrola should come into the school as a means of education. Do not let the children use it until they learn what the discs mean. The Victrola usually means little in the home, for people so often talk while music is being played. They do not know and appreciate the real value of music.

We have a great need of vitalizing music to the Sunday school. Music in ages past centered in the community church. For instance, when the Pilgrims brought over the grand old hymns and centered their music in the church, ragtime and waltz music are now being heard in the Sunday school. Why not take that out and have the children learn and love to sing really good hymns? We must realize that music is essential in all phases of life, and especially in religious life. Here are the words of a great philosopher: "Music washes away from the soul the dirt of everyday life."

VITALIZED MUSIC IN THE RURAL SCHOOLS.

Vitalized music contains the element of joyous participation in the singing of songs and also in the free rhythmic response in various games and physical exercises that are necessary to the healthy, wholesome development of a child. The relationship of music to other things is brought out, so that not only interest in the subject in question is stimulated, but also in every other subject touched, namely, literature, art, geography, history, nature study, etc.

Vitalized music in the school also extends over into community life. The teacher uses it as a unifying factor, realizing that nothing will bring a group of people together more quickly than joining in the singing of familiar songs.

Having taken an active part in four State-wide "drives" for the improvement of the rural schools, the writer realizes the universal need all over America for music of this kind. The creating of such a musical atmosphere devolves on the rural teacher, who, with all her other duties and her limited musical experience, finds the task a difficult one. She may be able neither to sing nor to play. In this case the organ becomes merely a piece of furniture. However, if she is provided with a Victrola and a supply of carefully selected records her problem is practically solved. With the especially made band accompaniments, group singing is now quite possible. The pattern song sung by a great artist teaches proper phrasing and diction; the story telling and descriptive music induces the children to listen and really to enjoy and to appreciate good music. Every school, no matter how remote, may have all this wealth of educational material.

In the States where intensive work has been carried on through the "drives" . . . all the children of all the people are constantly associated with good music; their standards are being raised, and their minds are being stored with beautiful, enduring things that will prove a blessing all through the span of life.

MARGARET M. STREETER.

The following is a list of Miss Streeter's favorite records which may be used in vitalizing music in public school work:

- American—17580.
- The Star Spangled Banner—17581.
- The Battle Hymn of the Republic—18145.
- America the Beautiful—18627.
- Mother Goose—17004.
- Little Shoemaker—17937.
- Four Leaf Clover—64139.
- Sweet and Low—18417.
- Carry Me Back to Old Virginny—74420.
- Old Folks at Home.
- The Bee—64076.
- The Whirlwind (record in preparation).
- At the Brook—17600.
- Of a Taylor and a Bear—18598.
- Le Cygne—45096.
- Hungarian Fantasie (record in preparation).
- Volga Boatman—65147.
- Norwegian Mountain March—17160.
- Dance of Greeting—17158.
- I See You—17158.
- Did You Ever See a Lassie?
- Virginia Reel—18552.
- Minuet and Gavotte—17917.
- Annie Laurie—16388.
- Hiawatha—35617.
- Lady of the Lake—55052 (consolidated schools).
- Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground.
- Puritan Hymns—17646.
- Swing Low, Sweet Chariot.
- Abide With Me—17782 (church).
- Whispering Hope—17782 (church).
- It Came Upon the Midnight Clear—35412.
- While Shepherds Watched—35412.
- Listen to the Mocking Bird (consolidated schools).

A MODERN PIED PIPER.

In Farmville town is a Normal School,
Where the merry lasses break no rule;
But the way they fixed their hair, oh my!
Made all the teachers plead and cry,
"Take it down, take it down, oh stop, oh stop."

They wore rats on each ear, in the back and on top.

Day by day the faculty pleaded
For co-operation, for that's what they needed.

Then one bright day in cold November—
A day the schoolgirls all remember—
The president, with consternation,
Faced his student congregation.

"Dear girls," he said, "I have news for you,
Good news for all, the latest and true:
Your mode of hair dressing is not all the go,
The latest thing now is to let your ears show."

Next morning the rats, with heedless haste,
Were thrown into the discarded waste,
And Normal girls with faces glowing
Marched into chapel with both ears showing!

Pleased the faculty, this observation—
For had they not gained co-operation?
Miss Caulling at once arose to her feet
And thanked the girls, for they looked so sweet.

Miss Bugg remarked that they looked quite "stupidful."

And Miss Munoz said some were beautiful!
Dr. Jarman smiled the sweetest smile,
And the girls all tittered from aisle to aisle,
For the Pied Piper Dame Fashion had sounded that day

The first note that called all the rats away.

WHY WAS IT?

The day was cold and windy,
Not a schoolgirl was in sight;
Mr. Gilliam waited patiently—
He didn't think 'twas right.

They come, they come, they're here!
What's happened to their hair?
Dr. Jarman made a talk
And they fixed it back with care!

Alas! The fad is over,
You see their ears no more,
They stick "it" out like fury
With "rats" and "ruffs" galore!

Really, now why was it
The fad proved not effectual?
Our president says it was because
We looked so intellectual.

But Dr. Jarman got that wrong—
For we did but note the poet's song:
"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,
Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

Just a bag of candy.
Just an ice-cream cone,
Makes our bill at Gilliam's
Drag us to a loan!

VICTROLAS and RECORDS
J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 6.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 3, 1920.

THE THANKSGIVING GAME.

At nine-thirty Thursday morning, November 26th, the Seniors vs. the Juniors, and the Fourth Year High's vs. the Third Year High's, held the first basketball games of this season.

Snake dances started the day. First came the Seniors, winding in and out, to the tune of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," finally lining up on the right side of the basketball court. Then the Juniors, large numbers, came singing "I'm a Junior Born," and lined up on the left. It would be difficult to say who yelled the louder, but, at the referee's whistle, all was silence. Out came the Fourth Year and Third Year High's, full of pep. They played like fury, leaving the score in favor of the Fourth Year at the end of the first half.

In a moment Senior and Junior teams were on the field with yells and flying colors. Both teams began scoring, each goal bringing forth cheer upon cheer. The first half ended with a goal by Van Sicker for Seniors, with the score 19 to 2 in favor of Seniors.

With the second half of the game the Fourth and Third Year High's showed their spirit, both teams determined to win. When time was called, the Fourth Year team had won, with the score 18 to 14. With one yell yet, the class expressed its appreciation.

Then the Seniors and Juniors came out for the last half of their game. Juniors began a fight, seeing visions of the silver cup, tied with purple and white ribbon. Paulette and Treckle hurled the ball with clean sweeps into the goal. Would the Seniors lose that game after all? Everybody held his breath. No, they would not lose. Van Sicker and Wells, with the help of Moore and the rest of the team, kept the ball sailing through the goal. Time was called. The score stood 26 to 16 in Senior's favor. Up went the Blue and Gold in triumph and with it the yells of the Seniors in appreciation. Each team was borne away amidst the cheers of the spectators.

The spirit and pep shown by all classes this year means that each class intends putting forth a brave fight for the cup.

NORMAL SCHOOL GUESTS.

Many of the old girls were back at S. N. S. for the Thanksgiving holiday; among them: Ridley Walker, Blanche Brewer, Violet Andrews, Ida Miller, Carolyn Burgess, Irene Bridges, Anna Marie Winslow, Nelle Nininger, Charlotte Wolfe, Katherine Riddle, Louise Trotter, Frances Thomas, Ethel Gildersleeve, Louise Garrett and Louise Dent.

Miss Eloise Blosingame and Florine Guilbert were the guests of Miss Virginia Blosingame during the week-end of November 27th.

AN APPEAL FOR AID.

Miss Elizabeth McHugh, our Y. W. C. A. president, made a short talk in chapel on Wednesday morning, November 24th, on the deplorable conditions of the European students.

None of us can imagine anything as distressing as these conditions. Students are trying to live on two meals a day, one of which consists of black bread and thin soup. They are trying to keep warm through the long winter months with their clothing in rags. Many of the men are wearing their old army uniforms, now badly worn after years of service. Many of the women are clad in dirty rags, for soap and a bath are luxuries which students cannot afford.

The conditions are even worse in Austria and Hungary. There the students cannot find any work to do. None of them can possibly earn ~~over~~ half enough money needed to buy the barest necessities for life.

The appeal was made as to what we as students can do to help them. Practically every girl in chapel promised to make by some means twenty-five cents, so that we may send aid to our fellow students in Europe.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Thanksgiving morning we held morning watch in the association room, and the regular Wednesday night association meeting was put off until Thursday, so that we might have a Thanksgiving service, at which Mr. Gehl talked.

The Social Service Committee asked all of the training school children to bring some contributions from home for our Thanksgiving baskets. As a result we had large boxes of potatoes, baskets of apples, canned goods, preserves, cakes and crackers. The Y. W. C. A. added flour, meal, etc., to these contributions and filled about fifteen baskets and several bags. At 8 o'clock on Thanksgiving morning the Social Service Committee took the baskets around in a truck, and we hope sincerely that we made somebody happy and gave them more cause to be thankful on this Thanksgiving day.

NOTICE.

The card catalogue of students has been completed in the Registrar's Office and shows six hundred and forty-two registered this session. Of this number two hundred and eighty-two are new students.

The total number of matriculates since the school was founded in 1884 is seven thousand and seventy-five.

J. M. Q.

EDWIN J. FETTIG.

Sometimes a reporter is fortunate enough, when sent to interview a person, to receive the essential facts in exact form for publication. He is fortunate even though the task of getting this information is an arduous one. Mr. Fettig admits that he has never given himself much thought, and that certainly he has never really thought there would be any demand for his biography, but since the calls of the Rotunda have been very insistent, he has kindly submitted the following, and thinks that it may appear in "Who's Why" before many more editions.

"I was born in Saginaw, Michigan, on July 7, 1845, and I might say I was the baby of the family. At some indeterminate age I was given the name with which I am now burdened—Edward John Fettig.

"When I became old enough I went to school (some people may not think so, but here is my word for it). After finishing my high school course I attended Albion College, Albion, Michigan, for two years, and then completed my course at the University of Michigan with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering.

"While I have had no previous experience in teaching, I have had a varied and extensive experience in other lines. Most of my work has been along technical lines, namely, as a chemist with the Atlas Powder Co. in its experimental laboratories at Tamaqua, Pennsylvania; as a chemist and engineer with the Detroit City Gas Co., and as an engineer with Lockwood, Greene & Co., engineers. Now I am getting a teaching experience.

"I have lots of ambitions, too numerous to mention, and I have a good many failings, the most important of which are: I drink Coca-Cola, or did when it cost a nickel; I am a grouch, I speak in a very plain way—some mistake this for sarcasm.

"I pick as my good points the facts that I'm always on time for meals; am ordinarily of pronounced Republican leaning; pronounce my r's, and am bold.

"I think Farmville is a nice, quiet town and an ideal location for a school there being no disturbing influences, and the girls are just immense—that means wonderful town here. I really do think that I'll be very much taken up with Virginia when I become acclimated."

It is evident that Mr. Fettig's history will lie mostly in the future, and one of his organic chemistry students has requested that she be allowed to fill that for him.

If any further information is desired concerning Mr. Fettig it may be obtained by applying to him in person. He may also furnish you with a photograph of himself by himself.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocoek
Carolyn Rankin ----- Associate Editors
Ruth Jones
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIAL. OUR INFANT.

"Dummy" is now six issues old. She has successfully passed that trying period of "dummyhood" and has at last been appropriately christened "The Rotunda." Just as an infant ceases to be called "baby" after christening, but is known by a name which gives her an individuality all her own, so should our school paper cease to be called "Dummy" and from henceforth be known as "The Rotunda."

THE ROTUNDA is very young yet and far from reaching that standard to which we feel she is capable of developing. She wants your advice and criticism—not the kind that tears down and leaves nothing as a substitute, but the sort of correction which will build up the paper and make it a healthy, growing periodical. At present THE ROTUNDA is still in her infancy—inexperienced and often, we regret to say, undernourished. She is the child of our minds and must be reared by us. Like all other children, she wants to be noticed—in fact, demands attention! Her very existence depends upon it. She has a sensitive nature. If you find any good in her, show your approval, it will encourage her. If you find her full of faults, correct these faults as you would those of a child, by expressing your disapproval and offering her something better. THE ROTUNDA is the product of the school. Let us see to that she is given proper nourishment—both financial and literary.

TO OUR READERS.

1. All contributions must be completed and handed in by Thursday night of each week.
 2. They must be written legibly.
 3. They must be written in pen and ink and ON ONLY ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER.
 4. Use theme paper.
- It is very necessary that these rules be observed.
- The school paper is just beginning to live. You are its life and without you it must die. The staff, figuratively speaking, on bended knee pleads that the student body contribute any article on school life, any bit of news, any joke or poem that will add to the paper in any way. If you don't know any news and can't write poetry, give us a write-up about something that is of interest to you. If it is really of interest to you, you can make it of interest to the rest of us. Support your paper, it needs you. If we don't print your article at once, please don't become discouraged, it may come out later on. If you don't find it in print later on, cry us again.

BETTER SPEECH.

To those of us who expect to teach "better speech" should have a special appeal. To all of us "better speech" should be paramount, for we Southerners with our "goins" and "aw-right's" have allowed ourselves to slip away from correct pronunciation. We worship at the shrine of soft voices and southern drawl tones. We pride ourselves in these characteristics, yet, on the other hand, use phrases which have become worn and hackneyed. We overwork cute, good, funny, crazy, awfully, little and darling until some are wondering why grim death does not come with sweeping strides and take them out of their misery. Then some of us employ that horrid hobo "ain't," who has tried so often to break into the dictionary. We call upon our friend, "pin," when we really want pen. We summon "come" for came, "can" for may, and actually combine those enemies for life, "might" and "could" and "had" and "ought." Their anger at being thus treated is unbearable, yet not so uncontrollable as our Southern companion, "you all" when dubbed "yawl."

"The way out" you say? The one way to remain in sympathy and "grammally" love with all our friends of "better speech" is first by an earnest and sincere desire to learn how to correct all common errors. Second, by trying to improve the tone of the voice. Adopt the slogan, "Get rich now! Help yourself to a rich voice!" Third, by employing better sentences; and, fourth, by cultivating the art of listening. To be a good listener is a great accomplishment. Come one and all and let's give one big rah for "better speech!"

WATCH THE TRAINING SCHOOL!

It can be said that outdoor sports are good for both the mind and body. The faculty is making this possible by supervised play. The pupils are showing great interest and are always eager for these periods to come. Basketball seems to be the game enjoyed most, and on Thanksgiving Day there was quite an interesting game between the Eighth and Ninth grades, which resulted in favor of the latter.

The Thanksgiving contribution given by the pupils of the Training School was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by many poor people of the town. This is not the only contribution that has been made during the session by the Training School.

On Wednesday afternoon, November 24th, the Sixth Grade entertained the Seventh very delightfully by rendering a program which consisted of Thanksgiving poems, songs and recitations.

Where QUALITY Counts

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR LITERARY SOCIETIES?

The question of the continued existence of our Literary Societies will soon be out of our power to decide. At the rate at which they have been declining in the last three years they will soon automatically die, cease to exist even in name. Moreover, we cannot afford to lower the standard of our school by retaining unnecessary organizations, or organizations that are not functioning. So wake up, girls! There is a question of life and death before us.

We do not admit, we do not believe, that our Literary Societies are unnecessary organizations. Why? Just because! Just because our grandmothers found them useful because of their wonderful traditions? We must prove that their past need is a present need also.

Literary Societies were established for a two-fold purpose, intellectual advancement and social intercourse. The present need of the social intercourse afforded by our Literary Societies might be questioned. The great number of organizations now in school which include a like purpose and the increased modern opportunities for amusements lessen the Literary Societies' responsibility for this development. However, the Literary Society is the only organization in school which has for its purpose special intellectual development in literature. It is true that our English classes have advanced in literature teaching, but the growing ignorance of and disinterest in good literature in our modern schools and American life do not leave a doubt that our English classes need some assistance.

Our Literary Societies are failing, however, regardless of our need for them. One reason has been their decreasing need as a social medium. Also the needs of only two hundred girls have been met, since each society cannot have over fifty members a term, and an organization that meets the needs of the students should be able to serve them all and must reach the majority. The selective basis of membership is not the right principle for a Normal School, which should train all students as prospective selective members or leaders of a community. Therefore, all opportunities for training in knowledge, leadership and initiative afforded by a Literary Society should be made possible for all students and not be restricted to the advancement of a few. The only constructive point in our present membership system is its encouragement to good scholarship, and the founding of an Honor Society since the making of the constitution of our Literary Societies has weakened the value of this point, or clause of the constitutions. The greatest reason for the decline of our Literary Societies is the expanding and growth of other organizations and interests. The time for meetings has been absorbed or crowded out, and interest in the subject matter and rendering of programs has been replaced by the movies and other entertainments.

The solution lies here then. We must institute a time for our Literary Society programs. We must hush the modern girl's frantic cry, "I just haven't time!" Wouldn't it be just time to have a whole forty-five minute period a week or every two weeks for a regular program meeting of our Literary Societies? Well, why not? We have a whole period for song class! The possibilities of such a definite time are unlimited. Our separate meetings, open forum meetings, or the whole six hundred of us, conducted in the usual way by our presidents, with the faculty with us often as spectators or advisory visitors, would be ideal situations for developing not only good teachers, but citizens and leaders of our nation.

We do not have to look back upon the traditions of our Literary Societies to see their usefulness. The greatest field for service ever before an organization lies before us today. What shall we do with our Literary Societies?

SIDELIGHTS ON THE FACULTY.

The crystal ball will now relate
The scenes of Mr. Coyner's fate.

When first he opened his pretty eyes
It seemed he looked with mild surprise
At all the bright things he could see.
I wonder if he thought them out
In terms of child psychology.

'Twas joy to see his mind expand—
At the head of every class he'd stand!
'Tis true he blushed and was quite shy,
But phaw! what matter could that be.
For brilliant intellect had he!

So spun the years from day to day,
His college life then passed away,
And though still shy his heart—alas!
Was lost to some fair blonde, and so
He wooed the maid not long ago.

And then at dreaded war's alarm
He went to camp and left the farm,
But peace came and he could not go
To France, but had to plow and hoe,
And make his bachelor buttons grow.

But there! I'm wrong; the glass foretells
The joyous peal of wedding bells;
And he's forsaken S. N. S.—
But let him—modern blondes don't fade;
He was entrapped in the web she made.

Ah, gentle reader, don't lament,
For next we find him—well content
Professional dancer, widely known,
He sought a livelier career—
Persuaded by his wife, we hear.

'Tis sad, but all good things must end.
And so we find our little friend
Sans hair, especially on top;
And teeth and sight—but now I'm done;
His day must close, his race is run.

Gertie: "She told me you told her that secret. I told you not to tell her."

Bertie: "My hat! I told her not to tell you I told her."

Gertie: "I told her I wouldn't tell you she told me, so don't tell her I told you."

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact ever, article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

PILGRIMS.

Composed by a Pupil of the Training School.)

Three hundred years ago today
Our forefathers bold
Went on a mission far away,
Tho' not for fame or gold.

Why did they come, perhaps you ask?
If not for gold or fame?
They came for freedom which could not
In England be obtained.

They found that freedom pure and true,
Altho' the task was hard:
Their spirit lives today, and we
Are free to worship God.

—L. N.

IN FARMVILLETOWN.

Once upon a time there was a school which was infested with rats. The faculty at this school became very much distressed over the serious condition of affairs.

The poor students could never escape the rats. The pests were with them at breakfast, stayed with them during their classes, greatly interfered with their intellectual pursuits, remained with them until the tired girls took the rats and, bodily, put them away for the night. It was even whispered that those girls, who were too lazy or careless to shut the rats away, were annoyed by having those notorious pests remain on their pillows all night long.

It was a lamentable state of affairs! The faculty was worried; the president was worried; everyone was greatly disturbed, except curiously enough—the girls themselves. It was said that they—the girls—had become so used to the companionship of the rats that they felt rather fat without them!

But one day there came to this school a Piper. The faculty arranged with her to pipe a tune and take the rats away; but the students were not satisfied.

"What will we have in place of our rats?" they cried.

"You shall have Style," replied the Piper. And so, to a jolly tune, the rats scampered into their respective bureau drawers.

Now all would have been well had the Piper taken along with her all the mirrors and other reflecting objects of the school—but she didn't! Therefore, the next morning the students, thinking that in place of the rats they had style, went down to the general assembly room.

The president, little thinking of the havoc he was creating, disillusioned the girls, telling them that the Piper had left; in place of the rats and instead of Style—Intellectuality. Angry that they had been thus tricked, the students implored the Piper to pipe back the rats again to Farmville S. N. S.

Student teacher: "Are you laughing at me?"

"Oh! No!" came the reply in chorus.

Student teacher (very grimly): "Well, what else is there in the room to laugh at?"

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blossingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Eita Jenkins.....Treasurer

Phi Kappa Omega.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Ruth Jones.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Mary Stephenson.....Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 8.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 17, 1920.

THE ROTUNDA'S STUNT FOR BETTER SCHOOL WEEK.

A special effort was made during the past week to participate in Better School Week as advocated by Commissioner Claxton. Every organization tried in some way not only to arouse interest, but to direct that interest into definite and direct channels. To create a burning desire upon the part of each student to do her part in making Farmville an ideal school. The Better School Day program showed through stunts just how much some organizations had been thinking. Our stunt for Better School Week was to give to you, readers, a sum total of other's people's ideas.

Better School Week Program.

Monday Business Meeting.
Tuesday Miss Rice.
"Our Graduates in Other Lands."
Wednesday Morning Dr. Jarman.
"Evolution of Our School."
Wednesday Miss Tabb.
"Reminiscences."
Thursday Miss Tabinferro.
"Our Alumnae."
Friday School Song Practice.
Saturday Normal School Day.

WORLD FELLOWSHIP.

On Tuesday night, December 7th, in the school auditorium, Miss Miss Minnie V. Rice talked to the students on "Our Graduates in Other Lands."

An account of Miss Rice's interesting talk will appear in next week's issue.

DR. JARMAN TALKS.

On Wednesday morning in chapel Dr. Jarman, at the request of the Committee on Better School Week, gave the students some very interesting and instructive facts about the History and Development of the Normal School. The real history began in 1882, when Dr. Rufner became superintendent of the public school system of Virginia. Largely through his instrumentality the General Assembly made some provision for the training of teachers. Up to this time the State had not felt the need for such teachers, although the public school had been incorporated into Virginia's educational system twelve years. Dr. Nelson, one of the State's greatest educators, induced the board to buy the Methodist school located at Farmville. The first session of the State Normal School began on September 17, 1884. This session not only marked the opening of the first normal school in the State, but also was the first institution of higher learning to be established. The institution from the very first has been professional in character. Beginning with a dormitory capacity of forty-four, which has grown until it has reached the five hundred mark, handicapped by the need of a thorough elementary training in the secondary schools and weakened financially and numerically by the establishment of other normal schools, yet the Normal School "has risen on stepping stones of her dead self to higher things." She has met the issue fairly and squarely. Now four hundred and forty professional students are being trained for teachers. Twenty years ago only thirty-eight were classed as professionals.

Should we not give honor to whom honor is due? We feel that Dr. Jarman has done more than any one force in placing the Normal School on the firm foundation of conservative yet idealistic standards.

"MISS JENNIE'S" TALK.

Wednesday night, December 8, at prayers, Miss Jennie Tabb spoke on the subject of Social Life in this school in past years.

Miss Tabb first gave us an amusing picture of the school as it was when she first entered. There were no paved streets in Farmville. A sand walk led up to the main building of the school and a picket fence marked the campus. Of course the building was not nearly as large as it is now. It only extended from where Dr. Jarman's office is now to the west wing. The auditorium was where the parlors are now. The first thing that greeted one was entrance examinations; it made no difference how bright one was or what good grades one made before entering here, every one had to take the examinations. Miss Couling was here and it was her task to hand out the slips, at the end of the term, upon which was written either the word "repeat" or "passed." To "fink" one class meant that the whole year must be taken over. Girls here today think they have a hard time in the training school, but suppose they had to teach every subject and never knew from one day to the next what they had to teach. That is just what the girls had to do when Miss Tabb was here.

Selecting the first and second honor girls of the senior class was very different from now. Every one in the class had to write a graduating essay, and this was "the bugbear" of school life. The two best were selected. The girls who wrote these two essays were the first and second honor graduates.

Now for a bird's-eye view of the real social side of the school. Instead of going down Sunday night to the regular supper of cheese and crackers, each girl would carry her plate, knife and fork down at dinner and get her supper, which she ate in her room.

"Rats" were not known in Farmville in that day. Every one wore her hair knotted in the back with curls if possible, otherwise she wore plaits on either side of the head.

One thing which has not changed is the visiting of Hampden-Sidney boys in S. N. S. on Friday nights. One of the greatest pleasures a girl could have in S. N. S. thirty years ago was the privilege of going on Wednesday night to the Seminary at Hampden-Sidney to hear the boys preach.

The point which was stressed most by Miss Tabb was that one's viewpoint changes the way in which one thinks now will not be the way in which one thinks twenty years hence.

THE DISTINGUISHED ALUMNAE OF S. N. S.

A most excellent talk was given by Miss Carrie Tabinferro at prayers on last Thursday evening. She selected for her subject, "The Distinguished Alumnae of S. N. S."

Miss Tabinferro cited the memorable work which some of these fine women have taken up since their entrance into life's career. Of course some have been fortunate in accomplishing a number of high aims. She mentioned the work of some briefly, and gave a detailed discussion of others.

Among the alumnae we find physicians, lawyers, authors, educators, those prominent in community and social service work, various lines of war work, and improve ment, religious work, elementary school improvement, essayists, county demonstrators, and one who are interested in not only one class of the work stated above, but those whose work would be enumerated under several of these types.

We are fortunate in having one of the alumnae authors remain in the school, which shows that she has been more than loyal to us. This is Miss Jennie Tabb, who has written a book, which has not yet been published. It is a collection of Father Tabb's Poems, with her notes and comments. She has written stories and numerous beautiful poems.

Mr. John Garland Pollard's sister, Mrs. Turman, is a graduate of a unique class. There are two daughters of one member of this class in the school now. One of the most praiseworthy things done by this class was that they gave to the school the portrait of Dr. Cunningham, which hangs in the faculty room. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Turman.

Miss Lucy Boswell now Mrs. Montague, of Lynchburg, has been one of the most active alumnae. Her heart's desire has been to help the elementary schools.

Miss Mary A. Holt, a graduate of 1912,

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman.....Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson.....Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Nary Bocock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones.....Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring.....Business Manager
Helen Jarman.....Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden.....Asst. Business Manager

was awarded that year the third prize in a peace essay contest open to normal school seniors of the whole world. The Red Cross Magazine for October told something of her Americanization Work.

Miss Taliaferro concluded her talk by making this statement: "I have saved the most important for the last." Our most important alumnae was Miss Celestia Parrish, who immediately upon graduation was appointed head of the Mathematics Department of this institution. She studied summer and winter and also wrote for educational magazines. Before receiving her degree she was called to the chair of Mathematics at R. M. W. C., later being head of the Education Department of the college. At the time of her death, she was Georgia State Supervisor of Schools. Dr. Cunningham called her the brainiest woman in Virginia. She was the first to organize the movement to open the doors of the University of Virginia to women, and the doors of the University of Georgia were opened to women through her efforts. The Celestia Parrish Scholarship at the University of Georgia was established in her honor by the women of Georgia.

NORMAL SCHOOL GIRLS' CREEDS.

The things we believe in are dear to all of us, and the creeds which men have formulated from time to time in the history of the race have been milestones in the progress of civilization. The creed of the Normal School girl of the present day in this institution, if generally adopted, should play no small part in rallying all of the faithful and in unifying them in the support of the school. For this reason each of the professional classes co-operated in writing a version of such a creed to be read at the Normal School Day celebration Saturday night. Each of these creeds was submitted to a committee, which will either choose one of these to be recommended for adoption by the school or make a new one embodying ideas suggested by these. The creeds of the four classes are as follows:

First Professional.

I believe in the State Normal School of Farmville as an institution established for the common good of the people of Virginia, which for thirty-six years has furnished thousands of teachers professionally equipped. I believe in it also as a school upholding the highest and most practical standards of education and democracy in the student body.

Therefore, I believe that it is my duty as a student of this school to co-operate with the other students in setting examples worthy of graduates of the Normal School and in supporting its principles.

Second Professional.

I believe in the State Normal School of Farmville as a democratic institution, where preparation is received for the training of the youth of America. I believe in this institution as an embodiment of high ideals, democratic principles, lofty standards, and the spirit of service and fellowship.

I therefore believe it my duty and privilege to promote the welfare of my school to the best of my ability, to obey its laws, to uphold its standards, and to co-operate with the other students in maintaining its prestige among normal schools and other institutions of higher learning.

Third Professional.

Whereas we, the students of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Virginia, realizing the privilege that is ours in attending this institution, believe it our duty and pleasure to do all in our power, both individually and collectively, to uphold the ideals of the institution and to make our Normal School a better normal school.

We believe in the worthiness of our calling, in the responsibility that is ours, and we desire to do our part in making the influence exerted by our school the noblest and strongest in order that those who go out from its doors may take with them a spirit of service which will be exercised throughout the State and nation and make a great America greater.

Therefore, we advocate the annual observance of a better school week and the maintenance of this spirit throughout the session in order that each passing year we may prove ourselves more worthy of our loved Alma Mater.

Fourth Professional.

We believe in our Alma Mater—
Because of the ideals for which she stands, and because she proclaims her ideals not in words, but in works;

Because the keynote of her existence, and the ultimate aim toward which she strives, is SERVICE;

Because she not only inculcates in her daughters the desire to serve, but equips them for service;

Because she encourages initiative, promotes broadness of vision, and accustoms her students to responsibility, thus developing the powers which will fit them for life;

Because she affords broad teaching experience, and

Because her graduates are recognized as teachers of the highest type and are given the best positions with the best salaries;

Because of the high esteem in which she is held by the most prominent educators of Virginia and of other States; and,
Finally, because in her graduates she of-

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store
Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new Fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

fers the State capable, efficient citizens who will be of service not only in their profession, but to society at large.

FACTS ABOUT STUDENT BUILDING.

1. Farmville—First Normal in Virginia to begin plans for student building—1911.
 2. $10,000 has been pledged.
 3. Over $3,500 has been paid.
- What are you going to do to help erect this building?

TO MAKE A GREAT SCHOOL GREATER.

On Saturday, the last day of Better School Week, the following program was presented by the student body:

Devotional Exercises.....Miss Coulting
School Song.....Student Body
Class Creeds.....Read by Class Presidents
Stunt by Degree Class—

“Nine Reasons for Obtaining a Degree at S. N. S., Farmville, Va.”
Stunt by Literary Societies—
A Duel Between Literary Societies and Other Things.

Stunt by Dramatic Club—
A Reading Class Conducted by an Untrained and a Trained Teacher.

Class Song.....Seniors
Class Song.....Juniors
“A Brief History of the Y. W. C. A.”

Miss Coulting
“The Future of Our School”...Dr. Jarman
Adoption of Resolutions...Student Body
School Hymn.....Student Body

Every girl in school took part in making the program a success, and in consecrating the day as a school day with this purpose in mind: To make a great school greater. Dr. Jarman in his talk made the statement that though few days can be said to be epoch-making, he believed December 11th would be epoch-making in the history of our school. The enthusiasm with which the student body adopted Resolution I showed their belief in the observance of such a school day.

Dr. Jarman also told us some of his plans for the betterment of our school, giving us a new vision of its possibilities and a new insight into the meaning of such an institution as ours.

We felt anew the joy and the uplifting spirit of S. N. S. in the message Miss Coulting brought to us. Let us keep in mind the greater meaning of this spirit, which must permeate our school in the realization of its greater day.

Behind the humorous reasons presented by the Degree Class in their stunt as advertisements for a return to S. N. S. for a degree were earnest beliefs and deep love for their Alma Mater. The Literary Societies' stunt convinced us. We can no longer believe that they are vanquished by other things. A chance to begin anew is all they need. The Dramatic Club stunt not only showed us their love for their Alma Mater, but also proved how definitely she prepares us to render the best service. The songs by the Seniors and Juniors further expressed love for our Alma Mater, and the opening and closing songs, sung by six hundred girls dressed in the school colors of blue and white, inspired emotions and aspirations in our hearts that will truly help us to “carry on” our adopted resolutions and creeds and hold aloft the high ideals and spirit of faith and service of our great school so that we may truly make it greater.

Y. W. C. A. ALUMNAE.

The following have become members of the Alumnae Y. W. C. A., which has just been organized:

Miss Mozelle E. Braden.
Mrs. J. N. Elder (Miss Melville Fagg).
Miss Irene Ayre.
Miss Jonnie Hiner.
Miss Ellen L. Lash.
Mrs. Madeline Mapp Barrow.
Miss Susan Minton.
Mrs. Louise Davis Taacker.
Mrs. E. D. Bates.
Mrs. E. R. Booker.
Mrs. Clair Woodruff Bugg.
Mrs. A. C. Montague.
Miss Lucille Wood.
Miss Vera Tignor.
Miss Pauline Camper.
Mrs. J. R. Browne.
Miss Fannie May Pierce.
Miss Janette Hedgepath.
Miss Charlotte Beard.
Miss Clair Blair.
Miss Inez Bailey.
Miss Frances Spindler.
Miss Esther Kernodle.
Miss Lucille Wood.
Miss Mary Tune.
Miss Myrtle Jenkins.
Miss Olive Johnson.
Miss Blanche E. Brewer.
Miss Winnie Lewis.
Miss Mabel Tudor.
Miss Ethel Gildersleeve.
Miss Kathleen Rosser.
Miss Janie Rew.
Miss Eliza Ramsey.
Miss Verliner Crawley.
Miss Vivian Gray Lane.
Miss Margie Lowe.
Miss Helen Hobson.
Miss Helen Hailey.
Miss Selma Watson.
Miss Annie Lamberth.
Miss Annie Marie Winslow.
Miss Emma M. Carmean.
Miss Sue D. Jones.
Miss Irene Bridges.

ALUMNAE IN S. N. S. FACULTY.

Miss Mary Savedge.
Miss Carter.
Miss Grenels.
Miss Bierblower.
Miss Wainwright.
Miss Taliaferro.
Miss Thelma Blanton.
Also in connection with the school we have:
Miss Tabb.
Miss Mary White Cox.
Miss Hiner.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.,

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
“Satisfied Customers” our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres., H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Students, Alumnae and Faculty of the State Normal School for Women, at Farmville, Va., on Farmville Normal School Day, Dec. 11, 1920.

Whereas, during the Great War a fine spirit of enthusiasm and patriotic co-operation was aroused at the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Virginia, by the participation of the School in the various activities for winning the war, and

Whereas, with the return of peace conditions we realize the desirability of continuing this spirit and directing it toward furthering development and extending the influence of our School; and

Whereas, we are convinced that this spirit will best be maintained by the undertaking of definite means for rallying our forces and by setting ourselves to work on definite projects for the good of the School and of the State which it serves.

Therefore, we the Students, the Representatives of the Alumnae, and the Faculty of the State Normal School for Women, at Farmville, Virginia, do hereby approve and adopt the following resolutions, first:

Resolved, That the second Saturday in December be set aside each year for observance in the School and by the Alumnae Associations throughout the State, as FARMVILLE NORMAL SCHOOL DAY, and that the date of this day be published each year in the Calendar of the School in the Catalog; second.

Resolved, That President Jarman be hereby requested to appoint a committee representing the Students, the Alumnae and the Faculty, for the purpose of securing a SCHOOL CREED, a SCHOOL SONG and the design of SCHOOL INSIGNIA for use on a School Flag and elsewhere; third.

Resolved, That the movement started in 1911 for the erection of a STUDENT BUILDING on the campus, should receive the hearty support of all of the Students, the Student Organizations, the Alumnae, and every one else who is interested in the school; fourth.

Resolved, That every effort should be used for encouraging professional students to complete their courses in this school, for building the character according to the degree, and for raising the professional standards of all who go out to represent the School in the service of education in the State; fifth.

Resolved, That every effort should be made to promote a good understanding and effective cooperation with other agencies and institutions for teacher-training in the State, and with teachers already in the field of service; and, sixth.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in our school paper, the ROTUNDA, and copies be sent to the various county and state papers in Virginia, and to the Virginia Journal of Education.

EDITORIAL

During Education Week much interest was aroused among the students and Faculty in the fund which is being raised for the erection of a Students' Building.

This plan was put on foot some ten years ago. The Class of 1911 being the first to make pledges towards the fund. The building is to be located in a conspicuous place on the campus and will conform to the general plans of the Main Building. Besides an auditorium, it will contain rooms for Literary Societies, for Pi Kappa Omega Society, for Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Student Government, etc. There will also be a kitchen, pantry and banquet hall in the basement.

Former students and alumnae have already pledged more than ten thousand dollars towards this building, and of this amount over three thousand five hundred has been paid in. One hundred and seventy-three pledges have been paid up.

It is hoped that the fund will continue to grow rapidly and that the building may be begun in the not far distant future.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thoruhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blosingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Phelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Chrisene Shields.....President
Kato Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Burr.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ROTUNDA

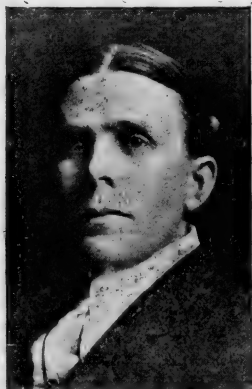

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 8.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 24, 1920.

OUR PRESIDENT.

Dr. Joseph L. Jarman.

Dr. Joseph L. Jarman, the fourth President of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, was born in Charlottesville, Va., on November 19, 1867.

He attended the public schools of Charlottesville, and at the age of fourteen (having been left an orphan) he was sent to the Miller Manual Training School, where he remained from 1881 to 1886. In competitive examination he won the Miller Scholarship at the University of Virginia, where he was a student for three years, specializing in the Natural and Physical Sciences.

Upon the completion of his course at the University, he returned to Miller School as a member of the Faculty, but at the end of his first year was elected to the chair of Natural Science at Emory and Henry College. He filled this position for twelve years, and in January, 1902, entered upon the duties of his present position.

The growth of the institution under his wise and kindly administration has been rapid and steady, and the development has been an all-sided one. In 1902 there were thirteen members of the Faculty, there are now forty, exclusive of student assistants; the enrollment was four hundred and forty-two, for the present session we have up to this time enrolled six hundred and forty-eight, and there are still the January entries to come in; the buildings have been remodeled and enlarged until practically nothing remains of the original; the Training School has grown to such an extent that it has been moved three times into larger quarters, and is now on a thoroughly up-to-date footing, with a director and supervisor for each grade; the Faculty has been reorganized on the Department System; the course of study has been improved and strengthened until it stands on a par with those of the best Normal Schools of the country; and the College Course has been added, which gives the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. In 1902 the Library contained 3,000 volumes; this number has now grown to nearly ten thousand.

Notwithstanding the many duties of his position, Dr. Jarman has been a most potent factor in education in the State, aside from his direct work in the school. He has served as State Director of the National Education Association, a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Education Association, the Commission for the Management, Maintenance and Improvement of State Institutions, of the Association of Virginia Colleges, and was for eight years a most active and influential member of the State Board of Education. During the entire term of service on the latter Board he never missed a meeting, and upon his retirement the Board passed most complimentary resolutions setting forth their high appreciation of the great service he had rendered his State.

He has also been President of the Normal Section of the Southern Educational Association, and of the Teachers Section of the same body. He was for four years a member of the Education Commission of Virginia. He has served as Vice-President of the National Council of Normal School Presidents, representing the South; he has been President of the State Teachers' Association, and was for one year acting President of the Association of Schools and Colleges for Girls.

During the World War he was actively engaged in patriotic work, having been chairman of the following drives: Y. M. C. A. War Work, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. Committee for War Workers, and after the War he acted as chairman of the Prince Edward Public Health Association.

No more fitting summary of his work can be found than that set forth in the Resolutions of the State Board of Education, referred to above:

"This work, which owes its effectiveness not only to Dr. Jarman's unflagging zeal in the cause of Virginia's schools, but also to his ripe scholarship and long experience as an educator, has been, in no small measure, a contributing cause to the great educational revival of today. It has made itself felt for years past and well might occasion pride on the part of Dr. Jarman for many years to come.

"It is especially pleasing to the members of the Board to record the fact that along with his widely recognized usefulness as a public servant, Dr. Jarman has exhibited unflinching sympathy and consideration for the views of others. His colleagues will hold in grateful memory the uniform courtesy and kindness which have marked his conduct. They feel, too, that much of their own enthusiasm and energy has been imparted by his example, and that his connection with the Board has been a distinct and constant influence for good.

"In his future walks of life Dr. Jarman has the kindest wishes of all his present and former associates on the Board. They will rejoice to see him receive that meed of recognition which is his due, and they entertain the hope that happiness and prosperity may long be his lot."

J. M. Q.

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS.

The greeting is an old one but its use throughout the years has not caused it to lose its sincerity of meaning, so—"a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year" is the wish the Rotunda Staff extends to YOU.

Mrs. Pankhurst Lectures.

On Thursday night, December the sixteenth, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst lectured on "Woman's Suffrage versus Bolshevism." Her talk was confined principally to the part English suffragists played in the World War and how the methods and experience gained then can solve the problem of Bolshevism throughout the world today.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a very charming Englishwoman of unusual noise with a strong personality and force of delivery in her speech.

El Circulo Espanol.

On December 13th, the El Circulo Espanol was organized under the direction of Miss Smitley. The following officers were elected:

President—Minnie Lewis.

Secretary—Edith Harrell.

Treasurer—Agnes Fulcher.

Critic—Harriett Purdy.

After the business part of the program was transacted two games were played in Spanish, which were enjoyed very much.

JUST AS ADVERTISED.

Speed Cop: "Are you drunk or crazy? Don't you see the signs? And you are going fifty miles an hour."

Freshman: "Sure, and they say fin for speeding." (Froth.)

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman.....Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson.....Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Boeck
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones.....Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring.....Business Manager
Helen Jarman.....Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden.....Asst. Business Manager

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

Exactly what is in a name, anyhow? What do names imply? How did we get our names? Oh, of course, you will say we got our names from our fathers, and our fathers in turn received theirs from our grandfathers, and our grandfathers from our great-grandfathers, and so on for generations and generations. But how did our great-great-grandfathers (and perhaps in some cases a few others "greats" are needed) ever get the names which they have handed down to us? Surely there must be some reason why one is named Brown and another Smith. We are told the original occupations or trades of our ancestors back in the "dark ages" played a part in the history of our names. Granting that there might be at least a possibility of this being true, it might be interesting for us to take a sly peep into the past life of the grandfathers of some of our schoolmates. Let us be very careful, however, of the family skeleton, and should we happen to discover one let us very gently and considerately put it back into the closet and shut the door to save any embarrassment which might arise. Here are a few names to set us thinking. Why do you suppose anyone was ever "dubbed": Baker, Butler, Porter, Brewer, Dyer, Weaver, Tucker, Draper, Camper, Bowman, Berryman, Joiner, Walker, Trotter, Smith?

But there are only a very few of the odd names of those we meet and see around us. Perhaps some of our ancestors received their names from the places near which they lived. Perchance environment played an active role in the christening. Some place of interest, some landmark, some structure made an impression on the lives of our forefathers, which is felt in this generation. Look at those we have with us who are called: Brooks, Wall, Barn(es), Garret(t), Gates, Graves, Parrish, Thornhill, Chap-(p)ell(l), Jordon (perhaps from the river), Burrough, South and West. (Of course, it is to be noted that as the English language changed the proper names kept their original form in some cases, while in others they dropped out or added an extra letter.)

Still others may have sprung into being because of the similarity of the person to the object which the name suggests, as: Carter, Bugg(g), Dolly, Cob(b), Jett, Shields, Prince, Reed, Tune, Beard, (von)

S(c)hilling, Finch (perhaps once gold-finch). Applicable adjectives may have given names to the Misses Gray, Lavender, Brown and White.

Yet again we are forced to seek other explanations for the many names which do not come under these headings. Might we not suppose by glancing at the following that their origin lay in some characteristic or some peculiarity of the person: Good(e), Loyal, (W)right, Powers, Rush, Rash, Hardy, Pruden(t), Bri(gh)te?

Enough of our fellow students! In view of all that has been said, let us consider why we have with us among the faculty such people by the names of: Bug(g), Savage, Bell, Spear, Steel, Smithy, Rice, Stubbs, Pierce, Price, Lear, Co(r)ner, Blackwell, London, Wheeler, and Ieely (Eiesle). Also, who put the jar in Jarman?

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is to be congratulated upon the varied and interesting Christmas prayer service held during the week of December 13 to December 18. On Monday night Miss Minnie Rice told Van Dyke's beautiful story of "The Other Wise Man." Talks were given on Tuesday night by various girls on "How Christmas is Celebrated in Other Lands." On Wednesday night Miss Edna Spear gave as a reading "Dust of the Road." On Thursday night Miss Shelton talked on the old custom of the "hanging of the greens," after which a number of girls assisted the Social Service Committee in decorating the reception hall. Special "morning watch" services were held each morning during the three remaining days before the holidays.

On Friday, December the seventeenth, Barta Worrell, Margaret Traylor, Lois Williams, Mary Bolen, Ellen Carlson, Elsie Eubank, Susie Scott and Lucile McInany, members of the Social Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A., accompanied by Miss Steele, went to the home of a little girl whom they have as their special charge. They spent a most enjoyable evening together with the child's mother in dressing a beautiful big doll, which is the Christmas gift of the Social Service Committee to the little girl.

AIR CASTLES.

I was sitting by the window

With a school book in my hand,
Trying to study a lesson

That a teacher of mine had planned—
When my thoughts began to wander
And things so strange did seem;
I fell into the midst of the loveliest day dream!

First I was an artist in the city of Páree;
Then a gay musician somewhere in Ger-many;

Then as a poet I saw myself writing verses true,

Of Italy's glowing sunshine, where skies are always blue.

In everything I pictured, I was fairest of the fair.

But ah! my book fell from my hand and my castles were of air!

"Get off my feet!"

"It's too much of a walk."—Virginia
Reel.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods

and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Worldwide Fellowship.

This very interesting talk was delivered before the student body during "Better School Week" by Miss Minnie V. Rice.

"And He made of one, every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, having determined their appointed seasons, and the bounds of their habitation."—Acts 17:26.

The Commonwealth of God as the ideal social order will come only as far and as fast as men will consciously unite themselves with God in His purpose. In every hamlet, in every city, there is a world-life. If the world-life is to be transformed into a universal Christian order, the community life of the world must be reconstructed.

For lively workers in foreign mission stations, in small rural communities, in submerged city sections, it is a great tonic to feel that others are deeply interested in their work. The State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va., feels that, through the work of her students, she is a link in the greatest objective possible to human life—the establishment on earth of the Commonwealth of God. Her students are found in both home and foreign work. The following are on foreign soil:

Bessie Carper (Class 1901), Medical Missionary, Canton, China.

Sophia Graham ———, Missionary, China.

Sophia Booker ———, Nurse, China.

Florence Boston (Class 1913), Teacher in College, Shanghai, China.

Nellie Layne (Class 1919), Teacher, China.

Martha Painter (Class 1896), Missionary, Cuba.

Margaret Davis (Class 1909), Missionary, Cuba.

Ethel Brown (Class 1909), Missionary, Brazil.

During the War, the following went to Europe to alleviate suffering:

Nellie Wicker (Class 1875), Nurse in American Army, France.

Thurzetta Thomas (Class 1912), Worker in Y. W. C. A., France.

Alice Howison (Class 1914), War Worker, France.

The response to the call for workers in the Home Land may be illustrated from the following:

Fannie Littleton (Class 1899), War Worker in America.

Elizabeth Wolf (Class 195), Teacher in Indian Government School, Arizona.

Miss Adelaide Trent (Class 1895), Teacher in Mission School, Ferrum, Va.

Alice Rakes (Class 1919), Teacher in Mission School, Ferrum, Va.

Lillian Gilliam (Class 1897), Matron of Maybee Home, Richmond, Va.

Missie Mease (Class 1899), Teacher in Indian Government School, Utah.

Daisy Stephenson (Class 1900), Teacher in Indian Government School, Oklahoma.

Lutie Clark (Class 1907), Teacher in Laurel Industrial School, Richmond, Va.

Myrtle Grenels (Class 1908), Teacher in Laurel Industrial School, Richmond, Va.

Lessie Lea (Class 1912), Teacher in Laurel Industrial School, Richmond, Va.

Vera Tignor (Class 1911), Teacher in Indian Mission School, Amherst, Va.

Miss Sallie Dickerson ———, Teacher in Pioneer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Leila Robertson (Class 1912), Worker in Y. W. C. A., Norfolk, Va.

Mary A. Holt (Class 1912), Principal School at Phebus, leader in Americanization Work.

Myrtle Parker (Class 1917), Teacher in Mountain Work in Virginia.

Mary Paxton (Class 1910), Teacher in Mission Work in Virginia.

Julia Mahood (Class 1920), Teacher in Kindergarten in Mill District, Lynchburg, Va.

Katherine Field (Class 1918), Student in Mission Training School, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Claiborne (Class 1891), Worker in Y. W. C. A., Norfolk, Va.

Kate Porter (Class 1912), Y. W. C. A. Secretary, Asheville, N. C.

Josephine Kelly (Class 1909), Y. W. C. A. Field Secretary.

Moochi Williams (Class 1910), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Minnie Blanton (Class 1909), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Emily Minnigerode (Class 1913), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Ruth Blanton (Class 1917), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Catherine Riddle (Class 1919), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Emma Hunt (Class 1919), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Annie Salley (Class 1920), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Mary Finch (Class 1920), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Otey Helm (Class 1921), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

Pattie Garrett (Class 1921), Teacher in Summer Work in Mountains of Virginia.

All who help in creating the Commonwealth of God by Christianizing community life are creators in bringing in the new Heaven and the new Earth.

SLOGANS.

"What kind of a school would our school be

If all its girls were just like me?

If I make my school a wonderful place,

Maybe other schools will adopt my pace."

"Life is a mirror of king and slave,

'Tis just what you are and do,

Then give to the school the best you have,

And the best will come back to you."

"It is far better to change our opinion than persevere in error."—Socrates.

"Plan more to do than you can do,

Then do it;

Bite off more than you can chew,

Then chew it;

Hitch your wagon to a star,

Keep your seat and there you are!"

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.,

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits, Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

GAMES HELD IN THE ARMORY.

All who went to the basketball game at the Armory Saturday night, December 14th, realize what those missed who didn't go.

First on the scene of action appeared the Third and Fourth Year High's, the expressions of both teams promising victory to their adherents. As though excitement were not already great enough, it steadily increased upon seeing them until it was feared the shouts would force off the top of the building. Brave indeed was the struggle, gamely indeed did every one "carry," while at the end of the first half the score was 14 to 5 in favor of the Fourth Year's. Then they left the field to make room for the Juniors and Seniors.

They came, and enthusiasm, if possible, increased. For behold—there stood the haughty Seniors, heads erect, and there the Juniors, determination to win gleaming in their eyes. But lo, fickle Fate failed her erstwhile favorites and the splendid support of the Junior team permitted Paulet and Treackle to score 17-12 in favor of their class.

Again the Third and Fourth Year's took the floor, and in spite of all resistance, the Fourth Year's proceeded to walk over their opponents, making the total score at the close of the second half 25-11 in their favor.

Rah! Then came the Juniors and Seniors again, ready for the fray. In spite of good defensive work, goal after goal was made by the Juniors, ending at last with the score 37-22 in their favor. Good work, Juniors!

Line-Up.

Seniors.	Positions.	Juniors.
D. Van Sickler.	Forward.	Ida Paulet
Addie Wells.	Forward.	A. B. Treackle
Sarah Moore.	Center.	Nell McArdle
Blanche Conwell.	Center.	Sallie M. Gray
Helen Trevillian.	Guard.	Elsie Bell
Edith Williamson.	Guard.	Louise Davis

4th Yr. High's.	Positions.	3d Yr. High's.
Erllyn Gibson.	Forward.	J. Armstrong
Helen Roberts.	Forward.	Georgie Jeffries
Mary Hunt.	Center.	S. Von Schilling
Erna Shotwell.	Center.	Maudie Bailey
Olive Payne.	Guard.	Elizabeth Bugg
Marie Bristow.	Guard.	Janie Martin

QUESTIONS.

This questionnaire was handed in to Miss Stubb's Rural Sociology Class by one of the students:

I. Were your parents reared in the city or country? Neither. Do you live in the city, town, village or open country? Neighborhood. Did you ever live in the country? Sure! If so, why did you move to town? Haven't moved. If not, do you want to live in town? Don't want to live in town. State reason. Town folks are too stuck up for me.

II. How many members are there in your family? 26. How many rooms in your house? 13. Have you the following modern conveniences: Heat? No. Light? No. Running water? No. Telephone? No. Automobile? Yep. Name others. Ox cart. Name the home duties that you enjoy. None. Why? Sis can do 'em. Name those you do not enjoy. Housework. Why? Rather rest. What kind of musical instruments are in your home? Jew's harp, cat. Name magazines, papers or publications of any sort that come to your home. Snappy Stories, The Comfort. Do you have parties in your home? Yep. What kind? Easter hunts. Do you have grass, shrubbery or flowers on your home grounds? In summer. Have you potted plants? In winter.

III. Do you enjoy attending church? Yep. If so, why so? To see the styles. Do you attend Sunday school regularly? Yep. What part do you or have you taken in church or Sunday school organizations? Bench member of Sunday school.

IV. Of the following types of schools check the ones you have attended: One-room. Is the school adequate to the needs of your community as to: (a) Size? Big 'nuff. (b) Course of study? Hard. (c) Teachers? Ugly. Is there a good literary society in your school? Don't know what you mean. Do the teachers enter into the social life of the community? Sure.

V. Name any social clubs or societies for young people in your community? Lovers' Lane Club, B. Y. P. U. Does the church give any entertainments? Yep. Plays? Sure. Socials? Sure. Do the young people and older people work together getting them up? Sure do.

Is there a school league in your community? Sure. Do you enjoy the meetings? Sometimes. Do the people of the community take an interest in them? I dunno 'bout them.

About how many families in your neighborhood? Lots of 'em.

Do you have good roads to school? Tolerable.

To church? Same road.

Have you had any money-making project of your own? Pa pays me not to run about so much o' nights.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candles, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 10.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 14, 1921.

OPENING OF FORK COMMUNITY HOUSE.

See what community spirit, co-operation and hard work have accomplished in the Fork League of Randolph District in Cumberland county!

About a year ago, the members of this Community League realized their need of a suitable place to have socials, entertainments, Farmers' Unions, etc., and conceived the idea of building the community house. The School Board gave them permission to build it on the school grounds. Our members contributed the standing timber, some cut and hauled it to the mill, some paid for the sawing, while all worked night and day in erecting the building, which is a very neat affair with a seating capacity of about one hundred and twenty-five. On November 22, the first shovelful of earth was removed by a little girl, the mascot of the League, and on December 20, the house was formally opened, the exercises being in charge of Mr. C. W. Thomas, the president. Following is the program:

Music—Vietrola.

Invocation—Rev. Frederick Diehl, rector of Johns Memorial Church, Farmville.

Music.

Address—Mr. Diehl.

Music.

Address—Dr. J. L. Jarman, President of State Normal School, Farmville.

Reading—"The Dust of the Road," Miss Edna N. Spear, State Normal School, Farmville.

Brief talks by Miss Ada Bierbower, Rural Supervisor, and Mr. Thomas.

The music was in charge of Misses Louise Doyle and Dora Jett, of the Normal School. At the close of the program the ladies served coffee, sandwiches and punch.

Mr. Diehl, in his remarks, said that we are three-story beings, body, mind and soul, and each part, divine, holy and equally developed, should be dedicated to the service of God. It is in the community house that we should join forces with school and church to encourage athletics and social gatherings so that the life of the community may become more abundant.

Dr. Jarman expressed his interest in all the activities of the League. He said that the factors which contribute most to a great State are good schools, good roads, good health and good farming. The reason why we are not as great as we ought to be is the fact that we are individualists: We do not think as a community. As far as is known there are about 600 community houses in the United States. About 83 of those are in the country, the others are in villages or small towns. This one at Fork is believed to be the first in the open country in Virginia. A decided step has been taken by the members of this community in erecting the building; the next question is, "What is to be done with it?" The needs of the community must be studied so that movements which foster true neighborliness will be the outgrowth.

Miss Spear's reading, "The Dust of the Road," was a story full of the true spirit of Christmas.

Miss Bierbower thanked the people for their keen interest and untiring assistance given in school affairs. She emphasized the importance of parents and teachers working together, and spoke of the teacher's inability to make her school the best unless backed by the enthusiasm of the community.

Mr. Thomas, in his concluding remarks, thanked Dr. Jarman, Miss Stubbs and Miss Grenels for their inspiration and encouragement, to the teachers, Misses Mildred and Julia Little, and the school children for helping to raise money through entertainments and finally to every one who had in any way assisted in bringing the building to completion.

The efficient officers of the League are Mr. C. W. Thomas, president; Miss Mildred Little, vice-president; Miss Laura Grigg, secretary; Mr. John Amos, treasurer.

The members of the faculty present were: Dr. Jarman, Dr. Tidyman, and Misses Lila London, Barlow, Spear, Bierbower.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Our Christmas Week.

Monday	Miss Rice
	"The Other Wise Man"
Tuesday	Flora Clingingpeel
	"Christmas in Other Lands"
Wednesday	Miss Spear
	"The Dust of the Road"
Thursday	Miss Shelton
	"Legend of the Hanging of the Greens"
Friday	Evelyn Barnes
	"Christmas Around the Fireside"
Saturday	Miss Munoz
	"Carols"

Sunday, Mrs. Bretnell's Sunday School Class
"Christmas Play"

Monday	Miss Rice
	"The Folly of the Other Wise Man"
Tuesday	Carol Singers

Our Christmas to Others.

We have lately "adopted" Aunt Pokey and the Social Service Committee takes her a basket each month.

A Christmas basket was prepared for Maria Thornton and the High School Club girls sent Aunt Pokey Hobson a basket on Christmas Eve.

The Mission Band sent a grand Christmas box to the Mission School at Nora. This box was sent through the Social Service Committee. This committee also dressed four dolls which were among the other gifts sent to a mission school, in which Miss Minnie Blanton taught. Miss Blanton prepared the box and she sent it to the Mission School.

WHAT RECORD ARE YOU GOING TO MAKE THIS YEAR?

The following is the report of the Bible Study Committee of the Y. W. C. A. for October, November and December:

83% of enrollment in school enrolled in Bible classes.

The general attendance is: October, 78%; November, 70%; December, 56%.

Denominational average attendance is:

	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.
Methodist	84%	70%	54%
Episcopal	84%	89%	67%
Baptist	82%	73%	58%
Presbyterian	64%	46%	45%

What record are you going to make this year? Can you afford to miss the study of the Bible and the inspiration gained by faithful attendance? Should you not prepare yourselves to become Sunday School leaders and teachers as well as educational leaders and teachers?

The Sunday School wants you and needs you NOW—this Sunday and the next—every Sunday! Come, join and be enrolled the beginning of this new year!

MISS KATHARINE TUPPER.

Miss Tupper, the new head of the Home Economics Department comes to us from Stevens Point, Wisconsin, where she taught for five years.

She is a graduate of Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, Canada, and also has her degree from Columbia University, New York City.

Miss Tupper was taught in Virginia before at Williamsburg and liked our State so well she decided to come back to it.

She was once heard to remark that she thought one of the finest things about our Normal School is that great spirit of kindness and helpfulness that seemed to permeate the whole school.

MISS SPEAR WILL READ.

Miss Spear will read Wagner's "Lohengrin" on Friday night, January 14th, in the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock, for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. Those who have had the pleasure of hearing Miss Spear know what a treat is held in store. Her talent as a reader is exceptional.

Admission, 25c. Everybody come!

A REQUEST.

In this number of The Rotunda we have published letters which were received from people interested in the school and the paper. We felt that these letters are of interest in general and request that any letters which the students or faculty receive that may be of interest to the school, be handed in to us that we may put them in print.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman ----- Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson ----- Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocoek
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones ----- Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring ----- Business Manager
Helen Jarman ----- Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden ----- Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIAL.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY.

Another year is upon us. It is new, unexplored and promising and is as we choose to make it, either an entirely new foundation stone or merely another block, imperfectly shaped, and added to one already unstable foundation.

How often we feel that opportunity fails to knock at our door! The beginning of each year holds untold and invaluable opportunities if only we are able to discern them. No matter how great a failure we have made of the old year it is the new year that holds the opportunity either to correct mistakes we have made or to set them aside entirely and start anew.

Or, perhaps the old year has held success for us, has been filled with splendid achievements. If so, let us not be too greatly contented lest our self-satisfaction "paralyze future efforts."

Oftentimes we begin the year full of confidence, and work with a will but—the old ways are easier than the new, or perhaps our previous mistakes weigh too heavily upon us and we lose this confidence. We think we can't because we never have and thus we become slaves of our thoughts. Let us keep in mind for the new year this fact which someone has recognized and so ably expressed:

When you think you're beaten, you are.
When you think you dare not, you don't.
When you'd like to win but you think you can't

It's a sure thing that you won't!

When you think that you'll lose, you're lost,
For out in the world you'll find Success begins with a man's will—
It's all in the state of your mind.

When you think you're outclassed you are,
You have to think "big" to rise,
You have to "feel" sure of yourself
Before you can win a great prize.

Life's battle does not always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But soon or late the man who wins,
Is the one who thinks he can.

H. S.

MOUNTAIN MISSION WORK.

More than eighty books have been sent to a mountain mission school by the children of the Training School in response to an appeal made in the fall.

Miss Marshall, the teacher, writes: "I wish to thank the students and teachers of the Training School for the text-books they have so kindly passed on to my pupils of St. James' Mission School in the Blue Ridge mountains.

"This school is one of a chain of schools established by Archdeacon Neve in the mountains of Virginia in the course of the past twenty years. I found it practically bare of all equipment. Now many of the classes are supplied with text-books and there are more on the shelves waiting to be used later.

"The mountain children are strong and sturdy in mind and body, and well worth the effort put forth by these Church Schools to rescue them from the ignorance and attendant evils of past generations. It has long been my hope that some of the teachers trained at the Normal School would volunteer for service in these mountain schools where "skilled labor" is no less needed than in the schools of the more fortunate sections of the State."

RURAL NEWS.

Most of the rural schools in Randolph district celebrated the closing of their schools for the holidays by Christmas entertainments. Wednesday evening there was a regular Christmas entertainment given at Fork school. It consisted of songs, drills and recitations. Misses Tabb, Blanton, Bierbower and Mrs. Tabb attended these exercises.

Thursday morning a community Christmas tree was given at Brown's church. The program consisted of carols, recitations and an address by Mr. Osborne. After the exercises each child of the Sunday School and of the school received an apple, an orange, a bag of candy and a little remembrance from the tree.

Thursday evening an entertainment was given at Tacoma school. There were songs, recitations and a Christmas tree. Misses Bierbower, Tucker, and Virginia Bugg attended the exercises given at Tacoma school.

FACULTY ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. Bretnall, Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Tidymann entertained those of the faculty and home department who were in town during the holidays, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bretnall on Thursday night, December 30th. A score or more were present.

HIKING REPORT UP TO DECEMBER.

Points for Juniors-----	911
Points for Seniors-----	556
Points for 4A H. S.-----	290
Points for 3A H. S.-----	162

Where QUALITY Counts

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

NEWS OF INTEREST.

The following is a letter and clipping received from the Rev. Charles P. Holbrook, former rector of Johns Memorial Church, here in Farmville:

Norfolk, December 16th.

My dear Miss Editor:

Thought you might be interested in the enclosed as Ruth was there in school two years ago and Edna finished in 1912. I presented Ruth for confirmation in 1917. She was a lovely, sweet bride.

Am seeing lots of S. N. S. girls here—just like meeting members of my own family.

Rendall—Miars.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Ruth Gertrude Miars, daughter of Mrs. Adelia Miars, of Ocean View, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth M. Rendall, of Jersey City, N. J., with Rev. C. P. Holbrook, rector of the Church of The Advent, at Ocean View, officiating. The church was decorated with palms and ferns and the wedding music was rendered by Miss Bessie Marsden, organist of St. Luke's Church.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Mr. J. Roland Miars, by whom she was given in marriage, and her maid of honor and only attendant was her sister, Miss Edna Miars. The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Mr. R. H. Rendall, of Jersey City, N. J.

Immediately following the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Rendall left for a wedding trip to California, and at the conclusion they will make their future home in New York City.

Many alumnae have subscribed to "The Rotunda" since the publication of it began in November. Sample copies were sent to the alumnae and the following letter may serve to show the students here what one alumna thinks of their paper.

1500 Lansing Ave.,

Portsmouth, Va.,

December 16, 1920.

Dear Helen Spillman:

"It was surely good to come home after a busy day at school (no, teaching in the State is not teaching in the Training School. It may be more firesome but it's certainly not as hard on the nerves) and find your breezy paper awaiting me to carry me back to my Normal School days when I, too, stood in line get a package and occasionally received not necessarily "two suits of winter underwear" but something just as "sensible" and disappointing to an imaginative appetite. I've read your paper from "kiver to kiver" and joined with you in spirit in your plea for loyalty to the Y. W. C. A., and your cheers for Miss Munoz—bless her! Likewise, I found myself wishing that I might have heard the students make their mighty plea for those precious Christmas holidays. Then the poem about the Infirmary. There are things worse than the Infirmary or "pink mule." Why even the ads were interesting to an old Normalite.

My congratulations to you for the progressive step from "Focus" to "The Rotunda"—and also my best wishes to your busy business manager. Do Mr. Grainger and Mr. Lear still act as pillars for the publication of the Normal? I bet!

Another Normalite (1916).

HELENE NICHOLS.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Constance Rumbough (1914), is a student in Searritt Bible and Training School, Kansas City, Mo.

Miss M. V. Blandy, at one time head of the Kindergarten Department, has the care of five hundred children in the Syrian Orphanage, Jerusalem, Palestine. She writes that the work (war relief) is exceedingly interesting.

Nellie Layne Chambers, Jr., is the first P. K. O. baby. Her home is 8B Peking Road, Shanghai, China.

Anyone knowing the correct address and name, if changed, of the following alumnae is earnestly requested to send the same to the editor of this paper: Misses Frances Andrews, Alice Atkinson, Etta Rose Bailey, George Bailey, Varina Bailey, Elizabeth Baird, Mary E. Barnes, Lucille Batten, Margaret Batten, Ruth Baugham, Caroline Bayley, Lee Bell, Virginia Bennett, Irene Briggs, Pattie Buford, Carrie Bull, Louise Bunch, Blanch Burks, Anna Burroughs, Mary O. Burton, Mollie Byerley.

A SCHOOL PRAYER.

Dr. Thomas Arnold, for many years Head Master of the famous Rugby School in England, composed a prayer for his school which has been adopted and used by many other schools all over the world. As many teachers feel the need of a worthy school prayer in conducting the daily devotional exercises, we reprint it here:

"Our Father, who, by thy holy apostles, hath taught us to do all things in the name of the Lord Jesus and to Thy glory: give thy blessing we pray thee to this our work of today, and grant that we may do it in faith and heartily, as unto Thee and not unto men. All of our powers of body and mind are thine, and fain would we devote them to Thy service. Teach us to seek after the truth, and enable us to gain it: but grant that we may ever speak the truth in love, so that living or dying we may be thine through and in the name of Our Saviour. Amen.

STUDENTS' BUILDING FUND.

This week $19 was received from two members of the class of 1911.

The number of students and alumnae who have paid up their pledges is 174.

The total amount paid in up to date is $3,527.

"So far so good," but let's go faster!

ENJOYS LIBRARY.

We are glad to note that one of the male members of the faculty enjoys the library and spends a great deal of his time there. Probably he can help keep the magazines from straying from the Reading Room.

ESSAY ON MAN.

Man is as wise as a serpent, cunning as a squirrel, and hard to catch as a reindeer.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg,

Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawin, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

SPONGES.

Are you acquainted with living sponges? Living sponges have all the characteristics of the deep-sea and then some. There are numerous varieties all descended from the same species. There is the chocolate stir sponge, the candy sponge, the peanut sponge, the hat sponge, the coat and dress sponge, a few shoe sponges, the curler sponge and the wee new baby Rotunda sponge. Although these last named variety are very young yet they show wonderful agility and nerve. Haven't you seen them come in with the grace of a Venus and sponge your Rotunda away until you have only the memories left? You say have the patience of Job and the resolution of Joshua in dealing with all sponges, but I say that you will need even more you will need the power to create in their sponge hearts the desire to depart from the ways of spongedom!

M. S.

"THE RAPE OF THE LOCK!"

An awful epidemic, more deadly than the flu.
Has struck our own fair Normal and stabbed it through and through!
Smallpox and yellow fever seem mild when we compare
The ghastly row of victims who confront us with "holloed hair."
So fair, so young, so girlish, for such an awful fate—
We see their locks grow heavy and drop off with their weight;
We watch with bated breath or toss on thorny beds,
Or dream "night-marish" dreams of many hairless heads,
And when the morning bids us all arise and see
The victims of another night, we groan in agony!
Unless some antitoxin can be rushed here, ere too late,
I, too, perhaps, shall blossom forth, with a newly near-bald pate!
—From "The Intermont."

WANTED—A CRUSH.

She must be tall and pretty and not fat. Not particular about the color of eyes and hair. Apply to Room 164.

JOKES.

Mr. Grainger: What was the principal method of teaching used in the former high schools?

Pupil (sleepily): The switch.

Miss Jenkins: We will cook Welsh Rarebit to-morrow.

Eliza (waving hand frantically): May I bring the rabbit!

Does Sara Treat 'Em Rough?

Mr. Coyner (teaching a child on vocabulary): What does "misuse" mean?

Child (after thinking awhile): Oh, that's one of my teachers! (Was it Miss Hughes?)

Do you buy Lamb's Tales at the book store or at the butcher shop?

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blosingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Phelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrel.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Dorothy Schaefer.....Vice-President
Anna Vries.....Secretary
Ella Jenkins.....Treasurer

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 11.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 21, 1921.

MISS SPEAR READS.

On Friday, January 15th, in the Normal School Auditorium, Miss Edna Spear, head of the Department of Reading, gave an interpretation of Richard Wagner's opera "Lohengrin."

When Miss Spear stepped before the audience, the immediate silence was a tribute to her. After a few explanatory words in which she explained the dramatic qualities of the great opera, she proceeded with her reading. Straightway the characters of the beautiful story appeared before the expectant assembly. Fair Elsa, "a vision of pure loveliness" and her mystic champion, the evil, though lovely, Ortrude, and her weak husband—all were there.

Silence throughout the reading showed a full measure of appreciation. The fluttering of a handkerchief could have been heard. And when the tale was brought to its exquisite close, a sigh ran through the audience like the soft beating of the swan's wings as he bore the knight away to "sternest duty."

It was a masterly rendition which succeeded because of two persons, Wagner and Miss Spear.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS.

The All Around Girl.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Department of Physical Education launched a Better Health Campaign from January 17-24.

Program.

Monday "Clothing," by Miss Mary Dinwiddie, from the National Bureau of Health, Washington, D. C.
Tuesday "Posture," Mary Lindsay.
"Activity and Rest," Delma Van Sicker and Virginia Gibbs.
Thursday—"The Care of the Body," Roberta Hodgkins and Marie Baldwin.
Friday Morning—"Health from a Moral Standpoint," Dr. Nelson.
Friday Afternoon—Illustrated lecture, Dr. Nelson.
Friday Evening—"Community Health," Dr. Nelson.
Saturday—"Effects of Worry on the Body," Louise Brewer.
Food Demonstration—"Hot Lunches for the School Child," Ella Jenkins.

Finance Report of the Y. W. C. A.

Red Team:
No payment	53
Paid in full	49
White Team:
No payment	72
Paid in full	44
Blue Team:
No payment	74
Paid in full	62
Total:
No payment	199 (decreased 83)
Paid in full	155 (increased 58)

BETTER HEALTH WEEK.

On Friday morning, January 14th, Miss Helen Draper announced the Better Health program for the week of January 17-24, and gave a very clever, interesting and profitable talk on the "Purpose of Better Health Week." She submitted the following:

Rules for Our Health Game.

1. A full bath more than once a week.
2. Sleeping at least eight hours with windows open.
3. Brushing the teeth at least twice every day.
4. Drinking as much milk as possible, not more than one cup of coffee and no tea or coca-cola.
5. Eating some vegetable and fruit every day.
6. Limit eating between meals to fruit.
7. Drinking at least six glasses of water daily.
8. A bowel movement every day.
9. Exercising part of every day out of doors.
10. Practice good posture.

TOWN NEWS.

Mrs. Laura Anderson, mother of Dr. Anderson, died on Wednesday.

Misses Mary and Virginia Lindsey spent the holidays in South Boston.

Miss Eunice Watkins has returned to her home in Covington after an enjoyable visit to friends in town.

Miss Ola Channell, of Smithfield, a former student of S. N. S., is visiting Mrs. E. R. Booker. Miss Channell was entertained at cards on Saturday by Mrs. J. A. Garland.

Margaret Mears has recently undergone an operation and since the holidays has not been able to return.

Edith Williamson has accepted a position in Charlottesville, and Madeline Forestal one in the schools of Petersburg.

Lucy Howell will not accept a position during the coming term.

The January graduating class has pledged $68 toward the Students' Building Fund.

AN ARABIAN PROVERB.

He who knows and knows not that he knows
Is asleep. Awaken him.
He who knows not and knows that he knows
Is simple. Teach him.
He who knows not and knows not that he knows not
Is a fool. Shun him.
He who knows and knows that he knows
Is wise. Follow him unto the end.

MISS HAZEL BERNICE MILLICAN.

Miss Millican, the new head of our Industrial Arts Department, comes to us from Canada.

She was born at Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick, and educated at the Fredericton High School and Normal. She taught in several grades and then specialized in Manual Training. As a result of her special interest in summer schools she was given the position of corresponding secretary for the Maritime Summer School of Science held at Halifax, Fredericton, Yarmouth Normal Schools and Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island.

Even though her hobby, as she says, is woodwork, she has other interests as well because in addition to the special course in Manual Training she has also specialized in Agriculture, Physical Training and Physiology.

Miss Millican is very pleased with the mild winter of the South which is the first she ever experienced without seeing frost continually on the pane. She has always thought that the South would be a land of silk and money if people had not so much coal to buy as they do in Canada.

We feel especially fortunate in having such a competent head of this department as one of her girls says: "She knows as much as a man." But Miss Millican is doubtful whether to consider this a compliment or not in these days of Woman Suffrage and other things in which the women have come to the front.

Miss Millican has often quoted that: "Everyone has been so lovely to me down here."

JANUARY GRADUATES.

The following students are applying for graduation in January, 1921:

Dugger, Virginia Smith
Forestal, Madeline Rowena
Howell, Lucy Bernice
Lawson, Margaret Munford
McGinley, Ruby Paulette
Mears, Margaret Rose
Mosteller, Eva Irene
O'Brien, Mildred Eva
Thomas, Olga McClain
Tune, Annie Davis
Williamson, Edith Irene

NEW STUDENTS FOR NEXT TERM.

New students are registering for next term. Among those who have already registered we find girls from North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Virginia.

"Handsome Salesman": "Couldn't I interest you in an automobile?"

"Pretty Girl": "Perhaps you could come around in one some day." Exchange.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bacock
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring Business Manager
Helen Jarman Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIAL.

ELECTIONS.

At this time when the new term is drawing near and changes are being made in all phases of school life, especially organizations, we feel it is expedient that we bring before the students one thing to bear in mind concerning elections.

Upon those girls whom the students elect to serve them and their interests, the success of the organization largely depends. Students, if you would serve yourselves, in so doing, choose those girls who you feel can best fill the particular office in question. Do not vote for a girl simply because she is your friend or because you'd like to see her hold some office. Let the question you ask yourself be: "Is she competent to fill this office?" Granting she is competent let your next question be, "Is she likely to be persevering in the duties of her office?"

"CRUSH PIGS"

Fellow Students:

Once upon a time a leader gathered into his school all kinds and classes of girls—fat girls, lean girls, serious girls, silly girls, intellectually brilliant girls and pronounced dummies; and last of all but not least in importance so far as their influence upon others was concerned was a class known as the "crushy girls."

Now there lived in this Kingdom of Thoughtful People quite a number of instructors who knew their own minds and endeavored daily to lead these girls into purposeful, wholesome lives. The leader of "Thoughtful People" was much perplexed and sorrowful because the "crushy" class would not listen to the advice of their instructor, but persisted in being completely satisfied with one companion whom they declared was more than anyone else in the world to them. Completely in despair over the situation this leader sent out letters to other intellectual kingdoms to find out if such conditions existed there also. Much to his sorrow the answers revealed very nearly the same story perhaps not quite so bad as in his own native kingdom. Then, there came to his mind the idea—we as instructors have indirectly waged war on crushes through spreading our views on the subject. Could not the student body take up such a problem—have talks and discussions from representative members of this body and thereby use the student as a medium to reach other students afflicted with this dire disease? This plan was considered and reconsidered and finally launched upon its course. Results as yet have not been printed.

Let us, as members of the Normal School, think together on our problem of crushes. As to what and who we need not dwell for I am sure that each one of us can clearly distinguish between the clean, wholesome friendships and those which develop selfishness and bring forth the wrong standards of living, which change the normal, healthy girl into one with different ideals and purposes.

Let us think more especially about the why and when.

First, why do we have crushes? We, as a student body? Here in school we have such a wonderful opportunity to know people, to form many true and lasting friendships and to give the very best that we have to offer to others and in turn seek to receive the same help from them. Do we think that one girl can offer and give as much as many? Can we be as well-rounded and broad by association with one girl every minute of every day as by association with many? Be honest! Do you think such friendships are conducive to the best thinking and wholesome impulses?

Secondly, when shall we have crushes no more? Crushes will exist so long as the student body as a whole tolerates and allows them. As long as public sentiment is not so strong against them then just so long will girls allow themselves to be weak and yield to one girl. Let's do some clean-cut thinking and show by our attitude that we disapprove of crushes or cases. Then and only then can we anticipate a "crushless" Farmville!

Perhaps some of you have read that delightful article in the Atlantic Monthly for January, "When Is a Pig a Person?" In my opinion, a pig is never a person, but a person may become a pig when she reserves all rights and creates an entire monopoly on one girl. Greed and selfishness, prize points in pig-don come to hold first place in her mental state, perhaps unconscious to her.

Are you a pig, in this sense? Do you associate with pigs? Do you approve of pigs? What are you going to do about it?

NATURE'S COLOR SCHEME.

It was one of the Freshman class who, meeting the janitor of the building in which he had rooms, indulged in a callow joke.

"Pretty near winter, Joe," he said, jovially. "The trees are getting almost as black as you."

"Dat's true, suh," and Joe surveyed the elms thoughtfully, as one seeing them for the first time. "Nature's wonderful, suh, no mistake. Come spring, dem trees'll be almost as green as you, suh."

—Harper's.

Rebecca: Miss Klese, I worked two hours on this example and finally got it.

Ida: That ain't nothin'! I worked three hours and never did get it.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply What FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & MCINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

A VIRGINIA FATHER TO HIS DAUGHTER IN THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The father of one of the girls in this School has written her the following letter which we think others may find interesting. For obvious reasons the names are disguised. —The Editor.

Dear Frances:

You have no idea how happy it made your Mother and me to have you back home with us during the holidays. It seemed like the good old times when you were our little girl at home every day. Yet somehow there was a difference. In many ways you made me realize that you are no longer our little home-made girl. Bud Willis realizes it too, since you put him in his place, at the dance. He has been very obsequious toward me ever since. What do you think of that? Bud is only a child, of course, though an awfully conceited one. I don't think he meant any harm really; but you evidently have learned something about handling children. The Normal School seems to have made that difference in you already.

Your old Dad can't define this new girl of his even yet, and I am not sure he likes her altogether so well as the little home-made girl who left him last fall to go away to Normal School, though he will always love her as his most precious possession in all the world, no matter what she may make of herself. Some day you will understand how we older children cling to what we have got used to loving and will forgive me for wanting to keep you as I like you.

What I seem to realize since the holidays is that you have suddenly out-grown our little home-made girl and have become a young woman with a mind of your own and a mission in the world. I like that. It is fine to have found out at the beginning what you want to do in life and to be learning how to do it, especially when it's such an ennobling work as teaching. In that respect you're the most fortunate girl in town.

I see those Fernald girls, you used to play with, being driven past the store—nearly every day in their father's limousine—I think that's what they call it. Of course Col. Fernald, as the "Gazette" has taken to calling him lately, has bushels of money since the war boomed his business and made it so profitable; and he can give Dora and Lottie everything they want. They are wearing the latest furs and hats from New York and paint and powder, and, of course, looking bored to death with this little old sleepy town. All they have to do apparently is just to sit around and wait until the right man happens along. That must be an awfully boring kind of life—waiting for a man. Of course, they don't know it and wouldn't confess it if they did, the poor dears, but everybody else knows that's all they are doing.

Then there is Del Moore, your high school class-mate. She is taking a commercial course in Richmond so that she can take a place in her father's bank. She is getting a hard look already and wearing mannish clothes. That shows her ideal pretty well—money-making and men. Neither one can be charged against a girl who goes into teaching, as I see it. I am not so proud of any of our town girls as I am of my own daughter, if I do say so myself and I "hadn't oughter." You're worth all of them put together, I think.

But don't out-grow us too fast, Frances. Some of these new ways girls are taking on nowadays puzzle me. I don't mean to be critical, but of course you are bound to show the effect of what is happening to young people everywhere, especially young women. I think I must write to you more regularly hereafter and try to keep up with your progress better. And won't you write your Mother or me at least once a week about whatever happens and whatever you are thinking? And I will give you my views frankly. I am a pretty good judge of women, I think. I chose your mother, you know. And what I want to do through these letters, since I can't see you and talk with you every day, is to help you to be as fine a woman as she is.

What do you think of this little scheme of mine?

Lovingly,

FATHER.

LEARN THE LESSON OF THE BEAN VINES.

"G'd me den Snaps, Boss," said the Old Negro Gardener to the Inexperienced Young Man, who was letting the Beans dry on his Vines. The Vines, by the way, were dying. "Ef yer leaves 'em stay on the Vines, you won't git no more Snaps; but ef yer keeps 'em all picked off, dey'll keep a-comin till Frost."

Don't Let Your Idea Vine Go to Seed.

Write out those ideas you have in mind so as to make room for fresh ones to grow. That's the way to keep your life full of snap and interest. Hand what you write to The Rotunda. The Rotunda is our school paper, and it exists for just this purpose. It gives us the needed opportunity to exchange ideas. It is very necessary among so many girls. In it we publish our School News, Poems, Essays, Jokes, and a variety of other interesting and helpful things. Try to write something for The Rotunda. Your effort will help you and your success will help other girls to try. "If at first you don't succeed" in getting your work published, "keep on trying till—" the Frost comes.

You can also help other girls to keep their Idea Vines in bearing and get a lot of good for yourself, too, by subscribing to The Rotunda. Set aside two dollars now to pay for a year's subscription. Read your own copy each month, while everybody else of much consequence is reading hers. Don't sponge. Sponges, you know, live only down under the deep blue sea. Tell somebody you want to subscribe to The Rotunda.

This is the lesson of the Bean Vines.

The Rotunda needs you. You need The Rotunda.

Mr. Fettig: "Miss Ganaway, what is absolute alcohol?"

Miss Ganaway: "The kind you drink!"

"Is Rockefeller's money tainted?"

"Yes; in two ways: 'Tain't yours and 'tain't mine." —Tar Baby.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock	$ 50,000.00
Surplus	100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres.	H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

FRIDAY'S TRANSFORMATION.

A crystal world greeted our eyes on Friday morning. It was a big surprise to find every tree hanging with a thousand tiny icicles, the tops of the houses like huge looking-glasses and the ground like a great glass ballroom floor.

It was hard to keep our eyes from wandering out of the window at the beautiful transformations about us. This is just what some of us were doing when one of the largest and grandest of the oak trees back of the school shivered and with a sudden plunge fell to the ground with a terrible crash. It shattered as a crystal candelabra might, if it should fall to the floor.

Everybody who saw the tree fall was terrified at the sight as the electric light wires which ran through its branches were pulled down and great sparks of fire were flying from the broken wires.

The icy state of things brought unexpected slides to many besides the children who were coasting on their sleds. Some of the faculty barely escaped being assassinated by falling tree limbs. The mishaps of the day were offset most assuredly by the beauties of Friday's transformation.

A RAINY DAY AND AN OPEN FIRE.

It was one of Longfellow's rainy days. The sky was thick with clouds and every few minutes would bring a fresh downpour of rain. Much against my own will and feelings I retired to my study and seated myself before the open log fire. Never had I been much given to meditation but at this time, the very rain as it pattered on the roof above, singing its song in dreary monotone and the dying embers in the grate seemed to lure me on. I had always been one of that class of human beings that are always on the watch for the easy things of life, and never take time to think about the deeper problems of life. In fact I had become a lazy, worthless fellow and did the world at large more harm than good. Tonight I could see the pages of memories' book turn back, almost to the cover where my mother held me on her knee, and tried so faithfully to cultivate in me a taste for good books and literature. I could see her singing and playing the sweet old melodies of her childhood days. They were not the vulgar songs so popular now among old and young, but quaint old snatches of a nocturne here and a prelude there. Unconsciously my lips repeated long forgotten poems and parts of songs I had once loved to sing. Why had I departed from them?

I thought of my vast estates, beautiful and cultivated in every way, and yet what good had they or I done toward bettering the world and the fulfillment of Christ's mission. A few words of Lowell's came to me and over and over again I repeat them. "Not what we give, but what we share, for the gift without the giver is bare. He who gives himself with his alms feeds three, himself, his hungering neighbor and Me." Never had I thought of the real meaning of those words until then when I realized fully Lowell's meaning. How easy it is to depart from the ways of goodness and wander as a sheep without a shepherd! Just then the fire which had died down to glowing embers suddenly lighted afresh and illuminated the whole room. Something whispered, "Why not begin life anew just as the fire compelled by some force suddenly assumed new life?" I answered—"I will do it."

A DISSERTATION ON DEGREE GIRLS.

A degree girl is a college chile what thinks she is somethin' instead of a meer ignoramus. If she is kareful and aint skared to death when she takes that there degree at commencement mebbe she'll come out aw-right. I dunno. I heard them talk bout taking the degree. I aint sure whether its one like the Masons take or whether its a Fahrenheit but there's one thing sure and that is—it sure does take their heads clean off. They puts on ares and thinks they's original. Their favorite fun is chevin the rag an sayin they are doin somethin' new an original so why don't other classes do likewise. They's all alike 'cept the color of their hair an eyes an the dresses they wares. They acts nice sometimes when they are settin' up in chapel under the faculties noses or a paradin down the street with ivy in their hair. They's afraide thet others will get ahead of thum then. Mebbe they will get some better when they gets some age on 'em. I dunno.

We editors may dig and toil
Till our finger tips are sore,
But some poor fish is sure to say,
"I've heard that joke before."

—Exchange.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

ROSTON THE TUNOA

Vol. 1. No. 12.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 28, 1921.

LEE'S BIRTHDAY.

On Wednesday, Jan. 19th, in the Normal School auditorium, Rev. Frederick Diehl, of the John's Memorial Church of Farmville, addressed the townspeople, faculty and students on "Robert Edward Lee," this being the one hundred and fourteenth anniversary of Lee's birthday.

Mr. Diehl told of Lee's birthplace and the line of great soldiers and gentlemen, from whom Robert E. Lee descended, dating back to William the Conqueror. He then painted Lee himself, first as a soldier, then as a man, and lastly as a Christian. He pictured Lee's loyalty to Virginia at the very outbreak of the Civil War, his bravery, his wisdom, on the field of battle and his life among his men in camp. As a man Lee was seen as a friend, tender and loyal; as a husband and father, loving, kind and true. If he was great as a soldier and as a man he was seen to be even greater as a Christian gentleman, firm in faith, steadfast and far-sighted in the vision of his duty and in his every-day life, efficient and patient, and successful. Indeed, here, on his one hundred and fourteenth birthday Lee, the beloved and noble soldier, man, Christian, in spirit lived again.

GOOD POSTURE AND GOOD HEALTH.

Monday morning, January 17, Miss Mary Lindsey started the program for Health Week with a talk on good posture.

She told us that good posture is the first essential of good health. Our "good looks" and general appearance depend on posture. No matter how fine our clothes, we cannot be stylish without this first essential.

Not only is good posture essential to our appearance, but it is essential to our health. The position in which we hold our bodies is very important: our heads must be erect, our chests expanded, and our spines straight. These things we must observe, if we wish good health.

Miss Lindsey showed us poor posture and good posture by living examples. Her talk was greatly enjoyed by all.

MISS DINWIDDIE TALKS.

On Tuesday, Miss Martha Dinwiddie, from the National Board of Health at Washington, D. C., talked in chapel to the faculty and students on "How to Get Good Health."

First she spoke of the importance of the teacher's health and how she might bring about or stimulate an interest in good health among her pupils.

Also she stressed the importance of eating proper food that the body may be well nourished; secondly, the necessity of taking exercise and getting fresh air, that the body may be developed fully. Lastly, she spoke of the importance of rest. Even a few minutes of rest, she states, aid greatly in the preservation of strength and help to keep one physically fit.

TWO INTERESTING HEALTH TALKS.

On Wednesday, January the 21st, two interesting talks on health were given by Miss Marie Baldwin and Miss Virginia Gibbs. Their topics were "The Care of the Skin," "Exercise and Rest."

"The most beautiful thing in all the world," said Miss Baldwin, "is the human body and the most beautiful part of the body is the face, for through the face the soul shines. Cleanliness is the preservation of beauty. Color comes, not from the little round box on Milady's dressing table, but from proper exercise, and proper bathing. A face covered with wrong cosmetics is a dirty face. The cold bath acts as a stimulant. It should be taken before breakfast or as early after rising as possible. The warm bath has a soothing effect and should be taken at night before retiring. A good neutral soap should be used for the bath."

Miss Gibbs said that exercise and rest prevent our bodies and minds from becoming rusty and shriveled up and finally wasting away. Some of us rest too much, some too little. We should have a time for each. From time immemorial the strong have suppressed the weak. It has always been a case of the survival of the fittest.

Exercise makes a man more manly and a girl more womanly.

Just a few important suggestions—drink plenty of water, chew your food, take exercise that will work the waist, abdominal, neck, arm, leg, and knee muscles. Try deep breathing in the open air and see how much better you feel.

The world is looking to America. If we wish to aid we must become strong.

DR. NELSON AT STATE NORMAL.

On Friday, January 21, Dr. Nelson, of State Department of Health at Richmond conducted chapel exercises and also delivered the fifth health talk for Better Health Week, in this school. His lecture was on sex education and his efforts to establish the study of this subject in the schools of Virginia. Dr. Nelson gave also an illustrated lecture on the same subject, in the auditorium, on Friday night of the same day.

NOTICE!

Be sure and try the "Y" book store before ordering your new books. Very likely you can find what you want there. You'll save money, and help the "Y".

MISS BESSIE H. JETER.

Miss Bessie H. Jeter, of the Home Economics Department, is one of our Southern teachers, her home being in Macon, Ga. She received her early training in the public schools of Georgia and graduated from the Georgia Normal and Industrial College. She has received the degree of Bachelor of Science from Columbia University and is now working for her Master's degree.

Miss Jeter has taught in the Normal and Industrial School at Montevallo, Ala., in Columbia, S. C., and other places, her first teaching experience being in Virginia. We are glad she likes it well enough to come back.

Judging from what some of Miss Jeter's students say she must be a wonderful woman and a teacher of great ability. It seems that she is as fond of the seniors as they are of her. They say she has that peculiar faculty of knowing everything that goes on in her class rooms. She is always ready for a joke and likes to have a good time just as well as any of us.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

This week the economics' classes are putting on a Thrift campaign, promoted by the Y. W. C. A. In view of this fact we should all know what is meant by Thrift. Thrift is not only the saving of money, but the economy of time, energy, and materials as well.

By saving money we mean not the hoarding it, but wise and thoughtful spending.

Thrift in time is very important to us, it does not mean that we must study all of the time for exercise is very necessary, but we should not waste vacant periods, or minutes between classes, for much can be accomplished in that time.

We should save our energy by not working until we are exhausted, but resting and exercising sufficiently to keep us in a good physical condition.

Economy in materials may mean the saving and care of those things we already have—clothes, books, etc., and of the school property.

Thrift means more than formality, more than prudent management—it means living a balanced life. A good thrift slogan for us all would be "Look before or you'll find yourself behind."

Girls! Have you ever stopped to consider what a fine Student Government President we have? If you haven't, do it now!

Virginia—Let's see which can make the ugliest face.

Stuffy—The idea! Just look at the start you got.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

Helen Skillman Editor-in-Chief
Mary Stephenson Asst. Editor-in-Chief
Mary Bocoek
Carolyn Rankin
Ruth Jones Associate Editors
Christine Shields
Kate Davis
Elizabeth Moring Business Manager
Helen Jarman Asst. Business Manager
Pattie Lee Darden Asst. Business Manager

EDITORIAL.

EFFICIENCY THROUGH HEALTH.

With physical, mental and spiritual health a man needs nothing. He has everything—for all things are possible to him. The work-a-day life is not drudgery for him but each day brings new desire and new strength to seek advancement and make his life more efficient.

Gulick has said that "the laws of efficiency depend upon quantity and quality." It is not the quantity of work one does that stands for most, for everyone has work to do, it is quality, which counts in life. But quality calls for the greater effort and the greater amount of nervous energy. It takes a "high grade machine to do high grade work" and likewise it is true of the body. To be sure it is possible that for a time, one can work intensely and live on a limited amount of food or the wrong kind of food, or go without exercise and fresh air, but it is impossible for one to keep up such a record for a life time. Under such conditions one becomes less capable to cope with the problems of each day and when the opportunities and the important things of life come so often there is not the energy and power to meet them and to act.

Each of us must study his own individual self and discover his own limitations and then set a pace at which he can go each day and still have health and reserve strength. That pace which is so great in one day as to lower the pace in the next day is not one conducive of good health nor an efficient life. The body must not be pushed to its full capacity each day for eventually it will not produce high grade work.

And so we must observe the rules of health to make our lives count for something before God, our fellowmen and ourselves. The happy, influential, capable person is the healthy man or woman; the one who works who rests, who exercises, who keeps the little daily things which perplex and crowd in on the day in their proper place and who observes all other means of making his or hers a healthful body.

Lastly, he has health, physical, mental, spiritual, places it above all else as his greatest possession for without his life cannot be efficient, he cannot fully serve God and his fellowman.

ROAST PIG.

In this period just after the Christmas holidays, a period of reaction, our minds turn back to those marvelous good things which graced the festive board while we were at home. We think of turkey, plum pudding, cranberry sauce, chestnuts, mince pie and lastly but not least of all—roast pig. Charles Lamb reveled in the wonders of roast pig so much that he was never willing to share such a gift (left by a neighbor) with anyone although he would show the greatest willingness to share any or all other gifts. You remember, I am sure, how Bobo having discovered the nine little pigs which had been roasted to death when his hut had burned down, reacted when his alfalfa sense caught the savory odor of roast pig! How he grew at that moment from a savage cannibal into a civilized man with a well-cultivated taste for roast pig! This change came about solely through his investigative mind—the desire to feel the strange object which once had been a pig but was now so completely changed. In feeling he burnt his fingers and to cool them applied them in his booby fashion to his mouth. He began to taste again and suck his fingers from a force of habit. Our recipe for roast pig is due absolutely to Bobo. Give thanks unto him—all ye readers!

Have you ever tasted of literary roast pig? Roast pig which you can cook yourself and season until all those spices of humor and peppers of wit which your pantry the brain can afford! Find yourself a good pig (subject) not too big to be thoroughly tender and easily seeped in your savory sauces and then walk into your pantry with a light and duster and search diligently until you find among the canned thought those original seasons of humor, wit and appreciation of the beautiful which your ancestors stored there. With the help of these seasonings and some new ones which you have put there and have not used, your pig will be well roasted. Then, when all is ready and you have placed the pig in a dish ready for serving, invite The Rotunda staff to the feast.

BASKETBALL.

The basketball game Friday night, January 14, at the Armory, proved to be the most exciting of the season. The Seniors played with unusual pep and splendid team work, but the Juniors walked away with the goals, the score being 18 to 29 in favor of the Juniors. This game was very important for both Seniors and Juniors had already won a game and the one was to decide which class should hold first place in basketball.

The "varsity" basketball team has been selected:

Captain—Anna Belle Treackle.
Manager—Sarah Moore.
Forwards—Debra Van Sickle, Anna Belle Treackle.
Guards—Elsie Bell, Mary Grey.
Centers—Sarah Moore, Sallie Mae Gray.

French Prof.: "What is the meaning of Bon Ami?"

Freshman: "Hasn't scratched yet."—Tar Baby.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR
Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED
CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store
Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

E. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Exchange at the "Y" Store.

Do not forget that the "Y" store is to be used as an "employment bureau." Several girls have brought work to be done. We now need some one to do it. All girls who need a little extra spending money, want to make something toward their Y. W. C. A. contribution, or wish to "help someone else", come to the "Y" store and get something to do.

With the National Y. W. C. A.

The present membership of the Y. W. C. A. in the United States is 559,315, an increase of approximately 300,000 in the last five years. There are 1,212 association centers in the country, 351 of them in 234 cities of over 25,000 population, 111 in smaller communities and 750 in colleges. This is exclusive of work being carried on by the American Association in eight European countries, and in India, Japan, China, South America and Honolulu.

A FRIEND.

A short time ago a London newspaper offered a prize for the best definition of "A Friend." Among the many thousand answers which were received, the following is the one that was awarded first prize:

"The first person who comes in when the world goes out."

The second prize was given to the definition sent in by a small boy, who wrote:

"A friend is a feller who knows all about you and likes you just the same."

Both of these definitions are worthy of thought.

However, I believe the second definition is typical. In these days of hurrying and moving from place to place we make many acquaintances but few real friends. It is those we have made since childhood, our schoolmates and our college chums who are our truest friends. In the glamour of the new, we should not sacrifice an old and tried friend. The old friends are the best—"The feller who knows all about you and likes you just the same."

DAWN AND DUSK.

Dawn is a hope
Of radiant rosy hue;
Promise of the coming hours,
Pure as shining dew.

Dusk is a longing
Tinted purple gray,
Loving some one absent
At close of day.

DYED IN THE WOOL.

"Is Bixby as much of a Democrat as ever since the election?"

"Is he? Why, when his wife buys the children animal crackers he makes her take out the elephants."

—Life.

ALMA MATER.

Tune—America, the Beautiful.

O here's to thee, dear mother true,
Thy ideals and thy dream,
That we may ever faithful be
"In following the gleam";
O how could we, thought distant far,
Depart from all thy ways?
Thy daughters will all worthy be
Throughout thy length of days.

All hail to thee, O mother fair,
Our happy second home,
Midst lofty skies of heavenly blue,
Thy stately walls and dome
Reveal to us thy spirit true,
The music of thy life;
May we with born of right
Subdue ill-will and strife.

Now Alma Mater, mother kind,
"The world voice ever calls,"
And though for thee our love is deep
Soon we must leave thy halls,
For there are those who ever need
Thy truth and wisdom pure,
Stern duty calls—we must hear and heed
In filled love to thee.

MARY A. STEPHENSON.

WEEKLY SCANDALS.

On Wednesday, January 18, in the Normal.

1. Dr. Jarman Attends Chapel in Crocheted Slippers!—Some may not accept this as a true statement nevertheless it is true. Dr. Jarman always wears black Oxfords.

2. Horrible Explosion Occurs in S. N. S. Postoffice.—No lives lost! Uncle Robert believed to be the cause! Some letters "went off."

3. This was a week of fights—two in one week. One occurred in the President's office—Dr. Jarman licked a stamp. The other in the kitchen—a loaf of bread got fresh and knocked a hole in the doughnut.

4. "Kiep" Meets Just Fate!—Girl found prostrated on floor in Room 356. Investigation proves that she had succumbed to electric shock due to contact with "currant" in fruit cake. Beware of such a fate.

Cave! Adsum!

The light bell peals were fading fast
Right by the door the proctor passed:
Then all was silent on the hall
Except one last exhausting howl.

Called Down!

The door knob turns, the hinges creak,
The night is cold and chill and bleak:
A figure takes me by the hand
Leads me down to make my stand.

Called Up!

My blood ran hot,
My blood ran cold,
But you bet your life,
I did as told.

If any of you, misfortune meet,
And have to sit in the guilty-seat;
Take your medicine like a man
Change your ways to beat the band!

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg,

Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

"IF."

If you'd serve your day and age.

Teach a school;

If you'd earn an ample wage.

Teach a school;

For the Boards are advertising

That salaries are rising

In a manner most surprising—

Teach a school!

Where's the training for this work?

Normal School!

They will work you like a Turk

In that school:

For the courses offered there

Are as good as anywhere—

There are few that can compare

With that school!

When you've taken all the course

For teaching school.

A diploma will be yours.

From the school;

If you more ambitious be,

Take your Bachelor's Degree—

A real B. S., you see—

From the School.

If a catalogue you'd own

Of the School;

Then let your want be known

At the School:

Just address, The Registrar,

And no matter where you are.

She will send it, near or far.

From the School.

—J. M. T.

A POST-OFFICE ROMANCE.

Friendship, N. Y.

Love, Va.

Kissimmee, Fla.

Ring, Ark.

Parson, Ky.

Reno, Nev.

OLD HABIT.

"I wonder if men have always complained about the food their wives served them," said Mrs. Peasley.

"I guess so," sighed Mrs. Bumpus. "You remember it started with Adam."

The Watchman Examiner (N. Y.).

THE MISSING BLUSH.

He told the shy maid of his love.

The color left her cheeks:

But on the shoulder of his coat.

It showed for several weeks.

Sentinel

JOKES.

Martha—"Agnes, what would you do if I threw you out of this window?" (Third story.)

Agnes: "I'd hit the ground."

Last year I used to put my watch under my pillow when I went to bed, but this year I don't, because sleeping over time makes me late to classes.—The Wink.

Big Bargain!

At the book room Miss Taliaferro is selling two-cent stamps for a cent and a quarter.

Stage Manager—"All ready, run up the curtain."

Stage Hand—"Say, what do you think I am, a squirrel?"—Exchange.

Biggs: "Lend me a dollar and I will be eternally indebted to you."

Wiggs: "Yes, I'm afraid so."—Yale Record.

Mrs. E.: "I understand your son is very much inclined toward study."

Mrs. Z.: "Yes; so much so that he slid to the bottom of his class."

Reporter: "I just can't get Mr. Fettig to give me his past history."

Organic Chemistry Student: "Oh, his is all the future, let me fill it for him!"

Visitor: "Why does your servant go about the house with her hat on?"

Mistress: "Oh, she's a new girl. She only came this morning, and hasn't yet made up her mind whether she'll stay."

Why is a watch-dog bigger by night than by day?

Because he is let out at night and taken in in the morning.

"Father, is the zebra a black animal with white stripes or a white animal with black stripes?"

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

—Life. State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats, Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

ROTUNDA

Vol. 1. No. 13.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 4, 1921.

DR. FLEMING TALKS.

On Monday morning, January 24, in the Normal School auditorium, Dr. Fleming, a returned missionary from Persia, talked to the faculty and students concerning the conditions in Persia during and since the war and what our missionaries have done and are doing for the Persians. She told of missionary trips and interesting and true stories of Persian children of Christian faith. She told of the persecution of the Christians by the Turks and of the American Relief Stations there in Persia. These stations have furnished shelter for the persecuted children and kept them in safety.

BEGINNING OF THRIFT WEEK.

Following Dr. Fleming's talk Monday morning Miss Mildred Dickenson, chairman of the Program Committee for Thrift Week, opened the program by recalling to the students that this has been a school term of campaigns and "better" weeks.

Among the campaigns she mentioned were "Better School Week" and "Better Health Week," stating that the week from January 24th to January 29th had been set aside for Thrift Week. Each campaign had served to bring attention to facts about ourselves and valuable life lessons.

Miss Dickenson asked for the co-operation of the student body to make this campaign a success. To do so, she asked that each student keep a personal budget, offer suggestions (such as posters or slogans) to those in charge or by their sympathetic effort to bring about thrift in every possible way.

THRIFT IN ENERGY.

Tuesday morning, January 25, in chapel, Miss Helen Draper gave a second thrift talk.

Miss Draper brought up the question, "What would we do without our schedules here at State Normal?" Then she pictured the chaos which would ensue without them for the work here is systematized through schedules and this is thrift in time from the standpoint of the whole school.

From the standpoint of the individual, Miss Draper brought out the need of systematized study—the having of a definite plan in mind for studying during the study period. This would be thrift in time, here, as applied to the individual.

The last thought was thrift in energy. Time does not wear out but the body does and therefore thrift in energy is perhaps the greatest essential. The American people, Miss Draper declares, are recognized as a nervous people—they waste their energy. To correct this they must learn to be thrifty—to have thrift in energy through rest at the proper time.

THRIFT THROUGH MATERIALS.

The third thrift talk was made Thursday, January 27, by Miss Elizabeth McClung. Her subject was Thrift in Materials.

The fact that it has been the custom for the man to produce the money and for the woman to spend it is the one reason why the woman should know how to spend this money to the best advantage. Thrift is not merely saving, but also careful spending.

Miss McClung also showed an itemized account of the money it is necessary for a girl to spend on clothes and yet be thrifty. She also exhibited two gingham dresses, one of which displayed thrift in the buying of material, the other, faded yet comparatively new, showed the lack of thrift in material. Likewise she exhibited two shoes and pointed out the same truths. Care and careful spending of money as made plain through Miss McClung's talk will make for thrift.

SHARING WITH OTHERS.

Dr. Jarman, Friday, January 28, talked to the students about sharing with others the little that we have. He recognized the needs of thrift in time, materials and money, but pointed out too that we can share with others and yet be thrifty and—happier.

He laid before the student body two means of sharing with others, the first—that the student body raise money for the Armenian cause, or second, that they aid the appeal made to help the students in European colleges in continuing their education in those countries; a thing which will be impossible for them to do unless furnished the means by other countries. It has been left to the students as to which cause they would aid in supporting.

GLEE CLUB OPERA.

Of much interest to faculty, students as well as alumnae is the opera, "By the Zuyder Zee," to be given by the Glee Club on February 11 and 12. An American circus is traveling through Holland for several months. The Dutch country lover is well portrayed by Miss Mary Lindsey; the little bare-back rider, by Jane Hunt Martin. Little Miss Martin has appeared in several other operas. In the last act, the little bare-back rider, then ten years older, is portrayed by Miss Virginia Blosingame. Much joy and gaiety is shown in wedding festivities in the final scene.

TEACHING SENIORS ENTERTAINED.

The Teaching Seniors of Course III were delightfully entertained Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bell. Among those present were Miss Steele and Miss Eisle.

MISS MARY COX ENTERTAINS.

Miss Mary White Cox entertained the January graduation class in the Senior sitting-room on Monday night, January 24, at 6:00 o'clock. Delightful refreshments were served and the guests were presented with dainty candy corsage of many colors and tied with bows of tulle. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Jarman, Judge Gooch, the members of the Home Department, Misses Carter, Savage and Taliaferro, and the members of the Student Committee.

TOWN NEWS.

The Farmville Public Library gave its annual book shower Thursday evening, January 27, at the High School. The Mandolin and Guitar Club of S. N. S. aided in furnishing the music.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Long have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paulett. Mr. Long was formerly head of the Industrial Arts department of the Normal School.

Rev. C. E. Burrell, who had his tonsils removed at a Richmond hospital last week, is convalescing rapidly.

The people of the whole community regret to learn of the death of Mr. Hart on last Tuesday.

Misses Margaret Wainwright and Thelma Blanton entertained on Saturday evening in honor of Miss Lucile Baldwin, a February bride-to-be.

THE ROTUNDA ELECTION.

The following girls were elected for The Rotunda staff:

Editor-in-Chief—Mildred Dickenson.

Assistant Editor-in-Chief—Virginia Blosingame.

Business Manager—Virginia Anderson.

Assistant Business Managers—Julia Alexander, Gwendolyn Wright.

Reporters—Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriett Judson Munoz, Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill.

Miss Stubbs addressed an interstate Rural Life Conference at Daytona Beach, Florida, which was held from January 20-24. Miss Stubbs reports an interesting conference. The next issue of the Rotunda will publish some of Miss Stubbs' impressions of the conference and a summary of her address.

What is the difference between an accepted and a rejected lover?

One kisses his miss and the other misses his kiss.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKENSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

THE STAFF VALEDICTORY.

The election of officers for the new Rotunda Staff has taken place and now, this being the last number of the paper which the present staff will issue, we must say farewell.

We, as the staff, wish to thank our benefactors, our subscribers and our contributors for their support. Our benefactors and subscribers have, by their financial support, made the paper successful in a business way. Our contributors whether all have been subscribers or not have greatly aided the paper from a literary standpoint. But for this a school paper would have been an impossibility.

We ask that you aid as faithfully and heartily the incoming staff. Give it your co-operation without even the asking, for it enables the editors to make the paper better, and the work a greater pleasure.

And now the editor wishes to thank the members of the staff for their individual co-operation with her. They have been willing and prompt in all their work and have had at heart the interests and success of the paper.

That the paper will become more attractive and better from week to week and more expressive of the students, their thoughts, interests and feelings is the confident hope and belief of the present staff and so—farewell.

THE YEAR ENDING AND THE YEAR TO COME.

"As the old year closes, it behooves us to consider whereabouts we are" in Cebes's Fable on that old Philosophical Pinax of the Life of Man. Let us look back and see what constructive changes have loomed up, what strides we have made, what ideas are in store which in time will evolve into practical action if only ingenuity will discover and mold into shape. We have witnessed the death of our long loved Focus and the birth of the baby, Rotunda. To some alumnae and members of the faculty this change was welcomed with dread and dire forebodings of the future. They had more or less grown up with the Focus and had a personal affection which we younger students did not have. We felt the need for the live, vital, thrilling things of school life—the kind of thing that young people enjoy and just the thing to paste in our memory books. Was it a stride forward, you say? Most assuredly, for we were not only satisfying the need of the majority but also were publishing the kind of paper which many others schools have allowed to succeed the literary monthly.

As to the future—we editors predict a most brilliant future. The baby Rotunda has been toddling along, taking steps very timidly and carefully, gaining confidence each week through additional strength and encouraging remarks from family and friends. Now this baby can stand alone, on its own feet, and can feel that confidence which comes from knowing oneself and knowing that others sympathize and support. We feel assured that great undertakings and plans will be efficiently reached.

THRIFT IN ITS TRUE LIGHT.

Thrift is an "intelligent plan for the spending of one's entire income" and perhaps the thing about thrift which frightens people most, the thing from which they flee, so to speak, is the word "budget."

The word budget is merely the technical name for an itemized account of expenditures. It involves some account keeping and figuring and why is that most people will turn away in haste from anything that involves figures or a little forethought? Perhaps it is because they fear thinking will make them age prematurely, or again, perhaps they hold too literally to the words "take no thought of the morrow." It is far better and wiser for young people to think now and learn how to be thrifty than to worry later on in life because they haven't practiced thrift. Don't be afraid of "the budget"—it's the beginning of thrift!

THE RURAL CLUB MEETING.

On the afternoon of January 28, the Rural Club held an open meeting in the Association room of the Normal School.

The opening number on the program was a song, "America," which was followed by an introductory talk by Miss Stubbs. In this talk she expressed her feeling about rural work and the importance of it.

A report on "The Rural School" was made by Oley Helm in which she set forth some of the needs of the rural schools and why they are not adequate to keep young people in the country. Following this report Evelyn and Ella Barnes sang several selections, with guitar accompaniment, by Pattie Garrett.

Helen Skillman gave a report on "The Rural Home" and brought out some of the points for an ideal home. In connection with this a report was read by Frances Mac-Kan on "The Ideal Home."

After the various reports had been made the club was favored with several selections by the Mandolin and Guitar Club.

The closing number on the program was a discussion on "What the Rural Club Can Do to Make Better Known the Importance of its Work," and "What Rural Sociology has Meant to the Class." After several points on the discussion had been brought out, the meeting adjourned.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

For some time the Y. W. C. A. has planned to have an industrial girl to come here and talk to the students. Hoping to succeed in this effort the Y. W. C. A. has this week tried to prepare the way for such a girl's visit. The vesper programs have been devoted to discussions on "The Woman in Industry."

On Wednesday night Margaret Lawson introduced the subject and told us of "The Woman in Industry Before the War."

Julia Alexander took up the subject Thursday night and gave a very interesting talk on "The Woman in Industry During the War," telling of the ready answer the women gave to the call for laborers to take the places of the men who had gone to the front. She discussed the changes due to the admittance of so many women to industrial work, and the steps the Y. W. C. A. took in improving conditions for these girls.

Friday night Anna Vries closed the subject with the discussion of "The Women in Industry After the War," stating the present industrial problems and the needs of the woman in industry.

The question that now confronts us is, "What can we as women and as teachers do to improve these conditions and to help the women in industry?" Many things have been done for them but many things remain to be done and the question now is "Who shall do them?" As future teachers, the students here have not only the responsibility of doing things themselves, but also that of influencing others. Therefore doesn't a part of the solution to that question rest with them?

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Argus Literary Society held its regular roll call meeting on January 22, 1921.

Parts of the Constitution were read, and a short talk was given on "The Responsibility and Duty of Each Member of the Literary Society," by the President, Park Morris.

The new members took the oath of membership.

A paper on "The Summary of the Novel Through the Eighteenth Century" was read by Annie Alvis.

A solo, "Roses of Picardy," was rendered by Mary Lindsey, accompanied by Paudette McKinley.

Elizabeth Moring gave a very interesting synopsis of different types of novels.

As the Critic was absent, Dorothy Shaeffer acted as substitute.

Miss Spear was chosen as the honorary member of the society, and Mary Boeck was elected Censor.

There being no other business the meeting adjourned.

A LETTER TO THE ROTUNDA

[The following is another letter received from an alumna who expresses her opinion about "The Rotunda."]

Clarksville, Va., January 25, 1921.

My dear Helen Spillman,

Did you ever meet a person and before you knew her very well, decide you could never have for her a genuine warmth of friendship? (That's the way I felt about "Rotunda"). And then the more you saw of that person, and the more you saw in that person, the more eagerly you looked forward to her next visit, and the more ashamed you felt of yourself for such hasty judgment! Well, that is the way I feel about "Rotunda" now, and want to apologize for I feel that it is serving as a very strong link between S. N. S. and her absent daughters. The feeling of resentment I had at first was that it grew out of the ashes of the "Focus," and I did not want to see the "Focus" die. There is a type of literature in a college magazine which cannot be obtained in a paper, and S. N. S. should always produce that type of literature. Can we not hope that in a year or two at least, there will be a revived "Focus" and an ever progressing "Rotunda"?

In a recent issue you asked for the addresses of several alumnae, three of which I am glad to supply:

With every good wish for the success of your publication and the hard-working staff. I am,

Sincerely,

M. SHANNON MORTON.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Mary A. Holt, (1912), has in the October number of the American Red Cross Magazine a most interesting article entitled "The Color Guard." It is descriptive of her Americanization work in the Phoebus school, is stimulative and suggestive, and received favorable comment from Commissioner P. P. Claxton.

Misses Annie Alvis, Esther Kline and Parke Morris are alumnae who have returned to the school for post graduate work this session. Miss Morris is specializing in Music Supervision; Misses Alvis and Kline are working towards the B. S. Degree.

[December was a great month for marriages. Witness the following:

Miss Elizabeth M. Hancock, (1915) of Scottsville, to Mr. William Daniel Davis, of Washington.

Miss Susie Hancock, (1915), to Mr. Walter Scott, of Appomattox.

Miss ZoZo Dixon, (1916), to Mr. King Hanson Mustard, of Oakesdale, Washington.

Miss Virginia Coverston, (1919), to Mr. Daniel Harman.

Miss Louis Geddy, (1912), became Mrs. Julius Alexander Machie, of Winston-Salem, N. C., on Nov. 24th.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Farmville, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TONIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee - 4:30 P. M. Night - 7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

NOTICE!

BIG REDUCTION SALE!!
JAN. 30—FEB. 7.
LESSON PLANS, OBSERVATIONS,
PROFESSIONAL AIR—MANY VARIETIES.
SUPPLY LIMITED—COME EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH!
CALL AT ANY FALL TEACHER'S ROOM or
DR. TIDYMAN'S OFFICE TRAINING SCHOOL.

TO THE NEW STUDENT TEACHERS.

To you who are entering the T. S.,
Don't worry 'bout what you'll say,
There'll be questions by the millions
To answer the very first day.

It's "What's your name?" and "Where you from?"

And "Is Miss Jones your sister?"
"Do you ever give hard tests?"
And "Have you got a Mr.?"

"Do you like Dr. Tidyman,
Or are you seared as you can be?"
"Last time I got A on Science,
What are YOU gonna give me?"

"How do you fix your hair like that?"
"Do you roll it up on pins?"
"I betcha I've seen that dress before.
You got it down at Blankins!"

But don't let this discourage you,
Be an optimist for once,
There're others on the same old seat,
YOU are not the only dunce!

—M. C., '21.

THE LAMENT OF A FRESHMAN.

You know, it is the funniest thing
How teachers here at school,
Simply seem to look for ways
To prove you are a fool!

Why, back at home I used to think
I had a lot of sense—
But at S. N. S. I'm daily shown
That I am simply dense!

I used to answer up in class,
And everything I'd say
Would be accepted as a "thought"—
Or almost—anyway!

But here, I sit and ponder long
And then I start to speak—
When some one else'll start right in—
And of all the awful cheek!—

She'll sit right there and tell the thing
I'd started in to say!
And then the teacher looks all "grum"
Yet pitying, in a way—

And say, Er—well—that's absurd!!
And then I thank my stars
That for that period at least
I didn't say a word!

But what is puzzling me is this:
Am I really awfully dense?

Or do they really try to make
You think you have no sense?

JOKES.

Teaching Senior to 6th Grade Pupil: "Willie, who was the president of the U. S. during the Civil War?"

Willie: "John D. Rock."

Teacher: "Why Willie!"

Willie, making another attempt: "Robert E. Lee."

Teacher: "No, no."

Willie, again: "Billie Sunday."

Teacher: "Stop, Willie, you are just guessing. It was Abraham Lincoln."

Willie, brightening up: "That's who I was fixing to say next."

Teaching Senior to Junior: "How do you all get them middies on, do you step in 'em?"

"I suppose your motto is, 'Make hay while the sun shines,'" remarked the summer boarder who tries to be genial.

"It used to be," answered Farmer Corn-tossel. "But lately I have been a little bit careful not to mention sunshine for fear the hired man would insist on having extra help to hold an umbrella over him while he worked."

All the world loves a lover who knows enough not to perform in public.

Let us consider now the egg, which, in spite of its popularity, never gets too fresh.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candles, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1888

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

ROTUNDA

Vol. 1. No. 14.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 11, 1921.

The Imperative Need for Rural Departments in Normal Schools and Other Institutions that Attempt the Preparation of Teachers and Other Leaders.

The following is a summary of Miss Stubbs' talk at the Interstate Conference on Rural Life and Education at Daytona Beach, Florida, January 20-24.

The majority of the rural communities of our nation have been bled white. The country has already given too freely of its own leadership for safety. Yet the shifting from the country to town and city still goes on at a rapid rate. To the annual army of vigorous youths, must be added large numbers of leading families, who are attempting to solve their problems by fleeing from the country. Over 75 per cent of the nation's leaders have been country bred. Especially is this true of the preachers and teachers. There has been a tendency to view with alarm the quantity of the shift, but to me the quality is the alarming aspect from the country's and nation's standpoint.

An examination of school statistics for the United States will give us an idea of the standards in the rural teaching profession. The following facts will not only reveal an alarming condition in public schools of America, but will also indicate a general social deterioration. Of 300,000 teachers in one and two-room schools in the United States, about 50 per cent. have some high school training, and about 2 per cent. have some normal school training. There are 100,000 children taught by teachers who have not more than a seventh grade education. Each year there are required 90,000 new rural teachers. This need is met by: (1) 16,000 high school pupils; (2) 2 per cent. of the 22,000 annual graduates from normal schools, or 440; and, (3) 15,000 normal school "drop-outs," making a total of about 32,000 with some preparation in or above high schools. This leaves about 38,000 without any high school preparation. Only a most negligible number of those prepared have had any special training for rural teaching and leadership. It is clearly seen that our institutions are failing to a great extent to serve effectively their rural constituency, which represents 50 per cent. of the national population and national wealth, and furnishes over 50 per cent. of the public school population and about 75 per cent. of the normal school population.

We have been so interested in the economic and material side of country life, we have failed to see, as we should, the alarming social needs. Our experts have identified the soil robbers and every means is being used to make soil builders of them. Great interest has been taken in the pure-bred hog and other stock. If the man who takes from the soil its native fertility and Concluded on third page.

TO THE NEW GIRLS.

To you—the fifteen new girls who are entering the Normal this session for the first time—the student body wishes to extend a hearty welcome. We are a wide-awake student body, active in all phases of school life and interested in our fellow students. We are particularly interested in you because we are anxious for you to like S. N. S. and enjoy the life here. We are able to sympathize with you and appreciate the difficulties and problems which you are now facing. We know just how hard it was to leave home, how strange and new everything seemed the first few days, how complicated the halls and rooms appeared, how perplexing was the ordeal of classification and scheduling, and how "small" one feels when thrown, for the first time among six hundred other girls. All of these are hard but only temporary trials.

There is no need for us to tell you of the wonderful things in store for you—the joys of new friendships, the intellectual benefits and the great privilege that is yours in being here. You have doubtless already experienced some of these things. Our one desire is to welcome you into our midst. We are, in organization, one large family, with the same hopes, desires, and purposes. It is only when we forget our family relationship one to another than we find ourselves out of harmony with our surroundings. As "old girls" we wish to extend to you through The Rotunda a most cordial welcome, and the wish that you will find at S. N. S. the happiness and school spirit which we now claim as ours.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Student Body Conference.

Dr. Ryland Knight of Nashville, Tenn., will hold a three days' conference beginning February 16-18.

Miss Elsie B. Heller, representative of the field headquarters of the Young Woman's Christian Association at Richmond, will also be with us at that time.

Student Volunteer Conference.

A student volunteer conference will be held at Salem the 18th, 19th and 20th of February.

Our five student volunteers who are: Elizabeth McClung, Mary Finch, Jane Bacon, Katharine Hancock and Isabel Flippin, have the privilege of attending the conference in addition to our quota of ten from our school. The ten who were chosen from the student body to attend are: Sue Brown, Frances Mackan, Susie Scott, Merle Davis, Hattie Gresham, Elizabeth Moring, Otie Helm, Mary Garland, Sue Puckett, Helen Patten.

Our representative on the program is Jane Bacon who will talk on "Why I plan to be a missionary."

Mission Classes.

Every spring we organize mission classes that run through a period of six weeks, meeting weekly. We, as Normal School students, should take advantage of the opportunity offered in these classes. We are going out into the State to teach and we need to be trained for leadership. The mission classes will mean the widening of our horizon and no leader should have a narrow point of view. Through the study of the needs of others we lend growth to our spiritual development and strengthen our prayer life.

The classes offered are Second, Third and Fourth Professions:

"Money, the Acid Test"—Mr. L. Bell. A study of stewardship, of money, time, character and life.

"The Church and the Community"—Miss Stubbs.

"Medical Missions"—Mr. Brituale.

Juniors, Third and Fourth Year High School.

"The Near East, the Cross-roads of the World"—Miss Smithy.

"The Bible and Missions"—Mrs. Bretuale.

"Social Problems and the East"—Miss E. Spear.

These classes begin February 8th, meeting at 6:30 on Tuesday evenings in classrooms as assigned.

THE NEW CLASS.

Mr. Leon Bell, of the Department of Education, has started a new course in philosophy as one of the electives of the third and fourth professional years. In spite of the inconvenience of the periods at which it is scheduled, the work is proving to be very popular. Among those in attendance are several members of the Faculty. But that doesn't necessarily mean that the class is a soft snap, for a third professional student was heard to remark, "It's awfully deep. I got out over my head."

Well, that is the best way to learn to swim—or to think either.

MASQUERADE BALL.

On Friday evening, February 4th, in the Normal School gymnasium, a masquerade ball was given for the benefit of the starving Armenians. The music rendered by the Hamplen-Sidney orchestra was so alluring that it called forth representatives from the animal kingdom as well as practically all nations of the earth. A prize was given to the girl most attractively costumed. The judges were Messrs. Bretnell, Coyner and Lear. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Coyner. He announced "Miss Gott got it." Miss Gott was dressed in a becoming red gipsy costume.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Tucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

It is with great interest and enthusiasm, but never the least feeling of diffidence, that the new Rotunda staff enters upon its duties for the coming year and herewith publishes its first issue of the "Rotunda." We feel the responsibility and privilege that is ours in doing our part toward publishing a school paper—a paper, which expresses the thoughts, actions, and desires of the students and through constructive criticism and frank praise, strives to do its part toward directing these same thoughts and actions. We are taking the places of the girls who have given life to the "Rotunda" and have succeeded most creditably in launching it upon its course. It will be the duty of the new staff to steer the paper steadily onward toward the harbor of Success.

But we are new and inexperienced in the work that is before us, and as the "Rotunda" must grow in order to meet most efficiently the needs of the school, just so the new staff must grow to meet the needs of the "Rotunda." Figuratively speaking we are at that "awkward age" of youth when we feel conscious of our shortcomings and inabilities and are axed by the responsibility placed upon us. But with the help of the old staff to whom we are greatly indebted in this number) and the co-operative spirit of the student body we can already feel that spirit of encouragement which inspires us to put forth our best efforts.

ME AND MYSELF—YOU AND YOURSELF.

Are you thinking about Dr. Knight's message? On February 16th, 17th and 18th we, as students, are going to have a most unusual opportunity of attending a three-day conference with Dr. Knight on "Christian Education." We are having brought to our very doors the opportunity to think about what we believe and how we feel about God, the church, faith, prayer and life; an opportunity which only ten or fifteen girls in the student body have already found helpful through other conferences. Dr. Knight's mission is to help us to find just where we are in our religious life and where we should be.

In the hurry and bustle of our school life do we stop to think enough? Do we stop in the midst of our work and pleasures to think enough about God and our relationship to Him? Do we know ourselves? Jesus said:

"Man, if thou knowest what thou doest happy art thou." We cannot know ourselves without finding God and having found Him, submitting to His will. Have we found Him? Do we know Him? How can we find and know Him better? We can find Him through prayer, talking with Him, communing with Him and receiving strength and power through His spirit. Then, too, we can find Him and know Him by thinking ourselves into other girls' lives—thinking in terms of others for whom we are and whom we serve." Dr. Knight will be here to help each one of us to get a clearer conception of God, a stronger hold on our faith and a more satisfying knowledge of prayer. Can you afford to miss these talks?

We, as students, are preparing for life, preparing for our vocation. In preparing for any vocation we should first, know ourselves; secondly, know the needs of the world in which we live; and thirdly, absorb the maximum training possible. These three responsibilities place upon us as individuals the obligation to THINK. Think and know ourselves, think and know the needs of our fellow-students and think and know about how we can utilize every opportunity for training which is presented to us. Remember that thinking is a service. Shall we begin to think now?

Morning Watch Program—February 13-20.

Each morning during the week of Dr. Knight's conference, morning watch will be held in the Association room. Everyone is invited to come.

Sunday "Service"—Ruby Paulette.
Monday "Faith"—Helen Patton.
Tuesday "Love"—Agnes Fulcher.
Wednesday "Prayer"—Katharine Gable.
Thursday "Grace"—Elizabeth Finch.
Friday "Hope"—Gwendolyn Winglet.
Saturday "Gratitude"—Mary Flippo.
Sunday "Stewardship"—Mary Stephen son.

JANUARY GRADUATES.

The members of the January graduating class, with the exception of Misses Lucy Howell and Eva Mostelles, who are by preference remaining at home, have already found good positions out in the State. They are located at the following places: Virgie Dugger, at Yale, Va.; Madeline Forbes, at Petersburg, Va.; Paulette McGinley at Dublin, Va.; Clifford O'Brien at Windsor, Va.; Margaret Lawson at Hampden, Va.; Madeline Thomas at Yale, Va.; Annie Time at Hopewell, Va.; Edith Williamson, at Charlottesville, Va. While we are sorry that these girls have gone we are glad that Farmville has once again nobly responded to the urgent call for teachers; and we all join in wishing each of them all the success possible in their chosen work.

I once knew
A girl
Who was so modest
That she wouldn't
Even do
Improper fractions.

Exchange.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

We take great pleasure in announcing that the address to the Alumnae on the evening of Saturday, June 4th, will be delivered by Miss Lula Oeillee Andrews, of Lafayette, Ala. Miss Andrews is known to a large number of the Alumnae as she was a member of our Faculty for fourteen years, having left in 1912 to take a course at Teachers College, New York; after which she went to George Peabody College for Teachers, as a member of the Faculty.

Miss Andrews is spending this winter in her home in Alabama.

Miss Helen Gordon Wimbish (1915), was a January bride. She is now Mrs. Andrew Newton Hawley, of Williamson, W. Va.

Subscriptions to The Rotunda continue to arrive as alumnae and others become acquainted with the paper. The following quotation from a letter written by a friend of the school who is not an alumna shows what the paper means to those who are absent: "Yesterday when I went to the mail-box it was quite cold, but when I found The Rotunda there I forgot all about being cold and stood there reading the news. Then when I reached the house I did not put the paper down until I had read every word."

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS.

For the past few weeks the Training School has been carrying out a Better Health program.

On Friday, January 28, Miss Rice, the country nurse, talked to the school children about the necessity of the right kind of food for the building up of their bodies.

During the school week beginning January 31 to February 5, the pupils up through the sixth grade copied breakfast menus which they were asked to take home to their mothers to prepare for them. As another step in promoting better health each child was asked to bring a clean white handkerchief to school every morning.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RECORD FOR TERM ENDING JANUARY 28.

According to the secretaries' report the following girls have been perfect in attendance: Alice Ezell, Maury Krizzard, Ethel Tomlinson, Teresa Scott, Cordie Woodbridge, Hattie Gresham, Katherine Hancock, Carolyn Cogbill, Hope Drexey, Cleo Everett, Mary Bolen, Marian Comper, Edith Harrell, Clara Crocker, Grace Oakes, Addie Wells, Emily Eley, Kitty Cole, Nina Culpeper, Copelia Dixon, Winnie Flemming, Agnes Fulcher, Reva Graves, Maudie Glenn, Mary Holmway, Julia Alexander, Garnett Henderson, Theresa Lambert, Edith Marshall, Charlotte O'Neal, Inez Prince, Mary Stephenson, Lucy McIlwaine, Gwendolyn Wright, Susie Scott, Lillian Williams, Louise Watkins, Lorie Mae Walker, Thelma Whitehurst, Elsie Enbanc, Virginia Sizemore, Lillian Pool, Curtis Briggs, Virginia Morrison, Ellen Turner, Ruth Willan, Margaret West.

According to the Secretaries' report the following girls have only missed one Sunday: Antoinette Parker, Patty Jeter, Edith Trevilian, Elizabeth Apperson, Louise Doyle, Merle Davis, Helen Draper, Fannie Maynard, Louise Scott, Lorena Wilcox, Etta Bell Walker, Margaret Lawson, Sue Brown, Carolyn Harrell, Ellen Carlson, Mary Zowdley, Julia Asher, Mary Sue Burrow, Chlorine Brite, Mary Bassett, Ethel Glenn, Burdette Bagley, Gracie Davis, Ruth Davis, Ruth Jones, Elmer Agee, Mildred O'Brien, Virgie Wade, Annie Tume, Fannie Maynard, Marian Asher, Louise Cooke, Amanda Myers, Elizabeth Apperson, Ethel Cofer, Lucile Dunn, Mary Finch, Ruth Fuqua, Helen Skillman, Elizabeth Meredith, Grace Smith, Lucille Stone, Sarah Stubblefield.

MISS STUBBS' TALK.

fails to restore plant food for future crops is called a soil robber, then it seems most logical and just to call the institution or institutions that accept from the country its native leaders for life preparation and fails to restore a sufficient number and type to insure future crops of native leaders and fine citizenship, should be called a social robber.

It is high time we make sure that the pure bred hog has a high bred master. No educational institution can afford to ignore or neglect the obligation and opportunity that is theirs. These institutions furnish the strategic place and time. Here we find a mobilized army of vigorous young men and women earnestly seeking guidance and preparation for life service. What a glorious opportunity to direct and prepare country boys and girls who can and will go back to enrich the economic and social life from which they come! Their preparation should not wean them from—as is the frequent indictment—but win them for country life work. It is dangerous for us to pursue any longer this short-sighted policy of killing the goose for the golden egg! The army intelligence test ranked the country boys in the army in fourth place in intelligence. Without the country as a source of leaders there will be a national shortage. With all fine school laws, splendid buildings and equipment that may exist now or in the future, the fact remains that the well prepared teacher and rural leader is indispensable.

That cornerstone of our boasted democracy is in danger: "Civilization is no stronger than its weakest link. The weakest link in the nation's education and civilization is the rural school. If the rural school fails, rural civilization will fail, if rural civilization fails, American civilization will fail."

A challenge to every institution!

How doth the gentle landress,
Search out the weakest points,
And always scrape the buttons off,
At the most strategic points.

—Exchange.

Ruby: I always sleep with my gloves on.
That's what makes my hands so soft.
June: H'm! Do you sleep with your hat on also?

Anny: Gee, my head is hot!

Lucie: I thought I smelt wood burning!

VICTROLAS and RECORDS J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO. Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous
QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee 4:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portrait, Art, Stage and Styles
School Work a Specialty
Young People's Studio
Satisfactory Results at the Lowest
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISS RUGG'S MESSAGE.

Miss Rugg, field representative of the Potomac Division of the American Red Cross, addressed the student body in chapel on Wednesday morning, February 2nd. She spoke of the democratic spirit of the Red Cross which has as its aim serving locally, nationally and internationally, and whose symbol represents the Cross of the Church and our national flag. Miss Rugg reminded us of the great work done by this organization during the war and pointed out that the Red Cross is at present actively engaged in every field of service. The purpose of Miss Rugg's visit was to call our attention to the Near East problem. Not only are the children of Armenia starving, but they are without proper clothing. In her tour among the colleges Miss Rugg has called for volunteers among the students to make garments for Armenian children—3,500,000 of whom are orphans. A number of the students in our institution have pledged themselves to make one garment and we feel confident that still others will offer a portion of their time and energy for this work. The materials are to be supplied by the Red Cross—it is our opportunity to use them. Let us remember the words of Him who said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto Me."

TRY IT.

Dearest
The love I have expressed to you
Is false and I find my indifference to you Increases daily. The more I see you the more
I dislike you.
I feel myself in every way disposed to Hate you. I assure you that I never intended to Love you. Your last conversation has by no means
Impressed me with the high standard of your character.
Your temper would make me entirely too unhappy.
And if you and I were united I would expect nothing but the Hatred of my friends and the everlasting displeasure of being with you. I have indeed a heart
To bestow, but I do not desire you to think it
At your service. I could not give it to anyone more Inconsistent and capricious and be Capable of doing justice to my family and myself.
I hope you are aware of the fact that I speak sincerely and I hope you will do me the favor of
Keeping away from me in the future and not Answering this letter as your letters are always full of Impudence and have not a shadow of Wit and good sense. Believe me
I am sorry to say it is impossible for me
To be

Your affectionate sweetheart.

P. S. I suppose you were inquisitive and read all of my letter. I only intended for you to read every other line.

—Ex.

"THIS IS THE LIFE."

When professors are hard and thumbs come fast,
And all the world seems cruel,
We moan and moan around the town
And fuss about the school.
When other girls have dates
For the movies now and then,
And you have never heard from him,
Since "daisies won't tell" when,
When Father sends no fifty bucks,
But twenty-five instead;
It makes you feel so deathly sick
You want to go to bed.
And after that you go to sleep
While at home they dance,—and then
You doze for just a little while
And hear that sweet Big Ben.
It is so cold you almost freeze
When you stick out your head;
And yet you know
That means get up,
And off to classes go.

JOKES.

By Request.

Miss M——z: (to jazz Victrola player at movies): "Do you play anything by request?"
Jazz player (highly honored): "Certainly."

Miss M——z: "Then kindly play dominoes while I enjoy the picture."

Susie: "Did you see the orange-ade?"

Mary: "No! But I heard the apple 'sass'."

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Whose Rotunda are you Reading?

THE ROTUNDA

If you think this is old news, then give US SOME NEW NEWS.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 16.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 15, 1921.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS.

Dr. Knight's Conference.

For several weeks we have been planning and praying for the coming of Dr. Knight. This week our hopes have been realized, and we have had him with us. The conference was wonderful and we hope and pray that much good will come from it as we are very sure it will. Dr. Knight is not only a splendid man but also a splendid speaker, and from his lectures we derived both benefit and enjoyment.

We were also very glad to have with us. Miss Heller, secretary of the South Atlantic Field.

Both Dr. Knight and Miss Heller held individual conferences and group conferences with the Cabinet Student Committee, Mission Band, etc., and from these conferences we gained much valuable information for the carrying on of our work.

One of the most interesting features of the conference was the Question Hour, held in the association room. Thursday night. Questions had previously been dropped into a box and these Dr. Knight answered for us. Questions were also asked from the floor and many subjects of interest were discussed, among the topics were: "Theory of Evolution," "Sunday Study," "How to make more people enjoy Sunday school and church," "Dancing," "The Unpardonable Sin," and many others, the answers to which have helped to clear up many questions in our minds and to show us the right course of action. The interest taken in this meeting is shown by the fact that many girls remained during a part of study hour.

Notice.

The "Y" store now has for sale beautiful S. N. S. stationery. Gold seal, $1.00 per box. Blue seal, 70c. per box. Come, see and buy. "The High School Club of the Young Woman's Christian Association."

Last spring the High School Club was organized and this fall it came into active being. The club is a definite branch of the Y. W. C. A. Frances Jordan is chairman and with the help of her committee, Constance Whitlock, Grace Beard and Lily Thornhill, the High School Club was organized. The members of the club have done active work the entire year.

The club has two meetings every month, the first a business meeting, the second a social meeting. These are held on Friday afternoons at 4:30.

The girls have definite social service work. They helped the Normal School girls to baskets for the poor at Thanksgiving, and a Christmas they carried a basket to Aunt Pokey Hobson. They have recently joined to help the Junior Auxiliary in carrying out some of their plans for definite service. The officers of the club are: President, Louise Nunn; vice-president, Margaret Crawley; secretary, Louise Richardson; treasurer, Agnes Watkins.

The club had a lovely Valentine party in the association room. Hearts decorated the curtains and the lights were covered with red paper, giving a very pretty effect in the darkened room. Two contests, one "Questions About Valentines," the other "Hunting for Valentines," were very much enjoyed. The prize for each was an attractive Valentine. The refreshments carried out the decorative scheme. Cakes iced in white and decorated with red hearts were served with pink lemonade. The girls played and had a very good time, and, in order to give some of their Valentine fun to others they packed a large cake heart and some of the heart decorations in a box which they inclosed in the Normal girls' regular basket to Aunt Pokey Hobson. They carried her the basket, sang for her and made her very happy.

OFFICE NEWS.

Seven dollars have been paid in this week on the building fund.

Two girls have already registered at the office for admission to the Normal next fall.

Dr. Jarman will leave sometime next week for Atlantic City, N. J., where he will attend the National Council of Normal School Presidents.

The records for last term have been finished and filed away, although the work began only a short while ago. Considering the fact that there were about six thousand grades to be recorded, and that work on them was done only in the mornings, we feel justified in saying, "Some speed."

TOWN NEWS.

The funeral of Mr. J. L. Richardson took place Monday, February 14th, in the Methodist Church. Mr. Richardson's death was a shock to his friends.

Mr. Joseph Jarman, spent the week-end with his father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jarman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, from Danville, spent the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. Jarman.

Miss Munoz and her adopted daughter, Harriet Judson Munoz, left Tuesday for a short trip to New York.

MODERN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT POPULAR.

There has been a gratifying increase in the enrollment in the Department of Modern Languages for the coming term.

Of the students taking the professional course more than one hundred are enrolled in the Department of Modern Languages.

Under the influence and direction of Miss Estelle Smithey much original work has been done. For a number of years the students have been encouraged to write verses for special occasions and reasons.

On Valentine Day, the first professional class in French had a very attractive lesson. Each student brought an original valentine verse to class. These verses d'amoureux were so clever that we want to give you the benefit of a few of them. The Spanish classes also wrote attractive rhymes, and we only wish we had room for some of them.

Tu est comme la rose blanche.
La rose est une belle fleur.
Donnez-moi ton amour.
Donnez-moi ton cœur.

—Virginia Hardin.

Parfume des fleurs et adorne de dentelle
Etait le valentin du vieux temps;
Et mainte douce demoiselle
Lisait les doux vieux rimes
De cœur tremblant.

—Grace Ames.

Tes cheveux sont d'or,
Tes yeux comme le ciel bleu.
Je t'aime bien, O mon valentin,
Veuux-tu m'aimer aussi un peu?

HARRISONBURG WINS - 52 TO 17.

We experienced defeat in the basketball game with Harrisonburg on February 14th. Nevertheless we feel confident that our team put up a good fight and know that this defeat will only be an incentive for future improvement. Already we are looking forward with much expectation to the next game.

If you know anything

Let the Rotunda know that you know something;

If you don't know anything

The Rotunda will know that you know nothing.

WHICH ARE YOU?

A power or a problem?
A promoter or a provoker?
A giver or a getter?
A worker or a worrier?
A friend or a fault-finder?
A helper or a hinderer?

The Triangle.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, Editor in Chief
VIRGINIA BEASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
John Alexander and Geraldyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Horrell Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL

It is good for youth to know what other youth is planning and accomplishing. That "two heads are better than one" is a proverb with which we are all familiar and in which we have reason to believe. For this reason it is desirable that students should not only acquaint themselves with the thoughts and actions of their fellow-students, but also keep informed of the student activities in other institutions. The "Rotunda" is exchanging with magazines and papers from a number of the leading schools of the South. This exchange of periodicals, we hope, will bring about an exchange of ideas and enable us to make use of suggestions offered by others to improve our own school. Aside from this benefit we believe that through such an exchange we will come in closer contact with the students of other institutions and develop a fellow feeling for, and an understanding of our brother and sister students who are facing the same problems that we are facing but perhaps solving them in a different and more efficient way. Since school publications relate the actions and express the ideas of the students by whom they are published it is desirable that these publications be read by other students. The magazines and papers received by the editor may be read by all. They are to be found each week upon the top shelf of the Y. W. C. A. bookcase in the reading room. Make yourself acquainted with your fellow students in other schools and colleges, learn how they solve their problems and enjoy their jokes.

We often become so absorbed in our school work that we fail to take advantage of the pleasure we might so easily get from spending a few minutes of our spare time in the library. There is a most delightful outcome work to be done in the library. We cannot overestimate the value of books. Let the subjects that we are studying, reading the environments and ideas of others, and that the authors of our time have bequeathed are outlined on these subjects to a great degree.

Reading is one of a wider culture in our course of study, reading awakens in us a social consciousness and opens up many avenues leading to real social efficiency.

It was said by some one long ago that the best companion anyone can have is a good book. How very truly may we choose our most intimate friends from the treasure-house of magazines and books in our school. Our reading room is supplied with the best literary productions of our day. The shelves of our library are filled with books that we should read.

When Bacon said, "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few are to be chewed and digested," he failed to mention the "cutting up" in preparation. Whether it was in a noble effort to more quickly digest than some of our colleagues have used the "knife and fork" process, we do not know, but it is a fact that the library has suffered from many severed pages. We should not be so greedy as to deprive others of literary nourishment.

DID YOU KNOW—

That there is a door in this school, which any girl can open if she wants to? Would you like to know more about it?

Every Sunday afternoon immediately after dinner, a group of girls gather together in the association room to spend a half hour discussing the topic, which, to them, is of supreme importance—that of missions. In order that different phases of this great subject be at least touched upon the programs for the month are as follows: First Sunday, Home Missions; second Sunday, Foreign Missions; third Sunday, Biography of a Missionary; fourth Sunday, Bible Lesson.

Through these programs the windows are thrown open, and looking out, one catches a vision of the world, its joys and sorrows, its needs and opportunities, at home and abroad. Tasks of the week seem easier, burdens lighter and the future full of the hope and anticipated happiness of service because of these short Sunday afternoon meetings together. The group disbands, going forth, "not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

ALUMNAE NOTES.

On Thursday afternoon, February 10th, the faculty alumnae entertained the Prince Edward County alumnae in the Normal School parlors. Bits of news about several graduates who are becoming prominent in one way or another were exchanged, and the successful inauguration of some new activities was described. Dr. Jarman outlined the plan of the student building in which renewed interest has been manifested lately, distributing pictures of what will be one of the most imposing features of the school when completed.

At a business meeting last week of the Prince Edward Chapter of the Alumnae Association, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. H. E. Burtow, vice-president, Mrs. H. B. Schuler, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Louise Woodruff. Plans are now being formulated for the June meeting of the Alumnae Association, a large attendance of graduates being expected at that time.

Mrs. Mary St. Clair Woodruff, at one time director of the Training School and more recently Y. W. C. A. secretary, is now the state organizer of Parent-Teacher Associations in Alabama.

A certain florist's sign reads: "Arthur van Derblumenscheuer. Say it with Flowers." American Legion Weekly.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Argus Notes.

The Argus Literary Society met Tuesday afternoon, February 15th, at 2:15. An unusually interesting program, based upon the modern novel, was given. After the roll call and the reading of the minutes "His Family," by Pool, was discussed in its following phases:

Carolyn Rankin pointed out the prominent features of a good novel. The comparison of the schools in the time of Nicholas Nickleby with the schools described in "His Family" was made by Anna Vries. A chapter from this novel was then read by Virginia Hardin.

Virginia Wall's piano solo was received with hearty applause.

As Anna Vries, our critic, was on the program, Mary Lindsey was appointed to serve in her place.

The only business brought up was the election of a consort. Agnes Baptiste was chosen to fill this place.

The program was so much enjoyed that the forty-five minutes passed very quickly.

PIERIAN NOTES.

The first regular program meeting of the Pierian Literary Society was held at 2:15 on Tuesday, February 15th, in Room K. The vice-president, Miss Helen Draper, announced that the course of study which had been chosen for the term was "Child Literature, including literature written for children and that written by children."

Then the following program was rendered:

1. Brief sketch of Kipling's Life—Pauline Timberlake.

2. "The First Letter" from the "Just-So Stories"—Christine Armstrong.

3. Sketch of Opal Whitney's Life—Caroline Cogbill.

4. Selections from the "Story of Opal"—Helen Rogerson.

CUNNINGHAM NOTES.

The Cunningham Literary Society has selected as its course of study for this term a magazine study of current literature and current events. The periodicals selected for this purpose were the Atlantic Monthly, Review of Reviews, National Geographic, Harper's, Asia, Literary Digest, Current Opinions, Outlook, Independent, and Saturday Evening Post. The members of the society have been divided into five study-groups, one monthly and one weekly magazine being assigned to each group for special reading. The weekly programs are to be presented by the respective groups alternately.

At the meeting on February 15th, Group One, of which Merle Davis is chairman, gave a very interesting program. Readings and reports on articles from the Atlantic and the Independent were given by Julia Clarke, Louise Doyle, Sue Brown, Elizabeth Finch and Marie Baldwin.

ATHENIAN NOTES.

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular meeting on February 15, 1921.

The meeting was called to order, and an interesting talk was given on "The Introduction of the Short Story," by Mildred Dickinson.

A piano solo, "Moonlight on the Hudson," was rendered by Sallie Kie.

A short story, "The Keth of the Elk Folk," read by Elizabeth Williams.

There being no other business, the meeting adjourned.

ME AND MYSELF—YOU AND YOURSELF. (After the Conference.)

"Much has been said about the purpose of Dr. Knight's coming and how we could meet his message. Now that he has come and given to us what was in his heart, we feel that such conceptions will lead to abiding impressions. We believe that such deep and lasting impressions will grow into a greater expression of our love and a more earnest desire to serve. In coming nearer together through our group prayer meetings we have learned to know each other in a more intimate and personal way and with it all have we not come into closer contact and fellowship with the One Greatest Friend "who loveth at all times and whom to know is life eternal?"

MARY STEPHENSON.

"Dr. Knight has given me many lasting impressions. I realize more than ever before the power of personal influence and how easily one can use it for the "Greatest Cause." His expression 'we have partially discarded the old ideals' impressed me especially as he added that what we needed now was the establishing of new standards and ideals. He also brought out that in order to do away with bad or evil it must be counteracted by good."

PATTIE LEE DARDEN.

"Dr. Knight stimulated my thoughts and threw a new light on my ideas which will mean much to me in my life's work."

SUE BROWN.

"I believe sometimes great things that come into our lives mean so much to us, that we just can't exactly visualize what they do mean. Dr. Knight's visit to us has meant to me a clearer conception of God as a loving Father, a Father who uses us individually and collectively to work out His great purpose, a loving Father to whom we can stretch both our hands following the instinct of heart and who will be there waiting for us. I more fully realize that our Father is always ready to hear us when we pray and who will answer according to His will for us."

GWENDOLYN WRIGHT.

"One of the greatest things Dr. Knight did was to get the girls to thinking; thinking as we have never thought before—creating within us a desire to search our own minds and find out our beliefs and unbeliefs."

ELLA JINKINS.

Concluded on last page.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO. Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous
QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee 4:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

Seated, Standing, etc.

Artistic, Modern, etc.

Specials for Weddings, etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $50,000.00

Surplus $100,000.00

E. S. SHELDON, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OGDEN, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

A young student, Joe Johnson, Dr. Rastus's visit has given is not in thought as something of even greater value, for he is made to better realize the needs of the students here as a whole and as individuals and by his heart to heart talks he has enabled us to see the light."

IOLA JOHNSON.

"Our short prayer meetings after light bell have meant more to me than anything else," many girls have remarked. "The girls on our hall enjoyed them so much." That is true for all of us I believe because we lost our fear of letting others into our deepest feelings and thoughts, and grew closer not only to God but also to each other. Dr. Knight made us think, expressed adequately for us what we had been thinking, and our prayer meetings gave us the opportunity for self-expression to each other and to God.

HELEN DRAPER.

FASHION. ✓

There was a little girl,
And she had a little curl,

When suddenly "Oh," she sobbed;
For Fashion's demand
Had put on the ban.

And now the little curl was bobbed.

That same little flirt,
Had a pretty little skirt,

When "Oh," she cried in grief:
For Fashion's decree
Cut short—Oh me!

And the pretty little skirt was brief.

Now listen, little girls,
With your skirts and curls,

And I'll tell you something right:
Fashion's a fake.

And will very often make
True beauty look a sight.

Collegian.

WHY UNCLE SAM?

The use of the term "Uncle Sam" is said to have originated during the Revolutionary War when a man named Sam Wilson was sent as a beef inspector to Troy, N. Y.

He was a very popular man with his men who called him Uncle Sam. All the beef inspected by him was shipped to Elbert Anderson and marked E. A. U. S. Some one asked in a joking manner what those letters meant and the reply was, Elbert Anderson and Uncle Sam.

This interpretation was passed along until it became quite common to refer to all goods marked U. S. as Uncle Sam. —From Washington Post

"Inspection arms!" roared the corporal, Casey, a husky new recruit, dropped his rifle and rolled up his sleeves.

"What are you going to do, fight?"

"No," said Casey. "I thot ye wanted to see if I'd been vaccinated." —American Legion Weekly.

If you want to lose your good name have it engraved on an umbrella.—Life.

JOKES.

Sunday-school teacher: "Now, children, who was sorry the Prodigal Son had returned?"

Bobby: "The fatted calf."

Rastus: "My ole woman drives me crazy 'bout money. All I hear is gimme a dolla, gimme, fifty cents: all de time, money, money."

Mr. Jones: "What does she do with all the money, Rastus?"

Rastus: "Deed I don't kno'. I ain't done give her none yit."

Coming home from Sunday-school, Belle said she had learned a new song, "Bringing in the Cheese."

Student-teacher: "What is a common noun?"

Pupil: "A common noun is not a proper thing."

"Do nuts grow on trees, father?"

"They do, my daughter."

"Then what tree does the doughnut grow on?"

"The pantry, my daughter."

First Old Maid: "The hotel clerk is so flattering.

Second Old Maid: "Do tell."

F. O. M.: "Think of it, he wrote "Suite 16" after my name on the register."

—Exchange.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Glass and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candles, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1888

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

OUR Basket Ball
Team plays Harrisonburg's March 11.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

School spirit; that's what'll get 'em.

Vol. 1. No. 17.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 4, 1921.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Our Girls' Reserve Club.

In the fall of 1919 a Girls' Reserve Club of the Y. W. C. A. was organized at Brown's Church School. This school has three rooms and is about six miles out in the country.

During the school session the club met regularly and when school closed the meetings did not stop, but all during the summer the club of fifteen girls, met. An entertainment was also given during the summer by the club and with the proceeds the girls bought window curtains for the entire school.

This session the Country Life Committee of our association has tried to help these girls in every way: they have added papers and magazines to their reading table and helped the club buy several pictures which they put in the classrooms to beautify them. In the fall our girls carried bulbs to the club, which were planted to be used later on in the classrooms.

The members of the club have become interested in athletics and asked us to help them get a basketball. They secured one-half of the money by an entertainment and we gave them the balance.

In the near future we hope to extend this work to a larger field, trying to organize clubs in several schools. We hope by doing this that we can help the girls to meet the needs of their communities, and develop leaders that will really lead in the community affairs of which they are a part.

RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE.

On Monday evening, February 21st, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the noted lecturer, spoke on "My Vision of America." Those who heard Dr. Wise will testify that his lecture was undoubtedly the best that has been delivered in the Normal School Auditorium this year.

Dr. Wise brought us a message which we, as future teachers, should do our part to "carry on." He stated in forceful and lucid language that the unity of America depends a great deal on how we American-born citizens treat the Americanized immigrants. Are we going to look upon them as foreigners not to be trusted, or shall we treat them as loyal citizens of America to be trusted anywhere and at any time with her interest and welfare. We are citizens of this great country of ours only because we happened to be born here. Our Americanized friends, however, are citizens by choice. Who is to decide which is the better American?

It is not the place in which we are born that makes us loyal Americans, it is the goal to which we are traveling. Many of our native-born citizens need to be "Americanized."

The church, the school, the press, and the theatre are the agencies of Americanization. Let us try to better these agencies, to put into them everything good and to wipe out the evil and vice. Last of all, remember that we cannot Americanize anyone till we ourselves believe in America and that America will not be great if we are governed by fears rather than hopes.

Some striking remarks of Dr. Wise:

"You can't Americanize people by patronizing them. There is only one way and that is through brotherliness."

"I believe that the foreigner should either be kept out of America or taken into the heart of it. I am opposed to seeing him dangle on the outskirts."

"American must mean to us a second religion."

"New York is not a place, but a disease."

"A foreigner becomes an immigrant the moment he puts his foot on American soil, but he does not become an American until he embodies the soul of America!"

"The highest flattery is truth."

MRS. E. E. WILEY.

Mrs. E. E. Wiley, of Emory, Virginia, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Jarman. Death came from bronchial pneumonia following a fall and fractured collar bone which she sustained several weeks ago.

Mrs. Wiley was the widow of the late Dr. E. E. Wiley, of Emory, former president of Emory and Henry College, and was before her marriage Miss Elizabeth Reeves, of Jonesboro, Tennessee. She is survived by one son, Dr. E. E. Wiley, of the Holston Conference of the Southern Methodist Church, one daughter, Mrs. J. L. Jarman, wife of President Jarman of the State Normal School at Farmville, two stepsons, Dr. George E. Wiley, of Bristol, Va., and Mr. Olin F. Wiley, of Boston, Mass., one sister, Miss Blanny Reeves, of Athens, Tennessee, and two brothers, Mr. Will Reeves, of Johnson City, Tennessee, and Mr. R. Reeves, of Asheville, N. C. The body was taken to Emory for burial beside her husband.

Mrs. Wiley was a woman of strong intellect and of unusually deep religious convictions, and always took a prominent part in the work of the Southern Methodist Church of which she was a devoted member. Since Dr. Wiley's death, which occurred in 1893, she has given her time and strength to the maintenance and management of an orphanage at Greenville, Tennessee, established under the auspices of the Holston Conference, but largely the result of her personal effort.

Several years ago, due to failing health and eyesight, Mrs. Wiley was forced to give up this work, and since then has made her home with her children. But her interest in the work never waned.

The alertness of her mental faculties and the keenness of her interest in all things pertaining to human progress and welfare made it hard for those about her to realize that she was failing physically, and so her sudden breakdown came as a distinct shock to her family and friends.

TOWN NEWS.

Miss Louise Bondurant is recovering from an operation at St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond.

The Baptist Choir repeated their sacred concert to a large and appreciative congregation at the church the night of Sunday the 19th.

Esther Kernodle, of the class of '20, has returned from Richmond, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Professor Loving took the blue ribbon at the spelling match in the Armory week before last.

Miss Shannon Morton, a degree graduate of 1919, has accepted a position at the public school and will begin her work immediately as a teacher.

SPORTING NEWS.

The Varsity team brings back many enthusiastic descriptions of the H. N. S. spirit.

Our girls were treated royally by the members of their sister school. They cannot say too much for the personal attractiveness and hospitality of their opponents, and, in spite of the fact that they were defeated in the game, they thoroughly enjoyed every minute of their stay in Harrisonburg.

In arriving there the members of our team were met by a number of the H. N. S. girls who had planned many entertainments and pleasures for the hours that followed.

Of the glowing reports brought back from the trip one of the most outstanding is that of the wonderful school spirit with which the H. girls backed their team. Their team has not only the student body back of them, but also the faculty and town. They have the right spirit. Have we?

On March 11th let's prove to our team that we have.

Heard Over the Rotunda.

He: May I hold your hand for a second?

She: What will you do when the second is up?

He: I will have to have a second hand for that.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.
Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

When asked the best course to pursue in writing for the screen, D. W. Griffith answered: "Think in pictures."

We realize that this way of thinking is indeed essential to an author who would vitalize his story in moving pictures. Could we not apply this term to our manner of everyday thinking? Our mental images are often vague and indefinite, we find it hard to see things as they really are. If we could have our minds so open and free from blemish that the impressions thrown upon them are clear and steady pictures, we would be able to reflect these images, after proper elimination and emphasis, in such logical and rapid succession, that others would see clearly and definitely the things with which we would make them acquainted.

In teaching, a clear vision is essentially important. We will feel the necessity of being specifically "knowing" when we are confronted with the innumerable questions of school children. Can we not work for vital films of knowledge on those topics for which we are sure to have a real need when we go out to teach?

OUR TODAY AND OUR TOMORROWS.

"We are a part of all that we have met."

Several weeks ago the above quotation, along with others of its kind, was printed on a poster and exhibited during Dr. Knight's visit. To some this thought has meant a great deal, although perhaps there are others who never grasped its full meaning. The appropriateness of such a poster at this time was apparent to all, but we have failed to appreciate its real significance if we apply it only to one particular time and incident. If it is true that we are a part of all that we have met, it is also true that we will become a part of all that we shall meet. What we meet or come in contact with depends to a large extent upon ourselves. Do we always place ourselves in such a position or subject ourselves to such influences of which we desire to become a part? Here is indeed food for thought! If we believe that we are the sum of all influences brought to bear upon our lives, and that it is in our power, to a great degree, to choose the forces by which we would be influenced, the problem of what we would make of ourselves weighs heavily upon us. If we always bore this thought in mind—always realized this responsibility—would we not be more thoughtful and cautious than we sometimes have been in the past? We find ourselves becoming self-reproachful when we recall lost opportunities, discarded privileges, and hasty decisions. But let us not grieve over what is past and irretrievable. Let us consider the present in the light of what it will make of us tomorrow.

We are a part of all that we have met and will become a part of all that we are meeting and shall meet. Are the friends that we have chosen constructive in their influence? Are the stories and jokes in which we place ourselves in a position to hear the kind which we desire to become an actual part of our nature? Do the books we read and the pictures we see contribute to our moral development? Are we taking advantage of the many opportunities offered us which will exert a constructive and positive influence on our character? These are all questions which we would do well to consider. How often have we listened to questionable jokes, read risqué novels, seen sensational pictures—the memories of which have refused to be erased from our minds no matter how hard we might wish their oblivion. How often, in meeting our problems of today have we sighed for the return of opportunities neglected yesterday! In our studies, how often do we feel the lack of a foundation which should have been secured in the years gone by? It is our duty to consider what forces are at hand which may influence our lives, and it is our privilege to choose those which we desire to mould our character.

WHAT ELECTIONS ON OUR SCHOOL CAMPUS SHOULD MEAN.

The time is drawing near when our leaders in school activities will be chosen. As it is of the utmost importance that the right girl should be chosen for the right place we should be asking ourselves the questions "What should a leader be?" "What are the qualities characteristic of leadership?"

A leader should be a girl of strong character and principle, representative of the highest degrees of scholarship, citizenship and leadership. She should be a capable girl, interested in the school and its activities and upholding the highest school standards. She should be able not only to pick up the work of her predecessor, but to carry it on.

Then what should be the standard for our choice of leaders? Let us not choose them according to our personal friendships, nor let our choice be biased by our prejudices, but choose our leaders by their personal merits and values.

Leadership in student activities provides the greatest opportunity for development that is presented in school. What are you doing to merit the honor? Let us not only decide on the most suitable girls for each office in school, but try to fit ourselves to hold positions of service and leadership so that we may bring credit to our Alma Mater and training and development to ourselves.

The Way It Really Is.

I used to think I knew I knew.
But now, I must confess,
The more I know I know I know.
I know I know the less.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and

Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

HERE AND THERE.

Miss Virginia Bugg, class of '13, has been acting as temporary assistant to Miss Tabb, helping her with the heavy work of the new session.

Four girls in all have registered at the office for entrance next September. Of these one has already written her intention to complete the degree course.

This week has seen the payment of three dollars more on the Building Fund. This seems a very little bit, but it swells the total paid in to $3547, the payment in full, of the pledges of 175 students.

Farmville wants $100,000 for her student building.

Harrisonburg asks only $50,000. This means we have to work just twice as hard as Harrisonburg. We can do it. Come on, girls, let's win!

Dr. Tidyman will attend the National Council of Normal School Presidents in Atlantic City, the week of the 24th of February. Dr. Jarman was unable to attend this convention because of the death of Mrs. Jarman's mother, Mrs. Wiley.

Rev. Theodore F. Joseph, a prominent lecturer and social welfare worker in charge of Temple Emanuel of Roanoke, was a visitor at the school last week.

The following girls attended the Intermediate exercises and dances at Hampden-Sidney last week-end: Eva Coleman, Elizabeth Gannaway, Virginia Blasigame, Sarah Hughes, Constance Whitlock, Sarah Moore, Elizabeth Williams, Louise Davis, Cecile Ward, Mildred Dickinson, Jacquelin Venable, Hettie Richardson, Frances Michaux, Eliza Davis, Marie Baldwin and Ida Paullett.

Katherine Allen and Mary Lancaster, of '20, attended the dances at Hampden-Sidney last Friday and Saturday.

To the Editor of the "Rotunda."

Dear Madam, I wish to file a protest, as I feel I have been unfairly treated—nay, cheated, strong as the word may seem. Here are the facts:

Passing the door at the foot of these steps, I happened to see the slot, and feeling the need of refreshment, dropped in my penny and stood waiting for the fragrant gum to make its appearance. I waited. I waited. And at last I gave up and went to bed. So, as I have before mentioned, I feel that I have a grievance, and demand the return of my money and that the machine be put in working order immediately.

A TOAST TO THE FLAG.

A tribute in the New Britain Herald (Connecticut), recited in the House of Representatives by Hon. Hubert D. Stephens:

Here's to the Red of it—
There's not a thread of it,
No, nor a shred of it.
From foot to head,
But heroes bled for it.
Faced steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it red.

Here's to the white of it—
Thrilled by the sight of it—
Who knows the right of it
But feels the might of it

Through day and night!
Womanhood's care for it
Made manhood dare for it;
Purity's prayer for it
Kept it so white.

Here's to the Blue of it—
Heavenly view of it,
Star-spangled hue of it,
Honesty's hue of it,
Constant and true,
Stars, stripes and pole of it,
Here's to the soul of it—
Red, White and Blue.

NORMAL SCHOOL SONG.

Time "America For Me."
There is in old Virginia a place we love to be,
Where Appomattox River flows far inland from the sea,
Where the little town of Farmville lies encircled by its hills.
Its leafy lanes all rose perfumed, its voice
the song bird's trills.

Chorus.
Oh, the Normal fair, the Normal dear, the Normal best sing we,
In Farmville town, the hills among, the place
we love to be,
There it stands in green embowered, its columns pure and white,
In the praise of Alma Mater shall her daughters all unite.

We toast the men and women, the Normal faculty,
Who've thought and worked with vision of the better things to be;
Who have been our friends and masters, who have made the Normal's fame.
We'll cheer the roll of now and then, who've
nobly played the game.

We toast the Normal student, today and yesterday;
Our place is at the forefront and 'tis we shall lead the way
From the mountains of Virginia down to the far blue sea.
The Normal's daughters shall be one in fault
and loyalty.

Pannie Littleton Kline (1889).

THE LATEST SONG HITS.

"Love in Lilac Time," "In a Persian Garden,"
"Go Feather Your Nest," "I'd Like To Do It,"
"Under the Cuban Moon," "Margie" is "Whispering"
"A Young Man's Fancy" "In My Baby's Arms," "Darling!"
"Old Man Jazz" is a "Japanese Sandman" and has "Dancemania."

If a girl had a date with a man would you call it a mandate?—Strecks.

"Do you serve lobsters here?"
"Yes, we serve anybody; sit down sir."
—Medley.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.
Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famons

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPEL, CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

A, B, C, D AND E.

In classrooms and halls, up and down they walked,

And commented upon their marks;

Oh, it was horrible the way the girls talked,
Some in low whispers, but most in loud barks,

About those A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

It made wrecks of the teachers and they most tore their hair

When a girl yelled out: "It just is not fair,
You got A on History and I only C,

You deserved only D and I deserved B."

Oh! those horrible A's, B's and C's, D's
and E's.

And so it went on, until desperate with worry,

Some teacher suggested a change in a hurry.

"Why not stop giving grades, and put
"passes" and "fails,"

Therefore ridding us teachers of these tear-drops and wails

So the faculty rejoiced that the problem was solved,

And thanks and praises 'round this teacher
revolved.

The decision was reached that the marks be sent home;

Hot discussions from the girls in the building did roam

About those A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

The excitement died down, but Miss Mary soon found

That the idea wasn't working so well,

For in a week's time, or so, through the dining-room door

Came an occasional cry-out and yell,

Over A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

The Home Department began to suffer from the plan,

For after each meal girls shouted and ran;
"Oh! I made A on teaching!" in Miss Shel-
ton's ear

And "She flunked on" was all that Miss
Mary could hear.

Oh, those A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

But this was all right, for the faculty you know,

Were far on the other side of the dining room door;

"No sob's on their shoulders," as Mr. Lear said,

All worry and care on some one else had been laid,

About those A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

Ne'er before in the History of the Alphabet's
life

Had it known such worry, such bother, such strife;

It's first five letters had been cussed and discussed,

And about them the girls had argued and fussed

Those A's, B's and C's, D's and E's.

Now, this was right hard to describe in good rhyme,

And it took right much of my valuable time;
But the sentiment's true, as true as pure
gold,

And our thoughts to the faculty don't have to be told,

Of abolishing those A's, B's and C's, D's
and E's.

D. F. J.

JOKES.

Teacher—Mary, you seem to have a decided mathematical bump.

Mary—That's where papa hit me for getting E on arithmetic.

"The world always steps aside to let a man pass who knows where he is going."

Consider the postage stamp. Its utility consists in its ability to stick to one thing till it gets there.

Ty—Have you seen May?

Nutz—"May who?"

Ty—Mayonnaise.

Nutz—No, she was dressing and wouldn't let me.—Collegian.

Jack—Just met my summer girl.

Jim—How was she?

Jack—Wintry.

At the grave of the departed the old darkey pastor stood, hat in hand. Looking into the abyss he delivered the funeral oration:

"Samuel Johnson," he said sorrowfully,
"you is gone, and we hopes you is gone where you speeks you ain't. American Legion Weekly.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

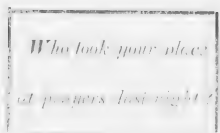

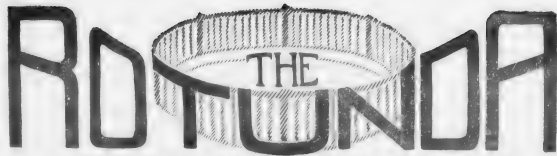

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 18.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 11, 1921.

BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

THE ROTUNDA OFFERS EIGHTEEN DOLLARS IN PRIZES.

Contest Begins March 13th.

The Rotunda has felt for some time the necessity of securing stronger literary support from the student body. In view of this fact the paper is launching a contest to awaken interest. The prizes and conditions for this contest is as follows:

1. A prize of $5 is offered to the student submitting the best poem for publication.

2. A prize of $5 is offered to the student submitting the best short story to be printed in two or more installments.

3. A prize of $3 is offered for the best miscellaneous contribution, including well written news articles, appropriate editorials, or designs for headings to the following departments—athletics, editorials, jokes, etc.

4. A prize of $3 is offered for the best contribution of a humorous nature, including humorous poems, original or "first hand" jokes, cartoons, etc.

5. A prize of $2 is offered for the best suggestions for new departments in the paper or advisable changes.

6. All contributions must be signed. If requested the names of contributors will not be printed.

7. All material submitted must be written in ink and on only one side of paper.

Any student or alumna who is a subscriber may compete for all prizes or may submit any number of contributions for one prize. The Rotunda may not be able to print all contributions, but a record will be kept of all material submitted.

9. The contest begins March 13th and closes May 12th.

10. The Rotunda staff and faculty advisory committee will serve as judges.

Note.—Any student failing to observe all the above rules forfeits right to prize.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA RECOGNIZES S. N. S. DEGREE.

The Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia has accorded full credit to the Farmville Normal B. S. degree toward a master's degree in that institution.

The significance of this decision lies in the fact that the Board of Visitors took the action voluntarily, and not as the result of an appeal from the Normal.

This is the first time a Normal School degree has been given full credit at the University of Virginia, and we feel that it is but a just recognition of Farmville's merit. We hope it will be the means of bringing many girls back to Farmville for the degree.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS ONE-ACT PLAYS.

On Friday, March 4th, the Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Spear, presented four one-act plays. These were distinctly different from anything that has been offered this year. The artistic beauty of the scenery and the ability of each actor made the evening an unusual success. Special mention should be made of Louise Brewer, who played the hero in all four plays; Virginia Hardin, whose interpretation of three distinct and altogether different roles illustrated her ability as an actress; Page Trent, who was the beautiful far away princess; and Frances Mackan, the lovely lady of the portrait.

The plays and casts were as follows:

The Bean of Bath.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Characters:

Beau Nash..... Louise Brewer
Jepson, his servant..... Katherine Gable
The Lady of the Portrait..... Frances Mackan

The Silent System.

Translated from the French by Brander Mathews.

Characters:

The Wife..... Virginia Hardin
The Husband..... Louise Brewer
Counsel Retained.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Characters:

Peg Woffington..... Virginia Hardin
Richard Greville..... Katherine Gable
Edmund Burke..... Louise Brewer

The Fair-Along Princess.

By Hermann Suderman.

Characters:

The Princess Von Geldern.... Page Trent
Baroness Von Brook, her maid of honor,
Eliza Davis

Frau Von Halldorf..... Virginia Hardin
Liddy..... Ruth Draper
Milly..... Sallie Kie

Her Daughters.

Fritz Strubel..... Louise Brewer
Frau Linderman..... Lois Williams
Rosa, a waitress..... Kate Davis
A Lackey..... Katherine Gable

Coming—next week—a new attraction—an Industrial Arts exhibit presented by Miss Millican.

THE STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the State Student Volunteer Union of Virginia was held February 18th-20th at Salem, Va. S. N. S. was well represented by a delegation of twelve members. These were Merle Davis, Elizabeth Moring, Helen Patton, Sue Puckett, Ariana Ammonette, Hattie Gresham, Frances Mackan, Katherine Hancock, Edith Marshall, Mary Garland, Marion Camper and Jane Bacon. Another member was added to our delegation when we met Julia Mahood in Lynchburg and took her with us to Salem.

On our arrival in Salem we were received into the homes and hearts of the townspeople. Our welcome was made sure by the true Virginia hospitality with which we were treated by the reception given in our honor by the students of Roanoke and Elizabeth Colleges, and by the address of welcome given by Dr. Smith, of Roanoke College.

The Virginia Union was fortunate in securing the presence of Dr. Robert P. Wilder, the founder and general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. Because of his consecrated life and wide experience, Dr. Wilder has perhaps a greater world vision than any one else interested in the movement. He brought to us several of the greatest messages of the Convention.

Miss Helen Crane was another representative from headquarters. On Saturday morning she conducted an open forum discussion of missionary activities in the various colleges. Miss Crane made us see clearly that the aim of missionary education in our colleges is to present to the students a view of the world needs and to make them willing to help. With the vision of the world needs are we going to live for ourselves and "let the rest of the world go by"?

Some heart-gripping messages were brought to us by Dr. French, president of Emory and Henry and Martha Washington College; Dean Brown, of Vanderbilt University, and Rev. O. E. Brown, a returned missionary from China. Their respective subjects were "The Call to the Foreign Field," "Foreign Service" and "The Obligation of the Student to the Will of God." Several challenges from foreign fields were given by returned missionaries. Rev. J. R. Saunders spoke on "The Challenge of China." An appealing call came from India through Mr. and Mrs. Madison, who have been missionaries to India for thirty-three

Concluded on last page.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

YOU

have been intending to write something for The Rotunda all year, haven't you? You used to contribute to your school paper, or perhaps you were on the magazine staff at high school. At any rate, you have always been "pretty good" in English and confess that you have a "bright idea" occasionally, only everyone doesn't realize it. Apparently one doesn't have to be a genius to write for a school paper, anyway, and it really would be right much fun to see something of your own in print. You've been planning to write this "something," but there were always so many other things to fill your time and your good intentions as far as The Rotunda was concerned came to naught because there was no real incentive, no compelling force to push you to it. Now the needed incentive has been provided for you. You've always been "keen on" earning money. Now is the time for you to air a bright idea of your own. Don't put it off! You have time to do it now. The Rotunda needs it now! Enter The Rotunda contest.

TO THE ALUMNAE.

The purpose of The Rotunda Rally is to create among the students a more vital interest in the school paper and to get them to feel a sense of responsibility and pride in its publication. The contest is open not only to girls now residing in school, but to alumnae also. We feel that you should take some part in it. As interested alumnae we know that you wish to see the paper thrive. Many of you have already expressed your interest in it. With your perspective and experience you should be able to offer valuable suggestions and make decidedly worthwhile contributions. Let us hear from you.

Just think what you could do with a five dollar gold piece! Would you pay those overwhelming dues, Mr. Silliam's bill, or invest it and draw the interest?

Don't conserve your ideas by keeping them to yourself. Preserve them by printing them in The Rotunda.

"This is good paper! What will you make of it?"

DR. TIDYMAN AT THE N. E. A.

The Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association was in session at Atlantic City, N. J., last week. It was one of the biggest meetings in the history of the association. There are fifty-two separate programs, over eight thousand leading educators from all sections of the United States representing every phase of education were in attendance.

Dr. W. F. Tidyman, Head Department of Education and Director of the Training School, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va., spoke on "Methods of Making Assignments for Student Teaching" in the National Association of Directors of Supervised Student Teaching on Monday morning, February 28th, at 9 o'clock. The following is an outline of his paper:

"The process of making assignments for student teaching in the State Normal School at Farmville, Va., falls into four steps: (1) Collection of information regarding the students' choices of terms, grades and subjects; academic standing, etc.; (2) assignments to terms; (3) assignments to grades; and (4) assignments to teaching subjects and other grade activities.

"Assignments to teaching subjects and other grade activities are made by the grade supervisors. In making assignments for grade work, the supervisor is guided by the students' preferences, extent of preparation, quality of academic work, personal characteristics, and recommendations by heads of departments. She must consider also securing an even distribution of work among the teachers, securing teachers for all subjects, securing equally capable teachers for all subjects, and adjusting the students' teaching to their academic schedules.

"The following main objectives are sought in making assignments for student teaching: (1) To secure an equal distribution of teachers between terms, both as to number and ability; (2) to get the student into the grade for which she is best fitted; (3) to provide thorough training in a fundamental part of the work of the teacher; (4) to provide some vital contact with a considerable variety of grade and school work; (5) to secure a proper distribution of teachers among grades; (6) to get qualified teachers for each subject in each grade and section; (7) to standardize the information upon which assignments are made; (8) to routinize effectively the mechanical features of making assignments."

NOTICES.

Town girls will please call for their paper at The Rotunda office every Monday between the hours of 3 to 5 P. M.

Anyone having complaints to make for subscriptions please notify Julia Alexander, Room 37, Table 31.

A Good Starter Only.

"At lunch I had something excellent but not satisfying."

"What was it?"

"An excellent appetite."

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR
Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store
Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.
Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of
Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY
Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON
The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

The nominations for Y. W. C. A. officers for the year 1921-22 are as follows:

President—Mary Finch, Otey Helm.

Vice-President—Helen Patton, Gwendolyn Wright.

Undergraduate Representative—Elizabeth Moring, Virginia Blasingame.

Secretary—Julia Alexander, Elizabeth Finch.

Treasurer—Julia Asher, Mary Nichols.

TO WHOM DOES MY TIME BELONG?

Without crowded schedule to many of us there is not a minute when we can stop and get away from the hurry and worry of school duties and life, and the fifteen minutes set aside for "prayers," meditation and worship meet a very real need and give an opportunity to each of us that we cannot afford to miss.

No attempt is made to "entertain," but if we come and give the best that is within us we will not be bored. It is a devotional meeting, including Scripture reading, music and prayers, and it gives opportunity for real and earnest communion with God. Upon this plane the appeal is made, and upon this plane each girl can come and take part in the program so that not all of the responsibility will fall on the leader. We not only need to go ourselves, or influence others to go, but we are needed at prayers. Good attendance will insure an interesting meeting, and our presence does much to help the leader. No one else can take our place, we must fill it ourselves.

Come, you are needed.

LITERARY SOCIETY NEWS.

Rotunda prophesied in an issue not later than this term that our literary societies would be the melting pot or vocational school of future government officials. This is another instance that proves that we must look to the truly great, to those who are ahead of their times, to tell us what the future holds for us. At present the prophecy bids fair to come true.

The last program meetings of this month of our six literary societies are to be devoted to the study and discussion of such matters as the League of Women Voters, their organization and platform; the Smith-Towner and Sheppard-Towner bills; child labor laws of our country; the legal status of the women of America and particularly of Virginia; special laws of Virginia and special features of special laws, and other such political matters. The findings of these meetings will be presented later at a joint open meeting of the societies.

We were very fortunate in having Miss Roberta Welford, from State headquarters of the Virginia League, to tell us about the League of Women Voters nationally and in State organization. We are very anxious now to follow up her lecture with definite study of our own. Miss Welford says that "The Woman Citizen" is indispensable to a wide-awake citizen today. This magazine is in our library. It will surely be indispensable in the coming citizenship campaign of our literary societies. Letters containing information direct from the National League of Women Voters will be posted on the Y. W. C. A. bulletin board in the library.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY WORKING FOR STUDENT BUILDING.

The Athenian Literary Society sold tickets for the Devereux plays, which were presented at the Normal School on the 19th of March. The company generously allowed the society 10 per cent. on the sale of the tickets. This is one of the first attempts made by any organization in school to earn money for the benefit of the student building aside from pledges.

The result of the election of officers reads as follows:

President Ruth Myers
Vice-President Mary Bolen
Corresponding Secretary,

Elizabeth Woodward
Recording Secretary Margaret Traylor
Treasurer Marion Camper
Reporter Blanche Conwell
Critic Mildred Dickinson
Censor Susie Scott
New Honorary Member Miss Spear

The Ruffner Literary Society met Tuesday, March 1st, and elected the following officers:

President Elizabeth Meredith
Vice-President Coralie Woolridge
Secretary Hilda Butler
Treasurer Ruth McKelway
Critic Sara Stubblefield
Corresponding Secretary Inez Prince
Recording Secretary Mary Gray
Reporter Aileen Chambers
Chaplain Hattie Gresham
Sergeant-at-Arms Mary Simmons

As this was the first meeting of the society since it has been changed from a debating society to a literary society, reorganization was necessary. A committee was appointed by the president to revise the constitution in order to establish its new basis as a literary society. The vice-president, with her assistants, is arranging a program for the next meeting. Plans have been made to put real "pep" into the society, and the members hope to make a definite study during the remaining three months, which will be both interesting and instructive.

NOTICE!

A new order of gold seal school stationery has just been received by the "Y" store. Come before it has all been sold!

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Hogue of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,

Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Student Volunteer Convention

Perhaps the greatest inspiration of the convention was contributed by the students themselves. Practically all the colleges of our State were represented by that high type of Christian youth which longs to be used mightily of God in the extension of His kingdom. It was indeed a joy to come in personal contact and to form friendships with such sincere Christians.

On Saturday afternoon we caught the viewpoint of the American student, when four Volunteers spoke to us on the following subjects: "Why I Plan to Be a Missionary," "The Joy of Service," "The Challenge to Women Students" and "The Challenge to the Students of America." On Sunday night appeals for their native countries were made by three foreign students. These were J. A. Armerald, of Emory and Henry College; Miss Agnes Par, of Elizabeth College, and Mr. Caskie, of Roanoke College. Through them came the call to Brazil, Korea and Japan.

On Monday morning we took a last lingering look at the snow-covered mountains around Salem, said good-bye to our new but very dear friends in Christ, and returned to our schools. May we with God's help be able to give the world vision to our fellow students, and may each girl in our school find her answer to this question, "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?"

J. B.

DR. JARMAN AT ALUMNAE MEETINGS.

Dr. Jarman has recently returned from a trip to Eastern Virginia for the purpose of addressing several of the newly organized alumnae associations located there. He visited Yorktown on Friday, March 4th; Hampton on Saturday morning, and Portsmouth Saturday night.

List of College Periodicals Received in Exchange With Rotunda.

The Richmond Collegian, University of Richmond.
The Critograph, Lynchburg College.
The Grapuchat, Radford State Normal, East Radford, Va.
The Virginian, Maury High School, Norfolk, Va.
The Live Wire, Botetourt High School, Gloucester, Va.
The Hampden-Sidney Tiger, Hampden-Sidney, Va.
The Voice, Shanghai, China.
If there is any paper in which you are particularly interested and which you would like to see on the exchange shelf, drop the name of the paper in The Rotunda office.

RUTH OF THE ROCKIES

A serial recently shown at the movies. Without, the smugglers furiously hammering. Pounding on that fast shut door; Within, fair Ruth desperately planning—Wishing she had gone before!

The door bursts open, the men rush in.
Poor Ruth, where can she flee?
A brilliant thought comes to her then—
She jumps into a tree.

Calmly she sits there gazing around.
The diamond is safe and she is not found;
The villains on their horses quickly depart.
Ruth climbs down, with no fear in her heart.

The gang leader, thinking to spy, stays behind.
He sees Ruth descending and plans in his mind.
He steels softly up to the foot of the tree
And catches her firmly before she can see!
Continued at the movies.

O, Those Women!

"Dear Mary" wrote the young man who had been turned down the night before and craved vengeance. "last night I proposed to you, but really have forgotten whether you said yes or no. These little things slip one's mind so."

"Dear Will," she wrote back. "I am so glad to get your letter. I remember having said "no" to someone last night, but had forgotten to whom. These little things certainly do.—American Legion Weekly.

She—You have an awfully good looking mouth. It ought to be on a girl's face.
He—I rarely miss an opportunity.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"
Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls DRINK AT PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer
Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868
The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century
Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality
Meals At All Hours
FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.
Members of the Federal Reserve System.
We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings
FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN
Up-to-date Hardware Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of
Ice and Ice Cream
Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President
For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,
Cleaning and Pressing,
Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

For which ROTUNDA PRIZE
are you competing?

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

COMING!
Next Week!
Easter and Senior
Holidays

Vol. 1. No. 19.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 18, 1921.

BIGGEST GAME OF THE SEASON PLAYED AT THE ARMORY.

Harrisonburg vs. Farmville.

The Farmville Armory was packed on Friday night with S. N. S. girls and the people of town. For the ten minutes before the game the walls echoed with yells from the crowd—Virginia Gibbs and Harriet Munoz, the cheer leaders, did not stop a minute waving their ribbons and getting the teams "pepped up". The game was a hard fought battle.

In the first half most of the opponents' score was made. The team work of the Harrisonburg girls was unusually good and the goal shots of the left forward, Miss Steele, cannot go without mention. In the opening of the second quarter Elizabeth Vaughan was put in as center and Farmville rallied to such an extent that only one point was made by Harrisonburg, while Farmville made six points in their second quarter.

All of the girls played a good game. Annabelle Treagle and Delma van Sickle made some pretty shots. The team certainly had the support of the school. This is the second interscollegiate game the sextette has ever played. We hope this will not be the last, and we know the team, after more practice, will be able to claim a victory.

The line-up was—

Harrisonburg: June Steele, Virginia Faulkner, forwards; Margaret McSahr, center; Edith Ward, side center; Lueretia Upshaw, Dorothy Bonney, guards.

Farmville: Delma Van Sickle, Anna Belle Treagle, forwards; N. McAville and E. Vaughan, centers; Sallie Mae Gray, side center; Sarah Moore, Elsie Bell, guards.

The S. N. S. girls have for the first time had the privilege of entertaining a basketball team from one of their sister schools. The team from Harrisonburg arrived on the 5:25 train, Thursday evening and were assigned rooms in the infirmary.

After having supper the visitors were given quite a rush at the dance in the gym. Later that evening the entertainment committee took them to one of the Devereux plays. On Friday the Farmville girls showed them over our campus and buildings and later took them for a ride.

After the game they were given a reception at the science hall.

The team left for Harrisonburg Saturday A. M. and they said they were quite delighted with the team.

Proud Father: "My daughter is just learning to toddle."

Ditto: "Why, so is mine! How old is yours?"

Proud Father: "Two, and yours?"

Ditto: "Nineteen."—Virginia Reel.

THE DEVEREUX DRAMATIC CO.

On Thursday, March 10th, the Devereux players presented their first of a series of plays in the school auditorium, "David Bruce." The play had an interesting plot of both happiness and sorrow through which ran a delightful thread of romance. The attractive leading lady, Zinita Graf, won the hearts of all who saw her.

On Thursday afternoon a well-filled house enjoyed "Romanceers," a comedy, full of romance, as the name foretells. The story is on the order of "Romeo and Juliet," a wall being the barrier in this case, but as the play progresses we see that even a wall cannot bar true love, and soon Romeo is at the side of his Juliet. The old fathers are very clever and interesting, and, queer to say, have no objection to the marriage.

The last play was given on Thursday evening, "Ghosts" was very different from the previous plays, being a tragedy. The plot was centered on the influence of heredity and the actors succeeded in holding the audience to the last. Miss Graf was quite as winning in an elderly part as when playing a young role.

The Devereux players may be said to have been the rarest treat of the year.

A VISIT FROM "HAPPY."

On last Friday morning at 9:30 the entire student body met in the auditorium. It was the first time this session that all the students—from the kindergarten to the degree class—have assembled together, and the auditorium was filled to overflowing. After the drawing of the curtain the cause of this gathering was discovered, emerging from an old trunk, and although his appearance at first seemed hardly sufficiently imposing to attract such an audience, it was not many moments before his merit was recognized in roars of laughter and applause.

"Happy" came to us from the National Health Association. He is a clown, but a wise one, and the messages which he brought us from Health Land were important and valuable. His pranks were greatly enjoyed by the little tots, and both the small and large "children" appreciated his wit and wisdom.

Romantic Youth: "Why do you hesitate? We could easily run away and get married."

His Fancy: "My dear boy, you're too impossible! Why, the only photos I could leave behind me were taken before I had my hair bobbed."—Life.

Mary had a little slum,

For every one, and so

The leaves of her engagement book

Were just as white as snow.

SCHOOL ALUMNAE GIVE A BANQUET.

Farmville State Normal School Graduates Form Alumnae Association.

Graduates of the Farmville State Normal School for Women, who reside in Portsmouth and its immediate environs, held a banquet Saturday night, March 5th, at the Hotel Monroe in honor of Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the school. During the evening they took under consideration the reorganization of an alumnae association for the school and preliminary organization of a Portsmouth chapter by the election of officers and the formation of tentative plans.

The officers elected are Miss Elizabeth Ewald, president; Mrs. Alden East, first vice-president; Miss Katie Porter, second vice-president, and Miss Nan Stewart, treasurer and secretary.

Many Are Teachers Here.

There were sixty-five Portsmouth graduates of the school, many of whom are teachers in the schools of this city, present at the banquet, at which Miss Christine McKam acted as toastmistress.

Dr. Jarman delivered an address on the benefits to be derived from an alumnae association, and spoke of the needs of various departments of the school at Farmville to increase the scope of their work.

Miss Selene Nichols gave a toast to Dr. Jarman; Mrs. Mary Codd Parker toasted the Farmville school, and Miss Alice Smith delivered a toast to the Alumnae Association.

Harry A. Hunt, superintendent of schools, was expected to be present at the banquet, but was unable to attend on account of illness.—Portsmouth paper.

Entertained in Yorktown.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the State Normal School at Farmville, was the guest of honor Friday evening, March 4th, at a dinner given at the Yorktown Inn, Yorktown, by Miss Elizabeth Cooke, an alumna of the school. Dr. Jarman made a special address, which was followed by the singing of school songs by the alumnae present.

This was followed by an informal reception given by the alumnae, during which time an alumnae chapter was organized. Mrs. Adele C. Brown was made president; Miss Nancy Garrow, vice-president; Miss Jessie Kellam, secretary and treasurer. Other members are Misses Elizabeth Cooke, Dorothy Truitt, Violet Andrews, Bertha Hunt, Katherine Shield, Eugenia Harris and Helen Crawford. Associate members are Mrs. C. H. Shield, Misses Lillian Hudgins, Neva Rogers and Mrs. C. A. Hubbard. Dr. Jarman was especially complimentary to the local chapter here and asked the Yorktown or-

Concluded on last page.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

TO THOSE WHO KNOW.

There are three types of people who know what is going to happen before it takes place. You never know that the one type knew anything about it until after it is all over and some one remarks: "Oh, I knew that all the time," "I always knew that was the way it would turn out," "I could have told you that a week ago," "Wake up and hear the birdies sing!" The second class of which I would speak includes those who are in authority or at least in a position to really know what is "on hand" for several weeks to come, yet never mention it either because they enjoy "knowing something that no one else does" or, which is far more likely, are thoughtless and do not realize that every one enjoys a bit of news.

What sort of periodical could be published by a school or community composed of these two classes of people who "know things"? It is upon the third class of students that the life of the Rotunda depends—the class that is interested enough in their fellow students and alumnae to take the time and energy to impart their information to the paper.

Students, faculty and alumnae, to which class do you belong? Make an honest classification of yourself, decide where you should be placed, and then remember that reclassification is possible.

What good reading have you done this week? There's an interesting article in the last Atlantic Monthly on "What College Students Know." An attractive Easter play is contained in the same issue. Have you read it? The Harper's Magazine always contains good stories. Have you seen the last number? The article in the February North American Review on "Ibsen and Current Superstitions," may interest you after seeing "Ghosts."

Great satisfaction was derived from the Harrisonburg-Farmville game in spite of the fact that the Blue and White met defeat. We proved to ourselves what "pep" there was in us: what school spirit we were capable of showing, and how well we could take defeat. These things mean a great deal, girls. Let us hold fast to them.

For which Rotunda prize are you competing?

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

In our Y. W. C. A. election the following girls were chosen as officers for the coming year:

President, Mary Finch; vice-president, Gwendoline Wright; secretary, Julia Alexander; treasurer, Julia Asher; undergraduate representative, Elizabeth Moring.

We feel sure that these girls will make splendid officers and that the work is going into the capable hands of those who will do their best to carry out the purpose of the Y. W. C. A.

Did you know that we have been making clothes for the little Armenian children that Miss Roque told us about not long ago? We have made undershirts for little children about five years old and are now planning to make complete layettes for the babies, who need them so badly.

Do you remember Miss Roque's appeal to us? The Armenians looking to the American Red Cross as their only aid, and the American Red Cross is looking to us.

Here is something for you to do. We need as much help as possible and it is in just such small services that Christian spirit is shown.

If you promised Miss Roque to help, or if you didn't promise and want to help any way, come to Susie Scott in Room 181 or to Miss Steele in Room 162, and you will be furnished materials with directions for making some of the clothes.

Help improve the wretched conditions in Armenia. "Come and help us and them."

To the "Y".

To the friend we love, we give homage,

To the friend we respect, we give praise.

So our friend, the Y. W. C. A.,

We'll continue to bless all our days.

As a mother cares for her children,

As a shepherd watches his sheep—

So the "Y" looks after us always;

Her trust she is sure to keep.

How are you proving love for

And appreciation, too,

Of this large hearted friend and guardian,

Who is always helping you?

FOR SALE—In the "Y" store—Attractive Easter Cards. Prices five, ten and fifteen cents.

Must Have Been.

He went across to the fireplace and stood with his back to its warmth, staring into the fire with unseeing eyes.—From a popular magazine.

Obviously the poor fellow's head must have been turned.—London Punch.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

Where QUALITY Counts

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

LETTER TO ALUMNAE MEMBERS OF
Y. W. C. A.

Dear Alumnae Members:

In our first letter to you we promised that we would send you in the spring a report of the work of our Y. W. C. A. for the session 1920-21. Thinking that you might be interested in seeing a copy of The Rotunda, our school weekly, we have decided to use his means of communicating with you. In order to give a summary of the outstanding work of the Y. W. C. A. this year, we shall outline the work of some of the committees.

Our membership basis has been changed from that of church affiliation to the personal pledge of belief in the Lord Jesus Christ and purpose to follow his teachings.

In the fall a membership campaign was put on. This campaign lasted one week, and at the end of that time 450 girls had become members of the Y. W. C. A. and signed the pledge cards. Since then 31 girls have joined.

The Publicity Committee has kept a Y. W. C. A. table in the library (on which are placed all leading religious magazines), and also a shelf of very interesting and inspiring books. This committee has succeeded in keeping the bulletin board posted with attractive and informational posters all during the year.

During the first two weeks of October the Finance Committee put on its campaign. Two finance secretaries from national headquarters came and assisted in this campaign. The student body was divided into three teams. Each team tried to outdo the others, not only in raising money, but also in putting on stunts. We were successful in going over the top with our budget of $1,900. The spirit of this campaign has been kept up the entire year. Each month a report of the money paid in from each team is read, and it yet remains to be seen which team can win in getting funds paid up.

The Bible Study Committee has worked with the churches this year. The Sunday schools of the town offer Bible courses which were planned by the Bible Study Committee. Eighty-three per cent. of the total number of students enrolled in school are enrolled in these Bible study classes, and 70 per cent. attend regularly.

Our Country Life Committee has worked with Brown's Church School this year. A Girls' Reserve Club was organized at this school last year. This year the committee has subscribed to three magazines for the club, and has taken them several pictures to be used in their class rooms. The girls of the club have become interested in athletics, and asked the Country Life Committee to help them get a basketball. They secured half of the money for the ball by an entertainment and the committee gave them the remainder. The committee hopes that by doing this work it can develop leaders that will lead in the affairs of the community, of which they are a part.

The World Fellowship Committee has begun its mission study classes. Three hundred and sixty-five girls have enrolled in these classes, and the courses offered are: Money, the Acid Test, Medical Missions, the Church and the Community, Social Problems and the East, Bible and Missions, and the Near East. Cross-Roads of the World.

Last spring the High School Club was organized, and in the fall it came into active service. The club is a definite branch of the Y. W. C. A., and the members have done active work the entire year. The club has two meetings every month, the first a business meeting, the second a social meeting. These are held on Friday afternoons at 4:30. The girls have done definite social service work. They helped the Normal School girls fill baskets for the poor at Thanksgiving, and at Christmas they carried a basket to Aunt Pokey Hobson. They have recently decided to help the Junior Auxiliary in carrying out some of their plans for definite service.

The work of the Social Service Committee has been one of outstanding interest. The girls are still taking care of Aunt Pokey Hobson. A basket has been sent to her every month, and quite often the girls go out and read to her. This committee has also adopted a little girl in town. They buy most of her clothes, and at Christmas they played the part of Santa Claus and gave her a real Christmas. Thanksgiving baskets were taken around to the poor as usual, and baskets of candy and other things have been taken to the poorhouse from time to time.

We feel that the greatest service the Y. W. C. A. has rendered the student body as a whole was that of bringing Dr. Knight to the school. Dr. Knight has been a minister in one of the leading Baptist churches of Nashville, Tenn., a number of years. This year he has devoted a part of his time to service for the Y. W. C. A. He visits some of the girls' colleges and gives a series of lectures on Christian Fundamentals. Before he came the girls held special prayer services on each hall in the building for about ten minutes after light bell each night for a week in preparation for his coming. The girls seemed very much impressed with Dr. Knight's lectures and special conferences, and we feel sure that our school as a whole has been benefited, both spiritually and morally.

Before we close we must tell you of the success of our Alumnae Committee. We are very proud of the response we have gotten this year from our alumnae, and we feel that the alumnae branch is a part of our association which is to help so much in the future.

We wish to extend to you a welcome into our association.

Cordially yours,

MERLE DAVIS (Chairman).
LOUISE STEPHENSON.
MARION ASHER.
HATTIE GRESHAM.
HARRIETT PURDY.
CAROLINE MORROW.

Chinaman (to station agent): "What time next train go?"

Station Agent: "Two-two."

Chinaman: "I know train go toot-toot. I say when go, not how go!"—Missile.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE
Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

organization to join in the movement later to raise $50,000 for the school. While there Dr. Jarman was shown places of interest in Yorktown, some of the oldest places of historical interest in the country.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

OFFICE NEWS.

The following girls have registered for entrance next fall:

Mary Louise Scull, Newport News, Va.; Helen Friend Thompson, Chester, Va.; Mary Eliza Maupin, Free Union, Albemarle County, Va.; Annie Randolph Lilla, Emporia, Va.; Flossie Ruth Mitchell, Emporia, Va.

S. N. S. is growing. If you desire proof read the following statistics:

Number girls in Normal Department (including High School) 661
In Training School (grammar grades) . . . 314

Making a total of 975

These girls represent ten States, thirteen cities, and seventy-one counties. The States represented are: Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, District of Columbia, Tennessee, West Virginia, Alabama and Maryland.

Dr. Jarman left on the 12th for Newport News, where another Alumni Chapter has been organized.

NEW PI KAPPA OMEGA MEMBERS.

The following students have been admitted to the Pi Kappa Omega Honorary Society:

Misses Pattie Garrett, Otie Helen, Minnie Lewis, Parke Morris, Ruth Myers, and Mary Nichols.

We congratulate these girls on having received the highest honor which Farmville has to bestow.

The members of the Athenian Literary Society sold tickets for the Devereux plays and made 10 per cent on the sale. A sum of forty dollars was made in this way and has been deposited to the Student Building Fund. This does not include the annual pledge of the society.

THE SCRUBS.

You have seen, if you're a basketball fan, The girls who are famous for basketball sand:

The girls who go out in battle array,
In colors bright and sweaters gay;
The girls who win the cheer and fame
For playing efficiently in the game,
But did you see, on the edge of the line,
The faithful scrubs who were left behind;
The girls who worked with might and main
So that renown the team might gain?
They worked on the practice field each day,
Were beaten and knocked in every way;
They took their drubbings with a smile
And got no rousing cheer the while,
They ask no cheers, they want no fame,
But they deserve them just the same.

So, while we root in wild delight
For girls who made the winning fight,
Could we not give just one loud scream
For scrubs who did not make the team?

JOKES.

A Familiar Warning.

A man was walking down a street in Dorchester the other day and a friend some distance behind called after him. "Hey, Luke! Hey, Luke!"

As the man ahead did not show any signs of hearing, a ragmuffin on the corner shouted, "Stop, Luke, and listen."

First Man: "The argument you are using, does not leave you a leg to stand on."

Second Man: "It surely must, for it is made up entirely of foot-notes."

Economy.

Per: "I've got money to burn."
Way: "Go ahead, it's cheaper than coal."

Louise (to maid): "Jessie, my cocoa's cold."
Jessie: "Put your hat on, then."

Evelyn: "What shall I write this theme on?"
Lucy: "On paper, of course."

What is the best color for a bride?
I prefer a white one.—Widow.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

What's the matter
with Dr. Jarman?

ROANOKE

He's a-l-l-r-i-g-h-t!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 20.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 25, 1921.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE HELD AT FARMVILLE.

The annual Education Conference of District D, which met at the Normal School, March 17th, 18th and 19th, held its opening session Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. J. L. Jarman gave the address of welcome. The S. N. S. Orchestra and Glee Club furnished music, and the Dramatic Club presented two one-act plays. Hon. Harris Hart, Superintendent of Public Instruction, was the speaker of the evening.

In his address Mr. Hart showed the size and importance of the task Virginia has before her in endeavoring to educate "all the children of all the people." "The task is great in cost, in reach, and in importance. Even Germany, with her detailed plan, did not dream of anything to equal it."

The United States spends more on education than any other nation. To have the right quality of education it will cost Virginia alone $20,000,000. Two-thirds of this will go as compensation for the teachers. There are three good reasons why all the school officers and all the school patrons should look at this school cost well and liberally.

First, it is fair and just. The teachers are the agents of Virginia. They stand as the heralds of Virginia's ideal. They are the bulwark of Virginia's democracy.

Second, it will guarantee to the children the right type of instruction.

Third, it will relieve the teachers from the economic pressure. They will be able to cultivate the finer things of life. Only in this way can they pass the ideals on to the children, for "one cannot teach what one does not know."

Dr. J. L. Jarman presided at the second session, which was held in the auditorium on Friday morning. Mr. Algar Woolfolk, State Superintendent of High Schools, spoke on the efficient high school and explained the characteristics of good schools.

Superintendent F. M. Martin, of Petersburg, second speaker on the program, gave, in a most interesting manner, the characteristics of the ideal teacher.

We find very few ideal teachers in the vast field of education, because teaching is a most stupendous "job", and because legislation and county supervision are not interested in teaching. Mr. Martin thinks that there is no ideal teacher because, when the ideal teacher is realized, he or she is no longer ideal; there is always some remote characteristic still to be obtained. However, if the teacher wishes to be an ideal teacher, he must consider the following characteristics: Personal appearance, health, broad academic and professional knowledge and training, attractive personality, devout spiritual living.

Concluded on third page

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION.

On Saturday evening, March 19th, the first professional class entertained the other three professional classes. The Junior-Senior reception has been a customary event for many years and is always looked forward to and remembered with interest. The hostesses this year are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening.

The guests assembled in the auditorium at 8 o'clock where an attractive St. Patrick's play was presented by members of the first professional class. The folk dancing and Irish songs made the play unique in its appeal.

After the play the reception hall and parlors, prettily decorated, were used for dancing and games.

The St. Patrick idea was carried out not only in the entertainment and decorations but in the refreshments as well. Green and white block ice cream was served with white cake docted with shamrocks.

Such a get-together good time is always the best kind of time, and everyone enjoyed the evening.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND GROWS.

Seven and a half feet of pledges for the Student Building Fund have been handed in to Miss Tabb. This is a fact. The strips of paper on which the amounts are printed measures exactly ninety inches, and these ninety inches represent $8,867.00, $3,602.00 of which is paid. Of the 517 promises, 176 have been made good. This includes the forty dollars raised by the Athenian Literary Society, this organization, by the way, being the first body to raise any money for the fund, while in school.

Fifty-six dollars have been paid in since the last report.

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Argus Literary Society held its regular meeting on Tuesday, March 15th. The new officers were installed, after which the following program was rendered:

"An Interesting Synopsis of 'V. V.'s Eyes,'" by Nancy Chrisman; "V. V. as a Social Reformer," by Virginia Anderson; a piano solo by Helen Black, then the tragic ending of V. V.'s Eyes was read by Rebecca Lipscomb.

The previous Friday the officers for the new term were elected.

A pretty good firm is the Watch & Waite. And another is Attit, Early & Layte; And still another is Doo & Darit; But the best is probably Grin & Barret. -Life.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Among the alumnae and former students of the Farmville Normal attending the District D Teachers' meeting were the following:

Misses Beatrice Blankinship and Margaret Alexander, Sunnyside High School; Blanche Jenkins and Lucy Barlow, Burkeville; Inez Bailey, Lucy Treackle and Annie Simmons, Disputanta; Annie Hancock, Lula Berger, Lyla Simmons, Rice; Irene Peek, Petersburg; Mary Noel, City Point; Varsenie Mooshy, Hopewell; Minnie Blanton and Shannon Morton, Farmville; Mary Berger, Grace Chambers and Helen Kirkpatrick, Prince Edward County; Rozelia Watkins, Prospect; Mary Leigh, Blackstone; Virginia Feild, Emporia; Mabel Spratley, Surry; Laura Thomas, Lawrenceville; Virginia Dagger, Yale; Eleanor Elmore, Brunswick; Jessie Dugger.

Miss Esther Kornodle 1920, was married on February 24th, to Mr. J. W. Brinkley, of Shell Creek, Tenn.

Miss Evelyn Coman 1918, is a March bride. She is now Mrs. James Adair, of Lexington, Va.

Miss Eva Mosteller was graduated in January and on February 26th became Mrs. Keith Morton, of Phoenix, Va.

DR. JARMAN AT SALEM AND ROANOKE

Dr. Jarman is still making trips to help organize Alumni Chapters. He visited Salem for this purpose on the 18th, and Roanoke on the 19th.

OLD FARMVILLE GIRL RECEIVES HONOR.

Miss Belle Burke, who was a student of Farmville S. N. S., 1905-08, has been made superintendent of Gouchland County. Miss Burke is one of the two women superintendents in Virginia.

A lunch room has been opened in the Training School where the children may purchase hot lunches at a reasonable sum. Miss von Schilling has this in charge and the Home Economics girls are doing the cooking.

Miss Millican and the Industrial Arts girls are to be congratulated upon their splendid exhibit shown last Friday and Saturday.

The Pi Kappa Omega Society gave its new members an informal party in the studio last Saturday evening.

Do we miss the Seniors?
Well, I should say so!

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.
Kate Davis, Harriett Kueker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL

Some say that styles originate in Paris. This may be the home of Dame Fashion, but after all this worthy mistress of the wardrobe only accepts the suggestions of Mother Nature. This spring the pussy willows and oak trees seem to have come into the good graces of the Dame. The former has offered her gray as the new leading color for the season, and the oak tree buds are arrayed in the popular heema. The usual spring blue is in vogue again, but Dame Fashion, to gain a new popularity for it, has christened it Harding Blue although it is the same shade that has been suggested by the sky and brooks since the beginning of time.

A SONG IN SPRING.

O little buds, all bourgeoning with spring,
You hold my winter in forgetfulness;
Without my window like branches swing,
Within my gate I hear a robin sing—
O little laughing blooms that lift and bless!

So blow the breezes in a soft caress,
Blowing my dreams upon a swallow's wing;
O little merry buds in dappled dress,
You fill my heart with very wantonness—
O little buds all bourgeoning with spring!
Thomas S. Jones, Jr. (from the "Little Book of Modern Verse").

HEARD AT S. N. S.

"All the tubs are taken."
"Will you turn a tub on for me?"
"Pink Mule again!"
"I didn't get a letter."
"Who's the 'special' for?"
"Somebody got a box."
"Got anything to eat?"
"Is that the last study bell?"
"Who has a date tonight?"
"Are you going to breakfast?"
"I have a headache every Sunday morning before breakfast."
"Has anybody bobbed their hair today?"
"Girls, too much noise."
"There goes eight bells."
"Girls, get in line and get quiet. We'll go as soon as everybody is quiet."
"What is on at the movies tonight?"
"Oh, I'm a wreck!"

G. W. A.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

During Easter week the Y. W. C. A. will hold "Morning Watch" in the association room every morning in addition to our regular prayers after supper. "Come, and feel the Easter spirit." The program is as follows:

Monday - "Beat Life of Christ." Lily Thorhill.
Tuesday - "Death and Resurrection of Lazarus." Nell McArdle.
Wednesday - "The Betrayal of Christ." Ariana Ammonette.
Thursday - "The Crucifixion." Maude Glenn.
Friday - "First Visit to Grave." Helen Patton.
Saturday - "Witnesses to the Resurrection." Kitty Cole.
Sunday - "The Resurrection." Eleanor Greathead.
Monday - "Meaning of the Resurrection To Us." Mary Finch.

The new cabinet is now in training, preparatory to taking the examination which will be given on the sixteenth of next month. They leave for Sweet Briar on the eighth, where their final instructions will be given at the Cabinet Training Council held there at that time.

WHO KNOWS?

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee,
Or a key to a lock of his hair?
May his eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?

In the crown of his head what gems may be found?
Who travels the bridge of his nose?
May he, when shingling the roof of his mouth,
Use the nails on the end of his toes?

Can the crook of his arm be sent to jail?
If so what did he do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I'll be hanged if I know, do you?

Can he sit in the shade of the palms of his hands
Or beat the drums of his ears?
Does the calf of his leg eat the corn of his toes?
If so, is there corn on his ears.

—Exchange.

There was a maid named Jean
Who aspired to become kitchen queen.
She took domestic science
And with every appliance
She prepared a whole meal—from a bean!

—Life.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

Where QUALITY Counts

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

If the ideal teacher could be realized, Mr. Martin said there is not enough wealth in all the world to pay one dozen of them.

Mr. Joseph E. Aveni, Professor of Education in the State Normal School at East Radford, spoke on "The Principles of Teaching Practicized." He distributed copies of two lists of excellencies and errors in teaching, and discussed some of these in a practical way.

The High School Teachers' Conference, one of the Friday afternoon sessions of the Education Conference, was very interesting and helpful.

Dr. Crooks, from R. M. W. C., in his talk on "The Problem of the Adolescent Child," brought out the following points:

1. This problem is the teacher's, not the pupil's.

2. During the adolescent period, the entire life of the child changes. These changes are both physical and mental. The imperative cry to the teacher is: "Be wise enough to understand the changes when they come." If teachers deal in the right way with them young people cannot long resist their guidance.

3. This is a problem of growth and development for the child.

4. Cures for the backward adolescent child are proper moral and religious teaching.

Mr. Grainger, of S. N. S., spoke on "How H. S. Teachers May Co-operate in English Teaching." His points were:

1. Co-operation is a question of attitude—the attitude of helpfulness, not criticism.
 11. The demands of English must be made (1) definite, (2) reasonable, (3) constructive. Teachers should be promoters, rather than proofreaders. Mr. Grainger gave for an example of co-operation, the leaflet which all S. N. S. students are familiar with, "Directions for Oral and Written Work." He also described a leaflet, which is in the hands of the teachers only, which gives a record of the pupil's failing or low grade work.

A round table discussion followed.

The third session of the annual Education Conference of District D, met in the auditorium of the Normal School, Friday evening, March 18, 1921, at 8:30 o'clock.

The first thing on the program was a one-act play, "The Faraway Princess," presented by the Dramatic Club of the Normal School. This play was enjoyed very much by all.

Mr. Samuel P. Duke, President of the Harrisonburg State Normal School, was the principal speaker at this session. His subject was "How Teaching May Be Made More Truly a Profession."

In defining the standards of the profession, he compared teaching with the well-established profession of medicine. In doing so he showed that it was possible to raise the teaching profession to the level of the medical profession. The standards of teachers are variable, while those of doctors are uniform. First, the requirements for teachers are much lower than for doctors. Second, teachers work only nine months and get nine months' salary. The doctors get work and pay for twelve. Third, different salaries are paid men and women, high school and elementary, city and country teachers. This is not the case with doctors. Their fees are not differentiated in this way. Why should teachers? Fourth, teachers' salaries do not advance, whereas doctors are never limited. With no hope for the advancement of the salary, there is no wonder that about one-fifth of the teachers drop out each year. The profession should be paid enough to keep the efficient teachers in service.

At the business session of the conference on Saturday morning, resolutions of thanks to the State Normal School and to the people of Farmville who furnished the entertainment for the visitors were adopted and officers for the coming year were elected. Principal R. K. Hoke, of Hopewell, was elected president and Miss Lucy S. Trengle, of Disputanta, secretary-treasurer. Miss Trengle is a graduate of the Normal School in the class of 1917. Miss Smitley, of the Normal School faculty, offered the suggestion at this meeting that District D should send a delegate to the next meeting of the Modern Language Association.

JOKES.

Do You Know?

It is rumored about that Mr. Lear has started his "hope chest." He has already obtained one lady's dress. Contributions are in order.

Miss-just-home-from-college: And is your charming daughter convent-bred?

Angry papa (in receipt of bills): No, college loaf!

Latin Teacher: "Billy, give me the principle parts of money."

John (aside to Billy): "Durn if I know."

Billy: "Durn-if-I-know, durn-if-I-lare, durn-if-I-atus."—Selected.

Jean: "Do you have trouble meeting expenses?"

Bertha: "Dear me, no! I meet them every where I turn!"

He: "Gee, this soup is good."

She: "Yes, it sounds good."

Don't wear out your welcome, it is difficult to replace.

If a thin man fell from a third-story window how would he come down?

Ans.: He would come down plump.

Jimmy: How about a date this evening?
 Kitty: Splendid, but don't forget. Dad switches off the lights at ten o'clock.

Jimmy: That's nice of you! I'll be there at ten sharp!

Helen (speaking of a sick man): "And she said he had three hermitages last week."

Jane: Doesn't Christine look cute this morning?

Katherine: What, has she bobbed her hair?

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
 218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
 Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
 Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
 Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
 C. E. CHAPPEL CO.,
 FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
 OPERA HOUSE,
 FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee- 4:30 P. M. Night-7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
 FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
 J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
 FARMVILLE, VA.

CROSSED TRAILS.

(A short story.)

When Jack Franklin stepped from the train to the little station platform that he had left just ten days ago he looked like a different man. His face was haggard and grey and his eyes had dark rings around them. It is true he had looked grief stricken when he left, but his face had not had time to become so drawn and pale.

"Ain't it a shame?" remarked one of the by-standing mountaineers. "It shore is!" came from another. "An' he was so good lookin' and han'som' afore she died. He shore was ever mor'n' crazy about her."

"Where'd he leave 'at kid whar she lef' him?" asked an old, old woman, leaning up on her cane.

"He lef' it wi' the O'Malleys up yonder," answered the man, indicating the direction by a wave of his hand.

"Wi' the O'Malley's eh?" croaked the old woman through her gums. "Wi' the O'Malleys!" Then she chuckled wickedly and hobbled away muttering something that the man could not understand.

Two hours later Jack walked wearily up to the doorstep of the O'Malleys' rude mountain home. He paused, straightened his shoulders. After all there was one thing to live for his tiny, brown-eyed daughter.

Suddenly the door burst open and the whole family came out; but what a reception! Most of them were weeping and Mr. O'Malley looked haggard and worried. He came up and laid his hand on the younger man's shoulder.

"I've looked every whar, Jack, an' I can't find her. Your baby she's gone. She got took out of her crib yestidy, sometime durin' the mornin'."

Jack sank limply down on the step and closed his eyes. Finally they left him alone and he was glad of it. That night they took him into the house unconscious and called the nearest doctor. For weeks he lay ill and delirious. He finally recovered but never had the full reason of the brilliant young civil engineer that he had been before this illness.

They built him a hut on the O'Malley place and there he lived and tended the sheep.

Sixteen years later, on a bright morning two men registered at the little mountain hotel. Daniel Hughes, a middle aged man, had come there as a missionary. Robert Morgan was just a young adventurer whose father had told him that until he had "rubbed up" against real life he could never inherit the Morgan millions. So Bob, as they called him, had chosen this lonely little town in the Blue Ridge Mountains to "rub up" against real life.

Daniel Hughes and Bob soon became friends and were together a good deal. Bob would go over and watch Hughes teach the little mountain children who came from miles around to "git educated." They were all of the same coarse type, speaking the mountain dialect in loud, rasping voices.

One evening, about a week after they had arrived, they were sitting out on the porch when a young mountaineer came up and started conversation with them. It was not long before he started on the story of "Loony" Franklin down to O'Malleys' place." The two eyssters stayed out on the porch for a long time after the other man had left.

"Most extraordinary!" Hughes finally remarked. "Here's your chance, my boy," he sat forward in his chair. "Why don't you make it your aim to find out where Franklin's daughter went to?"

The boy got up and walked up and down the porch once or twice. "That's a good idea," he said. "There isn't any use in just loafing around out here with no aim. That's what I'll do: find out where Franklin's girl is."

(To be continued.)

HOW LITTLE SHE KNEW.

"I wish I was at S. N. S."

Said a little girl to her pa;

"Xe'er mind, you'll get there soon enough. And you'll wish you were home with ma."

The little girl went to S. N. S.

For four long years or five;

She studied hard and studied long.

But her wits wouldn't thrive.

You wou'd hear the rest of this tale

Of an ole maid sehshin' am's fate.

Just glance back over your own career

When you've reached forty-eight.

L. H. H.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats, Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes, Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Joke Number.

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Read Important
Announcement.
Page 3.

Vol. 11, No. 21.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 1, 1921.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT NOMINATIONS.

The following girls have been nominated for student government offices:

President—Lily Thornhill, Helen Patton.
Vice-President—Kate Trent, Otey Helm.
Secretary—Elizabeth Finch, Bess Rush.
Treasurer—Pauline Timberlake, Christine Shields.

First Prof Representative—Arianna Amorette, Lizzie Storey.

Campus League Chairman—Catherine Gable, Earle Atkins.

Recorder of Point System Roberta Hodgkin and Helen Rogerson.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Quantities of spring flowers with the school colors decorated the dining room of the Shurley last evening for the banquet given by the Newport News Alumnae of Farmville State Normal complimentary to Dr. J. L. Jarman, the president of the school. Tall vases of blossoms were used on each table and the place cards, favors and accessories carried ideas of St. Patrick's Day. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Mae Marshall Edwards and Miss Elizabeth Hyman gave a toast to the honor visitor, who was introduced to the company with an appropriate little talk by Miss Elsie Wilson. During the evening the memory of the school days at Farmville was recalled by the singing of the songs dear to the hearts of the alumnae. Dr. Jarman talked on affairs pertaining to the school, its growth, and explained the plan for enlarging the school and the raising of funds for the new building. It was a very enjoyable occasion, reviving much interest in the school. Those present included Mesdames L. R. Holmes, Anne W. Cox, Whit Hayes, Harry Shawen, Joseph Kritzer, Sidney Smith, Mae Marshall Edwards, Vivian Parker, Hazel Clarke, Guy Via, Louise Hurt, Frances Albee, G. B. James, Pollard Vaiden, Charles Taylor, of Richmond; Misses Kate Cox, Susan Minton, Marguerite Wilson, Elsie Wilson, Marnella Souder, Verna Marshall, Elizabeth Iyy, Ethel Gildersleeve, Margaret Rogers, Eline Kirsch, Elizabeth Hyman, Lucille Batten, Selma Batten, Hattie Kelly, Roberta Saunders, Jeanette Bland, Bessie Bivins, Alice Davis, Lillian Samders, Marion Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dutrow and the honor guest.—Newport News Daily Press.

"I am the head of the house," ✓

Pa bawled, getting red.

"I am the neck," Ma smiled:

"And I turn the head."

Country Gentleman.

HERE AND THERE.

The following students of the graduating class expect to return next session for third professional work, to take the degree in 1923:

Mary George Bolen.

Sue Lewis Brown.

Ethel Marion Camper.

Ellen Carlson.

Lucile Lee Fox.

Elvira Daphne Gilliam.

Lou McCargo Gregory.

Otey Brook Helm.

Mamie Lou Holland.

Ella Beryl Jenkins.

Stella Marie Lang.

Mary Elizabeth Moring.

Mary Nichols.

Florence Elizabeth Rountrey.

Alice Louise Scott.

Marie Garnett Sutton.

Kathryn Isabel Thompson.

Miss Anne Shelton Meredith, class of 1920, will also be a member of the degree class of 1923.

Dr. Jarman pleasantly surprised his many friends in Farmville by spending the Easter holidays here. It has been some time since he has remained in town at this season.

Misses Esther Kline and Tapelle Pruden gave a musical concert on March 17th at the Poole School, near Petersburg, Va., for the benefit of the school building.

The Dramatic Club is again "on the job" and has begun rehearsal of a new play, "The Royal Family," which will be presented on May 6th.

SPORTING NEWS.

On April 22d the annual field day exercises will take place. We are going to have the best programme we have ever had. The committee promises all kinds of stunts, drills, games and exercises.

The class which wins the cup this year will be the one with the most pep, endurance and practice. Let's start practicing now, for through practice we can gain the other two qualities.

Aged Suitor: "Miss Toots, will you marry me? I would gladly die for you!"

Miss Toots (a practical young lady): "How soon?" Exchange.

Jacob: "The good die young."

Isaac: "Or outgrow it?"

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES.

The Argus Literary Society.

The program of the Argus Literary Society for Tuesday, March 22d, consisted of the following numbers: An interesting paper on "Idealism and Realism in Novels" by Bess Rush; a synopsis of the "House of Lynch" by Agnes Baptist, and last, a vocal solo by Anne Bell Treakle.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular roll call meeting on March 22, 1921.

An interesting short story, "Buster," was read by our new honorary member, Miss Spear.

A solo, "Your Eyes Have Told Me So," was rendered by Dora Jett.

There being no other business, the meeting adjourned.

EASTER.

The day of Easter is dawning.

The sun is rising so bright.

We awake on this beautiful morning

To rejoice in the heavenly light.

The lily never looked so sweet

Nor the sky so blue above.

We gaze on the violets at our feet

As a token of His great love.

Resurrection morn was not more beautiful

Than the dawn of this happy day.

He who was faithful and dutiful

Has died to wash our sins away.

As I stood and gazed upon this sight

I could see the tomb rolled away,

And there He sat, robed in white.

As Mary had seen on that Holy Day.

We look upon this as never ended,

For we shall not die but sleep.

Earth and heaven never before blended

As today our souls He shall forever keep.

He lives now among us men

And all beneath His bosom He holds.

Our lives that shall never end

As long as He dwells beneath our souls.

AGNES FULCHER.

Life in Three Words.

Stop! Look! Listen!

The reflective man gazed at the railroad warning and said: "Those three words illustrate the whole scheme of life. You see a pretty girl, you stop; after you marry her you listen.

Flustered and giving a command of sync: Arms upward sink!

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL

It never is April, but it showers.

It never is April Fool's day, but we discover a few more fools.

It never is the first of the month, but bills pour.

It's quite alarming to think of all the bills and dues we will have to pay before the end of the year. Just think we have only about two months of school left. The merchants are doubtless beginning to squirm already, and the treasurers of the many societies and organizations have some hard work before them.

It's very probable that everybody will have come back from the Easter holidays with a little more financial support than usual. Don't you think the very best plan is to pay off your debts right away?

Another thing that would help us a great deal is not to make any more bills before commencement. If we use some will power about this, then, the checks that we will get to have a good time with in these last days will not have to pay for past pleasures.

Signs of Spring.

(Cartoons Magazine.)

All the grasses in the meadow.
They are climbing out of bed, Oh!
Just as the poets said,

Oh! in the spring.

The mooley cows are mooing,
And the turtle doves are cooing,
And the bluebirds all a-blueing,
Ting-a-ling.

The hens are on the cackle,
With the robins on the grackle,
And the carpet tacks they tackle,
As of yore.

The clouds begin to trickie,
And the mud begins to stiekie,
And my hid- begins to tickie,
As before!

The undershirt is scratching,
But's dangerous detaching,
For a cold is easy catching,
In the spring.

The wits are rather hazy,
We are a trifle lazy,
And in fact a little crazy,
Ching-a-ling!

S. N. S. RIDDLES.

1. (Suggested by Mr. Duke.) If the Alabama negro before eating a huge watermelon offered him free of charge provided he could eat all of it, ate a melon of the same size at home in order to prove to himself that he could make good his promise to the salesman, how many tangerines did
S. H. consume before she proved to Mr.
Gilliam that she could eat thirty-five?

2. How can Agnes be a Baptist and a Presbyterian at the same time?

3. If Eleanor has a great head, why does she want Moore?

4. Why have the degree classes petitioned
Dr. Jarman for 11 o'clock dates?

5. Why do we have beans the same days we have potatoes and rice?

6. Why is the time from 6:45 to 7:30
A. M. the shortest forty-five minute period in the day?

7. What would happen if:
Uncle Robert forgot to ring the 8:30 bell?
Dr. Jarman failed to co-operate?
Miss Mary could not be mortified?
If Room 7 forgot to put a busy sign on the door?

Mr. Coyner never blushed?
Everyone subscribed to the Rotunda?

?

Did you ever
Have a Brilliant Thought

And say,

"Ha!

I will

Put that in
The Rotunda!"

And you
Ponder long Before

You start to write,
And then

When the Light of Genius
Begins to burn
You chew

Your pen awhile
And begin to write.

And when it's done
You want

To pat yourself upon the back

And read

It

To all your friends;

But you

Decide to wait

'Till it is published.

And so

You wait.

And wait

For four long weeks—

Or maybe six—

And then

It comes out,

And

It takes up

The gigantic space

Of two and a half lines?

Say!

Did you?

Well!

If you did,

What did you say?

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
in

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

Today is April
the first!

CROSSED TRAILS.

(Continued from last week.)

"That are young fellow down to Simpson's hotel has set out to find out whar 'Loony' Franklin's kid went to sixteen years ago." These words were on the lips or in the mind of everyone within twenty miles of the small town.

Far up the mountain the news reached the ears of a toothless old woman, who was known to everyone as "Old Bet." She hissed like a snake when Bill Hudgins finished telling her about it.

"You tell 'em," she croaked, and her eyes gleaming in the firelight, were close to his. He looked straight into them and said "You'll add another pint?" The old woman paused and then nodded. A few minutes later he rode away with the bottle in his hand. For sixteen years he had come to this same cabin every other week and taken away a bottle of the brew that had him under its power.

A few days after he had heard the unusual story Bob noticed a new pupil in the school room. But how different she was from the others! She was slight, with a soft voice and curly light hair. He noticed that the other children did not seem to like her, and yet she did not mind, for with her book and a quiet corner she seemed to be perfectly happy.

One day Bob found her alone, so he dropped down on the grass beside her and opened conversation. "May I be so bold as to ask what you are reading?" he inquired.

She jumped with surprise at his words. "Me?" she asked simply. "Oh, I'm reading an old book I found in old Bet's chest. It's 'The Little Colonel's House Party.' She got them in the east when she lived there. She's got a whole trunk full of books."

"And who's old Bet?" he asked.

"My gran'ma," she answered shyly, drawing away from him.

"And where does she live, and you?" he inquired.

"Old Bet an' me lives up yonder on the hill what you gets to by the old cedar trail," she answered.

He looked at her in amazement. "Would you mind if I asked you why you changed your way of talking?"

"Oh, I talks like this when I'm jus' talking long so, 'cause everybody else does 'cept you, but I forgets sometimes and talks like book people." She raised one slender hand to brush her hair out of her face. "Which do you like best?" she asked.

"I like what you call the book talk," he answered, smiling.

"Oh, do you?" she exclaimed eagerly. "I do, too. Old Bet taught it to me, and she taught me how to read and write, too."

He learned that her name was Lois—just Lois—she said. So their friendship grew, and the lonely girl found for the first time some one who understood her and liked the things she liked.

Old Bet's bi-weekly visitor noticed this and told the old woman. That evening when Lois came home she received a sound beating from the old woman's cane and was told to pack her things ready to travel, for she was to leave that hut the next evening, never to come back. Furthermore, Bill was going with them and would marry Lois.

Lois was horrified. There was no one in all the world that she hated as she hated Bill Hudgins. Every time she thought of it a shudder would shake her slender frame.

The next day Bob missed Lois and wondered why she was not at school, so he decided to ride up the mountain to inquire about her. He rode up to the front of the hut and jumped from his horse. Its deserted appearance alarmed him. He seized the little piece of paper pinned on the door and read it.

"Old Bet is taking me away to marry Bill and I'll never come back. Come quick! Up the Cedar Trail."

He stuffed the note into his pocket and started riding at a mad gallop up Cedar Trail. After riding some time he rounded a sharp curve in the trail and came suddenly upon the trio eating supper by the falls. Bob realized that he must act quickly, because he was unarmed. With a flying leap he landed squarely on Bill's back. Both of the women screamed and backed away. The two men fought desperately, but it was plain that the westerner was slowly overpowering Bob.

Other eyes watched this same battle, eyes that had a puzzled look when they rested on the girl's face and that were filled with hate when they looked at Bill Hudgins. The owner of the eyes pulled a gleaming knife from his belt and with only a moment's hesitation rushed toward Bill. He felt it sink into the flesh of his victim and then knew no more, because behind the stick that struck his head was the strength of both of old Bet's muscular arms. John Franklin, for it was he, sank limply to the ground.

"Wait!" cried Bill. "Wait!" Bob stopped. "It ain't no use in hittin' me no more. I'm stabbed in th' back. He done it; Jack Franklin done it. I'm a-goin' fast, but afore I go I'm goin' to do one thing to go to my credit in Heaven, an' that's to tell you that Lois is—Lois—Franklin." His breath came in gasps. "Lois," he said, "please to give me for not tellin'. Old Bet stole you outa your crib because her gran' child died an' she was bound to make somebody else miserable beside herself." With these words he died.

The wrath of the old woman was horrible to see. She shrieked and with a leap disappeared through the woods and was never seen again.

The next day John Franklin recovered consciousness. It was not long before everyone realized that the blow on his head had brought him back his reasoning.

One evening after he had fully recovered

Concluded on last page.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawins, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $5,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELD, JR., H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Oh, I must be a-wand'ring, a-wand'ring till
I die,
Beyond the level low plains to the hills so free and high:
A-wand'ring, a-wand'ring—up to the heights above,
For mayhap I will find her there—my own true love.

Oh, I must be a-following the trail that leads away
From the haunts of man and his fellows through the Gates of the Dying Day.
For there, at the end of nowhere, I hear my love's voice call,
"Oh, come and wander with me—oh, come—I'll give you all."

She calls me over hill and plain—and I—
I've followed far,
'Twas long ago I left behind the light of
The Evening Star—
My feet have trod o'er all the world, but still I travel on;
For in my ear she whispers, "Oh, come—ere life is gone."

And so I go a-wand'ring, a-wand'ring till
 I die—
 The life-blood of a dying cloud stains deep
 Life's sunset sky.
 Yet still I hear Romance call through the deep'ning shades of night.
 "Oh, come—oh, haste and find me: for soon
 I take my flight."

Oh, I must be a-wand'ring, a-wand'ring till
I die,
All through the level low plains till I reach the heights on high;
A-wand'ring, a-wand'ring e'en to the sky above—
For mayhap I will find her there—Romance, my own true love.

When, in your bed you're nice and warm,
And dreaming of things back on the farm
And the six o'clock bell goes off like a gong,
Do you ever think of saying "darn"?
And you twist and turn, and yawn and gap,
And turn right over for your second nap,
And the six forty-five sounds with a tap,
Do you ever think of saying "darn"?
And when you're sleeping and dreaming of home
And roaming o'er the places you use to roam.

After sitting in Bogg's for an hour or so,
And flirting with John, and Jack, and Joe,
And the six o'clock rings with an awful woe,
Don't you feel like saying darn?

But the nine forty-five is the sweetest of all.
Lessons over, and out in the hall
With all your pals with their hair up in curls
You gossip and slander and "bless out" the girls.

And then into your own bed you creep.
Turn your head for a long, long sleep.
And dream of beaux and games and yells,
And forget all about the darn old bells.

There's lots of fault to find with schools.
The girls hate so to keep the rules;
But after all there are things worth while,
Even S. N. S. has plenty of smile.

Farmville, Virginia
J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

Watches. Clocks. Diamonds. Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,
TAILOR.
Cleaning and Pressing.
Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.
We Solicit Your Account.

Furniture and Floor Coverings
FARMVILLE, VA.

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Manufacturer of
Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

COMPETE IN
THE CONTEST.

ROSTUNDA

PATRONIZE the PAPER.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 22.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 8, 1921.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

"Your Bit."

How many of us have observed the first five minutes of study hour as a time for prayer and Bible study? Are you doing your bit to make it possible for our student body to draw nearer to God through study of the Bible?

In setting aside these five minutes we tried to pick a time when our minds would be fresh, before a night's study has tired us, so that we could use the time for real study of the Bible.

Are you thinking about how your friend wants to use those first five minutes? Are you being unselfish and a real friend?

What My Pledge Means To Me.

We realize that the girls who have so far failed to pay anything on their Y. W. C. A. pledges have done so through forgetfulness. The fact remains, however, that 175 girls whose pledges amount to $425, have paid nothing on their pledges, and the amount still unpaid by girls who have not finished paying up is $800.

For the next pay day the team solicitors will canvass the halls taking to the girls their pledge cards so that they may know the amount they owe and pay it.

The treasurer is anxious to get all of the dues collected before she leaves her office so that she can turn balanced books over to her successor.

What does your pledge mean to you?

An Easter Party.

Virginia Noel, this year, instead of having a birthday party of her own gave one to the Girls' Reserve Club and Student Teachers, so that she might share her pleasure with her friends.

The party, being given near Easter, began with an egg hunt around the fountain. Elizabeth Crute was lucky enough to receive the prize, consisting of a big rabbit, several little rabbits and some candy eggs in a nest.

After the egg hunt we went to the association room, where we played games and had refreshments consisting of chicken salad sandwiches, hot chocolate, seafoam and candy eggs.

Our hostess saw to it that we all had a perfectly splendid time.

Our Girls' Reserve Club, at Brown's Church School gave two plays in the schoolhouse Friday, April 1st. One of these plays was the "Bashful Boy." The plays were chosen and the cast was made up entirely of home talent. The Normal School Y. W. C. A. girls furnished the music.

The plays were given to raise money to meet the running expenses of their club, consisting mainly of beautifying their school-house and grounds. They also hope to raise enough money to have a part in the relief work done for European students.

The Girls' Reserve Club is doing splendid work and the plays were an excellent example of their interest and ability.

NEW Y. W. C. A. CABINET CHOSEN FOR THE YEAR 1921-22.

President—Mary Finch.
Vice-President—Gwendolyn Wright.
Undergraduate Representative—Elizabeth Moring.

Secretary—Julia Alexander.
Treasurer—Julia Asher.

Committee Chairmen.

World Fellowship—Oley Heim.
Bible Study—Mary Flippo.
Religious Meetings—Mary Nickols.
Morning Watch—Kitty Cole.
Service—Susie Scott.
Country Life—Agnes Fulercher.
Social—Eleanor Greathead.
Store—Janie Cobb.
Alumnae—Marion Camper.
Music—Anna Belle Treackle.
Conference and Conventions—Sue Brown.
High School Club—Nancy Crisman.

Advisory Board.

Chairman—Miss Coulling.
Bible Study—Miss Coulling.
Religious Meetings—Mr. Bell or Mrs. Bell.
Social—Miss Deitrich.
Finance—Miss Von Schilling.
Rural Life—Miss Bierhammer.
World Fellowship—Miss Smithey.
Publicity—Miss Grimells.
Service—Miss Rice.

S. N. S. FACULTY ENTERTAINS.

On Friday evening, April 1st, the Normal School Faculty, assisted by several students, gave a concert in the auditorium. The event had long been looked forward to with interest by all, and a goodly crowd assembled at the appointed time. Dr. Jarman sang several appropriate solos and Miss Spear rendered three very delightful readings. The violin solos of Miss Caroline Rankin and Mr. Dabney Jarman were greatly enjoyed. "The Song of the Vikings" was delightfully rendered by Dr. Jarman. Messrs. Bell and Coyner, Misses Barnes, Jett, Garrett, Finch and MacKam.

The closing number on the program, a selection rendered by the Silent Symphony Orchestra directed by Miss Culkin, was probably the most enjoyed of all. This was manifested by the enthusiastic outbursts of applause which greeted every selection. There was not a single discord and all agreed that such harmony had never been heard at S. N. S. Miss Culkin is to be congratulated on her ability as a director and trainer of such a perfect orchestra.

DR. JARMAN VISITS HAMPTON ALUMNAE.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, President of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, yesterday afternoon was the guest of honor at a luncheon tendered him by the Hampton Chapter of the State Normal School Alumnae Association in St. Johns parish house. The visit of the distinguished educator was an occasion of great interest to the local chapter, which was only organized a few days ago and which Dr. Jarman said was one of the largest he has visited in the Old Dominion. Dr. Jarman delivered a pleasant address, in which he said that a survey of the school showed that the Virginia State Normal School at Farmville stood among the first in the teachers' preparatory schools of the country. Dr. Jarman's reference to the school created a general yell for their Alma Mater by the former graduates and students at the luncheon. He was especially complimentary to the local chapter here and asked the Hampton organization to join in the movement later to raise $50,000 for the school.

Dr. Jarman was presented to the audience by Miss Mary A. Holt, president of the local chapter, in a captivating address and Miss Holt also proved a very charming toastmaster for the occasion. There were about fifty women present at the luncheon.

Mrs. J. B. Sinclair, Sr., class of 1890, delivered the address of welcome. She referred to her stay at the Normal School and told of the work her Alma Mater had done since she left it. Mrs. Sinclair gave a number of humorous references to the life at the school among the happy students.

The menu consisted of oyster cocktail, crackers, Smithfield Ham, chicken salad, hot rolls, coffee, ice cream, mints, salted peanuts.

Daily Press.

Dr. Jarman attended the meeting of the Virginia Normal School Board which was held in Richmond on the 28th of March. While there, on the 29th and 30th, he also attended a meeting of the Governor's Budget Committee.

(Excited little boy.) "Mamma, Mr. Jones says there is a terrible hyprodermie of measles in town."

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, Editors-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

Perhaps some have wondered why the Rotunda is putting on a "wake up" campaign and offering prizes in an interesting contest so late in the year. Such a contest is surely just the thing to be presented at the first of the school year when the interest aroused by competition could be held throughout the session. Why is it then that this contest is not postponed until next September?

The answer is that the staff believes that it will be more effective at this season. To give our reasons for such an opinion is to disclose our "line of action" and predict our "mode of attack," but this is often advisable in periodical as well as political campaigns.

No amount of urging on the part of Mr. Lear or the staff will persuade new girls to subscribe and contribute to a paper which the "old girls," who are surely capable judges, declare to be "dry" or "punk." It is only through arousing the interest of those of you who will be back next year that the paper may hope to interest girls who only have your word in recommendation. You must win a subscriber and contributor before you can interest others. What is a more effective way of reaching our alumnae than by interesting them before they become alumnae?

We wish to interest you, oh Senior, in the paper this year so that next year and in the years to come you will subscribe to the Rotunda and in this way most effectively strengthen the bond between yourself and our Alma Mater. It is then with a far-sighted end in view that the Rotunda launches the contest.

ELECTION RESULTS.

The following girls have been elected as student government officers for the year 1921-22:

President—Lily Thornhill.
Vice-President—Ottey Helm.
Secretary—
Treasurer—Pauline Timberlake.
First Professional Representative—Arianne Ammonette.
Recorder of Point System—Roberta Hodgson.
Campus League Chairman—Earl Atkinson.

SOME TESTS OF A GOOD NOVEL.

Written for the Argus Literary Society,
February 15, 1921.

There have been novels and novels written. Some have been pronounced good by the reading and literary public; others have been sentenced to death, to forgetfulness, to oblivion have shared the fate of novels that the public says are not good or worthy of being remembered. What characteristics must a novel have to gain public favor?

In the first place, there must be a well-defined plot; each step in the weaving of the threads of the story so logically linked together that the happenings and incidents are natural to human life, and to the character portrayed. There must be a climax, a place in the story where the threads of the plot seem so knotted and tangled that we wonder how they will ever be unsnarled. Among the writers of today who produce well developed plots is Mary Roberts Rinehart, author of "The Amazing Interlude," "K," "The After House," etc.

There must also be skill shown in the telling of the story—well chosen words, neat turning of phrases, careful consideration of each detail. A recent novel that is very well written is "Slippy McGee" by Marie Conway Oemler. This is the story of the most expert safe-cracker in America who became an eminent naturalist.

Very necessary to a good story is the proper setting, and "atmosphere," as it is called. When we seek writings that are permeated by the writer's own temperament that indeed have "atmosphere," we can find none more illustrative of this than the works of Edgar Allan Poe. Take, for instance, "The Masque of the Red Death," "The Fall of the House of Usher," Hawthorne's classic, "The House of Seven Gables," and other good examples. In just thinking about it one can almost hear the wind whistling among the gables, and the gloomy old house creaking; one can catch the pungent odor of damp moss on the weather-beaten shingles, all creating a feeling of gloom and mystery.

The last test mentioned should be with reference to the characters. Of course, we all realize the fact that the characters must move, act and think like human beings to be realistic, not mere automatons. The characters must possess individuality. Reverting to the old masters (for where else could we find such excellent examples?), we find that vivid character. Scrooge in Dickens' "Christmas Carol," Scrooge, "that squeezing, wringing, grasping, scraping, clutching, covetous old sinner," who became "as good a master, and as kind a friend as the old city knew?" Sydney Carton stands out as a man glorying in self-sacrifice. Among more recent heroes is "Henri," the brave Belgian officer who won the heart of Sara Lee in Mary Roberts Rinehart's book, "The Amazing Interlude." There are numbers of characters such as these that seem to the reader to almost breathe and live, so real are they.

All these factors enter into the making of a good novel, one that will be read over and over again, and not forgotten by the public after a few years. C. R.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR
Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED
CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & MCINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store
Agents for Eastman Kodaks
We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.
Leaders of Fashion
in
Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of
Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY
Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON
The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

ANDY GETS EVEN.

Andrew Jackson Moore was sitting on the front steps of his home busily working on a bit of painted tin which in past days had been an electric boat. The screw driver, which he often applied, was larger than the boat itself, but nevertheless he screwed and unscrewed tirelessly in his effort to fix the "winder". On his face was the painstaking frown of an accomplished mechanic. He had almost succeeded in fixing it when, he blurted, "if that ain't jes' like them things, falling in abody's face jes' when you don't want 'em to." With this he pushed back the long yellow curl that had so thoughtlessly intruded at the critical moment.

"An' here it is school time an' I adraggin' these here everywhere I go, an' everybody laughin' at me. I'll cut 'em off myself if mother won't; I'm not goin' to be teased any more."

Andrew Jackson Moore was known all over the village for "these things" (he never spoke of them as curls. Somehow it hurt his boyish pride to even hear the word mentioned). Boylike he hated them infernally, but his mother thought of them not as golden curls "pestering a fellow's life out" but as golden nuggets which made everybody love and adore him. And so it was with the older people of the village. They thought him so beautiful.

"He's just like Little Lord Fauntleroy when he's dressed up in his velvet trousers and his pique blouse with all that gold showered down on him. I've heard every girl in this town express her desire for his hair."

Thus Mrs. Joyner went on, and thus everybody who saw him. At present Mrs. Joyner would not have called him Little Lord Fauntleroy, for he was dressed in his overalls, the only boyish apparel he possessed, and his curls were screwed up in a way that would have made his mother faint.

"Well, I'm not goin' to school until they're off," he said as he watched his friends pass the gate. "Peter'll laugh and laugh 'til he'll most pop. I wish he would pop. I hate Peter Joyner. Some day I'll get even with him. Just because he's got red hair and freckles he laughs at my hair—nothing sissy about red hair and freckles I guess."

At this moment Peter passed by. "Hey, Andy, com' to school?"

"Naw."

"Why ain't cha?" was the next remark. Peter began to envy his friend even though he had curls.

"Don't have to," he answered guiltily. He wanted to make Peter jealous.

But the next day found Andy in his accustomed seat at school and just behind him were "those things" which he always carried with him.

Peter played his part as tease well to day, too well Andy thought. Once or twice a little girl would tell him that curly hair was ever so much prettier than red hair, but Andy wanted no feminine sympathy, he only wanted muscle and a place safe from anyone's hearing. He'd show Peter Joyner a thing or two.

When school was over Andy politely asked

Peter to go fishing with him but the invitation was not accepted. Not discouraged by this rejection, he went home, stole up in his room, and exchanged his pretty white suit for his overalls, his dainty embroidered collar for a red handkerchief which he carelessly tied around his neck, and his bright new tie served as a string to fasten up his curls on the top of his head, over which he pulled an old cap belonging to his father. He would go over and challenge Peter.

On the outside of Mrs. Joyner's fence he stopped. Peter eyed him curiously. Not a curl was in sight and Peter feared the worst.

"You ain't cut 'em off yet?" he breathed. "Great day. Well, I've had my laugh off 'em."

Peter was going to say more but he saw the other boy's face growing crimson, his teeth tightly set and he was clenching his fists and was preparing to jump the fence. Peter didn't know what he was going to do and he didn't give Andy the benefit of the doubt but set out running as fast as his fat little legs could carry him. Andy had not been named for his hot headed predecessor for nothing. He lived up to the name as nearly as he could and scaling the fence, bounded upon his enemy like a beast upon his prey. Everything went well for Andy until Mrs. Joyner came to view. The shrieks of her young son had brought her running to the scene.

"You Andrew Jackson Moore," she screamed. "How dare you. And in my own yard."

Andy was glad to hear his full name as coming from Mrs. Joyner. She was the one who had started calling him Lord Fauntleroy. As she gazed on the ground, all that she could see was one yellow head, tied up in a red ribbon (the hat having come off in the tussle). Her son was completely out of sight.

Andrew Moore, stop that this minute I tell you. Go home and tell your mother what a bad boy you've been. A boy like you should not have anything as innocent as a curl. Go home I say."

Andy wished heartily that Mrs. Joyner would recommend the removal of the "innocent curls" from the head of such a reprobate, and he started to ask her to but an unfriendly hand was already leading him out of the yard by the gate.

Mrs. Moore felt terribly about Andy's behavior, but she thought Peter a rude little boy for making references to her son's natural beauty. After supper Andy seemed unusually quiet. He was sitting on his father's knee, supposedly studying when he asked, "Mother, why can't I cut off my hair?"

This was the first time in ages he had mentioned it.

"Now, Andrew, what do you care about the remarks of one little boy. No one else ever mentions your hair except to say something nice about it."

She pleaded in vain.

"Seems like when a man gets to be eight years old he wouldn't have a year-long hair like a girl."

After arguing and getting his father on his side, he got his mother's consent.

Concluded on last page.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Haylor's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL, CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee - 1:30 P. M. Night - 7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" are Abundant.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, President H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

ANDY GETS EVEN

"Very well when you're nine," she added. Andy was overcome with joy. He stood the taunts of the other boys with wonderful patience. He rarely ever got in a scrap and he studied his lessons awfully hard in order to be worthy of a closely shaven head. The school term passed quickly and early June found Andy at his Grandfather's farm. He could but count the days before he should be free—and a real, live boy. When August 5th came around, Andy held his mother to her bargain. With a tearful heart Mrs. Moore slowly clipped each curl, sighing as if some lifelong friends were parting. Andy felt happier than he had ever felt before. With each clip of the scissors, he felt as if he were being relieved of some great burden—nine burdens. Mrs. Moore looked at her son with his closely clipped head and tears found their way down her cheek. Andy her baby—a big boy now—but how splendid he really did look. Carefully she gathered up the treasure and placed it in a box which she kept with the rest of the things dear to her. But Andy was gone. He could not keep it from his friends any longer. Little he knew what became of his curls after they fell from his head and how much less did he care.

It was after he got home that the real surprise awaited him. He wanted more than anything to go over to see Peter Joyues so that his playmate could see for himself the change that had caused Andy so much happiness. But he found that a visit would be impossible as Peter had been very ill during his absence and had not yet entirely recovered.

It was not until after Christmas that the surprise really materialized. Andy was walking home from school one day when he saw running toward him, one of his friends who used to be a sympathizer in the days of Little Lord Fauntleroy.

"Gee, Andy, I've got something to show you. It's too good for anything. Follow me and I'll show you."

This was the enthusiastic remark of Charlie Smithers. Andy, without waiting for further explanations, followed the little boy right up to the home of Peter Joyues.

"Jes' you look in that winder," ejaculated Charlie.

Andy obeyed instructions, and pressing his nose against the pane, he peered into the Joyues' sitting room. The sight that met his eyes was never to be forgotten. There was Peter seated in a big rocking chair with a book in his hand, seemingly reading, but on catching sight of Andy he fled from the room. Andy was now in a fit of laughter.

"Well, that's a good one on Peter," he said; "sometimes fever will do that for people."

What he had seen was Peter with his thin white face outlined with flaming red hair—curly hair. As Andy had said, the fever had caused the change and ever since spring it had been getting earlier and earlier until now it was in ringlets all over his head.

"I wish I could get to him, jes' to give him a little fellow feeling," said Andy.

And that night after laughing all over again about Peter's hair, he tauntingly wrote a note which he placed under the unfortunate one's door. The note read:

Little Lord Fauntleroy:

"He who laughs last has the longest giggle."

Andrew Jackson Moore.

P. S.: I only hope to live to see them get long.

J. C.

JOKES.

Student—"What keeps the people from falling off the earth when they are on the outside?"

Teacher—"Why, the law of gravitation, of course."

Student—"How did they stay on before that law was passed?"—Exchange.

Autobee.

Beside a garage grew a rose.

Wind-tossed, with stem a tilt.

One night, unseen, some gasoline

On this rose was spilt.

Adulterated flower juice.

A bee did sip next morn.

And now he does no longer buzz.

But looks just like a horn.

—Selected.

Lunatic, entering asylum with attendant:

"Is that clock right?"

Attendant: "Yes, quite right."

Lunatic: "Then what is it doing here?"

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS' HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

IS THE CUP FOR
THE SENIOR or
THE JUNIOR?

ROANOKE THE NORMAL

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Can You Weigh
YOUR PEP
For Field Day?

Vol. 1. No. 23.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 15, 1921.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

The Glee Club was asked by the Monogram Club of Hampden-Sidney to come out and give a concert in the college chapel. On Friday night the following program was given:

Chorus: "It Was a Lover and His Lass," "The Morning Song," The Glee Club.
Trio: "Louisiana Lullaby," "Lil' Alabama Coon," Misses Garrett, Barnes and Jett.

Reading: Miss Lucille McElhane.
Solo: "The Bird and the Rose," "Sorter Miss You," Miss Evelyn Barnes.

Chorus: "Long, Long Ago," "Calm Is the Night," The Glee Club.

Solo: "Nothin' But Love," "The Wind," "The Waters of Minnetonka," Miss Pattie Garrett.

Reading: Miss Dorothy Shaefer.
Chorus: "The Lass With the Delicate Air," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," The Glee Club.

Trio: "Lullaby and Good Night," "The Alphabet," Misses Garrett, Barnes and Jett.

Solo: "Sunset," "Christ in Flanders," Miss Evelyn Barnes.

Chorus: "The Miller's Wooing," "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," The Glee Club.

After the concert the girls and Miss Munoz were delightfully entertained by the members of the club.

OFFICE NEWS.

Thirty dollars for the Building Fund have been handed in since the last report.

The summer catalogues have arrived and are now ready for mailing.

Miss Ruth S. Richardson, of Church View, Middlesex, and Miss Dorothy Smith, of Bird's Nest, Va., have applied for admission next fall. Both applicants are holders of the Farmville Elementary Professional Certificates. Miss Richardson attended school here 1906-09 and Miss Smith 1919-20.

Katherine Stallard and Lily Thornhill will leave Monday for Decatur, Ga., where they will attend the Student Government Conference to be held at Agnes Scott College.

"I suppose you young fellows had better go to the 'phone in a body. I dunno who's wanted."

"What is it, Prof.?"

"Somebody wants 'dearest.'"—Judge.

Beth: Why do you say that girl is a brick?

Francis: I've danced with her and I know how heavy she is.

WITH THE FACULTY.

Tuckerisms.

"Be keeful now, girls."

"I call it vandalism, nothing but vandalism."

"Uh—hum-m-m."

"I can't accept that as an excuse."

"I'll have you put that in your notebook."

Munozisms.

"Stop that cough" (sharply).

"You're a dummy."

"Sit still!" (yell)

"Don't come to me if you get an 'E'."

"I'll have no talking and gabbing at my show."

"If you and your Jonnie can't keep quiet take him to the movies."

Riceisms.

"Don't make me say—"

"Am I right or am I wrong?"

"Girls, don't you get my point?"

"I fear I haven't the attention of the back row."

"Now, class, can't you appreciate the situation?"

Bretnellisms.

"There seems to be some confusion this morning."

"Girls, I don't want to say anything cross, it isn't my way—"

"Some one's talking."

"When I was at La Crosse—"

"We have a little system in our class in which no one talks to his neighbor."

Learisms.

"Take out your paper and pencils and write today."

"Miss Jones, will you tell Miss Smith the question?"

"Now, Miss Jones!"

"For instance?"

The student body wish to request the other members of the faculty to adopt Mr. Fottig's method of giving tests—the one he used on April 1st.

It is reported that Mr. Lear gave an announced test last week!

(Heard in the Science Hall.) Miss Jeter: "Give me a pencil and let me make an order for Buggs."

Miss Taliaferro is nearly a "nervous wreck" due to Alumnae work and monthly reports.

Some one has kindly suggested that Dr. Jarman get a date book to hang outside of his office after holidays in order that those who desire excuses and interviews may not have to wait hours before gaining admittance.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

On Saturday afternoon, March 19th, the Roanoke Alumnae of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Va., met at the Y. W. C. A. for the purpose of organizing a chapter.

Miss Katherine Cook presided and introduced Miss Pauline Camper, of Salem, who told us about the chapter started there many years ago. She brought out the benefits of organizing, so that the students in each section can keep in touch with each other and with matters of interest at the Normal.

Miss Camper introduced Dr. Jarman, who talked about what was going on at the Normal and what has gone on—in a material way—during his administration. His main topic was the Students' Building, which he hopes to erect at Farmville as soon as possible. He asked that each alumnae give just as much as she possibly could, for he felt sure he can get the Legislature to make an appropriation if he has the guarantee that the alumnae will raise at least half of the cost of the building.

At the close of Dr. Jarman's appeal it was decided to organize a chapter that afternoon. Miss Cook appointed a nominating committee, and the following were made officers of the Roanoke Chapter of the Alumnae Association: President, Mrs. Gilbert Woods; Vice-President, Miss Sallie Jackson; Secretary, Miss Louise Pulliam; Treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Reichardt.

After the business was over, in which all present seemed much interested, the ladies of the Y. W. C. A. served tea and cakes.

Report of Secretary.

WITH THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Argus Literary Society held its weekly meeting on Tuesday, April 5th. The program consisted of the following numbers: A paper on Thomas Hardy's book, "The Return of the Native," written by Miss Scott and read by Kate Davis; a paper on the plot of the same story by Alna Hogland, and a piano solo by Gladys Thorn.

Although Miss Scott was not present, she was given a rising vote of thanks for the contribution of her interesting paper.

I saw her dress

And laughed at it.

For brevity's

The soul of wit.

Operator.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.
Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921 at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

THE POINT OF VIEW.

If you, fellow readers, are ardent lovers of the Atlantic Monthly, then you have already enjoyed those unusually interesting articles, "The Grundy Papers," and especially that clever bit of repartee, "Good-bye, Dear Mr. Grundy," by a last year's debutante. Reading them was a most delightful pastime, yet with it all there lay problems for "the wild young persons" apparently so rebellious of convention and so fast surging toward social degeneration. Mr. Grundy looked upon us with Hope. Mrs. Gerould longed to give us Faith, and "the wild young person" viewed us with Charity. What do we think of ourselves?

What has caused us to let down the bars of social propriety and modesty and to usher in a shameless laxity in mode of dress and manner of speech? Shall we say the war changed us? Or was it a natural revolt from the old conventions not satisfying in modern life? Let us each decide the cause of the change for ourselves and give our attention to our problem here as Normal School students.

We recognize a change—a departure from the more conservative manners of life—a different view toward men—a different view toward the type of dance and style of dress. Do we know just how to emerge from this enveloping cocoon? If we are suffering from reaction, then the only way to rise above this slackness in social ideals and popularizing indecency in dress is to feel that we alone can work out our own salvation, and emerge from the chaos of transition and take the place we ought to fill in a newly ordered world!

Let us remember that disapproval of our present day tendencies (loud, boisterous talk often mingled with profanity; discourtesy toward elders or fellow students and indecency in dress) does not mean that the pendulum must of necessity swing back to that prissiness of manner long dubbed "wall flower." Can we not strike the happy medium, the golden mean, and having found this course go forward as leaders of tomorrow, exerting the best influence and maintaining high social ideals? Let's have a common point of view and pursue it now with stolid conviction?

M. S.

OUR PRAYER.

God, we have come to the threshold of womanhood, and we are afraid. Dear God, give us, we pray, the strength to go through life with our purity unsullied, our faith unharmed, with our love undiminished, and with our understanding and sympathy always broadened. Help us to face life unafraid, our eyes open to its ugliness, yet ever seeking its beauty, and in our hearts let there always be the love of all mankind.

Make us worthy of the great gift which Thou hast given us—the privilege of keeping alight the Lamp of Truth which Thy Son, the Great Teacher, did first set alight for the world. Dear God, we are so near to Thee if we but realize it. Help us to fulfill our mission here ere we leave; but we have such a little while. Our burden is great, the way is long and dark, and we are human and very weak. Help us, O God. Amen.

A WINTER NIGHT.

Breathless, gleaming stillness.
The gentle thud of feathery shroud
That slips from whited skeletons
Of trees. The wind's soft sigh
For pleasures gone with summer sun.
The distant mellowed tinkling of sleigh bells.
Silence.

JOKES.

SYMPTOMS.

When you begin reading the letter over twice or thrice or more—

And studying even the envelope and post-mark—

And gazing long at the opening and closing in search of some deeply hidden meaning—

And admiring the handwriting and the stationery—

And smiling a dreamy smile as you read
You're gone, dear girl, gone!—Selected.

Overheard in Chemistry Class:
Elizabeth B.: "Mr. Fettig, does ammonia have soap in it?"

Be it ever so humble, there is no face like your own. Tar Baby.

Mrs. N.: Don't you stay in the room when your daughter has company any more.

Mrs. N.: No, I am trying the honor system.

Percy: Heard you went blackberrying today.

Jack: Sure, I went to a colored funeral.

Dame Fortune smiled down from on high, "My daughter."

I could but murmur in reply,
"Mrs. Fortune."

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

Saturday, April 6th, we were very fortunate in having with us Mrs. Maude Perkinson, national representative of the W. C. T. U. She gave us a very interesting talk at prayers, and seemed also to take a lively interest in our school, our association and our work. She planned with us for having definite programs to carry out the work, and gave us many valuable and much appreciated suggestions.

On Friday afternoon the members of which the cabinet will be composed for the coming year left for Sweetbriar, where they will attend a cabinet training council before their installation.—Sweetbriar News.

MARY OR MARRY—WHICH?

William Allison had received orders to appear at Camp Green, South Carolina, on the 3d of January. He had a date with Mildred Harwood the night before he was to leave, and he had made up his mind that he would ask her then to be his bride. William had loved this girl for a long time, and he was certain that she preferred him to anyone else, but, like many other men, he found it very difficult to summon the courage which is of such vital importance on such an occasion. Yet Mildred was not the kind of a person one should be afraid of either. She was a wee bit of a girl, with brown eyes and brown curly hair, and her skin also bore a faint tint of brown. One might truly call this little maid "A Study in Brown." But all this brown did not suggest the sadness late autumn reflects on its coat of the same color. Here a bright, cheery smile seemed always to keep happiness and sunlight at the front.

"If it were to Dick or Tom," thought William, "that I am to propose, or even Mr. Harwood (for I have already gotten his consent), I wouldn't mind it, but to ask a woman—ah! it takes courage—more than I can manage to summon!"

"Suppose I get Dick or Tom," he rambled on, "to do the asking for me, but no, that would be absurd—the idea of an indirect courtship! Who knows but that it might bring forth the same result as that of the old Puritan, Miles Standish! Tonight is my only chance. I will be a man and do my part, and then some day, when I am off on a furlough, we can be married." The young man's face brightened when he thought of all the happiness in store for him, but all this brightness faded away when he remembered he had not even asked her yet.

That night Mildred greeted him with her usual cheery smile, and somehow she seemed to William more lovable than ever.

Seated before the large open fireplace, the two chatted gaily about many a trivial topic, and drifting further and further away from what William considered the main issue of the night.

"Where is your sister? Have you heard from her recently?" Mildred asked, as she unconsciously led him on away instead of towards their heart's goal.

"No," faltered William. "I haven't, but another got a letter from her today. She seemed carried away with her work in the ammunition plant. I only hope that I will like camp life half as well."

"Oh, I'm sure you will; the boys don't have as hard a time of it as you would think."

William glanced at the clock and it was 9:55, and at 10:00 he must go. All of the night he had wasted and only five more minutes were left for him to make his proposal. He hesitated a little and made an attempt.

"Mildred, will you—er—er—er," he stammered; and losing courage, he added, "Remember Mary and write to her often."

"You know I will," replied Mildred in a faint, disappointed tone, and then the clock sounded ten long strokes.

He bade her farewell and stumbled out of the door. Through the still, cold night he dragged his heavy steps homeward, leaving behind a girl with her hopes all defeated. There—he had been a coward and had let slip his last chance.

Six months later William was notified that he could have a twenty-four hour furlough. There would not be time for him to go to see Mildred, and his sister, too, yet he wanted very much to see them both. After some thought he decided he would go get Mary and wire Mildred to meet them at Lakeside, a popular hotel about twenty-five miles from Mildred's home. Then he hurried to the office and dispatched his message.

The telegrapher was careless in his spelling, and that night Miss Mildred Harwood received the following telegram:

"Meet me and Marry at Lakeside Hotel, four-thirty P. M., June 5th.

"BILL."

When the young soldier and his sister reached Lakeside, Mildred was there waiting, all smiling and blushing, in a hastily purchased gown of white satin, with a long flowing veil to match, and in her arms she carried a huge bouquet of white roses. Her father and mother were with her, and when William mounted the steps of the hotel, Mr. Harwood stepped forward and greeted him with a hearty hand-shake and a slap on the shoulder, saying, "Well, Bill, my boy, I am proud to have you as a son. I would never have consented to give her to any other. Congratulations to you both, and long life hereafter!"

All the while her husband was speaking Mrs. Harwood stood nodding her head in assent, and poor, bewildered William was left to puzzle all this out for himself, but he was not very long at it. The glorious truth soon dawned upon him.

Concluded on last page.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

MARY OR MARRY-WHICH ?

A few days after this a khaki-clad fellow, wearing an unusually bright smile, entered the telegrapher's office in Camp Green, South Carolina.

"This," he said, "is for the extra 'r' in the telegram I sent Saturday afternoon," and tossing him a ten dollar bill, disappeared.

M. C.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

If you can keep your head, when all about you

Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,

But make allowance for their doubting too;

If you can wait, and not be tired by waiting,

Or, being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or, being hated, don't give away to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream, and not make dreams your master;

If you can think, and not make thoughts your aim;

If you can meet triumph and disaster,
And treat those two impostors just the same;

If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken

Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,

Or watch the things you gave your life to broken,

And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings

And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,

And lose, and start again at your beginning,

And never breathe a word about your loss;

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew

To serve your turn long after they are gone,

And so hold on when there is nothing in you

Except the will which says to them "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,

Or walk with kings, nor lose the common touch;

If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you;

If all men count with you, but none too much;

If you can fill the unforgiving minute

With sixty seconds' worth of distant run,

Yours is the earth and everything in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a man, my son!

Rudyard Kipling.

JOKES.

He: We're coming to a tunnel, are you afraid?

She: Not if you take that cigar out of your mouth. —Angwan.

Puppy love is the beginning of a dog's life. —Trivial.

"Suffer little raisins to come unto me," said the cider barrel. —Widow.

"Hurry, Jake, there goes your eye."
Stage Chinaman: Don't try to kid me, Jerry: I've got it glued on.

Teacher: "Is there any way in which one may tell how long this animal has been dead?"

Bright Girl: "By its teeth, of course."

"Children," said the teacher, instructing the class in composition: "you should not attempt any flights of fancy but write what is in you."

As a result Robbie wrote:
"We should not attempt any flights of fancy but write what is in us. In me there is my stummick, lungs, liver, two apples, two cakes and my dinner." —Ladies Home Journal.

May Lizzie: "My father's name is Tweedee."

Jinny: "What! Well, your father must be some old bird!"

Mr. Stubb: "I hear, my dear sir, that your wife is dead. May I ask what she died of?"

Mr. Dub: "Why, she died of a Tuesday."

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Glassy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Congratulations to the Field Day Winner.

ROSTONDA

*Put as Much PEP IN YOUR
Literary Societies
As in your Athletics.*

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 24.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 22, 1921.

STUDENT CABINET TRAINING COUNCIL

The Cabinet Training Council for the Student Young Women's Christian Associations of the Colleges of Virginia was held at Sweet Briar this spring from April 8th to the 15th. Five colleges were represented. Sweet Briar, Randolph-Macon, Hollins, University of Richmond and Farmville. With the exception of Sweet Briar, Farmville had the largest delegation. Miss Steele and the following new cabinet members attended: Mary Finch, Elizabeth Moring, Gwendolyn White, Julia Alexander, Mary Nichols, Julia Asher, Eleanor Greathead, Kitty Cole, Mary Flipppo, Susie Scott, Marion Camper, Helen Draper (old cabinet).

Beginning with a meeting of the leaders of the Council Friday night, the conference continued through to Monday morning, meeting morning, afternoon and Sunday night.

Saturday at 8:30 Miss Young, executive of the Student Department of the South Atlantic field, opened the Council with a hymn, a wholesale introduction of delegates and an admonition "to be on time every time." Miss Burner, from the National Board, spoke on "The Necessity of Christ to Religion and Personality," the first of her three series on this subject. Miss Burner's deep and clear thinking and wonderful personality made a lasting impression on every girl at the Council. We were made to think as we had never really thought before.

"Is God a person or merely a force to you?" Miss Burner asked, and continued to question us something in the following way: "Do you really think of God as Jesus Christ said He was, 'God is as personal as a father'?" Do you realize that the only adequate knowledge we have of God is through Jesus Christ? Do you want an attractive and irresistible personality? Then why not take the most attractive and wonderful the world has ever known as a model? When do we feel freest, that our personality is released? After all, it is when we forget ourselves, our own personality, isn't it, and become as Jesus Christ, a releaser of other personalities."

Miss Young very definitely made us realize that learning to know our Bible is the way of meeting the necessity of Christ to religion and personality. Miss Young made her suggestions very concrete by showing us how to really study our Bible. Imagination, Miss Young said, was the part of our mind we did not use in reading our Bible, and that we can make it so much more real if we use imagination as well as reason and memory. For example, did you ever read the stories of the life of Christ in the first person, as though you were the person—the woman of Samaria—who was telling the story?

Other leaders of the Council were Miss Dosef, from the Student Field Committee, on "Our Younger Girls"; Miss Lena Creasy, from the Lynchburg Industrial Club, "A Better Industrial Order"; Dr. Rollins, "The Necessity of Christ to the Church"; Miss Young, "The Necessity of Christ to the Whole College Community." Miss Steele led the group meeting of the World Fellowship Committee; Miss Roper, the Secretary of R. M. W. C., the meeting of the Presidents; Miss Lumpkin, Field Student Secretary, the Membership Committee; Miss Burner, Religious Education; Miss Dosef, Service; Miss Young, Social; Helen Draper, Finance and U. R. Meetings.

The Sweet Briar Council has meant a wonderful training experience and a new inspiration to every girl, and she has brought it back, hoping that she can adequately impart it to you.

TRAINING SCHOOL FACULTY RECEPTION.

The Faculty of the Training School on Friday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock delightfully entertained the student teachers in the kindergarten room of the Training School.

The room was artistically decorated with narcissus and the delicate pink and white blossoms of wild honeysuckle.

The Mandolin and Guitar Club of the Normal School played during the afternoon while the guests enjoyed meeting the faculty in an informal way.

The dainty refreshments which were served carried out the color scheme in green and white. The favors were a beautiful blossom of white narcissus.

The latter part of the afternoon was given over to the faculty and guests for dancing.

THE STAFF SENDS DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE.

The Conference of the Southern Intercollegiate Newspapers which is to be held at the University of Richmond, Richmond, Virginia, April 22d and 23d, is a forward step that will mean progress to the Southern college papers. The program for the two days will include addresses by prominent newspaper men, round table discussions and many other interesting features.

The staff has elected Mildred Dickenson and Virginia Anderson to represent the ROSTONDA.

Mr. New Love: "This lettuce tastes beastly. Did you wash it?"

Mrs. New Love: "Of course I did, darling—and with perfumed soap, too!"
—London Mail.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The Salem Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association has been reorganized by Miss Pauline Camper with a membership of eighteen. Miss Louise Denit was elected president and Miss Ruth Robinson secretary-treasurer.

An informal reception was held by the chapter at Hotel Salem Friday, March 18, 1921, the guests being the members of the faculties of Roanoke College, Elizabeth College and of the city schools, with Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the State Normal School for Women, Farmville, as guest of honor. The color scheme of yellow and white was tastefully carried out in the decorations and in the delicious ice cream.

Before the reception proper an informal meeting of the chapter was held, when Dr. Jarman talked of the development of S. N. S. in the past ten years.

On April 8th a chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association was formed for Charlottesville and vicinity. Twelve members were enrolled, and more are expected to join at the next meeting. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was shown.

The Petersburg Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association was organized April 12th with sixteen members and the following officers: President, Mrs. Morton James (Miss Lucille Cousins); Vice-President, Miss Elizabeth Jarrett; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Pattie Percival. The alumnae of Hopewell and City Point will be members of this chapter. The chief interest of the members at present is Normal League work, though they expect to be active along other lines also.

LAUGHON-RICHARDSON.

The wedding of Miss Alice T. Richardson, a former student of the Normal School, to Mr. David C. Laughon, of Pulaski, took place on April 6th at the home of the bride on High Street, Farmville, Va. It was a beautiful tableau wedding. After the ceremony the friends of the family were delightfully entertained at a reception. Several of the Normal School girls were among those present.

The following alumnae have recently been guests in school: Elizabeth Lewis, Mary Meade Mason, Langhorne Lewis, Isabel Kinnear, Elizabeth Forbes, Estelle Cate.

We are glad to hear that Antoinette Parker, who has been in Dr. Hardy's hospital for the last week after undergoing a serious operation, is very much better.

Frances McKan had as her guest for the weekend Mrs. Weekly, of Portsmouth.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BEASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Geraldyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

It is better to wear out than to rust out.

"One mustn't waste time, for that is the stuff life's made of."

TWO OR FOUR.

Under the direction of a faculty committee and other school officials a special effort is being made to encourage the students to continue their professional work for four years instead of two. Perhaps one reason why more girls do not continue through the four-year course is because they enter the Normal with an idea that two years of preparation is all that is required or expected of a public school teacher. The fallacy of this argument has already been proved, especially in regard to high school teachers. The Course Four girl in two years prepares herself to teach in the first two years of high school only, and even then the very superintendent who employs her often advises that she continue school, although he may be in need of teachers at the time. A number of third and fourth professional girls now in school have taught in the State after two years of Normal work. It is because they felt the inadequacy of their training that they have returned to their Alma Mater to secure a degree. Farmville is especially equipped to furnish the State with efficient high school teachers. It is for this reason that she desires that all Course Four girls leaving her campus should have the best training possible—i. e., that they be holders of a B. S. in education.

As members of the student body you can do your part toward furthering the degree work. Let us not consider graduation until we have asked ourselves the question, "Why am I not returning for a degree?" Let us create a sentiment or atmosphere that will popularize the course. Let it be expected of every first professional that she become a fourth professional in time. Surely the average college freshman hopes to be a senior, and why may not this be true in a Normal. Do not ask your neighbor, "Why are you coming back," but let your question be, "Why aren't you finishing?"

The literary societies have been asked to take this matter up and are arranging special programs or "drives" to arouse interest. In co-operation with this work the Rotunda proposes to publish a series of editorials on the subject for the next few weeks.

OFFICE NEWS.

Dr. Jarman visited Richmond on the 16th for the purpose of organizing an alumni chapter there.

Five dollars has been paid on the Building Fund since the last report.

The following girls have enrolled as students of the Normal School next fall:

Doris Bailey Fletcher, Parksley, Accomac county.

Flementine Ball Pierce, Nuttsville, Lancaster county.

FOR HOPE.

You will not see, unless you raise your eyes.
The tender gray of skies
Has rift to let its lining through.
And it is blue.

And as from out his heav'n God takes the sun
When day is done,
He sets, before the myriads fling afar,
For hope—one star.

P. M.

MY CREED.

The sun was a monster in madness.
The earth was a ghoul of sadness.
The wind tore me in its gladness.
To rend and rip and sear.

And the God in His heaven forgot me.
And the demons in hell all fought me.
And the people of earth all taught me
That hate was the creed of life.

But now all the world is gladness,
And the moon is sweetest madness.
The breeze has the tenderest sadness.
For love has changed it all.

May the God in His heaven protect me.
The demons of life all reject me.
And the service of love direct me,
For love is the creed of life.

"Mamma," said little Eloise, "do men ever go to heaven?"
"Why, of course, my dear. Why do you ask?"
"Because I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."
"Well, some men do go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave."

Though they had never met b-4,
What cause had she 2-care?
She loved him 10-derly because
He was a 1,000,000-aire.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store
Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.
Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

Saturday, April 23d, a joint meeting of the old and new cabinet will be held in the Association room. The old and new advisory board will meet with the members of both cabinets. The purpose of this meeting is to show the new cabinet and advisory board the work that has been done this year, so that they may take up the work and carry it on. The reports for the year will be read at this meeting and the work of both cabinets discussed.

On Wednesday night, April 27th, the "installation service" of the new cabinet will take place in the auditorium. It is at this time that the exchange of office is made and that the new cabinet takes its pledge for the coming year, accepting the charge of work from the old cabinet to successfully carry it on. The president at this service hands over to her successor the obligations of the promotion of the work for this kingdom on and around our camps.

The service consists of a candle procession, and is a beautiful and solemn occasion.

The girls who had birthdays in March and April were invited to go on a bacon bat given by the Y. W. C. A. on Saturday morning. There were thirty-five girls in the party, and they had great fun cooking breakfast in the meadows.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Cunningham Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting Tuesday, April 12th. The topic, "The League of Women Voters," was used by the society and through the request of the Y. W. C. A. The following program was given:

Frances MacKan: "The Working Program of the League of Women Voters."

Lucile McIlhenny: "How the National League Works Through the States."

Maria Meredith: "League of Women Voters Launches a Big Program."

Grace Carwile: "Our First Political Campaign."

Madeline Fitzgerald: "The Call to the League."

The four literary societies will give an open program next week, with one representative from each. Grace Carwile will represent Cunningham.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular roll call meeting on April 12, 1921. The program consisted of three interesting talks on the following subjects:

"What the National League of Women Voters Is," given by Mary Bolen.

"The Present Aims of the National League of Women Voters," given by Blanche Conwell.

"The Legal Status of Women in Industry in Virginia," given by Mary Stephenson.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Grainger visited our society and gave a very interesting talk on "How Each Society Can Work Up Interest to Persuade the Girls to Return for Their B. S. Degree."

A committee was appointed to see each girl in the society and find out her reasons pro and con in regard to their returning.

Our next regular meeting will consist of a program devoted to the question of the B. S. degree.

THE RUFFNER SOCIETY.

The Ruffner Literary Society met Tuesday afternoon at 2:15. This program was given to the study of the "Virginia League of Women Voters." Talks were given on the following phases of the subject: "What Is Meant by the Virginia League of Women Voters?" by Mary Sue Burrows; "The Educational Program of This League," by Hilda Bailey; "Legislative Program of This League," by Winnie Hines; "What Is the Proposed Smith-Towner Bill and Its Provisions," by Sarah Stubblefield; "The Need of Such Legislation," by Inez Prince.

ARGUS PROGRAM.

A special program was arranged for the literary societies for the first week of April. The subject was "The Purpose and Aims of the League of Woman Voters." The following topics were taken up in the Argus Literary Society: "The Purpose of the Virginia League of Women Voters," by Evelyn Clayton; "The Specific Aims of the League," by Minor Jones, and a paper, "Legal Statutes for Women in Industry in the United States," by Nell McArdle. After the literary numbers a Victrola record by Caruso was played.

SAYINGS OF UNCLE MOSES.

"Der has been a motion put befo' de city council of Farmville to provide rocken chairs along der sidewalk on High Street to give comfort to der gentlemen folks when dey wishes to watch dem Normal girls."

"Jack 'lowed to'ther day dat after der folks of Farmville hear all dem sermons at de Baptist church dey been so good dat his bootlegging business sho' has been poor."

"Hit 'peers like de only difference betwix dis here Normal School and asylums is dat one am normal and t'other abnormal, and der ain't no difference 'tall between im and prisons."

"My old woman am always bragging about her brother killing ten Germans in France and der government givin' him a stripe. I told dat woman dat warn't nothin', for my uncle killed one man and de Government covered him with stripes."

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RGY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawins, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

A Girl's Essay On Boys.

Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by and by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam He said to Himself, "Well, I think I can do better than that if I try again," and He made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men.

Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half the world would be girls and the other half dolls. My papa is so nice I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy.

Man was made and on the seventh day he rested. Woman was then made, and she has never rested since.

JOKES.

"Among the memorable dates in history," wrote a boy, "was Antony's date with Cleopatra."—Selected.

V. P. I. to S. N. S.: "I thought every girl here would have her hair down her back." Miss S. N. S.: "Why?"

V. P. I.: "Because I saw so many hairpins on the walk."

A man speaks.
Ours not to reason why,
Ours but to put a "2" shoe on a "5" foot.
—Ward Belmont.

"Don't mention it," said the burglar as he gagged the old lady.—Record.

"H'm! Leaves of absence," mused the unpopular professor as he turned over the pages of his attendance book. —Sun Dial.

Maudie: "Ignorance is bliss."
Louise: "You seem very happy."

Doctor: "How's the patient's heart acting?"

Nurse: "Splendid, doc; he's proposed to me twice already."—Tar Baby.

She: "George, you looked awfully foolish when you proposed to me?"

He: "Well, very likely I was." Opinion.

Diner: Waiter, how came a button in this salad?

Waiter: That's from the dressing, sir.
Ex.

GIRLS !

Do you read the advertisements in
The Rotunda ?

Stop and read them over and then PAT-
RONIZE those who advertise.

Remember, it is the advertisers and subscribers who make your paper possible.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

Student Government Association.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Lily Thornhill.....Vice-President
Louise Brewer.....Secretary
Elizabeth Woodward.....Treasurer

Fourth Professional.

Katherine Stallard.....President
Grace Beard.....Vice-President
Edith Harrel.....Secretary-Treasurer

Third Professional.

Mary Lindsey.....President
Virginia Blosingame.....Vice-President
Mildred Dickinson.....Secretary-Treasurer

Second Professional.

Elizabeth Moring.....President
Thelma Yost.....Vice-President
Carolyn Harrell.....Secretary
Margaret Traylor.....Treasurer

First Professional.

Christine Shields.....President
Kate Trent.....Vice-President
Elizabeth Finch.....Secretary
Julia Asher.....Treasurer

Fourth Year High School.

Virginia Lindsey.....President

Third Year High School.

Elizabeth Bugg.....President
Elise Anderson.....Vice-President
Caroline Morrow.....Secretary-Treasurer

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth McClung.....President
Katherine Stallard.....President

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 239, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"
Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT
PAUL T. BOGGS
Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century
Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality
Meals At All Hours
FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.
We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings
FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of
Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

*They Say That Old Farmville
She Ain't Got No Pep.*

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

*She's Got Pep
All the While!
She's Got Pep
All the While!*

Vol. 1. No. 25.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 29, 1921.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY PROGRAM GREAT SUCCESS.

For several days prior to April 22d there was a little fear in the heart of S. N. S. that nature would not smile on her and give a fair day for Field Day. When the great day arrived, however, and the sun was shiny bright, all the girls, dressed in gym suits and their class colors, assembled in the auditorium to start on the grand march.

Katherine Stallard, president of the Student Government Association and the fourth professional class, led the grand march with great dignity. Then came our dignified degree girls. They were followed by the other classes, each led by the class president. All the girls were looking their best, and well, now, would it be wise to say which class looked best?

After marching up High Street to Blue's store and back to school, they marched in excellent order to the athletic field. The program follows:

1. Calisthenics drills—First place, Seniors. Although the Seniors won first place, the other classes, especially Third Year High School, did excellent work in their drills.

2. Shuttle relay—First place, Fourth Year High School. How those Fourth Years can run, but the dignified Seniors are not so slow!

3. Running high jump—For form, Seniors; for height, Juniors.

The Seniors are graceful, but someone suggested that next year we use high bridge or a rainbow for jumping purposes to let Julia Clark show how high she can jump!

4. Potato race—First place, Fourth Year High School. Second place, Juniors; third place, Seniors.

My goodness, are all those High School and Junior girls "farmettes"? They certainly can handle potatoes in a hurry.

5. Forty-yard dash—First place, Seniors. Problem: If Violetta Wilson can "dash" forty yards in one-two hundred and seventy-sixth of a second, how long will it take her to reach the training school, leaving S. N. S. at eighty-forty-five A. M.?

6. Arch goal relay—First place, Third Year High School; second place, Seniors; third place, Fourth Year High School.

7. Baseball far throw—First place, Fourth Year High School; second place, Juniors; third place, Fourth Year High School.

The Fourth Year High School Class is planning a trip to the Potomac River to practice throwing across it. George Washington did, you know.

8. Three-legged race—First place, Third Year High School; second place, Seniors; third place, Juniors.

That is what you call working under difficulties, but they got there just the same!

Perseverance has its reward.

9. Suitcase race—First place, Seniors; second place, Juniors; third place, Third Year High School.

If no further education is obtained here, we have proof in the Senior Class that lightning speed can be acquired in dressing. Hereafter the rising bell for Seniors should ring at 7:29 A. M. This, we are sure, would give ample time to reach the dining-room at 7:30.

10. Hurdling—First place, Seniors; second place, Juniors; third place, Fourth Year High School.

We saved the best until last.

The score for the day as announced Friday:

Seniors—30 points.

Juniors—18 points.

Just where would the cup look better, in the Junior or Senior parlor?

This will be decided after the tennis tournament and baseball game Saturday afternoon.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

Next week you will know just which class is to claim the cup. The tennis games are being played every afternoon, with a big crowd of spectators. An account of singles and doubles will be written and appear in the next paper.

The baseball games between the classes would have been played off by now if the weather had not put a stop to them. They, too, will have been played by next week. We'd just like to know who is going to be queen of the diamond.

OFFICIAL NOTES.

President J. L. Jarman was in Richmond on Friday, April 16th, at the organization meeting of the Farmville Alumnae Association branch at that place. He was met by eighty-five alumnae of the school, including one graduate in the first class, 1885, and many from succeeding classes. Miss Sadie Armstrong was elected president of the Richmond branch and Miss Martha Fitzgerald, secretary.

Many new courses have been planned for the coming year to meet the demands of the rapidly growing work leading to the degree of B. S. in Education. The Library has also added new books for this work and will secure more in the near future.

Miss Ada Bierbower, Miss Virginia Bugg and Mr. J. M. Grainger were at the Cumberland High School last Tuesday evening and served as judges in a debating contest there.

The regularly weekly assemblies of the Training School, instead of being conducted, as formerly, by the supervisors, are in charge of the pupils in the different classes, and the exercises show special phases of the class-room work. The eighth and ninth grades had charge of the first program last week. They brought before the rest of the school their work in journalism as carried out in the English department. At this week's assembly the Seventh Grade showed the part the South played in the Civil War. Charts, pictures, poems and songs made the program very interesting.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Dr. Jarman on Saturday, April 16th, attended a meeting of the Richmond branch of the State Normal School Alumnae. Eighty-five were present with representatives from the first, class our Normal School sent out and from classes down to the class of 1920. Dr. Jarman gave an interesting address. Other talks were given also. A fine luncheon was served and a genuine good time was enjoyed by all.—Farmville Herald. Taylor, Jordan, Misses Mary Noel, Lurline Moring, Margaret Hundley, Elizabeth Hundley, Emily James, Helen Welsh, Rose Oliver.

Miss Noel is from Covington and is principal of the City Point school. Mr. Hoek, who is from Philadelphia, is connected with the DuPont Company.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Wednesday afternoon, April 13th, from 4:30 to 6 o'clock, an informal tea was given by Mrs. Claiborne Wimbish at her home, 1 Pierce Street, City Point, in honor of Miss Mary Milton Noel (1910) announcing her engagement to R. K. Hoek. The house was prettily decorated with the early spring flowers, the color scheme being green and white. Little Maud Wimbish held a basket of rosebuds, to which was tied the tiny announcement cards, and upon arrival each guest took a rose. The dining-room table was uniquely arranged, and in the center stood a doll, dressed as a bride. Miss Lurline Moring, Emily James and Helen Welsh assisted Mrs. Wimbish in serving.

Among those present were Messrs. James Jeffrey Elder, D. L. Elder, T. B. Robertson, Richard Epps, Ran Jones, Munson, Short,

The following Alumnae were guests for the week-end of April 22d: Laura Thomas, Katherine Riddle, Gyp Johnson, Tex Howson, Louise Garrett, Louise Childs, Nellie Seabury, Laura Meredith, Peggy Wannaker, Florence Penick, Katherine Allen.

Miss Pearl Young, of Farmville, and Miss Ellen Carlson, of Chairmont, will return next year for third professional work.

Mrs. James, of Newport News, was a week-end guest of friends.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwell,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

Who can say that S. N. S. hasn't good athletic girls?

Just what do you think of the spirit shown on field. It was fine, wasn't it?

And don't you think everything went off like a breeze?

Field Day was certainly a great success on the 23d. Miss Barlow is to be highly congratulated on the plans of the day and the way in which they were carried out under her direction. Speed and form were the watchwords of the day. It was due to persistent practice under her skilled direction that all four classes were able to participate in the events and show ability in both particulars.

Mention may be made of the other officials of the day. The judges were Dr. Tidy-man, Miss Culpin and Miss Haynes for one set; Miss Spear, Miss Dietrich and Mrs.
Stokes for the other. The fair judgments and just decisions of the judges were appreciated by everybody on the field. Mr.
Coimer was announcer and scorekeeper.
Elizabeth Moring served as clerk of the course, and was assisted by the heads of each class. Sara Moore acted as starter.
Helen Draper and Virginia Blasingame were inspectors for the day. Mary Finch was appointed as press agent.

The co-operation shown in every particular is one of the most admirable things about the whole day. And that is one of the best things about athletics. Let's always work together like we did down on the field!

Seniors, did you take note of just how Field Day was run, so that you can manage one if you are athletic manager of the school in which you will teach? These things will be valuable to you in your work if you want to be a good, all-round teacher.

DEGREE GIRLS GRANTED PRIVILEGES

The following privileges have been extended to the members of the Third and Fourth Professional Classes by Dr. Jarman and the Home Department:

1. Permission to go down town any time during the day on business.

2. Permission to go to church Sunday night and also prayer services during the week in groups of four or more unchaperoned.

3. Permission to go to the movies Friday nights in groups of four or more unchaperoned (i. e., not in line).

4. Permission to go to the movies in groups of four or more on week nights on special occasions unchaperoned.

5. Permission to keep lights on in rooms from 10 to 11 P. M., provided all occupants of room are third or fourth professionals, and provided it is agreeable to all parties.

6. Permission to go to the postoffice down town when necessary.

The degree girls in the past have had no privileges not enjoyed by the second professionals, aside from that of using the library from 10 to 11 P. M.

It is felt by Dr. Jarman and members of these classes that these privileges will not be abused.

NEW BOOKS SECURED BY LIBRARY.

We have much to be proud of in our school. Among those things which help to make for an efficient institution is a well equipped and well manager library. Surely we may be proud of our library and praise the management of it! The librarian and assistants deserve our praise for the efficient way in which they have conducted their work—for the classification and cataloging of books and for the new volumes secured.
A wide-awake library is one that gets new books.

The following is a list of books of fiction received in the S. N. S. library since the opening of the fall term, September, 1920:
Alden, Raymond M.—Why the Chimes
Rang.

Butler, Samuel—Way of All Flesh.
Wodehouse, P. G.—Little Warrior.
Conrad, Joseph—The Rescue.
Snaith, J. A.—Adventurous Lady.
Merrick, Leonard—House of Lynch.
Merrick, Leonard—Conrad in Quest of His Youth.

Macaulay, Rose—Potterism.
O'Brien, Edward J.—Best Short Stories of 1919.

Wharton, Edith—Age of Innocence.
Walpole, Hugh—The Captives.
Cabell, James Branch—Rivet in Grandfather's Neck.

DeMorgan, William—Somehow Good.
Grey, Zane—Mysterious Rider.
Mackenzie, Compton—Poor Relations.

Lewis, Sinclair—Main Street.
Fitzgerald, F. S.—This Side of Paradise.
Tolstoi, Leo—Anna Karenina.

Parker, Gilbert—No Defence.
Backus, Mrs. Henry—Career of Dr.
Beaver.

Bachelor, Irving—Prodigal Village.
Duncan, Norman—Doctor Luke of the Labrador.

Blackmore, R. D.—Lorna Doone.
Johnston, Mrs. Mary—Audrey.
Barrie, J. M.—Little Minister.
Conner, Ralph—Man From Glengarry.
Bennett, John—Master Skylark.
Poole, Ernest—His Family.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
in

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

In order that our treasurer may be able to turn over a clean record, with all dues collected and all bills paid, to her successor, the Y. W. C. A. is putting on its final financial drive. We have devised a new scheme and feel that we will have the support of every girl in school. The dining room tables are competing with each other for a perfect record. As soon as all dues at a table are paid in full, a money bag is pasted by the number of that table, on a huge poster, on the bulletin board. At present money bags may be found after the numbers 8, 15, 17, 35, 42, 47, 50. We hope that the poster will soon be weighted down with money bags.

Old Cabinet Goes Out of Office.

The new cabinet has been installed and will have its first meeting Saturday. From now on they will have charge of the work of the Y. W. C. A.

The old cabinet, though feeling sad at the thought that its work is over, gladly welcomes the new cabinet and feels confident that its successors will carry on the work to the honor of the Y. W. C. A.

The cabinet wishes to thank all of the members of the Y. W. C. A. for their hearty support and co-operation, and to express its lasting love and appreciation for all Miss Steele has done. The work with her for the Y. W. C. A. has been a help and a pleasure to all cabinet members, and they feel that, as they leave school to take their places in the world, her love and counsel will follow, thus helping them to live up to their ideals and to carry the work of our Father into all they do.

The old cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. bid you farewell.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE.

The Southern Intercollegiate Student Government Association met at Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., April 12th-15th. This conference, which proved a source of inspiration to all those present to whom student government work is entrusted, was composed of representatives from the best colleges south of the Mason-Dixon line, namely: Winthrop, Woman's College of Alabama, Shorter, Salem, Hollins, Mississippi State, Alabama Institute, Brenau, Coker, Meredith, Randolph-Macon, North Carolina College for Women, Florida State, Sophie Newcomb, Converse, Anderson, Auburn, Trinity, Greenville, Woman's College, Greensboro Woman's College, Westhampton, Sweet Briar, and Farmville.

The purpose of the conference was to bring before the delegates from different colleges problems for mutual help and suggestion. Not only problems concerning student government, but any problems affecting college life were discussed, and it was very helpful and interesting to know the problems of other colleges and how they have met situations that have been difficult for our school to deal with.

The convention helps colleges to organize self-government associations and gives to those schools who are just starting it the benefit of years of experience. This year special attention was given to the promotion of student government in high schools. It was felt that if student government was extended to the high schools the students would come earlier to feel just what honor and individual responsibility means, and that much of the trouble and misunderstandings concerning it during the first year of college would be eliminated.

The constructive side of student government was discussed most fully, and it was clearly shown that in it there are great possibilities for good, especially in development of citizenship, which makes it indispensable in women's colleges today.

Agness Scott was a delightful hostess, and in the various forms of entertainment afforded the girls from every college had an opportunity to know each other socially, thereby getting the other colleges' point of view in that informal way.

The following is the program that was provided and enjoyed by all:

Tuesday.

5:00-6:00—Welcome tea by student government.

6:20—Supper.

7:30-8:00—Sing.

8:00-10:00—Play, "Three Pills in a Box" by the Blackfriars.

Wednesday.

8:00-10:00—Closed session.

10:00-10:30—Chapel.

10:30-11:00—Tea by Y. W. C. A.

11:00-1:00—Closed session.

2:30—Drive through Atlanta by Alumnae.

8:00—Cotillion Club dance in the gymnasium.

Thursday.

8:00-10:00—Closed session.

10:00-10:30—Chapel.

10:30-11:00—House tea.

11:00-1:00—Closed meeting.

2:00-3:00—Open meeting.

3:30—Trip to Stone Mountain.

8:00-10:00—Group meeting.

Friday.

8:00-10:00—Closed meeting.

10:00-10:30—Chapel.

10:30-11:00—Tea.

11:00-1:00—Closed meeting.

A FRIEND.

Ever ready, ever true.

Always near a loving you:

When you excel and make her proud.

When you're moody, when you're loud.

Makes no matter what you do.

She's always near a loving you.

RIDDLE.

Ques. Why is a torn-up poem no good?
Ans. Because its rhyme is broken.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg,

Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawin, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Hagler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Cashier. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

FROM THE COTILLION CLUB.

Well, sir, when Dr. Jarman said, "Why certainly those girls may attend the dance" (meaning the "Campused League"), we just naturally couldn't wait to ask those musical geniuses from Hampden-Sidney town to bring their violins, saxophones and pianos in to play for the dance.

Promptly at 8:30 these celebrities de music started, and we had the most grandest ole time we've ever had. I tell you that Tiger Novelty orchestra certainly can play, and if any one should ask you, Mr. Wade surely can put pep in the punch.

We just never have had such a good time, four fair maids who we've found can trip the light fantastic. Lots of old girls were back and all they could say was that it was a good dance.

Terpsichorily,
COTILLION CLUB.

THE FUTURE.

In you, O innocent and restless youth.

Our hopes and future lie;

By your work, your love and your discontent.

Our nation shall never die.

In the labor of war you found your birth.

From pain all things that be

Doth come, to fight in a struggling world

For our future posterity.

Your fight is long and your fight is hard.

But youth, your will is strong.

So on and on and up you climb.

And win, though the way be long.

Oh, clear-eyed youth, ambitious youth,

Child of a restless age.

To make a nation great and strong

This is thy heritage.

SPRINGTIME.

Springtime is coming

Over the lea.

Song birds are trilling

For you and me;

Robed in their new gowns

Flowers and trees

Noel and beckon in the breeze.

Springtime is lasting

If we could see

Inspiration abiding

In you and me;

Veiled in their loveliness

Happiness and peace

Possess joys that never cease.

FRANK'S MISHAP.

Jim: "Did you hear that Frank was stuck by a rattler?"

Joe: "No! How did it happen?"

Jim: "He bought a second-hand flier."

Those who live long enough will find that sometimes things solemn in themselves induce laughter. For the benefit of those who may not yet have realized this fact, a few ridiculous solemnities, in the way of epigrams, follow:

From a cemetery near Cincinnati:

"Here lies Peter Jenkins.

Who came to this city and died

For the benefit of his health."

"On the twenty-second of June Jonathan Fiddle went out of tune."

"Him as was, is gone from we.

So we as is, must go to he."

"Little boy,

Pair of skates,

Broken ice,

Golden gates."

"Little girl,

Box of paints,

Sucked her brush,

Joined the saints."

GIRLS !

Do you read the advertisements in

The Rotunda ?

Stop and read them over and then PAT-
RONIZE those who advertise.

Remember, it is the advertisers and subscribers who make your paper possible.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

CONTEST ENDS

MAY 14

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

HAVE YOU
SUBMITTED
ANYTHING?

Vol. 1. No. 26.

Farmville, Virginia.

May 6, 1921.

MEETING OF COLLEGE NEWSPAPERS HELD IN RICHMOND.

Twenty Southern Papers Organize Association.

On April 22d and 23d representatives from twenty Southern college newspapers met at the University of Richmond for the purpose of discussing matters of journalistic interest and organize a Southern Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association. Mr. Charles F. Leek, editor of the "Richmond Collegian," was elected chairman of the conference. Among the prominent speakers present were Dr. John W. Cunliffe, of Columbia University; Dr. Douglas Freeman, editor of the News-Leader of Richmond; Dr. F. W. Boatwright, president of the University of Richmond, and John Stewart Bryan, secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

The spirit of the conference and the enthusiasm of the delegates was best shown in the round table discussions. The suggestions given at these meetings proved to be both interesting and helpful.

The constitution for the Southern Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association as submitted by H. D. Cotton, of Johns Hopkins, chairman of the committee on organization, provides for a yearly meeting of the officials of the organization, consisting of a president, three vice-presidents and a secretary-treasurer. Only newspapers published at least bi-weekly throughout the school year are eligible to membership. The committee on nominations made its report through Mr. R. Doubles, of Davidson College. The election of officers was as follows: President, Mr. Charles F. Leek, of University of Richmond; Secretary-Treasurer, R. E. Garst, of Richmond University; Vice-Presidents, Burkella Wells, of Randolph-Macon Woman's College; E. R. Denmark, of Emory University, Georgia, and Mr. M. L. Deitch, of the University of Tennessee.

It is hoped that a large number of colleges, for various reasons not represented at the conference, will apply for membership to the association before the next meeting.

The program for the conference was as follows:

Friday, April 22, 1921.

10:00 A. M. Election of Mr. Charles F. Leek as chairman of the conference.

Address of welcome by Dr. F. W. Boatwright, president of the University of Richmond.

Response by Mr. R. R. Hall, of Washington and Lee University.

Appointment of committees.

11:00 A. M. Opening address by John Stewart Bryan, secretary American Newspaper Pub-

Concluded on third page.

DANCE GIVEN IN FARMVILLE ARMORY.

On the night of the 28th the local Alumni of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Hampden-Sidney College, together with the Monogram Club of Hampden-Sidney, gave a spring german at the Farmville armory in honor of the teams of both schools. The decorations were streamers of crimson and gold, garnet and gray, and evergreens banded the walls. The favors were bouquets of sweet peas and roses. The music was furnished by the Old Dominion orchestra, and iced punch was served during the evening. Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Winnie Hiner, Miss Frances Shelton and Mrs. Blanton were among the chaperones. The german was attended by the following girls from S. N. S.: Sara Hughes, Lila Newsoms, Spottswood Wimbish, Cecile Ward, Constance Whitlock, Eliza Davis, Emyra McNeil, Mildred Dickinson, Louise Davis, Margaret Liebrick, Virginia Blasingame, Virginia Hardin, Eleanor Webster, Katherine Coleman, Frances McKa n, Rena Luck and Eleanor Brooks.

A. E. F. MINSTREL.

On the evening of April 28th, in the school auditorium, the American Legion gave a minstrel, which was repeated on the evening of the 29th. This entertainment, which was one of the best of the season, was given for the benefit of building a legion home and community house. It would hardly have been suspected that the boys were amateurs, so well did they perform.

The programme was as follows:

Scene I.

Bunch of A. E. F. soldiers discovered in a hut waiting for Elsie Janis to show up. Specialty by Dodge, Poole, Doynie and Epes.

Scene II.

Overture, "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag and Smile, Smile, Smile."

Patriotic medley States of Georgia, California, Kentucky, Maine and Michigan.

"Star Spangled Banner."

Songs and Jokes.

Songs as follows:

"Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," by Hubbard.

"Moon Shine," by Doynie.

"Oh, What a Pal Was Mary," by Poole.

"Wild Women," by Watkins.

"Belgian Rose," by Palmore.

Selections by Farmville Male Quartette.

Scene III.

A farce, "Behind the Turkish Front."

Characters.

His Majesty, Lieut. C. Willard Hart
Attendants: L. E. Hubbard, F. N. Watkins

Back Privates, Crenshaw and Cowan
Unmentionable Dancer, Doynie

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR THE WEEK-END

On Friday, May 6th, at 8:30 P. M., the final number of the Lyceum Course entertainments will be presented by the Dramatic Club in the school auditorium. The play will be "The Royal Family"—a royalty play—and is considered to be the best given by the club this year. Come and see a romantic love scene between a real prince and princess.

For several years S. N. S. has been planning to celebrate May Day in the old and attractive fashion, but not until this spring have plans materialized. On Saturday, May 7th, the May queen will be crowned with all ceremony on the school campus. Lois Claude has been chosen as queen, and the court will be composed of representatives elected from the different classes. The training school children will take an active part in the dances. May Day bids fair to be a gala occasion at S. N. S.

The Pi Kappa Omega Society announces the election of Miss Edith Harrel to its membership.

LITERARY SOCIETIES HOLD OPEN MEETING.

On Tuesday, April 26th, the members of all the literary societies assembled in the auditorium for an open meeting. Many members of the faculty and home department were present. The program consisted of talks given by representatives from the different societies on various planks adopted by the League of Women Voters. The program was as follows:

The League of Women Voters. Its Organization and Platform, by Helen Draper (Pierian).

Child Welfare, Daphne Gilliam (Pierian).

Women in Industry in the U. S., Bess Rush (Argus).

Women in Industry in Virginia, May Stephenson (Athenian).

The Sheppard-Towner Bill, Grace Carwile (Cunningham).

The Smith-Towner Bill, Inez Prince (Ruffner).

Daughter (having just received a beautiful set of mink skins from her father): "What I don't see is how such wonderful furs can come from such a low, sneaking, little beast."

Father: "I don't ask for thanks, dear, but I really do insist on respect."—American Legion Weekly.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriett Judson Murrow, Pauline Timberlake, Margaree Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

STAY, STICK AND STUDY.

At certain times in our lives we are confronted with the problem of making decisions. We may make them ourselves or others may make them for us, but the problem has to be solved just the same. Such a decision had to be made when we finished high school and were forced to consider whether or not we would go off to school, and if we went where we would go. Now that some of us are on the eve of completing our two-year course at S. N. S. and about to receive our coveted diplomas, we have come to another crossing of the roads and the way that we take may have a greater influence on our lives than we now know. The coming year will show the decision we have made. Various fields may lie open to us, but the question which must be answered now is, "What must I do next fall?" Shall the opening of the school year find us teaching or being taught? The trials of the teaching profession are hard, and we can only meet and overcome them by adequately preparing ourselves to face any situation. Do we feel that we have had a sufficient amount of training to enable us to teach in the higher grades? Many of us who are preparing to be high school teachers, however much we may appreciate the two years of normal training we have had, realize that our education is lacking in real subject matter. What are we going to do about it? The third and fourth professional years offer good, stiff courses in fundamental subjects. Let us not fail to realize that S. N. S. has something better to offer than the long desired teacher's certificate. We should not leave Farmville until we have received the best training that our school can offer. When we make our decision, let us be fair to our pupils-to-be, fair to the school, and fair to ourselves. In other words, let us stay, stick and study for two more years.

She: Bob, you seem so distant since you traded your other car for a Ford.

He: It's all Mr. Ford's fault. I have to feed the gas with my right hand.—Panther.

O goodness! She is wandering in her mind!

That's all right; she won't go far.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

The tennis tournament, a part of the Field Day program was played off Saturday afternoon. The Seniors, who were represented by Mary Jefferson and Cecil Hargave, won with a score of two sets straight. Harriett Rucker and Kate Davis played for the Juniors. Both teams played well with snappy strokes and good judgment.

The final game in the single tennis tournament was played off Monday afternoon. Delma Van Sickler versus Kate Davis. The game was of great interest because it determined the school champion.

The winner, Kate Davis, will be presented with a tennis racket by the Athletic Association.

OUR ALUMNAE.

The following is a letter received from one of our alumnae. The suggestion that each alumnae chapter have a correspondent to the Rotunda is a splendid idea and will be acted upon in the near future. The Rotunda would like to have letters and suggestions from other alumnae subscribers.

The Editor of The Rotunda.

State Normal School.

Farmville, Va.

Dear Editor:

My copy of the Rotunda arrives on Monday while I am at school, and it gives me something to look forward to all day.

I enjoy reading it so much, and especially the last copy, because I was delighted to see a good bit of alumnae news, and I wish you could always have as much. It is the best way we have of finding out what is happening to our old friends out in the State.

May I suggest that you have an alumnae editor, and now since associations are being so well organized you might have a correspondent to the Rotunda in each one.

Of course, what is happening in school is the most interesting thing, but we alumnae take pride in the alumnae column, and I for one would like to see it grow.

I think the Rotunda is great, and am sure it is going to lead a long and glorious life.

With best wishes for its success.

A True Normalite.

JANET H. PEEK.

All through the book Ovid

Doth the hero weep and cry:

We're glad, because this keeps the book
From being awfully dry.

—Exchange.

Where QUALITY Counts

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

VISITORS SPEAK IN CHAPEL.

Monday morning, April 25th. Dr. Anderson, author of "The Blue Moon," gave an interesting talk on Gene Stratton Porter and her family life, also mentioning some of the reasons for her popularity.

Wednesday morning Dr. McKee made an appeal for helpers in "The Near East Relief," especially appealing to young womanhood, whose affection has always proven so beneficial in causes of this sort.

On Thursday Mr. Fleming lectured about the correct care of the feet and their relation to the proper functioning of our whole body.

IMPRESSIONS OF FIELD DAY.

The following are sample compositions written by Training School children of the Fourth Grade:

The Thing I Liked Best In Field Day.

Did you go to Field Day at the Normal School? The thing I liked best was the high jump. One of our teachers was in it. The Seniors won in that, so we were proud of our teacher. The pole was about three feet and a few inches high. They were racing to see which went over with the best form and which could jump the highest. The class that got the most points in Field Day got their name on the Cup. The Seniors got the most points, so they will get their name on the Cup.

EMILY HOLLADAY.

The Thing I Liked Best At Field Day.

Have you ever seen anything so funny as a suitcase race? I thought I would never stop laughing at the girls. What do you think they did? Each girl had a suitcase and an umbrella. In the suitcase was a coat, a pair of shoes and an old hat. All of the girls started to race at once. They had to put on the shoes, the coat and the old hat. One girl's hat fell off and she had to stop running and pick it up. As soon as the girl reached the other end of the field she had to take off the clothes and give them to another girl. If you want to find out more about the suitcase race you must go to see one.

VIRGINIA CAMPBELL.

The Loving Cup.

I want the Seniors to get the Cup, because the Seniors are my teachers. The Cup is of silver. When the Cup is won the name of the class is put on it.

HAMLET WRIGHT.

What I Liked Best At Field Day.

Friday morning over at the Normal School they had Field Day. Field Day was very interesting. I am going to tell you the thing I liked best. The thing I liked best was to see the girls drill. The Seniors drilled first, then the Third Year came next. I thought that that was the best thing of all. They had a Victrola for the girls to drill by, so that they could keep time good. The Third Year had a leader so that they could watch her and would not do wrong. They had a silver cup for the class that did best. The Seniors got the cup. Last year the Juniors got the silver cup. We all enjoyed Field Day.

ALICE HARDAWAY.

MEETING OF COLLEGE NEWSPAPERS.

- fishers' Association.
- 11:45 A. M. Round table discussion on business departments. Representative of Collegiate Special Advertising Agency of New York City present.
- 12:45 P. M. Get together and photographing at Westhampton College.
- 1:30 P. M. Luncheon by University of Richmond at Westhampton College.
- 2:45 P. M. Inspection of Evening Dispatch press in action and auto tour of historic Richmond.
- 8:00 P. M. Banquet. Speakers, Dr. John W. Cunliffe, director of the School of Journalism, Columbia University; subject, "College Journalism and Professional Training." Dr. Douglas Freeman, editor of the News Leader of Richmond; subject, "The Critical Method in Journalism."

Saturday, April 28.

- 10:00 A. M. Address, Frank M. Dobson, athletic director, University of Richmond; subject, "College Athletics and the College Paper."
- 10:15 A. M. Round table discussion of college papers, editorially and technically.
- 11:00 A. M. Hearing of reports of committees and action on same.
- 12:30 P. M. Luncheon on "Spider Plan." Richmond College cafeteria.
- 3:45 P. M. University of Richmond vs. Catholic University in baseball at Stadium Field. News delegates guests of the Athletic Association.

The chief credit for the success of the conference was due to the editors of the "Richmond Collegian," by whom it was fostered. The splendid management shown and the hospitality of the students of Westhampton College and Richmond University excited the highest praise of all the visitors.

I wish I were a text-book,

A settin' on a shelf;

For then no one'd disturb me

Unless I moved myself.

—Exchange.

Apologies to Tennyson:

Break, break, break,

On thy cold gray stones, oh sea!

But you could not break for forty years,

And he as broke as me.

—Exchange.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawin, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

PUNCTUATION MARKS.

... : : = ! ?

Rotunda: We are seven.

Period is our smallest and our greatest. It does the most work and the best. It can stop anything from a word to an express train of thought. It is the noted abbreviation. Many writers should use more periods. That would make their sentences shorter and more intelligible. Some of the best modern writers use it almost exclusively.

Comma is the great short stop. Most of the time it is used as a substitute for "and," "or," "but," and the like. It also does other small jobs. Commas like to go in pairs or series. Once started they have a tendency to string along like a row of fence posts until a Period steps in and stops the rambling.

Semicolon is a Period sitting on top of a Comma. It may be the result of a family quarrel, or perhaps it was first made by a writer who wasn't sure which to use, and so used both. Efforts are sometimes made to hitch two of us together, side by side, but nothing is gained thereby.

Colon is a favorite go-between. It is fond of serving as chairman of the introductory committee.

Dash we mention apologetically. It has less excuse for being than any other member of the family. It has a bad habit of associating with careless writers and those who don't know what else to use. It is frequently seen in company with afterthoughts and stutters. When tempted to use a Dash, try a Period, and then begin a new sentence.

Exclamation Point is the dramatic and spectacular member of the family. It is excitable and noisy, and gets on people's nerves. It really should be kept in close confinement most of the time, and be allowed liberty only at ball games and fourth of July.

Question Mark is large and graceful and modest. It asks for information, but it needs no explanation or defense. It does not dictate or dogmatize. By calling for more light it clears up misunderstandings and promotes harmony.

Rotunda, we are at your service. Our motto is, "More Light," which comes when we are used properly. But we do not guarantee against density of expression. We refuse to serve as a substitute for thinking. Please be free to call on us.

Yours sincerely,

"PUNCTUATION MARKS."

JOKES.

Mother: Poor Jimmy is so unfortunate.
Caller: Why?

Mother: During the track meet he broke one of the best records they had in college.

She to Young Doctor: "You claim there are microbes in kisses?"

He: "There are."

She: "What disease do they bring?"

He: "Palpitation of the heart."

Teacher: What can you tell me about the character of Nero?

Pupil: (Silence.)

Teacher: Correct. The least said about him the better.

A colored preacher posted his sermon for Sunday as follows:

Morning: Lo, it is the devil.

Night: Be not afraid, it is I.

He: "How long have you loved me, darling?"

She: "Ever since Mabel tried to take you away from me."

Teacher: "If Shakespeare were alive today wouldn't he be looked upon as a remarkable man?"

Student: "Sure, he would be; he would be 300 years old."

GIRLS !

Do you read the advertisements in

The Rotunda ?

Stop and read them over and then PATRONIZE those who advertise.

Remember, it is the advertisers and subscribers who make your paper possible.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 219, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes.

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Farmville, Virginia.

MAY 13, 1992.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS SPRING
PLAY

'Blue Ridge.' What memories that name brings to some of us, and what golden opportunities it still holds for all of us. For this year again the annual Students' Conference will be held at Blue Ridge, N. C., June 3 to 11, under the auspices of the conference department of the National Y. W. C. A.

Have you planned to go to Blue Ridge? Write home and ask your parents. You cannot afford to miss such a program as Blue Ridge offers this year.

The conference executive will be Miss Edith Helmer, of New York city, associate executive of the students' committee of the national board. Associated with her, and leading the assembly hour, will be Miss Odiah Burner, also of New York city. Miss Burner, who is in charge of religious work among students under the department of research and method of the national Y. W. C. A., is a favorite among women students of the southern states. The social life of the conference will be directed by the hostess, Mrs. George Laine Edwards, of St. Louis. Mrs. James H. Edwards, the oldest woman member of the committee of the board,

At the evening of Friday, May, 6th, the Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Edna Norton Spicer, presented a thoroughly enjoyed, "A Royal Family," in the school auditorium. The play contained many clever lines and situations as well as occasional touches of pathos, all of which the cast portrayed in a manner that reflected credit on both their own ability and their excellent training. Page Trent, as the aristocratic Princess Angela, and Louise Brewer as the handsome Prince Victor, successfully eluded the vigilant eyes of the Queen Dowager's spies, and made love in the most approved style. The other members of the cast gave themselves up wholly to the play and in every respect acted up to the leading characters. The cast included:

Baron Holdensen.....	Ruth Draper.
Count Varenna.....	Louise Davis.
First Aide-de-Camp.....	Mary Friend.
Second Aide-de-Camp.....	Virginia Anderson.
Baron, Friend of Prince Victor.	Kate Davis.

Countess Carini Virginia Hardin.
Lady-in-Waiting on Queen Ferdinand. Eliza Davis.

Lois Williams.....	Frances McKinn.
Elizabeth Woodward.....	Sue Brown.....
Blanche Conwell.....	Clara Crocker.....
Sallie Obenchain.....	Lois Claude.....
Thelma Yost.....	Sarah Moore.....
Eleanor Greathhead.....	Sallie Key.....
Sallie Barksdale.....	Ruth Jones.....

Hits From "The Royal Family"

Miss Inger Scheie, 1918, is an undergraduate at William and Mary College, and will receive the B. S. degree in June. Recently she was a representative from William and Mary in an intercollegiate debate against Richmond University, and her team won and will be awarded medals. It was the first time the college had been represented by women in this phase of activity, so they were much gratified at their success.

The Portsmouth Chapter recently gave a subscription card party, and realized a good sum for the Student Building Fund.

At the regular meeting of the Farmville Chapter, May 5, the chairman of the Student Chapter Committee announced that some contributions had been received and that "The Old Maids Convention," which has already pleased two audiences, will be given in the auditorium Friday, May 13, for the benefit of the Building Fund and the Daughters of the Confederacy. S. N. S. students who could not attend the former performance should not miss this opportunity to get their money's worth of fun.

Answers to the postcards sent the Alumni announcing the meeting June 4 indicate great interest on the part of the graduates. A large gathering is anticipated.

N. B.

Occasionally, in the theatrical world, we hear of performances being postponed because of the non-appearance of one of the principal actors. Such was the case at S. N. S. last Saturday when May Day was postponed until Tuesday afternoon. You see it was just impossible to have a celebration of that kind without the aid of Old So. He had not favored us with so much as a minute's work, so we feared to attempt the play on Saturday. We thought we would wait until sometime May 1, when we could have the entire school and the entire community to witness the play. But the weather was so warm that we were obliged to postpone the play until Tuesday afternoon.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.
Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwell,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

People well could get along without:
The knocker, who criticises, but offers no helpful suggestion.

The cynic, who "knows the price of everything and the value of nothing."

The girl who flattens her nose sticking it into other people's business."

The person who declares that life isn't worth living.

The Pessimist.

The Egotist.

The Hypocrite—and a score of others.

FOUR YEARS.

"Four years! Goodness, I'd die if I thought I had to stay here four years," a Junior remarks every now and then in the presence of a Fourth Professional. Without hesitation the Fourth Professional retorts:
"Goodness, what you will miss if you don't stay four years."

Not mentioning the pedagogical prestige, better salaries and positions, and such material things that a B. S. in education brings, there are new visions, deeper feelings and appreciations, broader understandings, greater opportunities for service and enjoyment in a four-year course than a two-year stay at S. N. S. can possibly give. All things and the best that S. N. S. has to offer simply cannot be absorbed in two years, and also more than two years are needed to really plumb the depth and bring out the wonderful possibilities of a girl's mind and personality. Why, it takes all of the Junior's time to get adjusted to the mere routine of the school, to learn the various ways of the Faculty, and to develop the proper awe of the Student Committee. The training school is the one and only thought of a harassed Senior. Now having been through these two experimental years, a Third or Fourth Professional can, so to speak, put the Faculty eccentricities and training school mania on the proper shelves of her brain, and fill the other empty shelves with contemplation of subjects that aren't just necessary for a teacher, but that one should and would like to know in a modern educated world. Such thinking and study releases one's character, and fulfills the real aim of education that Memoraphs of Education talks so much about.
Self is forgotten, and service, work, and happiness just naturally follow of themselves.

A Fourth Professional remarked the other day: "You know I wish I could teach in the training school again. I was scared to death of those children over there when I was a Senior, but now I believe I could really teach them something and not always be thinking about what they were going to do, or notice if I blushed when an observer came in. You certainly can't think of yourself when you teach, and now I believe I have reached the point when I don't." Well, the training school scare isn't the only one lost. "E" notes are also in the list with the Student Committee and many others. In other words, the B. S. in Education of our Alma Mater stands for many things, among which is Better Sense. Ask the Third and Fourth Professionals about the other things it means to them.

MY DREAM SHIP.

A golden shallop, silver-sailed,
Flag of violet-gray—
She slips into the harbor
Of my thoughts, at close of day.

I softly steal aboard her
And we put out to sea.
Past the misty sleep frontier-line:
My ship, my dreams, and me.

All night long we sail far seas
To isles of strange delight,
Till dawn has dyed to crimson
The velvet shades of night.

Then of a sudden melts away
My ship in the rose sunrise;
And I there in my bed alone,
Open sleep'-misted eyes.

All day long as I do my tasks
There remains the memory
Of the night that's gone—with it the hope
Of the night that's yet to be.

LAUGH!

Come on and laugh, the world's a joke:
And if a little fun we poke
At all things pond'rous and sedate,
We earn a better deal from Fate,
And make our troubles end—in smoke.

Come on! It's spring;
So drop your cloak of dignity
And so revoke your vow
To live in solemn state.
Come on and laugh!

Come on! Laugh!
Nor heed the dismal croak
Of those who bear dull Reason's yoke:
Let such as will their learning prate.
In such intensely dry debate:
Why bother with such stupid folk.
Come on! Laugh!

VIRGINIA REEL.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Blue Ridge Conference.

Each summer students from the Young Women's Christian Associations in colleges of the south Atlantic and south central states assemble at the conference center, in the Blue Ridge hill, about three miles from Black Mountain, N. C., a spot which has been termed "A University of Christian Fellowship." The student conferences, for which a program of more than ordinary interest has been arranged, will be the first of eleven women's student conferences to be held this coming summer by the national board. Eight of these will be held in June, reaching from Maine to California, and three will take place in August. Last year the student conferences were attended by almost 4,000 delegates, and from all indications a similar record will be made this year.

Because of the rapid growth of the Blue Ridge delegations two will be held simultaneously this season. This second conference will be held at Montreat, N. C. It will be attended by delegates of younger students. This division has been made as the number of students desiring to attend exceeds the accommodations offered at Robert E. Lee Hall, the resident building at Blue Ridge. An excellent program has been prepared for the smaller group.

TO A SCHOOL TEACHER.

The little old, gray-haired lady sat down on the soft, green grass and leaned back against the bark of the tree, grateful for its cool shade. The lecture had been an unusually long one, even for English classics, and the hot August afternoon left one breathless after the long walk from Cabell to Madison Hall. Tired and hot, the cool shadiness of the oak, and soft grass of the campus, tempted the frail little lady to forget her dignity and sink into rest on mother earth's velvety greenness.

The cool breeze caressed the tired look from her eyes and lifted her damp hair from her forehead. It was beautiful hair, a crown of lustrous silver. The heat had left a delicate color in her cheeks, matching the touch of color on her prim, little gray dress. Sitting with a bit of crochet in her idle hands, gazing at the stray couples here and there with a dawning reverie in her eyes, she was the picture of an ideal grandmother.

Her eyes became blurry; her gaze far off and thoughtful and one could almost see the shadows of memories float by as her thoughts were depicted on her expressive face. Memories of other campus days, of other couples seemed to flit by in haunting forms. A slight breeze softly ruffled a leaf overhead, and a twig fell at her side unnoticed.

The forms of little tots trotted by in rosy succession; the little log school house seemed almost visible; and the dim outlines of school buildings in the heart of the city seemed to appear in the distance, and dear little forms now grown to manhood and womanhood smiled at the little teacher.

Only a chimney corner to replace the campus, and presto! it would seem that grandmother was dreaming of her grandchildren. But sans chimney and corner and grandchildren, little teacher, dream on, dear little teacher! Who shall say you are not an ideal grandmother.

BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE

The missionary emphasis in the program will be strong—one of the outstanding features being a series of addresses on World Fellowship.

Equal to the choice of the program is the selection of the leaders who will act as instructors of the various classes. Among these will be Dr. H. H. Horne, New York University, New York city; Rev. Walter A. Morgan, Mount Pleasant Congregational church, Washington; Rev. Dunbar H. Ogden, Government Street Presbyterian church, Mobile, Ala.; Professor E. F. Farquhar, of the Kentucky State University, Lexington; H. C. Gossard, of the Berea College, Berea, Ky.; Rev. Wendell Primer Keeler, First Presbyterian church, Yonkers, N. Y.; Rev. James A. Reavis, of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, Nashville; Professor Harry Best, of the University of Kentucky.

"Love at the Crossroads."

"This road and that road, neither one I know!
Which way is the true way that my feet should go?"

Answered he, the old man, dreaming by the way.

"Blind the road of life is; bide awhile and pray!"

"This way or that way—down each road I see.

Silent hills before me, vales of mystery!"

Murmured he, the grayhead, in a musing tone.

"Over the hills and far away, go not, lass, alone!"

"This way and that way—one may lead to tears;

One to joy and laughter all the happy years!"

Answered he, the old man, smiling tenderly.
"Wait until adown the road Love shall beckon thee!"

It is whispered around school that Mr. Lear has a crush on one of the girls in his classes. He writes her a note every two weeks!

Pat: "Phwat is a chafing dish?"
Casey: "A chafing dish, Pat, is a frying pan what's got into society."

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawin, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

HAVE YOU PAID
FOR YOUR ROTUNDA?

THE ROTUNDA

DO YOU READ
THE EXCHANGES?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 28.

Farmville, Virginia.

May 20, 1921.

MAY FESTIVAL AT S. N. S.

"Ye that pipe and ye that play,
Ye that cross your hearts today,
Feel the gladness of the May."

MISS LOIS CLAUD, QUEEN OF THE MAY

On Tuesday, May 10th, at 4:30 P. M., May Day, to which we have all looked forward so long, was celebrated on the campus of S. N. S. in front of the main entrance. It was a typical May festival in which the children of the Training School took the most active part.

As the guests assembled delightful music was rendered by the S. N. S. orchestra. The festival was in two episodes. In the first the children of the Training School marched to their places, led by the children of the kindergarten. Then came the procession of the court. Two heralds, Grace Beard and Edith Harrell, dressed in white and carrying golden trumpets, led the procession. Some of the high school girls, dressed in Grecian costume and carrying branches of spring blossoms, followed and made an arch through which the queen and her attendants passed. The flowers in the branches were in keeping with the color scheme of pink, yellow, lavender and green, which was carried out in the costumes of the maids of honor and the May Pole dancers, in the streamers of the May Pole, and in the garlands. The maids of honor, Ruth Jones,

Concluded on third page.

NEW STUDENT COMMITTEE GOES INTO OFFICE.

On the evening of Thursday, May 12th, at 6:45, the installation of Student Government officers for the year 1921-22 took place in the school auditorium. The entire student body (dressed in white) was present, besides a large number of the faculty and home department. Both committees were seated on the rostrum. Katherine Stallard, the outgoing president, delivered an unusually fine talk, in which she thanked the advisory board and student committee for their faithful work and untiring efforts, and expressed her appreciation of the splendid co-operative spirit of the student body shown through the year. In behalf of the new president and committee she asked for this same spirit and support from the students during the coming year.

After taking the oath of office, Lilly Thornhill, president for the year 1921-22, expressed her appreciation of the honor and responsibility placed upon her and urged the students to continue in their support of the committee. The new officers and committee were then installed.

The committee for the coming year is as follows:

Senior representatives — Helen Patton, Kate Trent, Margaret Atwill, Elizabeth Vaughan Evelyn Barnes, Nancy Crismon and Evelyn Clayton.

Third Professional representative—May Bolen.

Fourth Professional representative—Carrie Spradlin.

Student governmentally speaking, this has been a most successful year. Come on, girls, let's give the old committee a cheer—they've earned it! Now another fifteen for the new committee!

NEW RURAL LIFE COMMITTEE BEGINS WORK.

Tuesday, May 10th, Agnes Fulcher, chairman of the Rural Life Committee, with some of her committee girls, took a trip into the country and visited one of the rural schools. Things began to stir immediately. The membership of the Girls' Reserve Club was increased from ten to eighteen, and a sewing circle was organized for the summer. Plans were made for planting flowers around the school without delay. The girls also decided to practice basketball this summer in view of playing with the high school club in Farmville next fall. The committee made a second trip to the country on Friday, when a boys' club corresponding to the Girls' Reserve was organized. The enthusiasm of these school girls and boys is a great inspiration to the new Rural Life Committee, and we hope to accomplish much with them in the future.

ON THE CAMPUS.

The announcement made by Dr. Jarman in regard to the honor girls from the Second and Fourth Professional classes was greeted with great interest and enthusiasm by the student body and all interested. Katherine Stallard is first honor girl from the graduating degree class and will deliver the baccalaureate message on commencement morning. Elizabeth Moring and Frances MacKan have the distinction of being first and second honor girls, respectively, from the Second Professional class, having over one hundred and fifty members. Frances MacKan will deliver the salutatory and Elizabeth Moring will present the valedictory address on commencement morning.

The Third Professionals entertained the Fourth Professionals on Tuesday, May 10th, at 7 A. M., in the studio. Preparations had been made to go on a bacon-bat at this time, but the weather prevented. All enjoyed a hearty breakfast at the studio.

At recent student body meetings recommendations for amendment and revision of parts of the constitution of the Student Association were presented by the president, and at a later meeting were voted upon and passed by the student body. Most of these changes were concerned with the manner in which the student committee are elected and the rewording of certain ambiguous clauses.

The Pi Kappa Omega Society wishes to announce that on Saturday evening, May 21st, Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, president of Hampden-Sidney College, will deliver the address for the annual open meeting of the society. Dr. Eggleston announced that he would not choose a subject in connection with pedagogy, since Normal School students hear a great many professional talks. The subject of his address will be "Some Characteristics of American Humor." The student body, faculty and town people are all invited, and it is hoped that a large crowd will be present at that time.

Tonight (May 20th) the Y. W. C. A. will present a delightful pageant, "A Day at Blue Ridge." Don't miss it!

COURSE FIVE SENIORS ENTERTAIN.

On the evening of May 12th the Course Five Seniors gave a delightful reception in honor of the faculty and home department. The Science Hall was tastefully decorated with daisies, and the color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in all particulars. The manner in which everything was prepared and served reflected great credit upon those entertaining, and Miss Jeter is to be congratulated upon the excellent training displayed throughout the evening's program.

THE ROTUNDA

Member, Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
JULIA ANDERSON, Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Daves, Harriett Tucker, Harriett Judson Munoz,
Eunice Timberlake, Margaret Atwell,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

"Experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes."

Self-confidence makes geniuses out of some people and fools out of others.

Most people in this world are far-sighted to the good qualities of a person, but have microscopic vision when there are faults to be discovered.

Now that the school year is drawing to a close let us each make an inventory of all that it has meant to us. What new opportunities has it presented? What new vistas has it opened, revealed what visions? Have we developed under these new conditions, or do we return home in June the same girls that we were when we left in September? Surely there is no one who can truthfully say: "The year has brought me nothing of value." In looking back over the months certain people or occasions stand out, and we realize that they have left a mark upon our lives which can never be erased. We think of lectures we have heard, plays we have attended, lessons we have learned, and new friendships we have made—all have had an influence upon us and played a part in molding our characters and establishing our ideals. As we leave our Alma Mater in June may we not turn to her in parting and say in tribute, "Oh second mother! The lessons you have taught me I will treasure in my heart. The good you have set for me I will strive to attain. I will be true to your ideals. And in appreciation of what you have meant to me I will never cease to give thanks and will continually sound your praises."

SOME ADVANTAGES OF COMPLETING THE DEGREE COURSE.

Completing the degree course means:

1. A good business investment.
2. A broader general training.
3. A chance to develop your special interests.
4. Better teaching position.
5. Wider choice of positions.
6. Freer choice of subjects for teaching.
7. Greater professional advancement.
8. Satisfaction in doing a bigger piece of work.

9. A foundation for graduate work leading to higher degrees.

10. Distinction and prestige of holding a college degree.

11. Two more years of the pleasant associations of S. N. S.

Is it worth the effort?

Facts worth considering:

1. Not one in a hundred who leaves college short of graduation ever returns.

2. Not one in a hundred who finishes college ever regrets doing so.

3. Practically all who leave school early regret doing so in later life.

4. Your time will never be worth less to you than now.

5. Two years don't seem so long looking backward as looking forward; and you have longer to look backward.

6. A B. S. from S. N. S. is as good as any. After you have been out of school a few years people will not ask, "Where did you get it?" but, "What have you done with it?"

7. In a few years a degree will be required for all H. S. work.

WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Add your name.

Those going to Blue Ridge:

Evelyn Barnes,
Etta Barnes,
Frances Evans,
Mary Jefferson,
Helen Patton,
Julia Asher,
Susie Scott,
Nettie McNulty,
Mary Finch,
Marian Camper,
Elizabeth Moring,
Grace Beard,
Dorothy Schaefer,
Mary Derieux,
Ruth Kernodle,
Mary Nichols,
Agnes McDuffy.

We want to see our cottage at Blue Ridge full this year. When the conference begins, Farmville must be there with her cheers, her stunts and her songs. What a wonderful ten days the conference will be after the stress and worry of the last of the term! Think of the mountain air, the beautiful scenery, the swimming, the hiking, and the whole wonderful program that is planned. Be ready June 4th to leave for Blue Ridge!

The canoe was drifting farther and farther out into the lake.

"Oh," she exclaimed suddenly, "don't you think we ought to hug the shore?"

With interest he inquired: "Why the shore?"

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches

and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATHLETICS

JUNIORS AND THIRD YEAR WIN IN BASEBALL

Large crowds gathered on the athletic field on Saturday, May 7th, to witness the biggest baseball game of the season, that between the Juniors and Seniors. The game, which had been put off on account of the weather, was one of the snappiest of the year, and everybody was very much excited as the outcome helped to decide which class would be custodian of the cup.

The line-up follows:

Seniors.	Juniors.
Addie Wells, Pitcher.	Mary Gray
Sethell Barelliff, Catcher.	Clara Smith
Minnie Lewis, 1st Base.	Mad. Fitzgerald
Sallie Barksdale, 2nd Base.	Lorena Wilcox
Cath. Thompson, 3rd Base.	Anna B. Treake
Bess Rush, R. Shortstop.	T. Whitehurst
Louise Tune, Centerfield.	Theresa Scott
Margt Traylor, Left Field.	Jettie Bryant
Blanche Conwell, Right Field.	Nell McAville
Burdette Bagley, L. Shortstop.	Ethel Cofer

The game opened with the Juniors at the bat, and amid the cheers and yells that went up from the side lines, run after run was made. The Seniors played well, showing good team work, but at the end of the seven-inning game the score stood 25 to 9 in favor of the Juniors.

It was rumored that three of the Junior players had received offers from the National League, Mary Gray for pitcher, Clara Smith for knocking home runs, and Thelma Whitehurst for catching flies.

This game was the last of the games to be played this spring between the Juniors and Seniors. The score of the classes in points stands to date 48 to 55 in the Seniors' favor. The score for baseball will not be added until the Junior-Third Year game is played.

The game between the Third Year and Fourth Year was played off Monday, May 9th, and was quite as peppy as the preceding game.

The line-up was as follows:

Fourth Year.	Third Year.
Erna Shotwell, Pitcher.	Helen Jarman
Earle Atkins, Catcher.	Maudie Bailey
Grace Bailey, 1st Base.	Elizabeth Bugg
Lucile Upton, 2nd Base.	Jennie Armstrong
Mary Hunt, 3rd Base.	Elise Anderson
Sue Elder, Center.	Lillian Crenshaw
Helen Roberts, R. Field.	Jane Crawley
Myrtle Kayton, L. Field.	Frances Cobb
Florence Miller, Shortstop.	Janie Martin

The teams were about equally matched and the score was close, showing fine work on the part of both. The last inning was the hardest played. The Fourth Years were at the bat and brought in ten runs in no time, towering their score above the Third Years. But the latter were not discouraged. They were determined to win, and when the game was called on account of supper they

Continued on last page.

Queen of the May.

Rebekah Lipscomb, Pattie Lee Darden and Evelyn Clayton followed the branch-bearers. A little girl from the kindergarten, who preceded the queen, carried the crown of pink rosebuds on a green pillow. The May queen, Lois Claude, was very lovely in a costume of white with a long train trimmed with pink rosebuds. Two little girls dressed in white carried the train. After the queen more of the high school girls came in Grecian costume, carrying garlands of flowers. The lords and ladies of the court, in powdered wigs and old-fashioned costumes, ended the procession. As soon as all had taken their places, the queen knelt and was crowned by one of the maids of honor. The throne was covered with white and trimmed with ivy, and the background was of ivy and honeysuckle.

The second episode was composed of dances by the children of the Training School and the girls of the Normal School. Almost all of the children were dressed in white, though several of the classes had appropriate costumes for their dances. The lords and ladies of the court danced the Floralina Gavotte; the girls in Grade V, wearing blue and pink ribbons, danced the Vineyard Dance; the Juniors, appropriately costumed for their Highland Fling in costumes of Scotch Highlanders; the girls of Grades VI and VII for their Swedish dance, and the girls of Grade IX for their Danish French Reel, gave an effective and decidedly foreign touch to the program; and the Seniors in clown suits of yellow and green trimmed with black material and with little bells gave the Jumping Jack Jubilee. Grade II gave a most attractive pantomime of Sleeping Beauty. The part of the Prince was taken by Billy Shannon and that of the Princess by Alice Hardaway. The children representing the wall wore garlands of ivy over their shoulders. The children of the other grades of the Training School dressed in white gave the following attractive spring dances:

Dance of Greeting—Grade III.
Seesaw—Grade II.
English Sword Dance—Boys of Grades V and VI.
Muffin Man—Kindergarten.
Shoemaker—Grade I.
Wreath Dance—Grade VIII.
The May Pole dance, the most effective and most beautiful part of the program, given by the branch and garland-bearers, completed the entertainment of the queen. To the recessional played by the orchestra the court slowly marched away.

The May Festival was given under the auspices of the Physical Education Department, and the children were trained for their dances in their regular physical education periods. We wish to thank Miss Barlow and all those who assisted her for giving us such an attractive and enjoyable festival. The festival was a success, due to the fact that everyone took Dr. Jarman's advice and "co-operated."

Whose?
Great Feature-Play.
Two big Fetes.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.
Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers
THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

RICHARDSON & CRALE

Home of the Famous
QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.
Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock	$ 50,000.00
Surplus	100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, JR. H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

BASE BALL.

were still making runs. The final score stood 22 to 20 in Third Year's favor.

And next will be the game between the Juniors and Third Years. This will wind up the series of games for the year. We can but wonder what the result will be—and hope. Winning means ten points added to the score of the victorious team. Where shall the silver cup be for commencement, in the Junior or Senior parlor?

RAIN DROPS.

Trees wrapped in dull black, skies shrouded gray.

Leaves drooping downward, tired of play;
Everything motionless, nothing away.
All of this tells me: A dark rainy day.

Gradually a whisper it comes from the leaves.

Thru drooping branches its slow way it weaves.

Something is dropping its near to the ground.

Sinks in the soft earth, makes not a sound.

Slowly but surely more drops drifting down.
A leaf winds its slow way down to the ground.

A lone little droplet comes gliding thru space.

Falls, without thinking, on a wee violet's face.

Faster they're coming now, not quite so lazy.
Drops on the daffodil, fall on the daisy.

Racing now madly, pattering down,
Swifter the falling, louder the sound.

Sweeping in torrents on the tin roof above.
Now down the drain pipe with terror they move.

Splashing and foaming as they fall on the earth.

Wrestling together, wildly with mirth.

Gradually again they're beginning to fall.
Drip down the drain pipe, slide down the wall.

Stream into rivulets, form into pools,
Sink in the mosses, splash on toad stools.

Daintily tripping 'round each tiny flow'r,
Caressing the filices in a sudden wee show'r.

Silently stopping, tired of their play,
In Mother Earth's arms, sleepily lay!

D. F. J.

JOKES.

Here Beginneth the First Lesson.
A bud bud is—hush, children, hush!—
“A brachypodine babbling thrush.”

To bullate is to boil, I'll vow,
You didn't know that, did you now?

A bummalo's a kind of fish
Which Hindus think a dainty dish.

A burbot is another kind,
Which has a long, long fin behind.

A bunder is a landing-stage,
And now suppose we turn a page.

A citril is a sort of bird
Of which, till now, you haven't heard:

To clarigate is to recite
A list of wrongs you wish to right:

A clathrodictyon is a sort
Of coral rock to put it short.

And now again a page we turn
In search of something else we learn.

To doyst is but to take a fall.
Did you know that before, at all?

The ecederon's the outer skin:
A fonduk is a sort of inn:

A gledge is just a knowing look—
Thru we could go on through the book

Absorbing much of information
And adding to our education:

But we must stop—it's necessary
That I return this dictionary.

Bedon Booley, in May St. Nicholas.

“Sweet Papa”: Little son, if you don't believe I'll eat you.

Little Son: If you do you'll have more brains in your stomach than you've got in your head.

“With all her faults I love her still.”

We hear her husband say.

He had no chance to love her still:

She never got that way.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

“The Shopping Center of Prince Edward”

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats.

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes.

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes.

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Blue Ridge-Ten days of Comradeship in Council, Play and Worship.

THE ROTTUNDA

Girls! Are you taking advantage of this opportunity?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 29.

Farmville, Virginia.

May 27, 1921.

DR. EGGLESTON ADDRESSES PI KAPPA OMEGA SOCIETY.

New Members Announced.

On Saturday, May 21st, at 8 P. M., the annual open meeting of the Pi Kappa Omega Society was held in the school auditorium. Miss Katherine Stallard, president of the society, told of the projects that had been done during the year by members of the society. The society was very fortunate in securing as the speaker of the evening Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, president of Hampden-Sidney College, who was introduced by Dr. Jarman. Dr. Eggleston spoke on "Some Characteristics of American Humor," and his delightful portrayal of the same kept the audience in a perpetual chuckle.

Following the address the new members of the society were announced. They are as follows: Misses Margaret Atwill, Julia Alexander, Katherine Armstrong, Carolyn Cogbill, Harriet Purdy, Helen Rogerson, Gwendolynn Wright and Lois Williams.

After the meeting an informal reception was given by the society, the faculty and home department being invited to meet Dr. and Mrs. Eggleston.

OFFICE NOTES

Fifty-eight summer students have registered this week.

The following girls have registered in the Normal for admittance next fall:

Ellen Gertrude Peters, Franklin, Va.
Evelyn L. Scarborough, Columbus, Ga.
Kate Johnson, Tazewell, Va.
Gracie Cofer Betts, Ivor, Va.
Lucille A. Stephenson, Ivor, Va.
Lovard Lee Priddy, Keysville, Va.
Eunice V. Butler, Carrsville, Va.
Sally Royster Rives, McKenney, Va.
Doris Hayes Simpson, Franklin, Va.

President Jarman recently attended the meeting of the Rural Conference in Richmond, and after that a meeting of the heads of summer schools.

Superintendent G. L. H. Johnson, of Staunton, visited Farmville on May 19th, looking for teachers.

INTERESTING TALK IN CHAPEL.

On Thursday morning, May 19th, the students of the Normal School had the pleasure of hearing Prof. E. C. Lindeman, secretary of The National Country Life Association, talk on the subject of bettering country life. In order that country life may be improved we must endeavor to: (1) Energize the land; (2) organize farm business; (3) modernize the farm woman; (4) vitalize the country schools; (5) socialize the country church, and (6) spiritualize the country life.

The school teachers may have a big part in this movement by helping to vitalize the schools. The teachers who are needed in the country are those of strong character, good intellect and with a desire to help, but not with a missionary spirit.

HERE AND THERE.

On Wednesday, May 18th, at 5:30 P. M., the members of the Athenian Literary Society went on a bacon-bat. Besides the interest shown in the "cats" all enjoyed the "stunts" afforded by the new members and faculty members.

On Saturday afternoon the Social Committee of the Y. W. C. A. gave a "Poke" Party to all girls having birthdays in May, June, July and August.

An attractive dansant was given in the kindergarten rooms of the training school last Saturday afternoon. Mary Friend and Cabel Gilmer as Pierrot and Pierrette entertained those present with a well rendered dance. Fortune telling was also a feature of the evening, and Ruth McKelway told secret fates to all who crossed her palm with silver. Punch and sandwiches were served by "French" maids.

"COLLEGE CLUB" ORGANIZED.

The College Club now announces its existence and declares its intention to grow and become a club worthy of its contemporary organizations. It is hoped that a great need of S. N. S. will be met by the organization of such a club. The a priori reason of its formation, the purpose which it has incorporated in its constitution, is to advocate the broader and higher education of teachers in the State of Virginia by building up the degree courses at S. N. S.

The club was organized in a business and social meeting, combined, where there was a group discussion by the members of various phases of the work to be undertaken, the constitution to be adopted, and the officers to be elected. A second meeting was held last week, at which the constitution was adopted, the officers for next year were elected, and definite programs of procedure for the furtherance of the purpose were discussed. The club hopes to incorporate in these programs specific plans for the organization and effective work of alumnae chapters throughout the State. All members of the professional classes who expect to return for a degree are cordially invited to become members.

The following students have already become active members, and the club hopes to see its roll grow daily, monthly, and yearly: Mildred Dickinson, president; Otey Helm, vice-president; Mary Nickols, secretary; Marion Camper, treasurer; Katherine Stallard, Mary Stevenson, Edith Harrell, Merle Davis, Helen Draper, Harriett Purdy, Grace Beard, Elizabeth McClung, Hattie Gresham, Ellen Carlson, Lou Gregory, Louise Scott, Mary Finch, Carrie Spradin, Virginia Blasingame, Annie Alvis, Elizabeth Moring, Marie Sutton, Katherine Thompson, Pearl Young, Mary Bolen, Stella Lang.

BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE.

"The whole Christian Gospel for the whole individual, for the whole world."

The Program

Classes.

These hours of study and discussion will give a clearer understanding of the Bible, and the strength it gives for victorious living; of world problems and the Christian way of meeting them; of other people and our relation to them as world citizens and Christians.

Forums.

Four morning hours are given for an open forum, entirely planned and arranged for by the students themselves. The subjects for discussion will be the modern college woman and her campus and world problems. Technical hours will also be provided.

Addresses.

There will be a series of addresses on "The God We Trust," and another series on "World Fellowship." Other subjects of special interest at this time will also be presented.

Good Times.

No atmosphere is more conducive to good times than that of an inter-collegiate conference. Songs, stunts, hikes, field and water sports will occupy the afternoon hours. One Girl's Description of What the Conference Gives.

"You develop a social consciousness, and an individual consciousness; you learn loyalty to the truth; you achieve victory over self, and earnestness of purpose; you feel readiness to serve; you acquire breadth of mind; you gain new ambition; you learn to know yourself, your fellowmen, your God."

One Girl's Opinion of Blue Ridge.

"At the conference it seems the most natural thing in the world for groups of girls to get together just to talk about the 'whys' of things, and about the meaning of life, and about God."

From One of Last Year's Conferences.

"The conference is a place where you learn to love life. Even though you go as an utter stranger, you will come home with a long train of new acquaintances, and a finer knowledge of Him who is responsible for the mighty mountains and calm lakes."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
VIRGINIA ANDERSON, - Business Manager
Julia Alexander and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.

Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS!

The grass has staid beautifully green all spring. On May Day it formed a lovely carpet for the queen and her court. For our commencement guests we want it to be equally pretty and fresh, so do what you can to keep it alive by staying on the sidewalks.

'Tis Spring.

The grass is green, the sky is blue, the birds are singing. Nature is using all her powers to persuade you to heed her calling.
She wants to see you happy and carefree.
She makes your heart lighter so that your duties may seem easier. But—to sit beneath a tree while your teacher marks absent on your card—For shame! Even nature scorns a slacker.

THE SPIRIT OF THE DEGREE.

Many of us thought that we had travelled much in the realms of gold and many goodly states and kingdoms seen" when we completed the two-year course. We felt that our zealousness had reaped for us a reward—a thorough mastery of subject matter and methods, which is the requisite for two years' work here. We felt that school life with its many activities and opportunities in reacting upon us had developed stronger character and keener insight. Yet—the best was yet to be. The actual living out of ideals and theories came as a college student in the third and fourth year. The spirit of satisfaction and triumph in the realization that we were performing a greater service to our State in remaining for the degree, and that we were reinforcing our foundation with qualities which none could take away.

In addition to the personal gain—a spirit of satisfaction—there came an even greater spirit of service, a feeling that through our further training we were in a position to be of greater service to others. "Then felt I like some watcher of the skies when a new planet swims into his ken; Or like stout
Cortez when with eagle eyes he stared at the Pacific." Visions, ideals, ambitions—long cherished would have even fuller development. Mind, body, spirit could attain under ideal surroundings their full stature.

To you who are undecided about returning for the degree—we say with all the vigor and earnestness possible: "Follow the gleam;" adopt that splendid slogan of sturdy, brave old Ulysses—"To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield."

JUNIORS, why not join the College Club?
What better way could you help yourself decide than to enter into the spirit of the degree—think, talk and listen about the values of higher education? If you want
"pep", join the College Club, for they have it on the very subject you need.

SENIORS!! The College Club needs you for you have something very definite to offer. Come on in and "root" for degree whether you've fully decided to return or not. You have much to gain and nothing to lose.

M. S.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The program for Alumnae Day, June 4th, begins with the business meeting at 10 o'clock, at which time Dr. Jarman will welcome the alumnae to the school. The graduating class will be received into the association, reports will be given by the officers, chairmen of committees and delegates from the chapters. Then will follow the discussion of old and new business, which includes the student building, Y. W. C. A. membership, Farmville Normal School Day, a paid secretary, chapter organization, revision of the constitution, alumnae use of the Rotunda, and other matters.

At the close of the morning session a luncheon ($1.50 a plate), will be served in the Science Hall for active members (graduates) and associate members (former students who left before graduation). The money should be sent to Miss Winnie Hiner.

In the late afternoon the alumnae will enjoy the senior dances, always a beautiful sight, staged upon the front campus.

The evening session, an open meeting, will be held in the auditorium at 8 o'clock, and will consist in part of musical numbers and an address, "The Capture of Youth," by Miss Lula O. Andrews, of Alabama. Miss
Andrews was for fourteen years an instructor in the school, and it is the loving call of her former pupils that is bringing her to Virginia at this time.

At the conclusion of the program the alumnae will attend the reception given by the Normal School to the graduating classes and the alumnae.

Miss Sallie Hargrave (1913), who is rural supervisor in Dinwiddie County, visited the Normal School last week.

Miss Ruth Redd (1910), was elected president of the Elementary Teachers' Association, of Richmond, May 18th.

Mrs. Eula Young Morrison (1903), was elected president of the Women's Advertising Club of Richmond at the first annual meeting of the organization, held May 17th.
The Richmond Times-Dispatch of May 15th includes Mrs. Morrison among "prominent Richmonders who are behind 'Children's Rose Fair.'"

Interest in chapter organization continues.
Covington, Danville and Dinwiddie have announced plans for this month or early in the fall.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

OUR RELIEF WORK.

Last fall an appeal was made by Mr. Hoover to American students to help their fellow-students of Central Europe who were suffering for lack of food, clothes, facilities for study, and fuel. The case was made not only on the ground of crying human need, but also because of the necessity of preserving for the testing decades before Europe, these centers of idealism and leadership.

As students to students we answered this call, and contributed one hundred dollars to the Student Relief Fund.

We have also had part in other relief work, with Armenia. Saturday, May 21st, we had "bundle day" for the Armenians, the students contributing any of their old and spare clothing to the collection. In addition to this, work has been done for the Armenian children by the Sewing Circle, of which Ruth Finqua has charge. Thirty-five flannel petticoats and twelve post layettes for babies have been completed by the industrious fingers of the Sewing Circle members. Plans are being made for extending this work next year.

THIRD PROFESSIONAL JINGLE.

The class of nineteen twenty-two Really has quite a good deal to do,
So to write you a rhyme
We have not the time.

But we'll make you a doggerel or two.

We came back to secure our B. S.,
Of the classes in school we're the best,
With our talent supreme
And professional mein
Our own worth we here will attest.

Now here's to Mary Finch, our star,
Whose brilliancy nothing can mar;
Though she shone last year
We can have no fear
That now she's much brighter by far.

M. Lindsey is our athlete,
She spells health from her head to her feet.
For typewriting news
And curing the blues,
We recommend her "toot sweet."

Amnie on Math is a shark
She likes to go off on a lark,
But in the library at night
And in teaching to write
We're sure she is making her mark.

An artist also have we—
Virginia Blasingame, you see.
Last fall she came here
But she's been here a year
And we hope she'll stay for her degree.

Here's to a lady named Klime,
With musical talent sublime;
On the organ she plays
And everyone says

The music on Sunday is fine.

Here's to a maiden named Carrie,
Who's so busy she never can tarry
Or linger downtown.
Though she oft' may be found
Writing letters to Tom, Dick or Harry.

As to who wrote this rhyme you may wonder,

She knows she's made one more blunder,
But the poor little "cuss"
Has to work overmuch
On that paper they call the "Rotunda."

SECOND PROFESSIONAL SONG.

(Tune—As I Was Walking Down the Street.)

The Senior Class, the best in school,
At last has reached her goal.
The joys we've had while staying here
They simply can't be told.
Although we've had our ups and downs
We've conquered every one,
And now we're leaving here for good
We're proud of what we've done.

The Junior Class is very good,
But Seniors are on top.
And so next year our place they'll fill
And working never stop.
We leave them all our sympathy
And hopes and best of cheer,
We know they'll come out on the top
As we have done this year.

We leave the faculty behind
To help the Juniors go,
We hope that they will keep in mind
The best things they should know.
They've been a help to everyone,
And that's the reason why
We hope they'll keep the Senior pep
And never let it die.

S. B. and D. J.

FIRST PROFESSIONAL SONG.

(Tune—"Cheer for Old Amherst.")

I.
We're the class of the year of '22.
And we make our bow to you;
The purple and the white,
It stands for the right!
The class of '22.

CHORUS.

Oh, we are Juniors. Juniors are we.
Singing together right merrily.
And when vacation is over
Seniors we'll be—
Seniors of S. N. S.!

II.

Way last fall we were green as green could be—
But we think we've changed "right smart;"
We've done our best at every request,
And tried hard to do our part.

N. K. C.

Deductive Reasoning.

Irma: Miss Taliaferro, do you reckon this letter will go off on the 4:19 train?

Miss Taliaferro: No, if you stand there and hold it, it won't; but if you put it in the basket it will.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawins, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

HOW SHALL YOU SPEND YOUR SUMMER VACATION?

Way up on the top of the mountain in her lonely cabin home, shut off from civilization, lives the girl who sobs from sheer loneliness. In the crowded valley below, hemmed in on all sides by the surging tide of humanity, lives the girl who longs for real friendship. Each needs you, your life filled with the joyous enthusiasm and bubbling happiness of youth. But it is of the former that we wish to think now.

What has this lonely girl in the mountain hut? Surrounded on all sides by the grandeur of the hills, Nature paints for her its prettiest pictures. The misty morn with its silvery veil of sparkling dew, the flower-covered hillsides under the dazzling blue of the noonday sky, and the tall sombre trees jutting out against the starry heavens at eventide—succeed each other on the artist's canvas. From the spring hard by the mountain girl fills her jar with the purest water of earth's fountain. Of food she has a plenty. She has brothers and sisters, many of them. Hours of leisure are sometimes hers. Restrictions? She has very few. With drudgery and hard work her cup overflows. Our mountain has an empty, meaningless existence handed her as she arrives in the world. She stretches out her tiny hands, and receives a life without a goal, a life without vision—a loveless life. What has she, after all?

Then, what does the mountain maid need? She needs, first of all, new eyes, eyes with which to see the wealth of beauty surrounding her. Her starved soul is hungry for love. Yes, her mother loves her as the animal loves its young. But it is for that greater love that she is longing. She needs, too, the life that education, a comfortable home, friends, social pleasures and the many things in your possession have given you. She needs Him who "came that she might have life, and have it more abundantly."

What can you and I do to meet her needs? In the mountains of Southwest Virginia there have been established missions stations to help meet the urgent needs of the people of this section. In Rockbridge, Franklin and Carroll counties similar mission schools have been erected. Workers are sent out by the church to live among the people, enter into their lives, sharing their burdens, caring for the sick and aged, making the children happy by teaching them games, interesting them in club work, holding story hour and sewing circles; thus so changing and brightening the whole, narrow horizon of these people that it might be summed up in a statement made by a little girl in a large lumber camp. Referring to the mission worker who lived in the camp, very near her own home, the child said, "The whole thing is changed, before she came we didn't have no fun."

The workers who go out are not all older people or extremely pious people, as many suppose all missionaries to be. The mountain girl needs you and me to give her what she has not. We need hearts filled with love and understanding, and willingness to do and dare. That is all. Skill or talent is not required.

In what better way could you spend your summer vacation (or part of it) than by going out to these people and living with and working for them? What would you gain? You would gain the happiness that comes from living in a tiny cottage nestled close to the bank of a mountain stream. You would revel in the sheer joy of living as you reined in your horse as you heaved the end of the trail, and looked out over the panorama of unending hills, rising all around you, following with the eye until the blue of the mountains blended in the blue of the heavens. Fun? There's plenty of it. Rides on the logging train, midnight frog raids, fishing parties, quilting bees, corn huskings, pic suppers, all-day hiking parties, and—but I must not tell you all. Will you not go and see for yourself?

JOKES.

"Has he proposed to you yet?"
"No, but he has the engagement ring in his voice."—Exchange.

A man all out of breath rushed into a general store and said: "A nickel mouse-trap, quick; I want to catch a train."

Christine: Mr. Fetting, you are not going to give me a hard metal to-day, are you?

Mr. Fetting: Well, for all I know it might be soft.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. CILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"
Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

FAREWELL,
SENIORS!

THE ROTUNDA

A HAPPY
VACATION,
JUNIORS!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 1. No. 30.

Farmville, Virginia.

June 3, 1921.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES BEGIN JUNE 4TH.

The thirty-seventh commencement of the School began on Saturday afternoon with the dances given by the seniors on the lawn in front of the building.

On Saturday night the alumnae address was delivered by Miss Lula Andrews.

The program for the three following days was as follows:

Baccalaureate Sermon.....Dr. J. R. Williams
8:00 P. M.—Sunday.
Class Day Exercises
10:00 A. M.—Monday.

Processional
History.....Carolyn Harrell
Poem.....Anna Vries
Songs.....Senior Class
Prophecy.....Dorothy Schaefer
Last Will and Testament.....Daphne Gilliam
Songs.....Senior Class
Gifts.....Dora Jett
Presentation of Gift to School.....Elizabeth Moring
Songs.....Senior Class
Presentation of Sickle to the President of the Junior Class.....Elizabeth Moring
Presentation of Cup to Seniors.....Dr. J. L. Jarman
Songs.....Seniors
"The Taming of the Shrew".....Senior Play
8:00 P. M.—Monday.
Graduating Exercises—
10:00 A. M.—Tuesday.

Processional—
Invocation.....Rev. Diehl
Morning Song.....Glee Club
Salutatory.....Frances MacKan
The Lord Is My Light.....Evelyn Barnes
Baccalaureate Message.....Katherine Stallard
Address.....Attorney-General J. R. Saunders
The Miller's Wooling.....Glee Club
Valedictory.....Elizabeth Moring
Delivery of Diplomas.....Dr. J. L. Jarman
Trio.....Dora Jett, Evelyn Barnes, Pattie Garrett

NAMES OF SENIORS WINNING HONOR- ABLE MENTION ANNOUNCED.

On Monday, May 30th, Dr. Jarman read the names of the Fourth and Second Professionals who have made a grade of as near A as B during their professional years at S. N. S. They are as follows:

Fourth Professionals—Helen Draper, Edith Harrell, Harriet Purdy, Katherine Stallard, Mary Stephenson.

Second Professionals—Lucile Chappell, Myrtle Chappell, Lois Claude, Blanche Conwell, Mary Devieux, Mary Dinwiddie, Patty Garrett, Carolyn Harrell, Oley Helm, Iola Johnson, Ruth Jones, Minnie Lewis, Frances MacKan, Elizabeth Meredith, Elizabeth Moring, Ruth Myers, Virginia Nelson, Mary Nichols, Ruby Paudett, Anna Vries, Lois Williams.

WELCOME, ALUMNAE.

It is with pride and pleasure that S. N. S. welcomes back for alumnae year such a large number of her daughters. The past year has witnessed an awakening of interest among old Farmville girls in their Alma Mater, and this interest has manifested itself in the founding of alumnae chapters all over the State and in the returning of large numbers of Normalites to these commencement exercises of 1921.

S. N. S. welcomes you back; the faculty and home department welcome you; the students welcome you; the town welcomes you; your fellow alumnae welcome you, and the Rotunda welcomes you. We all enjoy having you with us and hope to see you again.

The following are the names of the alumnae who have returned for commencement. Look down the list and see if your classmates are here:

Florence Buford	Louise Denit
Otelia Harvie	Mittie Batten
Mrs. J. M. Tarpley	Carolyn Pope
(Olive Myers)	Lois Moffett
Luck Treukle	Ethel Arvin Bell
Inez Bailey	Frances Thomas
Elsie Stull	Clair Blair
Frances L. Murphy	Lucy Moore Drewry
Mrs. August Schaefer	Alma Shorter
(Antoinette Davis)	S. Jean Goodman
Katherine Diggs	Mrs. A. P. Montague
Olivia Compton	Grace Warren Rowell
Sue Adams Davis	Fannie Barkeley
Mary Lou Campbell	Louis Trotter
Graham	Carrie Sutherland
Violet Andrews	Mary Frayer McGehee
Helen Hobson	Catherine Riddle
Josephine Phelps White	Emily Davis Kelly
Vera Tignor Sandidge	Ethel Gildersleeve
Annie Tignor	Ruth Gleaves
Nannie Greenwood	Annie B. Robinson Paul
Pauline Camper	Margaret Reynolds
Mrs. Walker Scott	Myrtle Reveley
Pauline Anderson	Marian Moomaw
Eugenia Reader	Frances Spicer
Marjorie Thompson	Catherine Shield
Katherine Jones	Annie Blankinship
Janice Bland	Katherine Timberlake
Lillian Mickie	Frances Lynn
Annie Via	Maynard Barber
Mary Clay Hiner	Hilda Anderson
Jonnie Hiner	Hazel Waltman
Madeline Warburton

AN HONOR TO ONE OF OUR TEACHERS.

The Association of Modern Language Teachers of the Central West and South, at a recent meeting in Chicago, elected Miss Estelle Smithy vice-president for Virginia. This association is the largest regional group in the Federation of Modern Language and edits "The Modern Language Journal."

Notice! The school year for 1921-22 commences on Wednesday, September 14, 1921. Old students are expected to return Monday, September 12th, to greet the new girls who arrive September 13th.

Miss Jennie reports that forty-one new First Professionals have already sent in their applications for next September. This is an unusually large number for so early in the season. Fourteen girls have signed up for Third Professional work for next year. We're glad to see the degree classes growing. The following old students have applied for entrance for Second Professional work next year:

Mary Boeock, 1920; Lennia Blankinship, 1912; Ruth Richardson, 1909; Dorothy Smith, 1920.

Summer school opens June 20th and continues through July 30th. An unusually large number of students are expected this summer. Four hundred have already applied.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND GROWING.

The Student Building Fund is steadily growing, the total sum now turned in at the office amounting to $3,652. The graduating class has responded nobly to the call of their Alma Mater and pledges are being handed into the office daily. By the twenty-two seniors who signed last week $1,000 have been pledged, and as other pledges are coming in every day a more recent report would show the sum to be much larger now.

Keep it up, girls! Let's get our Student Building, and get it soon. How about it, Alumnae!

SENIORS WIN SILVER CUP.

The seniors lived up to their former reputation and succeeded in keeping the cup after a hard fight. The juniors displayed a lot of "pep" and we are betting on them next year.

Had you been in a New York shop you would not have seen a prettier display of spring frocks than those shown by the sewing classes on Monday afternoon.

The dresses of organdy voile and dotted swiss were both stylish and pretty. Miss Tupper is to be highly complimented on the work of the classes.

Mother: "I wish you wouldn't stand on the steps with that junior when he brings you home."

She: "Why, I only stood there for a second last night."

Mother: "Is that all? I really thought I heard third and fourth."—Selected.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

MILDRED DICKINSON, - Editor-in-Chief
VIRGINIA BLASINGAME, Assistant Editor
JULIA ALEXANDER and Gwendolyn Wright,
Assistant Business Managers.
Kate Davis, Harriett Rucker, Harriet Judson Munoz,
Pauline Timberlake, Margaret Atwill,
Reporters.

EDITORIAL.

Seniors! (We beg your pardon—Alumnae!) Have you arranged to hear the S. N. S. news each week for the year 1921-22? Friends are often too busy to write or forget how you love all the little news items. The Rotunda will be your faithful correspondent. Subscribe to The Rotunda for next year.

Presidents of Alumnae Chapters! Don't you think it would be a splendid idea to have every member of your chapter a subscriber to The Rotunda?

We wonder if those of you who have come back to S. N. S. for commencement have not wished that you had done more to keep in touch with your Alma Mater. Have not those of you who have not had a chance to return since your graduation thought of dear old S. N. S. and wished that you could know more of what she is doing?

As we have published our paper each week we have thought of you and tried to put into The Rotunda the things that we thought you would like to know. We want you to keep up with us and we want to keep up with you.

Let us be the point of contact between you and the school that you love and honor. Let us be the link that connects you with your friends who are here, and with your former associations.

HAD YOU, ALUMNAE?

Have You Noticed—

That Dr. Jarman is a sweet as ever?

That Miss Coulting is here?

That there are peculiar looking animals walking around the campus in caps and gowns who call themselves "Fourth Professionals" and say they have taken degrees? (Well, they're nothing but alumnae now!)

That the "Focus" is no more?

That we publish a weekly instead which is called "The Rotunda"?

That we have a "Y" store?

That the town of Farmville has grown?

That we had an orchestra?

That Miss Jennie is just as cheery and lively as ever?

That the present student body keeps Miss Mary just as busy as you used to do?

That we still have "pink mule" for breakfast?

That S. N. S. really hasn't changed so much after all?

That you feel just like the school-girl you once were when here?

Had You Noticed?

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The Norfolk Alumnae Chapter was organized Friday, May 20th, and has shown itself enthusiastic and energetic. A subscription card party was given the next week to raise money for the Student Building Fund. Thirty-seven members enrolled at the initial meeting, and more joined later. The officers are: President, Miss Catherine Riddle; Vice-President, Miss Belle Sterling; Secretary, Mrs. C. M. Simpson; Treasurer, Miss Charlotte Baird.

There are now twelve active alumnae chapters in widely separated parts of the State, vying with each other in loyal service to Alma Mater.

Miss Louise Garrett (1919) will be married in the early summer to Mr. Graham. They will go to China in August, where both will engage in educational work.

The engagement of Miss Charlotte Wolfe - 1920 to Mr. Lawrence Wales, of Norfolk, has been announced.

The recent presentation of "The Old Maids' Convention" for the benefit of the Student Building Fund netted about twenty-five dollars.

The Hampton Chapter recently elected the following officers: President, Miss Julia Brittingham; First Vice-President, Miss Polly Moore; Second Vice-President, Miss Ida Sinclair; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Heath. A bridge benefit will be given in June to raise money for the Student Building Fund.

Dr. Jarman was the guest of the Lynchburg Chapter May 25th.

CHAPEL SERVICES INTERESTING.

The chapel services were very interesting last week. On Tuesday morning, the 24th, the seniors and juniors sang many enthusiastic songs to themselves, the faculty and each other, after which Mr. John Yonan, an Assyrian, spoke on the condition of the Near East. That his talk was thoroughly appreciated was manifested by the undivided attention of the student body.

Wednesday Mrs. Livingston, secretary of the National W. C. T. U., made a very interesting talk on Ester as a model for the modern young woman.

On Thursday the classes sang again.

The Spanish and French classes deserve much credit for the delightful programme they gave on Friday morning. Previous to the rendition of this programme the Spanish songs were explained by one of the members of that class and the French ones by the student teachers.

Monday, May 30th, Miss Munoz invited the faculty and training school to be present during the song class period. Miss Pattie Garrett, accompanied by the orchestra, sang "Ave Marie". After this class songs were sung by the juniors and seniors.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH
Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop
Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ELECTED.

At the last formal meeting of the Athletic Association the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Anna Bell Treakle.
Vice-President—Sarah Moore.
Secretary and Treasurer—Kate Davis.
Business Manager—Nell McArdle.

More interest has been shown in athletics this year than ever before, and we are looking forward to a successful program of events for 1921-22.

WINNERS OF ROTUNDA PRIZES.

During the two months from March 13th to May 15th the Rotunda launched a contest in which she offered prizes for the best contributions of different natures. In view of the fact that it was a busy time of the year for the students to compete in anything of this sort the contest as a whole was very successful. The winners of the contest were awarded their prizes in chapel last week. A five dollar gold piece was presented to Miss Emily Calcut for submitting the best poem. Her poem was entitled "A Winter's Night" and appeared in the April 15th issue of the Rotunda. Miss Julia Clarke won the five dollar gold piece offered for the best short story submitted. There was much discussion as to whether the story entitled "Andy Gets Even" or "The Ultimate Reward" should be the prize story, but as Miss Clarke happened to be the author of both stories there was little difficulty in deciding to whom the prize belonged. It was a more difficult matter to decide who should have the three dollars awarded for the best contribution coming under the miscellaneous number which included news articles, editorials or designs for headings, since all of these were so different. The editorial entitled "The Point of View", written by Miss Mary Stephenson won this prize. The contributions were judged by the Faculty Committee and Rotunda Staff.

The Rotunda wishes to thank each and every girl who contributed to the contest. All could not win a prize, but each has rendered a service to the paper, and has made its publication possible. The contest has been decidedly worth while and the paper has been improved by it.

ANNUALS DELIVERED.

On Friday evening, May 27th, a queer sight was seen on the school campus at about 7 o'clock. Issuing from the direction of the Rotunda office flocked scores of girls, each with a large paper covered volume under her arm. So important was this book and so eager were the girls to read it that many of them could not wait to get to their rooms to inquire into its contents and sat down in the first place they could find on the campus. A stranger passing the school at that time might have wondered what methods the faculty of S. N. S. employed that would make the students so studious at that hour of the evening. If he had inquired he would have been informed that these were not newly assigned text books which were being so eagerly pursued by almost every student of S. N. S., but copies of the 1921 Virginian, the school annual, which had just been delivered.

The Rotunda feels that too much can not be said in praise of the 1921 copy of the "Virginian." It is an annual which is a credit to the school and to the class which publishes it. The staff is to be congratulated upon getting out such an attractive book. Special mention should be made of the drawings, the workmanship and originality of which add much to making the annual attractive. The Rotunda is especially interested in her sister publication.

A TRAVELER.

When the golden gates of dawn are opened wide,

And the brilliant sun rides forth to meet new day.

I rise and stand with lifted heart and eyes.
To start—a traveler, on my way.

A traveler— I, what shall I do to mark the way

As on I plod throughout the livelong day?

What shall my memories be at eventide

When Princess Night has closed these golden gates, so wide?

Again I stand with questing heart and mind,
The answer to my question 'tis not mine to find.

But this I know—that as the twinkling star lamps light

The drowsy world to bed;

The sleep of peace will be my right

If I've traveled where Duty led.

NANCY K. CRISMAN.

MORNING.

Dewy stillness over all,
Darkness just before the light,
Ghastly night winds gone to rest,
Birth of dawn at death of night.

Faintest streaks across the sky,
Heralds of a coming day,
March before their god, the sun,
That a world might know the way.

Birds awake, the stillness breaks,
On morning mist drifts fairy fay
Uplighting flowers, light morning winds,
And then the sun, the day.

ASHLEY LECKEY.

Va. Gibbs, to a certain clerk in Baldwin's:
I want to see some jade red organdy, please.

Co-ed: Have you seen my little niece?
Ed: No; are they dimpled?—Exchange.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Cashier, H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

FOR MOTHER.

A reverent thought,
A loving,
A silent prayer,
For mother.

A tender kiss,
A soft embrace,
A stronger arm,
For mother.

A clearer life,
A whiter soul,
A stronger hope,
For mother.

Ambitions won,
A life well done,
A better man,
For mother.
—Harriet Judson Munoz.

JOKES.

A Kiss.

A kiss is always a PRONOUN, because SHE always stands for it. It is MASCULINE and FEMININE GENDER mixed, therefore COMMON. It is a CONJUNCTION because it connects.

It is an INTERJECTION, at least it sounds like it. It is a VERB because it signifies to act.

It is PLURAL number because ONE always calls for another.

It is usually in APPPOSITION—with a hug, at least it is sure to follow.

A kiss can be CONJUGATED but never DECLINED.—Tiger.

A school-girl was required to write 200 words about a motor car. She submitted the following:

"My uncle bought a motor car. He was out riding when it busted going up a hill. The other 180 words are what my uncle said when he was walking back to town, but I know you wouldn't want me to repeat them."—Transcript.

Macy: "Your friend, Jimmy, reminds me of the moon."

Neb: "Because he stays out late at night?"

Macy: "No; because he appears to be brighter when full."

Mr. Bretal: "Mary, what can you tell me about a bear that is peculiar?"

Mary: "It's cross-eyed."

Mr. B: "What makes you think that?"

Mary: "Well, in church they sing about the consecrated cross-eyed bear."

Bill (to Jack): "Jack, if you were me and I were you, what would you be?"

Jack: "I'd be doggoned ashamed of myself."

Her: "Phyllis is a decided blond, isn't she?"
Her friend: "Yes, but she only decided last week."—Blighty.

Teacher: "What, Oscar, is The Ancient Order of the Bath?"

Young Oscar (puzzled): "I dunno, Johnny, usually comes first, then Willie, then the baby."—Life.

We object to hearing a woman referred to as a "skirt." There is very little reason for such a name. Wheeling Intelligencer.

"Why are school teachers like Ford cars?"
"Because they give the most service for the least money."—Life.

The night was dark.
The wind did blow.
When in the window
A black bug flew:
On Bacon's arm he feasted
And then he deceased.

Where singleness is bliss
'Tis folly to be wives.

Y. W. C. A.

Mary Finch President
Gwendolyn Wright Vice-President
Julia Alexander Secretary
Julia Asher Treasurer

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

'The Shopping Center of Prince Edward'

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Rotunda
Oct. 1921-May. 1922
Vol. 2

B²

A

B¹

B¹

A

B²

BACK YOUR SCHOOL PUBLICATION

ROTTUNDA

HAND IN YOUR SUBSCRIPTION
NOW!!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 1.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 6, 1921.

PROFESSIONAL ENROLLMENT LARGEST IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL.

The Farmville State Normal School began its thirty-seventh session on September 13th on a new basis of four terms. The enrollment this fall is the largest in the history of the school, more than nine hundred being enrolled in the Normal School and the Training School. Of this number approximately six hundred are professional students—twenty-five having returned for degrees. The first professional class breaks the record of all preceding classes in numbers.

The students and faculty welcome the improvements being made. The auditorium of the school has been redecorated, the work being done by Mr. E. D. Monfalcone, who decorated the reception hall last year. The class rooms and dormitories have been newly painted and calssomined. The athletic grounds are being extended and enlarged to such an extent that greater physical educational facilities can be offered to the students this year.

CLASSES ORGANIZE AND ELECT OFFICERS.

The Fourth, Third and Second Professional classes have organized and elected their officers for the coming year:

Fourth Professional—President, Mildred Dickinson; Vice-President, Carrie Spradlin; Secretary, Mary Finch; Treasurer, Annie Alvis.

Third Professional—President, Elizabeth Moring; Vice-President, Lois Williams; Secretary, Ann Meredith; Treasurer, Ellen Carlson.

Second Professional—President, Page Trent; Vice-President, Gwendolyn Wright; Secretary, Arianna Amonette; Treasurer, Emily Calcott.

WORLD'S FAMOUS HIKER VISITS THE NORMAL.

Mr. E. F. Lamberth of Texas, considered to be the champion hiker of the world, stopped over for a day in Farmville and made a talk to the students at chapel. Mr. Lamberth has hiked a total mileage of 275,525 miles, having circled the earth three times, and walked across every country with the exception of Lapland, which territory, according to Dr. Jarman, he anticipates covering on his honeymoon. He says that he has literally walked around the world, as when he was aboard ship he walked the required number of miles on deck. Mr. Lamberth is fifty-one years old and looks thirty. He is a living specimen of what simple living and plenty of exercise can do for the body. He eats only one meal a day. Not once has he ever asked food or money of anyone. He makes enough to pay his expenses by lecturing in the towns and cities thru which he passes. He is especially interested in the Boy Scout Organization and has addressed thousands of them. He walks on an average 34.3 miles a day.

These are only a few of the interesting facts concerning the famous hiker. His talk and his miraculous demonstration in paper cutting excited a loud applause from all present.

ELEVEN STAR COURSE NUMBERS OFFERED

This year promises to be a very entertaining as well as beneficial one in regard to our star course performances. The attractions are of a higher grade and we are fortunate in securing real artists for our program. It is with pleasant anticipations that we look forward to the coming of each number in the course.

The program reads as follows:

- Oct. 10—The Temple Singers
- Nov. 9—Melvena Passmore Co.
- Nov. 14—The Toy Artist Trio.
- Dec. 1—Harp Trio and Simonds Tenor.
- Dec. 9—The Tschaiakowsky Quartette
- Jan. 20—The Elizabethian Players.
- Feb. —The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come.
- Feb.—Glee Club Concert.
- March 9—Kaufmann Male Quartette.
- March 16—Crawford Adams Co.
- April —Dramatic Club Party.

MR. FRANKLIN SPEAKS AT CHAPEL

How many of you were at chapel Thursday morning? Then each and every girl at S. N. S. was given the opportunity and privilege of helping in a real mission work.

Mr. C. McCoy Franklin, a mountain missionary from Crossmore, N. C. spoke very interestingly of his life and education as a typical example of the limitations of mountaineer life in western North Carolina. He gave vivid description of the lack of educational advantages there as shown by the one-room schools with the old rheumatic teacher. There was also evidence from the conversation of the father, "I ain't got no education and I wouldn't give 20 dollars for all of it in the world," that educational theories and practical advantages were not understood by the father and mothers of large families. The whole story of Mr. McCoy's life until the age of twenty-one was one of no real advantage of any kind, but with his entrance into school came new vistas and dreams for his people.

Are you interested in his dreams? Were you interested in his talk? Why? Was it because he was humorous? He was humorous, for what could be more humorous than his description of the country lad wearing a crownless hat through which stuck sheep-sheared hair and who walked and talked in a country-jade manner? Or was it because he was entertaining with various social accomplishments? He was entertaining, for what could be more entertaining than his imitations of the birds, farm yard fowls and animals? Or was it because he was accurate in his description which held an element of pathos beneath the humor? Finally was it because his appeal to the best in you to help, to give not yourself, only old clothes to have a part in a real mission work.

FOSTER BARNES LEADS BIG CHORUS' IN REVIVAL

Of interest to the students and alumnae who have had the pleasure of having Mr. Barnes sing is the following clipping from a recent issue of the Times-Dispatch. Mr. Barnes is a brother of one of our students and at the various times has had five sisters attending S. N. S.

Of interest in Richmond is the fact that J. Foster Barnes, son of W. W. Barnes, and well-known soloist of this city, is a soloist and chorus director in a big two weeks revival of more than twenty-five churches recently held in Tampa, Fla. A unique feature of the meeting was that they were led solely by college men, all ministerial students at Emory University.

Mr. Barnes is regarded as one of the most promising baritones in America and was second high man in the recent national voice contest conducted by the Federated Music Clubs of America. He has done evangelistic and concert work in some of the largest Southern cities and last summer took a leading role at Chicago in the opera "Thais," produced by Richard Hagerman, of whom Mr. Barnes was a personal student.

Mr. Barnes, a native of Amelia County, is well-known in Richmond, where he has many relatives. He was former soloist at St. Paul's Church here, as well as Grace Street Baptist Church. He was chosen evangelistic singing in preference to a promising career in grand opera. He is a B. A. of Richmond University and holds a M. A. degree from Emory University. Mr. Barnes is now a student in the divinity school at Emory. His address on "Why I Am Student Volunteer" was one of the features of a most interesting service held early in the series of meetings.

SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD

1. I wonder who...
2. I wonder why.
3. I wonder when.
4. I wonder which.
5. I wonder what.
6. I wonder where.
7. I wonder how.

Exchange

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of the State Normal School, Farmville, Va.
Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1911, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS
News Mary Bocoek
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

AN INTRODUCTION

I am the ROTUNDA. No doubt you new girls have heard a good deal about me so I hope you won't be disappointed. I don't mean to flatter myself that you've heard only good things, because I know I'm not the embodiment of perfection and I haven't got the school fooled to believe it. The only compliments that I am going to pay myself is to say that I'm always anxious for suggestions on self improvement, and since I hope we're going to be friends—you new girls and myself—I am anxious that we start out right in the beginning by being frank with each other. That's the way all friends should be you know. I want you to feel perfectly free to tell me my faults and failings and I'll feel at liberty to do the same. We will tell each other our good points too—by the way of encouragement. There's only one thing I can't stand, and I might as well tell you in the beginning, and that is to be talked about behind my back. If I make any criticism of this school, its faculty or students, I say it out openly in black and white and everyone who takes a paper can read it. If I don't like the way things are run, but can't suggest anything better, keep quiet on the subject. I hope you'll treat me fair and square by doing the same.

I suppose there's not much else I can say for myself by the way of introduction. If you want any further information just ask some of these old girls and they'll tell you I believe most of them are my friends, so I'm afraid there are a few that are not very well acquainted with me. The best way for you to learn me is to see me each week and read what I have to say.

There are lots of things you could tell me about yourself, you know, I'd like to know what you are like and what you think of S. N. S.

I like your looks, new girl, so I'm going to throw formalities to the wind and tell you a valuable secret. You don't have to go around preaching it to the school but just keep it to yourself and make a practical application of it to your school life. The reason I like you on such short acquaintance is because you look as if you were here for business. Now here's my secret. If you want to build a lasting popularity for yourself just start the year right. First impression are lasting, whether you believe it or not, and your position in school depends largely upon how you start the year. There's no need of putting on a long face and looking book-wormy, but show the faculty and your fellow students that while you want to get the most out of college fun your real object in coming here was to make your work and secure your diploma or degree. This is just a "hint to the wise." Just take my word for it being true and I'll tell you more on the subject another week.

Well, I'm glad to have met you, new girl, and I hope we'll see a good deal of each other during the year.

THE ROTUNDA

TEN GOOD REASONS WHY EVERY GIRL SHOULD SUBSCRIBE TO THE ROTUNDA

1. It is the voice of the student body.
2. It affords an opportunity to every student to express her opinion.
3. It records the news of the week and keeps you posted on events to come.
4. It contains valuable information concerning your school, faculty and student problems.
5. It encourages literary talent in school and its various departments afford opportunities to many to write along their particular line.
6. It offers real humor in the way of joke's both local and exchanged.
7. It interests the advertisers in the school and the school in the advertisers.
8. The ROTUNDA if saved and bound at the end of the session form a complete and attractive memory book for the year.
9. It shows outsiders what we at Farmville are doing. Your friends will be glad to read the ROTUNDA.
10. Every school of any size and standing publishes a school periodical and therefore every student interested in keeping her school up to the standard should subscribe to the ROTUNDA.

JOKES.

Miss Horrel (in Latin class) "What is the most beautiful part of the statue, 'The winged Victory?'"

Marion and Grace in one breath, "The head and face!"

Teacher: "Give me a sentence using the word monosyllable."

Child to her neighbor: "What does monosyllable mean?"

Bright pupil: "Why a word of one syllable like the word cat."

First child to the teacher: "On the fence was a monosyllable cat."

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear
207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

The first week of school was a busy one for the Y. W. C. A. A committee of old girls was at the station to meet and welcome the new girls upon the ir arrival. Various forms of amusement were planned to entertain the new girls each night of the first week. They included a "sing," games on the campus, "stunts," and the annual reception. Saturday night was a Sunday school rally was held and Sunday the four churches welcomed large groups of students to both Sunday School and church services.

A beautiful poster was presented to the Young Women's Christian Association last week by Dr. Spooner, the pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church. This gift is invaluable to our Association because it was made by Dr. Spooner himself and because it was presented in his church as a token of the unity or cooperation existing between the church work and the work of the Young Women's Christian Association in Farmville.

The poster is not only beautiful in artistic design but also beautiful especially to S. N. S. in its symbolical meaning. The picture in letter N represents the Christian Womanhood in S. N. S. who stand for christian ideas and for Christian service. The lettering on the poster is done in purple ink to represent loyalty to the King and is made on a white background to denote purity. So the S. N. S. Christian Womanhood stands for purity of ideas in Christian services and for loyalty to her King. The square in each corner containing the star in a circle stands for the four square life embodying the star of Bethlehem in the perfect circle leading us on throughout our lives.

The idea of Christian womanhood worked out in the poster by one of our Farmville churches is the idea toward which we shall strive in association work for our Father in all which we do throughout the coming year.

The Y. W. C. A. program for this week have followed that of the week of good times as an open door of the Christian life of our school to the new girl. The thought for the week have been closely correlated as an interpretation of the abundant life of our school community.

Monday night Miss Steele gave the girls this full interpretation of the abundant life on our campus, and Tuesday night Marion Camper, World Fellowship Committee, showed how we might share this life in the world. The Young Women's Christian Association's motto was explained Wednesday night at the first regular association meeting of the year. This was followed Thursday night by the reading of a story applicable to all the girls but especially to the new girls, "If I Were a Freshman Again." The regular weekly sing was held in the association room Friday night and a continuation of the Sunday School rally was held Saturday night.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The second Rural Life Conference will be held here November 3-7 a full program is planned and great things hoped for.

The basement in the left wing commonly known as the "Old Kindergarten" room has been done over and plans are on foot for the opening of an attractive tea room the proceeds of which will go to our students building fund. It is expected by those in charge that this room will be ready for use within the next few weeks.

The Student Government Association held an important meeting to elect officers to fill vacancies. The result was as follows: Campus League chairman—Florence Miller First Professional Representative—Irma Latimer. Next week's issue of the Rotunda will be an athletic number.

Contributions for the paper must be written in ink, on one side of the paper only.

All contributions must be handed to the editors or dropped in the Rotunda office before Saturday morning. This is very important as an effort is being made to get the paper published a day earlier than last year and the material must go to press earlier.

If you wish to subscribe to the ROTUNDA and haven't done so, give your name and table number to Emily Calcutt—room 131.

ALUMNAE NOTES

It will be of interest to the alumnae to know the whereabouts of former members of the faculty. Miss Mary Pierce, recently state primary supervisor of Alabama, is now city primary supervisor of Alexandria. Miss Bessie Randolph has gone from the Collegiate School for girls in Richmond to Randolph-Macon Woman's College. Miss Lula Walker, of our Home Economics department has become a member of faculty of V. P. I. Miss Myrtle Grenels will be at Peabody College for teachers, Miss Margaret Wainwright in Schoolfield, and Miss Thelma Blanton in Smithfield.

As usual, marriage contracts instead of school contracts have been signed in several instances.

In Washington on Sept. 17 to Mr. Edwin Otten. Miss Margaret Alexandria (1918) was married Sept. 8 to Mr. W. B. Tucker.

Miss Louise Garrett (1919) was married on September 24 to Mr. James R. Graham, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Graham are at present on their way to China where they will be engaged in mission work near the bridegroom's parents.

Misses Stubbs, Buford, Camper and Mr. Faithful motored to Drake's Branch last Saturday to a Teachers conference. Thirty-five of the alumnae were there so Miss Camper organized an alumnae association of Charlotte county with Miss Maria Davis as president, and Miss Elizabeth Lewis, secretary.

In the September number of the Journal of Educational Methods there is an interesting and suggestive article entitled "A Project in Second Grade," by Miss Ruth Blanton.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,

Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks, Norris and Huyler's Candies, Fruits

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.,

FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee 4:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

FACULTY NEWS

The following changes have been made in the faculty for the session of 1921-22:

Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, of the department of Education is now at Columbia University, New York, where he is working for his Ph. D. degree.

Mr. Coyner's successor is Mr. C. M. Faithful, of Virginia. Mr. Faithful is an A. B. of William Jewell College in Missouri; A. M. of Columbia University, N. Y.; and has completed all residence work for the Ph. D. from George Peabody College. He comes to us from Tennessee College at Murfreesboro.

Mr. E. T. Fettig, who took charge of the chemistry Dep't last session to fill out the year has returned to commercial chemistry and the Dep't will be in charge of Miss Eloise J. Harris, the daughter of the late Mrs. M. P. Harris who was a member of the Home Dep't here for many years. Miss Harris is an A. B. of Hollins College and a B. S. of the University of Chicago, and has had experience both as a teacher and in industrial chemistry.

Miss Willie London, Dep't. of English, has returned to Y. W. C. A. work, and is succeeded by Miss Mary Clay Hiner, of the Normal School and George Peabody College. Miss Hiner was a member of the English Dep't. here several years ago before she left for George Peabody College where she has since been a member of the faculty.

Miss Myrtle Grenels, Supervisor in the first two H. S. grades is now a student at Columbia University. Her place is taken by another graduate of the school Miss Mary E. Peek, former Supervisor in the Training school. Since leaving Farmville, Miss Peek has been a student at Teacher's College, New York, at the same time teaching in that city.

Miss Fleeta Cooper, Supervisor in the Training School, has accepted a position in Greensboro College, N. C. She is succeeded by Miss Georgie Norris of Columbia S. C., a graduate of Women's College, Greenville, S. C.

Miss Jones, supervisor of primary work has been transferred to the Dep't. of Education, where she will have charge of Primary methods. Miss Haynes will take the first instead of the third grade. The fourth grade will be taken by Miss Bullock, of Tennessee. Miss Bullock has been a student at Peabody College.

Miss Margaret Wainwright, assistant in the Kindergarten, is now doing Kindergarten work in Danville, Va. Her place will be taken by Miss Ella G. Skidmore who will arrive in several weeks. Miss Skidmore came to Farmville at the beginning of the session, but was taken ill, and had to return home.

Miss Virginia Bugg, of the Dep't. of history is now of the Farmville H. S. faculty.

Mr. P. W. Fettig will be Head of the Dep't of Biology this year. Mr. Fettig holds a B. S. in Education from Ohio State Normal College; B. S. and M. S. from Ohio University, with a year of graduation work at Cornell.

Mr. C. H. Brettnall, head of the Department of Biology has accepted a position in the University of Dubuque, Iowa. Mrs. Brettnall will also have work in the English Dep't. of that institution.

Miss Thelma Blanton, Clerk to the Director of the Training School and Assistant in Primary work, has accepted a position in the schools of Smithfield, Va.

Miss Florence Eliscle, Librarian, is now connected with the Metropolitan Library of New York City and is succeeded by Miss Abi Russell of Georgia; a graduate of the Carnegie Library Training School of Atlanta.

Three new positions have been created for the coming year, made necessary by the rapid growth of the number of students in professional work: these positions are as follows:

Assistant in Drawing and Industrial Arts. Miss Anna laT. Blauvelt of New York will fill this position. Miss Blauvelt has had work in the Sorbonne, Paris Pratt Institute N. Y., and holds the B. S. and M. A. degrees from Columbia University.

Assistant in Physical Education: Miss Florence Buford of Virginia; a graduate of the Normal School who was a student in the institution through both her high school and professional course.

Assistant in the Department of Modern Languages: Miss Helen Draper of Virginia, who took the B. S. Degree from the School in the class of 1921.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies,

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1888

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

JOIN THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

ARE YOU
WORKING FOR A LETTER?

Vol. 2. No. 2.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 13, 1921.

DR. JARMAN ENDORSES ATHLETICS.

Athletics has always occupied a prominent place in the life of colleges for young men, more with reference to the betterment of school spirit than for the physical welfare of the students, but it is only in recent years that much attention has been given to this phase of the work in colleges for women.

On account of the emphasis that is being placed upon the value of athletics in the public schools, it is not only important but necessary that all teacher-training institutions emphasize this work, encouraging athletics as a very important phase of their Departments of Physical Education—every prospective teacher should not only know how to play all of the popular athletic games but should be prepared to direct them as well.

It is, therefore, the hope of the administration that our Athletic Association will have the active support of every student in the institution.

J. L. JARMAN.

ATHLETICS VALUABLE TO THE TEACHER.

The new physical education program in Virginia calls for instruction in physical education in every school within the next four years. A fundamental part of this program is instruction and training in athletics. Athletics will be stimulated through intra-school and inter-school contests. The burden of the direction of this work in seventy-five per cent of the schools will fall upon the class-room teacher. To become a real leader and not a "dummy" she should not only learn the rules of the games but should know the games sufficiently well to coach the boys and girls in their play. Above all the teacher should cultivate and not simulate a real enthusiasm for athletics and out-door exercise. The best way to do this is to enter whole-heartedly into the sports of the N. S.

The student needs, and the teacher must have this healthful diversion in order to meet the heavy drain upon the nervous energy, and in order to maintain a sane wholesome spirit. Athletics and out-of-door activities are a tonic and a safety valve.

DR. TIDYMAN.

FIRST PROFESSIONALS ORGANIZE CLASS.

On Wednesday evening the First Professional Class held its initial meeting. The chief business of the evening was the election of officers. Eleanor Greathead was chosen as class president. The other officers are as follows: Vice-President, Florence Miller; secretary, Julia Cave; treasurer, Edna Blanton.

THE ATHLETIC CUP.

In the fall of 1919 the Athletic Association decided to present a loving cup to the class scoring the highest in athletic events during the year. These events consisted of hiking, tennis, basketball and field day activities.

The greatest display of class spirit is manifested in striving for this cup, which is given from year to year to the class winning the most points.

The present Junior class has held this cup since it was first given. It feels that it was largely due to the co-operation and class spirit manifested, both in the Freshman and Sophomore years, and also through the efforts of the outstanding athletes of the class: Delma Van Sickle, Sara Moore, Margaret Traylor, Cecil and Addie Hargrave, Addie Wells, Elizabeth Love and Mary Jefferson.

Although small in number the Juniors still hold their spirit. Watch them in the fight this year!

AN ALUMNA ON ATHLETICS.

An alumna writes as follows on the value of athletics to the teacher:

Some of you disapprove of physical education, think it is a lot of trouble for nothing and you wonder what good it will do you when you expect to specialize in English or History, Math, or whatever your favorite subject happens to be. Do you know that when you get out in the State teaching, the greatest link between you and your pupils will be an interest in athletics and you can't have this interest without knowledge and the knowledge must come from your participation in athletics while you are at school?

If you can talk to a child intelligently about his games and better still if you can play them with him you will win him over completely, he will behave for you and work for you far better than if you do not show interest in the things in which he is interested. If you can do this you have won him over and if you can't he will think you are an old maid and a stick, probably speak of you as "Ole Lady So-and-So."

Every girl at the Normal ought to be interested in athletics and go out for all sports. From observation and experience I have found that aside from the physical benefit we derive from physical education it will be an aid over the rough road of teaching as it is a bond between you and your pupils.

I teach a subject far removed from physical education and yet every day I have to call upon my knowledge of it acquired at S. N. S. in dealing with children both at school and at camp during the summer.

Give athletics an important place on your schedule.

CLUB NOTES.

Pi Alpha.

The Pi Alpha Club entertained at a fancy dress dance on Friday evening from seven-thirty to eleven at the home of Mrs. Herbert Stokes.

A color scheme of yellow and white was artistically carried out in both the decorations and refreshments. Lily Thornhill presided at the punch bowl.

The prize which was given for the most attractive costume was won by Annette Wilson, who was very charming as a "beau brummel". There were many more attractive costumes.

Zeta Tau

On Tuesday afternoon, October 4th, the Zeta Tau Club entertained in the studio from 5:30 to 7:30. There were twenty-five guests present. Entertainment was furnished by the club members after which refreshments were served.

Mu Omega

Amid the clamour of voices and sounds of horns a merry party left school last Friday afternoon for a picnic near Hampden-Sidney. Although the weather was cloudy, the thirty girls piled high on the hay made a merry picture riding through the town. About seven miles out of town the crowd stopped for supper. A roaring fire lit up the woods and "weenies," bacon and marshmallows were toasted. Later in the evening ice cream and cake were served. At seven o'clock the girls came back tired but declaring that they had the best time ever.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS
News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager... Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

We hear the values of athletics discussed and are thoroughly convinced that athletics should play a large part in our individual lives as well as in our school life. Do athletics play a large part in your life? Do you take advantage of the opportunities offered you to make yourself stronger and better through athletics? Old girls, you can't get around these questions with your old excuse about not having good athletic grounds. If you haven't already seen the improvements made on the field you should go down and take a look.

Improvements made during the summer provide better facilities for tennis and basketball. If you aren't interest in these games go over to the Training School grounds which have been graded and offer a splendid field for hockey and soccer.

Let us, one and all, take advantage of the improvements and make athletics play a large part in our lives.

THE THREE SIDES OF THE TRIANGLE — BODY—MIND—SPIRIT.

Life is so full of a number of good things that it is a shame to miss any of them, and we'll miss a whole lot if we're not in tune with living and healthy enough to be glad we're alive. We can't be in harmony with the universe unless our mind and body are working together and tuned in the same key. Good physical habits are as necessary for making a song out of life as good mental habits. Let us try to develop concentration. We can't play and work at the same time, but we can do each thing separately with every bit of us. A normal spiritual life is necessary to a really healthy body. Life is ours to do with as we choose so let's take time for everything. Relaxation is vital to health. If there were no ordinary every-day moments there wouldn't be any climaxes in life.

It's just as easy to form good mental and physical habits as bad ones. Yet the difference between success and failure often rests upon keeping cheerful and having a good posture as well as good ideals. So why not form the habits that keep one's body and mind and spirit clean and healthy and happy and glad to be alive?

Build the three sides of the triangle evenly!

—MARGARET STEEL.

THE REWARD OF MERITT.

(A True Story)

Many, many years ago in the year of nineteen hundred and twelve, just before a big Junior-Senior basketball game, the Senior man, Mr. J. Merritt Lear, built his Seniors a fine grandstand. The poor little Juniors had to stand on the bank by the tennis courts slipping, slipping,—all alone, for of course the faculty went over on the Seniors' side where they obtained fine seats.

But the glory of the Seniors was short lived. At a very crucial moment in the game while the Seniors were winning every point and there was naught to cheer the Juniors' hearts, Crash! Splinter! Bang! The grandstand collapsed, and the Seniors and their sympathizers descended rather unceremoniously from their perch of glory.

Well, the Juniors lost the game but the triumph was not all to the winners. The first Profs. marched up High street in a wild snake dance singing—

"The Seniors had a grandstand,
But they are not so many—
For when the game was over
They didn't have Any!"

JOKES.

GEOGRAPHY vs. GRAMMAR.

Geography Teacher: How many zones are there and what are they?

Johnnie (looking up from a grammar book) there are two, masculine and feminine. The masculine—temperate and intemperate; feminine—torrid and frigid.

Christine What's a good remedy for corns?

Lily— I don't know. I'm studying music, not agriculture.

"She married that man to reform him, but she hasn't helped him very much."

"Sorta took his name in vain, didn't she?"
—Exchange—

Antidote for Flappers: (To be applied in strict doses). Shake well and make vigorous local application of slipper.—Exchange.

When a man tells a girl that he can't bear the suspense any longer he means that he can't stand the expense any longer. —Exchange.

Fair one: "I saw you the other day walking with a fat man."

Fair, too—Yes, yes, you know I have a very wide acquaintance."

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS" FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

MY PRAYER.

I want to live!
For me there cannot be Complacent self content
And smug satisfaction.
I want to be dissatisfied;
To search for truth,
And Happiness,
What matter if I cannot find them?
I shall have had the quest,
I do not ask only joy—
I want sorrow,
But it must be deep sorrowing;
Not ripples of the wind;
On stagnant waters,
Life is short; why make it dark?
I want my life to be a gorgeous splash of colors,
Against the sordid drabness,
Of other lives,
I want adventure; the swirl
Of hungry waters as they leave the shore:
The cutting cold of wind
Upon the hills.
There is time enough for peace
Later on.
Now, I want to fight, to love, to live!
I am so small,
I do not matter anyway,
Why should I not be happy?

ROBIN REDBREAST

Dear little bird in the tree top high,
What makes your breast so red?
You must have been out near the sunset sky
Where the rainbow tints are spread.

Dear little bird out on the garden wall
Whence came the song you sing?
You must have been to the fairy ball
Where the soft sweet lily bells ring.

Dear little bird in the air so blue
How did you learn to fly?
You look just like butterflies do
When you soar across the sky.

With a coat so red and a voice so sweet
And with wings to sail on high,
You must be happy all the day
With naught to do but fly.

THE RAIN

From passing clouds I gently fall,
Along the river and the brook.
I cool, refresh and brighten flowers,
I enter every shady nook,
The song I sing is soft and sweet,
I pitter-patter at the feet of blushing flowers along the way.
I paint the trees all silvery bright
When passing thru,
And in the night I quietly my song repeat
And hush the tired world to sleep.
I lash the panes and trickle down beneath into the street.
But then I hurry on to laughing streams

And soon I meet
And so I go forever,
And always 'tis the same
Until the bright sun takes me.
To the Mother cloud again.

OH MOON!

Oh moon!
Like a silver flower,
You hang
There in the sky,
Near God.
Yet, moon,
You are not a flower.
But rather white ashes
Of a flame long dead.
You are love,
That having died,
Has found peace.

THE AWAKENING.

Dawn and a day is breaking,
O'er this sin-swept earth,
Hope its light is spreading,
And Love is given birth.
Eyes that were blind, are opened,
Hearts that were cold are warmed,
Feet that were often laggard,
Eagerly, now press on.

A CURSE

All dressed up and oh so proud,
Feeling yourself above the crowd,
When as quick as a light'ning flash,
You fall to earth with a dreadful crash,
For your best friend says as by she goes,
"Oh! Millicent dear, your petticoat shows."

Harriet Judson

A Poem.

Two old maids
Went for
A tramp in the wood.
The tramp
Died. -Exchange.

PERSONALS.

We are always glad to welcome our old girls back to S. N. S. on week-end visits.

Among those who have been back recently are: Miss Constance Whitlock, Mrs. Fair
(née Miss Nell Nininger), Mrs. Hoy Wilson
(née Miss Etta Barnes), Miss Mary Meade
Mason, Miss Mary Moore, Miss Sallie Barksdale, Miss Grace Carwile, Mrs. A. J. Orgain
(née Miss Eva Coleman), Miss Elizabeth
Chappell, Miss Ethel Glenn.

Voice.—"Hello, is this the weather bureau?"

"Uh huh."

Voice.—"How about a shower this afternoon?"

"I dunno. If you need one take it."—Exchange.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, H. C. CRUTE, V-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.
Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous
QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in stock a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note-
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks,
Norges and Hager's Candies, Etc.
C. E. CHAPPELL, CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee 4:30 P. M. Night 7:15 P. M.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

WHAT CHILDREN READ

PEOPLE would not worry so much about what they call the "modern child," if they only stopped to think that fathers and mothers, uncles and aunts, of every generation had their doubts as to the new generation.

In fact, Adam and Eve were, in all probability, the only proud parents in all history who never said, "Children did not do such things when we were young."

The very latest discovery that has been made about the little boys and girls of America is that their taste in reading is quite different from that of their elders at the same age.

It appears that they are finding rather dull some of the things that appealed to the youngsters of former days, and are demanding more excitement than is good for them.

• • •

It is well, in thinking about such a subject, always to remember that older people have a weakness for considering any such change in taste as for the worse.

That is the compliment that maturity pays to itself.

The great trouble is that we don't remember what we really cared for when we were small.

Many of the things that we were supposed to enjoy we didn't really like until we grew up. Others that were forced on us for our good were spoiled for us forever.

Children have no sense of subtlety, or irony. This is natural.

They read "Alice in Wonderland," or "Gulliver's Travels," or "The Arabian Nights" for the straight story, not for any secondary meaning that is beyond them.

A clever American woman suggests that the children, especially in a big family, should be encouraged to write stories of wild adventure for each other.

This is not so impossible or far-fetched as it seems.

A good example came to light recently in the case of the children of Theodore Roosevelt.

That many-sided man was a child among his sons and daughters until the very last.

His letters to them, full of action as they are, and illustrated by himself, will last longer than anything else in the way of history or travels that he ever wrote.

From him and his youngsters, the woods and waters around Oyster Bay were delightfully mysterious, where anything might happen.

• • •

For children the world is still, and always will be, full of a number of things. The main thing is not to try to turn them into little men and women.

Copyright

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Lily Thornhill President
Otey Helm Vice-President
Bess Rush Secretary
Pauline Timberlake Treasurer

FOURTH PROFESSIONAL

Mildred Dickinson President
Carrie Spradlin Vice-President
Mary Finch Secretary
Annie Alvis Treasurer

THIRD PROFESSIONAL

Elizabeth Moring President
Lois Williams Vice-President
Ann Meredith Secretary
Ellen Carlson Treasurer

SECOND PROFESSIONAL

Page Trent President
Gwendolyn Wright Vice-President
Arianna Amonette Secretary
Emily Calcott Treasurer

FIRST PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

President Eleanor Greathead
Vice-President Florence Miller
Secretary Julia Cave
Treasurer Edna Blanton

Y. W. C. A.

Mary Finch President
Gwendolyn Wright Vice-President
Julia Alexander Secretary
Julia Asher Treasurer

PI KAPPA OMEGA

Mildred Dickinson President
Mary Finch Vice-President
Carolyn Cogbill Secretary
Gwendolyn Wright Treasurer

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats,
Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes,
Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHOSE ROTUNDA ARE YOU READING?

ROTUNDA

WHAT CAN YOU CONTRIBUTE TO THE PAPER?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 3.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 20, 1921.

LADIES OF TOWN GIVE FLOWER SHOW.

A most attractive flower show was held in the Farmville Armory on last Friday and Saturday. Prizes were given to the best flower display. Meals were served on both days by the ladies of the different churches and the proceeds will make up a charity fund to help the poor of the town and community. The Armory was very attractively decorated and the meals delicious and served well. The students of the school patronized the dinners and the entire affair was a great success.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Kate Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin M. Cox, of Farmville, Va., and Mr. Ivan Francis Bond were married October 12th at the home of the bride on Buffalo street at 9 P. M. Rev. Thomas Kay Young, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated. A number of friends and relatives were present at the ceremony.

The house was decorated in autumn flowers and foliage, with chrysanthemums and ferns as the principal decoration in the room in which the ceremony was performed. The wedding music was in charge of Miss Christine Munoz, of the Normal School. Just before the ceremony Miss Evelyn Barnes sang "I Love You Truly" and "Love's Old Sweet Song," accompanied by the orchestra. Following this the doors of the parlors were drawn by the pages, Thomas Kay Young, Jr., and Benjamin L. Nesbit, nephews of the bride, disclosing to the friends and relatives the bridal party assembled before an improvised altar of ferns. During the ceremony the violinist, Miss Kitty Cole, played softly "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The bride was very lovely in white satin and lace. Little Misses Sarah Hayes and Helen Young, nieces of Miss Cox, were flower girls and wore fluffy pink organdies. Mr. Don Armitage, of Charleston, W. Va., was the best man, and the bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Ruth Cox, maid of honor, and Miss Jeanne Morris, of Farmville, Va.

An informal reception followed the wedding, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bond left for their future home in Oxford, Indiana, where Mr. Bond is in business.

Spring.

The spring is came,
The snow has went;
It was not did
By accident.
The birds has flew
As we have saw,
Back north again.
By nature's law.

—Selected.

FACULTY ENTERTAINS STUDENT TEACHERS.

The Faculty gave the student teachers a very delightful bacon bat Friday afternoon from 4:30 to 7:30.

At 4:30 the Faculty and Teaching Seniors left the school and went to an open field above Dr. Irving's. The first exciting event to take place was a baseball game between the Faculty and Seniors, which terminated in a victory for the latter, and was thoroughly enjoyed by both participants and spectators. After the ball game all joined in lively games such as dodge ball and three deep. Just as the crowd was beginning to get a little tired and out of breath, a call came from the next hill announcing supper. Soon everyone was busy toasting bacon and wieners and enjoying pickles, the variety of sandwiches, hot coffee, apples, and marshmallows. Everything was prepared in superabundance.

After supper the crowd sat around the fire and sang many old Southern songs and other popular songs. It was a lovely time for stories. All were seated in a circle with the large moon shining down. Nearly every member of the Faculty contributed to this part of the program. There were recitations, barn-yard concerts, children's stories, love stories, ghost stories, "in everything."

The bacon-bat was a great success and was heartily appreciated by the student teachers as was evidenced by their enthusiastic cheers of applause.

WIN A SCHOOL MONOGRAM.

The following rules are required to win a school monogram. One hundred points wins the monogram.

Good posture	10 points
Position on Varsity team	10 points
Membership Athletic Association	5 points
Officer Athletic Association	5 points
Grade of A on Physical Education	5 points
Position on any class team	5 points
Each regular basketball or volley practice	1 point
Each soccer practice or hike	1 point
Each baseball practice	1 point
Each 10 miles of hiking	1 point

The following points are required:

Baseball	10 points
Posture	10 points
Basketball or volley	10 points
Soccer	10 points
Hiking	5 points

"Darling!" murmured the sentimental youth from Hampden-Sidney, "there is something that has been trembling on my lips for days—"

"Why don't you shave the ridiculous thing off, then?" interrupted the practical maid.

FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER A SUCCESS.

On Monday, October the 10th, a musical performance was given in the auditorium by the Temple Singers. The program proved to be interesting and amusing and the five performers were encored again and again.

The first part of the program was taken up with the singing of sacred music, "Crossing the Bar" and "Now the Day is Over" being the most popular with the audience. The four singers and the pianist were dressed in the cassock and surplice of the Catholic service. After this they left the stage and changed their ecclesiastical robes for evening clothes. The pianist played and recited while the singers were off the stage. Then came a group of songs that were sung in the time of "Good Queen Bess." They took us back to the court when it was in all its glory. "Margerie, the Tavern Maid," was the favorite selection from this group.

The tenor and contralto singers then gave us a duet which met with the applause of all. This selection was entitled "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." Despite the urgent applause for an encore they modestly declined to sing the number again.

We feel sure that the entertainment was a complete success and that it was a good beginning of a prosperous year for the Lyceum Course.

MISS SPEAR GIVES READING.

On Saturday evening, October 8, Miss Edna Spear entertained a large gathering in the parlors of the Normal. The entire faculty, several ladies in town and a few students were invited. Miss Spear read Percy MacKaye's play, "A Thousand Years Ago", which is a Chinese story full of the adventure and mystery of the Orient. With her usual charm and remarkable memory Miss Spear gave the entire play without a note. "A Thousand Years Ago" was especially interesting as it is to be the spring Dramatic Club play, and those who heard Miss Spear are looking forward with interest to seeing it dramatized. Without doubt it will be the largest and most spectacular production ever presented by the Club.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY BACON-BAT.

The Junior Auxiliary gave a bacon-bat last Friday evening during supper. There were a number of new members present and several guests. The odor of broiled bacon and toasted marshmallows together with the songs and cheers of the girls were proof sufficient that everyone had a good time. After fire-side tales and exciting ghost stories the party broke up with cheers for Miss von Schilling, Miss Steel and the Junior Auxiliary and all walked home "by the light o' the moon."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.
Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief	Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor	Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS
News	Mary Bocock
Organizations	Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic	Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A.	Julia Alexander
Joke	Nancy Crismon
Literary	Pauline Timberlake
Exchange	Margaret Atwell
Alumnae	Florence Buford
Business Manager	Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager	Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager	Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager	Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager	Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

In publishing a weekly paper there are many difficulties which have to be met. One of the greatest of these is securing the actual material to send to press. The only way to have a model paper is for each girl in school to feel it her responsibility to help make it so. There are many ways in which you can do your part. You may subscribe, you may boost the paper and the school, and you may offer suggestions and contributions to it. The Rotunda is your paper. It is published not by the Faculty, not by the staff, but by the students of the school. What is going to be your part toward contributing to its support?

By the way, what ever became of that poem you wrote during the summer, or was it last winter in high school? Hunt it up and give it to The Rotunda. Remember that good joke you heard in the hall last week? Say, why don't you hand it in to the paper. Such and such a thing happened last week and failed to get in the last issue. Why don't you write it up for next week?

The Rotunda needs all the support that you can give it. Consider what you have to offer and give without stint. What is your answer?

All material handed to The Rotunda must be in by 9 A. M. Saturday.

Articles must be written in ink on one side of paper only. They may be slipped into The Rotunda office (just across the hall from Mr. Grainger's office) at any time before Saturday or given to the editors. Articles, poems, etc., do not have to be signed.

WANTED—By The Rotunda, cartoons of any sort. Headings for editorial, jokes, exchange and alumnae columns.

Mr. Coyner writes that Columbia reports an enrollment of 22,900 students for this session.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

LITERARY SOCIETIES HOLD OPEN MEETINGS.

Saturday, October 8th, the Argus Literary Society held an open meeting in the auditorium.

Miss Elizabeth Moring, president of the Argus, gave an interesting account of "Argus, Past and Present," and also spoke of the course of study which will be taken up in the coming weeks. The Argus members expect to continue studying the novel, but will give themselves over this year to the special study of Virginian novels and their authors.

The following program was presented:
Argus Song.
Argus, Past and Present.
Scene from Thomas Nelson Page's "Marse Chan."
Song, "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny."

Athenian.

On the evening of October 3th an open meeting of the Athenian Literary Society was held in the auditorium. An interesting program was rendered by the members of the Society in keeping with the prescribed course of study for the year, namely, that of Virginia Literature.

The program was as follows:
Welcome Address by the President.
Athenian Song.
A Page from Virginia History.
Piano Solo.
Reading.
Song, "Old Virginia."

Pierian.

The open meeting of the Pierian Literary Society was held on Saturday night, October 15th. Miss Otey Helm explained the aims of the society and announced that the course of study for the year would center around Southern literature and songs. A general idea of this course was shown in the plantation scene which followed.

JOKES.

Tramp (to Spinster): "Missus, ask your husband if he ain't got an old pair of trousers to lend me."

Spinster (anxious not to expose her solicitude): "I am sorry, my good man, but he never wears such things."

Miss Dickinson: Why did this article say that these fish would make the eyes of an angler of the Catskills pop out with envy?
Elizabeth: Because they get great big cat fish from the Catskill.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS" FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of
Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

Membership.

By putting on a two weeks' membership program, the old members of the Y. W. C. A. have endeavored to interpret to the new girl the true meaning of membership in the Association. Last Saturday, October 8th, the invitation to the new girls was extended at prayers, and afterwards each girl was personally invited to become a member of our Y. W. C. A. The new girls responded splendidly to the invitation, and with the present members of the Association we hope to make this a most successful year.

Recognition Service.

The service of recognition of the new members of the Young Woman's Christian Association was held Wednesday night in the auditorium. The service was symbolized, very beautiful and impressive. The president of the Association opened the service with a few words of welcome to the new members. The members of the cabinet, each holding a lighted candle, stood in a semi-circle around a candelabrum, the symbol of the Greatest Light of All, Jesus Christ. Each new member lighted a candle from the candelabrum, symbolizing the lighting of her life from that of the Great Light. The service was closed by a prayer by the vice-president of the Association, after which all joined in singing the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us Over the Tumult." After being dismissed by our Y. W. C. A. motto, old and new members formed a processional in going out of the auditorium.

Our Mountain Work.

Miss Sallie Dickinson came to us from Rockbridge county, Sunday, October 16th, to make an appeal for help in the mountain mission work in Virginia. At present Miss Dickinson is the only worker in the school there, and the work has grown so large that she finds imperative needs of an assistant who can act as both teacher and nurse. She asked our aid in supporting a worker in the mountain mission for one month. The importance of our mission work can not be over-estimated. Shall we make this truly our mountain work?

JOKES.

Fair Warning.

Kitty, if you don't keep your eyes off the seat across the room, someone will sit on them.

He who Mrs. to take a kiss
Has Mr. thing he should not Miss.

Advice.

Don't let the hair of your head beat you to it coming out on top.

A LETTER FROM MRS. BRETNALL.

The students of S. N. S. always have a warm spot in their hearts for their instructors of previous years who have left Farmville for other climes. We are always interested in their welfare and welcome any news from them. It is with pleasure that we print the following letter from one of our faculty members of last year.

University of Dubuque.

Dubuque, Iowa.

Dear Girls of S. N. S.:

I can't realize that we are so far from you! We traveled fourteen hundred miles in seven days. We spent three days in the mountains, the roads were good there but we passed the scenes of several serious accidents, but having a very good chauffeur ourselves we came through safely.

The University of Dubuque has eight beautiful buildings, one of which is a magnificent gymnasium. This contains a swimming pool, many showers, bath rooms, and ante rooms. There is a large performing room, and lastly a room where indoor baseball, tennis, basketball, &c., can be played every day in the year. There are two dormitories for girls and three for young men. I can't tell you how many times we think of all you girls when we see all these young men. There are three of them to every girl. Peters Commons is a large building where all—men and women—take their meals, and what do you think, girls, they say the meals are lovely, but wait—they pay more than twice as much as you do for them.

Dubuque is a picturesque city, situated on the Mississippi and surrounded by beautiful hills—that is, they are beautiful if you do not have to climb them. At present we are on one of them, two and a half miles from the University. That isn't far—in a city perhaps unless you have an eight o'clock class—and we both do. However, we expect to be nearer soon.

There are a number of students here from foreign countries, and their English certainly needs attention. Many others expect to go into the ministry.

Now I shall tell you how homesick we have been to see you all in the chapel at ten o'clock, but I shall tell you a secret—of course you will never tell—Mr. Brettnall says he is going back South, so, as he can't claim kinship any other way, you will have to adopt him and thus I can secure a remote claim also.

He has given all the physical examinations here and he has been busy, but his heart is still in the South with a group of enthusiastic students.

We find very appreciative students here also.

Every Sunday morning at 9:45 I think of that group of sixty-four faithful girls who listened to me so attentively. I shall never forget them.

The first Sunday morning as we started to church the beautiful chimes of the St. Luke's Methodist Church pealed forth the strains of "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." I felt very much in need of a pilot as I was wishing I was back in a little town fourteen hundred miles away.

May I write again some day?

Best wishes for a profitable year to each one of you.

LULU CORINNE BRETNALL.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,

Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING GOODS

School Supplies, Fountain Drinks, Norris and Hayler's Candies, Fruits
C. E. CHAPPELL, CO.,
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

EXCHANGE NOTES.

The Rotunda is working up an exchange with the following papers this year:

The Sun Dial, R. M. W. Co., Lynchburg, Va.
The Yellow Jacket Weekly, R. M. C., Ashland, Va.
The Missile, Petersburg High School, Petersburg, Va.
The Voice, Shanghai College, Shanghai, China.
Flat Hat, William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.
The Hampden-Sidney Tiger, Hampden-Sidney, Va.
Davidsonian, Davidson College, Raleigh, N. C.
The Live Wire, Botetourt High School, Gloucester, Va.
The Cadet, V. M. I., Lexington, Va.
Virginia Tech, V. P. I., Blacksburg, Va.
The Virginian, Maury High School, Norfolk, Va.
Richmond Collegian, University of Richmond, Richmond, Va.
Crittograph, Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Va.
Grapuchat, Radford Normal, East Radford, Va.
The Acorn, Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C.
The Polytechnic, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.
Bethany Collegian, Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va.
Northfield Star, Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, Mass.
Wentthrop College News, Rock Hill, S. C.
Keysville High School News, Keysville High School, Keysville, Va.
Episcopal High School, Alexandria, Va.
All girls wishing to read papers from other schools let the Exchange Editor hear about it. We want to make our exchange list larger than ever this year and any help you can give will be greatly appreciated.
The exchanges are placed on the top shelf of the Y. W. C. A. book shelves in the reading room.

THE TEACHER'S "IF."

If you can take your dreams into the classroom.
And always make them part of each day's work.
If you can face the countless petty problems,
Nor turn from them nor ever try to shirk,
If you can live so that the child you work with Deep in his heart knows you to be a man,
If you can take "I can't" from out his language
And put in place a vigorous "I can".
If you can take Love with you to the classroom
And yet on Firmness never shut the door,
If you can teach a child the love of nature
So that he helps himself to all her store,
If you can teach him life is what we make it,
That he, himself, can be his only bar;
If you can tell him something of the heavens,
Or something of the wonder of the star;

If you with simple bits of truth and honor
His better self occasionally reach.

And yet not overdo or have him dub you
As one who is inclined to over preach.
If you impart to him a bit of liking
For all the wondrous things we find in print.

Yet have him understand that to be happy
Play, exercise, fresh air he must not stint;

If you can give of all the best that's in you
And in the giving always happy be,
If you can find the good that's hidden somewhere

Deep in the heart of every child you see,
If you can do these things, and all the others
That teachers everywhere do every day—
You're in the work that you were surely meant for.

Take hold of it! Know it's your place, and stay!

B. G. GALE.

JOKES

She—And when we are married we must have no secrets. You will tell me everything.
won't you, dear?

He—Ye-es, if I happen to know it all.

Miss Dietrick—"Mary, what holds the moon in the heavens?"

Mary—"It's the beams, I guess."

Lil Bristow's cheeks are so lovely; I wonder where she has them tinted!

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

RAIFF'S

"The Shopping Center of Prince Edward"

Ladies' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Suits, Coats.

Dresses, Skirts, Waists, Blouses, Shoes.

Hosiery, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Members of the Federal Reserve System.

We Solicit Your Account.

C. C. COWAN

Furniture and Floor Coverings

FARMVILLE, VA.

PAULETT & BUGG'S

AN

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

THREE CHEERS
FOR THE FLOATS in the FAIR

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

COMING !
BETTER SPEECH
WEEK !

Vol. 2. No. 4.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 27, 1921.

RURAL LIFE CONFERENCE HELD NOVEMBER 3D TO 6TH.

The Rural Life Conference on Rural Leadership will be held in the auditorium of the State Normal School from November 3d to 6th. This second rural life conference will center around rural leadership, and many effective speakers have been secured who will emphasize this topic. Thursday, November 3d, will be given to keynote addresses. Friday will be school day, with morning and afternoon programs for high school and upper grammar grade pupils from Prince Edward, Cumberland, Charlotte and surrounding counties. The evening program will be for school patrons, teachers and other leaders. The Saturday program will be of special interest to farm men and women. Sunday morning religious leaders will conduct special services in the different denominational churches of the town. A country church program will be given Sunday afternoon in the Normal School auditorium, and Sunday evening a program for young men and women will be given at the same place, in which students of the Normal School and Hampden-Sidney College will participate.

The conference music will be in charge of Miss Christine E. Munoz; special music will be furnished by students and the Glee Club.

Those wishing to make sure of accommodations for hotel and rooms should write to Miss Florence H. Stubbs, Farmville, Va., at once, stating when they will arrive, how many will be in the party, and how long they will stay.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend all of the programs.

CHILDREN OF TOWN PRESENT PLAY.

The children of Farmville gave a very delightful little play Friday night in the S. N. S. auditorium. It was given under the auspices of the Organized Charities of Farmville and directed by Misses Lois Williams, Kate Davis and Cabel Gilmer. The name of the play was "Titania, or The Butterflies' Carnival," a fairy extravaganza in two acts.

The little fairies and butterflies looked quite pretty against the woodland setting, while the crickets, grasshoppers, frogs and gnomes were very cunning in their appropriate costumes.

The main characters were:
Harriet Booker as Titania, Queen of the Fairies.

Dabney Jarman as Prince Oberon.
Evelyn Burger as Airie, Queen of the Butterflies.

Mary Ford as Uglia the Oger.
Margaret Hubbard as Moth, the Miller.
Bertha Owen as Puck, the Court Jester.
The excellent training of the children showed the ability of the Dramatic Club girls who directed it.

WHO'S WHO IN THE RURAL CONFERENCE.

Dr. E. C. Lindeman, the Field Secretary of the American Country Life Association, has promised to be with us during the Rural Life Conference. He attended the conference here last year and has made other visits to the school. Dr. Lindeman is of Danish descent, but is a true American. He possesses a strong, vigorous rural sympathy. He is one of the most enthusiastic speakers on rural life in America.

Mr. J. C. Muerman, a specialist in rural education, comes from the U. S. Bureau of Education at Washington. Mr. Muerman presided at several of the meetings last year, and also gave a very interesting illustrative lecture.

We are very fortunate indeed in securing Dr. E. G. Williams, head of the State Department of Health. He is one of the greatest enemies to disease of all kinds in the United States. Not only is he interested in problems pertaining to health, but those concerning rural life as well.

Mr. M. O. Wilson, from Keysville, Va., is the campaign manager for the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association of Virginia. The tobacco men from this section of the State were led in a most successful campaign of organization by Mr. Wilson.

Mr. John P. McConnell, president of the State Normal School at Radford, is well qualified to speak on rural work, since Radford makes a specialty of preparing rural supervisors. Mr. McConnell has taken an active part in the work throughout the State.

Mrs. M. B. Munford, president of the Co-operative Educational Association, will attend the conference and take an active part in the program. For a number of years Mrs. Munford has been a leader in educational affairs in this State.

Mr. J. H. Montgomery, the leader of Methodist Sunday school work in Virginia, is on the program. Mr. Montgomery is an active rural worker in the State.

We are again fortunate in having with us at the Rural Conference Dr. W. T. Sanger, editor of the Virginia Journal of Education. He is also Executive Secretary of the State Teachers' Association. He was formerly dean of education at Harrisonburg State Normal School.

The program includes an address by Mr. J. R. Hutcheson, who is connected with extension work at V. P. I. Mr. Hutcheson has taken an active part in co-operative marketing movement in the State and his address will be of special interest to farmers.

Dr. W. J. Campbell, director of the county work course of the International Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, Massachusetts, and chairman of the Rural Leadership Life Committee of American Life Association, is among the out-of-town speakers.

Mr. O. M. Mitchell, superintendent of the Fletcher Memorial School, McCall, S. C., is a successful rural high school man. He has done much to develop the rural schools of his State. Fletcher Memorial School is one of the foremost rural high schools in South Carolina.

Dr. E. G. Gammon, pastor of the College Presbyterian Church of Hampden-Sidney, will assist in the Sunday evening service held in connection with the Rural Life Conference.

Dr. C. J. Galpin, who comes to us from the National Department of Agriculture, has appeared twice before in our State in the last few years and has made three stimulating addresses. He is an economist in charge of rural life studies and is an active worker in all movements for the betterment of the human side of rural life. No better words could explain his zeal for this human side than his own quotation: "It is high time that the pure bred hog had a high bred master."

Dean C. Maphis, direct or of the University Summer School and head of the extension work of the University of Virginia, is one of the prominent Virginia educators and an active worker in rural school work. He will address the Conference early in the session.

The young people have not been forgotten. A special program, including both Normal School girls and Hampden-Sidney boys, is being arranged for the last Sunday night of the Conference. At this meeting Miss Frances Story, a student representative from Wilmer Farm Life School, will speak to the High School girls on "Uncle Sam's Partners at Wilmer."

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Clara Neblett is studying law in Washington, D. C.

Misses Lois Claud and Emma Squire are teaching in Holland, Va.

Mrs. Morgan Roderick (nee Eva Larmour) and son spent a day with us on her way to her home in Kentucky.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Charlotte Wolfe to Mr. Lawrence Wales was received with great interest by her many friends in the School and in Farmville.

The Farmville Chapter of the Alumnae Association held a called meeting Thursday afternoon. At this meeting plans were perfected for a bazaar to be given November 18th for the benefit of the Student Building.

Miss Lelia Robertson, of Norfolk, surprised us with a visit last week. We like surprises of this kind and wish that more alumnae would take a hint.

Mrs. Wilson Cox, of Newport News, was in town recently attending the Bond-Cox wedding. Mrs. Cox is a graduate of this school and also an ex-member of the faculty.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams

BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager..... Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager..... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager..... Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Carolyn Coghill
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

With each school year come certain campaigns and drives for financial support to different worthy causes. This session we are asked to concentrate our attention on raising funds for our student building. It is our "project" for the year. Aside from personal contributions many plans are on foot for raising our fifty thousand dollars. Last Saturday night and Monday afternoon the popular movie, "The Shadow of the Founder," was shown in the school auditorium. Every girl who attended this picture did her "bit" at that particular time toward raising our fund. The Alumnae Association is opening a tea room in the school early next week. It will be no longer necessary for you to go down town in order to get a sandwich and cup of chocolate—you can be served in the tea room. By patronizing the tea room you will save yourself the trouble of walking down town, will please Dr. Jarman and Miss Mary by keeping off the street, and you will help the Student Building Fund.

A bazaar is to be given on the 18th of November by the Prince Edward Alumnae Chapter, and those in charge would appreciate your service in making it a success.

These, then, are ways in which you can help raise our Student Building Fund.

THE SEA AT NIGHT.

The sky is black, and the sea
Would be, too, were it not for the Greenish cast of phosphorescence
And the foamy whiteness of the surf.
The wind and tide hurry a wave
High on the beach, and it snarls
About me, covering my feet
With its foam before I can move.
Quickly it retreats, and from
The distance scolds and mocks my Weakness, my puny, human weakness.
G. A.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society on Tuesday, October 18th, a very enjoyable program was given after the discussion of old and new business.

Virginia Hardin gave the life of Thomas Nelson Page, the first Virginia writer to be studied with his works by the society. Helen Black proved that she can play the piano with her left hand only equally as well as most of us can with both left and right. Julia Asher gave a very interesting and characteristic synopsis of Thomas Nelson Page's book, "In Ole Virginia."

SOCIAL NOTES.

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was a banquet given by Tri Sigma Sorority on Saturday, October 22d.

The Science Hall was transformed into a fairy bower with festoons of wisteria hanging gracefully over the table, intermingling with the tender green of fern. The purple and white color scheme was carried out in the ices and cakes. The table was laid for thirty-five guests and between courses several toasts were given.

Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed in the soft glow from shaded lights.

At 11 o'clock the party left the Science Hall with memories of a very enjoyable evening.

On Saturday evening, October 22d, Miss Helen Draper entertained the members of the Pi Kappa Omega Society at the home of Mrs. Herbert Stokes between the hours of 5 and 8. Mary Stephenson and Catherine Riddle, alumnae members of the society, were present.

A MEMORY.

Once, long ago, I was a wave.
The littlest wave in all the sea:
You were playing on the sands,
And you dipped your hands in me.

Since then I've crept far inland
Till now I see the sun
Only when its beams creep slyly
Through the trees when day is done.

But always I've remembered
Blue skies and a shining sea
And a little girl on golden sands
Who dipped her hands in me.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods,
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATHLETICS

HIKING RULES.

Hiking means walking at the rate of one mile in twenty minutes.

1. No hiking parties must be less than six hikers and must be under the leadership of a captain approved by the Physical Education Department.

2. The hours of hiking are from 2 to 6 P. M. on school days and 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. on Saturday.

3. The approved hiking routes are as follows:

The "Little Buffalo" road—up High Street.

The "Big Buffalo" road—up Buffalo Street.

The Rice road.

The "Hampten-Sidney" road—up Baptist Hill.

4. Any student who hikes ten miles a week for ten weeks, i. e., 100 miles, will receive a class numeral—I Professionals will receive a Roman numeral "I." etc. Remember that ten miles counts one point towards a school monogram.

5. All hikers who wish to receive points for hiking towards a class numeral and a school monogram will please observe the following rules for reporting:

After each hike deposit in a specially arranged and so labeled box in the Home Department office a slip containing the following information: Date, time, number of miles, route, captain and hikers.

The Physical Education Department sincerely hopes that the multiplicity of rules and regulations for supervised athletics, supervised recreation and hiking will not cause any student to fall a victim to the same fate of a certain animal as told in the following rhyme:

"The centipede was happy, quite,
Until the toad for fun
Said, 'Pray which leg comes after which?'
This worked her mind to such a pitch
She lay distracted in a ditch,
Considering how to run."

HIDDEN THOUGHTS.

I cannot voice the thoughts that seethe within

My heart, like troubled waves.

I cannot even rhyme my lines, and so
You laugh at me.

But could you know those buried thoughts—
Those words that I myself can't understand,
I think that you would smile at me,
And, your burden lightened, go on down the Road.

OUR WEEKLY TALK.

Know what you're doing—and keep on doing it.

FINANCE CAMPAIGN.

From October 17th to 22d, inclusive, the Y. W. C. A. put on a finance campaign, hoping to present a challenge for service, service through giving, not as sacrifice, but as sharing with others. In preparation for this campaign three nights were given to the portrayal of the work of each Y. W. C. A. committee, presenting the need and opportunity of service in the different departments of association work. As a set-up for this campaign, three teams were organized, to arouse active participation and competition on the part of each student.

Thursday, at chapel, the budget was formally presented by Miss Von Schilling, faculty advisor of the Finance Committee. The set-up for the campaign was explained a strong appeal made for giving in the right spirit—wisely, generously, and giving for the love of the cause. Active solicitation for contributions extended over three days, Thursday through Saturday. Thursday night at prayers, Lily Thornhill spoke on the Study of Investments, and the first report from the teams was made. Friday night at the regular "Y" sing, the program consisted of school and team songs, instead of popular music. The second report from the teams was made at this time. Saturday night at prayers, the subject was the Study of Stewardship. This night closing the campaign, the final team reports were made. The association members responded generously to the appeal for service through giving, and the labors of the campaign workers were amply rewarded.

FROM THE TREE OF USELESS KNOWLEDGE.

It's a mighty little man who'll hide behind his wife's skirts.

FITTING REMARKS.

"My tailor never fits me,"
Said young Freddy Fife;
"But there, don't you see,
I get fits from my wife."

ADVICE.

Among household necessities add love and patience.

JOKES.

Junior—"Is Miss Jennie in?"
Miss Bugg—"No, she went home for lunch."
Junior—"Will she be in after lunch?"
Miss Bugg—"No, that's what she went out for."

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

"Satisfied Customers" our Motto.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

JOKES.

Miss Jones—"Lizzie, why are you tardy?"
Lizzie Story—"Class began before I got here."

Wanted—White man to milk and run Ford car; one mile south of Fifteenth on Lewis-Devlin.—Ad. in "Tulsa World."

Lives of Seniors all remind us
We should strive to do our best.
And, departing, leave behind us
Note-books that will help the rest.
—X-Ray.

Page—"Julia has a high color, hasn't she?"

Mary Lee—"Yes; the dear girl. That kind costs ten dollars a box."—Exchange.

Teacher—"Now, can you tell me what happened to Lot's wife when she looked back at Sodom?"

Bright Student—"She was transmuted into chloride of sodium."—Exchange.

Betty accidentally discovered her pulse one day, and running to her mother, she exclaimed, "Oh, mamma, I got the hiccoughs in my wrist."—Exchange.

Student—"Mr. Lear, I don't think I should get zero on this test."

Mr. Lear—"Correct; but that is the lowest mark I know of."

"Isn't it awful! My husband has run off with our cook."

"Terrible, and cooks are so scarce!"

Sailor—"Waiter, what is this you've brought me?"

Waiter—"Soup, sir."

Sailor—"Funny, I've been sailing around in this stuff for twenty years and never knew what it was."

There has been considerable agitation over a new motto for all our coins. We suggest as a very appropriate one, "Abide with me!"

Superintendent—"How long did you work at your last job?"

Applicant—"Ten years."

Superintendent—"What doing?"

Applicant—"Ten years."

Teacher—"Some terrible things can be caught from kissing."

Bobby—"That's the truth! You ought to see the poor fish my sister caught that way!"—Exchange.

When you tell a man something it goes in one ear and out the other; when you tell a woman something, it goes in both ears and comes out of her mouth.—Exchange.

The old members of the Iota Kappa Beta Society entertained last week in the Infirmary of the Normal School, at which time three new members were initiated.

Professor—"Name three articles containing starch."

Hampden-Sidney Freshie—"Two cuffs and a collar."

The Beast—"You used to say there was something about me you liked."

Beauty—"Yes, but you've spent it all now."

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Lily Thornhill President
Orey Helm Vice-President
Bess Rush Secretary
Pauline Timberlake Treasurer

FOURTH PROFESSIONAL

Mildred Dickinson President
Carrie Spradlin Vice-President
Mary Finch Secretary
Annie Alvis Treasurer

THIRD PROFESSIONAL

Elizabeth Moring President
Lois Williams Vice-President
Ann Meredith Secretary
Ellen Carlson Treasurer

SECOND PROFESSIONAL

Page Trent President
Gwendolyn Wright Vice-President
Arianna Amonette Secretary
Emily Calcott Treasurer

FIRST PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

President Eleanor Greathead
Vice-President Florence Miller
Secretary Julia Cave
Treasurer Edna Blanton

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.
We have a complete line of White Shaker
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

FOURTH
PROFESSIONAL
WEEK.

THE ROTUNDA

WATCH
YOUR ENGLISH!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 5.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 4, 1921.

PRINCE EDWARD FARM AND SCHOOL FAIR.

The Prince Edward Farm and School Fair began last Wednesday, October 26th, with a large parade of school children from the Normal School, Training School and the leading high schools of the county. The floats were very attractively decorated and represented various periods in Virginia territory. The parade marched down High Street to Main, up Third Street and back to the Normal School.

The school exhibits, which were unusually good, drew large crowds of proud parents to the warehouses, where they were held. The stock and store exhibits were held in the other warehouses.

A carnival was held on Third Street in connection with the fair. Here could be found the usual round of attractions—the whip and the ferris wheel being the most popular with the Normal School girls. The Zenda sisters were also patronized when it was discovered that they could untangle complicated affairs of the heart.

The fair and carnival closed on Saturday, October 29th, leaving with the town a memory of a very interesting week.

A PERSIAN SPEAKS AT CHAPEL.

On Thursday morning at chapel, Mr. Yosep Benjamin spoke on "Christian Beauty."

Mr. Benjamin is a native of Persia. He was the son of a Persian woman who for years was the only native missionary in the surrounding country. When he was about fourteen years old his mother was killed by the Kurds. Mr. Benjamin took up the work of his mother, going from place to place preaching the gospel. A few years later he too was forced to flee from the hands of the Kurds and seek the home of a nobleman in Eastern Persia. Shortly afterwards he was married to a daughter of this home. Two years later he came to America, where he was educated at Columbia Seminary. After securing his education he went back to Persia as a missionary to his own people. There he worked faithfully until the World War, at which time he, as a Christian, was forced to flee to Russia in the dead of winter. Mr. Benjamin and his family suffered many hardships on this flight. At the crisis of the Bolshevik uprising he was again compelled to flee. After much delay and trouble he secured passage to America. Mr. Benjamin is speaking throughout the country on his experiences, and is supported by free-will offerings.

Our Weekly Talk.

Nature has started to classify the trees—using the loose-leaf system.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Miss Elizabeth Bain, of New York, representing the American Social Hygiene Association, spoke to the Normal School students Saturday morning, October 22d, on health and morals.

The six literary societies of the school issued invitations for new members Monday evening, October 24th. There was a large increase in membership in every society.

The First Professional Class presented, Miss Florence Buford, assistant director of physical education, as the honorary member of their class at chapel Tuesday, October 25th.

Miss Jennie Tabb, registrar of the Normal School, attended the Episcopal Convocation at Amelia Courthouse, October 25th, 27th.

Dr. W. F. Tidyman and C. M. Faithful attended the installation of a Virginia Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity at the University of Virginia on Friday, October 21st.

Mr. W. B. Criddle, of Richmond, representing the Virginia Historical Pageant Association, spoke in chapel Wednesday, October 24th, explaining the pageant and showing the need of it.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Tennent-Moring.

The marriage of Miss Rosalie Lurline Moring, of the class of '18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davidson Moring, of this city, to Mr. George Raby Tennent, son of Mrs. Annie Tennent, of Asheville, N. C., took place Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Burrell, who used the ring service. It was witnessed only by the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom, and a few friends.

Just before the ceremony Miss Evelyn Barnes sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Miss Lily Thornhill. "To a Wild Rose" was played during the ceremony, which was performed before an improvised altar of ferns.

The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue, moussine trimmed with moleskin, with corresponding accessories. Her flowers were orchids and lilies of the valley. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Moring, who wore a frock of turquoise blue chiffon and a black lace hat and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Leonard Walthall, of Petersburg, Va.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tennent left for New York City. They will be at home in City Point, Va., after Saturday, November 5th.

The following girls were here to attend the Sigma Sigma Sigma banquet: Misses Gypsy Johnson, Peggy Wonycott, Marion Moomaw, Louise Denit and Sallie Barksdale.

Misses Mary Stephenson, Janie and Pattie Dyer and Mary Moore are among the recent visitors to our school.

THE PURPOSE OF BETTER SPEECH WEEK.

"Speak carefully if you speak at all.
Carve every word before you let it fall."

The purpose of better speech week, stated briefly, is to arouse an acute consciousness of correct and incorrect language. Since through our speech we not only give self-expressions, but self-impressions, it behooves us to "Carve every word before we let it fall."

Each self-respecting, duty-realizing student feels the need for careful attention to her daily language. The students who continue through high school take upon themselves this responsibility of conveying their thoughts in the best possible way.

There are, however, two distinct classes of students in school life who mar the beauty of their speech by incorrectness—the students who are willingly careless and sloven in their speech, and the students who are ignorant of correct form. Of these two groups, the latter is more hopeful, because when once aroused to their errors they can be relied upon to seek remedies, to keep an open ear to right and wrong forms of grammar. The former group, while aware of their errors, continue in them day after day until incorrectness of speech becomes as much a part of them as their physical features, because habit makes character.

If we indulge constantly in the use of "ain't" and other incorrect forms, then those things go to make up a part of us. We cannot express ourselves at all times in a questionable form of language and at the same time be in sympathy with the finer phrases which give the beauty and charm to our mother tongue.

It has been said by critics that in Virginia and Boston one finds the purest Anglo-Saxon speech in America. Shall we as students and future teachers detract from the rich qualities of our historic language?

Let us watch our speech, correct our errors and awaken within ourselves a keen and sensitive consciousness of correct speech.

Wanted—More Boosters.

Boost for every forward movement.
Boost for every new improvement.
Boost the stranger and your neighbor.
Boost the work in which you labor.
Cease to be a chronic knocker.
Cease to be a progress blocker.
And if you'd see your school grow better,
BOOST IT to the final letter.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams

BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager.... Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

AN EXPLANATION.

The Rotunda for this week is the first of a series which will be issued during the next month by the professional classes in school.
It is hoped that through these "class numbers" more girls will contribute to the paper, and that there will be some helpful competition between the classes to make their class issue the best.

The majority of work on this copy of the paper was contributed by the members of the Fourth Professional Class. In view of the fact that next week is "American Speech Week," they have chosen that this issue shall help prepare the way for the programs of next week.

SLEEK COINS IN ENGLISH CURRENCY.

Among Normal School students there are several expressions which, on account of their constant usage, have become hackneyed, or, in other words, sleek coins in English currency. These common expressions are neither necessarily incorrect nor are they slang, still daily and almost hourly use has served to take much of their pep and force from them.

While "I'm a wreck" seems to express your feelings better than anything else when a member of the faculty has "blown you sky high" because you failed to write that "awful" old paper, or one of the home department "sat on you" when you made too much noise by singing that "cute" song, can't we grant these phrases a leave of absence for a much needed rest? Let us grant a respite to, "I just can't wait," "It ain't nothing different," "Isn't that the limit,"
"O good gracious," etc.

There are other coins, which are worn thin and sleek in our every-day conversation.
You know them, you have heard them constantly since your advent to S. N. S. Can't we desist from employing these used coins?

Robert Louis Stevenson said: "There can be no fairer ambition than to excel in talk."
Let us excel in our talk by avoiding the use of these sleek coins as far as possible.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

At the regular meeting of the Athenian
Literary Society on Tuesday, October 25th, the new members of the society were cordially welcomed, and a very interesting program was rendered.

Helen Craddock gave the history of the society. Since our history is one of which every member may well feel proud, we believe that the knowledge of it will be an incentive to greater things in the future.
In conclusion, a piano solo was given by Sallie Kie.

SOCIAL NOTES.

The Gamma Theta Sorority entertained a large number of guests and alumnae in the Science Hall last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Among the alumnae present at the banquet were Mrs. John Hughes, of Lynchburg; Misses Isabel Kinnear, of Lexington;
Elizabeth McClung, of Chatham; Elizabeth
Gannaway, of Richmond; Grace Beard, of Farmville, and Florence Buford, of Farmville.

The Third Professional Class, with several members of the faculty, enjoyed a picnic in Robertson Park Monday evening, October 24th.

In response to a very mysterious invitation, a number of guests assembled in the front room of Williamson Cottage last Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. After several unique ceremonies, by which partners were drawn for the evening and the guests initiated into the party, games were played and songs sung around an open fire. Following this, delicious refreshments were served.
Much credit is due the hostesses, girls of Williamson Cottage, for the delightful evening spent by all present.

On Friday evening the studio was the scene of merriment, when the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, dressed as children, were entertained by Mrs. Bell, Kitty Cole and Susie
Scott. Halloween was expressed in the appropriate decorations and refreshments.
After stories were told and songs sung by all, sitting around the fire, the guests pronounced the evening the jolliest, most delightful ever spent.

Advice.

When you meet temptations, "treat 'em rough."

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Where You Can Get the Best
Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

Grace Dodge Hotel.

An item of interest to our Association, the members of our faculty, and our other friends is the opening of the Grace Dodge Hotel by the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association. This hotel, situated at North Capitol and E Streets, in Washington, D. C., is exclusively for women, and absolutely first class in every particular. It is a real achievement, designed for professional women, women tourists traveling alone, and as headquarters for college delegations and small conventions. It has the capacity to accommodate four hundred guests. Some of its interesting features are a valeting room on every floor, a telephone in every room, running water in every room, a public stenographer, a special information bureau, special accommodations for women with small children, and accommodations for club meetings and small conventions.

This hotel has a restaurant, open to the public, and with club and a la carte service. Both single and double rooms may be had, with prices from $2.00 to $5.00.

VOICES OF THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Voice is an indication of character just as truly as handwriting, speech and manner. How many of us really think of having our character judged by our voice?

There are many kinds of voices—harsh voices, heavy voices, loud voices, rasping voices, thin, wavering voices, squeaky voices, soft, low voices, clear voices, indistinct voices and “carrying” voices. Which kind is yours? Which is the typical voice? Which is the Normal School voice?

We know that “first impressions make lasting memories.” At the beginning of school I met a girl who had a very loud voice. She almost shouted even when engaged in ordinary conversation. I immediately decided that she was a very boisterous, rowdy person. After seeing her the second and third time I began to think that perhaps after all she was not the person I judged her to be at first. Every time she came into my room and whenever I spoke to her on the hall I lowered my voice and spoke in the lowest tones possible, almost whispering. After a while I noticed that she was gradually dropping her loud tones and beginning to speak quietly, even gently at times. Often now I hear this girl on the hall, shouting and screaming; yet her voice in conversation is changing, slowly but surely. Since then I have thought many times of the influence of voice. How important it is that we think of the influence we exert, though it be but the influence of the voice.

On a rainy afternoon as I sit quietly in my room, studying, suddenly I hear in the hall outside loud, selfish voices, discussing a very personal affair. Selfish voices? Yes, because concentration on my part is impossible because of their intrusion upon my thought.

Have you ever wondered what our Joan of Arc would say if she could speak? She sees hundreds of girls and hears hundreds of voices as they pass her, going back and forth through the reception hall day and night. If you want to know what she, who never moves or speaks, thinks of us who are in perpetual motion and speech, just stand by her some day when the dinner bell rings and—Stop! Look! Listen! Some are shouting, some are yelling, some are calling loudly, gesticulating frantically at the same time, and some are speaking quietly in natural tones.

Do not stop on the outside of the door, however. Leave Joan to her thoughts in these, almost, only moments of peace she has during the day. Go into the dining room! A medley of sounds, you say? Yes, very true. Had you been present at breakfast you would have found out that five hundred people could speak quietly. Now, however, it does not seem possible. Such a hubbub, a confusion of sounds such as must have been heard before the destruction of the Tower of Babel. But I must confess should you return at supper time you should scarcely be able to hear your own voice! There is a sound of many voices as great as the roar of the ocean waves! “Voices soft and sweet” are lost in the whirlpool of voice until “supper is a scream!”

There is another voice which has not been mentioned. It is the 11 o'clock voice, which wakes the poor Junior from her sound slumbers, to wonder where the fire is!

Watch the little box in your throat and guard it with care, realizing that is a God-given gift to be used in self-improvement and useful service that may be satisfying and pleasing.

“The voice of the years that are gone Crowding all back, with their deeds.”

DREAM DAYS.

The mornings with their silver frost.

And rustling of crimson leaves;

The starry solitude of nights.

The flaming glory of the eves,

And one by one they're slipping by
These perfect days that glow and die.

The road that winds through painted woods.

The blue skies mirrored in the rills;

The gold and russet of the fields.

The purple distance of the hills.

And dost thou feel them e'en as I:

These perfect days that glow and die?

Alas, these days come but to fade!

What can they give a heart that grieves?

No hope but still the fire of dreams

That vanish with the falling leaves.

For I have learned that naught can be

But silence now 'twixt thou and me.

M. C. B.

From the Tree of Useless Knowledge.

SOME people would starve without a can opener.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

“Satisfied Customers” our Motto.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - - - Virginia

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

RICHARDSON & CRALLE

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy-Suits and Blouses, Sport Suits,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Future Teachers! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

ON THE USES OF CONVERSATION.

"Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her," said Jesus at the house of Simon the leper. Martha was complaining because Mary, instead of helping get the supper on the table, "sat at Jesus' feet," talking with Him. The "good part" which Mary was wise enough to choose whenever the Master came to her house was conversation. Jesus wrote nothing. His public discourses had little influence at the time; for the crowds which heard Him gladly and threw palm branches in His path on a Sunday with cries of "Hosanna," were ready to hiss and hoot Him the next Friday and to cry "Crucify Him." The kingdom was founded by three years of daily conversation with a little group of congenial friends.

"The best of life is conversation," says Emerson. "Wise cultivated conversation is the last flower of civilization, and the best result which life has to offer us—a cup for the gods which has no repentance. Conversation is our account of ourselves. All we have, all we can, all we know is brought into play, and as the reproduction in fine form of all our havings." The choicest spirits of the world have been gifted talkers, and "All literary power," says Palmer, "is rooted in sound speech." "A single conversation across the table with a wise man," says a Chinese proverb, "is better than ten years' study of books."

If conversation is so fine for Mary, what about Martha? Talk is no less a benediction to common-place men and women in everyday affairs. Even as a pastime nothing pleases or refreshes more delightfully than natural spontaneous talk among considerate, congenial, ready-witted comrades. It may add pleasurable to one's fund of information. It broadens one's outlook and stimulates thinking. Physicians, teachers and parents, in these days, find conversation increasing in value as an aid to dealing effectively with people in their charge and educating them. The psycho-analyst by conversing freely with his patient discovers the cause of neurotic conditions, helps the patient understand them, and cures him. Teachers are abandoning the lecture method and using more conversation. The pupils talk at least as much as the teacher, often more, and for that reason reap an equal share of the benefits of the lessons. Parents, likewise, may mould the characters of their children through conversation. Dr. Irving King says:

"One of the most valuable and yet most neglected opportunities for character formation is wholesome conversation at the table and in the evening circle. . . . The trouble is that most people do not appreciate the power of conversation or make any effort to develop it."

"In the intimate conversation in the home the real life is laid bare, whether it be noble or coarse and low. The things which really interest the parents they will usually talk about, and what the child sees the parent really cares for he is apt to care for himself. His sense of life's values is thus largely formed, and it will be very difficult for any other power to make him have a high regard for what he hears slightly referred to by his parents."

Though sometimes referred to as a lost art, good conversation may nevertheless be heard among us constantly and deserves attention and cultivation among all those who would be considered educated. It trains all the powers of expression through language more effectively than more formal kinds of exercise and helps to make us easier to live with. "Men are never so likely to settle a question rightly," says Macaulay, "as when they discuss it freely." Conversation helps people to do unto others as they would be done by, and is "the most democratic of all the arts." Then let us talk freely and naturally, and always. For in conversation, as in all the arts, "Practice makes perfect."

JOKES.

"Stuffy" (walking into a store): "Gimme a chicken."

Storekeeper: "Do you want a pullet?"

"Stuffy": "No, I wanta carry it."

He: "Darling, I have made up my mind to stay at home tonight."

She: "Too late; I've made up my face to go out."

Mary Lee (at banquet): "I'd like to have the money that's been paid for the gowns and jewelry in this room."

Mary B.: "I'd rather have what's owing on them!"

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,
TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,
Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.
We have a complete line of White Shaker
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over
styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century
Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality
Meals At All Hours
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of
Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

THIRD
PROFESSIONAL COURSE

DID YOU HELP MAKE THE

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2, No. 6.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 11, 1921.

AN ALUMNAE LETTER.

To the members of the Alumnae Association:

I welcome this opportunity of writing a letter to you about our approaching meeting in Richmond. The Association decided at the last biennial meeting to hold annual business-social meetings at the time and place of the Virginia Education Conference. We feel that the biennial meetings were too far apart and held at a time inconvenient to a great many members to attend. Many of us are in Richmond each year during the Conference week, so this seems to be a very opportune time and place of holding meetings to carry on the work inaugurated at the regular biennials and to determine matters arising in the interim which need immediate action.

This first annual meeting of the Association is to be held at the Richmond Hotel on Friday at 1 P. M., when a luncheon will be served, followed by a business meeting. The cost of this luncheon will be $1.50 per plate, and tickets will be on sale at the John Marshall High School.

A large number of the faculty will be present with us, and from all over the State the old girls are writing that they are coming. We want every member of the Association who is in Richmond that day to plan to have luncheon with us. In order that it may be a real reunion let each one of us write to some special friend and ask her to meet us there.

May I urge especially the associate members of the Association to attend this meeting. Anyone who has attended the Normal during a winter session is an associate member with all of the privileges except voting.

With every good wish and looking forward to the pleasure of meeting you in Richmond, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

PAULINE CAMPER.

President of the Alumnae Association.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter and the Home Department, with the assistance of Normal School students, are as "busy as bees" preparing for a bazaar on November 15th. The four main booths will represent in decoration and contents the four seasons. In the spring booth will be found flowers of different kinds, in the summer booth candy and ice cream, while the fall booth will be of interest to basket-ball players and rooters. In the winter booth Christmas presents may be obtained. There will probably be separate booths for Japanese articles, dolls and handkerchiefs, and the usual "grab bag" feature will be on hand. The receipts will be added to the student building fund of the chapter.

The moving picture of the hundred-year-old history of the University of Virginia, "The Shadow of the Founder," was shown to good crowds in the auditorium two nights, and netted a very nice sum for the student building fund.

Among the alumnae attending the Rural Life Conference were Misses Frances May, Edith Estep, Madeline Wartenburg, Mary Berger, Grace Chambers, Helen Kirkpatrick, Grace Beard and Ruth Woodruff.

RURAL LIFE CONFERENCE.

The second rural conference at Farmville held its opening session Thursday evening, November 3d. Addresses of welcome were given by President J. L. Jarman, Mayor J. A. Davidson and County Superintendent T. J. McHwaine. His excellency, Governor Westmoreland Davis, was the speaker of the evening.

Dr. C. J. Galpin spoke on "Rural Progress Calls for Leadership" at the second session held Friday morning. The remainder of the day was devoted to a discussion of school problems by Superintendent O. M. Mitchell, Mrs. E. C. Beverley, Miss Frances Story, Mr. Binford and Dr. E. C. Lindeman. These programs were attended by pupils from Prince Edward, Cumberland, Charlotte and other surrounding counties.

The Saturday program was of special interest to farm men and women. The speakers of the day were Dr. E. C. Lindeman, Dean Chas. G. Mappis, Mr. J. R. Hutcheson, President J. P. McConnell, Dr. W. J. Campbell.

On Sunday morning country religious leaders conducted special services at the different churches of the town. A country church program was given in the school auditorium Sunday afternoon. Addresses were given by Mr. J. H. Montgomery, Rev. Raymond C. Rankin and Dr. W. J. Campbell. The students of the Normal School and Hampden-Sidney College participated in the program for young men and women given Sunday evening. The speakers of the evening were Dr. E. G. Gammon, Dr. W. J. Campbell and Dr. J. D. Eggleston.

Musical demonstrations given by Miss Margaret M. Streeter were especially enjoyed during the conference. The Glee Club and orchestra furnished special music at a number of the sessions.

New Version of An Old Story

When first he came to see her

He showed a timid heart,

And when the lights were low

They sat this far apart.

But when their love grew warmer

And they learned the joy of a kiss

They knocked out all the spaces

And sat up close like this

—The Skirmisher.

GLEE OLDS OF HAMPDEN-SIDNEY AND S. N. S. GIVE CO' CERT.

The Hampden-Sidney Glee Club and State Normal Glee Club and Orchestra gave a concert in the Normal School auditorium Wednesday evening, November 3d. A large audience was present.

The program was as follows:

Stabat Mater, Hunting Scene, Normal School Orchestra.

Solo, Little Boy Blue, Miss Annette Wilson.

Down in the Depots, Hampden-Sidney Glee Club.

Solo, My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice, Miss Evelyn Barnes.

Solo, Sylvia, Mr. Herbert Bryan.

Kentucky Babe, Hampden-Sidney Glee Club.

Long, Long Ago, Normal School Glee Club.

COLLEGE CLUB ANNOUNCEMENT.

Do you wish to be a member of the College Club?

This club has been organized for the primary purpose of interesting girls in returning to S. N. S. for a degree. Because the members of the club realize the advantages of returning and the possibilities of such an organization for explaining and advocating the uses of these advantages, they have organized this club for effective work. The constitution, as a basis for procedure, has been adopted, and the following members chosen as officers for this year:

President, Mildred Dickinson.

Vice-President, Otley Helm.

Treasurer, Marion Camper.

Secretary, Mary Nichols.

The club is now ready to extend invitations for membership to all professional students with the qualifications of interest in the purpose and welfare of the club, and the intention of taking the four-year course.

Do you wish to become a member of the College Club?

NOVEMBER.

The wind blows the trees outside.

The yellow, tawny leaves,

The leaves flicker in the wind

They rattle like tiny castanets in the breeze.

The sky is pale blue, dappled with small white clouds.

That look like marshmallows.

One lone buzzard circles slowly overhead—
Huge wings motionless.

The sunlight comes palely.

He is nearing the end of his journey—

He is tired out.

His strength is almost gone.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Biscoe
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Coghill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

THE TOWER OF BABEL AT S. N. S.

You didn't know the tower of Babel was at the Farmville Normal? Well, what happened at the tower of Babel? There was a confusion of tongues, wasn't there? Do you ever go to the library? Don't you find a confusion of tongues there? Well, just go there some night and try to look up an important reference and you'll find confusion worse confounded. We had always had the idea that a library was a quiet place in which to work. But here we find it is a place of social gathering, a place in which to hold pleasant conversations with your friends.

Girls, do we want this to continue? It is in our own hands. If the majority of us want the library to be a place of quiet, reserved for serious work, we can have it so. Let us not permit the thoughtless few to rob us of our right to a quiet library.

ENOUGH IS AS GOOD AS A FEAST.

There is not a girl at S. N. S. who really believes this. Who could believe it? Even those who reverence old sayings proclaim this, as Lamb did, a popular fallacy.

Had you just as soon have enough supper as to have a feast of good things tonight? Now consider carefully the advantages and disadvantages of each case. For instance, you would never overeat and be compelled to retire to the infirmary from an ordinary supper here, but how about the after effects of a party or a feast? Should the after effects be disastrous, isn't it worth it to take some disagreeable consequences for the superabundance of the feast? What girl here had rather not have the feast and enjoy blissful ignorance as to future consequences. You really have proved just recently that you did not believe that enough is as good as a feast for so many suppers have been neglected for Halloween feasts.

A feast implies enough and then some. Those who have not the characteristics of a pig can attend a feast, getting enough and leaving some for next time; whereas enough implies having a sufficiency for temporary wants. Will the next meal be the same?

It is certainly true that most school girls think in terms of food, but apply this saying to a supply of spending money, to the number of one's hats or dresses, to the daily mail. Where is the girl who had just as soon have just enough as a superabundance of these? They give the real pleasure of possession and gratify the collecting instinct if nothing else.

School girls are not abnormal creatures. What they like is not essentially different from what other girls or people in general like. Enough is not as good as a feast.

Argus.

The regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society was held Tuesday, November 1st. A social committee for the year was appointed. After the business was transacted a program of much interest and enjoyment was presented.

Marjorie Thompson told us "Why We Should Enjoy the Study of Virginia in Fiction." Annie Alvis gave a short sketch of the life of Kate Langley Bosher, who visited here three years ago. Following that Nancy Crismon gave a synopsis of "Kitty Canary," by Kate Langley Bosher. The last few moments of the meeting was devoted to current events by Mary Nichols.

Athenian.

At the regular meeting of the Athenian Literary Society on Tuesday, November 1st, a very enjoyable, as well as a very instructive, program was given by both the old and new members.

Thelma Rhodes entertained us with a humorous recitation, after which Myrtle Rake sang a solo. Marie Ricks told us the origin of the short story. In conclusion Bertha Smith read a short story by Edgar Allen Poe.

Cunningham.

The Cunningham Literary Society held its weekly meeting Tuesday, November 1st. After the old and new business, a very enjoyable program was presented dealing with the Atlantic Monthly and the Literary Digest.

Julia Clarke gave an interesting talk on the educational movement in the Philip.
Concluded on third page.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished

FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

The World Week of Prayer.

In the observance of the World Week of Prayer this year the Association wishes to connect its programs and projects with the significant events taking place during these same days in Washington at the conference on the limitations of armaments. We cannot consistently as members of the Young Woman's Christian Association pledge love and fellowship with women of other nations and as members of one of the participating governments refuse to accept responsibility for putting into practice the Christian brotherhood which we profess. There are many of us who in spite of our love for Christ and our belief in His teaching have not yet the courage to accept for ourselves or for our nation His assurance that it is better to lose the whole world than our own soul.

During this week of prayer we want to go together on the Association trail across the World. The thought during the whole week shall be one of interpretation of the women and girls of other countries to the women and girls of the United States. Beginning November 13th, every girl in school is urged to take her place in the chain of prayer which extends around the world. Each morning during this week we will have our morning watch services in the Association room; each evening at prayers we will unite with all the students of our country in prayer for the womanhood of the world. Our last meeting on Saturday, November 19th, will be a stereoscopic lecture on "The Challenge of a World Call," by Mr. Bollingrath and Mr. Hamilton, of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Richmond. Both Mr. Bollingrath and Mr. Hamilton have answered this call and are expecting to go into the foreign field upon the completion of their course at the seminary.

The Aim of the Alumnae Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Feeling that the Association work on our campus would strike a deeper note in spiritual development and that the scope of our work could be carried into larger fields in the future, in the spring of 1920, an Alumnae Branch of the Young Women's Christian Association was organized.

The aim of this Alumnae Branch is twofold: that of keeping alive the interest of former graduates in the work of the active Association and of strengthening the work of the Association in school by having the former students with us in spirit, if not in body.

We hope that by the prayers and help of the Alumnae our ultimate aim, that of supporting a secretary in a foreign field, will soon materialize.

ANNIE ALVIS,
Chairman Alumnae Committee.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

piners, Etta Belle Walker read an article from the Atlantic Monthly on "Friendship." Rebecca Bunch added a touch of humor by reading jokes from the Literary Digest.

THIRD PROFESSIONAL BACON BAT.

On Monday, October 26th, the third professional class of the Farmville State Normal School entertained its honorary member, Mr. J. M. Lear, and also Dr. and Mrs. Tidyman and Miss Scott at a bacon bat, which took place in Robinson Park.

The happy party left the school at 5 o'clock with Mr. Lear and the two smallest members of the class going ahead in Mr. Lear's car with the supplies. The rest of the party followed on foot and reached the park about 5:30. Everyone began working industriously to build a fire, which soon brightened the landscape in defiance to the approaching twilight. The people in charge of the party remembered to take along one of the new camp stoves that have been made for that purpose, and the coffee was soon in the making. Then the fun began. Each person found a stick on which to cook weenies, bacon, or both, as his appetite might dictate. With bread and pickles handy, to say nothing of olive, cheese, banana and raisin sandwiches, the appetites of the company were soon appeased, and the crowd gathered around the fire to toast marshmallows, sing and tell jokes and stories.

Tired and dirty, but happy withal, the party returned to school at 7:30, having spent an exceedingly pleasant afternoon.

BLIND EYES.

How dreary is the little dusty street
That used to echo with our laughter.
Ah, do you remember the dead moments of past happiness?

No. But then, alas, 'tis more than I could hope,

And time has changed you.

Stay, I am tired of this dusty street,
Where winds the footpath that doth turn aside?

I will follow for the gentians bloom along the way.

Then down a hill and through a vale I go,
And as I raise my eyes

Before me flames a blazing fairy curtain of delight.

And I have found myself within a wooded glen.

And I am silent in the hush of falling leaves
That whisper on the brooks and scarlet bits of color float away.

And in the silvan beauty of it all
The tree tops whisper—peace—peace.

How could I cherish any thought but peace,
And pray for thy blind, unseeing eyes and fickle heart.

For time can change you.

M. C. B.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. STUBBS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRAIG & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Maps, Targets, and a host of other articles for schools and colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

FARMVILLE, VA

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocoek
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Gacott
Assistant Circulation Manager... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager... Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

THE TEA ROOM.

If we drink a million cups of tea.

Eat sandwiches galore;

We'll have the Student Building built
Before the year is o'er.

Girls! At last the Tea Room is a reality and what a lovely reality it is! Early this fall when we heard rumors of a tea room in school we thought of it as something beautifully idealistic, but rather vaguely in the future to occupy much serious thought. But preparations steadily continued until the rooms began to look so interesting in their progress towards completion that during the last few days before the final touches were put on we felt that to wait much longer would be impossible. Now, isn't our waiting rewarded a hundred fold? Indeed it is,
and the tea room in all its lovely perfection is ours to enjoy. To say that we are proud of this possession is of course unnecessary, for our pride outstrips mere admiration and we find ourselves loving the tea room, even after such a brief acquaintance, from the beautiful hand-painted tables to the tiniest bit of blue and white china. We are going to show our appreciation, too, by keeping every little detail just as it is now, and by doing all in our power to aid in its maintenance.

There is only one thing lacking, and that is the question of a name. We want a name that suits the tea room; that expresses in a word the dainty charm, the soft blue and grayness of it; a word that has the distinction, so difficult to attain, of being "different"; a name of which we can be as proud as we are of the tea room itself.

A. P. and P. S.

This Must Be Stopped.

The ladies of the Home Department are reported to have been running after the President of this institution for several cents!

TENTATIVE BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

The following schedule has been arranged by the Executive Board of the Athletic Association:

Inter-Class Games.

The Thanksgiving game will be the first game played by the First and Second Professional Classes. The second game will be played on December 9. The third game, "if necessary", will be played after Xmas.

Varsity Games.

Farmville vs. Harrisonburg, January 27, on home court, and February 17, at Harrisonburg.

Farmville vs. Fredericksburg, January 20, either in Fredericksburg or Richmond.

Farmville vs. Fredericksburg, February
10, at Farmville.

If the student body and faculty will only get behind the teams and Athletic Association with the old Normal School spirit and the ever necessary "pep", the teams are more than likely "to roll up the score" in a satisfactory way.

Come on and give us some Senior "pep".
You know the Munoz kind!

Within the Next Five Minutes.

11842 wrong numbers will be given on telephones.

2119 knocks and rings will be made upon the wrong doors.

14891 jazz phonograph records will be turned loose to torment us.

12345 unsuccessful touches for money will be made.

13398 children will eat just one piece too much of something or other.

845 women will declare that "Mary Pickford is just too sweet for anything!"

8721 women will powder their noses a ghastly white, leaving the rest of the face red, pink, yellow, blue or green as the case may be.

40810 husbands will forget to kiss their wives good-by when they leave the house.

40810 wives will resolve to make it hot for their husbands when they return!

Better English—or French!

I Am—

You Is—

He Am.

Long years ago

when Lafayette

Came over here, did

Frenchmen fret

The way the Yankees

Did in France

With "Conjugations at a Glance!"

No, Ruth, the President doesn't look after the army and navy!

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FARMVILLE, VA.

BETTER SPEECH WEEK CELEBRATED AT S. N. S.

The teachers and students of S. N. S. observed better speech week beginning November 1 and continuing throughout the week.

Tuesday evening a one-act play was presented illustrating the difference in voices.

Wednesday evening prayer service was devoted to better speech. Annette Wilson and Anna Bell Treake discussed poor English, slang and profanity in the life of a school girl.

A delightful little play was given by the Cunningham Literary Society Thursday evening. The scene brought to many of us memories of our school days long ago when we had the advantage of co-education and the unconscious disadvantage of incorrect English.

Friday evening a spelling match was held in the auditorium. The contestants were selected from the various English classes and Miss Dorothy Mester, a representative from the First Professional Class, was the winner.

On Saturday evening the Third Professional Class presented an appropriate "stunt" in the auditorium.

The concluding program of better speech week was a pronunciation contest which was more entertaining to the audience than to the participants.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED.

Chapel exercises were observed at 10:45, November 11, in order that an Armistice program might be given. The eighth and ninth grades were dismissed to attend the exercises. After singing several songs, Mr. Burrell led in prayer. Evelyn Barnes sang "Christ in Flanders." Dr. Spooner made the address of the occasion. The Glee Club sang a selection, after which the audience joined in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner." The benediction was pronounced by Mr. Rankin.

The American Legion of Farmville and the surrounding districts marched from the courthouse to the Confederate monument to pay tribute to the American dead. Dr. Cox, after a few remarks, introduced the speaker, Mr. E. S. Shields. Mr. Shields made a "heart to heart" talk to the men, in which he told them that the hope of the nation lay in the American Legion.

After saluting their comrades, who had made the supreme sacrifice, the benediction was pronounced by Mr. Burrell, the chaplain of the Legion. The men, led by the band, then returned to the armory where a dinner was served to them by the Woman's Auxiliary.

OUR ANNUAL.

The Second Professional Class has already begun work on its annual, The Virginian, which will be published this year. On October 8, the staff was elected as follows:

Editor-in-Chief—Emily Calcott.

Assistant—Kate Trent.

Business Manager—Virginia Anderson.

Assistant—Frances Barksdale.

Art Editor—Julia Alexander.

Assistant—Julia Clarke.

Literary Editor—Carolyn Cogbill.

A representative of the firm of Hammersmith-Kortmeyer, which has published the State Normal School Annual for several years, visited the school a few weeks ago, and the staff decided to make the contract with his firm. Hammersmith-Kortmeyer has done very satisfactory work, and the staff feels that it has made no mistake in contracting with this firm.

The cost of the Annual will be only three dollars the copy, and it is hoped that the faculty and a large number of students and alumnae will subscribe. Any of the alumnae wishing to subscribe should send their names and three dollars to Virginia Anderson, Business Manager.

At a meeting of the class it was decided that the Annual be dedicated to Miss Mary White Cox. This was thought to be a most fitting way in which to show the Seniors' love for "Miss Mary" and their appreciation of what she has done and is doing for each and every one of them.

Several new features of the Annual are being discussed, and it is felt that the Annual published by the Second Professional Class will be the most attractive and interesting ever published by the school.

A NEW CLUB ORGANIZED.

A geographical association was organized on Friday evening, November 11, by Miss Dietrich and Miss Rice. The purpose of the organization is to give the members a broader appreciation of our world citizenship. All students who are either taking geography or are interested in it are invited to become members.

Miss Dietrich presided at the opening meeting. A very interesting report on current events was given by Miss Rice. Miss Dietrich then told something of our unhabited territories of the world.

The following officers were elected:

Carrie Spradlin, president.

Elizabeth Moring, first vice-president.

Gwendolyn Wright, second vice-president.

Gene West, secretary.

It was announced that the next meeting would be November 30.

"OUR SENIOR MAN"

"Laughing, witty and clever too,
Without her what would we do."

These lines not only characterize Miss Munoz, but express also the sentiments of each and every girl in the Second Professional Class.

With Miss Munoz with us, we feel that we can come out on top no matter what the task before us is. She thinks Second Professional, talks Second Professional, helps Second Professional, and loves Second Professional, and in return we love, admire, and respect her.

Oh, the pep Miss Munoz can manufacture in every girl—the class spirit comes forth and we are ready to face any problem, smiling, even in the training school, after a word of encouragement from our "Senior Man."

SENIOR SONG.

Tune "As I Was Walking Down the Street."

I.

We're looking for a Senior Man

With lots of pep and fun.

We've scoured the corners of the earth

And now we've found the one.

She's witty, wise, and very tall.

She's full of ideas, too.

She'll always guide us in the right

Our troubles now are through.

II.

She knows just how to lead our class.

She's positively game.

She calls us dummies, boobies, and such.

But loves us just the same.

She'll make our class a cracker-jack.

She'll bring us honor, too.

And if we're proud of anyone,

Dear Miss Munoz, it's you.

III.

So take our class, dear Senior Man,

And use us as you will.

Just show us off in any way.

And we will foot the bill.

We say hurrah a hundred times.

We realize our "land".

So hip-hurrah, and many more,

Munoz, our Senior Man.

OUR WEEKLY TALK.

Love at first sight may be all right, if you don't take a second look!

He—"How long have you been engaged?"

Page—"This time or altogether?"

Mr. Grainger (to professional student)

"Have you read 'Beowulf'?"

Student—"No, but I've read 'Brer Rabbit.' Isn't Uncle Remus adorable?"

Y. W. C. A.

Limitations of Armaments Conference.

"To-day, when the eyes of all nations are turning toward Washington and the whole thinking world is taut, awaiting the outcome of the conference on the limitation of armaments: when sectarian magazines everywhere are tense with such statements as the following: 'If the men who will speak for the nations fail to reach an agreement they will leave the world in a far more desperate condition than if the conference had never been held,' and thoughtful statesmen are saying, 'If the conference on limitation of armament should fail, the consequences will be utterly disastrous to the whole world', no student worthy of the name can afford to be either ignorant or indifferent to the issues at stake during these coming weeks. The limitation of armaments conference is not a matter for statesmen alone, it is of vital concern to every citizen of the civilized world. Especially must every follower of Jesus Christ think deeply and fearlessly into the problem and have convictions that will be Christlike and storm-proof, not merely borrowed opinions of the moment."

As an effort to bring information on this conference before the student body, many articles have been posted on the Y. W. C. A. bulletin boards. Some very strong articles have been written by H. G. Wells, and other prominent writers of to-day. Wells's reports have been published in the Richmond News Leader, and are posted daily on the bulletin boards. Keeping in mind the vast importance of the conference at Washington, can we afford to let any information about it pass unnoticed? Watch the Y. W. C. A. bulletin boards for information on this great question of to-day.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The Rotunda sometimes travels far afield. Mrs. Florence Baston Decker writes from Nanking, China:

"I enjoyed reading the copies of the Rotunda last year. It is a very creditable school paper."

Last year we were stationed at Shanghai College, a Baptist school supported by the Northern and Southern Baptists. I taught English in the College and Academy departments. Dr. Decker had to look after the health of the students and foreigners on the compound—we had 400 students. But his main work was in the hospital of the Yangtsepoos Social Center. That is a small hospital that was started as an experiment in the cotton mill district as a sort of laboratory for the sociology department of the college. Well, it has worked splendidly, the Chinese flock to it. In addition to the hospital they have day and night schools for the mill workers and their children, a reading room, clubs, Sunday school, and the like.

China is a fascinating country in many ways. Here in the interior you are reminded so much of descriptions in the Bible—the narrow streets, walled cities, and crowds everywhere, especially crowds of beggars. Then you go into a silk store and see the most gorgeous materials in all hues. They surely make your mouth water, but they are more expensive than I had expected to find them, so that a silk dress is still a luxury to most of us.

Shanghai is very like a foreign city. There are several big department stores there, and you can supply your wants there as well as in America.

As usual we were glad to have with us so many old girls. Among those who were here were Ella Jenkins, Sue Jones, Margaret Traylor, Virgie Wade, Virginia Blasingame, Mary B. G. Lewis, Mary Lancaster, and Jacqueline Venable.

A CATASTROPHE.

Hills and mountains are not the only things that skip like lambs these days. With the changes of times, it has become quite the thing for young ladies with their escorts to skip home from concerts and other evening functions. The other night, a young lady, a student of this institution, was returning from a concert with her "gentleman friend" in this most approved style of locomotion. Joyfully they gambled along the colonnade coming from the auditorium. The fresh wind whipped the color into their cheeks, the blood tingled in their veins, they felt as though they were flying. And then the serpent entered the garden. Instead of leisurely continuing their innocent and healthful pastime, this thought occurred to them: Why not cut campus without bothering about the tiresome stretch of asphalt in front of the building, and thus reach the reception hall earlier, and secure the best seat? Their skip accelerated, then doubled itself in intensity, they swerved from the colonnade, and—oh! There was a barb-wire fence! Over catapulted the unfortunate young man, and the young lady proceeded to go through all the motions of a beginner's swimming lesson, with one top wire as support. All their young enthusiasm destroyed in the twinkling of an eye, how dark their life seemed. Bruises, scratches, and rags of a once handsome suit covered the young man, and poor Kit—the unfortunate young lady, we mean, having landed on her head after the swimming lesson, looked decidedly if we may put it thus crudely—as though she had been passed through a key-hole—a small key-hole.

Note. If the Juniors could be induced to follow the example of the dignified Seniors, perhaps some regrettable accidents could be avoided.

What Size.

Yes, nature is Certainly wonderful
Did you ever
See a pair
Of lips
That wouldn't Fit?

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO. Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous
QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR
Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawin, Paper, Note Books, Rulers, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

WHAT ARE YOU?

Are you the piper of another man's tune?
Have you ceased to think for yourself so soon?

Are you content to depend on friends,
And use the excuses opportunity lends?
Are you free to find your way,
Or do you like to stop and stay
At every wayside inn?

Are you a worker or lover of rest?
Do you impart to the world your best?
Do you keep pace with the world's great race,

Or are you a slacker, a useless waste?
Are you friendly with the proud,
Or do you help along the crowd
To clean the wayside inn?

HARRIET J. MUNOZ.

JOKES

By a sewer a man lay dead,
A dagger in his side.
The coroner's decision was
He died by sewer's side.

"Did the traffic cop arrest you?"
"Twice," said Mr. Lear. "When I couldn't stop he arrested me for speeding, and when I finally stopped and couldn't start he arrested me for blocking the traffic."

Mamma—"Johnny, why did you steal the jam?"

Johnny—"I didn't want to disappoint the preacher. He prayed for all our sins to be forgiven and I didn't have any sins!"

Dr. "You cough easier this morning."
Very patient—"I ought to, I've been practicing all night."

The time has come that we do not need to take our own medicine. Apply to Lota Fitchette! She's accommodating!

"Don't come too near me, girls," says Miss Tupper, "I have an awful cold. I don't know where I got it unless I got it from Mr. Lear."

Junior (with disgust). There aren't any wits here are there?

Senior (with equal disgust). No, but there are a lot of half wits.

III Prof. (after having played soccer for forty five minutes): I say, Miss Barlow, where were we supposed to kick that ball anyway?

Maria: Louise, did you get the word in Spanish for brown?

Louise: Yes, but I don't know which one it is.

Mamie: I surely do like soccer.
Okey: Oh, I wish I had one now flavored with lemon.

AGE AND YOUTH.

In your eyes is the wisdom of the ages.
They are tawny, mysterious
They have looked upon Solomon's glory;
They have known the love of the Pharaohs.
They knew Babylon when the world was young.

You are wise, so wise:
But in your eyes are golden flecks.
Like sunlight flickering through leaves.
Into the brown depths of a woodland pool.

What have they to do with the wisdom of the sages?

They are the shine of your laughter
That bubbles in your eyes.
When you look at me!

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings.
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block of Buck Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Admission 4:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.

We have a complete line of White Shaker
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over
styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candles, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

FIRST
PROFESSIONAL
ISSUE.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

WATCH
THE CLASS OF '23.

Vol. 2. No. 8.

Farmville, Virginia.

Nov. 25, 1921.

FARMVILLE ALUMNAE CHAPTER GIVE BAZAAR IN ARMORY.

The bazaar given last Friday evening by the Farmville Alumnae Chapter, aided by the Home Department and S. N. S. girls, was a success from every standpoint. Any one entering the armory on November 18th, from 4 P. M. to 10 P. M. will agree that much time and care was spent in planning and decorating.

The first thing to catch the eye on entering was the Y. W. C. A. booth. The "Japanese" girls, Annie Alvis, Myrtle Fitchett and Dorothy Baltz, lent just the "proper touch" to make the Japanese trinkets sell better.

On the left was the booth representing Spring. Here were all kinds of growing and cut flowers for sale, with Mrs. Cocks in charge.

Next to this was Uncle Robert's wagon decorated with green and white crepe paper and used for a pop corn wagon. There Julia Asher was kept busy sprinkling salt in bags of pop corn.

Candy was on display at the summer booth. Very soon there was nothing left but the booth and still people wanted candy.

At the winter booth snow and ice with a background of evergreen predominated. This booth was a gentle reminder that Christmas is drawing nigh. Mrs. Jarman, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. A. A. Cox, Miss London, Miss Carter, and others were kept busy selling the dolls and fancy work.

The booth representing Autumn had as its main feature athletics. Miss Buford presided at this booth.

Last, but far from least, were the tables where one might have a splendid supper served.

The course five seniors served the food prepared by the ladies of the town. It is certain that this one place drew more nearly every one, no matter how young or old, than any other spot at the bazaar.

The Home Department, faculty, and students are to be complimented on their earnest and hearty support and co-operation with the Alumnae Association in helping to make the bazaar a success.

DR. BUCHANAN ADDRESSES STUDENTS

On Monday morning, November 14th, Dr. Buchanan, of Japan, gave an interesting talk on missionary work done in that country. Dr. Buchanan has spent twenty-six years of his life in Japan and has watched the birth and growth of young Japan. He exhibited pictures of scenery there and demonstrated in an interesting way the dress and customs of the people. His message is a call for missionaries to enter this foreign field.

MISS FLORENCE BUFORD FIRES PIPE, "MAN."

DEDICATION.

We, the members of the First Professional Class, in appreciation of the love and sympathy she has always extended to us, and the inspiration we have drawn from her noble example, do affectionately dedicate this issue of

The Rotunda
to
Miss Florence Buford.

TEA ROOM SCENE OF VARIOUS FESTIVITIES.

The tea room has been greatly in demand during the last week for parties of all kinds and varieties. On Thursday night the new members of the faculty entertained the old members. After delicious refreshments were served all took part in such games as lunch, rook and tiddledywinks until after eleven o'clock.

On Monday afternoon, November 14th, at 5 P. M., the Kindergarten Club was entertained by Miss Culkan.

Miss Peek entertained her Sunday School class in the tea room last Saturday.

Miss Haynes, Miss Tupper, Miss Scott and Miss Peek have at different times entertained their respective student teachers in the tea room.

I. R. JARMAN AND MISS TABB ATTEND MEETING AT NASHVILLE.

Dr. Jarman and Miss Tabb attended a meeting of the Southern Association of Teachers Training Institutions, held at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., on November the 11th and 12th.

All the Southern States were represented. The representatives from Virginia were Dean H. J. Hoke of William & Mary College, Dean J. L. Manahan, of the University of Virginia, and Dr. J. L. Jarman and Miss Jennie Tabb, of Farmville State Normal.

This meeting was called for a general discussion of courses, records, training, etc., in teachers training institutions.

Dr. Jarman and Miss Tabb report a very interesting trip. They enjoyed seeing the Farmville people who are at Peabody this year. Miss Nannie C. Newman, who was formerly a member of our faculty is at the head of their home economic department. Miss Myrtle Grenels, of our last year's faculty, is a student at Peabody this year. Miss Mary Clay Hines is now a member of their English department but will return to us after Xmas.

DEATH OF DR. NELSON.

The death of Rev. James Nelson, D. D., of Richmond, marks the end of an era in the history of the Normal School at Farmville.

Dr. Nelson was pastor of the Farmville Baptist Church at the time of the establishment of the Normal School and was more influential than any other man in having the institution located at Farmville. He was a member of the first board of trustees and served until the board was done away with and the school put under the Virginia Normal School Board.

Dr. Nelson was interested, heart and soul, in the welfare of the school and did all in his power to further its interests and insure its development in every possible way.

During the long years of his service, he scarcely missed a meeting of the board of trustees and was held in the highest esteem by his colleagues in that body.

Dr. Nelson was the last living member of the original board, and, although his connection with the institution was severed in 1914, he never ceased to feel a deep interest in all that was connected with its development and rejoiced at every forward step in its work and usefulness. The school has lost a staunch and loyal friend in Dr. Nelson and wishes to express, along with thousands of others who came in contact with him as an educator, a sense of loss in his death.

Bessie B.: "I am invited out to a party to-night and my watch isn't going."

Gladys B.: "Why, wasn't it invited."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeck
Organizations Harriet Judson Munz
Athletic Kate Davis
W. Y. C. A. Julia Alexander
Jok Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calesit
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

THANKSGIVING.

Once again we have come to the time when we call upon ourselves as a nation to remember the blessings which we have enjoyed for another year. This American custom started by the Pilgrims in the early struggles of the colonies, has been preserved and practiced by us to the greatest benefit of the people.

Let us preserve the custom and continue to hold in memory the mercies that have been shown. The past twelve months' experience lays upon us even greater obligations than ever before, heart-felt gratitude for mercies and expressions of thanksgiving. Here let us be thankful for the peace that now reigns over the world.

The achievements of our youth are the things to which our thoughts revert in the evening of life. What we have obtained through struggle is very dear to us. It was in the young lifetime of our country the greatest hardships were endured, the most bitter struggles and sacrifices made. Our Thanksgiving is for the beneficent results of these trials in our youth and the achievements obtained through them. We are thankful for the heritage bequeathed us by those unconquerable spirits and for the liberties secured by them.

We, as a nation, should be thankful that a conference is being held over the disputed question of disarmament instead of a war being waged to settle it. We are thankful for the growth of our country in population, prosperity and power—the results materially of the underlying foundation which our fathers laid for the guidance of the people. We are thankful for the Light and Truth being disseminated in our land for the development of purity and correction of evil. We are in a word, thankful that Jehovah has been our guide and we are recognizing His beneficence. May He use us for the furtherance of His purposes and teach us the truth that righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

J. W. The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

WINNERS IN BETTER SPEECH WEEK CONTESTS AWARDED PRIZES.

At chapel exercises on Wednesday morning, November 16th, prizes were awarded to the champions in the spelling and pronunciation contests held during Better Speech Week.

Miss Carolyn Cogbill, the winner in the pronunciation contest held Saturday night, was awarded a bowl of yellow apples; Mr. Grainger in presenting this prize gave the appropriate quotation "words fitly spoken are as apples of gold in pitchers of silver."

Miss Dorothy Mister, who won the spelling contest Friday night, was told that a good speller requires a sharp eye to see the word and a sharp pencil to write it down. So, she was given an Eversharp pencil.

The prizes were bought from the funds collected in the boxes that were on the tables in the dining room during the week. A penny was put in every time a grammatical error was made. These prizes were very appropriate and unique. The two successful contestants are to be congratulated.

No one doubted the genuineness of Mr. Leer's announcement that he wished to see Miss Cogbill after chapel.

THIRD YEAR H. S. CLASS PRESENTS HONORARY MEMBER.

The Third Year High School Class introduced its "Third Year Man" on Thursday, November 17th, in chapel. The class entered the auditorium by the side doors, marched up the side aisles in single file and down the center aisle by twos, with the president of the class and Miss Harris their "man" leading the line. When they reached the front of the auditorium they formed a circle around her and sang their class song, after which they showered her with their class colors—orange and maroon. Miss Harris then sat in the chair decorated in the class colors placed on the stage.

DID IT EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

A young girl sat in a railway train.
Just as lonesome as lonesome could be,
And she sighed as she leaned against the pane
"If he'd only talk to me."

The young man sat just across the aisle,
From the girl with the pretty stare,
And he said to himself with the frost of a smile.

"I wonder if she would care."
And so these two rode the whole long way,
But neither one of them knew
Just what the other one wanted to say.
Did it ever happen to you?

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear
207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
FARMVILLE, VA.

A THANKSGIVING JUBILEE IN THE S. N. S. KITCHEN

(A short story.)

The old Normal School was shrouded in darkness, silence reigned on its winding halls for it was midnight. The Old Man in the Moon shyly peeped into the still rooms; disappointed with what he found, slipped under a cloud in disgust. A shy little star nearby twinkled and sparkled for her rays pierced their way through the shutters into the big bare kitchen of Old S. N. S. and beheld a strange sight.

On the still night air rang the shrill notes of bugle, piped by Captain Rat, leader of the rat regiment. Forth from every crack and corner came his men ready to do his bidding. Captain Rat said in a commanding voice, "Squad number 1, sprinkle the floor lightly with corn meal and get everything in readiness for the coming guests. Squad number 2, sharpen your tools and cut a hole in the side door through which the out-of-town guests may enter. Some of you lazy fellows go and bring the fire flies in who have kindly consented to furnish the lights for the banquet."

A flutter was heard at the door. Mr. and Mrs. Gobbler, host and hostess, strutted in, ushered by two of Captain Rat's orderlies. Mr. Gobbler was handsomely dressed in a brown suit with a superb brown speckled vest. Mrs. Turkey wore a modest gown of cream silk trimmed in brown velvet. They took their honored places at the head of the receiving line. The out of town guests arrived first. The Misses Pumpkin Pie, adorned in lovely yellow dresses with white tulle shawls, escorted by Master Mince Pie were the first to arrive, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Jam, radiantly dressed in scarlet; their cousins, the Misses Jelly, quivering with excitement followed them. A "bunch" of grapes came, looking very pretty in their purple and green robes. The inseparable couple, Mr. and Mrs. Peaches and Cake, were the next to present themselves to the host and hostess. A familiar whistle was heard at the door and Mr. and Mrs. Bob White flew into their midst. All parties have chaperons, so old Mrs. Gingerbread, demurely dressed in brown satin, thought it her duty as well as privilege to come to this Thanksgiving party. At the last minute in rolled a whole tribe of Apples, headed by Mr. Crab Apple and the entire family of nuts. These were welcomed by the homefolks: Mr. Pink Mule, Mrs. Noodle, Miss Stale Bread and her Cousin Mr. Brown Bread, Master Brown Dog, little Miss Honey, Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter and the Pie Family.

After these ceremonies the dance began accompanied by the orchestra which was composed of high treble voices of Mr. and Mrs. Bob White, the bass voice of Mr. Bull Frog, hired for the occasion, and the tenor voice of Mr. Brown Dog. Several times the dance was interrupted by the hilarious guests, once by Mr. Brown Dog who had chased Miss Bird into a corner and another time by little Miss Peanut, who sent out a wail of despair because someone had accidentally stepped on her and the result was she was sadly cracked, but these disturbances were silenced by Mr. Gobbler and peace and order reigned. The kitchen walls rang with shouts of joy and laughter; every one was bubbling over with fun. Delightful refreshments were served, consisting of salt and pepper and old bottles of vinegar by the rat squad.

During intermission Mr. Turkey strutted out into the center of the room and in a shrill voice said, "Honorable guests, we are glad to have welcomed you here on this memorial day, heretofore our enemy has taken away our freedom and we have been slaves, therefore I hereby decree that every Thanksgiving morning at two o'clock our children and grandchildren shall commemorate this. As this is Thanksgiving each one of us should have something for which to be thankful. A prize will be given to the most thankful guest. A babble of eager voices burst forth each one more thankful than the other, all at once this was silenced by the loud "Hee haw" of Mr. Pink Mule, who strode out into the circle and brayed forth in a loud voice. I am the most thankful donkey in the world because I reign supremely in the S. N. S. kitchen as well as on dining room tables. When others fail I am always ready to be served, unlike others of my kind, I never balk but am always ready to come forth."

This speech was followed by quite an applause especially from the homefolks. With bows in all directions Mr. Mule continued to boast of the fact that his most honored name was in the most popular song old S. N. S. After careful consideration the judges, Mr. Gobbler, Mrs. Bob White and Mr. Mince Pie, decided unanimously that Honorable Pink Mule was the winner of the contest. With pomp and ceremony Mr. Pink Mule was presented with a white blanket to keep him from getting cold while waiting to be served.

The guests resumed their dancing and frolic which continued far into the early morning until the distant crow of a rooster warned them that it was time to depart. Each retiring to his respective place.

INTER-COLLEGIATE NEWS.

With the itinerary already completed, the personnel virtually decided, and the program nearly perfected, the Emory University Glee Club is enthusiastically rehearsing for its fall trip—covering all Florida and southern Georgia which is now only three weeks away. Beginning Monday night, November 28th, the Coco-Cola Warblers will appear in the leading theaters of four Florida and three Georgia cities. The revised schedule follows: Valdosta, November 28th; Waveross, November 29th; Brunswick, November 30th; Jacksonville, December 1st; Kissimmee, December 21st; Tampa, December 3rd, and Tallahassee, December 5th.—The Emory Wheel.

Randolph-Macon Woman's College. A student building to cost $180,000 is to be begun in the very near future. The building is to be erected by combined action of the alumnae of the college and the board of trustees, and is to be a memorial to the late Dr. W. W. Smith, the founder, and for twenty years the president of R. M. W. C. Three-fourths of the expense is to be borne by the alumnae and the remaining fourth by the trustees.—The Sun Dial.

A professor has evolved a series of test questions for the educated which, he avows, are the best evidences of a real education. If you can say "yes" to all the questions you are truly educated, the professor says. Here are the questions:

Has education given you sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?
Has it made you public-spirited?
Has it made you a brother to the weak?
Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?
Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?—The Wild Cat.

We noted in "The Emory Wheel" that Emory University has installed a radio equipment which is considered the best in the South. The students hope to use this in communicating with other schools, thus receiving and dispatching news for and from the "Wheel."

According to the "Sun Dial," Randolph-Macon Woman's College has decided that beauty is better than brains. "Resolved, that it is better to be beautiful and stupid than to be homely and brilliant" was the subject of a recent sophomore-freshman debate and the affirmative side won.

"The Flat Hat" of William and Mary College has arranged to publish, each week, in condensed form the results of the disarmament conference in Washington.

BETTER SPEACH.

Dearie, since you have went
My bitter tears have fell
How lonesome I shall was
I cannot never tell.
A lot of time have gone
Since I have saw your face
And when you have came back to me
Don't never leave this place!
I have not yet forgot
Them lovin' words you spoke
I knowed they wasn't meant
But still my heart is broke!
You've left I all alone
You've came and went again
You've learnt that I cannot never Trust no man.
But maybe when you've wrote
And showed of me you've think
I'll dry 'em bitter tears
And won't not feel so punk!
Sally Soapbuds.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.
"Pushit," said the button;
"Never be led," said the pencil;
"Take pains," said the window;
"Always keep cool," said the ice;
"Be up to date," said the calendar;
"Never lose your head," said the barrel;
"Make light of everything," said the fire;
"Do a driving business," said the hammer;
"Aspire to greater things," said the nutmeg;
"Be sharp in all your dealings," said the knife;
"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.

PERSONALS.

Dr. Jarman and Dr. Tidyman went to Richmond to attend a meeting of the "conductors of the summer schools."

Mrs. H. B. Fuller, of Charlottesville, spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Mary Maupin.

Miss Blanche Wilson returned to Hollins College Monday morning after visiting her sister, Miss Annette Wilson.

Miss Katherine Stallard, former student and president of the Student Government, will visit Miss Christine Shields during Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Virginia Tyree arrived Friday to spend the week-end with her cousin, Miss Ethel Walther.

Miss Grace Bargimen returned to her home in Bedford, Va., after spending the week-end with her sister, Miss Frances Bargimen.

Miss Mary Lancaster, degree class of '20, spent last week-end as the guest of her parents on Oak Street.

Mrs. L. O. Cox, of Columbia, S. C., spent the past week-end with her niece, Miss Katherine Morgan.

Miss Marjorie Goodwyn, class of '18, was the guest Wednesday night of Miss Sarah Moore.

Miss Sue Jones, of Lynchburg, class of '20, spent the week-end as the guest of Miss Virginia Wall on High Street.

Invitations have been received here announcing the marriage of Miss Mary Jordan Moore to Mr. Roger Jones Bear. The wedding will take place on Tuesday evening, November 29th, at the home of the bride's parents, 421 Washington Avenue, Pulaski, Va. Miss Moore attended school here several years ago and recently visited her sister, Miss Sarah Moore, here. Miss Sarah Moore will leave on Thursday to attend the wedding.

Those attending the University dances last week were: Misses Helen Fitch, Eleanor Greenhead, Tillie Waddell, Kitty Carroll and Julia Cave.

Among those attending the Hampden-Sidney dances last week were: Misses Mary Friend, Eleanor Webster, Cabel Gannaway, Cabel Gilmer, Evelyn Scarborough, Mamie Sexton, Helen Fitch, Ethel Warthen, Kitty Carroll, Mary L. Quarles, Liza Davis, Cecile Ward, Lila Newsome, Peggy Wade, Ruth Melway, Mildred Dickinson, Virginia Venable, Sallie Mae Gray, Bessie Badgett, and Helen Jarman.

JOKES

Scientists say the world will be cold in 300,000 years. Better lay in a supply of coal.

"James, you may serve the cake that I made for Mr. Phillips' birthday."

"Sorry, madam, but my union forbids my serving a non-union product."—Life.

She sang and she sang: "I will hang my harp on a willow tree-e-e, I will hang my harp on a willow tree-e," each time breaking on the high note.

Finally the patient father from the next room ventured: "Better hang it on a lower branch, Mary."

It is very fitting that the World Week of Prayer, in which universal supplications were made to our Father, should be followed by celebrations of Thanksgiving from the heart.

The Y. W. C. A. prayer program for Thanksgiving night has been planned with this in view. Following the revelations of conditions existing in and the supplications made for different countries, there will be brought before us the Thanksgiving of different peoples. Something of the history of Thanksgiving, the things for which to be thankful and the place of individual thanksgiving in our lives are to be subjects for the association meeting on Thursday, Thanksgiving night. This night should be a night of true rejoicing for all and should stand out as such. For this reason, the regular prayer programs for each other night of this week will not be essentially Thanksgiving ones.

CAN YOU IMAGINE

?

High Street on Sunday evening without the Hampden-Sidney boys?

More Juniors on campus for auto riding than Seniors?

Lilly Thornhill toddling down Main Street whistling "Strut Miss Lizzie?"

Stuffy Wall skinny?

Emily Calcott making a speech in a senior class meeting without giggling?

Helen Patton going auto riding without a chaperone?

Ida Paulett being dignified?

Christine Shields without a spit curl?

Kate Trent singing a solo in chapel?

Margaret Finch being as dignified as Mary?

Page Trent, Kate Davis and Mary Bocoek downtown?

Sara Moore with a crush?

Mary Finch and Carrie Spradlin with bobbed hair?

Mr. Faithful without his pencil?

Dr. Jarman's school without co-operation?

Miss Barlow with bad posture?

Mr. Lear eating an ice cream cone?

Miss Munoz singing "My Man"?

Miss Spear being late for class?

A better class president than Eleanor Greenhead?

Better class spirit than the Junior Class has?

LIFE'S HIGHWAY.

(A Class Poem.)

We are starting upon Life's journey
Knowing naught of its length or way;
And some of our paths may be flowery,
Some stony, dull and gray;
But with eyes and mind ever ready
To search out the good as we go
By learning and living we'll conquer
Each real or imagined foe.

Our High School days are now over,
The work as well as the fun.
We have reached the goal of "Commencement!"

To find we have just begun.
So "onward and upward" we'll struggle
Gaining wisdom and strength by the way,
And the troubles in hosts surround us.
We will try to be fit for the fray.

When Life's last battle is ended,
And the goal we have fought for is won,
And when the great Prophet above us
Tells us our journey is done,
With a look half frightened, half hopeful,
We glance about o'er the plain
Till the God of Achievement tells us
Our hardships have not been in vain.

—D. L.

VISIONS OF THANKSGIVING DAY.

As Thanksgiving Day is drawing nigh
My thoughts fly back to home;
Among great shelves of pumpkin pie
And all good eats I roam.
I saunter slowly down the line,
Looking here and there,
Upon one side a turkey fine
And cranberry sauce most rare,
A roasted pig close by I see
And a great big, juicy ham.
Just over there—what can it be?
Oh, a quarter of a lamb!

I turn my eyes from this goodly store
To behold the other side,
On every shelf are cakes galore—
Mother's joy and pride.
Ah, woe is me! For this vision fair
Must soon fade away.
How sad to think I'll not be there
To spend Thanksgiving Day.

—E. B.

"I would like some powder, please," said Marion to the drug clerk.

"Yes, miss, face, gun or bug?"

Am he gone, has he went?
Could he leave I all alone?
Ah! cruel Fate, to treat I so,
It cannot was!

ATHLETICS

BASKETBALL AND JUNIOR SPIRIT.

There is no literary, dramatic or academic distinction that wins the same regard in the eyes of American boy or girl, as the privilege of wearing the varsity. The S. N. S. girls are no exception to the rule.

Basketball brings out all the fine qualities and invincible spirit. To play the game well one must be willing to sacrifice individual glory for the good of the team. All in all basketball is a great game, a game that has reached the uttermost corners of the world and stands today as one of the finest methods of recreation that has ever been devised.

The Juniors fully realizing the joy of the game, came out in such numbers, at the beginning of the year, that it was found necessary to divide the class into teams, the Reds and the Whites. After several weeks of steady practice, the two divisions selected their teams and played a match game. The Whites were defeated but the splendid "pep" and spirit that was manifested that day showed that the teams were ready to join together to so completely wipe out the Seniors in the first inter-class game that there will be only a remembrance of the name. And maybe after we have "knocked down and dragged out" a few of their poor little subs. Anna Belle Treacle will get a chance to play; and they will also find out that tho' tall, they can't run over the Juniors.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

The First Prof. Red team beat the First Prof. White team 17 to 5 in a hard-fought battle of basketball Thursday, November 10th, on the athletic field. Such pep, such spirit, and best of all, such spunk!

Everybody on both teams played a good game but as is the usual case a few girls did extraordinarily well. Among these "stars" may be numbered the jumping center for the "Whites", Rebecca Ames. Quite a few spectacular goals were shot and some of these were made by "Dot" Ethridge. Mary Burroughs played an exceedingly good game at guard for the White team, having as her helpful partner, Margaret Finch. The team-work between Louise Parsons and Mamie Sexton, the two remarkably good guards for the Reds, was very noticeable. Truly this saved the game for the Reds. The two running centers or side centers played a quick and snappy game, while the forwards on both teams showed us some good and steady work.

HAVE YOU GOT IT?

How much school spirit have you? Right now the best way to show that you have a spark of school spirit is to join the Athletic Association. Weren't you proud of your team on Thanksgiving Day? Whether they won or lost they showed a splendid spirit. Just think how hard these girls have worked, how much of their time they have given—what have you done?

In the campaign carried on last week the association was put on a splendid basis, that of contest, which is the basis of all true sports. If one wishes to look at the personal side, there is the benefit of seeing all of the games free.

Last year Dr. Jarman after the Harrisonburg-Farmville game said, "You girls showed a wonderful spirit in defeat, next year you must show the same wonderful spirit in victory." Dr. Jarman is expecting us to carry the field in victory, and without the cooperation of every girl here it will be a very difficult thing to do.

Why must there be slackers? Wouldn't it every one did his share willingly and cheerfully? It will be so much easier for our team to go to Harrisonburg and Fredericksburg if they know that every girl here is back of them, cheering them on. So, "let us then be up and doing with a heart for any faith still achieving still pursuing learn to labor and to wait."

R. U. an A. A. girl?

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Junior Class of '22

Is full of fun and pep.

No other class in S. N. S.

Has got a better rep.

The Seniors think we're dummies

And tell us we are proud.

But in the end we'll show them

We're not little and we're loud.

Thanksgiving Day will soon be here.

And then we'll win the game.

With knocks and blows, we'll beat them up.

And win for us a name.

With Buford as our Junior Man

There's nothing we'll give up.

Ane we are striving, striving

To win the loving cup.

T is for Thanks we all must give.

H is for Heart in which all thoughts live.

A is for Always to do our best.

N is for Now at dear S. N. S.

K is for Kindness shown by all.

S is for Sorrow in which some girls fall.

G is for Gladness on this day.

I is for Interest we all will say.

V is for Voice all will agree.

I is for Ideal, this school is, you see.

N is for Now, Juniors, I say.

G is for Game we will win on this day.

FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS.

"Father I cannot tell a lie"

I've flunked another class.

"I know not what course others may take"

But in them all I'm green as grass.

"Tell me not in mournful numbers"

That I have another D.

And again the same old "Question

Is to be or not to be."

—Exchange.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & MCINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALIE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

A JUNIOR LAMENT.

"Nothing to do but work.
Nothing to want but themes.
Not even a chance to shirk.
Nothing to eat but beans.
Not even have time to think.
Nor give my hair a curl.
Say, ain't this an awful life
For a great big healthy girl."
—Exchange.

JOKES.

Junior: "Did you catch cold in the auditorium last night?"

Madeline: "I shouldn't wonder; I sat in 'Z' row."

Junior: "What an awful gash you have on your forehead!"

Senior: "Oh, next to nothing—next to nothing."

Miss Barlow: "Have you taken a shower?"

Louise P.: "No, is one missing?"

Mr. Lear: "Now class, watch the board and I will go through it again?"

Junior: "Why is our basketball team like a turnip?"

Senior: "I don't know, why?"

Junior: "Because it can't be beet."

Teaching Senior: "When was the war of 1812 fought?"

Kate J.: "Your neck reminds me of a typewriter."

Tillie: "How's that?"

Kate: "Underwood."

Miss Spradlin: "Bring in your autobiography for tomorrow."

Burton: "In what part of the library will we find it?"

Mr. Grainger: "Give me a sentence."

Miss Dickinson: "Six months."

Tidewater Tim says: "In the fall a young man's fancy turns in the same direction it did in the spring."—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

We Saw Her, Too!

Her nose was powdered to the point,
Her cheeks were painted red;
She wore a thousand-dollar hat
On a good-for-nothing head.

—Ex.

What has become of the girl who used to pick up her skirts when she stepped over a mud puddle?

Sara M.: "Why wasn't Annabelle at basketball practice today?"

Jane Cobb: "She went down to have her life insured."

First Junior (passing by): "Why so soon—the game isn't coming off until after Thanksgiving."

Second Junior: "She had better make it five, too."

ODE TO HAMPDEN-SIDNEY.

A man is like a kerosene lamp; he is not over-bright; he is often turned down; he generally smokes; and he frequently goes out at night.

Some years ago, a New York husband hit his wife with a dish because she powdered her nose, but the average husband today would throw a whole set of china at his wife if she forgot to.

Oily to bed
And oily to rise
Is the fate of a man
When an auto he buys.
—Exchange.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TONIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee 4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.
We have a complete line of White Sweater
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over
styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

More Subscriptions for
A Larger and Better
ROTUNDA.

ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

DEC. 4TH.
Y. W. C. A. Pay Day.
Please pay up to Date.

Vol. 2. No. 9.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 2, 1921.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS FIRST PLAY OF THE SEASON.

On Monday night, November 21st, the Dramatic Club presented its first play of the season "She Stoops to Conquer," by Goldsmith. The play was well gotten up and reflected much credit upon those in charge. Special mention should be made of the scenery and stage settings, which were most attractive and artistic. The soft gray and rose in the glow from the fire and the candle light together with the rich coloring of the stenciled screens and hangings lent an air of elegance and comfort to the scene. The costumes were elaborate and true to the period they represented.

Page Trent, as Kate Hardeastle, lived up to the reputation she established for herself last year as the Dramatic Club heroine; and Lois Williams played the difficult role of Mrs. Hardeastle with unusual insight and talent.

It was observed that most of the actors were new members of the club and we were glad to see so much talent among the new girls. Special mention should be made of Katherine Gary who gave life to the whole play in her impersonation of Tony Lumpkin; of Ruth Walker, who acted splendidly the part of Mr. Hardeastle, and of Ruth Shockley and Mary Clarke, the beaux of the drama.

The characters of the play were as follows:

Sir Charles Marlow	—Frances Bargaman
Young Marlow	—Ruth Shockley
Mr. Hardeastle	—Ruth Walker
George Hastings	—Mary Clarke
Tony Lumpkin	—Katherine Gary
Diggory	—Eunice Butler
Roger	—Julia Clarke
Dick	—Mildred Philips
Stingo	—Elsie Shawen
Slang	—Virginia Lindsey
Mat Muggins	—Odelle Rawls
Aminadab	—Hattie Pace
Constance Neville	—Martha Wells
Mrs. Hardeastle	—Lois Williams
Kate Hardeastle	—Page Trent
Servant to Marlow	—Susie Floyd
Servant to Stingo	—Elizabeth Bugg

THE RICHMOND ALUMNAE LUNCHEON

One of the most enjoyable events of the meeting of the State Teachers' Association in Richmond last week was the Farmville Alumnae luncheon on Friday in the dining-room of the Richmond Hotel. Almost two hundred were present at this, the inaugural annual business-social meeting of the association. This number included, besides alumnae and former students, a good many friends among the faculty of the present and of the past, Miss Pierce, Miss Foeman and

Mr. Eason being in the latter group.

A program of speeches and songs was carried out during the serving of the luncheon. Miss Camper, the Alumnae president, presided, and stated that the main purpose of the meeting was to spread the knowledge of the aims of the association and to lay a working basis for the accomplishment of the same, that just at this time practically all activities are directed toward the completion of the fund for the student building which will stand as "the outward and visible sign" that the hearts of S. N. S. daughters are with their alma mater though years and miles intervene.

Mrs. Tuggle for the early alumnae and Miss Gilderleeve for the later graduates voiced their interest in the undertaking. Miss Mildred Dickinson, of the degree class of 1922, described the various ways in which the student body is "laying bricks in the walls"—by service in the tea-room, by entertainments, by valuable help in the recent bazaar, and by contributions. Dr. Tidyman briefly but cordially pledged the sympathy and co-operation of the faculty. Miss Lula Phillips, one of the three graduates in the first class of 1885, added a word of commendation and encouragement.

Miss Munoz, with Miss Lily Thornhill at the piano and ably seconded by the Portsmouth party and Mr. Lear, conducted the singing of "Alma Mater," "The Old Normal School," "What's the Matter With Jarman?" and other favorites, ending with a new song written for the occasion by our poet-laureate, Miss Jennie Tabb:

Hail, hail, the Farmville crowd
Down in old Virginia, gathered for a dinner,
Hail, hail, the Farmville crowd—
Watch the Student Building grow!

Hear, hear the President,
Students he is praising; funds they are all raising.

Hear, hear the President
Putting "pep" into the crowd!

And Dr. Jarman proceeded to do that very thing so expeditiously and so thoroughly that at the conclusion of his speech, fifty-four arose as one to promise that through their individual efforts $50 to $100 each would go into the treasury.

The thanks of the alumnae are due the committee, Mrs. Tuggle, Mrs. Dunn, and Miss Glasgow, who with the aid of members of the Richmond Chapter, arranged the delightful entertainment.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The Farmville Chapter of the Alumnae Association wishes to thank most sincerely the students and faculty of the Normal School who contributed so much to the success of the bazaar by their gifts and their assistance in carrying out the plans of the committees.

On November 9th in the Presbyterian Church at Laurinburg, S. C., Miss Helen Shepherd became the bride of James Dickson Phillips. Miss Della Wicker was maid-of-honor and Miss Julia Stover one of the bridesmaids.

Miss Ruth Gregory was married to Mr. James Hamilton, of Fayetteville, W. Va., some time during the fall.

SEMINARY STUDENTS SPEAK AT THE NORMAL.

Mr. Bellingraph and Mr. Hamilton, of Union Theological Seminary, gave stereopticon lectures in the auditorium last Saturday, November 19th. The subject of these lectures was "The Call To Service In This World of Ours." Mr. Bellingraph showed the great need in the foreign field. Mr. Hamilton showed what has already been accomplished and the great need for more workers.

The young men gave interesting talks in the association room Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hamilton read a short Scripture lesson which was followed by a prayer. He then spoke impressively on service.

Mr. Bellingraph told of the work to be done in the mountains of our own country, giving some very interesting personal experiences in the mountains of north Georgia and Kentucky.

Mr. Hamilton preached at Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and Mr. Bellingraph preached there Sunday night. These services were enjoyed by all who heard them.

SONG—ALMA MATER.

Tune: "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton."

I.

O, Farmville State Normal,
Thy praises we sing;
We love thy green campus
And to hear thy bells ring.
When others have failed us
And gone on their way,
We know thou wilt shield us
From day unto day.

II.

We love thy high standards
And hope that we may
E'er keep them and raise them
As pure as the day.
And when we have gone from
Thy fond, loving care,
We'll take them all through life,
And live by them there.

H. B.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bowers
Organizations Harriet Judson Almon
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager..... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Cabott
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Helen Rogerson

"He who is never satisfied with anything, attends no one."

We are told that "all the world loves a lover," but we've never heard of any demonstration of universal affection for the "knocker".

The true spirit of service comes from the heart and he who thus serves is not prompted with a hope of reward, nor is he concerned with his own comfort. His desire to be useful leads him to self-sacrifice and he is not conscious of discomfort.

"I was watching a flower opening to the sun, and on that flower I saw:

A butterfly that brushed it with its wings;
A bee extracting its honey;
An insect that bruised it;
A breeze that broke its petals and dispersed
them.

and the poor stem did not fail to produce another blossom; it had not seen the butterfly, the insect, or the breeze, but only the bee, to whom its flower had been useful."

A CHALLENGE.

With the approaching basketball games between the classes and between our school team and other school teams we should make some plans for showing our "pep" in an effective and organized way. Shrieks and yells are very well in their place at inter-class and inter-scholastic matches but we need class and school songs, catchy yells, and well planned cheers. Let's not wait until the day before the game to get together and practice a few worn-out cheers collected in desperation at the last moment. We need ones—simple and easy songs, but ones with a swing and lots of pep and at least a show of originality. The approaching games should be a challenge to every school spirited student to make some good yells and songs for his class and school, and these songs and yells should be practised sufficiently by the students so that they can be given by memory and not read from notes!

The First Prof. Class showed us last week that it is possible for us to publish a larger Rotunda—that is it could be possible if we were financially able. From comments we have heard we gather that the First Prof. issue is generally considered the "best yet".
Certainly the members of the class are to be congratulated upon their contributions. If you liked that issue of the paper let's have more like it! We can do it if more girls will subscribe. Let's get more funds for a better and bigger Rotunda!

Athenian Literary Society.

At the regular meeting of the Athenian
Literary Society on Tuesday, November
22nd, a very enjoyable program was given.

The first number on the program was a violin solo by Julia Cave. Hattie Pace told some very funny jokes on the girls. Mabel Garrett and Loda Fitchett sang Alabama
Lullaby. Pattie Jeter gave us Thomas Nelson Page's contributions to literature, and in conclusion Virginia Bondurant read us selections from Mauds Chan.

Pierian Literary Society.

On November 22nd the regular meeting of the Pierian Literary Society was held. After an important business discussion, an interesting program was given.

Rebecca Blanton gave the origin of Thanksgiving. A Thanksgiving poem was read by Carolyn Payne. In connection with this the proclamation of the first Thanksgiving was read.

The Cunningham Literary Society held its meeting on Tuesday, November 21st. The following program was given:

A Thanksgiving Poem..... Bertha Owen
Vocal Solo Annette Wilson
Jokes Marion Wilkinson

COMING DECEMBER 9TH.

The Tschakowsky Quartette. Better become to practice saying it now.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A. CALLS CONVENTION.

Hot Springs, Arkansas, Chosen for Biennial Convention in 1922.

Next April, in Hot Springs, Arkansas, the Young Women's Christian Associations of the United States of America will meet together for their seventh convention, according to the formal call recently issued by Mrs. Robert E. Speer in her capacity as president of the National Board. The last convention was held in Cleveland, Ohio, two years ago.

"As a nation thinketh in its heart, so it is, and as the young women of today think, so may the nations of tomorrow be," says Mrs. Speer in announcing the convention from April 20th to April 26th. "Together we must face the needs of the world and the responsibility laid upon the women of America."

That young women form one of the world's greatest assets is emphasized by Mrs. Speer. "As an organization of 578,486 women, affiliated with the women of thirty-five other countries, we need to face all the demands upon us in the light of our present resources, with the unity of collective thinking. To this end we are called to meet in our seventh convention."

That there is at present a universal pessimism that has replaced the superficial hope following the war is emphasized by Mrs. Speer. This must be combated, she says. "As the war drew to a close there was a widespread hope that from the ashes of so much sacrifice, there would immediately arise a new world," concludes Mrs. Speer. "This hope soon gave way to a pessimism equally widespread. Now, as the fogs clear slowly away, an upward trend is discernible. From men and women of widely varying types we hear the opinion that one of the world's greatest assets for this movement lies in young women."

Every school which has a Y. W. C. A. center must be represented at this convention by local delegates.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL GIRL'S PART IN OBSERVING AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK.

What is the Normal School girl's part in observing American Educational Week, which is to be held from December 4th through 10th? It seems that she should have a vital part in carrying forth the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and needs of school and of securing the co-operation and support of the public in meeting these needs. The Normal School girl as a prospective teacher should take great interest in dispelling the common and unintelligent criticisms against the schools, for the average citizen thinks of the modern school in terms of the school of his day and judges accordingly. The observance of this week will tend to bring before the citizens the real school conditions and give them first-hand information about the service for which they are paying. It is the duty of the prospective teacher to think seriously of effective means of accomplishing this and then to aid in it.

Granting that the Normal School girl should observe this week, how can she do it? Let her see how the American Legion through its American Commission in co-operation with the National Education Association first originated the plan of this observance to meet the needs of the twentieth century in equipping the youths in education; the results of their joint efforts being the adoption of eight or ten resolutions on compulsory educational laws and the teaching of English as the basic language of all instruction, together with the issuance of a proclamation calling on the people and the schools to observe this week annually throughout the United States. Let her see too the more definite plans she followed in observing Better Speech Week as advertising in the Rotunda, interclass contests or debates, talks, pantomimes or plays. Then she can plan Better Educational Week accordingly and aid in answering this proclamation. If she is teaching, especially an English class, there is the opportunity of keeping before the pupils the educational problems of the day and of having them work out themes or oral compositions bearing on these problems. If she is not teaching, she can take the student's reaction herself working out these problems while keeping before her such vital needs as better school buildings, equipment, libraries, better attendance and observance of compulsory education laws, better prepared and paid teachers, longer school terms and more instruction on citizenship. Much can be done too by creating public sentiment to a thing through her writing, contests or talks.

Let the one who wishes to aid fulfill well her duties of citizenship and educational advantages and progress will be included.

THE RAT'S THANKSGIVING.

'Tis a very serious thing indeed not to know where you are to get your Thanksgiving dinner, especially if you are a Rat and every one runs from you. But if you care to hear how I received mine I will try and impart to you the story of my first Thanksgiving at S. N. S.

My home was in the wall of the closet in room 100 and one night while I was searching for something suitable for my supper I heard the following conversation:

"Girls, I am so thrilled! Just think, this time next Wednesday evening I will be home, sitting in front of the open fireplace eating apples and roasting chestnuts. And on Thanksgiving morning we can sleep just as long as we want to, and girls, just think of the dinner we will have! I simply can't study for thinking about it. No early morning rising, no pink mule, liver, cheese or eggs."

"I can't wait; the time will never come," replied her room-mate.

Concluded on last page.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. STEFELS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The RENALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

"I envy you your trip home, girls; I will never go to stay up here, because my home is too far away. I don't even expect a box. So while you are enjoying yourselves just have a good time for me," a visitor said.

"We certainly will, and if I have time I will fix up a box and send you. Oh! this will never do! A psychology test tomorrow and I haven't cracked a book. I will have to cram from now till the light bell rings."

Quiet reigned in the room; but that conversation certainly started me to thinking. I had expected to have a feast on Thanksgiving Day and here were both tenants planning to go home. What was I to do? I couldn't starve; that was evident.

Since we were S. N. S. Rats, naturally we had an organization corresponding to the Student Government; so I decided I would appeal to the president. After pleading as best I knew how, and bringing forth all my arguments the president said to me:

"Oh shucks, don't let that worry you. Why, we will have a Rat Body meeting and talk the matter over. I commission you as my messenger to summon all Rats, both old and young, to come to the meeting house at once. We will then see just what can be done."

As quickly as possible I carried the message; and in a short while all were in the supply room on the third floor. We decided at that meeting that each Rat was to find out which girls in the room nearest his home were leaving and which were expecting a box. Each one was to present some plan by which everyone would have a Thanksgiving dinner.

For the rest of the week we were very busy and had very little time for ourselves. Our next meeting was held on Sunday night and as an outcome of the meeting we found that about sixty per cent of the girls expected to leave town. Of the remaining forty per cent only about one-fourth expected to receive boxes from home.

We figured that not over two girls in a room expected boxes; so the entire Rat Body was divided up in such a way that everyone would be able to attend a feast. Many things had to be done before the great day and we had only a little while to do them. We were kept as busy as we could be, and when we went to bed Thanksgiving morning we were very tired and worn out.

That evening we met in the supply room and there formed in our groups to journey forth to see how we were to fare. Naturally we did not venture forth until after light bell. I was in the party that visited in room 200 and I dare say I ate entirely too much for a person of my minute capacity.

As polite Rats we visited the waste basket chicken bones, banana and orange peels, apple cores, chestnuts with worm holes, candy crumbs and celery leaves. As there were about thirty of us to eat and we hadn't eaten for two days we were naturally very hungry and this menu didn't go very far. After every crumb had disappeared we went into the closet and found peanut butter, crackers, potato and chicken salad, candy, cake, bread, fruit, jelly, celery, cranberries, and chicken. We stopped eating only when there wasn't any more to eat.

The next night not one of us was able to appear in public. We were punished for being so greedy, for when I was able to get out I found that some hundred Rats had died. However, they certainly did not die from starvation.

M. LOUISE SCULL

OUR WEEKLY TALK.

Trying to keep up keeps lots of folks down.

From the Tree of Useless Knowledge—

Love may make the world go round; but it's labor that pays the bills.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.

We have a complete line of White Shaker
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over
styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

ALL OUT
FOR THE GAME
TO-MORROW NIGHT.

ROSTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

WHO'LL WIN
THIS TIME!

Vol. 2. No. 10.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 9, 1921.

THE HARPVOCAL ENSEMBLE.

On Thursday evening, December 1st, a musical program was given by the Zimmer Harp Trio and Raymond Simonds, tenor. This being one of the Lyceum Course numbers it had been looked forward to with much enthusiasm by the S. N. S. students. The program fulfilled all expectations of the audience for the numbers were well chosen and beautifully rendered.

Miss Nellie Zimmer, the solo harpist, has for the past seven years appeared in recital and concert work with some of the best known artists. She has written many compositions and makes all of her arrangements. Of all the numbers that she played the one that seemed to appeal mostly to her audience was the simple Southern song, "Old Black Joe."

With Miss Zimmer were Miss Carolyn W. Rice, harpist and pianist, and Miss Adele M. Graves, harpist. When the audience saw the three golden harps and heard the exquisite melodies played by this accomplished trio they were reminded of the romance of the court days and music of the minstrels as they played before the king.

Mr. Raymond Simonds, tenor singer, rendered many beautiful songs to his audience. Among his collection of songs were several negro spirituals, including "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." This has always been a great favorite with Southern audiences. Mr. Simonds was accompanied by Miss Harris on the harp and Miss Zimmer on the piano.

FIRE STARTS IN HOME OFFICE.

Much excitement was caused last Thursday morning about 6:30 when the students were awakened by shouts of fire from the servants gathered in the reception hall below. In spite of the fact that the halls were filled with smoke there proved to be no serious cause for alarm. A fire had indeed broken out in the home office, due to a bucket of wax having been placed too near the open grate, but no damage was done with the exception of a few scars on the floor and the drugget ruined. The odor of the burning wax and the smoke which issued from the home office and reception hall, together with the excited cries of the maids caused much unnecessary alarm among the students.

DR. WALTHALL SPEAKS ON MEMORY.

On Thursday, November 1st, Dr. Walthall, who is pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Waynesboro, spoke at chapel. Dr. Walthall is now holding an evangelistic meeting in Farmville at the Presbyterian Church. He brought to us a very inspiring message on the value of memory.

H. S. MINISTERIAL BAND ENTERTAINS.

The Ministerial Band of Hampden-Sidney entertained Friday night in the Kappa Sigma "frat" house, which was beautifully decorated. They had as their guests thirty S. N. S. girls chosen from the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, the Mission Band and the Student Volunteer Band, chaperoned by Miss Steele.

The Ministerial Band, assisted by Mrs. Gamon, Mrs. Booker, Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Venable, received their guests around two big log fires. Everyone had his name pinned on him so that the problem of remembering names was eliminated. The game of progressive conversations was played. The girls and boys soon came to know each other and then the fun began as evidenced by the animated conversations and laughter which were heard throughout the house. Miss Steele talked only in tones of a bell, allowing one minute for each conversation. After about twenty-five conversations, the game was finished. The boys in one room elected the biggest girl talker, and the girls in another room elected the biggest boy talker. The results of this election were Miss Hettie Richardson and Mr. Norman Cook.

The conversations came to a close when Mrs. Gamon, assisted by the other ladies, served refreshments. Before leaving, all gathered around the piano and sang old folk songs and school songs.

FIRST PROFESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES.

Last year the question came up in the First Professional Class about their representation on the student government committee. It was decided that one girl was not enough to represent the whole First Professional Class, so an amendment to the constitution was made, providing for an election of six girls to be chosen on the last of November. The following girls have been elected to represent the First Professional Class for this year:

Margaret Finch, Jean West, Ellen Peters, Margaret Shackelford, Edna Blanton, Fleminine Pierce.

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP FUND.

"The World's Student Friendship Week," was presented at chapel Thursday morning by Miss Christine Armstrong. She explained why we were having this week and how we could help the students in Europe. The program was continued by Miss Virginia Anderson, who gave the conditions of the students in Europe and challenged us to help them.

On Saturday different girls were stationed in the reception hall all during the day to receive contributions and pledges for this fund.

STUDENT-INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE HELD IN LYNCHBURG.

Under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. a Student-Industrial Conference was held in Lynchburg, November 26-27. Representatives from the Industrial Clubs of Danville, Roanoke and Lynchburg and students from Sweet Briar, Hollins, Randolph-Macon, Lynchburg College and Farmville were present at the meetings. The student group and the industrial group in the Y. W. C. A. are just beginning to realize their spiritual problems. This conference was a means of meeting this very real need, felt by all. Miss Florence Simms, national industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A., directed the discussions of the conference. Other secretaries present were Miss Katharine Lumpkin, student secretary in South Atlantic field; Miss Louise Leonard, industrial secretary in South Atlantic field; Miss Patty Ellis, industrial secretary at Roanoke; Miss Leonora Roper, general secretary at Randolph-Macon Woman's College; Miss Madge Burgard, industrial secretary in Lynchburg, and Miss McElheny, industrial secretary in Danville.

CONCERNING THE ALUMNAE LUNCHEON.

The committee on arrangements for the business-social meeting of the Alumnae Association at the Richmond Hotel worked untiringly to make this a most enjoyable time. Naturally, therefore, they were very much disappointed when the menu which they had ordered was not served.

When the change was brought to the attention of the hotel management, the president of the hotel expressed very sincere regret that the service was not what the committee wished and that the menu was not what they ordered nor what the hotel intended them to have. He concluded his letter by saying that as the management could not undo what had been badly done (due to local conditions at the time), they wished to make the "amende honorable" in a way acceptable to the committee, and so inclosed a check for $95.00, charging $1.00 per plate instead of $1.50.

The Alumnae Association is placing this check of $95.00 to the credit of the building fund, feeling sure that the guests of that day will be delighted to have this refund used in this way and to know of the very frank, courteous letter from the president of the Richmond Hotel Association.

Her eyes say, "Dear, I love you."

And I'd marry her, I would

If her lips didn't say "I seen you"

And "I done" and "used to could."

—Exchange.

Rachael—"Bertha, let's get some galvanized sugar and make some candy."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams

BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocoek
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

FRIENDSHIP WEEK.

Girls! Have you ever thought that the time we spent in boarding school comprises perhaps the most important period of our life so far as friendships are concerned? Here "friends come unawares," that is, golden opportunities for forming ties which grow stronger and sweeter as we pass along our way. School life is Friendship Week in our life, just as we have Better Speech Week in our class work. What are you doing toward making your Friendship Week a success?

You have enough friends, you say? One is altogether all you need or enjoy?

"He who has a thousands friends,
Has not a friend to spare.
While he who has one enemy,
Shall meet him everywhere."
—Emerson.

They in themselves are the best asset a person can ever have, for "a friend loveth at all times." "They are worth all the hazards one can take."

I once heard a judge deliver the sentence of ten years imprisonment to a young sailor who in mad frenzy had taken another's life. The judge in the course of his remarks and advice said: "I know of no sadder case than you who are absolutely destitute of friends; none to be with you now to hear your sentence and having heard, to feel for you and love you in spite of all. Go, my boy, resolved to make friends hereafter so that you shall never have to confess to anyone that you are devoid of friends."

You say such a case could never come to you. Extreme? Yes. But let us remember the beautiful side of the story—the advice of the kind, old judge who had walked down the path "along old friendship street," had known the joy of companionships and the comfort of having friends who came when he was in need—and knowing could give advice mellowed with sympathy to one bruised and cut by the seams of life. Let us here in school make our life one continual song of friendship—a song which will touch everyone in whom we come in contact. A friendly attitude toward everybody. That's the game which we'll play all during Friendship Week. Get into the game early, girls, and do your part! Make it your business to be a friend!

"The happiest business in the world
Is that of making friends,
And no 'investment' on 'the street'
Pays larger dividends.

"Life is the great investment
And no man lives in vain
Who guards an hundred Friendships
As misers guard their gain.

"Then give the world a welcome
Each day whate'er it sends,
And may no mortgage e'er foreclose
The partnership of friends."
—M. S. '21.

The making of friends, who are real friends, is the best token we have of a man's success in life.—E. E. Hale.

Whatever the number of a man's friends, there will be times in his life when he has one too few.—B. Lytton.

A friendship which makes the least noise is very often the most useful, for which reason I prefer a prudent friend to a zealous one.—Edison.

And if trust is the first requisite for making a friend, faithfulness is the requisite for keeping him. The way to have a friend is to be one.—Hugh Black.

Such is the use and noble end of friendship: to bear a part in every storm of fate—and by dividing, make the lighter weight.—Higgins.

NIGHT SHADES.

The same old-fashioned village street,
All quiet in the winter's night;
The same gnarled avenue of trees,
Now draped with shadows from my sight.
I stand and watch while lamps are lit.
At windows that I used to know;
And shades are drawn and shutters closed,
To keep within the fireside glow.
No eager hands have drawn me in,
And now their night shades all are down,
God knows no wanderer ever felt
More lonely in his own home town.
—M. C. B.

Professor: "Now, when two bodies in motion come together does it generate heat?"
H. S.: "No, sir; I hit a guy yesterday and he knocked me cold."

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Thanksgiving With the Service Committee.

Not as State news, but as a reminiscence, do we look back at the work of the Service Committee Thanksgiving. As the great day approached, the girls, thinking of all the many things each had for which to be thankful, thought also of those who were less fortunate—those who were poor and needy. And so the Service Committee began to make preparations to supply these needy ones with something good for Thanksgiving. Appeals were made for help in this work, and the splendid response of the Training School, from the kindergarten up through the higher grades, must be remarked. The Service Committee girls spent almost the entire Thanksgiving morning in the juvenile library assorting and filling many baskets and boxes with good things sent in by the youthful helpers of the poor. At 2:30 a big truck rolled up to the door, and in went baskets, boxes, good things to eat, and happy girls—happy because they were doing the greatest of services—helping those in need. Over fifty families were visited and many were the thanks given to the girls of the Service Committee and the others who helped on Thanksgiving Day.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

In a recent issue of the Chester, S. C., Reporter an account of the year's work of the Chester Civic League is given. We quote the concluding paragraph:

"What this club has accomplished is due to the wise planning, undaunted enthusiasm and untiring zeal of our president, Mrs. T. S. Leiter."

Mrs. Leiter was R. Janie Whealon of the class of 1901. While here in school she was prominent in school activities and president of her class.

Among the interesting guests at the Thanksgiving meeting and luncheon of the Alumnae Association was Mrs. C. E. Bralley (Kate Fletcher, 1896). Mrs. Bralley's home is in Welch, W. Va., but she has been traveling for her health for two years. She expects to spend this winter in Richmond, Va., and has promised to pay the Normal School a visit. This was the first meeting of the Alumnae which Mrs. Bralley had attended, and she said it made her feel twenty-five years younger.

The Diocesan Record of Southern Virginia for November contains the following poem written by Miss Jennie Tabb:

A Collect.

Direct my ways, O Lord, that so my tasks,
Begun, continued, ended, all in Thee,
May, through Thy mercy, some reflection be
Of that great love of Thine which only asks
Our human best. The soul that ever basks
Within the sunshine of Thy love doth see

Its radiance even though clouds so black that he
Who knows Thee not beholds no gleam of light.

And teach me, Lord, to count each added day

A gift from Thee, accepted or refused
According as each moment on its way
From me to Thee, by me is lost or used.
Ah, used so reverently that none may say
That I have e'er Thy gift of Time abused.

Splendid Spirit Shown at Jr.--Sr. Game.

Splendid class spirit was shown at the Junior-Senior Basket Ball game on Saturday, December 3. For hours before the game the tooting of horns and waving of flags made it evident that the supporters of the red and white and those of the green and white were backing their teams to the utmost.

The two classes filed down to the armory where crowds had already assembled. Amid yells and cheers the game began. The first goal was made by the J's (beginners' luck). This was quickly followed by a goal for the Seniors. Both teams showed fine form and the game was an exciting one as a result of well matched players. The final score was 34-11 in the Seniors favor.

AS WE LOOK BACK UPON IT.

Frantic cries of "fi-ya! fi-ya!" awoke a majority of our students at 6:30 A. M. on Thursday morning. The building was soon a scene of great excitement.

Many interesting examples of presence or absence of mind were displayed when the students, alarmed by smoke and the continuous Ethiopian cries of "fi-ya! fi-ya," decided to evacuate the building. Some rushed down the halls burdened down with clothes while others hurried out, saving nothing. Clothes and suit cases were thrown from the windows, while their owners stumbled down the fire escapes.

One head, with little knots issuing at all angles from it and closely resembling a porcupine, appeared at one of the third story windows, calling, "Which is the best way to get out of this building?"

Agnes was seen on the campus in her kimono with her coat thrown over her arm when Uncle Robert was pleading for someone to ring the gong she excitedly replied, "Well, just tell me where it is and I'll go down." How our memories fail us!

A few valuables were saved in the rush.

Concluded on last page.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters.
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings, Paper, Notebooks, Inks, Tablets and much more, articles for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Tilly rescued her beloved powder puff. You may guess what Mary saved: yes, her K. A. gun. She emerged from her room with it clamped tightly over her heart. Suddenly she rushed back. She had forgotten something. When she again appeared she triumphantly held his picture.

Mary T. wanted to be sure to get home, so she calmly took from her pocketbook the sum of $3.26, the exact price of a ticket to Lynchburg, and hid the rest of her wealth in a remote corner of her drawer.

Safety first was observed by one girl who raised an umbrella over her head to prevent the falling roof from striking her.

A proof of the density of the smoke was given by Kathryn as she ran through the hall, bathrobe over head, crying, "I can hardly get through."

Page was heard to exclaim, "Well, I'll get off of campus this time."

The fire happened at the psychological moment—for once the student body was well dressed for breakfast.

BE A FRIEND.

Be a friend. You don't need money;
Just a disposition sunny;
Just the wish to help another
Get along some way or other;
Just a kindly hand extended
Out to one who's unbefriended:
Just the will to give or lend
This will make you someone's friend.

Be a friend. You don't need glory.
Friendship is a simple story:
Pass by trifling errors blindly,
Gaze on honest effort kindly,
Cheer the youth who's bravely trying,
Pity him who's sadly sighing;
Just a little labor spend
On the duties of a friend.

Be a friend—the pay is bigger
Though not written by a figure;
In what's merely self-endeavor,
Than is earned by people clever
You'll have friends instead of neighbors
For the profit of your labors;
You'll be richer in the end
Than a prince, if you're just a friend.
—Exchange.

QUESTION.

Happy? Aye,
I suppose so,
If restless discontent
And unsatisfied longing
Mean happiness.
Peace? No—
Nor do I ask it.
You say that peace brings happiness?
How can you know?
You who have never known the thrill
Of the quest for beauty
And romance—
Joyous, exultant
And fiercely dissatisfied.
You live the life of phlegm peace—but I
Desires—desires—and yet desires!
Dear God, how vain!
And yet
I would not do without them

JOKES.

Dr. Fields: "Mary, I'll have to paint your throat with nitrate of silver."

Mary: "Please use nitrate of gold. The expense doesn't matter."

Young Lady—"I don't know whether I like these pictures or not; they seem rather indistinct."

Wily Photographer—"But you must remember, Miss, that you are not at all plain."

Miss Spear (reading "Macbeth")—"When shall we three meet again?"

Freshie, on back row—"Next Friday, Miss Spear."

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,
TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing.
Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN
Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream
Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee 2:30 P. M. Night 7:45 P. M.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Everything for the School Girls.

We have a complete line of White Shaker
Sweaters, all wool, in coat and slip over
styles, at special prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls
DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS
Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candles, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century
Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality
Meals At All Hours
FARMVILLE, VA.

A VERY MERRY
CHRISTMAS!

ROXTONDA

AND A HAPPY
NEW YEAR!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 11.

Farmville, Virginia.

Dec. 16, 1921.

ALUMNI NOTES.

"One of the prettiest weddings of the fall season was that celebrated November 30th, at 3 o'clock, when Miss Ola Channell, of Isle of Wight county, became the bride of Frank G. Berryman, of Smithfield. The church was decorated with palms, ferns and masses of chrysanthemums, trailing vines and cathedral candles."

The Rhodes scholarship elections were held in thirty-two States on December 3d. There were 506 candidates for the thirty-two appointments, and the scholar chosen from Virginia, subject to confirmation by the Rhodes trustees, is Mr. Fitzgerald Flournoy, of Washington and Lee University. Mr. Flournoy's mother, Mrs. N. C. Flournoy, was Miss Mary Hannah Boyd, more familiarly known as Birdie Boyd, of the class of 1893.

These scholars will enter Oxford University in October, 1922, on a three years' scholarship with a stipend of £350 a year. The awards are based upon character and high achievements in many lines of school activities.

LE CERCLE FRANCAISE.

At a called meeting of the Second Professional French Classes, on Monday, December 5th, the following girls were elected as officers of Le Cercle Francaise:

Francis Barksdale	President
Emily Calcott	Vice-President
Agnes Fulcher	Secretary
Lucy Mellwaine	Treasurer
Sue Puckett	Critic
Helen Craddock	Reporter

THE STAR OF BETHLEHEM.

It was many hundreds of years ago,
In Bethlehem of Judea,
A little Babe came to earth below,
Born in a manger drear.

Out on the deserts lone and drear,
The Wise Men from afar,
Beheld in wonder, awe and fear,
A wondrously, brilliant star.

It guided them to a lowly bed
And there upon the hay
A flood of glory around His head,
The beautiful Christ Child lay.

Suddenly upon the ear of night
A choir of voices rang,
And shepherds saw the angels bright
And heard the song they sang.

Then with quick footsteps they sped
To find the new-born King,
Who lay upon a manger bed,
And to Him all glory sing.

—E. Y. B.

ATHLETICS

The first basketball game between the Eighth and Ninth grade training school teams was played in the armory, Friday, December 9th. The well-matched teams played an excellent game with plenty of good passing and guarding. The Eighth Grade was in the lead at the end of the second quarter, but during the last quarter the Ninth Grade pulled up, the final score being 16 to 8.

Seniors Again Victorious.

The Junior-Senior basket-ball game Saturday night was one of excitement and thrills. The first quarter the Juniors were in the lead. In the second the Seniors were ahead, and after a hard fight finally won by one point. This being seconds game this season won by the Senior the class games are now over.

Now for the Inter-Collegiate games. Let us show the very best of school spirit and help our team to win in these games. We can and must be victorious.

Varsity Squad.

Forwards—Anna Belle Treackle, Ida Paulett, Mary Clark, Rebecca Blanton, Margaret Matthews.

Centers: Jumping—Elizabeth Vaughan, Rebecca Ames.

Running—Madeline Fitzgerald, Nell McArdle, Kitty Morgan.

Guards—Sarah Moore, Elsie Bell, Mary Lydia Quarles, Mamie Sexton, Louise Parsons.

A SCHOOL GIRL'S SOLILOQUY.

(With apologies to Hamlet.)

To study or not to study, that is the question; whether it is better to ponder upon problems of sociology and school administration, or to enjoy the frivolities of the dance and movies for a season. Whether I shall be a grind and achieve a grade of A, or be a hail-fellow-well-met and win the approbation of my classmates. Shall I eschew athletics and devote my whole time to study, or strive to win a "letter" in athletics and give only such time to study as is absolutely necessary to make a passing grade?

Shall I burn the midnight oil with carefully stuffed keyhole to keep the rays from student-government eyes, or shall I carefully regard my health and retire at ten o'clock unmindful of that "awful test on math" at eight-thirty in the morning?

Shall I study on Sunday instead of idling away my time, or shall I regard it as wicked to open a text-book on the Sabbath?

These questions confronting me are, after all, but the age-old question, What is the "summum bonum" of life? Methinks I shall sleep upon it before I attempt an answer.

THE TRAVELERS' CLUB.

An open meeting of the Travelers' Club was held at 5:15 P. M. Wednesday, November 23d, in the geography room. As the eyes of the world are focused upon our national capital at the present time, an imaginary trip to Washington was the subject of a very interesting and instructive program. Ashley Lerky explained that this trip was made possible through the kindness of a wealthy friend of the Travelers' Club, who was defraying all expenses. She also gave the account of the club's trip up to Washington on the train, and then around the city to the hotel where the party was stopping. The first place visited by the club was the Pan-American building. Eleanor Brooks served as guide through this building. The club next went with Bertha Spradlin to the Armament Conference. Thelma Rhoades was an excellent guide through the Zoo. She told many interesting stories about the animals. Ardell Moore's account of historical Mount Vernon was especially good. After visits through the Museum with Mabel Garrett and the White House, the visit to Washington came to an end. After interesting current events were read by Catherine Rader and Minnie Arnold, the meeting adjourned.

EXCHANGE.

We are still working up our exchange list which is now quite a long one.

We notice from the Blue and Gray that a supply house has burned down. The fire was caused by the overheating of a barrel of tar inside the building. We are glad that our bucket of wax episode wasn't quite so disastrous.

A woman is forever talking about what she would do if she were a man. A man contents himself with talking about what he wouldn't do if he were a woman.—Virginia Tech.

Sociology Teacher—"The lesson today is on idiots and feeble-minded. I see there are none absent."—Exchange.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Interstate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief..... Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams

BOARD OF EDITORS

News..... Mary Bocoek
Organizations..... Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic..... Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A..... Julia Alexander
Joke..... Nancy Crismon
Literary..... Pauline Timberlake
Exchange..... Margaret Atwell
Alumnae..... Florence Buford
Business Manager..... Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager..... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager..... Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Helen Rogerson

THE ROTUNDA FOR CHRISTMAS.

At this season when you are thinking of Christmas and planning your gifts don't forget the Rotunda. Have you a sister or a friend who is an alumna of S. N. S.? If so, the Rotunda is an ideal gift for her. There is nothing more appropriate or nothing which she will enjoy more than a subscription for the weekly paper of her alma mater. A box of candy is soon devoured and forgotten, flowers fade with a day or so, a book is read and laid on the shelf. These gifts and many others, are enjoyed for a season only; but the Rotunda is a Christmas gift which lasts for thirty-six weeks of the year.

See the circulating manager at once about sending the Rotunda for a Christmas gift. Special rates will be offered for a half year subscription.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Did you ever sit down with a long list of names in one hand and a meager bank account in the other, and wonder how on earth you could get presents for all those people with such a small amount of money?

Let us take a look at the list of names. The home people come first. You certainly want to remember them with gifts, but what about all these others? Do you really want to give them presents? Aren't you planning to give them something because last Christmas they gave you a present? This yearly exchange of gifts with all its attendant worrying has gotten us entirely away from the true spirit of Christmas. Instead of being a time of peace and joy, it is a time of hurry and worry in the endeavor to give more expensive presents than we received last year.

Surely this period of financial strain through which we are now passing calls for a reform in the matter of giving. Most of the people whose names are on your list would be just as much pleased with a card bearing an appropriate verse as with a gift. A letter telling all about your school activities would mean far more than a gift, because it would be a true expression of yourself. Remember that "the gift without the giver is bare."

Let us be brave enough and bold enough to limit our Christmas giving. Let us go back to the true spirit of Christmas. The first Christmas gift was God's gift of His son to redeem the world. That gift represented service and sacrifice, most of all it represented the Giver. What does your gift represent? Does it mean an outlay of money you can ill afford, or is it an inexpensive gift that is truly expressive of yourself? The Christ-child gave himself. Let us give ourselves in loving service and thoughtful remembrance. If we have money to spend, let us send it to feed the starving babies of Austria, to help the needy at our own doors. If we do this we shall more nearly reach the standard of that first Christmas gift which brought "peace on earth, good will to men."

LITERARY SOCIETIES

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES.

The Angus Literary Society held its regular meeting on Tuesday, December 6th. The following program was given:

Life of John Fox and Characteristics of His Works—Virginia Wall.
Synopsis of Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come—Louise Parsons.
Quartette—Mildred Parker, Helen Black, Rebecca Dedman, Ethel Etheridge.
Current Events—Glenn Perry.
Critics Report—Virginia Hardin.

AT THE P. O.

Laws: "Have you any mail for me?"
P. M.: "What's your name?"
Laws: "You'll find it on the envelope."
Davidsonian.

Mamie Sexton: "I met the best looking man downtown to-day with a broken arm named Bob Morton."

Ellen Galloway: "Well, Mamie, why didn't you learn the name of his other arm, too?"

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let Us Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Christmas Program

(December 12th through 20th.)

Monday: Hanging of the Greens—Mrs. Blanton.
 Tuesday: Christmas in Other Lands.
 Wednesday: (To be in charge of the Geography Club.)
 Thursday: Christmas Around the Fireside. (In Association Room.)
 Friday: Miracle Play.
 Saturday: Carols.
 Monday: Reading, The Other Wise Man—Miss Rice.
 Tuesday: Caroling.

BUSINESS MEETING.

On Wednesday, December 7th, the first regular business meeting of our Association was held in the auditorium after supper. These business meetings are held on the first Wednesday night in each month so that the members of the Association may discuss the various branches of our work, make suggestions, and hear reports of what we have done and how our finances have been used.

Since the meeting Wednesday night was the first business meeting of this term, the work done since the opening of school in September to the present was reported.

Our undergraduate representative, Elizabeth Moring, spoke on the present nature of her work, after which our president, Mary Finch, told us some of the problems and topics which were discussed at the recent meeting of the Industrial Commission, which she attended at Lynchburg.

These business meetings are for every member of our Y. W. C. A., and we should all feel free to ask any questions or make any suggestions we think advisable or helpful.

OLD MAN WORRY.

Old Man Worry came around the other day,
 He said, "It's only foolishness to smile or sing or play;
 The sunshine may be pleasant,
 But it's only for the present;
 And you may as well get ready for the clouds all cold and gray."

A fellow with a fiddle heard the things he had to say.

He set 'em to a tune, an' then he started in to play.

Old Man Worry

Felt his feet begin to hurry,

And pretty soon he laughed and went a-dancing on his way.

—Philander Johnson.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

One night when the library clock pointed to twelve the books decided to hold a conference. David Copperfield turned on the lights and the meeting began. Everyone was talking at once and no one was getting anywhere until one of the dictionaries rapped on a table and called for order.

"Now," he said, "if we will talk one at the time I think we shall do better. In the first place, what is the purpose of this meeting?"

"We want better treatment," answered the books in a chorus.

"I want to be used and appreciated," came from a corner of the reference room.

"My back is broken." "My leaves are torn and missing." "No one ever even takes me off the shelves." "My pretty cover is soiled and torn." "My leaves have the corners torn off from being turned down so much." "I am filled with dirty fingerprints." Thus their grievances ran.

"Yes," answered the dictionary sadly, "we are all mistreated, but what can we do about it?"

"Let us draw up a set of resolutions," said one.

"How can we present it?" said another. "For, though filled with writing, we write not."

At this all of the books became thoughtful, for here was indeed a problem.

Finally one wise old fellow, "The Wisdom of Life," advanced this suggestion: "We belong to these people, we are really the brain children of other people, therefore we are in their power and cannot prevent their using us as they will. There are two classes of people that use us: those that love and take care of us and those that do not. I suggest that to those who love us we give our knowledge and our pleasures willingly, but to people who misuse us we become so dense and uninteresting that they will soon leave us alone."

After much discussion this plan was accepted and the conference ended.

Moral: Girls, take warning from this. If your lessons are difficult treat your books better and perhaps they will serve you likewise.

GOLDEN FAIRIES.

O beautiful, golden fairies,
 Who once were the verdure of spring.
 Now fly to your eternal resting place.
 The mother earth below.
 You have of the trees flaming torches made,
 You have made of them golden wands
 And do you now leave one by one
 And make them cold and bare.
 Stay, little leaf, stay and teach us thy secret
 Of making the world so divine.

Thou hast thy reward.

Thou hast given poets inspiration.

Birds their shelter, and shaded the tired traveler—

Above all, thou hast performed thy task and would have it done,

Tiny grass blades have found warmth

And when thou hast fallen to the earth
 Underneath thy beautiful form.

Nellie Hardy.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTEY, V. Pres.
 J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
 Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1947.

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
 Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
 Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
 218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Reflector

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

One of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters.

Main Street

Farmville, Va

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students

Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
 catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
 Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note
 books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Teacher—"What is a goat?"

Pupil—"A young goat."—Exchange.

"So I'm tolled," quoth the bell, as Aunt Lucy grasped the rope.

Definition of campused—"Planted in front yard."

First Prof.—"I'm trying to get ahead."

Second Prof.—"You sure do need one."

Prof. (in psychology class)—"What kind of person do you think could respond to real images rather than usual images?"

Pupil—"A blind man."—Exchange.

Anne (discussing geography test): Don't you know I got all mixed up in the tropics?

Pearle (in history class): Miss Tucker, how much does a six-pound shell weigh?

Third Prof. (during Rural Conference): Why are all of those girls wearing ribbons marked "Rural?" Anyone can see they came from the country, anyway.

"No, sir," cried the irate parent, "my daughter can never be yours."

"I don't want her to be my daughter," interrupted the young man, "I want her to be my wife."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

"Yes, mum," smiled the Panhandler, "there was a time when I rode in my own carriage."

"My, what a come-down!" sympathized the kind-hearted woman. "And how long has it been since you rode in your own carriage?"

"Just forty-five years, mum," replied the Panhandler, as he pocketed the proffered dime. "I was a baby then."

SMILE.

Come on, girls!
Smile a smile;
While you smile
Another smiles;
And soon there are miles
And miles of smiles.

And life's worth while if you but smile.

"East and West,"

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

Christmas Suggestions Silk Hose for men and women. Felt comfy's, Neckwear, Silk Shirts, Hand Bags, etc. All our holiday goods at very low prices.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes.

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

ROTONDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

HOW'RE THOSE NEW YEAR'S
RESOLUTIONS ?

Vol. 2. No. 12.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 13, 1922.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND INCREASED DURING HOLIDAYS.

On December 19, 1921, Dr. Jarman gave an inspirational talk to the student body about the new student building, asking the students' co-operation in this big task. As it was just before Christmas holidays and everybody had Christmas in their bones it was hard to be inspired over mere buildings. After Dr. Jarman had emphasized his favorite word co-operation for quite a while we caught the idea and the enthusiasm rose to such a height that about $800 were promised by the girls.

It was arranged that the next student body meeting would be the first Friday after the holidays at which time the money would be brought to the auditorium and deposited in a large basket.

Friday night came—the girls had evidently given most of their thoughts and bank accounts to Santa Claus and only two hundred faithful enthusiasts appeared.

Two of the twenty-five dollar promises were realized and most of the others came to their pledges.

The grand total was two hundred eighteen dollars, including cash and pledges.

Shall we let the alumni have more interest in our Alma Mater than we have!—or—there are the six hundred that rode so diligently into this campaign and yet were lacking in the ranks on the last night?

HEARSAY.

We hear that the Dramatic Club is already making plans for a series of one act plays to be presented some time in March or April.

The Varsity squad is in training and is practicing four days out of the week. Go it Varsity, we're betting on you and know you can do it! Do what! Why beat Fred. Hicksburg, of course!

We hear that the tea room is doing good business and by the end of this month will have paid for itself and be ready to clear money for the Student Building. Splendid management and good patronage! Three cheers for our tea room!

The annual staff is hard at work. With such a staff and such a student body we feel sure that the 1922 Virginian will be the "best of them." [No conceit meant of course. It's just a statement of facts.]

The Cotillion Club took in new members just before the holidays and is planning to give a dance within the next week or so. It's going to be a real dance, too.

The general opinion of the students seems to be in favor of the three term session instead of the two. It is so much better to begin the New Year with the new term—to start out with a clean sheet, as it were, rather than to come back after the holidays and piece out the old term. The latter is sometimes rather discouraging and disastrous to our New Year's resolutions. In the three term session the monotony of the long stretch from January to June is broken and our "tickets" in March also let us know just where we stand in our work during that period. On the whole there is everything in favor of the three terms and we are glad the change was made.

The following new students have matriculated for the new term: Daisy Bell Shafer, Virginia W. Haden and Alberta F. Smith.

"Miss Jennie" and "Miss Mary" took a much needed vacation during the Christmas season. Dr. Jarman says he was quite lonely some here "all by himself."

THE PRODIGAL'S RETURN.

Miss Mary C. Hines, a graduate of this school and also a former assistant in English here, has returned to assist Mr. Grainger in the English Department. During her absence she was a student of Peabody Institution where she received her M. A. Degree, after which she was an instructor in the English Department. We are delighted to have her with us.

We are very glad to welcome Miss Shelton back to our school. She was a member of the Home Department last year, but on account of illness she was unable to return in September of this year. We are delighted that she is able to resume her duties and to be with us again.

The Home Department, faculty and students were delighted upon returning after the holidays to find Mrs. Bessie Jameson with us again.

Among other prodigals returning we find two of our last year's students, Ella Gregory and Min Mason.

EXCHANGE.

The following have been added to our Exchange list:

The Wild Cat, Alexandria, La.
The Sabre, Front Royal, Va.
The Tattler, Oxford, N. C.
The Lenoirian, Hickory, N. C.
The Gamecock, Greenville, S. C.

AN S. N. S. COCK ROBIN STORY.

Who "K. I. L." (led) the "Owls"?
"Not." I. "I" et R."

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Frances Sterrett, of Lexington, has been a visitor to the school since Christmas.

Miss Annie Marion Powell has been appointed principal of the Chatham Episcopal Institute, to fill the place vacated by the death of Rev. Dr. C. O. Pruden, and will have full charge of the work of the institution. Miss Powell was at one time a member of the English Department of the Farmville Normal School and for the past year has been assistant principal at Chatham.

Miss Julia Brittingham, of Hampton, was married in the fall to Mr. Eugene Monroe, also of Hampton. Mrs. Monroe is president of the Hampton Alumnae Chapter, which was one of the first to organize last spring, with a large membership.

The local chapters are, as a rule, too modest or too busy to report their good deeds. The Portsmouth Chapter realized a good sum for the student building fund from a bazaar held before Christmas, and the Roanoke Chapter has made plans to raise money this spring for the same object.

A charming little booklet of the holiday season is "The Iris," a collection of poems, legends, etc., concerning the flower which has been adopted as Richmond's own, compiled by Miss Pauline Williamson. The book is attractively gotten up and contains many things of interest concerning the iris, its origin and story. The book was first published under an assumed name, but now carries the name of its author.

RESOLUTIONS.

Among the many New Year's resolutions made, we understand that:

The student body (following Miss Mary's suggestion) has resolved to have better table manners.

Elizabeth Vaughn, Mamie Nichols, Naney Lyons, Kathryn Thompson, Sallie Kie, Julia Clarke and Mildred Dickinson have resolved to eat yeast cakes and grow fat.

Occupants of Room 102 have resolved to get to breakfast on time.

Charleen has resolved to acquire dignity. [We refer her to the Fourth Profs in regard to a loan.]

Christine has resolved to live without her chewing gum.

Tilly and Reba have resolved to teach together next year since they find it impossible to live apart.

Helen Patton has resolved to e-nunciate.

Mary Burwell has resolved to stay single.

Kate Davis has resolved to grow a braid.

The Coulling twins have resolved to be triplets.

The boy stood on the moonlit deck.
His head was in a whirl.
His mouth and eyes were full of hair
His arms were full of girl.

Exchange.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams

BOARD OF EDITORS
News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogers

The Rotunda, like the rest of us, enjoyed a pleasant two week's vacation, and is now "back on the job." It wishes for everyone a prosperous New Year and a beneficial term.

In behalf of the student body The Rotunda wishes to take this opportunity of extending a most cordial welcome to the new students who entered school this term.

By the way, what about those New Year's resolutions of yours?

THERE'S A TIME FOR WORK.

"Work while you work, and play while you play," is an old adage worth heeding. We all "played" during the holidays and now that we are back at school it is equally appropriate that we devote our energies just as enthusiastically to the task that is set before us—that of acquiring an education. Christmas is over. It is a sad thought, but nevertheless a true one, and sooner or later we must realize it. How much better that we should realize it sooner than later. How much wiser to start the New Year and the new term with hard study and conscientious effort rather than to dilly-dally these first few days or weeks and later be forced to regret that the term is passing and we are not making the grades we had resolved to make.

Most of us, I dare say, made certain resolutions. Somehow when we were there and looked back over our scholastic record for the past months our work did not show up as well as we had expected. We experienced queer sensations the day our "tickets" came home and our parents handed them to us for the first time. Not that they were all poor grades. Fond relatives thought them raiseworthy, but deep in our hearts we knew that some of them should have been better. We recalled many incidents which we now realize made our grade on a certain subject C rather than B or A. Tardy themes and days when we were unprepared flashed through our minds, and we realized that it is the daily task that counts. It was while we were at home that we were able to look back over the past term with a truer perspective and a finer sense of values.

We are at the threshold of a new year and are beginning a new term, with every opportunity to start over again and with all our mistakes of last year to warn us for the future. Let us not make the mistake in the beginning of wasting valuable time before we settle down to work, thereby causing the faculty to remark that holidays are demoralizing and convincing Dr. Jarman that these holidays were apparently too long and "next time" (perhaps Easter) he will make them shorter. Rather let us lay our Christmas enthusiasm aside as a garment to be worn on gala occasions and remember that holiday spirits, like party dresses, are not practical for everyday wear.

IF YOU SEND US POETRY—

Remember that poetry which contains rosy or unmetrical lines is not poetry. A single flat phrase or limpy line affects a short line as a single drop of ink would affect a glass of water.

A poem should have something to say. Here is too much "mystical" magazine verse of this type:

Atrob in the silky twilight
The low moon moans and flits
Like a battered bat on a skylight
A search for my weary wits.

A poem should have something to say; but that does not mean that it should have something to prove. We are suspicious of such verse as:

The cost of living is higher every day
Because transportation costs too much to pay:

And we must save the nation
By getting rid of inflation.

Invent your own imagery, metaphors and epithets. Do not remind us of Bartlett's Quotations. Do not write such conventional spring verse as:

And now I tune my rustic reed
To pipe beside the babbling brook,
My shepherd's crook on flowery mead
I lay, and sigh with pensive look.

But, on the other hand, mere eccentricity does not win a place. Don't do this:

I embrace the scarlet Revolution
It is more dear to me than apple pie,
Or the lush murmurs of the sea lions at the park,
Or a rainbow on East Grand Street,
Or the lithe odor of burning rubber in the factory.

Be concise, compact, vivid, musical, imaginative and sincere. (Clipped.)

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

E. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHERE GOD CLASSES FOREIGN MISSIONS.

"Go ye therefore and teach all nations . . . and lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." Matt. 28:19, 20.

Jesus' last words contained a command to Christians not to stop until His Gospel had been preached throughout all the world. These words alone prove that Foreign Missions is the debt of the Church.

There are two ways to treat the question of Foreign Missions. One way is to look upon it as simply a matter of charity. There are people who view a Foreign Missionary and his work very much as they do some freakish Chinese puzzle. In some way they think the missionary has tumbled his work upon himself, that God has nothing to do with it. Such a view of the man and the cause makes both a mere matter of charity. It leaves Foreign Missions optional with the Church. The other way to view the question is to face it as a debt, every letter of which is spelled with a capital. There is a wide difference between charity and debt. Charity stands at the last of the list and gets only our spare cash and time; debt heads the list and claims everything until it is met.

As soon as the family was established in the world, there was a church, and the first infant church faced a foreign missionary program. God said to Abraham, "Get out from thy father's house unto a land that I will show thee." Abraham was a foreign missionary and God gave him his commission. Throughout all the history of the Church the vision of the great leaders of the Church has been as clear as a crystal for Foreign Missions.

To get at the fountain source of Foreign Missions we must go up into the "Everlasting Hills" and stand before the heart-throb of God Himself. How does the heart of God our Father feel about Foreign Missions? God the Father saw our world, all blighted with sin and misery, and He touched His great loving heart. "God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son," to be a missionary. If God had lacked a Foreign Missionary Heart, if God had said, as we sometimes say to-day, "Let the heathen take care of their own case," the world would still be without a Saviour. You and I to-day would be without the story of Jesus and His love.

We are morally bound to carry out a program of world-wide missions, to know conditions in the world. Mission study classes will be organized the middle of this month, meeting once a week through a period of six weeks. Every girl in school is given the privilege of joining one of these classes and is urged to avail herself of this opportunity.

Courses to be offered, time and place of meeting will be announced later.

AN AERIAL JOURNEY.

I hitched my wagon to a star.
And traveled all around,
And sipped a little knowledge,
From the Dipper that I found.

I traveled o'er the firmament,
And met the other stars.
And by the Way I drank some milk,
And had a chat with Mars.

While Venus called to chat with me,
The dashing Comet passed,
'Twas then I knew why she was gay,
Cold Venus loved at last.

But I did want to yawn and stretch,
So tried to stall the star,
The question pounded thru my mind,
"I wonder where we are?"

My guide began to gather speed,
I dared not move around,
I looked above and far below,
And saw no sky or ground.

In vain bewilderment I knelt
And begged the star to stop,
Behind there were a host of stars
In front a traffic cop.

He signaled for the star to wait,
And raised his awful hand,
I gazed in terror at a paw,
There stood a beast, not man!

In my poor mind I found his name
He was the bad Great Bear,
I swore 'twere not my bag o' bones
That he would chew and share.

'Twas then my star a coward grew,
And turned his tail to fly,
He quickly flashed down to the earth
And did not tell me why

To my poor feet I bravely rose
And took an awful leap,
I landed on this hard, cold ground
A muddled, shaken heap.

If on a journey you must go,
Look very wide and far,
And when you hitch your wagon up,
Don't take a falling star.

—H. J. M.

THE RIVER.

A tired, placid river with folded hands—
Calm, still, dully serene.
It slips wearily

Between its banks and under drooping trees;
An old, slow river that has done with dreams,
And the rushing hopes of youth.

Once, long ago, it raced torrentiously
Over great rocks, madly joyous—
Now, with weary sigh
It slips around silently

And creeps on.
That river frightens me—
I wonder if some day
I too will slip slowly by Leaving all joyous life behind
And taking with me
Only my memories.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTRY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock . . . $ 50,000.00
Surplus . . . 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The RENAISSANCE Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics &c.
At reasonable tuition rates

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

Supplies, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Notebooks, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

YOUTH.

I am restless, dissatisfied;
Seeking the unattainable,
The beautiful, the glorious,
In all things:
Life, health, and love have I
But I must have more
Or I shall die.
There is nothing that satisfies
Or brings happiness.
I do not know what is my need.
But I cry to you my longing,
And go upon my way
Seeking always
That which I cannot find.

FIRESIDE REVERIES.

Oh have you seen a storm arise,
And chase away the evening light;
And toss the tree-tops all about,
And sink the world in inky night?
Oh have you heard the naked boughs
Keep tapping on your window pane;
And heard the moaning of the wind,
And heard the beating of the rain;
And marveled that you were so blessed,
To have a place in which to rest?

—M. C. B.

One Rainy Day

A maiden fair came down the street
One rainy day.
She smiled at those she knew quite sweet
One rainy day.
But suddenly she gave a frown,
For she had seen, on looking down,
A mud-hole of the darkest brown,
One rainy day.

A youth upon the other side
One rainy day.
Perceived the maid, as there she cried,
One rainy day.
He lightly tripped across the street,
But stumped his toe and took a seat,
Right in the mud-hole at her feet,
One rainy day.

—The Missile.

THE SLANG SLINGERS.

Scene of dialogue: Students' room in the dormitory of S. N. S.

Time: Study hour, sometime between 9:00 and 10:00.

Characters: Flip (who loves to play pranks, especially on her teachers); Jane (who always agrees with Flip); Susan (who does not approve of such conduct); and Anne (who never uses slang).

"Say, Jane, listen, ole dear—
Let's play a joke on Mr. Lear."
"You tell 'em, Flip, you've got the stuff,
You bet your life we'll treat 'em rough."
"Oh! girls, I'm shocked," gentle Susan cries.
"Well, really, Sue you'd be surprised
If you just knew what fun we have—"
"Jane, will you please stop your gab?
Sue you give me a bias pain,
Forever and eternally ready to complain:
We ain't goin' to do no harm,
So you don't need to cause alarm."

"Oh! Sue, I'm a perfect wreck!
If Dad doesn't come across with a check,
I swan I'll have to sell my coat.
These darn old bills have got my goat."
"Well, Anne, I will be hanged
If you didn't speak a mouthful of slang."
"Did she? I'll say she did."
"Ah, Flip, look here, kid—
Well Pete, if that don't beat all.
Some ding-busted girl in this hall
Has snatched my fountain pen and ink.
Now, by heck, that makes me blink."
"Calm down Jane, don't soar so high.
You know the proctor roosts close by."
"Oh, Sue, I don't give a— Shoot the buck,
I wish I could learn this old Latin truck—
Good-night! there's that dog-gone bell,
Tell that old proctor to go to—bed."
—E. Y. B.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance
MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,
TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,
Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN
Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream
Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA. ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

All the Girls DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS
Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fin- Sta
tionery, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century
Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality
Meals At All Hours
FARMVILLE, VA.

HAVE YOU PAID
FOR YOUR ROTUNDA?

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

IF NOT.
DO IT
NOW!

Vol. 2. No. 13.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 20, 1922.

FATHER TABB, HIS LIFE AND WORKS. WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT YOUR HAMPDEN-SIDNEY Y. M. C. A. ENTER-TAINS.

This new book, written by Miss Jennie Masters Tabb (better known to us on the campus as "Our Miss Jennie"), is one which is winning favorable comment throughout the literary world. Each girl in school has heard of Miss Jennie's book, and a large number have, no doubt, taken advantage of the copy which is to be found in the library. As a matter of interest to alumnae and friends, we print the following information concerning this admirable biography.

Father Tabb, Poet.

"Father Tabb" needs no introduction, being widely known in the Catholic world and also to the more general reading public throughout the country.

This volume not only gives a clear impression of the personality of the Poet Priest, but it contains, generously interspersed among biographical matter, all of his best poems.

The contents are:

First, an introduction by Dr. Charles Alphonso Smith, Head of the Department of English in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis Md.

The body of the volume is made up of short chapters which take up every phase of the life of "Father Tabb." The first chapter is devoted to a genealogy of the Tabb family; and then we see the poet in his childhood, as a clerk on the Confederate States Steamer "Robert E. Lee," as teacher, musician, friend, poet, and priest.

Selections are given from Father Tabb's child verse, his religious verse, his humorous verse—in fact the majority of his best and most widely read poems are included, and these are all indexed both as to titles and first lines.

The book is written by Jennie M. Tabb, niece of the celebrated priest.

A good deal of thought and affectionate devotion has gone into the making of this volume, and the result is a worthy memorial of this exquisite poet.

From everywhere come favorable press comments on "Father Tabb."

Read what some of the critics say:

"... an interesting and effective demonstration of the genial man and fervent priest ... far superior to any previous biography."—Ave Maria.

"... most welcome is this volume written from new sources by his niece and crowded with many of his typical poems. If the book serves to introduce the poet-priest to a new public, that public will bless Miss Tabb for her labor of love."—Richmond News-Leader.

"... many interesting and humorous pictures ... admirable little biography."—N. Y. Herald.

"We opened the book condescendingly, ..."

Concluded on 3d page.

A Ready Answer Test On Virginia.

The following list of questions was compiled for the use of teachers in arousing the interest of the school children of Virginia in their native State. They should be of interest to every loyal son and daughter of the "Old Dominion."

The number of questions you can answer readily from the following list of one hundred will indicate the percentage of your proficiency in ready knowledge of Virginia. If you are interested in checking yourself up to find out this percentage watch for the answers to the questions which will appear in the next issue of the Rotunda:

Who was author of each of the following expressions?

- (1) "I thank God there are no schools and no printing in Virginia."
- (2) "Give me liberty or give me death!"
- (3) "Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."
- (4) "Tis our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."
- (5) "The American continents are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power."
- (6) "To make the world safe for democracy."

Name the persons who were called:

- (7) "the founder of Virginia;" (8) "the father of his country;" and "first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen;" (9) "the author of the Declaration of Independence; of the statute of Virginia for religious freedom, and "the father of the University of Virginia;" (10) "inventor of the first steamboat;" (11) "Marse Robert;" (12) "Stonewall;" (13) "Old Pat;" (14) "the father of the modern short story."

Name a service for which each of the following is known:

- (15) Captain John Smith, (16) Pocahontas, (17) James Blair, (18) Alexander Spotswood, (19) Thomas Jefferson, (20) George Mason, (21) George Washington, (22) Patrick Henry, (23) Thomas Nelson, Jr., (24) James Madison, (25) John Marshall, (26) James Monroe, (27) John Tyler, (28) Robert E. Lee, (29) Thomas J. Jackson, (30) Matthew F. Maury, (31) Cyrus K. McCormick, (32) Wm. H. Ruffner, (33) Woodrow Wilson.

Name five Virginians who have been prominent in national or international affairs during the past ten years.

Number the answers (34), (35), (36), (37), and (38).

Name two Virginians who signed the Declaration of Independence.

Number the answers (39) and (40).

Name two Virginians who attended the Concluded on 4th page.

Many of the Normal School girls were invited to Hampden-Sidney last Friday night to the Y. M. C. A. reception. After a cold, moonlight drive they were welcomed by all the people on the hill. Dr. Gammon made the opening speech, which was followed by a talk by Dr. Whiting, a representative of the faculty, and Mr. Cook, the president of the Y. M. C. A. Songs were sung by the Hampden-Sidney Glee Club and the orchestra played several selections.

Requests were made that some of the girls from the Normal School sing, so Annette Wilson and Evelyn Barnes responded with several solos. Refreshments were served, after which everyone did the usual thing, talked. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A new silk American flag was presented last week to the Training School by the Junior Red Cross.

Dr. Jarman attended a meeting of the school board last week in Richmond, at which time matters in regard to the legislative budget appropriation to the Student Building were discussed.

Miss Munoz and her Glee Club are hard at work on their spring operetta.

The sixth number of the Lyceum Course "The Taming of the Shrew" will be presented on Friday night by the Elizabethan Players.

CLASS IDENTIFICATION CARDS.

Lelia Burrow: "Well, goodness!"
Lois Williams: "Well, I just can't wait."
Elizabeth Moring: "I should worry."
Louise Scott: "Oh, boy."
Lou Gregory: "Let's go to the movies."
Kathryn Thompson: "I vow, I'm not telling a word of a story."
Frances Robinson: "Ha-ha-ha!"
Mary Bolen: "Well, law!"
Anne Meredith: "You're a cootie hound."
Ellen Carlson: "Now, wouldn't that jar you?"
Pearle Young: "For goodness sake."
Ernestine Landrum: "Hey thar!"
Lella Lang: "Yes."
Mamie Nichols: "I'm hungry."
Otey Helm: "Oh, my dear."
Marjorie Thompson: "Sure."
Mary Jefferson: "I declare."
Annette Wilson: "Haw dog."
Marie Sutton: "Doo-doo-ly."
Marian Camper: "Is that right?"

Our Weekly Talk.

When you fall into an error, don't stay there—crawl out.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Jobs Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager..... Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager..... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager..... Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager..... Helen Rogerson

What is the secret of a winning personality? I do not doubt but what everyone would like to know the answer to this question and it is almost probable that people's ideas as to a correct answer differ very widely. Wondering how others might reply to this question I decided to ask a few people what their opinions were before I attempted to give mine. Some of the answers, given in as short phrases as possible, are these: Taet, a smile, straightforwardness, uprightness, unselfishness, kindness, forgetfulness of self, love of other people, generosity and honesty.

It seemed to me that all of these things might be included in the make-up of a winning personality, but that each alone is insufficient to serve as the keynote. Then I remembered St. Paul's "faith, hope and love." And to me that appeared to be the only acceptable answer.

To have a winning personality one must have faith. Faith in the Creator and faith in man, His creation. Without faith both in the Divine and the human element this world would be a dreary place. One must also have hope, for hope is the soul of optimism, and how may one hope to attract friends if one is a pessimist. Lastly, not because it is less important but because it is based on the other two, one must have a love for one's fellow beings. A love that is strong enough to conquer selfishness and substitute altruism in its place; a love that will always produce a smile of encouragement for the other person and also the consideration to be tactful.

A. M.

TAKE A LOOK AT YOURSELF, LEST YE BE TEMPTED.

"Temptations of School Life" was the subject of Dr. D. H. Spillman's talk at chapel Wednesday morning. Dr. Spillman is from North Carolina and he is connected with Sunday School work in the South. For sometime he has been traveling over the country helping to build up the Sunday Schools.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

The fame of the Normal School is spread abroad by her daughters who have gone into distant lands. Miss Dixie McCabe married last year and is living in China. Miss Eline Norman was married on December 21st to Mr. John J. Morrow, and has been "at home after December 31st at Avebury, Saskatchewan." Miss Ethel Brown, who was a missionary in Brazil for several years, had to return to this country on account of her health. She is now engaged in mountain mission work, assisting Miss Sallie Dickinson in Rockbridge County. Our Y. W. C. A. is helping to pay her salary there.

"The Little Pilgrims and the Book Beloved," the beautiful religious pageant given in St. Andrew's Church, Norfolk, created wide interest. Miss Charlotte Baird represented "Mother Church" and was assisted by thirty other young persons of the congregation.

Miss Janie Slaughter is well known to the people of Farmville as well as many former students of the school. Her friends will be interested to know that she is spending this session at William and Mary College and expects to receive her A. B. degree in June.

Miss Katherine Wicker is also spending her furlough at William and Mary College.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Sallie Brodnax Wilkins to Mr. James Sands Darling Cumming, of Hampton.

The Portsmouth Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association held its monthly meeting at the Y. W. C. A., Thursday evening, January 5th.

The resignation of Miss Isabel Chandler, recording secretary, was accepted, and Miss Mary Rouse Hutchins was elected to fill the position.

The association decided to subscribe to the Rotunda, the Normal School newspaper. This will be sent to Mrs. S. P. Oast.

Plans were discussed for a card party to be held Saturday, February 4th, the place to be announced later. Proceeds will go for the new Student Building.

A call meeting for further discussion of these plans will be held at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock, Friday night, January 20th.

"Uncle Josh says the moon is inhabited, otherwise the dogs wouldn't bark at it."
Grit.

Bright Senior—When will there be 25 letters in the alphabet?

Freshie—Oh, what will you say next?
Senior—When U and I are one.

—Wild Cat.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

The Mission Study Classes will begin January 24th at 6:30, and continue for six weeks, meeting every Tuesday night for half an hour. Schedule to be posted later.

Twelve Students Excused.

1. The back-number student who does not desire to be abreast of the times.
2. The narrow-gauge student who is content to be a provincial.
3. The unambitious student who aspires after a limited culture and a limited equipment for his life work.
4. The indolent student with leisure who prefers to fritter away his time.
5. The short-sighted student who is busy but who is unwilling to release from his program the things of less value.
6. The easy-going student who does not value his religion or who does not care to prize it more.
7. The selfish student whose social conscience is numb and who prefers to have it remain so.
8. The materialistic student who lives on the lower levels and is indifferent to the enrichment of his religious life.
9. The prejudiced student who declares that Christ is unnecessary to the world's salvation and who is unwilling to consider the evidence in the case.
10. The cowardly student who is afraid to face the issues which an expanded intelligence might precipitate.
11. The unreasonable student who, forgetting that he is a product of missions, does not believe in missions and is not open-minded on the question.
12. The disloyal student who calls Jesus, Master and Lord, but is regardless of His ideals and program and commands.

FATHER TABB

with the thought 'here's another biography.' We closed it reluctantly with the thought, 'here's another Friend.' Louisville Times. '... a pleasing tribute ... a portrayal of a beautiful, useful and well-rounded life.' New Haven Journal-Courier.

The book is attractively bound in dark red cloth covers, is printed in large type on heavy wove paper, and is illustrated.

The price is $1.50 net, postage 15 cents. You will surely want to get this memorial of 'Father Tabb' immediately.

The Stratford Company, Publishers, Boston, Mass.

"An educational system, while teaching boys and girls how to get a living, should also teach them how to live."

—Pencil Thrust.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of the Athenian Literary Society was held December 20, 1921, at which time the following officers were elected:

President—Sallie Kie.
Vice-President—Agnes Fulcher.
Recording Secretary—Bertha Smith.
Corresponding Secretary—Lizzie Story.
Treasurer—Virginia Boudurant.
Censor—Thelma Rhodes.
Critic—Edna Blanton.
Reporter—Marian Camper.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Cunningham Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting, January 10, 1922, at which time officers for the new term were elected:

President—Lois Williams.
Vice-President—Margaret Finch.
Treasurer—Agnes Walker.
Recording Secretary—Emily Ely.
Corresponding Secretary—Julia Clarke.
Censor—Etta Belle Walker.
Critic—Madaline Fitzgerald.

JOKES.

She—You had no business kissing me.
He—I meant it for pleasure, not business.
"Handlian."

Flapper—I want my hair cut.
Barber—Any special way?
Flapper—Yes; off! Exchange.

A surgeon was performing an operation on Kate when a fire started at a warehouse across the road, illuminating the whole operating room. Having finished, the surgeon turned to the nurse and said:

"I think you had better draw the shade. I don't want her to think the operation has not been a success."

She—sarcastically—"I wonder where all the nice boys have gone to this evening."

He—"Off strolling with all the nice girls. I suppose." Exchange.

Mary—"What is a kiss?"

Ann—"Nothing divided by two."—Handlian.

One winter's day a very bowlegged tramp, called at a house and stood to warm himself by the kitchen stove. A small boy surveyed him carefully for some minutes and then approached him and said:

"Say, mister, you'd better stand back, you're warping."

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

ABOUT YOUR STATE.

convention which framed the Constitution of the United States.

Number the answers (41) and (42).

Name the man who was governor of Virginia in 43 1776, (44) 1861, (45) 1917, (46) 1922.

Name two great Virginia poets and three prose masters.

Number the answers (47), (48), (49), (50), and (51).

For what is each of the following places noted in the history and government of Virginia?

(52) Jamestown, (53) Williamsburg, (54) Yorktown, (55) Richmond, (56) Appomattox C. H.

What famous men had their homes at the following?

(57) Mount Vernon, (58) Gunston Hall, (59) Westover, (60) Monticello, (61) Arlington.

For what is each of the following significant in Virginia history?

(62) Bacon's Rebellion, (63) The Great Indian Massacre, (64) House of Burgesses, (65) The Stamp Act, (66) Bill of Rights, (67) Tobacco Rebellion, (68) The Valley Campaign, (69) The Peninsula Campaign.

Name two natural wonders in Virginia.

Number answers (70) and (71).

Name five important rivers of Virginia.

Number answers (72), (73), (74), (75), and (76).

Name five principal cities of Virginia.

Number answers (77), (78), (79), (80), and (81).

How many counties in Virginia? (82).

How many congressional districts? (83).

What does each of the following expressions signify as applied to or in Virginia?

(84) "The Old Dominion", (85) "The mother of States", (86) "The mother of presidents", (87) "F. F. V.", (88) "Tidewater", (89) "The Valley", (90) "Piedmont Section", (91) "Eastern Shore", (92) "The Wilderness", (93) "Northern Neck".

Name eight best known higher institutions of learning in Virginia, indicate whether each is for men, for women, or for both, and tell where it is located.

Number the answers (94), (95), (96), (97), (98), (99), and (100).

JOKES.

Evelyn at the age of seven knew a lot about bugology. We feel that this star is bound to shine in Mr. Fattig's class.

Teacher: "Evelyn, what is a fly?"

Evelyn: "Why—a, there's different kinds of flies."

Teacher: Well, Evelyn, tell me some of the kinds of flies you know."

Evelyn: "Well, there's the fly that flies around and sets on grandpa's bald head, and birds fly, you know, and—and—a, oh, yes"—remembering the lines of the old familiar hymn which says "Let me to Thy bosom fly"—"I know—bosom fly!"

Which would be the easiest trip, crossing a Stubblefield or walking down a Thorny Lane?"

The Acid Test.

When a law is passed by Congress, and the Senate too agrees, and the President has signed it, and the Supreme Court decrees it's within the Constitution and O. K's, the case—there's more:

It has yet to pass the talkfest at the village grocery store.—Exchange.

"The good die young." No wonder some eggs live to a ripe old age.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Admission 4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.
ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes.

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

ON TO FREDERICKSBURG

THE ROTUNDA

R-A-Y. R-A-Y.
HAH! RAH!
Team!
Team! Team!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 14.

Farmville, Virginia.

Jan. 27, 1922.

S. N. S. VARSITY WINS INITIAL GAME.

In a close-fought practice game with Lynchburg High School, January 20th, Farmville State Normal demonstrated her ability to give her future opponents a run for their money at least. As has been said, the game was for practice, consequently Farmville had no fixed team, players were changed throughout all four quarters.

The beginning of the first half was marked by fumbling, with some wild playing; this was soon changed by the close and aggressive guarding of both sides. Lynchburg's team work was superior to that of Farmville. Several pretty field goals were made, leaving the score 11-6 in favor of Lynchburg. In the last half some clever pass-work was displayed, especially by Farmville. Lynchburg still had the lead at the beginning of the last quarter, but owing to the work of Farmville's stellar forward, the lead was cut down and then eliminated, placing the score at 21-17 in her favor. The last few moments of the game were filled with exciting rough-and-tumble playing, which gave no gain to either side. The crowd in attendance was not as large as usual, but made up for its size by peppy yells and further expressions of feeling.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

On Tuesday, January 10th, representatives from the standard colleges of Virginia and North Carolina met at Richmond Hotel in order to establish an athletic association. The purpose of this association is "to foster and direct the athletic interests of its members, and to develop and strengthen the bonds of union between the institutions comprising it." The following colleges and universities are members of this new league: William and Mary College, Randolph-Macon College, Hampden-Sidney College, Lynchburg College, Roanoke College, Emory and Henry College, University of Richmond, Davidson College, Wake Forest College, Trinity College, Elon College, Guilford College.

The construction of a new physics laboratory has been begun at Davidson College. The building is expected to be completed sometime in February.

SECOND PROFESSIONALS JOIN DEGREE CLUB.

The following Second Professionals are considering returning for their degrees and have recently become members of the Degree Club: Pauline Timberlake, Anna Bell Treagle, Etta Bell Walker, Christine Anne Strong, Susie Scott, Julia Alexander, Gwendolyn Wright, Frances Evans, Kate Davis, Nell McArdle, Agnes McDuffy, Bertha Spradlin, Ruth McKelway, Roberta Hodgkin, Helen Patton and Bertha Smith.

COMING!

What? A costume dance.
When? Saturday night. (Hour to be announced later.)

Why? Benefit Student Building Fund.

Who invited? Everybody.

The Hampden-Sidney orchestra will furnish the dance music and special attractions will be provided for those who do not care to dance. Admission fee announced later. Refreshments sold. Get your costume ready in time.

NOTICE

The answers to the questions in the "Ready Answer Test on Virginia" will appear in next week's issue of The Rotunda.

THE EDITOR.

ALUMNAE NEWS.

The Literary Digest of January 14th reprints from "The Lyric" (Norfolk) the following poem by Mrs. Julia Johnson Davis, with the comment: "It must take some courage in these days to become lyrical over the old Victorian ideals. We take it that others will find their sentiments put into words for them."

MY BOOKS.

When falls the winter snow I little care nor yet what cold winds blow,
For here beneath the fire
Are many friends of whom I never tire:
Jane Austen sits with me,
And, oh, what company!
Or else Brontes make the fireside glow
With their strange spirit,
Wordsworth comes, and then
Most lovable of men,
Dear Browning. Ah, I've named not even ten
Of those who come and go.

When the December of my life shall come and those that now I love
The best, perhaps, are gone,
I shall not be quite friendless and alone,
These same dear ones shall be
Spring, youth and love to me.
I shall be young with them, and happy, too,
And who can tell? In that great after-pace
I, by diviner grace,
May touch their hands and look upon each face
With happiness anew.

Mrs. Davis writes delightful children's stories as well as charming verses. She is the author of "The Roly-Poly Little Boy" in the December number of John Martin's book.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY PLANNING TO PRESENT PAGEANT.

The Virginia Historical Pageant, which will be held in Richmond in the spring, is of interest to all Virginians. The part that Prince Edward county plays, including the two schools, Hampden-Sidney and Farmville Normal, makes this pageant especially interesting to all of us here.

Prince Edward cannot boast of many historical spectacular scenes taking place within its boundary, but it has the advantage of having two institutions, promoting higher education and growth of the State. These schools will have a part in the pageant held in Richmond connected, of course, with the Prince Edward county. Not only because Farmville was the first Normal in the State (founded in 1884), but because it is Farmville we want to have it represented well.

The county is planning a pageant to be held in or around Farmville, depicting its history. Hampden-Sidney is planning a separate pageant to be held in H. S. also in the spring. Why can't the Normal have a pageant devoted entirely to its history, as well as a part in the Prince Edward county pageant? We feel sure that it can be done, but we need the help of every girl in school, especially the Prince Edward girls. Won't you give us all the facts you know or can find out about the early history of this school and this county?

TAMING OF THE SHREW PRESENTED.

On Friday evening, January 20th, the sixth number of the Lyceum Course was given in the auditorium. The Elizabethan Players presented Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew."

THE LITTLE THINGS.

I love so much the little things!
I know not why, but oh, they bring
So much of joy where little joy has been.
I have found God so many times
When I had thought him lost—
In little things; the tracery of trees,
All bare and black against a sunset sky;
A single twig flung motionless
Across an orange moon; or in
The wordless chant of pines beside the sea,
I think that if my heart should break,
That after-while I'd cease to care
And find great peace and promise in
The swift, sure flight of swallows in the dusk.
Or in the faint caress of a loved hand,
Or even in the droning of a bee.
Perhaps it is because my soul is small.
But oh, those little things, they mean so much to me!

P. T.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

OUR PART IN THE HISTORICAL PAGEANT.

Since we shall have some part in the Prince Edward county pageant which the public schools of the country are planning to present in the spring, it is imperative that we make definite plans for this part immediately. There is much to be considered before our plans can materialize. What shall our pageant be? Several general suggestions have been made. We might present the history of our school as an episode in the county pageant or as a separate pageant of our own. It might be instructive and interesting for us to attempt a Virginia pageant—a miniature of the one to be held in Richmond in the spring. There is also an interesting opportunity offered in the appropriate suggestion that we present the history of education in our State. Some one else thinks that the various stages of a Prince Edward child's education might be drama-tized, giving various scenes of her school life from the kindergarten up through the Normal. All of these are suggestions worth our consideration.

Aside from the actual part that we take in the pageant which we present, much can and is being accomplished by us in arousing pride in the "glory that is Virginia." Our literary societies have chosen as their course of study for the year Virginia authors and have dramatized various scenes from their books.

Should we not show our interest in this pageant movement by sending a representative to the Richmond pageant?

What have YOU to suggest as a part of the plan for S. N. S.?

"A hundred and two years ago in a wood near Florence, Shelley wrote his matchless
'Ode to the West Wind,' the climax of which is the prophecy,

"O wind,
If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

"A century has passed and now a modern author takes up Shelley's note, and Mr.
Hutchinson builds on the pregnant phrase,
'If Winter Comes,' a novel which may well live as long as the poem has lived."

"If Winter Comes" is perhaps the most talked of book of the year. If you like to read good books, don't miss this one!

JOANNE D'ARC. (A Soiloquy.)

Seven years have I been here, and yet I am unacquainted with the members of the student body. I know only the group as a whole because I have learned that the individual members that go to make up the student body are ever changing, ever shifting; each year bringing in hundreds of new girls and sending out hundreds to make their way in the world.

I love this endless line of girls that come and go; this ever restless, ever different mass of human beings whose ideals resemble in so many ways the ideals of a French girl of long ago.

No girl comes to school who does not come under my watchful eye. In all of her moods
I see her. A frightened new-comer, unused to the ways and customs of the establishment, she stands by my side, in her mind, trying to adjust herself to new situations.
Later in the bustle, the hurry, the excitement, the pleasures, and the sorrows of this new life I am a silent but a sympathetic witness. Hurrying to class, rushing to meals, meeting and making new friends, joyfully receiving old ones, excited trips home, weary and yet glad returns; all of these things and more I see. Slowly she grows from irresponsible girlhood to strong womanhood with the purpose of service set deep in her heart.

At last when her course is finished, and she leaves these halls to undertake new duties and responsibilities, for which she has been preparing, my blessing and my spirit go with her to guide, to strengthen, and to uplift.

Why Not?

They were discussing the North American Indian in a rural school, when the teacher asked if any one could tell him what the leaders of the tribes were called.

"Chief," answered a bright little girl.

"Correct," answered the teacher. "Now, can any of you tell me what the women are called?"

There was silence for a minute, then a small boy's hand waved eagerly aloft.

"Well, Frankie," asked the teacher.

"Mischief," he proudly announced.—

Girls' World.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHY WE HAVE INDUSTRIAL PROGRAMS.

There is a real need for the co-operation of students with the industrial workers. These workers are making every convenience for the schoolgirl and still striving for some advantages themselves. In order to accomplish this, they need the sympathetic understanding and ready co-operation of all people, especially the students themselves. There is the necessity for student groups to share the thinking of industrial groups, to relate their Christianity to the problems of the life of the industrial workers.

One means here in school of realizing a solution to this problem is that of presenting in college group meetings the real conditions under which the man, woman and child laborer have to face life.

In the programs just completed in association meetings these conditions were pictured as accurately as possible by college girls. In these meetings no stress was put on who or what had raised working conditions to their present level or to what had prevented their attainment of higher standards. It was thus not in the purpose to praise or blame organizations, institutions or individuals, but to create a personal conception of economic conditions. This will enable each student, as a future teacher and citizen, to better assume her responsibilities of citizenship. When any girl receives this conception and realizes that the problem is a real one for her, she will pray most earnestly for means of bettering the conditions which exist. With prayer will come a feeling of individual responsibility, then desire for more knowledge of brotherhood in the kingdom of God, for the obtaining of a Christian chance for all industrial workers.

The meetings should serve as a stimulant for further investigation, prayer and help. When this stimulant becomes effective in creating a sympathetic understanding between God's people and a ready co-operation, the aim of the meetings will have been completed.

PARDON US!

The Rotunda wishes to make a correction. The credit for the discovery of the "bosomfly" has gone to the wrong person. Agnes has a lawful right to the honor!

A certain student in school who had not heard from home for quite a while sent a postcard to her negligent parents with the following message: "Read Psalms 27:10."

Mary Nichols to Lois (who has just asked her the answer to one of the questions in the Ready Answer Test on Virginia): "Go ask Annie Alvis. She remembers things 'way back there."

A PAGE FROM THE DIARY OF A S. N. S. GIRLS' STOMACH.

This has been a terrible day! I wonder what she thinks I'm made of anyway. Instead of getting up at 7 o'clock, she waited until three minutes before the breakfast bell, got up, dressed, nearly rolled down the steps and just got inside the doors before they shut. By that time she was so nervous and upset that she said she didn't want anything to eat, and so I had to go without. I needed that roll and glass of milk, too. By the time she had come out of her 8:30 class she was sufficiently calmed down to realize that she was hungry, so in the five minutes between classes she had bought and dumped down on me a chocolate ice cream cone—only half melted and so cold it chilled me through and through.

After chapel nothing would do but she must visit the "Y" store and impose upon me cream puff and a Dill pickle—of all things I loathe it is a sour pickle! At 12:30 she went to the tea room and bought a cheese sandwich, which wouldn't have been so bad if she had not followed it with an Hershey bar and an orange—all good by themselves; but oh, the combination! And then she had the nerve to say she couldn't eat the "old dinner."

Well, since she had classes until 4:30 this afternoon she had to content herself with a few peanuts, which she found in her sweater pocket, and dribbled down on me one by one. But at 5 o'clock she went down town! O-o-oh! It gives me a pain now to think about it. After visiting Solomon's, the bakery and Hubbard's she came back to school just as the supper bell rang. Of course, she didn't have any desire for the rolls and potato salad, but sat up there and wondered why she was losing her appetite.

Well, the last straw came in the form of a chocolate stir, which she ordered to be sent up from Wade's at 9:45. I'll tell the world that was more than I would put up with, so that chocolate mess had a round trip ticket, for I sent it back.

Now she has brought me over to the infirmary, and says she's broken down from overwork. Can you beat that?

S. N. S. Soliloquy.

(With apologies to "Uncle Willy".)

To bob it, or not to bob it—that is the question;
Whether it is nobler in the mind
To let the scissors have their way
Or leave the locks behind.

To bob it, or not to bob it—that is the question;
Whether 'tis good for the head
To die—to sleep no more—
And wear kid curlers to bed!
The headaches and thousand cork-screw curls

The head is heir to—'tis a consummation
Devoutly to disdain.

Go scissors! Leave me to my slumbers!
Go hob the lion's mane!

—Sun Dial.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RCY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Did You Ever?

Speaking of clothes—
Did your girl
Ever wear one dress
Until, when anyone
Said, "Can a leopard change
His spots?"
You always thought
Of her
And voted "No?"
And then
One day
When you had been
Looking for her
And finally
You spotted that dress
And dashed up
And called her
"Sweetie"
Or something soft like that,
And when the dress
Turned around
Her room-mate said
"You fresh thing!"
Didn't you recall
Something about a wolf
In "sheep's clothing?"

—Utah Hum-Bug.

Snap To.

"Liza, what fo' yo' buy dat odder box of shoe blackin'?"
"Go on, nigga! dat ain't shoe blackin', dat's ma massage cream."—Awwgan.

If.

If flies are flies because they fly,
And fleas are fleas because they flee,
Then bees are bees because they be.
—Yale Record.

Mr. Lear had written on the back of a test paper: "Please try to write more legibly."
Next day: "Mr. Lear, what's this you wrote on my paper?"—Adapted!

It was Bertha Smith's day to get a question.

Mr. Lear: "Now, Miss Jones, what have you to say about this?"
Silence.

"Oh, I mean Miss Smith."
Laughter.

Miss Tupper: "Now, girls, is there any one who would like to get civies in? Mr.
Lear can take one more in his afternoon class."

Eleanor Webster: "I do."

Miss Tupper: "All right, Eleanor."

Ida Pruden: "I would, too."

Miss Tupper: "Well, he'll let you in, too.
Ida: because I begged him to."

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

PLAY BALL

FARMVILLE!

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

LET'S WIN

TO NIGHT!

Vol. 2. No. 15.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 3, 1922.

ANSWERS TO READY ANSWER TEST ON VIRGINIA.

Find your Rotunda for January 20th and check yourself up on your knowledge of Virginia and her history.

(1) Governor Berkley; (2) Patrick Henry; (3) Thomas Jefferson; (4) George Washington; (5) James Monroe; (6) Woodrow Wilson; (7) Capt. John Smith; (8) George Washington; (9) Thomas Jefferson; (10) James Ramsey; (11) Robt. E. Lee; (12) Thomas J. Jackson; (13) Patrick Henry; (14) Edgar Allen Poe; (15) Founder of Virginia; (16) Saving Smith's life; (17) Founder of William and Mary; (18) Opened western Virginia; (19) Declaration of Independence; (20) "Master builder of Constitution of Virginia"; (21) Freed colonies; (22) Advocated liberty in colonies; (23) Supplied Virginia with funds during Revolutionary War; (24) Father of U. S. Constitution; (25) Expounded the Constitution; (26) Monroe Doctrine; (27) President; (28) Commander of Confederate forces; (29) General in Confederate army; (30) Made map of ocean channels; (31) Invented the reaper; (32) Organized public school system; (33) Advocate of League of Nations; (34) Woodrow Wilson; (35) Thomas Nelson Page; (36) Carter Glass; (37) Hal D. Flood; (38) Senator Martin, etc.; (39) Thomas Jefferson; (40) "Lighthorse" Harry Lee; (41) George Washington; (42) James Madison; (43) Patrick Henry; (44) Lester; (45) Westmoreland Davis; (46) E. L. Trinkle; (47) Poe; (48) Tabb or James Barron Hope; (49) Poe; (50) Thomas N. Page; (51) Thomas Jefferson, etc.; (52) First colony; (53) First capitol; (54) Surrender of Cornwallis; (55) Capitol of Virginia and Confederacy; (56) Lee's surrender; (57) Washington; (58) George Mason; (59) Washington's birthplace; (60) Thomas Jefferson; (61) Lee; (62) Beginning of spirit of democracy; (63) Gave colonists a new determination to develop resources; (64) First legislative body; (65) Caused open opposition against England; (66) First declaration of States' rights; (67) Gave Virginia laws precedence over King's authority; (68) One of most notable campaigns in world's history; (69) Checked the Federal's approach to Richmond by the James River; (70) Natural Bridge; (71) Luray Cave; (72) James; (73) Appomattox; (74) Potomac; (75) Susquehanna; (76) Rappahannock; (77) Richmond; (78) Norfolk; (79) Roanoke; (80) Lynchburg; (81) Danville; (82) One hundred; (83) Ten; (84) Virginia asked Charles I. to come and be her king; (85) Many States formed from Virginia; (86) More presidents have been Virginians; (87) First families of Virginia; (88) Eastern Virginia which slopes to the sea; (89) Shenandoah Valley between Blue Ridge and Alleghanies; (90) Foothills of Virginia; (91) Peninsular separated from Virginia by Chesapeake Bay; (91) North of Richmond; (92) Between Rappahannock and Potomac rivers; (93) University of Virginia at Charlottesville, both; (94) William and Mary at Williamsburg, both; (95) V. P. I. at Blacksburg, both; (96) V. M. I., Lexington, men; (97) Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg; (98) Washington and Lee University at Lexington, men; (99) University of Richmond, both; (100) State Normal School at Farmville, women.

STUDENT COMMITTEE GIVES SURPRISE PARTY.

On Wednesday afternoon, January 25th, a special meeting of the Student Committee was called "for the purpose of investigating the reported misconduct of two of the committee members." Misses Bess Rush and Nancy Crisman, who were planning to "elope" the following Friday.

After fixing what was considered a just punishment they were asked to come to the Association Room and see how well prepared they were for the intricacies of life, by first untangling the web of strings, arranged in the room with numerous presents attached. These suggestive hints were for the two January graduates who were faring forth into the profession of old maids.

After playing games and singing, everybody went to the Tea Room for supper. This was the last meeting for old Bess and Nancy and 'tis well that their last contained these added attractions to tuck away in their memories. The party was a complete surprise to them, much to the satisfaction of the rest of the committee.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

On the 10th of December the 26th chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, an honor society, was organized at V. P. I. Members of the faculty have already been elected to membership. The student members will be elected later in the year.

Dr. H. M. Dewey, of Emory College, is planning a tour of the European countries next summer. Students and alumni of the college will form the party.

Thomas Nelson Page, who is an alumnus of Washington and Lee University, delivered the founder's day address there this year. The subject of his address was "The Real Education."

At Flood College a unanimous vote of the students has decided that no student at that college shall be permitted to smoke.

JOKES WANTED!

Since our Joke Editor left us last week we find ourselves in dire need of good jokes. If you know any, please drop them in the Rotunda office.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

On Saturday, January 21st, the Normal School Glee Club entertained the Hampden-Sidney Glee Club. After the supper given in the tea room the musicians adjourned to the association room where the rest of the evening was pleasantly spent in song and play. This entertainment was only one of a number of like courtesies that have been exchanged between the two schools this session. At earlier dates the Ministerial and Student Volunteer Bands of the two institutions have had social and religious meetings together both at H. S. and Farmville, and the Y. M. C. A. reception at H. S. and joint entertainment given by the two glee clubs in the auditorium earlier in the fall mark a feeling of real fellowship between the two schools. May the boys of garnet and gray and girls of the blue and white continue to co-operate in things worth while.

The tea room continues to be the scene of gay festivities. Aside from the usual trade Mrs. Smith was kept busy arranging for some four or five parties last week.

The Zeta Taus entertained with a party in the association room Thursday evening in honor of Bess Rush and Nancy Crisman, two of the January graduates. Light refreshments were served and all present had a good time.

Misses Frances Gannaway and Mary Stephenson were recent visitors to their Alma Mater.

Those who don't believe that winter is the time for fun ask the snow-ballers, the girls who went skating with Mr. Lear and those who had snow cream parties. They know!

MASQUERADE DANCE IN GYMNASIUM.

A masquerade dance was given last Saturday night in the "gym". The costumes were attractive and representative of all countries, climes, ages and conditions. The "Shiels", Colonial Dames, Mother Goose characters, clowns and victrola records all played and danced together in the best of spirits.

The admission fee was fifteen cents, and punch, sandwiches, confetti and balloons were sold between dances. The proceeds go to the Student Building Fund. Music for the dance was furnished by the Hampden-Sidney Novelty Orchestra and the "pop" they supplied made the dance a huge success.

He: "Are you cold."

She: "No, thank you."

—Showme.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS
News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

We lost a game, but we have gained something of greater value. The school that only allows its spirit to rise with victory has nothing of which to be proud. It is the side that knows how to accept defeat without discouragement, that knows how to be a loser this time but is determined to be victorious in the future that wins out in the end. A school that can welcome home a defeated team with the same enthusiasm it displayed when it sent them off, has the real school spirit.

We, at S. N. S., may not have reached this ideal of spirit, but the experience of last week showed us not far from it. Team, we stood behind you straight through. We screamed you off on Thursday, showered you with telegrams, rooted for you here on Friday during the game and cheered your return on Saturday. We know you did your best and we've no kick coming. We expect victory in the future, but if we don't get it we can at least be good losers and be ready to "up and at 'em" again. With a grin-and-bear and buckle-down-to-it attitude let us prove that Farmville spirit will never die!

CONCERNING FIRE DRILLS.

During the excitement caused by the conflagration of our neighboring schools in Blackstone, a long thrashed over question was again resurrected and re-debated. That period of excitement—of almost nervous expectation, was hardly the psychological moment to solve the question as to whether or not we should have fire drills in school. More than likely if they had been begun at that time a stampede would have been the result of the first alarm, rather than a drill. Now, however, since time has shown that dreams don't always come true and that our "old normal school" is as safe as ever, we are in a saner frame of mind to consider plans for the future.

We have no desire to stir up sentiment against the existing order of things, neither shall we display a spirit of rebellion and unwise dissention if our wishes cannot be carried out in this matter. We believe that those in authority have their reasons for the decisions they make and generally "know best".

However, the student body almost unanimously, it appears, would vote to have fire drills if they were forthcoming. The recent excitement only added conviction and enthusiasm to existing opinions. The students feel that fire drills are wise provisions for every large boarding school and that they can be practically carried out, since the great majority of colleges have them. To have fire drills does not mean that we must always be expecting a fire, but it does mean that should a fire start, we would be prepared to meet it sanely. At any rate the drill itself could do no harm.

The big social event of last Friday night was the informal dance given by the Argus Literary Society. At 8:30 the members of the society and Mr. Lear, the faculty guest of honor, assembled in the drawing room which was beautifully decorated with ferns and the Argus colors, green and gray. The dance program was one of winter dances divided into two parts each, lasting about an hour. During the dance, fruit punch was served; and between the two parts of the dancing, a delightful supper was served in the tea room.

The Cunningham Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday, January 23rd. The subject for study was China. After the roll call and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Ann Meredith, the chairman of the committee leading the study, gave a brief survey of the history of China. Other members of the committee brought forth interesting facts about the aid America has given that country and about the unbinding of Chinese women's feet.

"And so this is the advantage of being a twin!" quoth Mary as she jumped into Martha's bed.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear
207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

IN THE READING ROOM.

In addition to our Y. W. C. A. bulletin boards in the hall, we have a bulletin board and a table of magazines in the reading room. There, right beside the table is a bookcase of very fine books—our Y. W. C. A. bookcase. How many of us ever stop to read these magazines and books, or even know about them, and how many of us ever glance at the bulletin boards? The next time you go into the reading room, go over to the Y. W. C. A. table and see what is there. The Publicity Committee of our Y. W. C. A. attends to these bulletin boards and orders these magazines for us to read. They are good magazines, too. We have denominational ones where a girl may find out what her church is doing and thinking; we have the Association Monthly, and Asia, which we have recently begun to take and which is a magazine well worth the time we might spend with it; well, just go over and see them all. And the next time you want to take a book out to read, try one from the Y. W. C. A. shelf.

JUST OVER THE HILL.

Just over the hill awaits for you
The fortune you may gain;
But you must work to free the bonds
And cast off error's chain.

You can't sit down and fret and frown,
Nor smile and just keep still
And hope to gain the fortune rare,
That's just across the hill.

It's grit, plain grit, and smiles that win,
That'll carry you cross the hill,
Then it's grit, plain grit that keeps you
there,
When others are sitting still.

M. G.

SEND IT IN.

If you have a bit of news,
Send it in;
Or a joke that will amuse,
Send it in.
A story that is true,
An incident that is new,
We want to hear from you—
Send it in.

Will your story make us laugh?
Send it in.
Never mind about the style,
If your story is worth while
And may help, or cause a smile;
Send it in.

Farmville vs. Fredericksburg.

The first varsity game of the season was played at Fredericksburg on January 27th with a final score of 40 to 17 in favor of Fredericksburg. The team returned with a greater spirit of determination than ever before to beat Harrisonburg on February 3rd. Come on team, we are with you!

SNOW.

Snow is winter's own, and nature's, too. Never by man has it been duplicated. There is rain in summer, in fall, in winter, in spring—and man has his shower bath. Ice, he has whenever he pleases, but who other than God has manufactured snow? Its soft, fleecy wetness is a characteristic possessed by nothing in the earth or the waters under the earth, only in the clouds that ride in the blue ether above us. Its purity and whiteness are unsurpassed, even by the clouds, for they are wholly gray, or tinged with gray and sometimes colors, never possessing in its entirety the whiteness of the snow.

On a cold morning when the air is filled with feathery, white flakes sifted from the clouds above, we poor humans, standing at our windows, hold our breath in wonder at the beauty of it, the infinite majesty of it as it falls slowly, silently, steadily, from the grayness overhead to the waiting earth. We love it, when it comes new from the skies, as we love nothing else. It typifies purity, beauty, gentleness, tenderness, and all the finer qualities of man's nature.

Lightly falls the snow,
And gently;
Covering all places low
And needy;
Covering all places high
And mighty.
Softly it falls to the earth
From heaven,
As softly as the mercy
Of God's falls,
And as kindly.
Creeping into nooks where
The rain comes never;
Touching all places lightly
With fingers caressing;
And tenderly overcoming ugliness
With purity and beauty.

ANNE S. MEREDITH.

Biology Instructor: "What plants flourish best in excessively hot weather?"
Dozing Student: "Ice plants."—Virginia Reel.

Two little worms were digging away. They were digging in dead earnest. Poor Ernest!
—Purple Cow.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO. Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO., Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Youthful Satire.

Kitty, aged six, had been naughty and her father had had to administer vigorous correction before going to business.

That an impression had been made was apparent when, on his return from business in the evening, Kitty called upstairs with frigid politeness: "Mother, your husband's home."—Exchange.

An Equation in Love.

x = Boy.
y = Girl.
z = Chaperon.
x + y + z = Misery.
x + y -- z = Bliss.
--Dumb-bell.

"What is the difference between a sculptor and a hair dresser?"

"The hair dresser curls up and dyes, and the sculptor makes faces and busts!"—Exchange.

Sniff!

"Snot"

"Sneagle"

"Snoteagle, snowl."

"Sneither, snostrich."

—Burr.

Teacher in sixth grade of training school: "What was the greatest mistake of Queen Elizabeth's reign?"

Jane Hunt: "She never got married!"

I begged Annette to share my lot

And led the preacher tie the knot.

"No knot," replied the sweet coquette.

But quickly added: "No, not yet."

—Virginia Reel.

First Prof: "Well, how are your examinations?"

Second Prof: "A complete success, everybody flunked."—Dirge.

Let your discontents be your own secrets.

When happiness hangs by a hair, should a girl have it bobbed?

SCHOOL DIRECTORY.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Lily Thornhill President
Orey Helm Vice-President
Bess Rush Secretary
Pauline Timberlake Treasurer

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose

$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

FARMVILLE
SPIRIT.
WILL NEVER DIE !

THE ROTUNDA

AND IT'S
THE SPIRIT
THAT COUNTS.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 16.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 17, 1922.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Dr. Jarman attended a banquet given by the Lynchburg alumnae chapter on February 10. The chapter presented Dr. Jarman with six hundred dollars in subscriptions for the Student Building Fund.

Mrs. Margaret Cukin Banning, author of Half Loaves, has been the guest of her sister, Miss Mabel L. Cukin, Director of the Kindergarten Department of the Training School.

Mr. Lear is conducting a class in Parliamentary Law which meets on Wednesday at 5:30 o'clock. Anyone interested in the subject may attend the class.

The Dramatic Club is at work on three one act plays which will be presented on March 3.

The Varsity Squad is practicing hard, so that they can beat Fredericksburg on February 24.

A number of our students are attending the Intermediate Dances at Hampden-Sidney this week end.

About thirty dollars were cleared on the masquerade dance given in the gymnasium several weeks ago. This money goes to the Student Building Fund.

The Varsity Squad was very splendidly entertained by the faculty in the Tea Room on last Tuesday night.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The Devereux Players presented "Ghosts" on February 4th to a large audience at R. M. W. C. Zinita Graf as Mrs. Alving seems to have captured the audience from the account given in the Sun Dial. "She is an actress of fine subtlety and dramatic intensity which made every changing emotion a searing flame."

After the performance the audience was charmed by Zinita Graf herself as she gave them an interesting account of the origin and history of the Devereux Company.

Marshal Foch has presented Virginia Polytechnic Institute with his photograph. It bears in autograph the following: "A l'Ecole Polytechnique de Virginia.

F. Foch."
—Virginia Tech.

NEW PI KAPPA OMEGA MEMBERS ELECTED.

Last Friday morning at chapel Dr. Jarman announced that the following students and alumnae had been elected to the membership of the Phi Kappa Omega Society: Students: Emily Calcott, Kitty Cole, Helen Craddock and Elizabeth Finch. Alumnae: Miss Mary Clay Hiner and Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro.

EX-GOVERNOR STUART AT S. N. S.

At chapel last Friday the students of S. N. S. were given the opportunity of meeting Ex-Governor Stuart. In presenting him Dr. Jarman stated that he knew no man who had given more time and service to his State and country as had this Ex-Governor.

Ex-Governor Stuart talked of his travels in South America, and he took the student body with him through the Panama Canal, down the Pacific coast of South America, across the Andes through several states and then back to Brazil. He told also many interesting things of the women in the country.

TO OUR READERS!

We presume many of you are wondering why you received no ROTUNDA last Friday, February 10th, and therefore take this means of explaining:

The copy for each issue of the ROTUNDA is delivered to the printers here in Farmville who in turn send it to Richmond where it is set up in type on a linotype machine by a firm which does this class of work exclusively for the printing trade. After the material has been set up and corrected, the "metal" or type is then sent to the printers there, who place it in the "form," print the papers and furnish us with the finished product.

The firm in Richmond which did the linotype work was located on the second floor of the Clyde W. Saunders Printing Co., immediately in the rear of the ill-fated Lexington Hotel which was totally destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning February 7th, and which also caused the complete destruction of the Saunders printing establishment referred to.

The copy for last week's issue of the ROTUNDA had reached the linotype office by special delivery only a few hours before the fire and was of course entirely consumed in that awful holocaust which caused such a heavy loss in human life and property.

—The Editor.

Lola: Mary, that's a pretty ring you are wearing. It is an heirloom?
Mary Gray: No, it's an aquamarine.

PROGRAM FOR NORMAL SCHOOL DAY.

The following is a tentative program which has been arranged for the celebration of Normal School Day. The date will be announced later and further details of the program worked out.

6:45—Rising Bell.

7:15—Singing through hall "Old Normal School."

7:30—Breakfast.

8:00—Clean rooms thoroughly and return all borrowed property. Committee decorates building.

9:30—March in town, flying school colors and singing.

10:30—Exercises in the auditorium. Songs, stunts and other features.

1:15—Dinner.

2:30—Joint Open Program of Literary Societies.

4:30—Basket Ball game between Third Prop. and Faculty.

6:00—Supper.

6:30—Special prayer services.

8:30—Meeting in auditorium. School songs, school creed read and an address by an out-of-town speaker.

FROM LAST WEEK'S ISSUE.

For the benefit of alumnae and friends we print in brief the following items which were to have appeared in the issue which was destroyed in the fire.

The Harrisonburg-Farmville game which was played in the Farmville Armory on February 3, was one of the hardest fought and most exciting games ever played by either team. The score at the end of the third quarter was 25 to 11 in favor of the home team and victory seemed certain. During the last quarter Harrisonburg gained on the average of a goal a minute and the final score was 27 to 25 in favor of the visitors.

The school was very fortunate in having as its visitor Mrs. K. W. Eddy, who spoke at chapel and at prayers on February 2. Mrs. Eddy has travelled widely in the Far East and understands the oriental women perhaps as do few Americans.

The following students will attend the Student Volunteer Conference which is to be held in Charlottesville on February 17-19: Nell Jones, Arianna Amonette, Katherine Brooking, Edna Blanton, Grace Smith, Agnes McDuffy, Omara Daniels, Ellen Carlson, Mary Mangin, Susie Scott, Susie Floyd, Marian King, Ruth McKelway, Marian Camper, Julia Cane and Nettie McDuffy.

Helen Craddock was recently elected as secretary of the Student Government Committee to fill the vacancy left by Bess Rusk who graduated in January.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
Lee State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeck
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

"It pays better to mind trains than to train minds."

A tart temper never mellows with age, and a sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use.

Rip Van Winkle.

Dr. Jarman says he'd rather have friends than a bank account.

"Experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes."

"In this world there are two tragedies.
One is not getting what one wants and the other is getting it."

Often we hear it said that our school days are spent in preparation for life. It is true that we attend college in order to equip ourselves for more efficient living, and surely this is an important aim of education. But let us not forget that our school life is a part of life itself. It is not to be supposed that this period is only a prelude to real living which we will experience only after we have left the campus. Many of the problems which we must meet today are just as real and just as important in our lives as the problems we will be called upon to solve in later years, and the way we meet our today's will determine how we shall meet our tomorrows. This thought is important, since it does away with the excuse sometimes used, that one may do such and such a thing at school which would not be correct after graduation. There is no more excuse for the college girl to shirk responsibility than for the business woman. Because she is still a school girl is no reason for her to dress freakishly, talk extravagantly, behave conspicuously or appear loud and ill-mannered. We do not begin life with a clean sheet when we leave the protecting care of our Alma Mater, because we are only continuing that same life which we have been living during school days.

Each one of us wishes to make a success of this great business called Life. Because we wish to be successful in the future, we invest a certain number of years in acquiring an education and we have every reason to hope for large returns. But the investment itself is part of the business, isn't it?
If the investment fails our final success is hazarded.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

A very interesting program was given by the Argus Literary Society February 7, at the regular weekly meeting. The following being the first program since the election of the new officers. Life of Poe by Mary Maupin. "Descent in the Maelstrom," by Flem-entine Pierce. The reading of the poem
"Israfel," by Anne Terrell. A piano solo by Mildred Parker.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Sue Bryant was married in November to Mr. Thomas Woodward of Suffolk.

Recently Miss Catherine Hill, principal of Cumberland High School, and Miss Margaret Vaughan, of the faculty, accompanied the class in Social Problems on a visit of observation and inspection of the State Farm in Goochland county. A trip to the State Penitentiary came next where the superintendent arranged a tour through the prison, after which the party called at the Governor's Mansion and were entertained at tea.

Mrs. Walter Scott, nee Miss Hattie Morton of the class of 1893, was buried at Farmville, Feb. 11, 1922.

SEND IT IN.

If you have a bit of news,
Send it in;
Or a joke that will amuse,
Send it in.
A story that is true,
An incident that is new,
We want to hear from you—
Send it in.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Noted Woman Speaker Coming to America.

Miss Maud A. Royden, the first woman to preach in the City Temple in London and one of the best known women in England, is to visit this country. Miss Royden will arrive next spring to be the principal speaker at the Young Women's Christian Association Convention in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

No woman of today exercises a more profound religious influence upon her generation than Miss Royden, it has been said. While opposed to militant methods for ten years Miss Royden was one of the foremost figures in the struggle for political expression by women in England. That she was not the first woman to sit in Parliament was a great disappointment to many of her admirers who coveted this recognition of her political activities.

During the war her appointment as pulpit associate to the Reverend Joseph Fort Newton, who at that time occupied the City Temple pulpit in London, stirred the Church of England. Because of her sex is has closed its doors to her. Slight and frail of stature, rarely raising her voice above a conversational tone, Miss Royden preaches to large congregations with remarkable success. Upon the Reverend Newton's return to America she established Fellowship Services for all classes and creeds in Guild House, Edeleston Square.

Born to wealth and social position as the daughter of Sir Thomas Royden, formerly Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Miss Royden early turned to devote her life to social problems. A woman of rare intellectual gifts and power, Miss Royden first gained recognition as an Oxford University extension lecturer.

TO THE ROTUNDA.

15 Morningside Drive, New York City.
February 7, 1922.

The Rotunda,
State Normal School,
Farmville, Va.
Dear Rotunda:

You nearly always make me homesick, but in the issue of February 3 of the present year you almost forced me to buy a ticket to Farmville in spite of the violent ebb in my finances. I just paid tuition for the second semester here at Columbia. The particular cause or causes of all the trouble were found in the third column of the first page—one item referred to "skating with Mr. Lear," and the other gave detailed description of a "masquerade dance given last Saturday night in the gym," with "punch, sandwiches, confetti, and balloons." How natural and attractive all this seemed!

Your next issue is eagerly awaited, because I want to see the results of the game with Harrisonburg. It may be a little late to wish you luck in that game, so I will just say that I know the team played well.

With best wishes to everything and everybody at S. N. S.

Very sincerely,

M. B. Coyner.

FROM ONE NORMAL SCHOOL GIRL TO ANOTHER.

As I think over the time spent here at school it seems to me we have some very wonderful opportunities for spiritual growth. So many people who really know God our Father, Jesus our Friend and Elder Brother, come into our life during the troubles here at school, and help us to realize and know the adequacy of God. Besides there and outside speakers who talk to us in chapel and at prayers, we have some who come specially to help us to know God better. Such a one was Dr. Knight who was with us last year. I believe we were all brought a little nearer to our Father and our Elder Brother because of his talks on Christian Fundamentals.

Can we see that the Bible is a vital factor in our life? The Bible is a library of books written by men who knew God perhaps as no other men of their time did know him. In the New Testament we have a very vivid picture of the life of Jesus and the effect of His life upon the people He lived among and the people who came after Him. Only as I come to know God, and Christ more intimately is a very great need and longing within me satisfied. And what is true of me is true of us all. Because although we may never have realized it there is an incompleteness in us which can only be filled by our Father. Since we are so young some of us are groping blindly trying to let the excitements of our everyday lives fill this place, but there are times when we all realize the lack, the incompleteness. I have had the privilege of coming closely in contact with one or two people who have helped me to know the real Father, God from the study of His Word. Not only do I rejoice at having had these friends come in my life but because they have given me a more complete life and because I realize that as a teacher I must be able to help those whose minds I will have under my control know the real God. Unless I know Him and His Word in the most definite and living way I can not help them. Since to know God and glorify Him is really the greatest part of our life, the real purpose for which we have been created it is more important that this side of my life or my mind be trained to the fullest degree so that I may not go empty handed to those young lives who will be in my keeping. They will be looking to you and to me as the little starving ones of Armenia for the greatest of all things of life, will we be able to help them, supply their needs, or will we send them away unsatisfied?

We are having these opportunities each day for developing ourselves, socially, men-

Concluded on last page.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RGY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,

2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

FROM ONE NORMAL SCHOOL GIRL, &c tally and spiritually. The responsibility is already ours. We must in order to fulfill in even a small way the purpose for which we were created take advantage of these opportunities.

JOKES.

Some brilliant answers from the Faculty when questioned by the pupils:

"We'll discuss that later."

"That's going too deeply into the subject."

"Now young ladies, I don't know—but look this way and I'll see if I can explain it."

"I'm afraid I do not understand your question."

"Well, um-m-m—-that's not in the book."

"Now you little question girl, keep your mouth shut."

"Now, that's getting too far away from the lesson."

"Well—uhun-um-um, we'll see."

"Go to the board and work it."

"Well, let's see if anyone in the class can answer it."

2nd Prof.: Do you know Poe's "Raven?"
1st Prof.: No, what's the matter with him?

Lila Newsome was explaining the meaning of a "quack doctor" to the second grade. One bright little girl waved her hand frantically saying: "O, I know, one who calls himself a doctor when he isn't like Dr. Tidyman."

Prof.: Name an instrument for conducting electricity."

Student (just awaking): "Why-er-r?"

Prof.: Good, and what measure of electricity do we use?

Student: The what, sir?

Prof.: "Very good sir. Your answers show you have studied."—Selected.

Marjorie (studying geography): Where are the Farao Islands?

Carrie: I don't know, but they must be in the Red Sea.

Seen on the board in Room D: "Tell me pussy willow, for I really want to know."

(Will the 10:45 music class copy this while waiting for me to come, C. E. M.)

WORLD OF WOE!

Come, World of Woe! Come out tonight.

Across the field and wood.

Take off your garb of sorrow sore.

And don a merry hood.

Why sorrow here when nature's woods

Show gladness and good will?

And, oh! the moon is shining too.

Yet only you are still.

Come! Join with nature and betray

Your wrongful, woeeful self,

And just forget the sober side

And be a merry elf.

With "Gladness," "Peace" and "Happy Thoughts"

We'll glide across the sphere

And meet with "Joy" and all "Success",

For one entranced year.

M. L. G.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.
ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

BOOST

BOOSTERS

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 17.

Farmville, Virginia.

Feb. 24, 1922.

GLEE CLUB PRESENTS LOLLY-POP AND PEPPERMINT.

COURSE I GIRLS CELEBRATE KINDERGARTEN DAY.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The opera, "Lolly-Pop and Peppermint," which was given both Friday and Saturday nights, February 17th and 18th, once again brought Miss Munoz in the limelight, as it was her originality in the composition and her unceasing devotion in practice that made it the grand success it was. Although humorous, at times, it bordered on pathos, when little Mary Ann spoke in her appealing way.

The story dealt mainly with Miss Ruth, a young girl, and Mr. Dick, a young man, who both lived in a fashionable boarding house. Both were out of employment and discouraged with life. It was Mary Ann, the little scrub girl, who, during her conversation with Mr. Dick while cleaning the dining room, led him by her vivid imagination into her castle of dreams to candyland and finally paved the way to his success and happiness.

The part of little Mary Ann was played exceedingly well by Jane Hunt Martin. Her wonderful interpretation of the part appealed to the entire audience and made everyone love her.

Annabelle Treacle and Lilly Thornhill, who took the parts of Mr. Dick and Ruth, deserve some mention for the admirable way in which they played their roles.

The lightness of the opera was furnished by the Bon-Bon Girls, Candied Cherries, Chocolate Peppermints, Lime Drops and Sticks of Candy with their singing and dancing, accompanied by the light fantastic music of the orchestra.

The uniqueness of both evenings culminated when Lolly-Pop came out with his large basket of sweets and assisted by the cook's attendants, distributed them among the audience.

The characters in the opera were as follows:

Nell	Julia Alexander
Helen	Mary Jefferson
Mr. Smith	Roberta Hodgkins
Mr. Jones	Emily Calcott
Mrs. Bates	Evelyn Clayton
Fannie (her daughter)	Kathleen Morgan
Mrs. Selby	Margaret Shackelford
Mrs. Moore	Rebecca Dedmond
Dorothy (her child)	Dorothy McNamee
Marie, (a waitress)	Margaret Atwell
Annie, another waitress)	Elizabeth Finch
Ruth	Lilly Thornhill
Mr. Dick	Annabelle Treacle
Mary Ann	Jane Hunt Martin
The Lady of Candyland	Ethel Etheridge
The Gentleman of Candyland	Annette Wilson
The Cook	Evelyn Barnes
The Lemon	Margaret Hubbard
The Nut	Mildred Parker
The Pickle	Elizabeth Crute
Lolly-Pop	Jane Cobb
Peppermint	Etta Belle Walker
	G. H. B.

On Tuesday afternoon the Course I Seniors entertained the Course I Juniors with a most delightful party given in the kindergarten room. The Juniors were requested to come dressed as new kindergarten children, while the Seniors played the role of teachers. The entire daily program of the kindergarten was gone through with, amid shouts of laughter from the very responsive new pupils. The lunch period seemed the one to be most thoroughly enjoyed by all. Quite unlike a real kindergarten day the children stayed until it was dark and even then it was very hard to say good-bye.

THE VIRGINIAN FOR THE ALUMNA.

My! What an annual the Senior Class is planning for this year! Never was an edition of The Virginian so talked of, worked over and promised to reach so near to what an annual should be as ours of 1922. It is with great pleasure that we look forward to its actual publication, and the Seniors, Juniors and all the alumnae will see just how well grounded our brightest expectations have been. How the alumnae, especially, will enjoy it! Of course, having been away from school so long they have pretty nearly lost track of our school activities, interests and organizations, and the reflection of all these phases of our school life in The Virginian will be of great interest to them. They will recall their school days at old S. N. S. and what comparisons and contrasts they will make. To many the annual will be of more interest than others on account of their friends or relatives who are graduating this year; but don't they just know they couldn't do without it, anyhow? Certainly, they do, and their goal for 1922 will be "One Hundred Per Cent of the Alumnae for The Virginian." Just see if it isn't!

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

Plans are under way for the V. P. I. Golden Jubilee, May 28th-30th. Many encouraging letters have been received from alumnae announcing their intentions to be present.

Randolph-Macon College has worked out a plan to raise funds for the Near East Relief. The idea is to render a program of declamation, orations, solos, quartets, etc., in various schools of the country and to use the proceeds in relief work.

Mrs. Katherine Eddy has been the guest of Randolph-Macon Woman's College. She spoke at the Y. W. C. A. meeting on the topic, The Optimist's and Pessimist's View of the World.

Good policy for a teacher: "Remember it is not what we teach, but whom we teach that is important."—J. M. G.

Dr. Jarman has been elected president of the Virginia Association of Women's Colleges to succeed Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary College.

The Junior Class will entertain the Senior Class at a reception to be given February 25th.

The second match game with Fredericksburg will be played at Farmville, February 24th.

A large delegation from the State Normal School attended the Student Volunteer Conference at Charlottesville, Va.

WINTER.

Once again King Winter, with nature as his canvas and the elements for paints, has produced a picture—a picture that in beauty surpassed anything he ever did before. But under its glistening beauty lies the ruthlessness of winter that destroys as carelessly as it beautifies.

"Surely Spring is on her way," was the message brought by the warm south winds. Daffodils, crocuses, and hyacinths, that had been peeping at the cold, grey skies, suddenly quickened their growth to see who could first put forth a blossom. Even the buds on the trees, taking heart, began to swell. In the midst of this Winter laughed, "You foolish plants," he said, "do you think that I am gone so soon? Do you not remember that the Ground Hog saw his shadow and that time belongs to me until the middle of March? I will show gentle Spring that she may not usurp my throne."

Warm rains were falling but from the north he summoned his helpers and in the night each tree, shrub, plant, and man-strewn wire was given a glistening coat to wear. Although very beautiful, the burden was more than some of them could bear. Groaning and shrieking great limbs crashed to the ground. Wires were snapped in twain and with the setting of the sun, man was left without even his own light. Looking down upon his work in the darkness, Winter said: "It is not enough." Then he called the snow fairies, and over the shining ice they spread a soft, white covering. When morning brought the sun, he, in glory, "shone upon a world transformed." Each small twig glistened and sparkled, for Winter had been lavish with diamonds. But the trees, shorn of their proudest limbs, stood with heads, once haughty, now humbled and low—bent and broken things. The earth, in cold, hard, whiteness clothed, cast back the rays of the sun.

"Now, O Spring! O, Gentle Spring!" challenged King Winter, "can you perform a miracle so wonderful? Can you with this dead, drab-colored earth create anything so beautiful as this shining, splendid world of mine?" In the soft blue of the skies, in the warm beams of the sun, Spring sent back her answer: "Yes. O Winter! you have killed and destroyed, I

Concluded on last page.

THE ROTUNDA

Member, Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editors-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Louis Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeck
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchanges Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Post Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

SCHOOL SPIRIT.

Spirit! Just one short word, but oh, what a difference it makes in every school! What a change is wrought in the life of each individual if that vital, intangible something known as spirit is missing. It is spirit that makes a school what it is, that allows those within its walls to enjoy a happy, busy, interesting life rather than a humdrum, monotonous existence. Oftentimes, however, that spirit which so beautifully blossoms forth during close games and exciting contests fades away and vanishes during periods of comparative calm. This fact is sadly to be lamented and steps must be speedily taken to mend this appalling rent which has so suddenly appeared. Why can't we in our own school make everyday life itself a game and keep alive and flourishing that spirit which is near and dear to the heart of every S. N. S. girl; and take as our motto and guide during this task those words which we will strive to make mean just as much as they say, "Farmville spirit will never die!"

DOROTHY LANGSLOW.

UNCLE SAM HAS CAUSE TO SMILE.

We sometimes wonder if Uncle Sam does not enjoy many a smile as he delivers mail addressed as some of the letters that come to S. N. S. are addressed. Also at times we marvel at his shrewdness in deciphering certain hieroglyphics and we have no doubt that at times his wit is taxed to the limit.

Sometimes the address, though unusual, clearly indicates the destination; for example, one correspondent, putting his own interpretation upon the name of the school sent his letter to

Miss Blank,
School for Normal Girls.

Another, having been informed that degrees are conferred here, and wishing to give honor where honor is due, addressed his letter—

Miss Blank, S. N. S.,
Farmville, Va.

A Richmond department store clerk must have given considerable thought to evoking 5 North 5th St. from the customer's address of S. N. S.

It is a gratification that this gem was not lost in mid-ocean. Prof. Em. Mougin, Roanne, France, wrote—

To my dear Colleagues, President and Teachers of Mathematics,
State female Normal School,
Farmville.

Estats Unis. Virg.

TONGUE TWISTERS.

Do you always say what you intend to say? If you are sure that you have perfect control of your speech prove it to your neighbor by reading correctly the following tongue twisters—they're just the same old ones, but difficult nevertheless:

If she sells sea shells, what sort of shells shall he sell?

Theophalus Thistle, the successful thistle-sifter, in sifting asievefull of unsifted thistles thrust three thousand thistles through the thick of his thumb. Therefore be ye careful that ye in siftinga sievefull of unsifted thistles thrust not three thousand thistles through the thick of your thumb.

Two lovers were sitting side by side by the side of the sunny seaside; he sighed and she sighed and they both sighed, sitting side by side by the side of the sunny seaside.

I saw Esau kissing Kate
The fact is we all three saw.
I saw Es au,
He saw me,
She saw I saw Esau.

Or try and read rapidly this "Modern Hiawatha."

He killed the noble mudjokivis,
Of the skin he made him mittens,
Made them with the fur side inside,
Made them with the skin side outside.
He, to get the warm side inside,
Put the inside skin side outside;
He, to get the cold side outside,
Put the warm side fur side inside.
That's why he put the fur side inside,
Why he put the skin side outside,
Why he turned them inside outside.

They never met but once,
They'll never meet again;
For she was a simple Jersey cow
And he was a railroad train.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

ODGEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

STUDENT DAY OF PRAYER.

Sunday, February 26th, is the Student Day of Prayer. Our association will observe this day through its services.

VALENTINE PARTY.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet gave a most delightful valentine surprise party in the tea room at 7:15 Tuesday evening, February 14th, in honor of Miss Margaret Steele, the general secretary of our association.

PARTY FOR NEW GIRLS.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet, with the help of the social committee, will give a party to the new students Saturday afternoon, February 25th, from 4:30 to 6 o'clock, in the association room.

A LETTER FROM IOWA.

Earlier this session the Rotunda welcomed a letter from Mrs. Brettnall, which it printed in its columns. The following is a second letter, received by one of the students and delivered to us, which we feel sure will be of interest to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Brettnall. We, in Virginia, have been enjoying some of your real Iowa weather with fifteen inches of snow, Mrs. Brettnall.

January 14, 1922.

Dear S. N. S. Girls:—

The most welcome weekly visitor we have is the Rotunda. Evelyn seizes it first, Mr. B. obtains possession next, and then I have my turn. Even Curme enjoys the jokes.

For six weeks we have been having glorious weather for winter sports (although it is hard on the coal bin). About the same time walking was difficult. Santa Claus being a spirit, suffered no inconvenience, however three of the mail carriers broke their arms on the slippery pavements.

I wonder if you would be interested in a bit of original work my American history class has been doing. The class is composed of twenty-one young men and one young lady—that is besides myself. We decided to find out how many schools in local communities represented had pictures of real heroes other than those in the army. At Christmas time each student investigated. The result was startling! Out of one hundred and fifty pictures, ten only were subjects or persons not connected with war fame.

One group of the class wrote letters to noted persons, such as Upton Sinclair, Dr. Lee, of New York, and others, asking their opinion on the new method in history teaching, involving the study of the progress in all lines of human endeavor, instead of spending so much time on the destructive phase of life—study of war campaigns, etc. The letters received were very interesting and showed a strong tendency in favor of more constructive work.

Dr. Fullerton, of St. Louis, gave a series of addresses last week on "Life Problems." I have never heard any better presentation of the subject. Recently Professor Adriana, co-worker of Luther Burbank, gave an address here. It was almost as inspirational as hearing the real Burbank himself.

Our very best regards to all.

Sincerely yours,
LULU CURME BRETNALL.

LA VENDOR.

Long years ago I laid my dreams away
In lavender, so faintly sweetly it sickened me.

I wept, because I fain would linger for a while Beside the open casket there.

But I was young; and dreaming dreams too full of joy
For one whom grief had claimed her own,

I tried to smile—and snapped the cover shut,
And in a while arose from bended knees
And went away.

Today I found my chest of scented dreams
Where I had left it, high

In an old attic, near lost amid the piles
Of other half forgotten memories — — —
The beauty of my dreams had faded not at all.

But oh, alas, my soul had grown so small
And twisted that the dreams no longer fit,
But were too large and free — — —
I had not ~~had~~ my soul could change so much
In all eternity. — — —

I locked the attic fast, and crept away,
But in the drowsy air
The faint sweet smell of lavender
Lingers, and seem to mock and jeer.

P. T.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS.

I wonder if it's loaded. I'll look down the barrel and see.

Oh, listen that's the train whistle. Step on the accelerator and we'll try to get across before it comes.

They say these things can't possibly explode, no matter how much you throw them around.

I wonder if this rope will hold my weight.

It's no fun swimming around in here. I'm going out beyond the life lines.

Which one of these is the third rail anyway?

That firecracker must have gone out: I'll light it again.

There's only one way to manage a mule. Walk right up back of him and surprise him.

What a funny noise that snake makes. I think I'll step on him.

—Emory Wheel

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

WINTER

"O, Mary, there is a man down town selling stockings and they say he is going to set the school on fire."
 Mary: "Then, we will use the hose to put it out."

A. M.

PICK-UPS.

HEARD SEVERAL WEEKS AGO.

Bertha: "O, Mary, there is a man down town selling stockings and they say he is going to set the school on fire."

Mary: "Then, we will use the hose to put it out."

A second professional had just explained the meaning of "watering stock," when Mr. Lear asked, "Now, what do we mean by a pool, Miss B?"

Catherine: "Where you water the stock, I guess."

Otey: "I can't find a single pin. Where do they all go?"

Mamie: "It is hard to tell, because they are pointed in one direction and headed the other."

Mr. Lear, it is told, remarked one day in sociology class:

"But, Miss Mason, how can you girls fail to recognize the fact that your ancestors were monkeys?"

Miss Rice (in geography class): "You see, girls, it is the law of gravity that keeps us from falling off the earth even when we're upside down."

Intelligent Junior: "Well, but Miss Rice, how did people stay on before the law was passed?"

Miss S (to Charleen M.): "Don't you want to join in this relief movement?"

Charleen M. (in ecstasy): "Oh, I just can't wait to try it! Is it like Miss Barlow's dancing or is it more like toddling?"

Miss Tucker (in American history class): "Do any of you know just about how many people were in the 'Klu Klux Klan?'"

Very "Brite" Senior: "Yes'm, there were three people—Ku, Klux and Klan."

Miss Rice (illustrating ocean currents on blackboard): "Please lend me your eyes for just a minute, girls."

JOKES.

What is the difference between a normal school student and a feather bed?

One is hard up; the other is soft down.

Teacher: "What causes indigestion?"

Bright Boy: "Trying to fit a square meal in a round stomach."

Whatever trouble Adam had,

No man in days of yore

Could say when he had told a joke

"I've heard that one before."

—Burr.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Lyle Thornhill President
 Otey Helm Vice-President
 Ross Rush Secretary
 Pauline Timberlake Treasurer

FOURTH PROFESSIONAL

Mildred Dickinson President
 Carrie Spradlin Vice-President
 Mary Finch Secretary
 Annie Alvis Treasurer

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
 OPERA HOUSE,
 FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
 State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
 Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
 Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
 FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
 Best Workmanship and Leather Used
 FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
 AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
 FARMVILLE, VA.

FARMVILLE, VA. ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
 $2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

All the Girls

DRINK AT

PAUL T. BOGGS

Stationer

Fountain Drinks, Whitman's Candies, Fine Stationery, School Supplies.

FARMVILLE, VA.

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

DON'T MISS
THE
ONE ACT PLAYS.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

BASKET BALL!
Faculty vs. III Prof.
Normal School Day.

Vol. 2. No. 18.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 3, 1922.

PI KAPPA OMEGA SOCIETY ELECT HONORARY MEMBERS.

Nine alumnae have recently been elected as honorary members of the Pi Kappa Omega Society. These were chosen because of some distinguished service they have rendered in their particular field, thus reflecting credit upon the institution of which they are graduates. The society and their Alma Mater cordially welcome this opportunity of showing some recognition of the work they have done.

Mrs. L. W. Kline (Fannie T. Littleton, 1889), now of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., received her B. S. at Cornell University and was at one time professor of physics and chemistry in this institution. Mrs. Kline is the author of three investigations in chemistry, one of which was read before the Chemical Society of England. She was instrumental in organizing a Minnesota branch of the Association of College Alumnae, a Community Service League for girls, and a federation of all girls' clubs, and has served on committees for many educational and community interests.

Mrs. A. P. Montague (Lucy Boswell, 1889), of Lynchburg, Va., worked zealously and untiringly for the betterment of the elementary schools in the State. To this end she opposed, successfully for a while, the opening of the doors of the University of Virginia to women in order that money might go to the children in the elementary schools. Mrs. Montague has given unsparingly of her time and money to her Alma Mater, inaugurating among the alumnae some important movements.

Mrs. S. J. Barnett (Lelia Jefferson Harvie, 1892), of Columbus, O., was once a member of the Mathematics Department in this institution. She received her degree from Cornell University and later assisted a Cornell professor in writing a mathematics text-book. She also assisted her husband in some research work in physics, and is herself the author of articles contributed to scientific journals. Mrs. Barnett has worked in the astronomical observatory and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

Miss Pauline Williamson (1906), of Richmond, Va., was once a supervisor in the training school of her Alma Mater. She received her B. S. at Teachers College, Columbia University. Miss Williamson was at one time a member of the faculty of Greensboro State Normal College, and is at present the city primary supervisor of Richmond. She is also the compiler of "The Iris."

Mrs. M. L. T. Davis, Jr. (Julia John-

Concluded on third page.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED BY JUNIORS.

On Saturday evening, February 25th, the annual reception was given by the Juniors to their upper classmen and the members of the faculty. All who were present are indebted to the Juniors for a most enjoyable evening.

After having been received by the Junior officers, the Junior men and presidents of the other classes, the guests were ushered by members of the Junior class to the auditorium, where they were entertained by a pantomime entitled "The Haunted Chest." It was the story of a ghost of a man who appeared from this haunted chest each year at the same time, the cause being that long ago a duel had been fought between a Spaniard and a Virginian over a Virginia girl, in which the Spaniard was whipped. Virginia Venable acted beautifully her part as a Colonial girl, while Frances Bargamin and Mary Friend played the parts of the Virginian and Spaniard. It was a very appropriate scene and was enjoyed by every one to the fullest extent.

Following this, delicious refreshments were served by girls attractively dressed in red, white and blue dresses. This carried out the George Washington idea on which the refreshments were also arranged. The refreshments consisted of red and white mints, ice cream and cake ornamented with cherries. These, with the hatchets, always brought to mind the name of Washington, "the Father of our country."

Was this all? No, another treat was still in store. Having been invited back to the reception hall, the Hampden-Sidney orchestra was found waiting to start the dance. Those who cared to dance found no excuse to hesitate, while those who preferred other entertainment were invited to the parlors, where games were being played. Thus the fun kept up until the bell called to a close a very pleasant evening.

TRAINING SCHOOL FACULTY ENTERTAINS.

The Training School faculty made George Washington's birthday a delightful one for the teaching seniors by an afternoon at home in the Training School. In the kindergarten room, which made a beautiful reception hall, the guests were received and entertained with music and dancing. Later in the afternoon they were invited to George Washington's dining-room, where refreshments were served from a beautifully and appropriately decorated table.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Dr. Tidyman has been away for the past week attending a meeting of the National Educational Association in Chicago.

Despite the bad weather, several girls from the school enjoyed the George Washington supper given at the Farmville Baptist Church February 23d.

A very interesting and instructive health picture was given in the Normal School auditorium, February 22d, under the auspices of the National Board of Health.

The basketball girls will journey to Harrisonburg this week, where they will play on March 3d. Let's send them off with some pep!

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Deitrich delightfully entertained the members of her Fourth Professional Geography class at her home.

At a recent meeting of the student body the change of time for the election of student officers, suggested by the Student Standards Committee, was presented and adopted. According to the new arrangement, the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association will be elected first, followed the next week by the officers of the Y. W. C. A., and the following week by the two editors, business and circulation managers of the Rotunda staff. The other members of the Student Government Committee, Y. W. C. A. cabinet and Rotunda staff will not be chosen until all the above elections have taken place. It is hoped that this plan will do away with the overlapping in elections between these organizations.

WITH THE COLLEGES.

Davidson will debate with Randolph-Macon at Peace Institute in Raleigh on March 3d.

Lynchburg College has elected a committee to plan an honor system for the college. This committee consists of three members from the senior class, two from the junior and one each from the sophomore and freshman classes.

The National Honorary Fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, has decided to hold its 1923 convention at Richmond.

Mr. Vachel Lindsay, one of America's foremost poets, is to visit Bethany College on March 14th to read and interpret his poetry to the students.

Nancy: "Miss Millican, wouldn't you hate to teach a lot of P. K. O.'s?"

Miss M.: "I don't mind the P. K. O.'s. It's the P. O. K.'s who worry me."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocoek
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

HOW WILL YOU VOTE?

As the time draws near for the election of student officers a grave responsibility comes to each and every member of the student body. How you, and you, and you decide to vote will determine to a large extent the success of the particular organization which the girls you elect will represent. How and in what spirit will you vote? Will you treat this matter lightly, waiting to decide what decision to make until asked to write your ballot, or will you give it careful and unprejudiced consideration?

Before we cast our final vote let us ask ourselves some such questions as the following:

Am I voting for this girl because she is my personal friend or because she is the girl for the position?

Am I voting for her because I know she would accept the position for the honor it represents, or because I know she is interested in it and desires to work?

Is such and such a girl the one for this position just because she is a "fine girl," or because she is especially fitted for this particular line of work?

Do I want to see so and so elected because of her capability or because I do not like the looks, or the dress, or the friends of the other candidate?

Am I voting against some one because of a personal grudge I have against her (which perhaps originated one night after light bell when she gave me a "call down") or for a perfectly fair and just reason?

If we honestly answer such questions as these, thus analyzing our own feelings in the matter, we will be in a position to meet our obligation squarely by casting a conscientious and unprejudiced ballot. It is only when we allow our broader vision to be obstructed by personal feelings, when we think in terms of ourselves and our friends about a matter which involves a much greater number, that we fail to make an honest decision, and do an injustice to ourselves and our school.

The staff wishes to thank the students who have so willingly assisted in the work on the Rotunda during the past few weeks.

We're glad to see that the literary geni have come out of hiding.

We hear that the III Professionals have begun to practice for the big match game with the faculty on Normal School day.

FREDERICKSBURG NORMAL WINS OVER FARMVILLE.

The Fredericksburg Normal basketball team defeated the Farmville girls on the home court Friday night, February 24th, by the score of 29-14. The Fredericksburg team started with a rush, scoring several points before the home girls got a chance at the goal.

Contrary to the usual order the game was played in halves rather than quarters, the score at the first half standing 23-6 in favor of the visitors.

The locals came back in the last half with a rush and held the visiting girls to only six points. From start to finish it was a hard fought game on both sides, the Fredericksburg girls coming nearer to defeat than they have during the season.

The game was largely attended and loyally supported by much peppy cheering.

FORGETTING.

Did you ever die, inside?
And feel your soul
Curl black around the edge—
Like leaves, when the flame
Kisses it too passionately?

* * * * *

Today I feel my soul
Stir deep within my heart,
And live again.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities
Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

Universal Day of Prayer for Students.

Each year, since its foundation over a quarter of a century ago, the World's Student Christian Federation has summoned the Christian Student Movements of the world and the leaders and members of the Christian Church to remember with special thanksgiving and intercession the moral and spiritual welfare of students the world over. This has been one of the principal sources of the growth and power of the Federation, which now embraces nearly 200,000 students and professors banded together in local Christian association or unions in over 2,500 universities, colleges and higher schools. In accordance with this vital custom, the General Committee of the Federation designated February 26, 1922, as a universal day of prayer for students, and called upon all who have at heart the spiritual life and service of students to unite in the observance of the day.

Realizing the needs of many students the world over, and the importance of prayer for all students, our Association observed this Student Day of Prayer with the following program:

Prayers, February 25th—Explanation of the World's Student Christian Federation, by Ellen Carlson.

Morning watch, February 26th—Prayers for All Students in Furthering the Kingdom of God, by Marjory Thompson.

Mission Band, February 26th—Conditions of Students in Africa, by Roberta Hodgkins.

Vesper service of silent prayer at the Methodist Church.

Hall prayers, from 10 to 10:15 P. M.—Our Opportunities as Students and What We Owe.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Clipping from the Richmond Times-Dispatch: Mrs. Alan Hart was the guest of honor at a tea given by Mrs. Raymond Long (Miss Harriet Paulett) at her home yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. The entire lower floor was decorated with baskets and vases of red roses. It was a lovely affair, of much interest to the young married set here.

A delightful subscription card party was given by the Farmville Alumnae Chapter at Miss Mary Jackson's home on Thursday, February 23d, and a very satisfactory sum added to the students' building fund.

Dr. Jarman visited Roanoke on February 18th and sang "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," at a Burns tea given by the local alumnae chapter to raise money for the students' building. A silver offering was received and fifty-seven dollars realized.

Recent alumnae visitors are Misses Mildred Morris, Barta Worrell, Pauline Williamson, Catherine Riddle, Pattie Garrett, Mabel Barnes, May Ellen Parker, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Josephine Gleaves, Janet Peek and Mrs. Edward Sandidge (Miss Vera Tignor).

Pi Kappa Omega Society

son, 1910), of Norfolk, Va., was at one time assistant in the Kindergarten Department of this school. She has received wide recognition as being the author of poems, and stories for children published in St. Nicholas and John Martin's Book.

Miss Mary A. Holt (1912), of Hampton, Va., won the third prize in an essay contest open to the normal schools of the world. As principal of the Phoebus School, 1919-1920, her organization work there is described in an article entitled "The Color Guard," in the American Red Cross Magazine (October, 1919). This report received favorable comment from Dr. Claxton.

Miss Inger Schie (1918), of Williamsburg, Va., was graduated by the faculty before the end of the session in order that she might, in a case of war emergency, become county demonstrator in home economics work at Appomattox. She received her B. S. at William and Mary College (1921), and was a member of the winning team in a debate between William and Mary and Richmond University—the first time women had debated for William and Mary. She was one of six William and Mary seniors elected to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa Society, June, 1921. Miss Schie is at present instructor in Home Economics of William and Mary Training School.

Miss Mary Clay Hiner (1904), now of Farmville, Va., received her B. A. and M. A. at Peabody College for Teachers. She was an associate professor in English at Peabody College, and has twice been a member of the faculty of Farmville S. N. S.—at present associate in English. She was a member of many important committees at Peabody College, where she was held in highest esteem by faculty and students.

Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro, now associate in mathematics in this institution, received her B. S. at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and was also at one time a student at Cornell. She was a member of the committee to organize the Pi Kappa Omega Society in 1918. Miss Taliaferro has done splendid work in the organization of the alumnae in local chapters, and at all times has been ready to devote her time and energy in service for her Alma Mater.

"Has Mike Howe been in here?" asked the customer breathlessly.

"This is a restaurant, not a dairy," answered the clerk, haughtily.—Selected.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

FARMVILLE HERALD

PRINTING

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS TO-NIGHT.

On March 3d the Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Edna Norton Spear, will present the following one-act plays:

"The Turtle Dove," by Margaret Scott Oliver, a play given after the Chinese fashion.

"The Shepherd in the Distance," by Holland Hudson, a pantomime of love and adventure.

"The Slave With Two Faces," by Mary Carolyn Davies, an allegory of life.

Dances arranged and directed by Mary Barlow.

Costumes designed by Marion Tupper.

Music by Sallie Kie and Mary Lydia Quarles.

Gong sounded by Katherine Cole.

THE TURTLE DOVE. Characters.

Chorus Katherine Garey
Chang-Sut-Yen, son of Chang-Yon-Yen, the Great, ruler of the Province of Canton Mary Clarke
The Mandarin Virginia Hardin
Kwen-Lin, his daughter. Lois Williams
The God of Fate. Mildred Phillips
The Property Man. Kate Davis
The Gong-Bearer. Katherine Cole
Scene I—In the Mandarin's garden.
Scene II—The home of Chang-Sut-Yen and Kwen-Lin.

THE SHEPHERD IN THE DISTANCE. Characters.

The Princess Cabell Gilmer
The Attendant. Cabell Gannaway
The Shepherd. Mary Friend
The Wazir. Martha Wells
The Vizier. Frances Bargamin
Ghurri-Wurri (the beggar) ... Rena Luck
Slaves of the Princess:

Eliza Davis, Charline Moir
The Goat. Julia Clarke
Slave Dancing Girls:

Ethel Warthen, Eleanor Webster,
Agnes Walker, Cecile Ward, Helen Fitch, Cabell Gannaway, Margaret Atwill, Kitty Carroll.

The Action.

I. The Princess, by means of a telescope, discovers "The Shepherd" in the distance and goes in quest of him.

II. Ghurri-Wurri, enraged by the Princess' meager alms, swears vengeance.

III. He reveals her destination to the Wazir.

IV. Pursuit ensues.

V. The Princess meets the Shepherd in the distance. Her capture is averted by the faithful Goat.

VI. The clever Goat devise sa means of rescuing the Shepherd from the cruel Wazir.

VII. After dancing before the Wazir and the Vizier as a disguised dancing girl, the Princess rescues the Shepherd and goes with the Shepherd and his faithful Goat to live in the distance.

THE SLAVE WITH TWO FACES. Characters.

Life, the Slave. Virginia Hardin
First Girl. Mary Clarke
Second Girl. Page Trent
A Woman. Julia Cave
A Man. Ruth Walker
A Young Man. Mildred Phillips
A Workman. Susie Floyd
Scene: A wood through which runs a path where "Life" passes.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Food of the Best Quality

Meals At All Hours

FARMVILLE, VA.

Goodwork, Team !
We Knew
You Could Do It.

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Whom Will You
Nominatc For
The Rctund. Staff?

Vol. 2. No. 19.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 10, 1922.

FARMVILLE WINS

FROM HARRISONBURG.

Close Fought Game Ends With Final Score of 24 to 19.

The Farmville Normal Varsity Basketball Team played a return game with the Harrisonburg Normal last Friday night in Harrisonburg. The game was played with the usual Farmville speed and pep. The score proved most exciting throughout the entire game. The game was played in thirds. At the end of the first third the score was 6-6. During the second third the score was tied off and on, the score being 13-11 in Farmville's favor at the end.

The third began with Farmville fighting and playing high and fast ball. Just three minutes before the end of the game the score was 21 to 19. A foul was called on Harrisonburg, and while Farmville team held its breath Treackle put the ball in the basket, making the score 22 to 19. Then in the last minute Treackle shot the last goal, making the final score 24 to 19.

The entire team played good ball. Vaughan got the first tap off and continued to do so. The side centers, Morgan and Bell, played high and fast. Sexton and Treackle were the stars, if there were any. Sexton covered her entire field with her usual dash and spirit, and not a single personal foul was called on her. Treackle was a fast fighting forward, making 16 points from the field, and 3 out of 4 free shots.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The joint meeting of the Virginia Engineers was held at V. P. I., February 17th. The technical sessions were devoted to a discussion of formation, distribution, production, transportation and combustion of coal.

The students of Washington and Lee University raise enough money each year to support a Washington and Lee alumnus as a representative of the student body in the foreign field. This is called the Moomaw Fund. It is raised by a campaign, the object of which is to secure a subscription of $2.50 from each student.

The Y. W. C. A. of Elon College, assisted by the Y. M. C. A., will give a real old-time county fair on March 17th. There will be various side shows, plantation scenes, laughing twins, snake charmer, and many others equally as good. Other entertainments such as the Fishing Pond, Postoffice and Grab Bag, will add much to the enjoyment of the evening. The proceeds will go to help build a new Y. W. hut for Elon.

THOUGHT.

I thought of you today;
Did you feel my thought
Wrapping you about
In rose-white folds of love
And memory?

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS.

On Friday evening, March 3d, three very delightful one-act plays were presented by the Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Spear. The first play, "The Turtle Dove," immediately caught the interest of the audience, because it was a Chinese play, presented after the Chinese fashion, with a property man and all that. The simple love story of the play was well carried through by Mary Clark as Chang-Sut Yen, son of Chang-You Yen, the Great, and Julia Cave as Kwen-Len. The latter deserves particular mention for the admirable way in which she took her part, especially since she acted as a substitute for Lois Williams, who was taken ill at the last moment.

The pantomime of love and adventure, "The Shepherd in the Distance," was perhaps the most effective of the three plays, because of the truly Oriental atmosphere, produced by costume and dance. The principal parts of this play were taken by Cabel Gilmer, the Princess, and Mary Friend, the Shepherd, both of whom displayed their usual skill and grace in their dancing. Other dances were performed by Eliza Davis and Charleen Moir, the two slaves; Julia Clark, the Goat; and the chorus of slave dancing girls. Ghurri-Wurri, the beggar, the part acted so well by Rena Luck, and the Wazir and Vizier, Martha Wells and Frances Bargamin, gave to the play the ludicrous and humorous strain which appeals to any audience.

The last play, "The Slave With Two Faces," was the most dramatic of the three. It was an allegory of life which both horrified and fascinated the audience. Virginia Hardin as Life, the Slave, showed unusual dramatic ability and talent in her difficult role.

All three plays were distinctive because of the attractive effects produced by scenery and costumes, which were well planned and effective to the last detail. The school thanks Miss Spear of the Dramatic Club, Miss Barlow and Miss Tupper, who helped teach the dances and make the costumes, for what is popularly considered the most attractive entertainment presented in the auditorium this session.

FROM S. I. N. A. HEADQUARTERS.

Every effort is being made to make the next annual convention of the Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, which will be held the latter part of April, at a place yet to be decided upon, a most profitable one. As incentives to interest, the executive committee of the Association has arranged for three intercollegiate contests, one now being announced. This contest is on between regional vice-presidents and their districts, and is a drive for membership enlargement.

An Editorial Contest will be announced within the next few days, and also a contest, known as a Journalistic Contest, will deal with technical makeup of the newspapers along journalistic lines.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

An event of interest to many alumnae was the wedding of Miss Virginia E. Howison, of Ashland, and Samuel Norvell Lapsley, of "Ivy Hill," Albemarle County, which took place in Lebanon Church, near Greenwood, Friday, February 24th, at 7 o'clock. The church was decorated with ivy and mountain laurel, and lighted by candles. The bride wore a dress of ivory satin, with a court train, made from her mother's wedding gown. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms, and she carried Bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Nancy Howison was her sister's Maid of Honor. Miss Genie Browne Lapsley, sister of the groom, also attended the bride, and Miss Mildred Lapsley, the young niece of the groom, acted as flower girl.

The groom was attended by his brother, H. B. Lapsley, of Massillon, Ohio, as best man, and by Marion Howison, of Middleburg.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of "Humoresque," followed by the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, played by Miss Mary Virginia Robinson. Just preceding the ceremony "At Dawning" and "Because" were sung by S. B. Lapsley, of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond. Shortly after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Lapsley left for a Southern trip.

An alumnae chapter of ten active members and one associate member has just been organized in Winchester, with Miss Mary Jane Gray, President, and Miss Sara Hughes, Secretary-Treasurer. They are starting with enthusiasm, especially for the work of the student building fund. The Secretary wrote: "All the girls wish to let you all know that we are thinking of you and wishing to be back."

The regular monthly meeting of the Farmville Alumnae Chapter was held Thursday, March 2nd. The program for Farmville Normal School was announced, also the results of a subscription card party given in February for the Student Building Fund. Plans were discussed for a baby show and apron sale for the same cause.

MISTAKES.

When a plumber makes a mistake he charges twice for it.

When a lawyer makes a mistake he has a chance to try the mistake all over again.

When a carpenter makes a mistake it is just as he expected.

When a doctor makes a mistake he buries it.

When a judge makes a mistake it becomes a law.

When a preacher makes a mistake nobody knows the difference.

But when the editor makes a mistake—GOOD NIGHT! Ex.

Lucy McHwaine (in Gym Class): "Ready, run in place, first on the left foot and then on the right—go!"

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager... Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager... Helen Rogerson

Remember the thrill which went through the audience last Friday night, when, during one of the plays, the news got whispered around that our team won at Harrisonburg? It did not stay whispered long, because as soon as the plays were over, Dr. Jarman announced the score, and then followed the yelling and the snake dance and the cheers..

So says the team: "We have had royally good times on our trips, but the more we see of other schools the better we like our Farmville." After all "there's no place like home."

One night last week Mrs. Dodl was very much concerned over the noise heard near the east wing during study hour. Hurrying to the gymnasium, she was about to call down the noisy crowd when she made the discovery that it was the faculty—overly enthusiastic over the basketball practice.

As a word of cheer to the teaching seniors and a warning to those who have term papers to write, we wish to remind the students that there are only eight more days in this term.

For Sale.—Rainy Sundays and Blue Mondays.

Wanted.—A spring holiday.

Who are your nominees for the Rotunda?

SMILE THE WHILE.

Smiles are the vital ingredients of every phase of school life. We find them just as essential in the class rooms as at some social center. We do not realize that our smiles touch some one else's life and makes an impression.

If it does nothing else, a smile may gladden a dark part of some heart. Especially should we try to smile when our new day is beginning. We may say: "Well this is early in the morning, I will have a more smiling countenance later in the day." We should think in terms of others and think that if we are beginning an unhappy day that it would be unfair to pass this unhappiness on to every girl we see early in the morning.

What a broad affect one unsmiling face might have on our school. A smile will drive the homesickness from many hearts. When we meet a girl on the hall, that means a smile.

Let us be unselfish and true to our fellow students and pass our smiles on instead of frowns. "Smile all the while!"—"Keep Smiling."

—L. G.

NOTES.

Notes! What a variety of meaning is expressed by that one small word. It may remind us of hasty letters received from friends or our own letters home. It suggests billet-doux or music lessons. We sigh as it recalls hours of note taking, done on outside reading or in class. And then, alas! we hate to mention it, but the word insists upon suggesting that other meaning the dreaded significance of which every Normal girl has come to know. Their official name is "Bi-Weekly Report," but we know them as "Notes"—"E Notes," "W Notes" and "Cut Notes." It is upon this last meaning of the word, unpleasant as my subject may be, that I wish to speak.

To the recipients of E's and W's the word "note" may bring a variety of memories. To some it recalls regrets—tears, others regard it with indifference, while to some few it brings the thought of illnesses or unavoidable circumstances which caused her to receive a warning, but for which she was not to blame. It is harder to analyze the feeling of the girl who gets cut notes—particularly the habitual class-cutter. There can be no possible excuse for her. If there had been the written excuse could have been obtained and the absence cancelled. She either cuts class because she does not take seriously this task of acquiring an education, and so feeling lazy or indisposed at the moment, she "can't be bothered" about going to class, or perhaps not having prepared her lesson she fears the mortification of being called upon and forced to show her hand. In the first case she's a fool, in the proper sense of the word, and some day she will wake up to the fact. She has no place in school and her unappreciated opportunity should be given to another. In the second place she's a coward. If she wilfully neglected studying the lesson she should be willing to take the consequences, if she did not have the time to prepare it properly, she should not run away. Even if she does not wish to excuse herself to the teacher on those grounds, she should not deprive herself of any help that might be obtained by class discussions. We do not wish to excuse the girl who gets E's and W's, but we can say that she at least attended classes whether she was prepared or unprepared, and did not try to dodge the consequences. Perhaps we have expressed it pretty strongly, but it is a matter upon which strong statements should be made. The girl who deliberately cuts a class, whether she realizes it or not, shows the white feather.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks
FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion
In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.
School Work a Specialty.
Amateur Work Finished.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.—INSIDE THE OFFICE.

In a student body as large as ours, we have a wonderful opportunity to know girls, because there are girls—and girls—and girls. When we think of this we can see what an Association of girls can mean—an Association that works for the all-around development of these many, and different girls. In all groups there are some who are more fitted for leaders, who have more outstanding qualities for leadership than others, and it is these girls who will lead. But all girls who are leaders are not moulded after the same pattern and are, therefore, not suited for the same kind of leadership. In thinking of our Y. W. C. A. and of the importance it holds in our student body, we must especially think of its leaders, and of what qualities we desire in the girl whom we wish to hold office in our Association. Primarily, we want an all-around girl—one who not only has a deep spiritual note in her life, but one who is interested in everything that interests girls. She must love girls if she is to understand them, and she must understand them if she is to lead them. The one-sided girl cannot understand her fellow students. If she studies too much and is attending to her mental welfare to the exclusion of the other sides of her nature, she cannot be a good leader. If she cares only for the physical things in life, if she is shallow and frivolous in the extreme, self-seeking and selfish, is her character that which we would require in a leader? If, on the other hand, she is saintly and sanctified, and holds herself aloof with a critical and disapproving air toward the girls around her, she lacks that very important something that would draw her fellow-students to her, and she cannot be expected to lead them. What must she be, then? We want a girl who is capable, dependable, and broad-minded, of course. But she must be more than this. She must not be filled with pride of holding office merely for the honor which it confers upon her; she must not even have that unconscious pride in her "goodness"; but she must be filled with the joy of living, a love and reverence for God, and a real joy in work and service for others.

COULD—

Could pen but write
Or words express
The thoughts and dreams
That in my breast
Smoldering lay.
Could probing hand
Or searching eye
Arouse the dreams
That so defy
Awakening.
How gayly I
Would free this breast
Of these sweet dreams
That in it rest,
So sleepily.

H. J. M.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

REPORT OF THE ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of the Athenian Literary Society was held in the Association Room, February 28, 1922. The subject for discussion was Mary Johnson. An interesting sketch of her life was given by Dorothy Langslow; Pattie Jeter told the story of Lewis Rand, at the close of which Marie Ricks and Louise Scott sang "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes"; Mary Wright read an article on "The Contribution of Mary Johnson to Literature." After a helpful report from the Critic, the meeting adjourned.

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society on February 28th, an unusual program was given, which was in the form of a debate. The subject for discussion being: "Resolved, That Self-Made Man is the Strongest Man." The affirmative side of the question was debated by Thelma Horner and Mamie Nickols. The negative by Florence Miller, and Frances Barksdale. The judges were Miss Mary C. Hiner, Miss Helen Draper, Mr. Lear. After a heated discussion on both sides, the judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

HE STOOD THE TEST.

A dentist received a call the other morning from a couple whom he soon had reason to believe were lovers. The girl had an aching tooth, and as they entered the young man said:

"Now, darling, the worst is over. Just take a seat and it will be out in the morning."

"Oh, I daren't," she gasped.

"But it really won't hurt you at all."

"But I'm afraid it will."

"It can't. I'd have one pulled in a minute if it ached."

"I don't believe it."

"Well, then, I'll have one pulled out just to show you that it doesn't hurt." He took a seat, leaned back and opened his mouth, and the dentist seemed to be selecting a tooth to seize with his forceps, when the girl protested:

"Hold on. The test is sufficient. He has proved his devotion. Move away, Harry, and I'll have it pulled."

She took the chair and had the tooth withdrawn without a groan, and as she went out she was saying:

"Now I can believe you when you declare you would die for me."

And yet every tooth in his head was false.—Tid-Bits.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

FARMVILLE HERALD

PRINTING

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

March 7th, Celebrated as Founders Day

A Worthy Past

A Worthier Future

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 20.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 17, 1922.

FIRST CELEBRATION OF FOUNDER'S DAY A SUCCESS

The rising bell sounded through the halls at 6:45 on Tuesday, March 7, 1922, announcing that Normal School Day had begun. An early beginning was necessary to crowd in one day the love and loyalty that has been growing since March 7, 1884. At 7:20 the ringing tones of "The Old Normal School" could be heard, announcing that the day's program had begun.

After breakfast each room was thoroughly cleaned and all borrowed property was returned, so that at 10:30 when the student body assembled in the auditorium for the first open program of the day, their white dresses and smiling faces were truly indicative of a well ordered school and an enjoyable frame of mind. Lily Thornhill, chairman of the program committee, opened the exercises with a brief announcement of the day's programs and an explanation of the celebration of Normal School Day.

On March 7, 1884, the Legislature at its regular session passed an act establishing the Normal School. Dr. Jarman, in his address at the evening program, gave us more details of the founding and early history of our school. Also the papers on the administrations of our four presidents gave us in detail the history of our school since 1884. The paper on Dr. Ruffner's administration, our first president's administration, was read by Julia Cave, A-1 Professional. Dr. Cunningham's was read by Carolyn Cogbill, A-2 Professional; Dr. Frazer's by Elizabeth Moring, A-3 Professional, and Dr. Jarman's by Mildred Dickinson, A-4 Professional. The applause and song, "What's the Matter With Jarman," told only a part of what Dr. Jarman's administration is to his student body.

Between the reading of these papers one act scenes were staged in which diaries and memory books of the different periods of school life were read and "annual scenes" were acted. The stage setting was a Normal girl's room of to-day. Florence Miller, Virginia Anderson, and Min Mason as school girls of to-day read memoirs and annuals, and looked at photographs of girls of yesterday. The interest in these photographs was so great that it imbued them with reality to the audience, who had the unusual experience of seeing a girl of 1885, 1895, 1900, 1901, 1906, 1911 and 1917 pass in review before their eyes in the course of an hour.

Not a small part of the morning program was the music. As always it was one of the most enjoyable parts of the day's programs. "The Old Normal School," "What's the Mat-

Concluded on third page.

STUDENTS' BUILDING—STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, FARMVILLE, VA.
IF ENTHUSIASM WILL BUILD IT IN TWO YEARS, WE'LL DO IT.

DOUBLE-HEADER BASKETBALL GAME PLAYED IN ARMORY

Farmville Varsity Defeats Lynchburg Independents—High School Classes Play Close Game

Enthusiasm ran high and yells rang loud Friday night when the Varsity basketball team played the Lynchburg Independents in the armory. At the end of the first quarter the score was 6—5 in Lynchburg's favor. In spite of the good work of the Lynchburg girls, the Varsity team raised the score and kept ahead leaving at the end of the game a score 26—14 in their favor. While the Varsity team played its usual hard, snappy game, the Farmville spirit was shown by its peppy yells and songs.

Friday night the armory was the scene of the first basketball game between the Third and Fourth Year High School. The teams were equally matched and the game was a hard, peppy one. At the end of the second quarter the score was 9—9; in the third the Third Year raised the score. During the last quarter the Fourth Year played as never before, at the end making the score 19—17 in their favor. If any of the girls on either team deserved special mention for their good work they are: E. Watkins, guard, and C. Anderson, side-center, of the Third Year; M. Bailey, side-center, and B. Edwards, forward of the Fourth Year team. The spirit of both classes was splendid and they all showed true sportsmanship.

THE KAUFMAN MALE QUARTETTE

The Kaufman Male Quartette gave a concert on Thursday, March 9, in the auditorium. The quartette was under the direction of Mr. Steinecker and accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Kelly-Steinecker, who is an artist of exceptional ability. Mr. Cortlandt Barker, basso, senior member of the organization, has an exceptionally colorful bass voice of wide range. On the whole this concert was considered by many to be one of the best numbers offered by the Lyceum Course this year.

THORNHILL RE-ELECTED

At a student body meeting on March 8th the new officers of the Student Government Association were elected for the year 1922-23. They are as follows:

President—Lily Thornhill.
Vice-President—Margaret Shackelford.
Secretary—Roberta Hodgkin.
Treasurer—Flemintine Peirce.
First Professional Representative—Marion Asher.
Campus League Chairman—Nancy Lyne.

Lily Thornhill has the distinction of being the only student who has held this important office for two sessions and her re-election is the strongest proof of the success of her first administration.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor..... Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Bocoock
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager..... Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager... Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager... Carolyn Coghill
Assistant Circulation Manager... Helen Rogerson

A FOUNDER'S DAY NUMBER FOR THE ALUMNAE

The celebration of Founders' Day was a decided success—so much of a success that there is no doubt in the minds of all present at the various exercises, that March 7th will be set aside each year as a day to be spent in tribute and praise of our Alma Mater. There was only one thing lacking which could have made our Normal School Day exercises this year an even greater success—the presence of each and every loyal alumna and friend of the School. So often during the day we thought of you—when we sang our school songs and read our creeds and more especially when you were typified to us in pantomime and picture.
That our thoughts of you did not end with the day is apparent in the fact that we are publishing this week an extra large Rotunda primarily for your benefit. With all the inspiration and pleasure we received from the program last Tuesday we could not be content to keep it for ourselves, and we have chosen this way of letting you share our pride and enthusiasm in what our school has meant to the State, to its former graduates and what it is meaning to its present students. We can not make you feel all that we felt, since there is much that cannot be expressed in print, but no doubt the news and bits of history contained herein will touch you just as deeply, though perhaps in a different way.

The Rotunda wishes to commend the Normal School Day program and decorating committees for their efforts which made Normal
School Day such a great success.

Several new basketball stars shone forth on Normal School Day. It is too bad that basketball season is almost over and the Varsity team will not have a chance to use this newly discovered material. They will have a chance next year and, poor Fredericksburg, you won't have a showing then.

Senior holidays, which began at noon Thursday and continue until next Wednesday, were joyfully welcomed by every Second and Fourth Professional, while the other professional classes content themselves with singing, "I Hate to Lose You, I'm So Used to You Now," and "Home, Sweet Home."

ELIZABETH LIGON BONDURANT

On Wednesday, March 8, Elizabeth Ligon
Bondurant died at the home of her parents at Rice, Va. While a student at school she lived in town with her sister, Mrs. Wilson, and was a member of the First Professional class. The funeral services were held Friday at the Baptist church at Rice. The flowers were numerous and beautiful and among the designs were two sent by the student body of S. N. S. and the First Professional class. Lily Thornhill and Florence Miller represented the student body at the funeral services. The School wishes to express its deepest sympathy to the members of her family and friends.

NORMAL SCHOOL BULLETIN RE- CEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT

The Normal School Bulletin for January, written by Mr. James M. Grainger, head of the English Department of this school, has received most favorable comments from men of letters and reputation. The Bulletin contains a discussion of the Vahispa project in the schools, with suggestions for working out school and community pageants, a list of books for use in the study of Virginia in schools, suggested subjects for students' themes and for pageants, and also an outline on debating with several hundred suggested subjects. The Bulletin is particularly valuable to teachers in teaching Virginia history and linking up their work with the Virginia Historical Pageant.
W. B. Cridlin, secretary of the Pageant Association, has written that it should be in the hands of every high school teacher in the State.

Dr. Metcalf, of the University of Virginia, recommended the Bulletin to the members of the Senior class at John Marshall High School who are getting up a pageant to be given at commencement. A copy of it has already been mailed them by request.

As a further compliment to Mr. Grainger's bulletin, we print the following letter:

United States Naval Academy,
Annapolis, Maryland,
Department of English.

March 1, 1922.

My dear Grainger:

Your January Bulletin is excellent—fruitful in suggestion and written with lucidity and charm. I congratulate you and the Normal.

Sincerely yours,

C. ALPHONSO SMITH.

In the January number of The Journal of Educational Method we find an interesting article entitled "A Refreshing Summer School," which is also written by Mr. Grainger.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

FIRST CELEBRATION OF FOUNDERS DAY A SUCCESS.

ter With Jarman," "Alma Mater," and others giving me the same kind of creepy, patriotic feeling that "The Star Spangled Banner" and all the war songs did, one student was heard to remark.

The afternoon program began at 2:30 and was presented by the six literary societies. Mary Nichols opened the program with a history of the organization and naming of the societies. Each society then contributed one number to the program. Lillian Williams, Julia Cave and Annette Wilson represented their societies' with piano, violin and vocal solos. An Indian legend and a reading "Culture in Dixie," were given in costume by Carolyn Payne and Katherine Garter. Ruth Walker read a short story, "Alma Mater," symbol of the inspiration of the program, concluded the afternoon's first program. The last but not the least of the afternoon's exercises, was a ball game of the Third Professionals versus the Faculty. "The most interesting feature of the day" it has been called. Certainly it was one of the most enjoyable.

The evening and concluding program of the day began at 8:30. There were songs by the student body and Glee Club and selections by the orchestra. Creeds were read by the literary societies and reports from Alumnae chapters in the State were given. It was particularly gratifying to learn what these chapters have been and are doing for the student building. A particularly interesting feature of the evening program was that of screen pictures of different periods in the history of the school—pictures of Dr. Jarman and Dr. Frazer, pictures of different faculties and different pictures of our present faculty. Mr. Lear, at the age of three, was viewed with rapture, and Miss Mary Clay Hiner, at about one, was lovely.

Dr. Jarman made the address of the evening which he entitled "A Rambling Talk," but which was just what was wanted. We learned that our school had grown from a small one building structure with an appropriation of only $10,000 in 1884, to its present size with a necessarily greater appropriation. Dr. Jarman explained that the school has had to grow slowly on account of its small beginning. Its evolution of institutions has been necessary on account of the first small appropriations. "Our great struggle has been for land. We must have been acquiring land," Dr. Jarman stated, and we mentally added also the student building. And then Dr. Jarman reminded us that an institution is more than just its physical plant. The spirit of the school makes or mars it. The spirit, "co-operation," has made our school possible in the past, has made our Normal School Day what it was, let us carry it on in the future.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The school started with only three classrooms?

Every girl looked out for her own laundry?

One day of holiday was given at Christmas?

Classes were held in the reception hall?

Entrance examinations were required?

The training school was called "practice school"?

Sunday night supper was eaten in girls' rooms?

Every girl entertained a chaperone with her engagements?

The rooms all had soves?

Students were required to march to and from class at which time no talking was allowed?

DR. WILLIAM HENRY RUFFNER

Dr. William Henry Ruffner, the first President of the State Normal School, was the son of a distinguished Presbyterian minister, Dr. Henry Ruffner, who was for many years president of Washington College, now known as Washington and Lee. From this institution his son, Dr. William Henry Ruffner, received his M. A. degree. He studied theology at the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond and at Princeton, New Jersey. He was at one time chaplain of the University of Virginia, and later became pastor of the Seventh Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia.

In 1853, on account of broken health, he withdrew from the ministry and resorted to farm life in the hope of regaining his strength.

He wrote much on educational and agricultural subjects and at one time he was editor of the Virginia School Journal and of the New England Journal of Education.

About 1870 there was a great discussion about public education which led to an open debate between Dr. Dabney, also a distinguished Presbyterian minister of the Theological Seminary at Hampden-Sidney, and Dr. W. H. Ruffner.

Dr. Ruffner believed in popular education and Dr. Dabney in the education of the aristocracy rather than the masses. Dr. Ruffner won this debate.

In 1870 when the legislature passed the law for public education in Virginia, Dr. Ruffner was made the first superintendent of the public school system in Virginia. This was a difficult position for him to fill because he had had no experience in this line and the public school was a new thing and much opposed in Virginia. Dr. Ruffner did practically all the pioneer work in the interest of the public school system. He held this position for twelve years. He then resigned and knowing the need of the public school for trained teachers he set to work to found a school that would meet this need.

However it was under the leadership of Dr. J. L. M. Curry that the establishment of State normal schools was inaugurated in Virginia.

In March, 1884, the State legislature met and passed the act establishing the Normal School and appropriated $10,000 a year for the expenses of the school.

In order to have the Normal in Farmville the people of Farmville offered to the State a building formerly used as a girls' school. This offer was warmly supported by such men as Dr. W. H. Ruffner, Dr. James Nelson, then pastor of the First Baptist Church at Farmville; Dr. W. H. H. Thackston, mayor of Farmville, and Judge F. N. Watkins, of Farmville.

The first meeting of the trustees was held in Richmond, April 9, 1884, and organized by the election of Dr. Curry, president; Dr. Buchanan, vice-president, and Judge F. N. Watkins, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Ruffner was unanimously chosen as president. The committee made its report June 10th, but because of a delay in getting funds, the report was not adopted until September 17th.

Dr. Ruffner was then ordered to open school 30th of the following October—in a little over a month—although to quote Dr. Ruffner's words, all they had was: "A principal, an appropriation, a rough scheme and an old academy building—not a teacher, not a book, no apparatus or furniture."

Now came the most difficult step—that of securing competent teachers to train girls to become teachers—for Virginia did not have very much training in the improved science of teaching and the instructors for a normal school must have been specifically trained for their work. Enough of such teachers could not be found in Virginia and Dr. Ruffner was sent in quest of them and ordered to give good salaries that he might get the best.

He traveled north and south from Tennessee to Connecticut getting one from Nashville, two from Connecticut, one from New York, one from North Carolina, and one from Farmville, Virginia.

It was a curious thing in those days of place hunting that no applicant got a position and not a single one who secured a position had been an applicant.

As geologist, writer, or preacher, Dr. Ruffner might have made a name for himself, but for once, at least, the work found the man and the man found the work for which he was suited. As a pioneer in the cause of popular education he is justly ranked as one of Virginia's most useful citizens.

He lived to a good old age and died November 24, 1908, beloved and honored by all. He needs no eulogies. His name is linked forever with S. N. S. and the public school system of Virginia. With such splendid monuments the name of William Henry Ruffner cannot die.

J. C.

DR. JOHN A. CUNNINGHAM

Dr. John A. Cunningham was president of the State Normal School at Farmville from 1887 to 1897. The ten years of his connection with the school were the most fruitful and successful of his life. He came to the school in the prime of a vigorous manhood, enthusiastic, original, sympathetic, wise, and far-seeing in his policy. In a Letter to the Farmville Division of the State Normal Alumnae Association we find this characterization of him:

"Those teachers who came from under his guiding hand have realized as the years have gone the wonder of his influence. They have seen ideas he gave them, then but little emphasized by others, now the foundation of many tests, the accepted creed of the pedagogical world; and they have known that it was given them in those years to sit at the feet of a great teacher. They remember him, not only as a teacher, but best as a friend, just, generous, kind, sympathetic. No man had more sympathy with honest endeavor, no man was ever more ready to lend a helping hand. To the girls of Virginia, who often in the face of poverty and inadequate preparation, set their faces towards the higher things of the spirit, he gave the love of a friend and the inspiration of a master mind. Such girls he delighted to gather around him. He understood their longings, he gave his best efforts for them that the Normal School might be the best school possible."

His ambition was to make character and to develop the mind. To accomplish this he felt it necessary to put each individual on her own resources, to have few rules and little surveillance, to teach truth and honor by trust and to punish severely when that trust was betrayed. To develop the mind, "his method," writes one of his teachers, "was Socratic with additions of his own. Students that were pretty well up on a subject he forced to go deeper into it by showing them that they had not grasped it thoroughly; the timid, undeveloped minds he encouraged, and when they realized they could answer some of his questions, he led them on until they were induced to do real work." As he expressed it, he "made them mad with themselves." The same teacher says, "I've never known more than two or at least three teachers who made the subjects they were teaching so clear and at the same time made the student do her own thinking. Again this teacher says, "I realize that any efficiency that I have as a teacher is in a large measure due to him, yet when I think of summarizing my experience it all resolves itself into "he had life and it flowed into those he touched."

He was constantly thinking and reading, trying to put the school on broader lines, but it was always personal contact he insisted upon. There was no department of the school the details of which he was not familiar with, and no girl or teacher whom he didn't know well. Dr. A. P. Mayo who visited a great many schools in the interest of the Peabody Fund, said this was the best Normal School in the South, though at the time several far outstripped it in numbers and material equipment.

During his administration the school grew steadily though not rapidly. In 1887, the first year he was here, ninety-three were enrolled in the Normal School Department, and in 1897 the last year of his administration two hundred and fifty were enrolled. Besides growth of school in number of students there was growth in the courses. When he first came here there were the Junior, Middle and Senior courses the last being the professional course. Because a need was felt for more elementary work a review course was put in to precede the Junior course, and the Junior, Middle, and Senior courses remained the same. During the latter part of Dr. Cunningham's administration the course was enlarged to four full years with three years of high school work known as First, Second and Junior years, and one year, the Senior year, of professional work.

During this time, 1887 to 1897, the degree, Licentiate of Teaching, was conferred upon graduates of the institution, but this was later dropped.

While Dr. Cunningham was president the King's Daughters Society was organized. The object of this society was to raise money as a loan fund for those who would be forced to leave school without such help. He took a lively interest in this and for this reason his friends worked hard to establish a fund as memorial to him. Nothing that pertained to the general uplift of the school was viewed by him with indifference. In the spring of 1896 the Young Women's Christian Association was organized. We all know what a power for good it has been and still is in the school. The Alumnae Association also had its beginning in Dr. Cunningham's administration.

A fitting tribute to the man who "saw the school in its small beginnings, who bore the burdens and the heat of the day and who toiled and died in its service" is a little poem written by Miss Jennie Tabb, of the Class of 1893:

JOHN A. CUNNINGHAM,

OUR PRESIDENT.

"Strong and True."

Aye, "strong and true" of him ye well may say—
Both strong and true to all that makes for right!
His modest, gentle nature found delight
In little unknown kindnesses each day;
To cheer the lonely stranger on her way
With word of sympathy, to bring the light
Of laughter to saddened face—the sight
Would cause his eyes to beam with gentle ray.

So strong his influence o'er the minds he taught,
So true the love with which each heart he filled—
Though years have passed since last he wrought
On earth his kindly deeds, though stilled
The voice beloved—with tender thought
And loyal gratitude these hearts are filled.

ROBERT FRAZER, LL. D.

Robert Frazer, by his father's plans, was destined to become a lawyer, but there was always with him a conviction that his duty was not in the pursuit of law, but in that of teaching.

His academic course at the University of Virginia was interrupted by the war. Disabled from wounds, he returned to the University of Virginia in the fall of 1863 and took up the study of law with Professor Minor.

A few months after the opening of the session he was offered the chair of Latin and French in the Florida Military Academy, which he declined. In February of the same session he accompanied his mother to Georgia. At that time Georgia laid an embargo on travel toward Virginia, except for soldiers. About this time, also, the Florida offer was renewed and accepted, and the close of the war found him in Tallahassee. Law was now, forever, abandoned for teaching.

In the fall of 1865 he returned to Virginia and opened a school for boys in which he achieved success. In 1871 he bought the Fauquier Institute, a boarding school for girls, at Warrenton. There he remained until 1882. Then his work was in Alabama, as president of Judson Institute, at Marion. At the close of his five year's connection with that institution, the school had grown a great deal in members, both in students and faculty, in financial condition, in buildings and in equipment. It was no wonder that after such labors his physician was compelled to lay before him the alternative of rest or death.

After three years, devoted to building up his health, he was called, in 1891, to the Industrial Institute and College of Mississippi, at Columbus. There he remained seven sessions, making the school the pride of the State.

In February, 1898, Dr. Frazer became president of the State Normal School of Virginia, at Farmville. His four years' work was characterized by the same earnestness and zeal, the same conscientious devotion to his convictions of duty that he had displayed elsewhere. The result, as before, was growth and expansion of a steady, stable kind.

It was not hard for one to discover Dr. Frazer's educational creed and policy. His aim in the conduct of school affairs was, first, to provide the best possible advantages for the students; second, to offer those advantages to students at the lowest cost, so that the benefits might reach the largest number.

As far as his own decision could make it possible, it was his distinct policy to set a strong and faithful faculty at the head of the school.

Among the definite and visible prints of his work at the Normal School may be mentioned a large increase in attendance, enlargement of the faculty, the addition of new departments, notably the separate department of education, and the department of physical training, with a new gymnasium, presided over by a specially trained director, a steam laundry, and a steam heating plant. Two or three rooms of the building were set apart for an infirmary. To him, too, belongs the credit of the organization of the Virginia Normal League, which has become one of the most useful organizations of the school. By example and precept, as well as by his firm, though gentle and sympathetic discipline, he maintained a lofty moral tone throughout the whole institution.

When Dr. Frazer resigned the presidency of the State Normal School to enter upon the duties of Field Agent of the General Education Board, he left in many, many hearts grateful memories of a courteous, cultured, sympathetic Christian gentleman of earnest purpose and unbending principle, staunchly loyal to his lofty ideals of duty.

DR. JOSEPH L. JARMAN

Dr. Joseph L. Jarman, the fourth president of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, was born in Charlottesville, Va., on November 19, 1867.

He attended the public schools of Charlottesville, and at the age of fourteen (having been left an orphan) he was sent to the Miller Manual Training School, where he remained from 1881 to 1886. In competitive examination he won the Miller Scholarship at the University of Virginia, where he was a student for three years, specializing in the Natural and Physical Sciences.

Upon the completion of his course at the University, he returned to Miller School as a member of the Faculty, but at the end of his first year he was elected to the chair of Natural Science at Emory and Henry College. He filled this position for twelve years, and in January, 1902, entered upon the duties of his present position.

The growth of the institution under his wise and kindly administration has been rapid and steady, and the development has been an all-sided one. In 1902 there were thirteen members of the Faculty, there are now forty-three, exclusive of student assistants; the enrollment was three hundred and nine—only thirty-eight of whom were professional students. For the present session we have up to this time enrolled six hundred and thirty-seven—four hundred and eighty-two being enrolled in professional classes. The buildings have been remodeled and enlarged until practically nothing remains of the original; the Training School has grown to such an extent that it has been moved three times into larger quarters, and is now on a thoroughly up-to-date footing, with a director and supervisor for each grade; the Faculty has been reorganized on the Department System; the course of study has been improved and strengthened until it stands on a par with those of the best Normal Schools of the country; and the College Course has been added, which gives the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. In 1902, the Library contained 3,000 volumes; this number has now grown to nearly 10,000.

Notwithstanding the many duties of his position, Dr. Jarman has been a most potent factor in education in the State, aside from his direct work in the school. He has served as State Director of the National Education Association, a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Education Association, the Commission for the Management, Maintenance and Improvement of State Institutions, of the Association of Virginia Colleges, and was for eight years a most active and influential member of the State Board of Education. During the entire term of service on the latter Board he never missed a meeting, and upon his retirement the Board passed most complimentary resolutions setting forth their high appreciation of the great service he had rendered his State.

He has also been president of the Normal Section of the Southern Educational Association, and of the Teachers' Section of the same body. He was for four years a member of the Education Commission of Virginia. He has served as vice-president of the National Council of Normal School Presidents, representing the South; he has been president of the State Teachers' Association, and was for one year acting president of the Association of Schools and Colleges for Girls, elected president of the Virginia Association of Colleges.

During the World War he was actively engaged in patriotic work, having been chairman of the following drives: Y. M. C. A. War Work, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. Committee for War Workers, and after the war he acted as chairman of the Prince Edward Public Health Association.

No more fitting summary of his work can be found than that set forth in the resolutions of the State Board of Education, referred to above:

"This work, which owes its effectiveness not only to Dr. Jarman's unflinching zeal in the cause of Virginia's schools, but also to his ripe scholarship and long experience as an educator, has been, in no small measure, a contributing cause to the great educational revival of to-day. It has made itself felt for years past and well might occasion pride on the part of Dr. Jarman for many years to come.

"It is especially pleasing to the members of the Board to record the fact that along with his widely recognized usefulness as a public servant, Dr. Jarman has exhibited unflinching sympathy and consideration for the views of others. His colleagues will hold in grateful memory the uniform courtesy and kindness which have marked his conduct. They feel, too, that much of their own enthusiasm and energy has been imparted by his example, and that his connection with the Board has been a distinct and constant influence for good.

"In his future walks of life Dr. Jarman has the kindest wishes of all his present and former associates on the Board. They will rejoice to see him receive that meed of recognition which is his due, and they entertain the hope that happiness and prosperity may long be his lot."

J. M. T.

It is an interesting thing to know that almost with the founding of the Normal School the necessity for a literary society was realized. Prior to 1893, the society known as The Daughters of Virginia was organized and in addition to their meetings showed their literary qualities in publishing a monthly paper known as the "Greetings from the Daughters of Virginia." No records of this society have been kept so the reason for its deterioration and final decline is not known. The need for the revival of this literary society was strongly felt and in 1903 in order to give a broader literary outlook and to encourage and promote literary excellence among the members both the Cunningham and Argus Literary Societies were established. The Cunningham Literary Society was named for the second president of the institution, Dr. John A. Cunningham, the spirit of whose life has been a source of inspiration to all students. Miss Lulie A. Andrews was largely instrumental in organizing the Argus Literary Society. It was she who suggested the name Argus from the man in Greek mythology who had 100 eyes. As the membership of society was limited to 50 the society was called Argus-eyed and the motto of "To see the better", was chosen for the society. The membership of both societies was closed, that is, only certain girls were asked to become members, showing that the societies were to stand for high standards in literary work. At first the courses of study were selected by the literature teacher and in this connection special mention should be made of Miss Marie Whiting for her valuable aid. As the school grew, there was a manifest need for increasing the membership of these societies or of establishing new ones. On November 4, 1908, the Athenian Literary Society with the motto, "Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control," was established by Dr. Robert F. Kerlin, professor of literature in the Normal School. This society was named Athenian from the Greek goddess of wisdom, Athens. Under Miss Julia Johnson, the first president, the society had the interesting custom of giving to its member graduates, miniature diplomas. About this time the Pierian Literary Society was founded with the motto, "Light, more light." The society was founded on Pope's quotation from the Essay on Criticism:

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing,

Drink deep or taste not of Pierian Spring.

Their shallow draughts intoxicate the brain And drinking largely, sobers us again."

The names of these two societies, both taken from Greek mythology, are evidences of the classical influence pervading literature at that time.

In 1910 the Jefferson Debating Society was organized and named for Thomas Jefferson, because of his great contribution to education, especially as founder of the University of Virginia. These words of Jefferson were chosen for the society's motto, "Equal and exact justice to all." About this same time, the Ruffner Debating Society was organized and named for Dr. Ruffner, the first president of the Normal School. In contrast to the closed membership of the four literary societies, the membership of the debating societies was open to all for training and participation in debating. At this time debating seemed especially important, for the most important as well as the most interesting features of the literary society programs were the debates every three or four months. The literary societies grew and developed in influence and high standards until just before the great war. Then they gave way in a large degree to the war-time activities. This may not have been entirely necessary but was highly commendable in that the members were rendering services to their country and giving their time from the pleasures of not only literary societies but nearly all other activities. With the close of war, the literary societies were begun again on a firm footing. A fixed time for meeting was put on the Normal School schedule and the constitutions of all the societies were revised to meet the immediate needs in literary training of to-day.

In 1921, acting upon the suggestion of the faculty, the two debating societies were reorganized as literary societies, making six in the school. All six societies stand for the highest of literary standards and seek to obtain the best of members. This is greatly facilitated by the voting in of new members at all times of the year, rather than all on one night. Formerly the editorial staff of the school paper was chosen from the literary societies. While that is not strictly true now, most of the staff as well as all other school officers are literary society members. Each society has rendered a peculiarly fitting contribution to the school by its high standards and the type of girls sent forth from its membership.

The future of the literary societies here is bright and full of prospects for aiding the members and the State for which the school was founded. This service has been shown already in the study made of Virginia history and literature in the literary society programs and can be further demonstrated by the co-operation of all the literary societies in furnishing a Virginia room here in school. In this way, a center of interest in our own State and a patriotic service to the school might be manifested at the same time. We would soon come through the aid of the literary societies to recognize the glory and grandeur of Virginia.

ALUMNAE CHAPTERS SEND ENCOURAGING REPORTS

The reports given from the Alumnae chapters on Normal School Day show that they are at work raising the student building fund. Reports were given from Roanoke, Farmville, Portsmouth and Yorktown chapters.

Miss Sallie Barksdale, representative from the Roanoke chapter, reported that her chapter had given several parties for the student building. She presented a seventy-five dollar check to Dr. Jarman from her chapter.

Miss Bierbower, of the Farmville chapter, reported that the chapter has raised five hundred dollars for the building fund. It has also aided five girls to secure an education through the Normal League Fund.

Greetings and best wishes for a successful Normal School Day were sent from the Portsmouth chapter. This chapter has raised one hundred and seventy-five dollars for the student building. It is now planning a banquet for the Norfolk, Hampton, Newport News and Suffolk chapters to be held at Portsmouth at which time plans for raising money for the student building will be discussed.

The Yorktown chapter also sent greetings and assured the school that they were raising money for the student building.

How encouraging all of these reports were! The Alumnae chapters are certainly doing their part in raising the student building fund. Their sentiment must be like Portsmouth's—"We want you to have that student building awfully bad."

"WHAT SHALL I DO WITH MY LIFE?"

This question, "What shall I do with my life?" impressed me so deeply while at the Conference, I feel I am convinced to write these few words.

I wonder how many of us have taken time or even stop to ask ourselves, "What shall I do with my life, or what is God's plan for my life?" Are we willing to let life come as it may, or are we going to develop and train those possibilities that there are in our hearts and lives, for the best? They should never be anything less.

God has a purpose for each of our lives and He is counting on us. What shall our answer be when His call comes? If we fail, what then? Are we going to be too far away for Him to hear the answer? Through prayer is the only way we shall ever know God's plan for our lives. Then can we afford not to pray and commune with our dear Father; to miss the joy and love in serving Him? No matter what our call may be, whether to go to the foreign fields or stay at home; may we ever seek to do what the Lord would have us to do, and at all times be so near Him that we may know His will.

GRACE SMITH.

THINKING

If you think you are beaten, you are;

If you think you dare not, you don't;

If you'd like to win, but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you're lost.

For out of the world we find

Success begins with a fellow's will—

It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you are out-classed, you are;

You've got to think high to rise,

You've got to be sure of yourself before

You can ever win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go

To the stronger or faster man,

But sooner or later the man who wins,

Is the one who thinks he can.

—Selected.

EDITORIAL CONTEST OPEN TO STUDENTS OF SOUTHERN COLLEGES

S. I. N. A. Headquarters.—The Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, which came into being at the University of Richmond last spring, has announced a South-wide Editorial Contest, which is open to all bona fide students of every white college and university from the Mason and Dixon line to the Gulf, and from the Mississippi to the coast. For this, the first contest, a writable subject has been selected which is as follows: "Contributions of The College Newspaper to College Life."

The contest opens immediately and will close April 10, 1922, at which time editorials must be in the hands of Hon. N. B. Forrest, Commander-in-Chief; General Headquarters Sons Confederate Veterans, Atlanta, Ga., who is chairman of the committee of judges.

Prizes Offered

Appropriately designed gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded for first, second and third places in the contest, while every writer getting his editorial sent to the judges will receive a certificate of honorable mention.

The editorials must not exceed 500 words and are to be typewritten on one side of regular plain letter size sheets.

Each college or university will be permitted to send one editorial to the committee, a local contest closing April — with — acting as judges, picking the winner whose editorial will then be entered in the South-wide contest at the prescribed time.

Scheme of Identity

In order to save embarrassment on the part of the local and southern committees, assumed names are required on the upper right hand corner of the editorials and that same assumed name is required on plain sealed envelope, in which the proper name, address, school and home of the writer will be contained. The editorial, with this envelope attached, will first be given to the local committee, and still sealed, sent to general committee chairman.

Awards in this contest will be made at the annual convention of the association, to be held the latter part of April at a place yet to be selected. Officers of the association are: President, Chas. F. Leek, University of Richmond, Va.; Vice-Presidents M. L. Deitch, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn., for Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana; Bowie Millican, Emory University, Georgia, for North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Georgia; Miss Burkella Wells, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., for Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, West Virginia and Virginia; and Secretary-Treasurer R. E. Garst, University of Richmond, Va.

LOVE-LIES-BLEEDING

I found some love-lies-bleeding
Beside the pathway there,
A crushed and broken blossom.
Scenting the eager air.

A spray of love-lies-bleeding—
My thoughts went far away
Back through the days and memories
To a distant yesterday.

So long—I'd not remembered,
Save for a faint old pain,
That a spray of love-lies-bleeding
Had stirred to life again.

LULLABY.

Love, like a flower, must go its way—
Hush, my heart, do not weep!
In my soul I knew it could not stay—
Hush, my heart, go to sleep!

Dear Lord, the way is long, is long,
Hush, my heart, do not cry!
And I must sing a song, a song—
Pain will end, heart, by and by.

A song that he may never guess,
Hush, oh my heart, and sleep!
The tears and pain and soulsickness,
'Tis weary going—heart, don't weep!

Sleep, sleep, oh little heart of mine,
Perhaps thou wilt forget in time.

S'POSE EVERYONE DID!

Do you throw paper on the campus?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you make unnecessary noises during study hour?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you keep books out over time?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you use another's Rotunda?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you take food from the dining room?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you wait ten minutes to start for the dining room?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you throw water across the table?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you cut classes?
S'pose everyone did!
Do you get out of line while waiting with a package slip?
S'pose everyone did!
Stop and think what would happen
If everyone did!

THOUGHT.

I thought of you today;
Did you feel my thought
Wrapping you about
In rose-white folds of love
And memory?

BELGIAN COUNTESS TO BE CONVENTION GUEST

A Member of Belgium's Nobility Has Direct Charge of Clubs and Classes

A countess who is yet not so much of a countess that she can not devote a greater part of her time to the interest of women and girls of her country, is coming to this country in the March to be one of the principal guests at the National Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association in Hot Springs, Arkansas, next April. "Mamselle" Helen Gabet d'Alviella is the president of the Foyer des Allées, in Brussels and although a volunteer worker, has as busy a hand in the active management as any of her associates.

During the war, the Countess d'Alviella lectured to English and American soldiers on "Conditions in Belgium during the German occupation," and became interested in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association in France. It was largely as a result of her personal efforts, that the organization was established in Belgium.

NORMAL SCHOOL SONG

(Tune—America for Me)

This is in old Virginia a place we love to be Where Appomattox river flows far inland from the sea.

Where the little town of Farmville lies encircled by its hills,
Its lacy lanes all rose perfumed, its voice the song birds trills.

Chorus.

Oh, the Normal fair, the Normal dear, the Normal best sing we,
In Farmville town, the hills around, the place
we love to be.

There it stands in green embowered its columns pure and white;
In the praise of Alma Mater shall her daughters all unite.

We toast the men and women, the Normal faculty, Who've thought and worked with vision of the better things to be;
Who have been our friends and masters, who
have made the Normal's fame,
We'll cheer the roll of now and then, who've
nobly played the game.

We toast the Normal student to-day and yesterday;
Our place is at the forefront, and 'tis we shall lead the way,
From the mountains of Virginia down to the
far blue sea.
The Normal's daughters shall be one in faith
and loyalty.

FACULTY SQUAD DEFEATS PROFESSIONALS

(As Told by an Eye-Witness)—A Great Game

Dear Sue

You ort to of been here last Tues. There was played a gret game. Tho why they call it playing is more than I can make out because I aint never seen nobody work as hard as these people did and they said they was playing and they was girls too and you know Sue as a rule and a general thing girls dont do any more work than they has to. Now I like girls and I aint saying things to their backs I wouldn't say to their faces but you just know how they is. Well any way as I said it was a gret game. But maybe they worked so hard so as you could not tell they was girls. They seem to think that if they could of made the other side think they was boys they could scare them so that they could beet. One side thought they was mighty smart and send home and borrowed their little brothers breeches and they thought they would scare the other side that way too but there must have been a smart one on the other side too or some girl let the secret out of the bag because the other side did the same thing too. And to make the deception more complete Sue they went so far as to cut their hair most all off. And this may have had something to do with their winning for the other side didn't seem to of thought of that and so they got beet. But tho the side that got beet didn't cut their hair off they tried to get some advantage by rubbin paint or some magic powder on their faces. They has brought a trained nurse with them, and I tell you she was mighty cute. But that didn't help much. You know Sue that the object of the game is to see how near you can come to getting the ball in without doing it for if you get it in that counts against you. One team got it in 7 times and almost won but the other team got it only 6 times and they won. I knew tho that the side that won was going to win any way just as soon as I heard that they were "professionals" and that the others were amatures. They didn't call them amatures tho because they didn't want to hurt their feelings but called them faculties or somethingorother. I must say that these faculties are good sports for altho they had hard luck and got it in 7 times to the others 6 they took their licken like men, only they weren't sure nuf men only they dressed like men and if there was any difference they actually seemed happier after the game than the professionals but I guess these professionals has won so many larels they get used to it any way they didn't say much.

Hoping you are the same.

LILLIAN.

Remember that when you're in the right you can afford to keep your temper, and that when you're in the wrong, you can't afford to lose it.—Exchange.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

FARMVILLE HERALD

PRINTING

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

Commercial Printers

THE NORMAL GIRLS' PRINT SHOP

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Figure It Out

How many apples did Adam and Eve eat?
Some say Eve eight and Adam two—a total of ten only.

Now we figure the thing out far differently: Eve eight and Adam eight also—total 16.

We think the above figures are entirely wrong.

If Eve eight and Adam 82, certainly the total will be 90.

Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the antediluvians were giants, reason something this: Eve 81 and Adam 82—total 163.

Wrong again. What could be clearer than if Eve 81, Adam 812 which makes 893.—Ex.

Very True

A school paper is a great invention

'The school gets all the fame;

The printer gets all the money,

'The staff gets all the blame.—Burr.

Sweet Anticipation

"You look dejected."

"Yes. Married life gets on my nerves."

"Been married long?"

"No. The wedding takes place to-morrow."
—Selected.

This incident may appeal to the students of European affairs:

"Two American soldiers entered a restaurant in one of the Balkan countries and ordered 'Turkey with Greece.'"

"All right, shall I Russia order?" asked the waiter?

"Yes."

In a few minutes the waiter returned.

"Sorry, but I can't Serbia."

"Call the Bosphorus."

"He is out at present."

So the soldiers went away Hungary.

These are so old that perhaps they are new to some of us. Read the following to make sense:

Stand took to takings
I you throw my

Yy u r, yy u b, I c u r y for me.

Irate Mother—I'll teach you to kiss my daughter.

Insolent Youth—You're too late, I've learned already.—Froth.

These notices were seen on the doors:

Lost—a silver pencil in the room with a black ribbon attached to it.

Mrs. Dodl, please call me at 5:30 P. M.

Why do you feed your dog axle grease?

Because it helps his waggin'.—Moonshine.

See if you can punctuate this sentence:

That that is is that that is not is not.

"Yist-day," says Uncle Zeke, "I dropped foah cents on the floor and dey made a big racket. Eef dey had been foah dollar bills nobody would have heard 'em drap. People is jest like money; dem dat makes the most noise ain't allus of de mos' account.—Boys' News.

1st Girl—"We have a new car at home with the biggest, loudest horn on it imaginable."

2nd Girl—"We have a new one, too, but we don't need a horn. Anyone can look on the radiator and see Dodge, Brothers.—Adapted.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful 'Gray Silk Hose $2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look ourline over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1888

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.

FARMVILLE, VA.

CRAWFORD ADAMS HOLD AUDIENCE SPELLBOUND.

You, who heard the wonderful violinist Crawford Adams and his company, on Thursday night, March 16, in the auditorium, can certainly verify the statement that it was one of the best Lyceum attractions of the season. Crawford Adams, accompanied by Mr. Dodos, proved his marvelous ability as a violinist and charmed the audience with his playing. One of the unique features was his request that the audience name some numbers that they would like to hear played and he stood the memory test by playing all the numbers named. It has been said that throughout his career he has never failed to play the requests.

Crawford Adams was accompanied by Miss Marion Wilkins, reader, and Mr. Dodos, pianist, who were also thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Wilkins made a varied selection, some of her readings being humorous and some literary, thus she appealed to all classes.

The audience showed their appreciation by the splendid way in which they responded and Crawford Adams will find that he won many hearts among the staunch Southerners by his last number, "Dixie."

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The Williams College Record

The alumni of Williams College are striving to raise an endowment fund of $1,500,000. This fund will serve as a memorial to the Williams College men who fell in the war.

The Wild Cat

Louisiana College Glee Club accompanied by the orchestra will make a tour of Louisiana.

The Emory Wheel

Emory University is putting on a drive to raise $1,000 for missions.

Davidsonian

Dr. J. M. Vander Meulen helped in life decisions in his conference on "Conditions of True Discipleship" at Davidson College last week.

Maroon and Gold

The eleventh annual conference of the North Carolina Student Volunteer Union was held at Greensboro, N. C., March 3, 4 and 5. A large delegation from Elon College, N. C., attended.

The Sun Dial

Miss Ruth Muskrat from the Cherokees has been chosen to represent American Indians at a world's conference next spring. She sails from San Francisco this month to attend the meeting in Peking in the early spring.

MY PART IN THE NATIONAL STUDENT ASSEMBLY.

In less than one month I through my representatives will be meeting with other students from all over the United States in the National Student Assembly at Hot Springs to study a student's Christian life with all its possibilities and opportunities and obligations in the schools throughout our nation. The problem that faces us is that of cramming a great deal of business of such a broad scope and deep significance into so short a period of time. To do this to the glory of our Father and to avoid borrowed action require the careful preparation of much premeditation and prayer on the part of every member of our Young Woman's Christian Association. Above all we must not become so much involved in "Association," in "Activity," in "Programs" that we forget the "Christian." Let us keep open-minded, tolerant, sympathetic, never losing sight of Jesus Christ, whom we love and whom we strive to serve.

The following questions will undoubtedly be among those brought up for discussion:

1. Personal membership basis.
2. Policy, program and support for student work.
3. The Field Council—its function and status.
4. International Fellowship: (a) What share do we have in the World Student Christian Federation? (b) What are our obligations, at this time, to the students of other nations? (c) What is the effect of this international bond upon our local Associations and upon our personal lives?
5. Shall conference areas be changed?
6. Student Industrial Co-operation.
7. Student Rural Co-operation.

Am I without meditation and prayer able to discuss and to come to a conviction or help another come to a conviction that will be to the glory of my Father and to the furthering of His Kingdom in my school?

This is my work.

NATIONAL STUDENT ASSEMBLY CONVENES AT HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS ON APRIL 20TH.

The National Student Assembly which is a part of the National Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association will meet in Hot Springs, Arkansas, from April 20 to 27.

The State Normal School here will send the following delegates: Marian Camper, Gwendolyn Wright, Lois Williams, Elizabeth Moring, together with Miss Mary White Cox and Miss Steele.

Don't miss the Japanese Art Exhibit in basement of the west wing.

FOURTH YEAR WINS CLASS BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP OVER THIRD YEAR.

It was a very excited crowd that gathered in the armory last Thursday night to see the second basketball game between the Third and Fourth Year High School. The teams were both determined to win and amid the peppy cheers of both sides the game started. In the first and second quarter the Fourth Year by means of hard playing kept ahead leaving at the end of the second quarter the score of 15-12 in their favor. During the third quarter the Third Year put all their energy into their playing and little by little brought their score near that of the Fourth Year. In the middle of the last quarter the score was tied and then both teams put up a hard fight. Then the Third Year gained a point and a mighty cheer went up from their "rooters." While the Fourth Year did some fast playing the crowd stood on tiptoe with excitement. Edwards shot a goal just before the whistle blew for time and the game was over, the score being 17-16 in favor of the Fourth Year. Both teams did splendid playing and deserve much credit, for the game was a hard, fast and clean one.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted at a meeting of the Athenian Literary Society held March 14, 1922:

Whereas, on March 8, 1922, death has removed from our School and Society a faithful and loyal member, Elizabeth Ligon Bonduant; and

Whereas, our Society realizes that it has sustained a great loss in her death;

Therefore, we the members of the Athenian Literary Society do adopt the following resolutions:

- Resolved 1st. That we shall greatly miss her, the interest manifested by her in the Society, and the beneficial character of her work.
- 2d. That we extend to her family our deepest sympathy in this hour of sorrow.
- 3d. That these resolutions be recorded on the minutes of our Society, that a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and that a copy be published in the Rottunda.

MARY BOLEN,
MARIAN CAMPER,
EDNA BLANTON,
Committee.

The Big Time.

As up and down across the town,

Miss Knecht went a-hiking,
The men in flocks observed her clocks,
Because her clocks were striking.

The clock of civilization may have been stopped by the war, but the clock on the girls' hose is going ahead with great strides.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeck
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

EDITORIAL.

Spring is upon us. We are made conscious of it in manifold ways. We hear the twittering birds, we see the shrubs bursting into bloom, we feel the soft breath of the warm spring winds laden with the fragrance of wild flowers. The school-children bring us bright little bunches of violets and spring beauties.

Yes, spring has come. What message does it bring us? What lies back of the beauty and the fragrance? Few of us have stopped to consider. We are enjoying spring without any questions. But some of us like to seek out the inner meaning of things. We have heard the church bells ring and have realized that this is Lent, a time of sacrifice and giving up of our own desires. We know that Lent will be followed by Easter, the symbol of the resurrection, the awakening to new life. The warm spring winds bring us the same message that the church bells bring—the awakening to new life. Back of Easter is Lent. Back of the spring flower is the seed, which for a long time lay dormant in the earth, giving up its individual life that more beauty and fragrance might be ours in spring.

Would you have more of beauty and fragrance in your life, the beauty of greater knowledge and the fragrance of a purer spirit? Then listen to the voice of spring. Back of the gaining of knowledge must be the giving of time to study, back of the purity of spirit must be prayer and meditation. "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." If we would have the joy of Easter, we must make the sacrifice of Lent. Only he who loses his life can find it.

— M. S. T.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES.

There seems to be a tendency among students to let just two factors of life, work and play, usurp all their time and leave neglected that other vital, living factor, the outside activity, which is a medium between the two, demanding for its execution both work and play. Just as hard and conscientious work is demanded here as in the school-room, but in return there are many compensations, so no one should permit that fact to disturb them. By entering into these activities which are separate but not foreign to the work of the classroom there are so many advantages to be gained that no one having such an opportunity, should fail to grasp it. There is not a chance for everyone to take an active part in such work as the Athletic Association, Y. W. Literary Societies and magazine work, but everyone, regardless of age or talent can uphold and be a loyal supporter of all. Everyone knows that school is not merely a preparation for life but a definite part, and since a participation in outside activities means so much more worth while, it seems like wanton wastefulness to go through school seeing nothing but the scholastic side! Come on, everybody, help support everything and receive in return the greatest possible benefit from your years at S. N. S.!

—D. L.

HUNGER WEATHER.

Hunger weather—heart-sick longing
For the things I may not see,
But yet will want through all eternity
Hunger weather—there come thronging
Such hosts of wistful dreams and strange desires.

Made of moon-mist and of fires;
Hunger of the heart—and dreaming—
Dreams long lost in babyhood, and new Dreams, dear because they'll ne'er come true
Hunger weather—when the seeming
Purple of the calling hills can thrill
My heart with visions fair; the shrill
Voice of the wandering wind shakes my eager soul

Because it knows what lies beyond the hills.
Hunger weather—aching stillness
In the heart; fear that the gold
Of joy in life may pass, unseen, my way;
Desire for the strange face of an unborn day.
Hunger weather—longing that dreams may soon come true,

My gypsy heart a-hunger for far trails—
But always, as the purple twilight falls—
Hunger for the sight, and touch of you!

—P. T.

LIFE.

Life smiled at me
And tossed his golden hair.
Life is a friend of mine;
I think I shall always love him.
I am not afraid of him
Because he tossed his golden hair
—Joyous hair—and smiled at me.

—P. T.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A. OFFICERS ELECTED.

President.....Marian Camper
Vice-President.....Lois Williams
Undergraduate Representative,
Gwendolyn Wright
Secretary.....Mary Nichols
Treasurer.....Mary Bolen

BLUE MONDAY.

6 A. M.—Mrs. Blanton: "I wonder why I haven't more girls to call this morning. I'm afraid they aren't studying so well. No, it isn't that—the Seniors are away."

7:45 A. M.—Mary: "I just can't eat to save my life. Those empty tables all around make me think it is the morning after 'the night before,' but who could eat? for—the Seniors are away."

8:35 A. M.—Ellen: "There seem to be lots of classes excused to-day. The faculty look like they miss someone; well, why not? for—the Seniors are away."

10 A. M.—Helen: "Girls certainly are careless this morning. It seems awfully strange to have all these six rows of empty seats. Why aren't the girls at chapel? Because—the Seniors are away."

10:45 to 1 P. M.—Sarah: "Classes today are low-minded. Believe my soul, they're of double length. Juniors go to classes and do mind it all day long, becau—the Seniors are away."

1:15 P. M.—Julia: "Just another dinner that isn't satisfying, because—the Seniors are away."

6 P. M.—Agnes: "I say ditto."

6:30 P. M.—Marion: "I enjoyed prayers to-night in the Association room, but why couldn't we feel more like singing. We just couldn't because—the Seniors are away."

7 to 10 P. M.—Gretchen: "The day has been cold and dark and dreary, nothing has been just right. We'll hope for more joy to-morrow for—the Seniors will be coming back."

10 P. M.—Rah, rah, rah! rah! rah!

Rah, rah, rah! rah! rah!

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Seniors! Seniors! Seniors!

"PSALM OF NORMAL LIFE."

Tell me not that Normal School life
Is a life to be despised;
'Tis a golden opportunity,
We its students realize.

Not frivolities nor pleasures
Is our aim at school, we pray.
But 'tis this: our Normal training
Helps us on toward "Teaching Day."

In this world of joy and sorrow,
We may boldly take our place
And to the world give forth our knowledge
Then bravely all our trials face.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The election of officers in the Athenian Literary Society for the spring term was held March 14, 1922. They were as follows:

President—Aldred Dickerson.
Vice-President—Helen Craddock.
Recording Secretary—Mamie Sexton.
Corresponding Secretary—Genevieve Bonniwell.
Treasurer—Dorothy Langslow.
Censor—Edna Blanton.
Critic—Mary Bolen.
Reporter—Sue Puckett.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Cunningham Literary Society gave a program on Sidney Lanier at its regular weekly meeting. The program was as follows:

A sketch of Lanier's life by Margaret Finch, a short story from Lanier by Martha Coulling and The Song of the Chattahoochee read by Margaret Atwill.

WHO IS A FRIEND?

A Friend is one whose love

Is a love that is pure and true,

A love that is given from Above

And not created by you.

A Friend is one who never forgets,

And within her heart will hold

Each pleasant memory, not regrets,

And prize them as rubies and gold.

A Friend will never forsake or leave

Another in sorrow or shame.

But fasten to her will ever cleave

To uplift her and honor her name.

A Friend is one who always tries

In every possible way

To help another to see where lies

The dawn of a brighter day.

To a real Friend nothing is cost

Where Friendship is the gain.

For there must come the Winter's frost,

Before the Summer's rain.

What is a Friend? Did some one ask?

The answer no one can deny

To a true Friend naught is a task,

And a joy for another to die.

—E. B.

"Speaking of apples", in the Rotunda of March 17, Adam and Eve were credited with the consumption of 893. Evidently the person making that estimate were versed in mathematics of elementary grade only, for the real total far exceeded that number. It is true that Eve 81, but Adam 812, 42 10 der a husband was he not to share his wife's pleasures.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

Typewriting Paper In Quantities to Suit.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.
Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

RGY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

A PRAYER.

Father, help me to live from day to day,
The life Thou wouldst have me to live.
Help me to say what Thou wouldst have me
say,
And give what Thou wouldst have me give.
Help me to let my light so shine,
That others who are drifting afar
May see the feeble, flickering sign
And be guided across the Bar.
Then when my work on earth is done,
When leaning on Thy breast,
May I hear Thee say "Well done,
My beloved thou hast earned thy rest."
—E. Y. B.

THE SNOW FLAKE

Here we see a model temple,
Here is but a frame work small;
But each flake has formed a fraction
Of some plan that makes the all.

Tiny Snowflakes, can you whisper
What you find in life to bless?
Tiny Snowflake, can you tell us
Is your life just like the rest?

Whisper, is your glad some message
That although your life is short
You have found a bit of joy
In the children's laugh and sport!

Tell us! Ah, 'tis but the glory
Of a simple golden deed,
How you helped to drive the sadness
From a world of this one need.

—M. G.

BEAUTY.

The gypsy feet of a wandering wind
Stole by,
You laughed, and said,
"Summer will soon be gone."
I did not answer
It caught me unaware,
That faint echo of slow passing feet;
Caught . . . and held me . . .
Breathless . . . thrilled . . . and sad . . .
It was as though Beauty passed;
Passed—and left behind,
Her soul—caught in the glow
Of fireflies in the dusk;
In the faint perfume of hidden flowers;
Held in the thinly crescent moon.
Hung, like a scimitar from the outstretched hands
Of the dreaming trees. Beauty
Caught—and held
In the aching soul of me.

—P. T.

THOUGHTS ON RUG-BEATING.

Boys can't never have no fun,
When spring-cleanin' is begun.
There's all them old rugs to beat,
An' roll 'em up all nice an' neat.
Then there's boxes by the score,
Old papers an' other junk galore,
Just got to clean that attic out,
I tell you boys, ma makes you scout!
This mornin' 'fore I'd reached the gate,

I heard ma call, "Johnny, you wait!
Don't you know there's rugs to beat?
Now, you just beat a fast retreat.
Put that hat an' ball right down,
'Taint no use to fret and frown,
You ain't goin' to play in the street,
When there's all them rugs to beat."

—E. Y. B.

Reba (to Annette, who was singing) "Anette, do you know "I Love You Truly?"

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
FARMVILLE, VA.
Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance
MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia
J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,
Cleaning and Pressing,
Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of
Ice and Ice Cream
Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.
ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look ourline over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SUPPORT THE NEW STAFF

THE ROTUNDA

AND WATCH THE ROTUNDA GROW

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 22.

Farmville, Virginia.

March 31, 1922.

FARMVILLE DEFEATS RADFORD.

Close Fought Game Ends in Favor of Home Team.

One of the fastest and the best basket ball games played on the home field was that between Radford and Farmville staged last Saturday night. The Armory was packed and the cheering was at its best as were the girls of both teams. The game began with vim and never lagged a minute. Both teams kept the ball hot and due to the well matched players neither side scored for some time. After hard fighting on both sides the first quarter ended in favor of Radford. Not discouraged by this the home team worked with double strength and held the visitors down, but they too seemed to have gained strength and in the last quarter it looked as if Radford had the game. It took some of the fastest playing and hardest fighting ever displayed to win the game but Farmville did it and made a score of 11, leaving 9 for the visitors to take home.

The guarding on both sides was close. Margaret Mathews carried off the honors as forward.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Miss Smithey, Mr. Grainger and Mr. Faithful attended the meeting of the teachers of District B held at Hopewell, Va.

Miss Gladys Gray has been elected to membership of the Pi Kappa Omega Society.

Miss Mildred Dickinson has been elected as sponsor for Prince Edward county at the Virginia Historical Pageant.

The student committee entertained the Farmville and Radford varsity squads at the movies and tea room on Friday night.

The Seniors were very much surprised on returning to school last Tuesday to learn that due to the unfinished work on schedules they would have another day holiday.

Miss Dorothy Baltz has been elected to the varsity squad.

The Dramatic Club is rehearsing for the spring play which will be presented on April 7th.

Due to necessary decision of Gwendolyn Wright, our Undergraduate Representative-elect, not to return next year, the following changes have been made in the officers of the Y. W. C. A.: Lois Williams, formerly elected as vice-president of the association, was selected as the new U. R., and her former position will be filled by Gladys Gray.

FIRST PROFESSIONAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASSES GIVE DEMONSTRATION.

A Physical Education Demonstration was given Monday night, March 20th, in the gymnasium. This demonstration consisted of exercises, games and apparatus work given by different sections of the First Professional gym. classes under the supervision and direction of Miss Barlow. The program was opened by Miss Barlow at 7 P. M. by a few introductory statements on aims of physical education and how they might be accomplished. Then the following demonstration was made by seven different sections:

1. Free standing exercises (in which Swedish day's order was followed).
2. Ball play and "A Hunting."
3. Dumb-bell drill with victrola.
4. "Sellingner's Round," an old English folk dance, and "Indian Dance."
5. Wand drill.
6. "The Swing" and "Jolly is the Miller," two singing games.
7. Apparatus work, as vaulting with the ropes, vaulting over the box and traveling on the rings.

The program was closed with a volleyball game between the First and Third Professionals, in which the Thirds were beaten in score but not in spirit.

ATTRACTIVE EXHIBIT OF JAPANESE ART.

An exhibition of Japanese old prints, reprints, modern prints, stencils and postal cards was opened Friday, March 24th. This exhibit is being held in the basement of the west wing. Every one is invited to come several times to see the pictures. The prints, tastefully mounted and arranged by Miss Blawelt, present an artistic view of Japanese life.

The prices of the pictures range from 25 cents to $5.00. The postal cards (pictures taken from older artists) are on sale in the tea room, price 10 and 15 cents. Stencils, sold with brushes, are from 7 to 30 cents. A very valuable book for the art student is the Book of Designs, which is also on sale. The process of wood block printing is described in a book on that subject. It is to be hoped that a large number of students will avail themselves of this opportunity to see the exhibit.

NOT AS BAD AS IT SOUNDS.

Lily (to the Student Committee): We will take the Radford team to prayers after supper, then to the movies. After that we will take them to the tea room. By that time they will be ready for the infirmary.

CABINET TRAINING COUNCIL TO MEET HERE.

The Cabinet Training Council of the Young Women's Christian Association will be held in this institution April 7th through 10th. This Council, which meets annually at some one of the colleges in Virginia, will be attended by the incoming Cabinet members of the Associations of Randolph-Macon, Sweet Briar, Hollins, Richmond College, and our own school. Speakers from field headquarters and national headquarters will be present, and all phases of the Association work will be discussed in preparation for the work of 1922-1923. The last Cabinet Training Council was held at Sweet Briar College in April, 1921. Well-known speakers were present, among whom were Miss Burner, Miss Young and Miss Lena Creecy, one of the Industrial workers. Both full meetings of all the delegates, and group conferences were held with these Association workers. The Council was a great success, and it is most fortunate that we are able to have it meet this year in our institution.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The Senior Class of Salem College held its annual ceremony of ivy-and-tree-planting last week.

The Glee Club at Lynchburg College is planning a trip to Richmond and Baltimore.

An effort is being made to build a Methodist church at Elon. As it is now, the chapel is being used by all, regardless of denomination. If this plan should be successful it would bring denominationalism into a community which has not known denominational strife for thirty-one years. Therefore it is being bitterly opposed by some.

A wireless phone has been installed at Bethany College.

Hampden-Sidney College is to be congratulated upon the tidy sum of one hundred thousand dollars recently presented to them from the Rockefeller Endowment Fund.

"When does the 5:28 train leave?" shouted a belated passenger, bursting in at the station door.

"Five-twenty-eight," was the answer. "Well, the postoffice clock is twenty-six minutes after five and my watch is thirty minutes past. Which am I to go by?"

"You can go by either you want, but you can't go by the train, because it's gone."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF.

Editor-in-Chief Mildred Dickinson
Assistant Editor Lois Williams
BOARD OF EDITORS

News Mary Boeck
Organizations Harriet Judson Munoz
Athletic Kate Davis
Y. W. C. A. Julia Alexander
Joke Nancy Crismon
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Margaret Atwell
Alumnae Florence Buford
Business Manager Virginia Anderson
Assistant Business Manager Gwendolyn Wright
Circulation Manager Emily Calcott
Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Cogbill
Assistant Circulation Manager Helen Rogerson

A LAST WORD.

With the publication of this issue of the Rotunda the staff concludes the work of some eleven months and makes its formal exit from the journalistic life of the school. In this, our final opportunity as members of the staff to address the readers of the Rotunda, there are several things which we would say.

First and foremost, we wish to express our appreciation and gratitude to those who made it possible for us to have what we have regarded as an invaluable experience. The work on the Rotunda has been of real educational value as well as a source of pleasure to those who have had it in charge. As the second Rotunda staff we have viewed with satisfaction the growth and development of the paper along various lines. In the reorganization of the staff and the change in the method of selecting it, in the extension of the advertising and subscription list, in the working up of a rather extensive exchange list, in the introduction of new cuts, and in the occasional publication of a larger issue, we can trace the growth of our school weekly through the past year and make many prophecies for its further development in the future.

Especially do we wish to thank all those who through their hearty support and co-operation have made the publication of the paper possible, and we ask that you aid as faithfully and enthusiastically the incoming staff.

We cannot refrain in this, our last word, from expressing something of our hopes for the future and assuming the role of prophet. We would remind our readers that the Rotunda is at present only fifteen months old. While we rejoice in its growth, we do not forget that it far from reaches the high standard which, as a newspaper published by a student body the size and quality of ours, we hope to see it attain. In the extension of subscriptions, in the securing of new advertisements and in the enlargement of the paper itself is a real work for the incoming staff and the many staffs which follow.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor Dorothy Langslow
BOARD OF EDITORS:

News Ann Meredith
Organizations Lois Williams
Athletic Nell McArdie
Y. W. C. A. Mamie Nichols
Joke Emily Calcott
Literary Pauline Timberlake
Exchange Kate Davis
Alumnae Miss Brownie Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager Julia Alexander
..... Mary Maupin

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Marion Linton, of Pelham, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. Roberta Large.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch of March 19th contains a page of winter brides. Among them is Mrs. Clyde Shepherd, formerly Miss Mary Swain, of Danville.

Dr. Jarman attended a meeting of the Norfolk Alumnae Chapter on the evening of March 24th, and on March 25th was the guest of honor at a luncheon in Portsmouth given by the Portsmouth, Hampton, Newport News and Yorktown chapters.

Miss Lula G. Winston, formerly head of the department of Chemistry and Physics here, now of Meredith College, N. C., is the author of a poem entitled "The Mosaic of Calvary." The stanzas are in sonnet form and depict in rare beauty of thought and expression the various types of individuals surrounding the cross.

BEAUTY.

From the earliest Springtime
When the first green leaves appear,
Until the hills are capped with snow
At the closing of the year;
With Summer's wealth of fruits and flowers
And grass and ripened grain,
With Autumn's many tinted shades
On valley, hill and plain;
With Winter's frosts and whistling winds
And sparkling moonlit nights,
When fairy snowflakes gently fall
Beneath the stars' cold lights;
With sparkling seas and fleecy clouds
And skies of every hue,
God makes the whole world beautiful
All the long year through.

—D. L.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

As April draws near our thoughts turn to the Cabinet Training Council which will be held here April 7th through 10th. Before the new cabinet members of our Y. W. C. A. take up their work for the coming year they must be trained for this work, and this training culminates in the Cabinet Training Council. It is with many pleasant memories that our present cabinet members look back on the council of last year, which was held at Sweet Briar College. It was there that our girls met with cabinet girls from Randolph-Macon, Hollins, Richmond College and Sweet Briar. Series of inspirational meetings and conferences were held, and talks were made by well-known Y. W. C. A. workers. For the hours of leisure our hostesses, the students of Sweet Briar College, furnished pleasant entertainment such as plays, teas and garden parties. They did everything possible to make the entire time there pleasant for the guests. This year it is our good fortune to have the Training Council meet at our school. This means that all these cabinet girls from other schools, including our own new cabinet girls, are our guests, and we, the students of S. N. S., are their hostesses. This does not mean merely the present Y. W. C. A. officers, but it means every single student in school. The program of the council meetings will be planned at headquarters, but the rest of the time is left to us. If you happen to know any of these girls who will be our guests go to them and do everything you can to make their visit a pleasant one. If you do not know them, meet them, talk to them, show them that we are glad to have them with us, and give them things to look back on with pleasant memories. We have shown what hospitality we can offer by the way in which we have entertained the visiting basketball teams from the other normal schools. Now let us show what we can do for the cabinet girls of these leading Virginia colleges!

BABY ROBINS.

* Away in the top of a sycamore tree,
High from the ground below,
Is a wee tiny nest holding five little eggs,
And the wind rocks them to and fro.

Five tiny eggs of the bluest blue
Are warmed by the mother fond
As she watches all day, as all mother birds do.

While the sun shines so warm and the wind blows through.

Then one fine day from each little egg
Came a peep and a peep and a peep.
And the mother and father bird crowd round and sing,

While the babies just cheep, cheep, cheep.

Then father bird flies from his home in the nest

And down on the garden green,
And finds enough worms for five hungry mouths,

Then he flies to the nest again.

But the baby birds grew, just as all babies do,

And now they must learn to fly;
So mother bird just spread her wings
And said to the birdies, "Try."

Then five little birds, their wings outspread,

And jumped from the warm little nest,
And flew all over the garden wall
To see who could fly the best.

P. T.: "I passed Virginia Weaver on the street just now. I guess she was going down to the drug store."

R. H.: "Why do you think she is going to the drug store?"

P. T.: "Because she said she was walking for her complexion."

Katherine Gary rushing into the Home Office said breathlessly: "Miss Shelton, please send this telegram right away. I want it to go out on the '4:10.'"

"Did you catch on to my joke?"

"No, I did not."

"Well, here's one for you. One time there was a barrel of sawdust. Got that in your head?"

"Yep."

"I thought so."

I had von leetle pony,
E's name was Handy Sit;
I lent him to a Senior
To get 'er Latin mit.
She trotted him, she galloped 'im,
She rode him thru all strife.
I would not lend my pony now
To save a Senior's life.

Alice had a little swing,
A swing without a back
An every eve a different beau
Would help supply the lack.

—Jack O'Lantern.

Miss Spear in reading class: "What did Caesar exclaim when Brutus stabbed him?"
Mary Bowles: "I think he said 'Ouch!'"

Young girl who took French—"O je t'adore!"

She who did not—"Shut it yourself. You left it open!"

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

Typewriting Paper

In Quantities to Suit.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

JOKES.

"Waiter."
 "Yes, sir."
 "What's this?"
 "It's bean soup, sir."
 "No matter what it has been, the question is what is it now?"—Virginia Reel.

Professor in Science: We'll let my hat represent Mars."

Student: "Is Mars inhabited?"
 "Why do you stutter?"
 "That's my p-p-eculiarity. Everyone has a p-p-eculiarity."
 "I have none."
 "D-d-don't you s-s-tir your coffee with your r-r-right hand?"
 "Yes."
 "Well, that's your p-p-eculiarity. M-most folks use a s-spoon."

A Senior just before holidays: "When I finish this term paper, I can go home in peace."

Second Senior: "And if you don't, you will go home in pieces, won't you?"

Conundrums for the geography student:
 1. The capital of which State in the Union represents the greatest surgical operation ever performed?

2. What city represents the greatest feat of strength ever performed?

The correct answers will appear in the next issue.

The Betraying Accent.

A Scotchman visiting London was advised by a friend to patronize a certain restaurant, being told that the food was good and the prices very reasonable. Desiring to be fully posted, the Scot inquired, "And what about a tip for the waitress? How much would she expect?"

"Nothing—when she heard you speak," was his friend's reply.

A Home Industry.

"And this," said the chief of detectives, who was doing the honors to a party of feminine investigators, "is our finger print department."

"Dear me!" exclaimed one motherly looking woman who seemed a little out of place. "Where are the children?"

"The children, ma'am?"

"Yes—to make the finger prints."

Saved Her Tears.

The bore had the fair young thing on the verge of tears.

"It costs a good deal more than you think to become a broad-minded and intelligent man of the world," he remarked.

The young thing saw her opportunity and took it. "I suppose so," she said, "and I don't blame you for saving your money."

Handicapped.

"Augustus, all you have to do is just to talk to father as man to man."
 "I'm afraid I can't do that, Geraldine."

"Why not?"

"When your father looks at me there's something in his eye that seems to say he regards me as a fish, and a poor specimen of fish at that."

Not Delicate.

"How do you like my pound cake, dearie?" asked Mrs. Newlywed.

"Why, er—er—er!" stammered Mr. Newlywed. "I don't think you pounded it enough, did you?"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Ancestors All Dead.

Jiggs—I don't believe this rot about vitamins. My ancestors never knew anything about them.

Giggs—Yes, but look what has happened to your ancestors. Every last one of them is dead.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance.

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
 State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
 Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
 Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
 FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used
 FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
 DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
 $2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
 Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
 Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
 at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.

FARMVILLE, VA.

WELCOME
Y. W. C. A.
Training Council.

ROSTON THE TUNOA

SUPPORT YOUR NEW OFFICERS

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 23.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 7, 1922.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Upon the invitation of the Portsmouth Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association about one hundred and ten Farmville girls teaching in Portsmouth, Norfolk, Hampton, Newport News, Suffolk, and Yorktown, met at the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. Saturday, March 25, for a luncheon and reunion.

Dr. Jarman, straight from Farmville, was indeed the star guest of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook, whose "front porch" parties at the Farmville rectory, all S. N. S. girls of a few years ago will remember, were also there and were greeted gladly by all who knew them.

Mrs. M. L. T. Davis, Jr., of Norfolk, formerly Miss Julia Johnson, of the Farmville Training School, was one of the most honored guests. Mrs. Davis has had poems published in the "Lyric" and in the "Literary Digest" during recent years, and all Farmville folks are proud to claim her. Mrs. Davis has been recently elected to the alumnae membership of the Pi Kappa Omega Society.

S. N. S. songs, old and new, were sung, various toasts were given, and a great deal of real old S. N. S. spirit was in evidence. Dr. Jarman made a talk about the student building, and pledges to the amount of nearly $1,200 were made by the girls. The Portsmouth Chapter also presented him with a check for $200 to be added to the student building fund.

A letter from Miss Jennie Tabb made the girls feel as if they had had another personal greeting straight from Farmville, and was received with a great clapping of hands.

This luncheon was the first of its kind that ever has been held in Tidewater Virginia. Everyone present voted it a great success, and it is to be hoped that the experiment will be repeated not only in Tidewater, but in all parts of Virginia.

The following article appeared in the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch of March 25:

Dr. J. L. Jarman, who for twenty years has been president of the State Normal College at Farmville gave an address last night at the Y. M. C. A., which will long be remembered by former students and Alumnae members as one of the most inspiring talks ever heard in College circles.

His description of school life during the present year and of the campaign to raise $100,000 for a new building was heard with close attention and interest.

He told of the growth of the school during the 35 years and of the importance of an institution which last year graduated 175 girls, qualified to teach in the State.

The plans for the new building have been completed, the site chosen and more than $17,000 has already been pledged by students and alumnae and citizens of Farmville.

It is planned to raise $50,000 of the required amount among the alumnae and ask the State Legislature to furnish the other $50,000 necessary for the completion of the building.

An informal reception followed the address and to-day at noon Doctor Jarman was guest of honor at a luncheon given in the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A.

DR. JARMAN APPEALS FOR THE WOODROW WILSON FOUNDATION FUND

On Tuesday evening, March 28, at 6:45, Dr. Jarman, as county chairman of the movement, made a stirring appeal to the student body for the "Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund." He began his speech by reading the tribute to Mr. Wilson that appeared in Collier's Weekly. During his talk Dr. Jarman explained to the girls that this movement is entirely free from anything partisan, and that every American, regardless of party, can be glad to participate in this effort to show America's love for and pride in one of her greatest sons.

The students were deeply interested and each class gladly accepted the quota apportioned to it. In each case the sum pledged is based upon the membership of the class. In all the amount promised by the school is over two hundred dollars.

MEMORIAL FOR WILSON

Oftentimes in this world of ours a great man will live and die, unknown and unrecognized by the people. Is it not a crime that such a thing should happen in our land of the free where every one knows the value of a helping hand and encouraging voice when they are buried in the depths of despair? This situation is too often true but there is a similar case which touches us more directly, with which we are better able to cope and that is a circumstance wherein a great man is known and loved by his own world but there is nothing to perpetuate his memory through the future generations save the impartial pages of the history book. Just such a thing has threatened our world of to-day and to avert such a catastrophe, effective steps are being taken by those who have looked into the future and seen the impending danger. To-day in our country every man, woman and child is being called upon to give something to this great cause of immortalizing the name of our twentieth century hero. Every town, county and school is striving to gain its quota. This is not a call to the men of wealth, who compose a small per cent of our population, to give liberally but it is to everyone who loves and honors the name of our ex-president because nothing except a memorial by the people is suitable for him, who is so undeniably a man of the people. For whom, some may ask, is all this interest being aroused? Indeed, it is none other than Woodrow Wilson who for eight years stood at the helm of our country, guiding it through many a storm, and who has spent his life in making the world "free for democracy."

SOCIETY NOTES

On Saturday evening, April 1, at 8:50 o'clock, the Gamma Theta Sorority held its annual Founders' Day banquet at the Prince Edward Hotel. After the banquet the Hampden-Sidney Orchestra furnished music for dancing.

The following alumnae were present: Charlotte Baird, Esther Davenport, Elizabeth Gannaway, Helen Brent, Isabel Kinneer, Sarah Porter, Elizabeth McClung, Mary Stephenson, Grace Beard and Mrs. John P. Hughes.

The Delta Sigma Chi Sorority held its annual Founders' Day banquet in the "tea room" on Saturday night, April 1.

Among the old girls who came back were: Emily Clark, Mary Leigh, Mary Meade Mason and Sue Jones.

On Saturday afternoon, March 25, from 4:30 o'clock to 6:00, the Pi Kappa Omega Society was entertained in the home of Miss Christine Armstrong. This was declared to be one of the most enjoyable parties which the Pi Kappa Omega has ever had.

The Cotillion Club gave its spring dance on Friday night, March 31. The music furnished by the Hampden-Sidney Orchestra helped to make the occasion one of the most enjoyable of the season. Miss Rena Luck presided at the punch bowl. The club was glad to have several old members back for the dance.

Announcement

The Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority wishes to announce the establishment of the following new chapters:

Upsilon—Manual Training School, Eta, Oklahoma.

Chi—Teacher's State College, Pittsburg, Kansas.

Psi—Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow
BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Nell McArdle
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnae.....Miss Brownie Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
".....Mary Maupin

It is with great ardor, zeal and interest, but with diffidence that the new Rotunda staff enters upon its duties; here publishing, with the aid of the old staff, this week's Rotunda. We feel the privilege and responsibility of publishing the school paper, which reflects the thoughts and actions of the student body of S. N. S. We realize that it is our duty to make the Rotunda a true representation of the school.

Understanding that we are new and inexperienced in the work before us, the staff sees that it must grow to meet the needs of "Rotunda." We realize our shortcomings, but with the help of the student body and faculty, success is assured for the Rotunda. A spirit of encouragement comes to us when we think of "co-operation," because we know that you will stand behind us in the future as you have done in the past.

PASSED AND NOT PASSED

Formerly the last meetings of classes were attended in fear and trembling. At the end of the class each student was given a small bit of paper that seemed to mean a good deal to her. The boldest gazed upon it immediately, and, if they were not suited, vented their wrath upon the teacher. Poor Mr. Lear! How often have you been bailed out by some, in her eyes, more deserving young lady? The timid clenched their fists tightly about the unoffending bit of paper and with "I can't look at it! I can't!" rushed quickly from the room, seeking solitude.

No longer does such a state of affairs exist. All is now changed. These important pieces of paper take a long and circuitous route and reach their victim at the most unexpected time and in the worst of all places—the dining room. "Oh! I have a letter from home." In that letter are found a strange collection of scraps of paper. "My tickets!" she groans. There they are, every last one of them in a bunch, blow enough to knock anyone giddy. "Miss Mary! Miss Mary! come quick. Nellie has hysterics!" So this duty of consoling the weeping students has been transferred from the teacher's shoulders to Miss Mary's. Poor Miss Mary!

ARE YOU A SHIFTER?

Perhaps you joined only in fun, thinking it a joke. Perhaps no ill effects have resulted in this school, but do you realize that in giving your name to this organization you are sanctioning many dishonorable deeds which have been made under cover of the oath? In all probability you have done nothing of which you are ashamed in the way of "initiating" new members, but nevertheless you are lending protection to an unworthy cause which may with slight development smudge the honor and mar the reputation of your Alma Mater. Many schools and colleges throughout the country have voluntarily banned the organization from the campus, realizing the insidious evil that it is working. What are you going to do? The following oath which is administered to new members discloses the low morale of this organization. You may not have formally taken this oath or you may have only repeated it in ignorant jest. At present we have seen no sign in our school of the evils which have been accredited to the society, but do we wish to have our names and the name of our school associated with an organization which is a tool for dishonesty in the hands of unprincipled people.

"Loyal Order of the Shifters.

"Candidate raise right hand and repeat following:

"I do solemnly promise and swear never to divulge any of the secrets, pass words, high signs or grips of the 'Loyal Order of the Shifters.'"

"I solemnly promise to secure as many brother and sister Shifters as possible, regardless of race, color or previous condition of servitude, and to obey the order of you the great klegale of the order, and all other shifters present for the following term.....

"Aim and purpose of the shifters:

"To get all you can.

"To get something for nothing.

"To do others as they do you."

T. S. Student: Miss Wall, how do you spell "jonquil"?

Stuffy: Why-er-er, Oh, let's call them daffodils.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIE DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Y. W. C. A.

Program of Virginia Cabinet Council State Normal School of Farmville, Va., April 7-9, 1922

Theme: "The Wholeness of Christianity."

FRIDAY, APRIL 7

6:00 P. M.—Supper.
7:30 P. M.—Opening session of Council—Announcements.
7:40—8:40—Discussion, "The Wholeness of Christianity."
8:40-9:00—Service of Intercession.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8

7:30 A. M.—Breakfast.
9:00-9:15—Devotions.
9:15-10:30—Discussion, "The Wholeness of Christianity."
10:30-11:30 — Discussion, Christian Citizenship in the 20th Century.
11:30-12:30—Technical Discussions.
1:15 P. M.—Dinner.
2:30-2:45—Devotions.
2:45-4:15—Discussion of Student Industrial Co-operation.
4:15-5:15—Discussion, Convention Issues.
6:00—Supper.
6:30-7:00—Vespers; Christian Internationalism.
Evening Free.

SUNDAY, APRIL 9

8:00 A. M.—Breakfast.
8:45-9:00—Devotions.
9:00-10:00 — Discussion, Christian Citizenship.
11:00—Church.
1:00 P. M.—Dinner.
2:30-3:00—Discussion, Christian Citizenship.
3:00-4:00—Discussion, The National Budget.
4:00-5:15—Technical Discussions.
6:00—Supper.
6:30-7:00—Vesper service on lawn.
7:30-8:30—Discussion, "The Wholeness of Christianity."
8:30-9:00—Closing service of Council.

Crash!

The orchestra softly played
"Kiss me again".
She gazed into his eyes
And breathed a sigh
"You dance like a poem,"
She said.
"Yes, yes, go on," he Murmured.
"An Amy Lowell poem.
The feet are all mixed up,"
She answered.—Yale Record.

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC NEWS

On Friday, March 31, 1922, Farmville played her last varsity basketball game. This game was the return game with Radford Normal. In spite of the splendid playing of Farmville's team Radford came out on top with the score of 28—22.

This finishes up Farmville's inter-collegiate schedule for 1922. As we look back over the basketball year, in spite of the fact that more games were lost than won, we can feel proud of Farmville and its team in many ways.

Farmville is the only normal that has this year played every other normal in the State. The team has, and the school has, when visiting teams have been here, established a friendly relationship between Farmville and the other normals. Some say this is not necessary and will not count in the end—but, think it over seriously before you draw any conclusion.

There is only one other normal that has won as many games as Farmville and this one school has not played any other normal except us.

With such material as we now have and very likely good new material in September, 1922, and the splendid start this year's team has made can we not hope to see the championship in normal school basketball presented to us next year?

The basketball season should not be concluded until something has been said concerning the wonderful spirit that has been shown this year. The team went into every game feeling that the school was with them, heart and soul. The knowledge of this helped the varsity mightily and spurred them on not merely for victory's sake, but for the school.

Enough cannot be said of the one who has been responsible for this change. Miss Florence Buford, through her untiring efforts and earnest, hard and sympathetic work has awakened this school to the realization that Farmville is a pretty nice place after all and her team not one to be looked down upon but backed to the last minute. Shall we not "take our hats off" to one who has done so much for our school by arousing the slumbering spirit at Farmville—Miss Buford?

Do You Know?

Fanny?—Fanny body calls tell 'em I'm out.
Isabel?—Isabel necessary on a bicycle.
Jemima?—Jemima standing here.
Teresa?—Teresa crowd.
Obadiah?—Obadiah dare you.
Boo?—Yeah, that's right.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates.

Typewriting Paper

In Quantities to Suit.

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.
218 Third St., Farmville, Va.
Printers of The Rotunda

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,
Main Street Farmville, Va.

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER
FARMVILLE, VA.

Special Pictures for Students
Kodak! Finishing Done Promptly

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

Teacher: Define "trickle."
 Boy: To run slowly.
 Teacher: Define "anecdote."
 Boy: A short funny tale.
 Teacher: Use both in a sentence.
 Boy: The dog trickled down the street with a can tied to his anecdote.—Widow.

Waitress: Will you have pie?
 Customer: Is it compulsory?
 Waitress: Huh?
 Customer: I say, is it compulsory?
 Waitress: Why—ah—we're just out of compulsory, but we've got some good raspberry.—Dreverd.

I'm very dependant about my literary outlook.

Why so?
 I sent my best poem entitled "Why Do I Live," to the editor of The Times, and he wrote back "Because You Didn't Bring This in Person."

Father: "What's the matter now?"
 Son: I just received a letter from that correspondence school. The Sophomores write me that I must haze myself.—N. Y. U. Medley.

Super (rapping on desk): Order! Order!

Sleepy voice (in back of room): A couple of sinkers. Play the Java.—Hamilton Life.

Alice Grainger, age six, (in Mr. Grainger's office on hearing a portion of the student body embark for Gilliam's): My, what a lot of noise these Normal girls make.

"I stole a march on them, all right," said the kleptomaniac as she walked out of the ten-cent store with a sheet of music in her muff.—Widow.

"My supper's cold!"
 He swore with vim.
 And then she made it
 Hot for him.—Delaware Review.

Beggar: Kind sir, will you give me a dime for a bed?
 '24 (cautiously): Let's see the bed.

Barber: Your hair is getting gray.
 Customer: Well, I'm not surprised.
 Hurry up.—Virginia Reel.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

Student Government Association
 Lily Thornhill—President.
 Margaret Shackelford — Vice-President.

Roberta Hodgkin—Secretary.
 Flementine Pierce—Treasurer.
 Y. W. C. A.
 Marian Camper—President.
 Lois Williams—Undergraduate Representative.
 Gladys Grey—Vice-President.
 Mary Nichols—Secretary.
 Mary Bolen—Treasurer.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
 OPERA HOUSE,
 FARMVILLE, VA.
 Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance
 MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.
 503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia
 J. L. JARMAN, President
 For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
 State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
 Va.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
 Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler
 FARMVILLE, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
 Best Workmanship and Leather Used
 FARMVILLE, VA.

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,
 Cleaning and Pressing,
 Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S
 FARMVILLE, VA.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of
 Ice and Ice Cream
 Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
 FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
 DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.
 ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
 $2.50 value, only $1.39.
 Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.
 Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK
 Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.
 Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists
 The REXALL Store
 Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain
 FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.
 Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
 Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
 Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.
 FARMVILLE, VA.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1863
 The Confidence of the Community for Over
 Half a Century
 Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
 Stationery
 FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
 at the most reasonable price.
 Banquets for school organizations our specialty.
VIRGINIA CAFE
 Phone 227.
 FARMVILLE, VA.

EASTER

HOLIDAY

THE ROTUNDA

COME BACK

ON TIME.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 24.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 14, 1922.

THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND Tour of the World Conducted by the Junior Class for the Student Building Fund.

Any one who wishes to go with us on our tour of the world will come to the auditorium on Saturday night, April 22d, at 7:30 o'clock.

The route includes Spain, Holland, Japan, Hawaii and America.

Our agents have been in these countries for some time, and we hear that great preparations have been made for the entertainment of our guests. The Spanish men are tuning up their guitars and practicing love songs each night under the windows of their signoritas. In Japan great preparations are being made for the tea and cake, as the tourists may become tired and hungry. The Dutch boys and girls have heard of the expected visit and are practicing up on their parlor tricks. It is said that Hawaii is in a state of great excitement and that competitive songs are being sung to choose those who will be allowed to sing before the visitors.

The home-coming of the tourists will be celebrated in America by a big dance. The gym. has been leased for this occasion and everything is prepared for a large celebration. Different companies have secured the rights for selling popcorn, home-made candy, sandwiches, ice cream, etc.

Do not miss this wonderful trip. It is the chance of a lifetime.

Round trip, 25 cents.

Fare to any one country, 10 cents.

THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND RAPIDLY GROWING.

Since the first of April, ninety-four dollars and seventy-four cents have been turned in to the treasurer of the Student Building Fund. At present the cash amount on hand is five thousand, seventy-one dollars and thirty-two cents. Besides this, there are innumerable pledges to be paid, and hundreds of enthusiastic workers all over the State who are striving to make the Student Building a reality as soon as possible.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The famous negro quartet from Hampton visited Roanoke College at Salem, Va., on April 4, 1922.

Plans are being made for a May Festival at the University of South Carolina.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS FOUR ONE-ACT PLAYS.

The four one-act plays, "The Shepherd in the Distance," "Joint Owners in Spain," "The Maker of Dreams" and "The Slave With Two Faces," which were presented on both Friday and Saturday nights, April 7th and 8th, proved to be another Dramatic Club success.

The pantomime of love and adventure, "The Shepherd in the Distance," was perhaps the most effective of the plays, because of the truly Oriental atmosphere produced by costumes and dances. The principal parts of this play were taken by Cabell Gilmer, the Princess, and Mary Friend, the Shepherd, both of whom displayed their usual skill and grace in their dancing. Other dances were performed by Eliza Davis and Charline Moir, the two slaves; Julia Clark, the goat, and the chorus of slave dancing girls. Ghurri-Wurri, the beggar, the part played by Rena Luck, and the Wazir and Vizier, Martha Wells and Frances Bargamin, gave to the play the ludicrous and humorous strain which appeals to any audience.

"Joint Owners in Spain" was the story of two old ladies in an old ladies' home who could get on with no one else in the building and are put together to fight it out. The strong-willed Mrs. Blair, played admirably by Lois Williams, easily overrules the submissive Miss Dier, whose role was played by Kate Davis, and finally induces her to forget that she "ain't been well this twenty years" in the pleasure of a sleigh ride with the matron.

"The Maker of Dreams" was a fantasia of Pierrot and Pierrette, the parts being played by Lucille Upton and Martha Wells. Katharine Gary as the "Maker of Dreams" makes Pierrot finally realize that in Pierrette he has found the beauty, soul and love for which he has long been seeking. The play was delightful and charmed the whole audience.

The last of the plays, "The Slave With Two Faces," was the most dramatic of the four. It was an allegory of life which succeeded in both horrifying and fascinating the audience. Virginia Hardin as Life, the Slave, showed unusual dramatic ability and talent in her difficult role.

Miss Spear and her Dramatic Club are to be congratulated on their success.

Bobbed: Oh, dear, I've lost my little pink bow.

Braided: How perfectly awful. What did he look like?—Jester.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Miss Helen Patton and Miss Virginia Anderson have been elected to membership in the Pi Kappa Omega Society.

The Y. W. C. A. recently received a legacy of thirty dollars from Mrs. W. W. Watkins, the mother of Kate Friend and Nannie, who graduated from S. N. S. in the classes of 1909 and 1911, respectively.

Misses Elizabeth Moring, Gwendolyn Wright and Lois Williams gave talks in chapel on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings of last week, explaining to the student body the plans for entertaining the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Training Council held here last week-end.

On Friday night, April 7th, the advisory board of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the visiting cabinets and the old and new cabinets of S. N. S. in the tea room.

On Saturday afternoon from 5 to 6 the members of the Y. W. C. A. council were taken automobile riding. In the evening they were guests of Dr. Jarman at the Dramatic Club plays.

FIELD DAY.

"Oh, Skinny! C'mon over, wanna play ball?"

This reminds us of the small boy when spring rolls around and the call of the bat and ball is strong for him.

Spring is here for us now, and baseball as an interesting and exciting event of Field Day should hold our attention for a while.

The Physical Education classes have been practicing ball and other field events, and we're hoping for a good showing of all classes.

Let's get in the game and make this field day one to be anticipated and enjoyed instead of dreaded.

The Seniors won in basketball. Are the Juniors going to let them carry off the honors in baseball, too?

FIRST EDITION OF "FATHER TABB" SOLD OUT.

In January "The Rotunda" printed an account of the very favorable impression Miss Tabb's book, "Father Tabb," had made in the literary world. Now we are able to advance even more concrete evidence of this good impression. In nine months the entire first edition of one thousand copies has been sold, and at present the second edition is on the press.

WORK

FOR

FIELD DAY

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Nell McArdle
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnae.....Miss Brownie Taltierro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
".....Mary Maupin

"Spring fever is the lazy man's excuse for being natural."

"Imitate the sparrow and clean up."

"Health is your greatest asset."

"Hatred is heavier freight for the shipper than it is for the consignee."

"It is impossible that either evil or good should be durable; and hence it follows that, the evil having lasted long, the good cannot be far off."

"Fortune is a drunken freakish dame, and withal so blind that she does not see what she is about; neither whom she raises nor whom she pulls down."

"He who seeks to do great things, and who has discovered the truly great things to do, is on a fair way to accomplish them, but the mind and the heart must work in unison."

WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH LIFE?

"Life, bring me a fresh rose!" Is it thus we would approach life? Shall we make him our slave, and yet ask for a rose, a string of beads, a castle? Are there not other things, things that will make us wholly master? And in the end or in the beginning when the Father calls, may we not go, saying: "You gave me Life, and you gave your Life that I might have it more abundantly. Of Life I have made, not a slave, not a master, but a friend. He did not strive to take away my crown, but to help me be worthy of a nobler crown?"

Is it not possible that each day you are letting golden opportunities for service slip by unheeded? I would have you strong and true, beloved, that you may help others be strong. For places that are easy for you, for another, will be very difficult.
How may you be strong and how may I be strong? Be true and you will be strong:
true to your Creator, true to your fellow-man and true to yourself. After all, perhaps the last includes them all, for, if you are true to your very self, how can you be untrue to another?

Did you ever think that one pledge broken makes you just that much weaker; makes it that much harder to be true the next time? So, I warn you, make no pledges thoughtlessly, but if you have made a pledge, do not break it! Think!
In this school year have you promised aught that you have not fulfilled? If you have, see to it now before it is too late!
In another month the rush that precedes commencement will be on. Then you will have no time to think. Do it now!

Remember! If you let yourself become weak through neglect, through carelessness, Life will make of you a broken thing.
Let him not flail you later with the thongs of broken faith. Now, while you are strong, take away his quirt.

A. M.

SENIORS, ATTENTION!

Once, in the days of yore, I, too, was a second professional, and well do I remember how "In the spring the fancy of a second Prof. turns lightly from the Training School to thoughts of applications."

Therefore I deem it not unkind of me, my beloved Seniors, to have the Rotunda
print a model application for your benefit.

State Normal School,

Farmville, Va., April 1, 1922.

Mr. A. H. Hill,

Superintendent of Public Schools,
Richmond, Va.

My Dear Mr. Hill:

I know you will be delighted to know that you have it in your power to make me sublimely happy. Long have I craved to be principal of the John Marshall High School. Have no fear in entrusting to me this important position, as any of my instructors, as well as Dr. Jarman and Dr.
Tidyman, will assure you that in the field of education I shall be an unqualified success.

I gladly await your favorable reply.

Your sincere benefactor,

MISS _____

It grieves me, dear Seniors, to be obliged to withhold my name, but spoken gratitude has always been a source of great embarrassment to me.

"How much postage will this require?"
inquired the new circulation manager at the postoffice.

"Two cents, it's first class matter."

"Oh, thank you. We certainly try to have it that."

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"
FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women
Depositors

The Pure Food Store
FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery,
School Supplies.

Good things to eat and Drink.

Y. W. C. A. TO DISCUSS WORLD PEACE.

Women of Four Nations to Talk on "Business of Peace."

Four nations are to be represented on the program of speakers at the seventh national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association, to be held at Hot Springs, Arkansas, in April. Mlle. Helene Goblet, daughter of Count D'Alviella of Belgium, former minister of state in Belgium, well known for her relief work in the devastated regions of France and Belgium, is to talk of the conditions—social and economic—imposed upon her country by the war. That the women of the East, in spite of their sheltered existences, are keenly interested in the possibility of effecting a world peace, will be made evident by the address of Miss Anne Lamb, an Anglo-Indian of Calcutta. The United States will be represented on this international program by Judge Florence E. Allen, of Cleveland, Ohio, the first woman to preside over a court of common country jurisdiction and an authority on woman's status as an active factor in international dealings.

One of the features of the convention will be the introduction at this time of a resolution advocating international peace. This resolution, which Miss Charlotte Niven is to bring to America from the London headquarters of the World's Committee of the Y. W. C. A., was drawn up at the World's Committee Conference held in Champery, Switzerland, in 1920. Embodying the consensus of opinion gathered from the representatives of twenty-six different nations, it is a statement of the belief that "justice, righteousness and love should govern relationships between nations as between individuals, and that the Young Women's Christian Association throughout the world should seek in every way to strengthen those forces which are working toward the avoidance of war and the promotion of peace."

Mlle. Goblet, accompanied by Miss Niven, arrived on the S. S. Kroonland, of the Red Star Line, Monday. Prior to their departure for Arkansas, they will be guests of the National Board in New York.

"Will you let me," said the student,

As he quickly doffed his cap—

But the maiden with a right hook

Handed him an awful slap,

And the student's face was crimson

As he stood before the lass,

But he finished out his sentence,

"Will you kindly let me pass?"

—Exchange.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY.

The following program was given by the Argus Literary Society at the regular weekly meeting on April 4th:

The Life and Characteristics of Henry Sydnor Harrison, by Nell McArdle.

A Synopsis of "Queed," by Elizabeth Moring.

Piano solo, "To a Wild Rose," by Ruth Shockley.

Current Events, by Hilah Butler.

PIERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Pierian Literary Society had its regular meeting on Tuesday, April 4th, in Room K. Mr. Grainger gave an interesting talk on a pageant that he had seen in New England. As the society is making a study of pageantry, this lecture was both entertaining and instructive.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

In the Hand-book of Virginia, published by the State, is found this statement: "Hamilton High School, near Cartersville, has the reputation of being one of the best country high schools in the State." Miss Madeline Warburton is the principal.

Miss Louise Bondurant is in charge of the English department in Tazewell High School. Some of her pupils will participate in the High School debates to be held in Charlottesville in May.

The name of Miss Imogin Wright is one of the first on the list of nominations started at the Richmond Y. W. C. A. for the queen of love and beauty in the coming May frolic. The festival is to be an old English one, featuring dancing, tumbling, jesters, etc. The queen is to be chosen from the gymnasium classes.

JOKES.

Antoinette Parker: Oh, that reminds me of the cutest thing I ever heard, but I can't remember what it is.

Miss Tucker: Were the Articles of Confederation a good form of government?

Elaine McDearmon: Yes, they were as long as we were dependent on England.

Etta Belle: Why don't you laugh at the joke, Kate? Haven't you got a sense of humor?

Kate D.: Sense of humor! Huh, I washed my face with soap.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.

J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

Main Street Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawings, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

Anna Belle: I don't know exactly how to take this. Nell said Galli-Curci had a wonderful voice, but mine was better still.

Shoe Clerk: What is your size, Miss?

Barnadite: Well, four is my size, but I wear sevens because fours hurt my feet so.—Jester.

He (to burglar): Shoot, please. I wear Paris garters, no metal can touch me.—Mink.

She: Help! Police! Stop him! He tried to flirt with me.

Cop: Calm yourself, lady, there's plenty more.—Siren.

Kitty: Set the alarm for two, will you?

Roomie: You and who else?

"One enjoys a good grind now and then," said the humorous cannibal as he devoured the valedictorian.—Burr.

The following little verse appeared about two weeks ago in "Life." It expresses a very beautiful idea, but one which may seem too perfectly idealistic to be really carried out by most of us:

THE WISE YEARS.

The years are wise that bring us dreams denied—

That leave our deepest hopes ungratified;
For what of earth and life, all we adore,
When men shall strive and hope and dream
no more?

That is true; we grant it, in our minds.
But, after all, hope denied is but poor food for the heart. At least, such seems to be the belief of the writer of the following lines, who, by the way, is one of our students.
She seems to have voiced the more human, if less divine, plea for the happiness of life:

Wise years, perhaps—but are they kind, as well?

Those niggard years that mock and turn away—

'Tis well, I grant, that dreams flit on ahead—

But, oh, my heart longs for a kiss—today!

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

Student Government Association.

Lily Thornhill—President.

Margaret Shackleford—Vice-President.

Roberta Hodgins—Secretary.
Flemintine Pierce—Treasurer.

Fourth Professional.

Mildred Dickinson—President.
Carrie Spradlin—Vice-President.
Mary Finch—Secretary.
Annie Alvis—Treasurer.

Third Professional

Elizabeth Moring—President.
Lois Williams—Vice-President.
Anne Meredith—Secretary.
Ellen Carlson—Treasurer.

Second Professional

Gwendolyn Wright—President.
Virginia Anderson—Vice-President.
Arianna Amonette—Secretary.
Emily Calcott—Treasurer.

First Professional

Florence Miller—President.
Katherine Gary—Vice-President.
Julia Case—Secretary.
Edna Blanton—Treasurer.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE.

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,

State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing.

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & MCINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

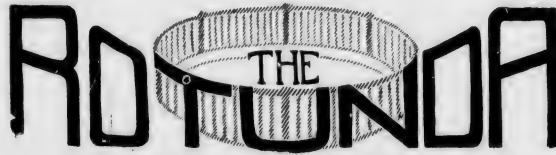

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 327.

FARMVILLE, VA.

SUPPORT THE SENIOR PAGEANT !

THE ROTUNDA
NEEDS
YOUR SUPPORT

NOW'S THE TIME
TO PAY YOUR DUES

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 25.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 21, 1922.

CHINA IN AMERICA Travelers' Club Meeting a Great Success

The Travelers' Club held its regular meeting on April 13th in Room M, Miss Lennie Blankenship, the leader of the program, told the eager travelers that they were to journey to the far off nation of China. On arriving in China they found two Chinese women, dressed in their native costumes, and they told some interesting things of the religion and education of their wonderful nation.

The next person who was introduced to the travelers was Jack Cobb, an American, who had been to China several times. He told them some of the things that interested him in that country. He also displayed some of the Chinese beautiful handwork.

What the future of this great nation can be was told by Miss Marjorie Thomson.

The journey then led to Italy, to the Peace Conference at Genoa; an outline of the work was given by Miss Alvis. After this the weary, worn travelers turned their faces toward North America. On their way they passed the great coal strikes in the central States; here they found out what a terrible condition their own home land was in.

So with one accord they set out for their quiet and peaceful home—S. N. S., Farmville, Virginia. They all declared it was one of the most delightful trips that they had ever taken, and they extend to all a free pass to join with them in their journeys around the world in the future meetings.

AMONG THE COLLEGES

Bethany College is fortunate in having been recently deeded valuable property, consisting of fourteen acres of land and sufficient cash to provide the college with the equipment necessary for the spring work on the college farm.

"Happy," the famous health clown, addressed the student body at Newport News High School on March 23d. His talk was very interesting as well as beneficial.

The Chemistry Department of Davidson College is offering three new advanced courses, embracing physical, inorganic and agricultural chemistry.

Dr. J. Stuart French, president of Emory and Henry College, delivered an address at the "Y" of Washington and Lee University, April 6th, on "The Instant Demand in National Affairs and What Is the Vital Need of America."

MR. DIEHL SPEAKS AT PRAYERS Rector of Episcopal Church Leader of Prayers on Monday Night

"Christ is the light of the world; through Him we find the most abundant life here and in the life to come."

Mr. Diehl spoke in prayers Monday night, April 10th, and revealed Christ as the true light, giving spiritual life and understanding as daylight gives knowledge of surroundings. Without this life there cannot be spiritual life, as without any light there can be no sight. It was indeed a privilege to hear Mr. Diehl, and the prayer service was greatly enjoyed.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Since April 6th, $73.66 has been added to the Student Building Fund. The total is now $5,144.98.

At present there are more new students registered for the next session than were registered last year by the 1st of May.

Dr. Jarman spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week in Richmond.

Mr. Somers, a former member of the faculty, who is now studying at Columbia, visited the school last week.

Among the week-end visitors were Besie Mustoe, Mary Sue Hammond, Carolyn Burgess, Elizabeth Gannaway, Ida Shepherd, Edna Miller and Frances Mason.

Those visiting in town were Lucy Irving, Patsy Watkins and Constance Whitlock.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Katherine Cook, principal of Commerce Street School, Roanoke, has been named by Governor Trinkle as a member of the State Normal School Board for the Sixth District.

Mrs. F. M. Sanger (Miss Elizabeth Paulett) and children, of Norwalk, Conn., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paulett, on High Street.

Miss Thelma Blanton, who is teaching in Smithfield, spent the Easter vacation in Farmville.

The Farmville Chapter of the Alumnae Association will have an apron sale in April or May for the Student Building Fund.

She stood before her mirror

With her eyes closed very tight,

And tried to see just how she looked

When fast asleep at night.

—Siren.

WRITE HOME ABOUT BLUE RIDGE Student Conferences

The objective of the student conference is:

(a) To bring women students together, that in united worship (study, council and the comradeship of daily life they may gain a clearer knowledge of the world in which they live; may be kindled to a realization and acceptance of their share in the whole task of its rebuilding; may increasingly appreciate and unite in the program of the Christian Church; and may win a deepening understanding of and experience in that friendship with the Great Leader which will enable them to bear responsibilities of leadership commensurate to their opportunities.

(b) To bring members of faculties and advisory boards together, that they may have an understanding of what conferences are meaning to students; may share in the worship, study and comradeship of the conference days; and may have opportunity for council with one another, and other leaders in work among students.

Field Day Is Coming

S. N. S., April, 1922.

Dearest Maude:

Well! Doesn't this weather make you feel lazy—that is, lazy when it comes to work, but full of life and pep when it concerns sports?

When Nature gives Spring full sway I begin to wake up, like the pretty butterfly in the caterpillar's hammock, don't you know?

You know the epidemic of the much-talked-of disease—"the spring fever"—don't you? Well, I am afflicted with that disease every year, but more so this year. I want to forget my work and the training school and "let out" for spring's many joys and pleasures.

You really should be up here, Maude. We are going to have a glorious time on Field Day. The classes are practicing for the events now. There are to be more events than usual. Last year we had relays, potato races and a long distance run and the high jump event, but this year we are to have about five new events also. The standing and running broad jump, the shot-put, the hop, step and jump race, and the posture parade are new events for this coming field day. The baseball games are to be played the following morning after field day. I suppose the tennis tourna-

Concluded on page 3.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Nell McArdle
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnæ.....Miss Browne Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
.....Mary Maupin

CONTRIBUTIONS OF THE COLLEGE NEWSPAPER TO COLLEGE LIFE

There are a few certain things without which a school could not be a college in the true sense of the word. One of these is the college newspaper. Many people consider this as merely an insignificant outside activity which can be taken up or dropped just as their fancy inclines. Little they realize that it is a vital necessity and if taken away would leave a gap which nothing else could fill.

A newspaper more than anything else will keep alive and flourishing the spirit of the college. Basketball and baseball games will cause it to climb to its highest pitch, but their season is soon over, and with it would go the spirit if it were not for the newspaper which keeps on through the entire year. And what is more important, what touches and influences each and every student of the school more directly than the spirit? Can anything help to make college life more worth while than a good, whole-hearted spirit?

A college is a large organization and needs something to bind it together, to keep all the phases of college life in unison. The great danger that is always lurking in the path of a college is that one organization should gain supremacy over the others. Nothing like this will befall if the newspaper fulfills its mission. This same act of preserving equality tends to affiliation for their school. How can they arouse in the students a deeper love and help but be true to an Alma Mater which harbors a newspaper that not only stands behind and boosts every organization and keeps everyone in close touch with the activities of their own "school home," but also keeps them posted on all the experiences of their co-workers in other schools?

The newspaper is the medium of expression for the students. It is indeed the voice of the school and as such it offers to everyone the chance of developing the ability of expressing themselves. Often-times there lives and graduates within the walls of a college a girl, possessing great talent but who fails to be conducted into the paths which would lead to a recognition of her powers by the world. Often-times, too, this unassuming and self-sacrificing girl can be drawn into newspaper work by the college staff, and who knows but that this humble beginning may lead to greater and worthier things and finally into a development of personality that will make success assured for her in any field of endeavor.

All in all the newspaper is to a college what it is to any town or community. Imagine, if you can, the effect upon your town or upon any prosperous, progressive city if the newspaper is taken away. Impossible! Havoc would undeniably be the result. Just this same effect it would have upon a college, which is, indeed, a small town, a community in itself.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

On April 11th the following program was given by the Argus Literary Society:
The Life of Woodrow Wilson, by Virginia Wall.

Wilson's Policies, by Mamie Nichols.
Current Events, by Agnes Baptist.

This was one of the most interesting programs ever given by the society, and it was enjoyed by everyone present.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The following program was given by the Athenian Literary Society on April 11th:

Reading, by Thelma Rhodes.

The Literary Society in the H. S., by Mary Bolen.

Violin solo, by Julia Cave.

The society feels that the composition by Mary Bolen was one of the best pieces of original work produced in the society this year, and it was greatly enjoyed by all.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

ODGEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery, School Supplies.

Good things to eat and Drink.

Southern Conference at Blue Ridge

"Blue Ridge!" What memories those two words bring to mind! Memories of wonderful mountains, fun and good times, hikes, joyous singing, consecrated men and women, inspiring lectures and classes are all called forth by those two small words.

Blue Ridge is an ideal mountain spot near Black Mountain, N. C., which is the scene every summer of the annual Southern Student Conference of Young Women's Christian Association. Every June representatives of most of the Southern colleges and normal schools gather there for ten days, for the purpose of discussing together and solving school and student problems. They learn to know girls from all the South, and get the viewpoint of other colleges and schools. Speakers are selected for the conference from the whole eastern United States. The leaders in the Y. W. C. A. work of the country are there. Mission and Bible study classes are attended, which are like no other classes in their inspiration and help.

Farmville always has had an enthusiastic delegation to Blue Ridge. We have a cottage there on the mountain side which will hold as many as we send. Can't you be one to help fill it in June, 1922? Make your plans now; ask the old girls who have been to Blue Ridge about it, and hand in your application early.

Blue Ridge means more to those who have been there than they can ever tell. It is a place where all are lifted up in mind and spirit, close to the spirit of God. His presence pervades all and we see more clearly than ever before how He can be felt in our work and play.

CHAPEL CUTS.

"Can't you write something real funny and clever about chapel cuts for the 'Rotunda?'" inquired the long-suffering editor of that organ, of me. Just like that, out of a clear sky. Then taking advantage of my ensuing dumbness, she dashed off, leaving me with the alternative of shrieking a denial after her to peacefully submitting. And it was time for class. I shrieked, but she had gone.

"Something funny about chapel cuts"—indeed I must needs be a second Tammas Haggart to see the humorous side to so grave a subject. And can a turnip change its spots—pardon, a leopard I believe it is—anyway, it all amounts to the same, and is an artistic way of saying I can't do it. Now had she asked me for a treatise on the innate altruism of the Provencal, or customs of the Hemoglobins or something simple of that sort—pouf, in the twinkling of an eye it should have been forthcoming. But chapel cuts—so plebeian, so proletarian, so ungraceful—ye gods! No, absolute no, dear editor; I had lost the power of speech at the time you made your request, but that which was lost is found, and I take this opportunity of vehemently denying ability or intention of writing something "real funny and clever about chapel cuts for the 'Rotunda.'" ment will be held the afternoon of the same day.

FIELD DAY IS COMING

I'm thinking the Seniors had better be getting a hustle on and begin doing a little practicing. The managers of the events and of the baseball and tennis games have been elected and soon they will be getting things under way.

The Seniors won the cup last year, and I know the ex-Juniors or present Seniors are going to come out on the athletic field with the determination to win it back this year. Remember the saying, "Revenge is sweet." They will take last year's defeat out on the present Juniors.

The basketball games between the third and fourth year High School teams proved that they will be in the race field day, and that the Juniors and Seniors are going to have pretty strong competition.

All this reminds me that I have an engagement to play tennis this morning and must be about getting ready.

Please change your mind and decide you can come up here. I assure you that you'll see a field day worth having, and you know how much I want to see you.

Springily yours,

EVELYN.

MY CHUM

(Author unknown)

He stood at the crossroads all alone,
With the sunrise in his face;

He had no fear for the path unknown,
He was set for a manly race.

But the road stretched east, and the road stretched west;

There was no one to tell him which way was the best;

So my chum turned wrong and went down, down, down,

Till he lost the race and the victor's crown,

And fell at last in an ugly snare,
Because no one stood at the crossroads there.

Another chum on another day,
At the self-same crossroads stood;

He paused a moment to choose the way
That would lead to the greater good.

And the road stretched east; and the road stretched west.

But I was there to show him the best;
So my chum turned right and went on and on,

Till he won the race and the victor's crown;

He came at last to the mansions fair,
Because I stood at the crossroads there.

Since then I have raised a daily prayer,
That I be kept faithfully standing there,

To warn the runners as they come,
And save my own or another's chum.

—Exchange.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Society Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

Suppose

Mr. Faithful got tickled.

Mr. Fattig lost his bag of popcorn.

A fly entered Miss Buford's mouth when she had opened it in order to hear better a surprising piece of news.

Dr. Tidyman should forget himself and continue the game after shuffling his class cards.

The Juniors worked as hard as they think they do.

"The Spoken Word"

(Time: Before automobiles.)

Tim: "Huh?"

Timid: "Uh-huh!"

Tim: "Whoa!"—Froth.

What Did Mr. Faithful Say?

A lady accosting Mr. Faithful on the street: I hear that you are a psychology teacher. Isn't it a beautiful religion?

Mary: I see Mr. Lear has applied for his license.

Ann: Who is the lucky one?

Mary: Lizzie.

Why do they say "called up" when you have to go down one and sometimes two flights of steps to get there?

T. S. Teacher: Johnnie, why did you hit Willie with a brick?

Johnnie: I didn't hit him. I laid the brick up alongside his head and he fell over on it.

The School Grind: The victrola in Buzard's Roost.

She: Why did Binks name his twins Cherubim and Seraphim?

It: Because they continually do cry.

First Co-ed: Have you read Kant?

Second Ditto: No, but I've read "Don't" for girls.—Michigan Daily.

Absent-minded Man: What time is it, my dear?

She: Twenty after three.

A. M. M.: I wonder if they will catch them.—Lyre.

"My brother takes up Spanish, French, Italian, Hebrew, German and Scotch."

"Goodness, where does he study?"

"Study? He doesn't study. He runs an elevator."—Voodoo.

He: What were you doing last night?

She: Oh, helping dad around the house.

He: Drunk again?—Lemon Punch.

Ag: Wasn't that a splendid lecture by Professor Dinglesnick on "The Culture of Prunes"?

Wag: Fine! He was so full of his subject.

What is a football mustache?

One that has eleven on each side.—Pelican.

THINGS

Things cannot last forever,
They die, like autumn leaves:

A flash of glory, gold and red,

Brief and beautiful,

Then colorless death.

Sometimes they sink to earth

And are covered by the kind winds of forgetfulness.

Sometimes they cling to their bare twigs,
Lashed by the winds

Of memory.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown

OPERA HOUSE,

Matinee—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance;

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg.

Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block of Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.

FARMVILLE, VA.

FIELD DAY

MAY 5, 1922.

THE ROTUNDA

ARE YOU
COMING OUT?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 26.

Farmville, Virginia.

April 28, 1922.

TRIP AROUND THE WORLD A GREAT SUCCESS

Rural Club to Work With Junior League.

MISS KOONTZ ADDRESSES THE RURAL CLUB

On Wednesday night, April 19th, Miss M. Freida Koontz, newly appointed secretary of the Junior Community Leagues, spoke to the members of the Rural Club.

In her talk Miss Koontz spoke of the purpose of the Junior Leagues, which is "to advance the educational, recreational, social, moral, physical, civic and economic interests of the community," and the good that has already been brought about by this organization. Then she presented the club with a chance to accept an opportunity for service to the State such as no other Normal School in the State has been offered. This opportunity is to serve the Junior Leagues all over the State through the "Community League News."

In a business meeting of the Rural Club held on Saturday, April 21st, the members decided to accept Miss Koontz's offer. The first material result is that the club has decided to offer a prize of not less than twenty-five dollars to the school that best fulfills certain conditions. So far these conditions have not been fully decided upon, but they will be published in an early number of this paper.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Since April the 10th, $128.00, have been added to the Student Building Fund.

The Normal School Board held its annual meeting at Farmville Tuesday, April eighteenth.

Miss Mary White Cox and Miss Steele with representatives from the Y. M. C. A. cabinet have been attending the National Convention of Y. W. C. A., workers at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for the past two weeks.

Lily Thornhill and Margaret Shackelford, the president and vice-president of next year's Student Committee attended the National Convention of Student Self-governing organization at the Saphire Newcomb College, New Orleans, last week.

The new Farmville Opera House held its opening program Monday, April 17th, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Elizabeth Moring and Anne Meredith are attending a meeting of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association at Greenville, South Carolina, this week-end.

Up to date the enrollment for the summer session is three hundred.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Katherine Cook, of Roanoke, attended the meeting of the State Normal School Board on Tuesday, April 18th.

A quiet, but beautiful, wedding was solemnized when Miss Flora Overton Redd and Mr. Henry Drewry Whittle were married in Martinsville Wednesday evening, April 12th. The bride who looked handsome in her lovely wedding gown, carried a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. She has been one of the most popular teachers in the local public schools for the past several years and has a large circle of warm friends in Martinsville society. Mr. Whittle is county engineer and is prominent in his profession and in business and social circles of the community. Mr. and Mrs. Whittle will live in Martinsville.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter will have an apron sale for the Student Building Fund on Saturday, April 29th, somewhere on Main Street.

Dr. Whittaker has very generously offered to give the Alumnae Chapter a moving picture benefit for the Student Building Fund. The date selected is Monday, May, 8th. The picture will be Elaine Hammerstein in "The Way of a Maid" and will be shown both afternoon and evening.

Mrs. George R. Tennent, formerly Miss Leslie Moring of the class of 1918, has recently been the guest of her parents, of Farmville, Virginia.

AMONG THE COLLEGES

The City of Lynchburg will present Lynchburg College with a gymnasium. According to the plans, this building will be an attractive as well as very useful addition to the College.

The Glee Club of Louisiana College have been making a tour through northern Louisiana.

Work has been begun on a new library for Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Virginia. The funds for the erection of this library were donated to the college by the Carnegie Corporation. The total cost of the building and equipment will be $60,000.

Once there was a dog who had a fit every day and another dog who had a fit every other day. And then, sad to relate, the dog who had a fit every other day met an untimely end through an automobile accident. Another case of the survival of the fittest.

JUNIORS ADD BIG AMOUNT TO STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Last week several posters appeared very mysteriously in the Reception Hall announcing a trip around the world; anyone could get a round trip ticket—go and see the countries and return all in one night. Only the date and place of starting were given, April 22, 1922, at 7:30 in the Auditorium. At Chapel Friday we saw "samples" of the countries; Hawaii was represented by Nellie Hardy, Spain by Mary Friend. Alice Lee Rumbough and Julia Cave followed as Japan, the twins, Mary and Martha Coulling, represented Holland, then came one of the first inhabitants of America, Ruth Shockley, with tomahawk and feathers, followed by the girl scout of today, Bernice Johnson.

When we entered the Auditorium Saturday night we found we were already in Spain. As the curtains rose we saw the balcony with the Spanish girl, Agnes Walker, in it, then Mary Friend, her lover, sang the Spanish Cavalier and danced to his lady. This was one of the best features of the program, as Mary Friend's dancing is always enjoyed by everyone.

Next we entered Japan, in the "Y" Room. Cherry blossoms, Wisteria, Japanese umbrellas and lanterns with the dainty Japanese girls made one feel they were really in the "Land of Cherry Blossoms." There we were served tea and wafers in true Oriental fashion.

The guide then took us to the Senior Parlor where Hawaii held sway. The Hawaiian girls in costume entertained with their ukeles and singing.

Up stairs we went to Holland in the drawing room. On the way we could not resist the temptation of having our fortunes told at one of the two tents. In Holland there were tulips, all colored tulips, every where. The Dutch girls sold "Near Beer" from a sure-enough keg. A very attractive Dutch dance was given.

Home again we went. When we entered the Gym the Indians were dancing. Then the most attractive feature came into view for there were the booths where we could buy sandwiches, candy, and lemonade. Then the piano started and every one danced until "lights out" rang.

This entertainment was given by the Junior Class for the benefit of the Student Building Fund. The girls in charge of the different countries were: Genevieve Bonniwell, Marion Sale, Margaret Finch, Lovette Priddy, and Edna Blanton. Especially is credit due to Kitty Morgan, who had charge of the entire program and Florence Miller, Junior Class President.

The following letter was recently received by Dr. Jarman from the Student Department at the South Atlantic Field Office of the Y. W. C. A.:

My dear Dr. Jarman:

May I, in behalf of the Student Department of the South Atlantic Field Committee, thank you and your school for your very courteous hospitality shown us during the Cabinet Council?

It was indeed good to be in Farmville and to have a Council in a place where all arrangements were so very satisfactory. I am certain that the girls and the secretaries enjoyed every minute of their stay there. I think the success of the Council was due to the very splendid cooperation given us by your student body and faculty.

Thanking you for your share in it, I am

Very sincerely yours,
ELSIE B. HELLER,
Student Secretary.

NOW'S THE TIME TO

Plan to go to Blue Ridge.
Practice for Field Day.
Pay for your Rotunda.
Keep your Y. W. pledge.
Support the Senior Pageant.
Boost the Student Building Fund.
Pay your class dues.
Make plans for Commencement.
Decide to come back next year.

SONG

You said you loved me—swore
It by all holiness,
And I believed you; whether less
Because I thought you true, and more
Because I wanted so
Your love, I do not know;
But I believed. Too soon, you laughed
And went your way. I was a fool;
It took me long to learn the lessons in this queer school
That men call life. So, I forgave, when
at last
You humbly asked that you might be again
What you had meant before. Then,
For a while you loved me well
Until, once more, you went away
To give that flickering love of yours to some one else, today.
I wonder if you know the hell
You brought me. I wonder if, some day, you will turn again
To me—for when
You do, I think that I shall smile
At small, remembered agony
That once meant all of life to me,
And marvel, but dispassionately, that one could
Change so in so short a while.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

PIERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Pierian Literary Society took place Tuesday, April 18th, in room K.

The following program was given:
Life of Percy Mackaye, Nannie Watts.
Order of Procedure, Estelle Bennett.
Synopsis of Pageant, Gracie Davis.

At the conclusion of the program the critic's report was given, after which the meeting adjourned.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY

The Cunningham Society gave a program on Francis Tickner at its regular meeting. Martha Bidgood, who had charge of the program, gave a sketch of his life. One of his poems was read by Alice Lee Rumbough and another one by Margaret Atwill.

KINDERGARTEN CLUB PRESENTS PLAY Seniors of Course 1 Give "The Flower Shop"

The Seniors of the Kindergarten Club gave a delightful one-act play, entitled "The Flower Shop," in the auditorium on Friday night, April 21, 1922. Agnes McDuffey as the proprietor of the shop, Julia Clark as Maude, the clerk, and Elizabeth Finch as Miss Wells, the old maid, carried off the chief honors of the evening, while Nell McArdle, as Mr. Jackson, contributed the humor to the occasion. The play was a grand success and the girls are to be congratulated upon the outcome.

A Risque Rake

'Twas on a summer hayride,
As we strolled about the land,
That I softly called her sweetheart,
And held her little—raincoat.

As I held her little raincoat,
We were going quite a pace,
I nestled close beside her
And moved closer to her—umbrella.

Closer to her umbrella
As she murmured little sighs,
The mellow moonlight bathed us,
And I peeped into her—basket.

As I peeped into her basket,
The merry little miss,
Laughed in chaste confusion
As I boldly stole a—sandwich.

—The Lyre.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V. Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

Nigger, ef you make me much mo' madder I'se gwi' knock yo' haid slam down yo' tho't.

Dat so? Cafeteria!

Mo'n dat. You gwi' think all de pile drivuh in de world done drap on top yo' skull!

Yaas? Cafeteria!

Look hyar, nigger! Whut you mean by dis hyar "caffy-teery" talk?

"Jest walk right in an' he'p yo'self."—
Virginia Reel.

Sea Captain (to one of many leaning over ship rail): Weak stomach, my lad?

Boy (nervously): Why, ain't I putting it as far as the rest?—Octopus.

Crank Customer: Is this well water?
Chipper Clerk: Does it look sick?—
Juggler.

Mary: If Mamie Nichols' head went floating down the Mississippi, what song would it represent?

Ann: I bite.

Mary: "I Ain't Got No Body."

"Girls at Harrisonburg Losing Eyesight," says a headline. Moral: Have your bootlegger give references.

And your lips are just like rose petals."
"Really, Hubert, I must say good night
now."

"Well, let's say it with flowers."—Yale
Record.

Floor Walker: Looking for something,
madam?

Fat Lady: Husband.

F. W.: First aisle to your left—male order department.—Chaparral.

Bones: What's a divorce suit?

Groans: The opposite of a union suit.—
Purple Cow.

Minister: Would you care to join us in the new missionary movement?

Miss Ala Mode: I'm crazy to try it.
Is it anything like the fox trot?—Chaparral.

She: Have you seen the "camel walk"?

He (still maintaining a little equilibrium): Nope, not yet? I'm only up to the green snakes so far.—Lord Jeff.

Our Willie picked a cartridge up

And on a stone it struck!

We hadn't bought his school books yet—
Oh, were we not in luck?

—Burr.

Our baby has her mother's hair
And granny's teeth—and say,
If mother ever finds them there,
There'll be the deuce to pay.
—Virginia Reel.

Virginia had a little quart
Of cider, hard as steel;
And everywhere she went 'twas sport
To watch Virginia reel!
—Gargoyle.

Judge: I sentence you to be hanged.
Optimistic Prisoner: I love to be kept in suspense; it's so exciting.—Widow.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study,
Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized
recitation, programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
Lynchburg—4:30 P. M. Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance,

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR.

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.
FARMVILLE, VA.

HAVE YOU PAID
YOUR
Y. U. PLEDGE ?

ADVERTISING THE ADVERTISER

IF NOT,
DO IT NOW !

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 2. No. 27.

Farmville, Virginia.

May 5, 1922.

ASSOCIATIONS TO HOLD NEXT MEETINGS IN VIRGINIA

Three Virginians Elected Officers of Southern Inter-Collegiate Student Government Association

The Southern Inter-Collegiate Student Government Association, to which our school sent delegates, held its annual meeting at Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, April 19, 1921. Six colleges have joined the Association in the past year making the total membership thirty-one colleges and normal schools.

Next year the Association will meet at Westhampton College, Richmond, Virginia. Three of the five officers of the Southern Association elected for the coming year are Virginians.

It is interesting to note that next year the Northern Inter-Collegiate Association will meet in Virginia at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Since April the 21st, $112.00 has been added to the Student Building Fund.

The Board of Superintendents held its annual meeting here April 25th and 26th.

The Training School has succeeded in raising its quota for the Wilson Memorial Fund.

The Junior Class has contributed $32.00 to the Student Building Fund, which they secured from the "Trip Around the World," given on April 23rd.

Dr. Jarman recently received a check for $50.00 for the Student Building Fund from a graduate of the class of June, 1921. This is the largest single contribution ever received.

Both the Junior and Senior classes have begun practicing their songs for Commencement.

The majority of the student body saw and enjoyed "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," shown at the Eaco Theatre on April 27th and 28th.

The installation service of the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet was held in the auditorium on Wednesday night, May 3rd.

AMONG THE COLLEGES

Vachel Lindsay, one of the foremost poets of America visited Davidson College, N. C., on April 26th.

Intercollegiate airplane flying contests will be established as a new sport when Oxford and Cambridge hold a flying meet at the Hendon Aerodrome in London. There will be three events in the contest.

Mount Union College claims to be the originator of basketball. A tablet in the gymnasium has an inscription to the effect that the first game was played there in March, 1892.

DR. BECKHAM GIVES LECTURE

Interesting Stereopticon Lecture Delivered in Auditorium

Dr. Beckham, president of the Ferrum School in Franklin County, Virginia, gave an exceedingly interesting stereopticon lecture in the auditorium on Monday night, April 23rd. The pictures were scenes taken in and near Franklin and Patrick counties, and depicted the life and needs of the mountain people as they were and are today. He also showed the far-reaching influence of the Ferrum School and the wonderful work which it is carrying on.

JUNIORS GO OVER THE TOP

Junior Class Raises Quota for Wilson Memorial Fund

The Junior Class showed its old time loyalty by coming out and boosting the Wilson Memorial Fund. The quota was not raised until Friday night but then the class came out with flying colors, giving to Dr. Jarman a total of $51.65—which was $1.65 above its allotment. The Junior Class has a right to be proud of its members when they prove to be such loyal supporters.

DR. JARMAN SPEAKS IN THE INTEREST OF CONSOLIDATION

Three nights of last week Dr. Jarman spoke in three of the one-room schools in the vicinity of Farmville, namely the Nile, the Bass, and the Sailor Creek schools, in interest of consolidation in one large central school. The project is to make the school at Rice the point of consolidation as that is about the center of the district. The people have not fully decided yet just what they will do but the majority seem to be favorably inclined toward the consolidation.

HOW TO KILL A SCHOOL PUBLICATION

1. Don't buy one—borrow one; just to be a Sponger.
 2. Look up the advertisers and trade with another fellow.—Be a Chump.
 3. Never hand in any news items and be sure to criticize everything in the paper.—Be a Cox Comb.
 4. Tell your neighbors that the paper is going down hill every day.—Be a Pessimist.
 5. If you can't hustle and make the paper a success.—Be a Corpse.
- Classify yourself! —Exchange.

WHO WILL BE THE VICTORS?

Will the 13th of May prove a "lucky member" day for the Seniors, Juniors or Fourth Years? I wonder—Who is going to receive the Trophy Baseball, with the names of class, captain and team inscribed thereon, that will be presented to the winners of the baseball games? I wonder—Who is going to be proclaimed the winners of the track meet and tennis tournament? I wonder again.

I hear that the Third Professionals are coming out to try their hand at a little baseball. Hurrah for you, Third Professionals, you have the right spirit!

The baseball games will be played the morning following the afternoon of the track meet and tennis games. The teams are allowed to have two substitutes. Pick your "men," captains, and get your lineup ready for the big game. The time for action is here and you don't want to be left behind.

The record for the high jump is, at present, 3 ft. 11 inches. Can you beat it? If so, come out for your class and show us.

The tennis games are to consist of both singles and doubles. The tournament will take place the afternoon of Field Day.

Entries for the events on our field day should be made the week preceding.

The following are the captains and managers of the games and events:

Seniors—Baseball, Clara Smith; Tennis, Kate Davis; Field and track events, Frances Barksdale.

Juniors—Baseball, Erma Shotwell; Tennis, F. Pierce; Field and track events, Mary Clarke and Mary Friend.

This is the way the points will be distributed to the winners of the cup:

Event.	1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Basketball	10	5	3
Baseball	10	5	3
Tennis (singles and doubles)	5	3	1
Track	5	3	1

So far the Seniors are ahead with ten points in their favor, the Juniors next with five points and Fourth Years with three points.

Support your class! If it loses, you don't want to have to say to yourself, "Perhaps if I had helped—" and certainly if it wins you want to say, "I helped!"

A new girl was home for the Easter holiday. One of her friends asked; "Have you made a good impression on the faculty and student body?"

The new girl: Well, I should say! I have been invited to attend three of the Tuesday night Student Government meetings and Miss Mary has had two private talks with me in her sitting room."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow
BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Neil McArdie
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnae.....Miss Brownie Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
.....Mary Maupin

EDITORIAL

Commencement time is near. To many of us it means the end of student life, at least for a while, and the beginning of life as teachers. What have we gained here? What is to be our attitude toward our work out in the big world to which we are so eager to go?

We have gained a knowledge of facts and also of the best methods of teaching. We have sent in applications for positions, and we wonder just where we really shall teach next year. We have already made up our minds that the positions we accept must pay us well. Have we thought about the other side of the question as well? Let us consider for a moment, not what we shall get but what we shall give. A true teacher's life must necessarily be one of service. The best teacher is not always the one who receives the highest salary. The teacher who does faithful work and leads her pupils to desire better things, is giving something worth while, no matter what she is getting.

Just now our thoughts are more or less self-centered because we are approaching one of the red-letter days of our lives—our graduation day. But when we begin to teach we must center our thoughts not on ourselves, but on others. Let us begin our work as teachers with this desire:

Lord, help me live from day to day,
In such a self-forgetful way,
That even when I kneel to pray,
My prayer shall be for others.

Help me in all the work I do,
To ever be sincere and true,
And know that all I'd do for you,
Must needs be done for others.

REVERIE OF THE SCHOOL BELL

Some people say that I am insignificant because I am hidden away from the world, but though I am little, there is no one who can dispute the fact that I am loud, and from my lofty perch amidst the towers have been the guiding hand of many a class as it has made the rounds of S. N. S. I often wonder how they could manage without me. My, what a tardy, irregular lot they would be! But my life isn't all work, there's a play side, too. No, indeed, I never could have managed to stay here so long if it hadn't been for the fun. I know I am nothing but a piece of iron mechanism, but nevertheless my life isn't dull. I'm quite sure I know more than the majority of people will give me credit for.

There is one thing in which I take a special delight, and that is in ringing at 6 o'clock in the morning. Oh, how I love to send forth my early greeting to those few who have returned from Slumberland by that unearthly hour! Especially do I give my most thunderous rumble when there are new girls around. It's really pitiful how they jump that first morning, and oh, the frowns I see when they discover what time it is and think of what misery a year with me will mean. But they soon get over that. Before a week has passed they forget all about me and sleep peacefully through my noise. But oh, what a difference there is at 7:30. Such a disturbance, such a bumping, thumping, hurrying and scurrying as no one save those who have spent a part of their lives around a school can realize. Sometimes I am tempted to go on a strike because they hate to get up so badly, but again when I am in a mischievous mood I just strain every nerve and muscle to make the greatest noise possible, and then when I subside from complete exhaustion it's great fun to see them running around so frantically.

The next best time in my opinion is 1 o'clock. If you just realized what that time means to the girls you would understand why I enjoy it so much. Just think how they love to hear me when I mark the cessation of classes for a whole hour. Similar to this is when at 9:45 I tell them that their hours of study are over for the night and it's time for the fun to begin. Of course, I know, and they do, too, that they're supposed to go to bed, but then, who cares? I don't. That is the time when I grow so terribly envious and sometimes my feelings get the better of me so completely that when 10 o'clock comes I let out the most dismal, heart-rending wail imaginable, which, of course, is very wicked of me, because after that last terrible cry I cover my head for the night and leave those poor girls all alone in the dark with that spooky sound ringing in their ears.

Concluded on page 3.

Davidson's
DEPT. STORE

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery
School Supplies.

Good things to eat and Drink.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

On April 25th, the Athenian Literary Society presented a "Robert Burns" program which proved a great success as it afforded variety and yet consistency thru out the entire program. The following program was given:

Life and Characteristics of Burns, Catherine Brooking.

Synopsis of Cattea's Saturday Night, Dorothy Langslow.

Song "Auld Lang Syne," Myrtle Riche and Lota Fitchett.

Literary characteristics and contributions, Sue Puchett.

Recitation "Man was made to mourn," Virginia Bundarunt.

A MIDNIGHT RIDE

A single light in the drawing room shone down on a desk at which a girl was bent over a book. It was late and she was alone. Intently her eyes scanned the lines. "One hand clutched the harp, the other flew to her throat from which came only an inarticulate sound like a struggle for utterance." With a shiver the reader drew her sweater closer and glanced around the room, almost immediately burying her face yet closer in the book. "Error was in the innocent eyes—" Could it be that she was going blind or—surely not—but yes, for before her horrified gaze the single light in the room and those in the hall were slowly dimming! "Gee," she breathed solemnly, as she watched them brighten and then pale again. Fear paralyzed her. Then a scream issued from her throat and with a bound she had crossed the door sill and was rushing madly along the hall. Up the first three steps at a leap—oh, was that a shadow—a wild sprint—what had the girl seen—almost at the top—total darkness. But Allah be praised there was the wall and her swift course neither faltered nor stayed. Bang! Crash! Yow! And she was precipitated across a huge hard object. So irresistible was the impetus that together they sportively slid down the hall to the accompaniment of excited and interested queries from numerous doorway spectators. And the next day the girl was kept busy explaining that she limped, not thru choice, but as consequence of having fallen over a trunk.

Frosh: I gotta Know—

Frosher: You did, huh? I thought "E" was the lowest.—Delaware Review.

SPENDTHRIFT.

You hoarded long
Your little gold.
I spent mine; all
My hands could hold.

You sang a song—
A song of pain;
You knew not what you sang,
For only gain.

Had ever come
Your cautious way.
You loved—yet held
Back much; you say

I gave too much.
Painted tears, it brought,
Yet a fiercer joy, too,
And I would change for naught

That you have kept;
The brushing wings
Of dead desires have swept away
Those clinging things.

That still mean life to you.
Beggar and I—
Beggar—and spendthrift,
Until I die.

EGGS! EGGS!

You have given us eggs for breakfast,
Until we scream at the sight,
We have eggs for dinner and supper;
And we dream of eggs at night.
We have eggs both boiled and scrambled,
But we crave a changed menu,
And long for the happy dawning
Of the day when eggs will be few.

For the sad result of this feeding
On om'let and eggs in the shell,
Will manifest itself boldly,
And in the student body will tell.

We are becoming daily like chickens;
We are growing "pin-feathers" and wings;

And we try to crow and cackle,
Instead of trying to sing.

Then cease your cruel feeding
On eggs and eggs galore.

For our Normal will soon develop
Into a "henhouse,"—and nothing more.
E. M. S.

RING FOR SALE!

If anyone wants to buy a Senior ring in good condition, costing $10.50 but to be sold for $8.00, apply to the Rotunda office.

THE SCHOOL BELL.

Oh, my life is full of ups and downs. I have my joys and sorrows just as everyone else has, but still those are the things which make up a real life, and after all it isn't so bad to be "just the old school bell."
D. L.

"Give for any one year the amount of immigration into the United States.
"1492: None."

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplier We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

Dedicated to the person, who in last week's issue of this paper, said:

"Suppose the Juniors worked as hard as they think they do."

"The Juniors stood on the railroad Number 8 came rushing fast, Number 8 jumped off the railroad track To let the Juniors pass."

Which all goes to prove that the Juniors are very important, anyway.

"There now! Never mind, old chap!" said the hotel guest, as he patted the electric bulb and turned the switch.

"What on earth!" cried his roommate. "Have you gone teetotally crazy?"

"Merely obeying that sign, which insists that I 'kindly turn off the light before leaving the room.'"

—Judge.

R. H. in White's Drug Store: "Have you any aspirin tablets?"

Bald-headed clerk: Why-er, no, but we have some good linen tablets which are much cheaper.

"Say, waiter, is this an incubator chicken? It tastes like it."

"I don't know, sir."

"It must be. Any chicken that has had a mother could never get as tough as this one is.—Wampus.

"Raining pitchforks" is bad enough, but when it comes to "Hailing Street Cars" it's pretty rough weather.—Virginia Reel.

Percival: If you don't marry me, I'll blow my brains out.

Liz: Oh, don't, you might strain your lungs.—Goblin.

Old Lady (to newsboy): You don't chew tobacco, do you, little boy?

Newsie: No, mum, but I kin give yer a cigarette if you want one.—Flamingo.

Careful Mother: Johnny, if you eat any more cake, you'll bust.

Johnnie: Well, pass th' cake and get outta the way.—Mink.

"Who made the football training table this year?"

"Aw, they're using the same one as last year."—Widow.

Harry: I dreamt I died last night.

Larry: What woke you up?

Harry: The heat.

"I could live on limburger cheese alone." "You'd have to."—Orange Peel.

He: May I call you "revenge?"
She: Why?
He: Because "revenge is sweet."
She: Certainly—if you let me call you Vengeance.

He: And why should you call me vengeance?

She: Because "vengeance is mine."
—Lehigh Burr.

He: This cold weather chills me to the bone,

She: You should wear a thick hat.
Octopus.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study, Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation, programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

AT THE MOVIES TO-NIGHT

You will see the Best Pictures Shown
OPERA HOUSE,
matinee—4:30 P. M. . . . Night—7:45 P. M.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

508 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street
AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & MCINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1863

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 227.

FARMVILLE, VA.

Rotunda
Oct. 1922 - June 1923
Vol. 3

B²

A

B¹

B¹

A

B²

WELCOME !
NEW S. N. S.
GIRLS.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

GLAD TO SEE YOU
BACK, OLD
S. N. S. GIRLS !

Vol. 3. No. 1.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 5, 1922.

FIRST ISSUE OF THE ROTUNDA PRESENTED IN THE AUDITORIUM

Dear Alumnae:

It's a shame each one of you couldn't have heard the first issue of your school paper presented last Saturday night in the auditorium. Everything about that issue was alive, yes indeed, even to the jokes, which, though old and crippled, had an interesting contest and several times forgot to limp. But the story proceeds too rapidly.

As the curtain was drawn, there stood a more than life size issue of the Rotunda. A really typical newsboy crying his paper down the aisle called the attention of all to the S. N. S. Weekly, "The Rotunda, interesting to old and new students, two dollars a year only." Then he turned the leaves for all to see and read. S. N. S. news was surely there from "all about the opening of school with the largest enrollment in the history of the school" to a graphic presentation of Y. W. girls greeting the new-comers. But listen, do you know what has been happening in the faculty during the summer? Well, it seems queer, but when these headlines appeared, someone played the wedding march (inappropriately of course) and a real bride walked from the page.

You should have seen the editor though. She is a keen one, for she stepped from the page of her editorial and talked it, showing where good spirit as well as news could be had.

This was an issue in which it surely paid to advertise. Beautiful long dresses on real models made mouths water; cake, candy, cream and pie for which consumers of all types were not lacking increased that watering process. When a real nurse for toothache; some dog music, and a tea room maid were added, there were real "catching" ads for you.

Can you imagine a more wide awake, livelier and interesting issue than the September number of The Rotunda? You can't until you see the following issues.

Hoping you will receive these, I am,

Sincerely yours,

An Interested Subscriber.

MARSHMALLOW ROAST

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week the Y. W. C. A. held marshmallow roasts for all who wished to attend. This is a new and enjoyable event inaugurated by the Y. W. C. A.

At the student body meeting on Thursday night, Oct. 5th, the sum of $35 was raised for "Cousin Tommy," who has been ill for several weeks. He is reported to be improving.

Y. W. C. A. GREETINGS

Our Association greets you
With a welcome warm and true.
Into our friendly atmosphere
We invite you girls from far and near.

We're ready to lend a helping hand
To help you when'er and how we can.
So don't hesitate or fail to call
On the "Y. W." girls one and all.

We want you to give your "Co-operation"
And feel that this is your Association,
That each and every one of you
Have a place to fill and something to do.
"Miss Y. W. C. A."

Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION

The Young Women's Christian Association gave an annual welcoming reception to the new students of S. N. S. All old girls acted as hostesses to their new friends. All assembled in the auditorium where a reality act was given and refreshments were served. Then there followed a social hour in which the new students met both the faculty and old students. The evening proved one of mutual benefit and enjoyment for all.

GRACE L. RUSSELL, A. B.

Student three years Colby College, Waterville, Me.; "A. B." degree W. Va. University; certificate in English, Harvard University, Summer Session; graduate work in English and Library Science, Simmons College, Boston, Mass.

1st grade departmental clerk under Civil Service in office of Quartermaster General, War Department, Washington, D. C., for two years; experienced in Journalism, and as teacher of college English and head of department of English in northern "A" class high school work.

Resident of Maine.
S. N. S., thru the Rotunda, extends to Miss Russell a hearty welcome and is glad to know that she is the new associate teacher in English.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Governor F. Lee Trinkle who is a member of the Hampden-Sidney Board of Trustees was a welcomed visitor to Hampden-Sidney and Farmville on Wednesday.

Rev. J. W. Kamack, D. D., of Richmond, Virginia, the present Commissioner of Education for the Baptist Church of this state, conducted the chapel exercises on Wednesday morning. His talk was both interesting and practical.

Miss Susie Floyd has been elected Vice-President of the Y. W. C. A. Her former position on the cabinet, chairman of the morning Watch Committee, has been filled by Miss Ellen Peters.

Miss Virginia Anderson who completed the two-year course at Farmville Normal School the past June, has gone to William and Mary College to continue work towards her degree.

Miss Jacqueline Ven 'able who is teaching in Blackstone, spent the past week-end with her parents in Farmville.

Miss Virginia Wall has entered Hollins College.

Miss Fita Belle Walker '22 is studying this year at William and Mary College.

The Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Spear will soon begin work on the new fall play "Come Out of the Kitchen."

TRAVELLER'S CLUB

At a meeting of the Travellers' Club held at the close of last session, the following officers were elected for this year: President, Lennie Blankenship; Vice-President, Ellen Carlson; Secretary, Ethel Spaid; and Reporter, Dorothy Askew.

CLASS ORGANIZATIONS

The Fourth Professional class has organized for the coming year with the following officers: President, Lois Williams; Vice-President, Elizabeth Moring; Secretary, Anne Meredith; Treasurer, Ellen Carlson; Social Chairman, Mary Lindsey; Reporter, Mary Nichols.

The Second Professional class has organized with the following officers: President, Florence Miller; Vice-President, Katherine Morgan; Secretary, Mary Taliaferro; Treasurer, Margaret Finch.

WELCOME !
NEW S. N. S.
GIRLS.

THE ROTUNDA

GLAD TO SEE YOU
BACK, OLD
S. N. S. GIRLS !

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3. No. 1.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 5, 1922.

FIRST ISSUE OF THE ROTUNDA PRESENTED IN THE AUDITORIUM

Dear Alumnae:

It's a shame each one of you couldn't have heard the first issue of your school paper presented last Saturday night in the auditorium. Everything about that issue was alive, yes indeed, even to the jokes, which, though old and crippled, had an interesting contest and several times forgot to limp. But the story proceeds too rapidly.

As the curtain was drawn, there stood a more than life size issue of the Rotunda. A really typical newsboy crying his paper down the aisle called the attention of all to the S. N. S. Weekly, "The Rotunda, interesting to old and new students, two dollars a year only." Then he turned the leaves for all to see and read. S. N. S. news was surely there from "all about the opening of school with the largest enrollment in the history of the school" to a graphic presentation of Y. W. girls greeting the new-comers. But listen, do you know what has been happening in the faculty during the summer? Well, it seems queer, but when these headlines appeared, someone played the wedding march (inappropriately of course) and a real bride walked from the page.

You should have seen the editor though. She is a keen one, for she stepped from the page of her editorial and talked it, showing where good spirit as well as news could be had.

This was an issue in which it surely paid to advertise. Beautiful long dresses on real models made mouths water; cake, candy, cream and pie for which consumers of all types were not lacking increased that watering process. When a real nurse for toothache; some dog music, and a tea room maid were added, there were real "catching" ads for you.

Can you imagine a more wide awake, livelier and interesting issue than the September number of The Rotunda? You can't until you see the following issues.

Hoping you will receive these, I am,

Sincerely yours,

An Interested Subscriber.

MARSHMALLOW ROAST

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week the Y. W. C. A. held marshmallow roasts for all who wished to attend. This is a new and enjoyable event inaugurated by the Y. W. C. A.

At the student body meeting on Thursday night, Oct. 5th, the sum of $35 was raised for "Cousin Tommy," who has been ill for several weeks. He is reported to be improving.

Y. W. C. A. GREETINGS

Our Association greets you
With a welcome warm and true.
Into our friendly atmosphere
We invite you girls from far and near.

We're ready to lend a helping hand
To help you when'er and how we can.
So don't hesitate or fail to call
On the "Y. W." girls one and all.

We want you to give your "Co-operation"
And feel that this is your Association,
That each and every one of you
Have a place to fill and something to do.
"Miss Y. W. C. A."

Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION

The Young Women's Christian Association gave an annual welcoming reception to the new students of S. N. S. All old girls acted as hostesses to their new friends. All assembled in the auditorium where a reality act was given and refreshments were served. Then there followed a social hour in which the new students met both the faculty and old students. The evening proved one of mutual benefit and enjoyment for all.

GRACE L. RUSSELL, A. B.

Student three years Colby College, Waterville, Me.; "A. B." degree W. Va. University; certificate in English, Harvard University, Summer Session; graduate work in English and Library Science, Simmons College, Boston, Mass.

1st grade departmental clerk under Civil Service in office of Quartermaster General, War Department, Washington, D. C., for two years; experienced in Journalism, and as teacher of college English and head of department of English in northern "A" class high school work.

Resident of Maine.

S. N. S., thru the Rotunda, extends to Miss Russell a hearty welcome and is glad to know that she is the new associate teacher in English.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Governor E. Lee Trinkle who is a member of the Hampden-Sidney Board of Trustees was a welcomed visitor to Hampden-Sidney and Farmville on Wednesday.

Rev. J. W. Kamack, D. D., of Richmond, Virginia, the present Commissioner of Education for the Baptist Church of this state, conducted the chapel exercises on Wednesday morning. His talk was both interesting and practical.

Miss Susie Floyd has been elected Vice-President of the Y. W. C. A. Her former position on the cabinet, chairman of the morning Watch Committee, has been filled by Miss Ellen Peters.

Miss Virginia Anderson who completed the two-year course at Farmville Normal School the past June, has gone to William and Mary College to continue work towards her degree.

Miss Jacqueline Ven 'able who is teaching in Blackstone, spent the past week-end with her parents in Farmville.

Miss Virginia Wall has entered Hollins College.

Miss Erta Belle Walker '22 is studying this year at William and Mary College.

The Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Spear will soon begin work on the new fall play "Come Out of the Kitchen."

TRAVELLER'S CLUB

At a meeting of the Travellers' Club held at the close of last session, the following officers were elected for this year: President, Lennie Blankenship; Vice-President, Ellen Carlson; Secretary, Ethel Spaid; and Reporter, Dorothy Askew.

CLASS ORGANIZATIONS

The Fourth Professional class has organized for the coming year with the following officers: President, Lois Williams; Vice-President, Elizabeth Moring; Secretary, Anne Meredith; Treasurer, Ellen Carlson; Social Chairman, Mary Lindsey; Reporter, Mary Nichols.

The Second Professional class has organized with the following officers: President, Florence Miller; Vice-President, Katherine Morgan; Secretary, Mary Taliaferro; Treasurer, Margaret Finch.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Nell McArdle
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnae.....Miss Brownie Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
.....Mary Maupin

WELCOME, NEW GIRLS!

At this, the beginning of our school year, we want to extend a welcome to the new girls. We want you to love Alma Mater as we do. Our school life is what we make it, shall not all of us working together make our school life joyous?

Perhaps you are the least bit homesick and miss your old friends. That is natural, but all of us want to become your friends. We want you to take part in the school activities. If you do this, that homesick feeling will soon disappear and before you know it you will have many new friends.

Try out for the Glee Club. When the call comes for basket-ball players, go out on the field and play, even if you have little hope of making the team. Write an article or poem for the school paper. Go to prayers every night right after supper. Don't be an on-looker, but enter right in to school life.

In the beginning of the year let us learn our president's favorite word, co-operation. Let us make his heart rejoice by really working together in all school enterprises. If we do this, we shall have a joyous year.

"Joy comes through toil,

And not by self-indulgence and indolence.

When one gets to love work,

His life is a happy one."—Ruskin.

WHY—BIBLE STUDY

We are greatly impressed with the fact that all things are changing; that before our very eye a new world is taking shape. The several demands of this new day will not be met save by men and women thoroughly equipped to live and to serve.

One of the writers of the Bible tells us that this is exactly what the Book is for—to fit us for living our life in the best possible way. He says it is profitable for teaching, for correction, for instruction,—that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work. 11 Tim. 3: 16, 17.

Indeed, the Bible is a vital part of our mental, social, and religious make-up. It is the source of our social and political system, it is of inestimable value on account of its inspiration for human progress.

Few things are more needed in the new world just forming than a host of men and women who have come to know the Bible for themselves; leaders who like Luther, Knox and Calvin, have found within its pages guidance in a day of crisis, inspiration for themselves and those whom they would serve.

The Bible has peculiar value in this modern world because it helps to foster and to keep sensitive the personal life which is in danger of being lost in the vast sweep of mass movements and the merciless impersonality of the modern life and thought.

More than any other book it sets forth the spirit of complete self surrender, the spirit that loses itself in the good of the whole and yet never does it forget the worth of the individual, the value of man beyond anything that he does, his personal worth to God and his friends and himself. Here one finds light for new work, helps to a life worth while, indispensable guidance in setting his life right and doing his part in the world.

Beyond all these values of the Bible there lies the fact that is the revelation of the will and character of God. In it and through it God speaks directly to the minds and hearts and lives of men. Men and women have justified their faith by their acts and lives, by what they have done and what they have become.

The personal test is the proof that the Bible is the very word of God.
Learn it,—love it,—live it.
Join a Sunday School Class!

MOODS

I sing of sorrow and of tears,

I, who have never known a moment's grief.

My heart would break, because I know

That some day it must suffer so—

Ah, what a fool!

The world is gay and the sky deep blue

With golden glints, like lapis in the sun,

And the trees make little moaning sounds of laughter

In the wind.

I shall laugh too—

Why should I weep

When all the world is gold and blue?

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE FOR
THE ROTUNDA.

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery
and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women

Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let US Supply That FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods
and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches
and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and
Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery!

School Supplies.

Good things to eat and Drink.

THE YEARS

The years slip thru my fingers, a molten mass:
Like the jewels on a string, they sing and glide—

Beautiful years, I stand aghast,
You go too soon,—you slip too fast!

Of molten fire and moon mist; and wistful dreams,
They shimmer with delight, and joyous life—
Those future beads that will not last—
Those other, fragrant beads that are the Past.

But those within my fingers—how queer it seems—
That makes the Now—are full of ugly blemishes.
Why change your colors, slipping years?
Or do I dim them with my tears?

Yet beautiful or ugly, I love you, Years—
I tell you o'er as would a priest his beads—
Oh gleaming beads,—aghast I stand—
Too soon into—and from—my hand!

PARAGRAPHS

"Women never count the cost of loving;
they simply love."—Ex.

"Confession is good for the soul, but bad for the reputation."—Ex.

"There is no place for the men—or women —who lives in the squabbles of the Past."—
Ex.

"In love is a wide term that covers a multitude of poor and passing emotions."—Ex.

"If I have faltered more or less,
In my great task of happiness,
If I have oved among my race,
And shown no glorious morning face,
If happy beams from human eyes
Have moved me not, if morning skies,
Books and my food and summer rain
Knocked at my sullen heart in vain,
Lord, thy most poignant pleasure take,
And stab my spirit broad awake."

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

THINKING

You've got to think high to rise,
For out of the world we find
Success begins with a fellow's will—
It's all in the state of mind.

Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But sooner or later the man who wins,
Is the one who thinks he can.

If you think you are beaten, you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't;
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you'd like to win, but think you can't,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.

—Selected.

Perseverance plucks success even from the spear-proof crest of rugged danger.

Even when a man knows exactly in what defect failure lies, he can't help it.

Being diplomatic may seem expensive at the time, but in the long run it pays.

Human penchant for accumulating articles one doesn't want is tempered by rummage sales.

Don't think for a minute that there is nothing in spiritualism. Some mediums are wealthy.

The difference between a compliment and flattery is whether you get it or somebody else.

If candles were made in the shape of a cross some would burn them at all four ends.

Every rung higher on the ladder of fame that a man climbs further accentuates his eccentricities.

Signs Rule Country Life, City Too.

"It's gotten so you can't go where you want to around this town—or in it," complained the man.

"What's wrong now?" asked his friend.

"Signs! Eternal signs! 'This way out.' 'Keep to the right.' 'East bound traffic only.' 'Use other stairs going out.' Then the cop stops you when you think you see a fine opening in traffic, and again you stop and go with the mob."

"Last Saturday I went out to the country thinking that I would at least be free from the confines of traffic rules and get away from signs for one day. 'No automobiles allowed.'
'No trespassing.' 'Beware of the dogs.'
'Private property—keep out.' 'No vehicular traffic.' 'Keep on the paths.'
All those signs slapped me in the face. More personal liberty gone."—
New York Sun.

For Good Entertainment AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House,
Dr. L. D. Whitaker, Mgr.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study,
Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized
recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards,
Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

JOKES

Math Prof: Miss Scuttum, will you lay off that line?

Co-ed: I wasn't talking to any one, sir.—Va. Reel.

Daughter (reading letter): Jack says the germans are at Virginia this week.

Mother (slightly behind times): Oh, my! Has that terrible war broken out again.—Va. Reel.

She: What were you doing after the accident?

He: Scraping up an acquaintance.—Widow.

When did Moses sleep five in a bed?
When he slept with his forefathers.—Lampoon.

"I promise to show you", said the professor of biology, "a very fine specimen of a dissected frog which I have in this parcel."

Undoing the parcel he disclosed some sandwiches, a hard-boiled egg, and some fruit.

"But—surely I ate my lunch!" he exclaimed.—Judge.

Ruth rode in my new cycle car
On the seat in back of me.
I took a bump at fifty-five
And rode on ruthlessly.—Royal Gaboon.

Drug Clerk: What kind of a tooth brush do you want?

Customer: Gib me a big one boo. Dare's ten in my family.—Ghost.

We both felt Awkward
As could be
At our first tea
Which all could see
Well, anyway, she poured the tea—
First in my cup and then on me.
She blushed so lovely and so red
"One lump or two" was all she said.
I answered, "One will do, for note,
I have another in my throat."
And now we're glad we lost our head
"That's why we fell in love," she said.—Va. Reel.

Mr. Eichelstein returned from his business one night to find his wife rocking the baby and singing, "By-low, baby, by-low by-low, baby"
—"Dot's right, Sarah, you teach him to buy low, and I'll teach him to sell high."

"Eight o'clock, eight o'clock!" shouted the landlady, knocking at the door of her roomer.
"Doctor's office on the next floor", remarked the roomer, settling himself for another nap.

If George Washington was such an honest man, why did they get the habit of closing the banks on his birthday?—Colorado Dodo.

Kindly old gentleman: Good morning. Johny, how's your grandfather standing the heat?

Johny: Haven't heard yet, sir, he's only been dead a week.

Johnny: Pa, won't you please buy me a microbe to help me out with my arithmetic.

Pa: What good will a microbe do you?
I just read in this paper that they multiply rapidly.—Medical Quip.

Willie: Grandpa, can you help me with this problem?

Grandpa: I could, dear, but I don't think it would be right.

I don't suppose it would, but take a shot at it anyway.—New York Sun.

First She: Gee, you look funny in that hat.
T'other: What's the matter with it?

Oh, it isn't the hat.—Vassar Miscellany News.

The chore which makes me very sore
And is no cause for laughter
Is madly scrubbing out the tub
Before my bath and after.—Judge.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

{Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249, 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order

FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose
$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look over our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & McINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone 297.

FARMVILLE, VA.

JOIN
THE
J. W. C. A.

HAVE YOU
SCHOOL
LOYALTY?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3. No. 2.

Farmville, Virginia.

Oct. 12, 1922.

WHAT IS SCHOOL LOYALTY?

Miss Hiner Addresses Student Body

Saturday night at a meeting of the student body Miss Mary Clay Hiner, of the English Department, spoke to the students on the subject of "Loyalty to Our School."

Miss Hiner's talk consisted of a series of questions that she discussed with the students. One of the first questions was: "Is school loyalty a separate type of loyalty?" After satisfactorily answering this question in the negative the speaker proceeded to show that the loyalty one feels for one's family is the same kind of loyalty that one should have for her school. In answer to the question "What does being loyal to one's family mean?" one of the students very aptly stated that "being loyal to one's family means to live so as to reflect credit on one's family."

In the course of her talk Miss Hiner pointed out that the present high standing of the Farmville State Normal School is due to the loyalty and love of the student bodies of the past and that it is the duty of the present student body and those of the future to keep up the record of the past. In conclusion the speaker pictured the ideal type of girl in school as the girl who is interested in all the activities of the school and tries to live up to its ideals.

TURMOIL IN THE DINING ROOM

Wow! Yelp! Ki! Yi! Wooow! Wow! Wooow!

Oooh! Oooh! What! Aoooo!

Suddenly in the above manner was the peace of supper-time disturbed. All over the dining-room girls were screaming, yelling and climbing into chairs. Above the general uproar the short, high yelps of a dog could be heard. "What is wrong?" "Will he bite?" "Let me get out of this window," and other remarks of this nature were heard on all sides. Then the door opened and the maid drove out the cause of all the commotion, still yelping with pain from the scalding coffee spilt on his back.

RUTH WILKINS, A. B., A. M.

"A. B." degree, McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., 1916; "A. M." degree, George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., 1921; graduate study, Illinois University, Champaign, Ill.

English teacher in the South Georgia State Normal College, Valdosta, Ga.; head of the English Dept., Senior High School, El Dorado, Kansas.

Resident of Metropolis, Ill.

The students, faculty and home department extend to Miss Wilkins a hearty welcome as an associate teacher in the English Department.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

LITERARY SOCIETIES

All literary societies are busy formulating plans for the "Come and See" week.

Cunningham Literary Society

At a regular weekly meeting of the Cunningham Literary Society the following officers were elected to fill vacancies caused by officers failing to return—Vice-President Anne Meredith, Recording Secretary Doris Beale.

Athenian Literary Society

The regular weekly meeting of the Athenian Literary Society was held Tuesday, October 10th, and the following program was given:

Song—"Comin' Thru the Rye"—Society.

Recitation—"Ye Flowery Banks of Bonny Doone"—Julia Cave.

Synopsis of "Nancy Stare"—Edna Blanton.

Vocal Solo—Elizabeth Williams.

Reading—Susie Floyd.

Song—"Auld Lang Syne"—Society.

SOCIAL NEWS

Miss Marie Sutton was specially honored by a birthday supper given by her room-mate and friends, in the Training School lunch room, Monday evening. The table was laid in white and pink with a large crepe paper rose in the center containing the favors of small paper carnations and chrysanthemums. The candles were lighted on the birthday cake as the guest of honor entered. The supper was followed by a theater party at the Eaco Theater. Place cards were written for Misses Marie Sutton, Evelyn Barns, Frances Evans, Lou Gregory, Ernestine Landrum, Louise Scott, Lela Burrow and Anne Meredith.

Miss Elizabeth Moring entertained the members of the Pi Kappa Omega Society at her home on Friday, October 5th. The colors of the society were very appropriately carried out in the decorations and refreshments. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by all.

PERSONALS

Miss Lilly Thornhill spent the week-end of October 6-8 with her parents in Lynchburg, Va.

Miss Margaret Steele has been forced, on account of her health, to give up her work as Y. W. C. A. Secretary at the University of California. She is now at her home in Nashville, Tenn., where she will spend the winter.

Miss Lois Williams is attending a meeting of the Southern Division of the National Student Department of the Y. W. C. A. at Atlanta, Ga. She is expected back on October 17th.

Miss Belle and Virginia Atkins spent the week-end of October 6-8, at their home in Boydton, Va.

Dr. J. L. Jarman was in Richmond this past week on business.

Miss Buford spent the week-end of October 6-8 at her home in Lawrenceville, Va., to attend the wedding of her sister.

Dr. Tidyman was in New York for several days this past week.

Miss Kate Trent, of '22, visited Miss Dorothy Diehl this past week-end.

The old students of the S. N. S. were glad to welcome Mrs. Stokes on a visit to the school on Oct. 13. She was formerly Miss Katherine Scott and was connected with the Department of Education last year.

In the Rotunda campaign the fourth professionals are over the top. Keep up with them and have your class a 100 per cent. to the good.

Mrs. Roy R. Flanagan addressed the students in chapel Thursday morning in the interest of the State Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. Jarman left town Tuesday to attend the Methodist Conference in Norfolk. He will be gone a week.

Miss Tupper and her sister, Miss Martha, of Newport News, are spending the week end in Richmond.

Industrial Lesson Plan.

Topic? The multiplication of fraction by another.

Teacher's aim--To show the pupils that the generalization is equal to the product of the numerator and denominator reduced to their lowest terms.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n.

Published weekly by the students of
The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1,
1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia,
under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Elizabeth Moring
Assistant Editor.....Dorothy Langslow

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....Ann Meredith
Organizations.....Lois Williams
Athletic.....Neil McArdle
Y. W. C. A.....Mamie Nichols
Joke.....Emily Calcott
Literary.....Pauline Timberlake
Exchange.....Kate Davis
Alumnae.....Miss Brownie Taliaferro

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....Christine Armstrong
Assistant Business Manager.....Genevieve Bonnewell
Circulation Manager.....Florence Miller
Assistant Circulation Manager.....Julia Alexander
".....Mary Maupin

ARE YOU A WRECK?

Are you a wreck? Do the cares and burdens of your lessons hang over you? Do your teachers seem unfair in their assignments? Does a spirit of tiredness envelop you?

Most of the girls here in the Normal are weighed down by such burdens. And it is so hard to find a cure for them. Dr. Field and the infirmary will not do. No. Many have tried this and all agree unanimously that no cure is to be found there. All the pills, all the sauce or oil have no effect upon this ailment. You remain a wreck.

But it is a serious matter when all the girls of the Normal are wrecks. We must find a cure. The reputation of our school is at stake.

Although I am only a wee little worm I would like to whisper in the ears of the wise ones a cure. It is very simple and if followed closely will produce an immediate effect.

The first trouble arises when the teacher signs those hard lessons. Begin the right way there by grinning your widest and then get to work. There is a consolation in knowing that your burdens are not the hardest. It is a well known fact that those who do the most work are those who complain less and those who go about with long faces are the very laziest ones.

Then at night when your work is done throw open your window and stand there a while. If that does not help there is something wrong with you. The air seems so cool and sweet. It seems to softly caress your cheeks and whisper in your ear promises of renewed strength. The stars twinkle above, seeming so near and yet so far. Then it is that you come closer to God than ever. Somehow we just feel as if we want to pour out a heart of thanks and gratitude to our Maker. He seems so close. Perhaps if we reach out we will touch Him. Worry drops away then as a cloak.

And then in the early morning before assuming the cares of a new day try the same thing. Somehow it is different in the morning. We are refreshed after the night's rest and a new vigor awakens. The air is crisp. It makes you feel as if you must be up and doing. The birds softly twitter. The whole world seems alive and yours for the taking. Before you know it a song arises to your lips and before going down to breakfast you cast that wreck out of the window to a deserving death.

MEMBERSHIP WEEK, 9-14

As we have formed our friendships here in our school-home and have become accustomed to the newness of things, we have attempted to adapt ourselves, to become a part of all we have met. Social, physical, mental and spiritual development has become a part of our school lives and the spirit of fellowship is imbued within us. When we forget ourselves long enough to remember others, we think of this passage from Romans 12:5, "So we being many are one body in Christ, and everyone members one of another."

During this last week as the membership campaign of our Christian Association has been presenting membership to us, we have probably thought a great deal about the spirit of membership in the Association. It has been in our hearts and minds to ask, "What will membership in the Y. W. C. A. mean to me and expect of me?" Shall I become a part of a Christian Association which will give and take of the best in me? "These are questions to be solved by each of us individually. They are between our God and ourselves. May we in communion with our Father God pray. "Grant that we may not disappoint Thee in refusing to trust Thy love because we may not utterly understand it."

Miss Wilhemina London, who was Executive Secretary of the South Atlantic Field last year, takes the place of Miss Margaret Steele as General Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in school.

The following chairmen have been appointed on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet: Ellen Peters, Morning Watch Committee; Lennie Blankenship, Religious Meetings Committee, and Marjorie Thompson, World Fellowship Committee.

As the finance campaign of our Association approaches, may we think of the spirit of unselfish and generous giving. "It is better to give than to receive."

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street
FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS" FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

The Pure Food Store

FOR

Luncheon and Picnic Necessities

Let Us Supply that FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VA.

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions
FARMVILLE, VA.

SHANNON'S HOME BAKERY

Pies, Cakes, Cookies, Sandwiches and Fountain Drinks

FARMVILLE, VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date line of

Toilette Necessities, Stationery and Wiley's Chocolates

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. GARNETT & CO.

Leaders of Fashion

In

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles.

School Work a Specialty.

Amateur Work Finished.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery School Supplies.

Good things to eat and Drink.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The past summer has been a busy one in the matrimonial market for former students of the Farmville State Normal School. In the early part of the summer the following marriages were noted:

Miss Edna A. Crowder to Mr. Graham William McVey, of Norton.

Miss Helen Marie Hayes to Mr. Percy Owen Parker, of Whaleyville.

Miss Juliet Jefferson Hundley to Mr. Henry Eugene Gilliam, of Richmond.

Miss Rosa Allen to Mr. Nathan Womack, of Williamsburg.

Miss Sallie T. Jackson to Mr. Edward Garland Stokes, of Kenbridge.

Miss Annie Riddick Moss to Mr. David R. McClure, New Kensington, Pa.

Miss Louise Pulliam to Mr. Robert Trux, of Roanoke.

Miss Mary Addington to Mr. Harold Colegrove Leonard.

This list will be continued in our next number.

Mrs. J. Addison Tumblin, formerly Miss Frances Marrow Davis, sailed this summer with her husband for Bahia, Brazil, where they will be engaged in missionary work under the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The Charlottesville Alumnae Chapter has begun its work for 1922-1923, and sent in, as a result of the first meeting, $16 for the Student Building Fund. Mrs. Guy L. Miller, Jr. (Miss Hazel Heatwole) is the president.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter met on Thursday, October 5th, and discussed many lines of work, most of them leading to an increase in the Student Building Fund.

The Farmville Herald of August 11th contained the following article:

Mrs. Sophie B. Packer arrived this week for a visit to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Booker, of Hampden-Sidney. Mrs. Packer is a former student of the State Normal School and a graduate of Johns-Hopkins Trained Nurse School. She has been engaged in work among the Chinese as the head of one of the departments of Peking Union Medical College.

Mrs. Eula Young Morrison died suddenly in Richmond last August. At that time she was the manager of the new business department of the Federal Trust Company, but before that she had been connected with the Richmond Times-Dispatch for many years, and a beautiful tribute was paid her in an editorial in that paper.

Eula Young Morrison

An uncounted number of Richmond people will feel, in the death of Mrs. Eula Young Morrison, a sense of grievous personal bereavement, and, because of the knowledge they had of her quiet service, account her passing a genuine loss to the community. None will mark her going with deeper regret than her old comrades of the newspaper field, but there are those in every walk of life, of every age and condition, to whom the untimely severance must be an occasion for mourning. Hers were the gifts of sympathy and understanding and high-heartedness, loyalty and courage—hers a glad readiness to champion the worthy causes of each and of all. She will be missed in Richmond because of the things she did and for the inspiration of her nature and character.

Guide: (On seeing charabanc): Ladies and gentlemen, we are now passing one of the oldest public-houses in the country.

Startled Passenger: What for?

Punch.

Miss Buford (calling roll) Ford Eubank, Eubank Ford. Well, I don't know any other way to put it than but Bank-U-Ford.

Any girl will flirt as the train is pulling out. Exchange,

Golf is having a refining influence in Sick Horse Creek, Alta, according to the Saskatoon Daily Star. It is no longer considered etiquette to draw a gun on Main street without hollering "fore."

Dumb: Did your trip do you good, Belle?
Belle: Kee-rect. I came home dead broke.

Timid young man (pricing engagement ring): How much is this one?

Weary jeweler: This size for $400 and this size for $380.

T. Y. M. So do I.

For Good Entertainment AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House,
Dr. L. D. Whitaker, Mgr.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study.

Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE Farmville, Va.

CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

E. S. SHIELDS, Pres. H. C. CRUTE, V.-Pres.
J. B. OVERTON, Cashier

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5 per Cabinet.

Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VA.

Make Your Headquarters at

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

Conservatory of Music

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907.
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

Typewriting Paper In Any Quantity

MARTIN PRINTING CO.

School, Business and Social Stationery, Cards, Invitations, Programs, Booklets, Blank Forms, etc.

Printers of The Rotunda

218 Third St., Farmville, Va.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.,

Home of the Famous

QUEEN QUALITY FOOTWEAR

Middy Suits, Blouses and Sport Sweaters,

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing, Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for schools and Colleges.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.,
2000 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va.

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY!

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings, Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

RED CROSS WINNING IN FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Better, Stronger Citizenry Now Emerging Out of Work in United States.

The American Red Cross as an evangelist of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed to it in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction forms a vivid chapter in the forthcoming annual report. Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, in instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, the American Red Cross is applying effectually the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nourished citizenry.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1,240 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $30,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for public nursing. The home visits made by the 1,240 nurses aggregated nearly 1,500,000 visits to schools numbered 140,000, and in six months 1,250,000 school children were inspected by these nurses and where defects were found advised examination by physicians. In rural communities this service has made a very marked advance and has won thousands of converts to approved methods of disease prevention.

In home hygiene and care of the sick instruction, which fits the student in methods of proper care where illness is not so serious as to require professional service, the Red Cross conducted 3,884 classes during the last year, enrolled 2,356 instructors, 93,448 students and issued 42,556 certificates.

On June 30, 1922, nutrition service embraced 1,196 classes, with a total of 27,523 children and 2,580 enrolled dietitians. Seventy-eight food selection classes graduated 733 who received Red Cross certificates. In general health activities Red Cross Chapters maintained 877 health centers, serving as many communities, provided 38,751 health lectures for large audiences everywhere while clinics numbered over 10,000.

FROM THE "CONNECTICUT YANKEE."

"I'm a Harvard man and just like to pick on a Yale lock."

"I fell in love with a dimple and curl, And foolishly married the rest of the girl."

"If my backbone was a wishbone, I'd be where I was before I became where I am."

"From that day on they became as inseparable as a pair of pants."

"I have made up our minds to elope."

"I always knew this knight life would be the end of me."

Ask Bessie Wright about the sad accident of her date Sunday night and the elusive dress shield. Then watch her blush.

The Wayfarer: An aeroplane just fell in your clover field."

The Farmer: Fine! That will bring the aviator good luck.

Le Rire.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE FOR
THE ROTUNDA.

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.,

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Mgr.

503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

Farmville, Virginia

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalog address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Va.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

W. E. ENGLAND,

TAILOR,

Cleaning and Pressing,

Phone 249. 107 Third Street, Farmville, Va.

W. C. NEWMAN

Manufacturer of

Ice and Ice Cream

Block or Brick Ice Cream Made to Order
FARMVILLE, VA.

Greenberg's
DEPARTMENT STORE

FARMVILLE, VA.

ATTRACTIVE HOSE

Our Specialty. Beautiful Gray Silk Hose

$2.50 value, only $1.39.

Also silk and wool sport hose at a very low price.

Come and look our line over.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

4% Interest on Deposits.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

GARLAND & MCINTOSH

Druggists

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VA.

VICTROLAS and RECORDS

J. B. OGDEN, Inc.

Lynchburg, - - - Virginia

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,

Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

Phone #27.
FARMVILLE, VA.

JOIN
THE
Y. W. C. A.

ROANOKE

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

HAVE YOU
SCHOOL
LOYALTY?

VOL. 3. No. 3.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

OCT. 21, 1922

MARRIAGES

Lear—Robinson

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cox on Saturday, June 10th, when Miss Rachel Christy Robinson, of Alva, Okla. became the bride of Joseph Merritt Lear.

The home was tastily decorated with green and cut flowers and lighted by candles. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. H. Spooner.

The bride wore a gown of gray canton crepe, trimmed with embroidery and lace, with hat and accessories to match. She was attended by Miss Thelma Blanton as maid of honor. Dr. Herbert Lipscomb of Randolph-Macon Woman's College of Lynchburg was best man.

Only the immediate families and a few friends were present at the ceremony. Mrs. Russell Young of Hebron, Va., sister of the groom, attended the wedding.

Both the bride and groom have been teachers in the State Normal School for several years and are well-known and popular in the social circles of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Lear left immediately after the ceremony on a motor trip through the Valley of Virginia.

Stokes—Scott

A marriage which united two prominent Southern families was solemnized on Thursday, September 14, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jackson on Battle Ground Heights, Franklin, Tennessee, when Miss Kathrine Almyra Scott became the bride of Allen Young Stokes of this city.

The ceremony which took place at 6 o'clock p. m. in the presence of a few friends and relatives, was beautifully solemnized by Rev. W. L. Jackson, brother of the bride.

The halls and double drawing rooms were resplendent with the glowing beauty of golden rod and masses of the stately yellow field flower, helianthus, which blended most artistically with a background of ferns and palms. The improvised altar between the folding doors was a deft arrangement of ferns, palms and golden rods.

Mr. Frank Hendricks Scott of Nashville rendered the wedding music and as the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March pealed out the bride and groom entered the drawing room from different doors, the former on the arm of her brother, F. H. Scott of Paris, Ky., and the latter, accompanied by his brother, Lewellyn W. Stokes of Blackstone, Va., meeting before the altar, where the ceremony was performed.

The bride was gowned in a modish costume of midnight blue with a becoming Regina hat and corsage of Aaron Ward and sweetheart roses.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stokes left for a wedding trip to French Lick

[Continued on page 3.]

ALUMNAE NOTES

The weddings recorded for August and September are more numerous even than those of June and July. The first on the list is of double interest, for Miss Ruth Harding married Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, a former member of the faculty of S. N. S., this winter a professor at Washington and Lee. Other marriages are:

Miss Mary Susan Minton to Mr. Arthur McKinley Evans, of Newport News, Va.

Miss Gay Pugh to Mr. James Talbot Jeffreys, of Goldsboro, N. C.

Miss Judith Shumate to Mr. Paul Camp Moreland, of Richmond.

Miss Martha Blair Armstrong to Mr. Robert J. Robertson, of Norfolk.

Miss Myrtle Agee to Mr. Hewitt Everett Mattox, of Bluefield, W. Va.

Miss Esther Almada Covington to Mr. Baynam Matlock Hill, of Washington, D. C.

Miss Dorothy Burwell McGraw to Mr. Robert W. Bugg, of Farmville and Richmond.

Miss Nancy Ritsch to Mr. Gilbert Christian Walker, Jr., of Covington.

Miss Selma Batten to Mr. George Miller, of Newport News.

Miss Margaret Hiner to Mr. Stuart Wamsley, of Clifton Forge.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Virginia Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, meeting in Fredericksburg, is of interest because of its action in the Lee Chapel controversy. It has another interest for Farmville alumnae in that one of their number, Mrs. William Cabell Flournoy, (Miss Bertie Boyd) was awarded two prizes. The first was given for the best essay on Arlington, and is called the John Wheeler prize. The second was a gold piece, the U. D. C. prize for the best essay on the twin patriots, Washington and Lee.

Miss Bessie Trevett is the educational secretary for Virginia for the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union.

Miss Carrie Spradden has been granted leave of absence from her position in the Woodrow Wilson High School of Portsmouth, because of illness.

Mrs. Thurzetta Thomas, who has been west for the past year, has returned to her home in Roanoke.

A recent Roanoke paper contained an item of importance in relation to the work of the alumnae. We quote it in full: The Roanoke-Salem Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae Association is planning for a large subscription card party at Hotel Roanoke on Saturday, October 21, at 2:30 P. M. Proceeds realized will be used to supplement the amount already pledged by the Association toward the erection of the Student Building in Farmville. Mrs. T. Gilbert Wood and Mrs. W. H. Horne, Miss Mary Wall and Miss Marian Moomoom compose the committee in charge of arrangements.

PERSONALS

Out of Town

Misses Mary W. Cox, Carrie B. Taliaferro, Ada Bierbower, Pauline Camper and Bessie Jeter spent Saturday in Richmond.

Misses Anna Belle Treable, Lily Thornhill, Christine Shields, Anne Smith, Magruder Muck, Nancy Lyne, Marguerite Winn, Lou Gregory and Ford Eubank; Richmond, Virginia.

Misses Delia Williams, Linda Thommasson, Kathrine Thompson, Margaret Taylor, Evelyn Scarborough, Louise Parsons, Kitty Morgan, Margaret Mason and Louise Jackson; Lynchburg, Va.

Misses Anne Terrell, and Mary Spiggle; Roanoke, Virginia.

Misses Janie Watkins, Margaret Wade, Mary Jefferson, Kate Johnson and Mary Jones; Amelia, Virginia.

Misses Elizabeth Ware and Josephine Moses; Crewe, Virginia.

Misses Jane and Nellie Moore; Chase City, Virginia.

Misses Ruby Walton and Elizabeth Hillsman; Burkeville, Virginia.

Misses Elizabeth Pierce and Miriam Odom; Capron, Virginia.

Misses Alise Hodnett and Elma Jordan; Talcott, Virginia.

Miss Gladys Hubbard; Balona, Virginia.

Miss Myrtle Harvey; Curdsville, Virginia.

Miss Dorothy Lyns; Petersburg, Virginia.

Miss Mary I. Beatt; Meherrin, Virginia.

Miss Fannie Thomas; Sutherland, Virginia.

Miss Agnes Walker; Norfolk, Virginia.

Miss Alma Porter; Powhatan, Virginia.

Miss Clara Mohaupt; Worsham, Virginia.

Visitors

Miss Marion Sale of Ashland, Virginia was the guest of Miss Mary Lydia Quarles during the week-end, October 12-15.

Miss Thelma Yost of Roanoke, Virginia was the guest of her sister, Miss Sylvia Yost, during the week-end, October 14-15.

Miss Julia Lyle of Prospect, Virginia was the guest of Miss Louard Priddy, during the week-end, October 13-15.

Miss Verna McWane of Lynchburg, Virginia was the guest of Miss Mary Baber, during the week-end, October 13-15.

Miss Helen Norfleet of Norfolk, Virginia visited her friends at the State Normal School during the week end, October 13-15.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

The friends of the Student Building will be interested to know that since June 1, 1922, one hundred and ten cash payments have been paid to the Building Fund, amounting to $4,735.49.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager KATHERINE KEMP

THE MODERN GIRL

How often do we hear the three words, "the modern girl!" Some speak them with a lowered voice and a look of horror, others imply toleration in every tone and gesture; while a few, we are glad to say, defend the modern girl.

We would like to ask just what is wrong with the modern girl. "Her dress," you say? Please come with me to the living room and view the portrait of our great grandmother. Yes, that frizzed and powdered mass on top of her head is hair, and it took hours to dress it. The other likeness that peeps at us above that very, very tightly laced waist, supported by a barrel-sized bustle, with snowy hands enveloped in lace mitts and meekly folded in her lap, is great-aunt Edith. Could we think of her as doing anything but adorning some stately drawing room, or hemming a snowy square of finest linen. Let us get out the family albums of red plush and turn to our mother's Aunt Jane. (Imagine a girl of to-day getting on a street car with that hoop skirt on, or writing on a typewriter with arms encased in those puffed and tucked sleeves.) Now let us look out of the window at the young girl leaving next door. She has on a sensibly short dress, neatly rounded at the neck, with sleeves short enough for a brawn arm to conveniently swing a tennis racket, while her feet are shod in low heel oxfords. Her face shows a few honest freckles, and is topped by a mass of bobbed ringlets which took about ten minutes to arrange.

What? You say it is her conduct that displeases. Didn't the young women who dared to participate in a simple waltz in other days, bring down wrath upon their heads, and didn't all the mothers and grandmothers condemn them to future torment for such behavior? There has never been an era since the beginning of time when the older generation was not firmly convinced that the present generation was going to the dogs. There has never been a day when mothers did not lift up their eyes in horror and exclaim in consternation. "Whatever is the world coming to if it allows a girl to do such things!"

It is nothing more or less than human nature. The girls of to-day are enterprising. They work in factories, offices, and are becoming an influential factor in politics. Think of a "fainting female" of other days driving a motor truck or nursing in shell-devastated areas in the recent World War.

Of course a few go to the extreme, before a happy medium is reached.

There are people of to-day who would have us believe that the greater number of our modern girls smoke cigarettes, paint their faces, and talk slang. This is not true. The great majority of our modern young women to-day are too busily engaged in hustling for a livelihood to find the time for such indiscretions, even if opportunities presented themselves. And those few are generally found among the "idle rich."

At a meeting of the ROTUNDA Staff on Tuesday, October 10, it was decided to combine the work of the news, organizations, and Y. W. C. A. editors into one department, with the news editor at its head. The news editor is to be assisted in her work by a board of reporters, made up of one reporter from each organization in school. The news editor asks for the cooperation of each organization as her work is impossible without their assistance. Especially does she require their aid in reporting all social events for the new social column in the ROTUNDA.

The following new members of the staff were also appointed: Miss Carolyn Morrow, exchange editor; Miss Carolyn Payne, assistant circulation manager; and Miss Katherine Kemp, advertising manager.

SOCIAL NEWS

The supervisors of the Training School and the advisory board of the Parent-teacher Association were entertained by the president of the Association, Mrs. Thomas Fallwell, at her home on Virginia Street, Tuesday evening, October 10.

The Pi Alpha Club entertained in the kindergarten room of the Training School, on Wednesday, October 11. The room was decorated with large Japanese parols. The Japanese idea was carried out by having the guests sit on cushions on the floor while supper was served. The supper was followed by an informal dance.

On Tuesday evening, October 3, the III. Prof. Class entertained in the tea room in honor of its honorary member, Miss Mary Clay Hiner. Covers were laid for thirty, and the only decoration was the well-known red caps of the III. Prof. Class. After supper, Miss Hiner was escorted triumphantly through the halls to the sound of songs in her honor.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society was held Tuesday, October 10th. Ellen Peters was elected second vice-president to fill the unexpired office of Ruth Walker. The course of study for this session is modern drama. The open meeting was discussed and a very interesting and entertaining program was planned.

The Third Professional Class has organized for the coming year, with the following officers: President, Emily Calcott, Vice-President, Janie Moore, Secretary and Treasurer, Roberta Hodgkin, Reporter, Christine Shields.

The Officers of the Pi Kappa Omega Society for the coming year are: President, Elizabeth Moring, Vice-President, Flamentine Pierce, Secretary, Christine Armstrong, Treasurer, Alice Lee Rumbough, Historian, Dorothy Langslow.

MARRIAGES

[Continued from page 1.]

Spring, Ill., from which place they will come to Farmville to make their home.

The bride has been associate professor of English in the State Normal School for two years and is very popular among her pupils and many associates in the city.

The groom is well known throughout this section and has a large concourse of friends in Farmville.

Moreland—Shumate

On Wednesday morning, September 13, the Centenary Methodist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Miss Judith Shumate became the bride of Paul Camp Moreland. Rev. G. M. Moreland, father of the groom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Dr. Smoot, pastor of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, was attired in a dark blue travelling suit, with hat to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. The maid of honor, Mrs. Martha Henshaw, wore a gown of gray canton crepe, with picture hat to match, and carried sweetheart roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Lillian Nunn, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Giles, a cousin of the bride. They wore frocks of white organdie and carried La France roses. The groom has as his best man Gaines Thomas, of Bristol, Tennessee. The ushers were E. K. Rose and Henry Hawthorne.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. L. V. S. Nunn, mother of the bride; Misses Lillian and Louise Nunn, sisters of the bride, and Claude S. Nunn, brother of the bride, all of Farmville; Mrs. W. O. Giles and daughter, Miss Mary Giles, and Miss Mary Mason, of Roanoke; Mrs. J. B. Shumate, of Martinsville, and Rev. G. M. Moreland, father of the groom, from Lenior City, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Camp Moreland will be at home, 1422 Porter Street, after September 25. Miss Shumate was a member of the class of 1918.

Stratton—Mayo

A beautiful home wedding was celebrated on the evening of October 9, at six o'clock, when Miss Catherine Virginia Mayo became the bride of Richard Haygood Stratton. The Rev. Murray D. Mitchell, pastor of Central Methodist Church, performed the ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lankford, 112 Prospect Street, Staunton, Virginia.

Miss Virginia Mayo was a member of the class of 1917.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Diamonds AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE—VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

The Spirit of Giving

We have seen something of the work of the Y. W. C. A. ever since arriving in Farmville. Now we have the opportunities and responsibilities of membership in a world-wide Christian Association. We have as our purpose the making of the will of Christ effective in human society by prayer and generous giving of self, time and money. The opportunities for living this purpose are bountiful.

After adopting the Y. W. C. A. budget for this year, we ask "where does this money come from?" "where does it go?" We, each one, have the privilege of contributing whatever we can and will. During next week of finance campaign, we shall see something of the work of various committees which serve us in a series of Come and Sees. We shall work in four teams, Y. W. C. A., and reports of progress will be made the last three nights. Where shall we let our team stand? The regular Friday night Sing will be school and team songs rather than popular music.

May this week mean to us an opportunity of sharing and of giving, not as sacrifice but unselfishly, generously as a manifestation of love. Freely we have received the bountiful gifts of our God, freely may we give.

S. I. N. A.

President Douglas at a meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Presbyterian College of South Carolina, stated that a new dormitory costing $75,000 was needed, but it would be impossible to raise the money unless the rich men of the state contributed to it. Soon after the meeting of the board he received a letter from Captain Smith of Greenville, saying that he would give $25,000 toward the erection of this new dormitory if the remaining $50,000 were subscribed within a year.

Facilities are being provided for some thousand additional volumes to the library of Lynchburg College.

On account of the railroad strike, resulting in material being hard to secure, and a delay in other matters, erection of the Lynchburg Memorial gymnasium has been postponed until next spring. It is hoped that the building will then be rapidly pushed to completion.

In order to keep up with the progressiveness of the present administration at Roanoke College, the attitude of the upper classmen toward new men has undergone a marked change. There is by no means any aloofness or hostility toward him. He is not ostracized from the company of old men because he is a "Rat," rather he is given a hearty welcome into his new life. A Vigilance Committee has been organized to deal with men who show they are not gentlemen. Thus hazing is done away with.

Seven hundred and forty-two men have matriculated for the 174th session of Washington and Lee. This is the largest number that has ever registered at one time in the history of the University. The student body is composed of men from thirty-two states, the District of Columbia, and from four foreign countries, including China, Argentina, Mexico and Panama.

Radford State Normal opened this year with an enrollment of two hundred and thirty-five. There are seventeen candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The Elon students are planning work in the village schools. A night school for colored adults will be opened. This school plans to offer instruction in the Bible, and also in the educational fundamentals of reading, writing, and arithmetic. A course in sanitation and hygiene will also be a prominent feature of the work.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.
HOME OF THE FAMOUS
Queen Quality Footwear
VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE
Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.-Automobiles
Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S
Soda Shop and Bakery
MAIN STREET AT HIGH
Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.
We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN
Wholesale and Retail Distributor of
LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE
Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

COME TO
Burrells Kash Grocery
FOR
GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

JOIN
THE
Y. W. C. A.

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

HAVE YOU
SCHOOL
LOYALTY?

VOL. 3, No. 4.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

OCT. 28, 1922

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP AND ATHLETICS

Miss Buford Addresses Student Body.

Saturday evening, Oct. 21, at 6:30, Miss Buford, of the Physical Education Department, spoke to the student body on the subject of "Good Sportsmanship and Athletics."

Miss Buford began her talk with the old quotation from Shakespeare "All the world's a stage, which she changed into "All the world is a game and you are players in that game." After a discussion of this statement, the speaker gave Henry Vandyke's four rules for good sportsmanship, the gist of which are (1) Always wish and try to win, but not enough to make you unhappy if you loose; (2) Seek only to win fairly; (3) Seek pleasure whether you win or not; and (4) If you win, think more of your good fortune than of your skill. Elaborating on these topics, Miss Buford claimed that one of the chief essentials of playing a good game is teamwork, and the next most important after that is fidelity to self.

At the end of her address the speaker gave the student body the following don'ts to be observed when a game is being played:

- Don't make remarks about officials.
- Don't criticize either team.
- Don't whine over losing.
- Don't boast over winning, or in other words, "Hear no evil; see no evil; speak no evil."

CLASS ELECTIONS

The 1 Professional Class held a number of meetings last week for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. The very satisfactory results of the elections were:

Nancy Lyne—President.
Elizabeth Bugg—Vice-President.
Virginia Beale—Secretary.
Olive Smith—Treasurer.
Mabel Edwards—Chairman of Tea Room Committee.

Miss Edna Norton Spear—Honorary Member. A committee of eight, with Mabel Edwards as chairman was appointed by the president to decorate the Fair Parade float. The class decided to charge $1.50 for dues, and all members are urged to pay as promptly and as conveniently as possible.

At a recent meeting of the 4 Year High School Class, the following officers were elected:

Louise Jones—President.
Margaret Crawley—Vice-President.
Evelyn Beckam—Secretary.
Louise Nunn—Treasurer.
Miss Helen Draper—Honorary Member.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Since October 16, the amount of $75 has been paid into the Student Building Fund.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The alumnae section of the "Rotunda" begins to look like a page from a matrimonial bureau register. Among the October marriages are the following:

Miss Lillian Paulett Bugg to Dr. Herman Pifer of Winchester.

Miss Pattie Buford to Mr. Edgar Arlington Engart, of Clifton Forge.

Miss Bertha Gladys Dolan to Rev. Frank Cox, of Washington, Va.

Miss Phillipa Spencer to Mr. J. Parker Lambeth, of Richmond.

Miss Mamie Rohr, at one time supervisor of the sixth grade in the Training School, now connected with the University of Virginia, recently visited friends in Farmville.

Miss Lula Walker, formerly head of the department of Home Economics, now teaching at V. P. L., was one of the judges at the Farmville Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Miller, of Newport News, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Helen to Mr. Jefferson Curl Phillips of Hampton.

Another editorial from a second Richmond paper, paying a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. Eula Young Morrison, has been handed to the Alumnae Editor. We are proud that she was once one of us, and feel that her life may be an inspiration to others:

A DOCTOR OF BROKEN HOPES.

Perhaps it was not until they read with a shock this morning the news of her sudden death that even those who knew her well reflected what a remarkable woman Eula Young Morrison really was.

She had more than the normal suffering and hardship—one hard stroke after another—but she never lost her courage or her faith in mankind and she never turned despairingly inward eyes that forever were looking about for opportunities of service.

A reporter, and a good one, for a number of years, she had many curious adventures that disclosed her unique character. One morning during the war, about 2 A. M., as she was coming home from the newspaper office where she worked, she was accosted by a man in uniform who insisted on escorting her. Mrs. Morrison protested in vain, and finally, seeing there was not a police officer in sight, tried another method. She began an honest, heart-to-heart talk with the would-be Lovelace, who proved to be a lonesome boy; and before she had reached her home she had him fairly in tears. He left her, at her front door, with thanks and apologies pathetically mixed.

When she became head of the new business department of the Federal Trust Company, Mrs. Morrison speedily launched several enterprises of marked originality. She made her office a center for the activities of women. She inaugurated the first window displays a Richmond bank

[Continued on page 3.]

VISITORS

Miss Sarah Moore, who is teaching in Pulaski, was the guest of Miss Ethel Warthen last week-end.

Miss Helen Mason visited her sister Miss Min Mason during the week-end of October 20-22.

Miss Nancy Watkins, who is now teaching in South Boston, spent last week-end with her parents.

Miss Anna Ruth Allen was the guest of Miss Spottswood Wimbish during the week-end of October 20-22.

Miss Katherine Hardaway visited Miss Elizabeth Williams.

Miss Virginia Wall, who is attending Hollins College, spent last week-end with her parents.

Miss Emily Clarke, who is now teaching in Ashland, was in town for the week-end of October 20-22.

Miss Mary Finch, who has a position this year in the Boynton High School, spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Margaret Finch.

Miss Sue Jones, who is teaching in Lynchburg, spent the last week-end in town.

Mrs. Thornhill and baby, and Miss Gertrude Thornhill were guests of Miss Lily Thornhill during the past week-end.

OUT OF TOWN

The following girls were out of school during the week-end of October 20-22:

Misses Charlotte Anderson, Isabel Allen, Katherine Brown, Frances Baskerville, Lucie Ried Blanton, Edna Y. Blanton, Kitty Carroll, Anne Calloway, Louise Clements, Edna May Christie, Elizabeth Chappell, Sallie A. Carter, Julia Cave, Edwina Carwile, Eliza Davis, Margaret Day, Margaret Daniel, Marie Deusch, Frances Elliott, Ford Eubank, Helen Fitch, Christine Forster, Thelma Fowekes, Archer Reams, Fannie Thomas, Helen Sutherland, Mary Forbes, Grace Goulding, Daisy Goodman, Lucille Gordon, Margaret Glenn, Helen Glenn, Myrtle Harvey, Mabel Holmes, Winifred Healy, Lucille Harris, Eula Harris, Nora Nay Holmes, Elsie Haily, Frances Johns, Sophie Jacobson, Bernice Johnson, Mary Johns, Catherine Kemp, Mary C. Knight, Gladys Kackey, Nancy Lewis, Virginia Masten, Dona Mosely, Sue Parker, Olive Payne, Mildred Phillips, Lovard Priddy, Annette Rose, Ruby Rose, Ethel Squire, Erna Shotwell, Mary Boyd Scott, Bettie Shepherd, Mari-onette Trice, Pauline Timberlake, Helen Traylor, Lisle Tucker, Agnes Walker, Ruby Walton, Margaret Wight, and Alva Williams.

Miss Margaret Mason attended the State Volunteer Council which was held at Lynchburg last week-end. She returned Monday, October 16.

Misses Lennie Blankenship and Elsie Bell left school Thursday, October 19, for Richmond, where they will observe the teaching of writing.

We regret to learn of the death of the father of Miss Florence Stubbs. Miss Stubbs is now with her family in Florence, South Carolina.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor..... DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL MCARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MACPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....KATHERINE KEMP

HOW HIGH ARE YOUR IDEALS?

Every once in a while you read an item like this in the newspaper: "This is the fifty-sixth birthday of the Hon. John Jones. Many letters and telegrams of congratulation were received, but no special celebration was held. Mr. Jones spent the day in his office as usual."

Such a paragraph always excites my curiosity. I wonder what went on in the brain of the Honorable John Jones while he was alone in his private office "as usual." For if you could know exactly what a man thinks about himself on his birthday, you would have a pretty good idea as to just about how big a man he is.

A man's birthday is a time when by natural instinct he thinks about himself. One more year he has had the privilege of living upon this earth and what is the result? Is the world a better place because of his living here? Is he a better man because of another year in which he could improve? Has the past year been a profitable one, has he accomplished what he set out to do? This depends upon what his goal was, how high he had set his ideals. Some men are so shallow that they will spend the greater part of each birthday in checking over their accounts and congratulating themselves upon their increase in worldly wealth. These men have reached their goal and are satisfied; but—do they ever recall the words of that great poet, Robert Browning, "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" Other men come up to each successive birthday with a sense of dissatisfaction, a feeling that their years are stealing away from them and they are doing nothing, nothing to benefit themselves and the rest of humanity. These men have either no goals at all, or goals so high that they can never hope to attain them and they are dissatisfied as any one is who realizes that he is merely marking time on the pathway of life.

Halfway between this easy going self-satisfaction and the harsh self-condemnation there is a happy middle ground. Every man ought surely to have the privilege of some self-satisfaction on his birthday when he thinks over what he has done in the past year. But to feel complete satisfaction is pretty good evidence that what he set out to do wasn't very much.

SOCIAL NEWS

On Tuesday evening, October 17, at about six o'clock, there was great excitement in the halls. What did it all mean? The Mu Omega Club was giving a Pierrot-Pierrette party at the home of Mrs. Elliott Booker on St. George Street. Each member, dressed as Pierrot, escorted a new girl, dressed as Pierrette.

The entire lower floor of the Booker home was attractively decorated in black and white, the colors of the club. The color scheme was also carried out in the lighting, which formed the Greek letters Mu Omega.

An evening is not complete without dancing, so "Everybody Stepped." John Paul Jones was played and figures were led by Cabell Gilmer and Helen Fitch. Attractive favors were distributed after which a two course buffet supper was served.

The Mu Omega Club entertained at a very attractive Hollowe'en dance on Friday evening, October 20, at the home of Dr. W. E. Anderson on Buffalo Street. The spacious residence, which is admirably adapted for such a social event, had been further beautified by artistic and harmonious Hollowe'en decorations. Gayly colored evening dresses lent beauty and charm to the occasion. Music was furnished throughout the evening by a negro orchestra. Attractive favors were given the guests and delicious refreshments were served. Every one regretted very much to hear the strains of "Home Sweet Home."

On Friday evening, October 20, the Tea Room, festooned in the traditional black and yellow of Hollowe'en, was the scene of a delightful dinner party given by the Zeta Tau Club. Here, in the dim light ghosts walked and fortunes were told.

After dinner, the party was chaperoned at the movies by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stokes.

THE S. N. S. GLEE CLUB

presents a

High Class Vaudeville under the direction of

Christine E. Munoz

Auditorium, Nov. 3rd, at 8:30

Orchestra Espagnole, Favorite Songs of Bygone Days, Si Perkins on Broadway. The Dumb-bells and other attractive offerings.

Tickets 50c. All seats reserved.

On sale at Garland and McIntosh Drug Store.
S. N. S. Girls, 35c.

Have you any close relatives?

Gosh, yes. My uncle's the closest man in town.—Georgia Cracker.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

"THE TOY SHOP"

First Dramatic Presentation of the Year.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Misses Edna Spear, Jeanette Edwards and Mary Haynes presented in the Normal School auditorium the kindergarten children of the Training School, assisted by young ladies of upper grades, high school, and Normal School in the "Toy Shop," written by Miss Spear.

The scene was laid in a toy shop. The three chief characters were the toy maker, the child and the fairy. Other than these, there were all sorts and kinds of toys such as dolls of all descriptions, teddy bears, jumping jacks, elephants, tin soldiers, and finally Punch and Judy, and the nice dog, Toby. The dolls were on their very best behavior and performed all kinds of tricks for the entertainment of the audience. Even the elephants, big and clumsy, executed a dance.

ROANOKE CLUB

A very enthusiastic meeting of Roanoke girls was held Monday. A club was organized with twenty members and the following officers:

President—Elsie Bell.

Vice-President—Mary Spégle.

Secretary—Caroline Payne.

Treasurer—Lois Cosby.

Miss Ada Bierbower was elected sponsor of the club. The colors chosen were maroon and white, and the motto, "Acorns to oaks, watch Roanoke."

MARRIED

A wedding of interest to many people in Farmville and through the State was solemnized in John's Memorial Church Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Lillian Paulett Bugg became the bride of Dr. Herman I. Pifer, of Winchester, Va.

Because of recent sorrow in both families, only the relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The beloved minister of the church, Rev. Frederick Diehl, was the officiating clergyman.

Lohengrin's wedding march was sweetly played by Mrs. Frank S. Blanton as the wedding party entered the church.

The bride, entering with her father, Mr. Charles Fuller Bugg, was becomingly dressed in an imported gown of white crepe Renee, heavily beaded with iridescent beads. Her veil of tulle was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament being a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Miss Virgilia Bugg, beautifully gowned in pink canton and carrying an arm bouquet of Orphelia roses, was her sister's maid of honor.

Dr. Pifer's best man was Dr. H. D. Loving, of St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, Va.

Mr. W. C. Duvall, brother-in-law of the bride, was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Pifer's going away gown was of dark brown canton crepe, with cape, hat and gloves to match.

Dr. and Mrs. Pifer left by automobile for an extended northern trip and will be at home after October 15th, in Winchester, Va.

ALUMNAE NOTES

[Continued from page 1.]

ever put on—most excellent window displays they were. She organized what she termed a "private employment agency," which was very dear to her heart. In reality it was more a hospital for broken hopes than an employment agency. She found the strangest people in the strangest places and set to work in the strangest fashion to fit them where they belonged. Probably there was nothing in Richmond quite like this work. Her only explanation of it was that she was interested in people. Now and again she would make a discovery of some man whom she regarded as an unrecognized power for good. Quite often she was satisfied that people who passed by with a bare nod possessed real ability. Forthwith she became their booster—and was insistent that her friends be also. What a company it would be if all those she helped and cheered were gathered to do honor to her memory and to her ideals!

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Demmond AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAINE COMPANY

INCORPORATED

PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS

CHARLOTTESVILLE—VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

WORLD CITIZENS

It is an essential part of our education that we think together nationally and internationally, that we develop all sides of our lives to be the best world citizens. We must seek opportunities to broaden our viewpoints and to be in contact with all people. Just such an opportunity is offered us in our Christian Association which is a national and international one. Through the relationship of our Association with the national Association, the World Student Christian Federation, by our magazines, World Fellowship Committee and our undergraduate representative, we have within our reach world-wide views. Last week, Lois Williams, our U. R. and a member of the National Student Council, took us with her to a meeting of this Council in Atlanta, Georgia by a most helpful and broadening talk. We felt our part in the making of a perfect whole and came out of ourselves to think about such internationally vital problems as student-industrial co-operation and racial understanding. Next week, we shall be brought even more closely in contact with the student-industrial co-operation movement. We shall hear talks by people who have studied the movement, by a real industrial girl who has studied the student's viewpoint and by our own representative who experienced the industrial girl's life and problems this summer. Through just such contacts, we have a wonderful opportunity to really become members one of another over the whole world, and to give of self, time and money that we may speed the coming of God's Kingdom here on earth.

On October 17 there was a called meeting of the Cabinet with the Advisory Board of the Y. W. C. A. for a discussion and adoption of the budget.

The first regular business meeting of the Association was held Wednesday, October 18. At this meeting the $2,000 budget for 1922 was adopted by the Association members.

Friday, October 20, the Ministerial Band and ladies of Hampton-Sidney entertained the Student Volunteer Band, Mission Band officers and the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet of S. N. S. The evening was a most delightful and enjoyable one for all.

S. I. N. A.

Roanoke College now has a thoroughly modern radio installation. Concerts may be received every night and heard all over the large room in which the set is installed. At present transmitting is accomplished with a one kilowatt spark set. Distances of 1300 miles have been attained. Before the year is up it is expected that a radio telephone transmitting set will be added to the present equipment.

Regular nominations and elections have been carried out by the students at Radford State Normal. First the classes met and nominated candidates for the class officers and the Student Government Council; then the candidates made their campaign speeches.

The general election was held on October 3, 1922. The elections were conducted under practically the same laws that govern our state elections. Sealed ballot boxes were used and two judges of elections were on duty all day to see that everything went off smoothly, that none but duly registered students of the Normal School voted, and that each voted the ballot of the class of which she was a member, and the general ballot.

Absolutely no lobbying was allowed within regulation distance of the polls. The voting began at 10:30 and lasted until sundown.

The ballot boxes were opened and the votes counted by the Student Government Council.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.-Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.
We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.
Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

TEAM WORK

ROANOKE THE TUNDOA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

ATHLETICS

Vol. 3. No. 5.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NOV. 4, 1922

STUDENT INDUSTRIAL COOPERATION

What does this term mean to us?

It means that we as Christian students are concerned about industrial conditions in general and the industrial girl in particular. As an outgrowth of student's desire to understand and work with the industrial girl, this cooperation was started that each might enter into the thinking and living of the other. Through a commission plan student groups work to understand the industrial girls and the latter seeks to learn the student. This is in brief why we have just had such a vitally important as well as interesting student industrial cooperation week. As we first learned of our industrial membership on campus, we became concerned. When Edith McDonald, the industrial girl having much experience with students, gave us some insights into an industrial viewpoint as obtained from Bryn Mawr College, we saw two sides to the question which were merging into one. Then when Marion Camper, our representative in industrial work in Atlanta this summer told us of a student's life in industry we accepted the problems of extending and vitalizing this cooperation to the fullest extent. We received a challenge and a stimulant for more earnest efforts, for further investigations, help and prayers for increasing the sympathy and understanding of all God's people.

PERSONALS

Dr. Jarman spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in Richmond on business.

Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner have returned from Staunton, where they spent several days at their home.

The following girls were out of town during the week-end of October 27-29:

Misses Virginia Beale, Evelyn Barnes, Katherine Brown, Bettie Shepard, Doris Beale, Elizabeth Closton, Elizabeth Chappell, Eula Cloud, Kathleen Crute, Mable and Elizabeth Duling, Frances Evans, Mary Eglston, Helen Fitch, Elizabeth Fuqua, Louise Glenn, Cabell Gannaway, Catherine Gable, Mary Jones, Mary Johns, Louise Hackson, Mary Lewis, Dorothy Luck, Nellie Moore, Martha Moseley, Katharine Montague, Min Mason, Margaret Mason, Louise Parsons, Katherine Pearman, Janie Potter, Catherine Parr, Thelma Rhodes, Elizabeth Raney, Daisy Shafer, Etta Sawyer, Mary Scott, Phyllis Sneade, Mary Talioferri, Ruby Walton, Elsie Webb, Agnes Walber, and Ethel Warthen.

NEWPORT NEWS CLUB

The Newport News girls held a very enthusiastic meeting Saturday. A club with fourteen members and the following officers was organized:

President—Genevieve Bonnewell.
Vice-President—Susie Floyd.
Secretary—Dorothy Langslow.
Treasurer—Frances Woodhouse.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Roanoke-Salem Chapter Adds $70.00 to Student Building Fund—Normal School Bulletin Presents Alumnae Number.

A committee of alumnae members of the faculty has been at work upon an alumnae number of the Normal School Bulletin. It is now at press, and will be mailed to the alumnae before Thanksgiving. It contains information about every graduate of the school concerning whom facts could be obtained. The issue will be of great interest to all former students.

Among those receiving degrees from the College of William and Mary in June were the following: Bachelor of Arts, Miss Jane C. Slaughter; Bachelor of Science, Misses Mary P. Dupuy and Elizabeth E. Rowe; Master of Arts, Miss Katherine M. Wicker.

Miss Minor Jones, who taught last year in the Arvonja High School, is now in charge of the New Canton School.

Miss Mary Peck, of the Training School faculty, visited her home in Fincastle, Va., on Oct. 24th to attend the marriage of her sister, Miss Irene Minor Peck, to Mr. Felix Edward Barthelmy, of Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

One of the largest social events of this autumn in Roanoke was the subscription card party at Hotel Roanoke when the Roanoke-Salem Alumnae Chapter of the Farmville State Normal School entertained for the benefit of the Student Building Fund. Favors were placed at each guest's place, and a fruit salad served after the game. A prize was awarded for the lowest score. There were sixty-eight tables and $70.00 was added to the fund. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. T. Gilbert Wood, Miss Marion Moonaw, and Miss Mary Wall.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Class Pledges to the Student Building.

Class	No. in Class	No. Pledges	Amt.
1911	105	53	$ 964.50
1912	124	72	1367.00
1913	108	87	1429.50
1914	140	66	1240.50
1915	123	35	529.00
1916	137	67	1251.00
1917	147	31	491.00
1918	168	72	1220.50
1919	127	16	321.00
1920	126	11	156.00
1921	163	58	2479.00
1922	177	93	3315.00
	1645	661	$14764.00

Since Oct. 21st the amount of $50.00 has been added to the Student Building Fund.

VISITORS

Miss Mildred Dickinson, who is teaching in Roanoke, visited friends in school last week-end.

A TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Travelers' Club Program.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Travelers' Club was held on Thursday, October 26th. The special number on the program at this meeting was a talk given by Miss Norris on her trip to California last summer.

Many interesting phases of her trip were given and the speaker painted pictures of the marvelous scenery in vivid colors.

What a great opportunity we would consider it, if we could go next summer!

The next meeting will be held on November 9th, when Miss Barlowe will talk on her trip to Europe last summer. All are invited to come.

SOCIAL NEWS

Spooks were abroad! Fourteen ghostly figures escorted by the Spirits, Dr. and Mrs. Tidyman, left through the keyhole of the auditorium door last Friday night to be the guests of Mrs. Fallwell at a ghost party. The Spirit of Earnestine Landrum received her sister Spirits in dimly lighted rooms beautifully decorated with Halloween souvenirs. When all the ghosts were quietly seated, a very spooky ghost story was read and the whole atmosphere made rather supernatural.

"When cold shivers ran down one's back and one was about to quake out of his shoes" there were Halloween contests, apple babbling and fortune telling. It goes without saying that fortune bestowed various prophecies but the majority of Fourth Professionals were destined to be ever loyal school teachers of the spinster type. It wouldn't do to tell either Dr. or Mrs. Tidyman's future here; neither shall tales be told on Mrs. Fallwell and Mrs. Landrum.

All kinds of appropriate refreshments were served and more ghost stories told, after which the ghosts became ordinary folks, each wishing it were not so near eleven o'clock when spooks should vanish for the time being.

PRIZE AWARDED BY RURAL CLUB

At a meeting of the Rural Club held October 25th, the following officers were elected for this year: President, Pattie Jeter; Treasurer, Mary Maupin; and Reporter, Dorothy Askew.

The Rural Club of this school offers a prize of $25.00 to the best Junior League in the State that comes up to the requirements laid down by the Club in this school. This prize will be awarded at a meeting of all the Junior Leagues in the State to be held in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day.

LOST—A suit case and a trunk key tied together on a yellow cord. If found please return to home office.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager KATHERINE KEMP

HINTS TO THE WISE

"He who seeks to do great things and who has discovered the truly great things to do, is on a fair way to accomplish them, but the mind and the heart must work in unison."

"He who is careless in small things will fail in great ones."

"The earnest and sincere man need look neither for friends nor for opportunity. They are searching for him."

"Patience is bitter, but its fruit is sweet."

"Foolish men spend their time—wise men save it."

"There is one thing always best to put off till tomorrow—borrowing trouble."

"The troubles that never come worry us most."

"Love rules his kingdom without a sword."

"Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it."

FORGETFULNESS

I have let forgetfulness,
Like long, silver-gray moss
Festoon itself
Over the once green trees
Of friendship.
They stand now, gaunt shadows,
The leaves and flowers dead.
I wonder—if I brush
The misty webs away
Will those leaf again?

C. D. B.

THOMAS A. McCORKLE, M. S., B. A.

B. A. from Washington and Lee University,
M. S. from the University of Chicago,
Principal of high school in Virginia,
Teacher of science in the high schools of Shreveport, La. and Portsmouth, Va. and in the Louisiana State Normal School, Natchitoches, La.,

Chemist in the U. S. Navy,
Resident of Lexington, Va.

OCTOBER

October's gypsy voice sings clear,
Calling me
In every flaming, windswept tree,
In every wind
That leaves behind
For farstretched paths my wistful heart and me.
Life is joy and the world is gay,
My heart beats high
Because the sky
Has high white clouds the livelong, smiling day,

All things my heart believes—
For brown above and scarlet under.
It seems the gorgeous, joyous wonder
Of the leaves!
And a single star
In a clear green sky
Hangs still and high
Like a jeweled lamp that sways afar.

Life is beauty, beauty joy!
Ah, Life, dear Life, you are too good to me—
Always your debtor I must be
Because these things without alloy,
So many at one time you give to me!

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Gamett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study.
Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

ATHLETIC NEWS

A Plea for Teamwork at S. N. S.

First of all, what do we mean by teamwork? Webster defines the word as "work done by a number of associates, all subordinating personal prominence to the efficiency of the whole." Is it not so—that to establish good teamwork one must subordinate personalities and love of individual gain, and work with the rest of the associates? Then, too, does not teamwork mean forgetfulness of personal likes and grievances, to the end that all associates are on the same footing, socially as well as otherwise?

In carrying out a piece of work, be it for business or pleasure, if it requires the help of two or three people, teamwork is necessary. "A chain is no stronger than its weakest link." Just so, if one person falls down on her part of the bargain, then the whole plan is liable to fall through and all the members working on that plan are affected, merely because one associate was not responsible for her part.

Here, at S. N. S., we need teamwork, good, substantial, teamwork, and we need it badly. We need it in all phases of school life, but I wish to speak particularly of the side that deals with athletics.

There should be teamwork as does the basketball teams, the baseball teams, and the tennis teams. Almost any one will agree that teamwork is needed on, for instance, a basketball team. If the centers do not work with the guards and the forwards, nothing will be gained. If the guards do not work with each other and with the centers, the game cannot be played smoothly. If the forwards do not play with the centers and especially with each other, then the game cannot work toward a finish with the right sort of passing and systematic playing. But if all the players are thinking of the game and not of the personal honor and gain, and are loyal to each other and work together steadily and surely toward an end, then that end is reached more nearly in the manner in which it is in the hearts of the players. Many and many a game has been lost simply because one player let some personal or selfish motive get the best of her.

Why can't we forget ourselves, think of the class or the school and together pull hard and loyally for that class or school if it is worth working for?

Years ago, when automobiles were not so commonly used as now and when horses were the principal mode of travel, those animals were used to pull fire engines. What do you think would have happened if after the horses were ready to go to a fire and perhaps were on their way, one horse decided he didn't want to go? Maybe he thought he hadn't got enough to eat, maybe the stableman had not patted him on the head as he usually did, maybe he didn't like the horse that was next to him, or maybe for other reasons—at any rate, he decided he would not pull with other animals. You can readily see what trouble that one horse would make. Sometimes a game is lost for some such silly reason as the horse was able to give. Should we let our personal feeling, however big and important it may seem to us, rule in a time when our cooperation is needed?

You do not need to play on a team to learn the need of teamwork, or to learn to be a good associate in a plan that requires good teamwork. A class needs to work together as much as a team does. We, as members of the Athletic Association, need to stand together. We, as members of the Junior Class, or Senior Class, or any other class need to stand together and work for that class. Perhaps some of us will be members of the Varsity. Then, if ever, comes the need of good teamwork.

So wherever we are, whatever we are and whenever we have the chance, let's have "the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul" for our motto and goal.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

REFLECTIONS ON FINANCE WEEK

As we look back over the week of our finance campaign, we seem to have received a lasting challenge in losing ourselves for Christ's work. Probably we had never seen so clearly just how we could help as when we saw the Y. W. C. A. work presented in detail. The Spirit of Service spoke from one "come and see" into our hearts as well as to our outward ears and the responsibilities and benefits of membership were impressed upon us. Tuesday night, some of the excuses and temptations of school life came more vividly to us from the Morning Watch Committee, and we resolved to turn over a new leaf. Yet another challenge on the spirit of giving to keep our Christian work glowing came to us from the presentation of the work of the alumnae of our Y. W. C. A. The last three nights of our finance campaign made us realize even more clearly our part, our responsibility in raising our own budget. We succeeded only to the extent that we gave of self and time for Christ.

FIRST STAR COURSE NUMBER

Tsianina and Cadman
Great Success.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 26, at eight-thirty the joint recital of Princess Tsianina, the famous American Indian Prima donna, and Charles Wakefield Cadman, America's foremost composer-pianist, was given in the auditorium. This recital marked the opening of the Star Course for 1922-23. The program was one of unusual brilliance, most of the numbers being of Mr. Cadman's own composition, based on actual Indian melodies.

Tsianina's program completely captivated her audience. In the "Lover's Proposal" the listeners got the effect of the flute, the instrument used by the Indian youth for serenading his sweetheart; in "Ho Ye Warriors" they got a vivid picture of the brave Indian women urging their men on to victory. The audience lived the sorrow of the Indian Maid who was homesick for "The Land of the Sky Blue Waters;" it felt the joys of Shanewis, the Robind Woman, in her "Spring Song" and her sorrow in her "Lament." "Pale Moon" received universal applause.

Mr. Cadman played several selections descriptive of the many phases of the Indian's life, showing in particular their superstition in "The Thunderbird Snite." "The Desert's Dusty Face" from "Omar Khayyam Suite" gave a vivid picture of a gorgeous Persian caravan as it crossed the desert in the moonlight.

Mr. Cadman's talk on Indian folk-music was intensely interesting. After playing a typical Indian melody on the flageolet, Mr. Cadman played it on the piano, adding to it the white man's harmonies. As an illustration of the Indian's tendency to use more than one tune in his songs, Princess Tsianina sang the "Canoe Song" from Mr. Cadman's opera, "Shanewis."

S. I. N. A.

Roanoke College's Endowment Fund campaign has been formally launched. There is to be a carefully planned campaign to raise $500,000, but the Committee is determined that the movement shall not degenerate into a drive.

A Reporter's Club has been organized at Emory College. Each reporter will receive credit points for work done and the one with the highest number will be rewarded at the end of the year. There are penalties for two things: for absence from reporter's meetings, and for failure to cover an assignment.

V. P. I. has been presented with an autographed picture of Marshall Foch in recognition of the part taken by the corps in the ceremonies in Richmond when the Marshall visited that city last November.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTEVILLE---VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

J. L. J. IS THE MAN FOR US

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

We Will Support
The Student Building

VOL. 3. No. 6.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NOV. 11, 1922

TWENTY-ONE YEARS OF JARMAN

OUR PRESIDENT DR. JOSEPH L. JARMAN

The fourth president of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Virginia, is Dr. J. L. Jarman. To those of us who know him it is needless to give the growth of the school under his leadership, but for the benefit of our new girls we want to give briefly an account of his work here.

The growth of the institution under his wise and kindly administration has been rapid and steady and the development has been an all-sided one. In 1902 there were thirteen members of the faculty and three hundred and nine students of whom only thirty-eight were professional. Everyone can see how these numbers have been enlarged upon. The buildings have been remodeled and enlarged until practically nothing remains of the original. The Training School, Infirmary, Laundry, Power House, and the East Wing of the Main Building have all been added. The following property has been bought: Thaxton, Williamson, Duvall, Stone, Venable, and Vaughan cottages. The homes of Mr. Bell and Mr. Fatig have also been secured recently. Work has begun on the Student Building. The interior of the school has been remodeled many times.

The Faculty has been reorganized on the Department System; the course of study has been improved and strengthened until it stands on a par with those of the best Normal Schools of the country; and the course has been added, which gives the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. In 1902, the Library contained 3,000 volumes, this number has now grown to nearly 10,000.

Notwithstanding the many duties of his position, Dr. Jarman has held many positions of trust in the educational line, not only in Virginia, but in the South.

With such a worthy past in his achievements concerning this school, we feel sure that his future will be even brighter than the past.

November 6, 1922

Dr. J. L. Jarman has for a long time been one of the leading factors in the educational progress of Virginia. He is a thorough student of school problems and a wise administrator. He realizes full well, as we all must appreciate I think, that the teacher in the school is very largely the crux of the whole matter. He therefore gives his time and his talent to the great work of teacher training. Every girl who goes from Farmville attests his high worth and appreciates his contribution to education.

Harris Hart.

Dr. Jarman Digging the First Shovelful of Dirt for the Student Building, Sept. 9.

GROWTH OF STUDENT BUILDING

Project started in 1911.

Alumnae to raise $50,000.

State to appropriate $50,000.

Building begun Sept. 9, 1922.

First two floors expected to be finished by spring.

On Sept. 9, 1922 Dr. Jarman dug the first shovelful of dirt and the Student Building was begun. Since then the work has been going right along and the plan now is to complete the first two floors by spring.

The Student Building is on the eastern end of the lot containing the main buildings. When

[Continued on page 5.]

SENIOR INSTALLATION

Monday evening the college senior class observed a new ceremony—that of Installation of Caps and Gowns. Each senior, clad in gown, marched in, escorted by her junior sister, dressed in white, the latter carrying the senior's cap. Dr. Jarman, the President, next delivered a short address in which he reviewed the history of the college department in the Farmville State Normal School. After the address, the class, 17 in number, 15 being present, marched upon the rostrum, each receiving in turn her cap from Dr. Jarman.

Wednesday morning at Chapel services the College Seniors presented Dr. Tidyman, their class man.

Friday from 10:30 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. the Rotunda Office was opened to visitors from the Faculty, Home Department, and Student Body. A large number registered in the visitor's book and we hope their interest in the "Rotunda" will continue.

At prayer services Tuesday night Miss Edith McDonald, from Lynchburg, who attended the summer course for Industrial Girls at Bryn Mawr College, spoke on the subject of "The Industrial Girl at College."

Miss McDonald told how the Y. W. C. A. helped her to go to the summer school. Then she described the life at the college and what it meant to the girls there.

November 3, 1922.

Miss Elizabeth Moring, Editor-in-Chief,
The Rotunda,
State Normal School,
Farmville, Virginia.

Dear Miss Moring:

I have your letter of November 2, in which you ask me to write a short letter, giving my opinion of Dr. Jarman.

I have sometimes told Dr. Jarman, in jest, that it would not do for me to give my opinion of him. In all seriousness, however, I have, in common with all who know Dr. Jarman intimately, a very high regard for him as a public man; as a citizen; as a friend; as a leader in educational work. The monumental work he has done as President of the State Normal School at Farmville is far more eloquent than descriptive words could be.

The close contact I have had with him for many years has caused me to regard him, not only with admiration, but with affection.

Cordially yours,

J. D. Eggleston,
President.

Dr. J. D. Eggleston is president of Hampden-Sidney College.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $200 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor..... DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NEEL MCARDLE
Joke EMILY CATCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager..... CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager..... GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager..... FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager..... MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager..... CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager..... KATHERINE KEMP

FAVORITE SAYINGS

"Co-operation."

"All those who sit on the right side, come in the side door and all those who have tickets on the left, come in the front door."

"And I know you will do it;

"And I know you will do it."

"And I'm going to ask you gir-ruls not to bring your knitting."

"Please let the performers do the entertaining. They're paid for it."

"You haven't heard much about the Student Building yet, girls, but you're going to hear something about it."

FACULTY DINNER

Friday evening, Nov. 3, the old members of the faculty entertained the new members at dinner in the Tea Room. The party assembled in the Senior Parlor and went in a body to the Tea Room that had been most attractively decorated with autumn leaves by Mrs. Lear. The place cards were autumn leaves made by Mrs. Lear also. Covers were laid for thirty-eight. An interesting feature of the evening consisted of riddles, the answers of which pertained to the Student Building. After dinner the party reassembled in the Senior Parlor and went from there to the Vaudeville, seats having been reserved beforehand.

The Rotunda staff is glad to announce that because of the cooperation of the entire school the paper is enlarged by an extra sheet.

FAIRY GODFATHER CO. FINDS THE WAY TO A GIRL'S HEART

At first we thought of it as something beautifully idealistic, but rather vaguely in the future to occupy much thought. But preparations steadily continued until the rooms began to look so interesting in their progress toward completion that during the last few days before final touches were put on, we felt that to wait much longer would be impossible. And at last it became a reality, a lovely reality, softly blue and gray, and charmingly quaint. Pride outstrips mere admiration, and we find ourselves loving the Tea Room, from the beautiful hand-painted tables to the tiniest bit of blue and white china. That was last year. This year we received another visit from the Fairy Godfather Co. and additions and improvements have been made. What in the world would we do without that Fairy Godfather?

SCHOOL NEWS

At a recent meeting of the faculty, Mr. J. M. Lear, of the department of history and social sciences; and Miss Martha W. Coulling, of the department of drawing, were chosen as official representatives to attend the business meeting of the State Teachers' Association in Richmond, Oct. 26-28. Miss Mary Clay Hiner, associate in English, was also appointed as alternate.

According to the most recent report from the registrar's office the enrollment of the State Normal School is as follows: freshmen 303, sophomores 220, juniors 28, seniors 17, making a total of 568 college students, in addition to 111 in the high school department.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight? Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books
Stationery, School Supplies

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House

DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE

Material covering all subjects in the course of study, departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va. Hampton, Va.

Why are washerwomen the most cruel people in the world?

Because they are constantly wringing men's bosoms.

A more or less inebriated gentleman reclined against a lamp post in order to enable himself to read more easily a movie advertisement which read "Home Sweet Home"—in three reels. The I. G. gazed fixedly at it for a moment or two, then shook his head sadly and murmured "Hic-can't be done."

Two unfortunate, beautiful llamas
Were taken away from their mamas
And in spite of their squealings and lacerated feelings
Were forced to sleep in pajamas!

She: Are late hours good for one?
He: No, but they are good for a couple.

Two old maids went
For a tramp
In the woods.
The tramp died.

Exchange.

Pat and Mike were extremely annoyed by mosquitoes during their vacation, so one night they put out the light and hid under the bed. Presently a swarm of lightning bugs came in. "Golly," said Pat, "here they come, and they're bringing lanterns."

What's that on your ring?
That's the family seal.

Do you know, that for a moment I thought it was a walrus!—Georgia Cracker.

Maybelle certainly has wonderful presence of mind.

Well, she got away with some pretty good ones of mine, too.—Chaparral.

She: I'm afraid, Don, that I will never see you in heaven.

He: Great guns! What have you been doing now?—Virginia Reel.

We send them off to school to learn
To dot their "i's" and cross their "t's"
But once they're gone they only yearn
To roll their eyes and cross their knees.
—Virginia Reel.

Madam (on her first ocean voyage): What's that down there, Captain?

Captain: That's the steerage, Madam.

Madam: Oh, does it take all those people to make the boat go straight?—Virginia Reel.

That train smokes a lot.
Yes, and choos, too.

20: Where are you going with that Ouija board?

23: Oh, I've got an exam in dead languages this morning.

OUR ROTUNDA OFFICE

Being a True Story of a Transformation.

It is necessary, supposedly gentle but probably ferocious reader, to ask you to use your divine gift of imagination for a few moments.

It is April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-two. The scene is the Rotunda office. But not the Rotunda office of today. Far from it. Look about you. The ceiling is cracked hither and yon, and seems about to descend upon our luckless heads in rage. The walls are of damp, discouraged gray, with many freckles and other unhealthy discolorations. There is a typewriter, of the vintage of '83, a dejected looking table, and a few tired chairs whose every countenance is one of despair and a forlorn submission to a cruel fate. A pile of worn out Rotundas reposes in a corner. A lone girl sits at the table, her head bowed in her hands. It is ye poor editor, too overcome by environment to do aught but mourn over the hopelessness of life.

We creep away, Reader, while we are yet able. The time is today. The scene is the Rotunda office—but on first glance we are tempted to cry out in astonishment, "Why, they've moved the office!" And indeed, few would recognize our late dark gray elephant with its face washed and new clothes on.

The ceiling and walls are smooth, unblemished, and of a pristine purity. New furniture adorns the room. There is a table, a desk with a light all its own, many chairs, each with four whole legs, a cabinet, a new typewriter with its special stand and chair, and a book case, all fairly crying out their eagerness to be used. There are all manner of lights in place of the one which wouldn't work before; there is even a big blotter on the table; and crowning glory of all, there is a rug. At the table are two girls busily writing, while another complacently beats on the typewriter. The floor between the two is heaped with typewritten copy. For what staff couldn't work in such an office? No wonder the staff merely smiles as though it owned all the world when some one wants "that entertainment written up right away," and going into the office, proceeds to get itself inspired and forthwith writes it.

Who was the Angel of Mercy who made these things possible? Need you ask? It was Dr. Jarman, of course.

ENTERTAINMENT COURSE

The Entertainment Course that will be presented here this session is unusually attractive. The numbers will appear in the following order:
Nov. 13—The Adams Company.
Dec. 6—The Russian Cathedral Quartette.
Dec. 11—Mary Sterling Battis.
Jan. 24—Mary Potter and the Symphonic Quintette.

Feb. 6—Dr. M. H. Lichtler.

Feb. 16—Glee Club Concert.

March 30—Dramatic Club Play.

This program is quite varied, including instrumental and vocal music, lectures and plays.

The first attraction, Charles Wakefield Cadman, will be here on Thursday night. With Mr. Cadman comes Princess Tsianina, an Indian princess. The program will probably consist largely of American Indian music.

VAUDEVILLE BIG SUCCESS

The Glee Club and Orchestra Present Vaudeville.

Friday evening, Nov. 3, at 8:30, under the direction of Miss Munoz, the Glee Club and Orchestra of the Farmville State Normal School presented a high class vaudeville.

The program opened with the All Star Musicians Non Pariel and ended with "La Famosa Orquesta Espanola Por La Celebre Senorita Cricina Munoz." In between the beginning and the end the audience received plenty of laughter. Mademoiselle Shields made quite a hit with "I Can't do a Thing With My Hair Since It's Washed." "Si Perkins on Broadway" and Favorite Melodies of By-gone Days" were unusually attractive. Then in "Her First Appearance" the scene changed and the audience was given a chance to weep instead of laugh. The Dumb Bells changed it back and gave the crowd another laugh.

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

OUR PRESIDENT.

For all he means to our beloved States,
 For all the wondrous power for good he yields,
 For the kindness of his heart, that feels
 A sympathy for sorrow small or great—
 We honor him, and fain would imitate
 The life of service that he leads. He shields
 With jealous care our youth—a care that yields
 Rich fruit, character it doth create.

And may his life with happiness be crowned,
 And may he live for many a coming year,
 For wisdom and for kindness far renowned—
 Our earnest wish for him we hold so dear.

WORLD WEEK OF PRAYER,
NOV. 12th-18th

"To pray together, in whatever tongue or ritual, is the most tender brotherhood of hope and sympathy that man can contract in this life." May this coming week of prayer celebrated throughout the world mean much to us as a big opportunity. May each service, each prayer in our hearts and spoken be a whole block towards the building of an "international understanding." H. G. Wells speaks of the task of all humanity today as that of rebuilding civilization. So we shall want to use this week of world-wide prayer. Let us think of the six hundred student associations plus the more than six hundred Associations in cities, towns and counties, building such a structure of worship and fellowship. Let us see our share in rebuilding civilization aided by the talks by faculty members during the following week. These will be as follows:

Sunday—"Our Need"—Matt. 4:4—Prayer—World Wide Spiritual Power.

Monday—"Hunger"—Amos 8:11—Africa.

Tuesday—"Seeking after Bread"—Phil. 3:12—The Americas.

Wednesday—"The Nourishing Power of Bread"—John 6:51—Asia.

Thursday—"Satisfied"—Jer. 29:13—Europe.

Friday—"Distribution"—2 Tim. 2:2—Australia.

Saturday and Sunday—"Bread for the World"—Col. 1:27-28—Student Christian Associations of the World.

Sunday, November 19th, will be celebrated by the school and churches at the Universal Day of Prayer for all students and Student Movements. Since the founding of the World's Student Christian Federation, over a quarter of a century ago, the Christian Student Movements of the world and the leaders and members of the Christian Church have been summoned to remember with special thanksgiving and intercession the moral and spiritual welfare of students the world over. This has been a chief source of the growth and power of the Federation and inspiration to all who truly observe the day.

Three former men of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina who are now taking post graduate work at the University, refused to don the uniform when the University of South Carolina clashed with Presbyterian College. They did this knowing that there was a possibility of their losing a chance even at a Carolina letter. Such is college spirit to the highest degree.

This SpaceReserved*for*Advertisements*FARMVILLE SCHOOL AND FARM FAIR

The annual farm and school fair of Prince Edward county was held in Farmville from October 18th to 20th. As usual the school contributed, the Training School and High School departments submitting exhibits and the entire school taking part in the parade on Wednesday. Some very attractive floats were prepared on the subjects of "The Student Building," "The Toy Shop," "Eat an Apple a Day," and "School Activities."

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

The Training School opened with an enrollment of 295 in the grades and 108 in the High School Department, making a total of 403.

For the past three years classes in the Training School have been corresponding with pupils from other schools, both in this country and abroad. We have just received, in answer to our letters last spring a most interesting portfolio from the children of the Centre School, Perth, Scotland. This portfolio contains postcards of Perth and photographs of groups of children from the different grades, letters from the children and short essays on the following subjects: Our School, Perth and Port, Perth in History, Industries of Perth and Our City. The pleasure and interest in the opening and enjoying of this portfolio can best be shown by the enthusiasm with which the children wish to begin their foreign correspondence this Fall.

Three 4th Year High School students carried off honors in connection with the "Better Apple Month" work of the Fair. Miss Louise Nunn won first and second place in the posters. Miss Norvella Reid won first place and Miss Louise Jones won second place in a composition on "The Autobiography of an Apple."

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

GROWTH OF STUDENT BUILDING

[Continued from page 1.]

the building is finished there will be four floors. The first floor will be the gymnasium. This is to be equipped in the most up-to-date manner, one of the most interesting features being a swimming pool. The second and third floors will house the student activities. Rooms will be provided for the Student Committee, Y. W. C. A., Student Publications, Literary and Debating Societies, P. K. O., and the Sororities. The fourth floor will be given over to a dormitory for the college juniors and seniors. As the State can appropriate money for educational purposes only, the alumnae and students are raising $50,000 for the second and third floors and the State appropriates $50,000 for the first and fourth floors.

Dr. Jarman started the Building Project in 1911. That year he called the senior class together, presented the idea to them, and asked for pledges from the class. Out of a class of 105, 53 pledged the amount of $964.50. $20 of this sum was paid that year. That was the beginning. Since then each class going out from the school has made its pledges to contribute to the Student Building Fund. Last year at the meeting of the Farmville Alumnae in Richmond the Alumnae Association took upon itself the task of raising the necessary $50,000. From the time of that meeting people all over the State have been working for the Student Building. At the present time the money paid in amounts to $10,719.95.

When the Student Building is finished it will stand as a monument to Dr. Jarman's love for the students and his thoughtfulness for their welfare and happiness. It will also be a testimony of the love of the alumnae for their Alma Mater.

Robertson—Armstrong

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized on last Saturday, September 9th, at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Armstrong, when their daughter, Miss Martha, became the bride of Robert John Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Robertson, of Norfolk.

Just prior to the ceremony, Miss Irving Blanton, of Farmville, sang very sweetly, "Because." The bride entered on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Estelle Repass, of Bland, Va. Her only attendant was the maid of honor, her sister, Miss Katherine Armstrong. The groom was attended by his brother, William Robertson, of Norfolk, as best man, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. V. G. Smith, pastor of the Shelton Memorial Presbyterian Church, of Danville. The young couple left immediately after the ceremony on a trip through the north, where they will visit in Quebec, Murray Bay and other places of interest.

Mrs. Robertson, who was a popular member of the graduating class of 1919 at the State Normal School here, has been teaching at the James Madison School, in Norfolk, for the past two years.

On Friday evening a delightful reception and dinner were given the bridal party and out of town guests, at the home of the bride. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Robertson, Misses Roxie and Alma Robertson and W. A. and James M. Robertson; Mesdames A. C. Carson, R. L. Foster and Guy K. Horn and Miss Mary Daugherty, of Norfolk; Miss Aisna G. Elias, Frostburg, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Blanton, El Paso, Texas; Rev. V. G. Smith, Danville; Miss Estelle Repass, Bland, Va.; Miss Mary Preston, Roanoke, Va.; Miss Ruth Carwile, Madisonville, Va.; Mr. I. L. Armstrong, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mr. T. Walker, of Altavista, Va.

College Stationers and PrintersFINE STATIONERY AND ENGRAVINGSCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERYDennison AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAINE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTEVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

HUBARD'SHammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSHDRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

- - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a CenturyFinest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDEIn preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

This SpaceReserved*for*Advertisement

NUISANCES OF RAILWAY TRAVELING

The optimistic side of traveling has been treated so extensively that it appears a matter of policy for the extremely amateur writer to go in the opposite direction for material. Therefore, I shall present the unpleasant things met with by every average traveler. These troubles may be divided into two classes, those of the day, and those of the night.

Let us consider the trials of a day spent on the train, or even part of a day. At the very beginning, enthusiasm is daunted when the jolting motion of the train makes one stumble over projecting baggage or strike some indignant person in the eye with an umbrella.

Then, after the traveler has settled down in comparative calmness, a baby starts crying invariably. The child is usually of tender age and quite unmanageable. No human power can prevent it from giving vent to its wrath against its surroundings. This same infant has two or three obnoxious brothers and sisters in most cases who prove as bad or even worse than the baby. Their fingers are very sticky, their faces very dirty, decorated with candy and bread crumbs, and they possess the most persistently inquisitive dispositions to be found anywhere. They do not hesitate to examine everybody's property, making audible comments and asking embarrassing questions meanwhile. Like the baby, they, too, go their way, regardless of the melodious of their fellow travelers. Several other people could be dispensed with, among them, the old gentlemen who raises the window in cold weather, freezing the rest of the passengers to the point of pneumonia, also letting in a multitude of cinders, eagerly awaiting an opportunity to pounce in some one's eye. He has a match in the old lady who not only keeps her window down but insists on her neighbors doing likewise when the temperature is rapidly approaching the boiling point. Others could be mentioned, but these are minor sources of discomfort compared with those already listed.

The tribulations of the traveler at night are not so grievous, but they are quite different from those of the day. They concern things rather than people as a general rule, except in the case of the heavy sleeper who snores sonorously. The Pullman berth is a very objectionable feature. It is too short for any one over five feet in height, so the average person spends an uncomfortable night if he stays any length of time in one position. On the other hand, if he lifts his head, or attempts sitting up, he gets a disconcerting blow from the ceiling. Just when sleep descends, moreover, there will be a violent jerk and rasping noises, jarring the system and suggesting wrecks. The traveler is haunted by tales of previous wrecks on the same road. If he survives all these things, keeping his mind intact, there is one more ordeal to go through. If he has hardy nerves, he will not mind passing by the Pullman porter on leaving the train, but most people, shrinking visibly under the Ethiopian gaze, feebly press a coin into his dusky palm. Past services seem written in his eyes, and a look seemingly expectant of princely reward.

Considering all these nuisances, it is certainly a great wonder that the American people are a restless, traveling nation, never content to stay peacefully at home, but always seeking pastures new.

This Space

Reserved

for

Advertisements

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

BIG CONTEST OPENS

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

USE YOUR EYES

Vol. 3. No. 7.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NOV. 18, 1922

LITERARY SOCIETIES UNDER NEW BASIS

BE A GOOD CITIZEN

Dr. Jarman Addresses Student Body.

Tuesday evening at 6:30 Dr. Jarman addressed the student body on the subject of "Student Self-Government," giving in particular the history of Student Self-Government in this school.

Dr. Jarman introduced his talk with a few sentences about government in general in which he spoke of our National, State, County, and City governments and the responsibilities of a citizen to his government. From this generalization the speaker went to the history of the organization of a particular government, namely the Student Self-Government of the Farmville State Normal School.

In explaining the duties of the Campus League Dr. Jarman mentioned the improvements that have been made in the physical plant during the past summer and this fall. Some of these are: a new tea room has been made and furnished, the parlor has been remodeled, and the walls of the sitting room, faculty room, and home offices have been gone over. These things add greatly to the attractiveness of the school and in taking care of them the Campus League needs the help of every girl.

In conclusion Dr. Jarman repeated this statement that he had made earlier in his address:

"You are all citizens of this Student Association; you want to be good citizens. In order to do this you must keep your rules and regulations and give your heartiest co-operation to your student committee."

PERSONALS

The following girls spent the week-end of November 10-12 out of school: Misses Belle Atkins, Ford Eubank, Frances Elliot, Nancy Lewis, Thelma Rhodes, Elsie Bell, Evelyn Barnes, Lelia Burrow, Mary Forbes, Helen Fitch, Christine Foster, Elizabeth Fuqua, Annie Farrar, Irene Butler, Kathleen Bronson, Doma Moseley, Fannie Mitchell, Virginia Maston, Erna Shotwell, Mary Scott, Mary B. Scott, Phyllis Snead, Margaret Clayton, Kathleen Crute, Julia Cave, Ardelie Cogbill, Elizabeth Crawford, Lucille Garden, Goldie Gallop, Louise Glen, Virginia Noel, Margaret Trice, Fannie Thomas, Mabel Holms, Elsie Haily, Eliza Davis, Rebecca Dedmon, Marie Dortch, Marie Dulings, Bertha Johnson, Lucille Jennings, May Johns, Janie Potter, Glenn Perry, Lovard Priddy, Hester Peebles, May Piercy, Elizabeth Vincent, Margaret Wright, Ruby Walton, Elizabeth Ware, Elsie and Roberta Zehmer.

SENIOR CLASSES ELECT VIRGINIAN STAFF

This year, acting upon the advice of the Faculty Committee, the Virginian will be edited by a staff elected from both the Normal Senior and College Senior Classes. Hereafter two of the major officers will be elected from the College Seniors and the other two major officers with the five assistants will be elected from the Normal Senior Class. The staff for the 1923 annual is:

Editor-in-Chief—Kathleen Morgan.
Assistant Editor—Dorothy Langslow.
Literary Editor—Mamie Nichols.
Assistant Literary Editor—Flementine Pierce.
Art Editor—Delia Williams.
Assistant Art Editor—Catharine Gable.
Business Manager—Anne Meredith.
Assistant Business Manager—Alice Lee Runbough.
Assistant Business Manager—Virginia Venable.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE STUDENT BUILDING RECEIVED DURING PAST WEEK

Vida Murfee.....	$10.00
Gamma Theta Sor.....	2.00
Katherine Stallard.....	15.00
Martha Bill.....	5.00
Florence Buford.....	15.00
Louise Doyle.....	5.00
Mrs. Madeline-Mapp Borrow.....	10.00
Mr. W. W. Jackson.....	5.00
Miss Fleta Cooper.....	25.00
Total.....	$92.00

THE "ROTUNDA" OPENS EYES

Eyes Have It.

The "Rotunda" is opening its Eyes. Next week the All-Seeing Department is born. It will have a weekly birthday, but instead of receiving gifts will give them. But let us explain.

What is the cutest thing you've seen or heard in the past week? Write it up and send it to the Eyes Column of the "Rotunda." Every one in the school is eligible to the contest which lasts until Christmas. Awards will be made by the Staff and Faculty advisors, and announcement of winners will be made every Tuesday in chapel. There is but one injunction—he original!

First prize—two tickets to the movies.

Second prize—one ticket to the movies.

Third prize—Honorable Mention.

SENIOR DAY

On Thursday, November 9, the Second Professional Class made its first display of '23 Spirit by observing a "Senior Day."

The girls, dressed in white and wearing the green class colors marched in a body to chapel. Snake dancing through the reception hall and on the campus after dinner, singing Senior songs, kept up the pep for the afternoon and the girls went to classes after a very hearty 15 Rabs for Seniors.

We hope to have more Senior Days; for the class of '23 must have some vent for its enthusiasm.

EUROPE

Travellers' Club Meet on November 8.

The Travellers' Club had an extremely interesting program at its meeting on November 8. The main number on the program was a talk given by Miss Barlow on her trip Europe last summer. She outlined the route of travel, and told many interesting facts about the places visited. The next meeting will be held at the regular time, the fourth Thursday in November. An attractive program is promised for the occasion.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING

Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH

Athletic NELL MCARDLE

Joke EMILY CALCOTT

Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE

Exchange CAROLYN MORROW

Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG

Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL

Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER

Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN

Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE

Advertising Manager KATHERINE KEMP

BOOKS AND PEOPLE

Have you ever thought how much people resemble books? When you think over it, a very clean comparison may be seen. For instance, there is the cover of the book, which we may contrast with the clothes and general appearance of a person. If the book looks attractive and has a snappy title it is more readily opened than if it looks dowdy and has an uninteresting title. So with people. If a person is attractively attired and is neat and clean, she will naturally be more popular and more people will seek to know her than if she is carelessly dressed and looks dull and uninteresting—thus she will have a larger circle of friends to whom she can reveal her true worth—her mind and thoughts, just as a book reveals its contents. When we open a book and start to read we may be favorably impressed for a long time until we come to something that disgusts us and we desire no longer to read. So, with people, we may know them for quite a while and like them until we find some disgusting trait of character and then we seek to discontinue our friendships. But there are other books, perhaps we will read it all through, slowly so as to have more of its value, and then treasure the book as a dear friend. So again with people. We will know them well and intimately and never find a trace of anything unworthy of them and never see an instance when they are not "true blue." But here, there is a difference—In books we drain the knowledge selfishly while with a friend we not only receive but we can abundantly give. So let us give of our experience and knowledge to those around us, and above all seek to be "true blue" ourselves and seek to be to someone our ideal of a friend.

WHAT IS SCHOOL SPIRIT?

School spirit has been defined in numbers of ways: among these is the love, ardor, enthusiasm and loyalty we feel for our alma mater and, as the element that binds the school into a social body; but, like so many other really big things in life, school spirit cannot be defined, it can only be described.

School spirit is a form of patriotism, and just as the man who shouts at the sight of his flag and then discredits his country by his actions is not patriotic, so the student who merely praises and boasts about his school has no real school spirit. For just as patriotism means giving the best of our time, mind, and efforts to our country, so school spirit means giving the best that is in us to our school.

True school spirit means grasping all the opportunities that the school offers, and since the primary object of college is academic training, our studies should take first place. We should all aim for the top, thus raising immeasurably the standard of our school. However, the feeling that secondary schools should concern themselves with the development of leadership is rapidly growing, and so a great deal of attention is given to extra-curricula activities. There is plenty of time for these, so in addition to making good marks, we should go out for some form of athletics, for we know now, as we have never known before, how inseparable are physical and mental fitness. We should take the matter of Student Government seriously, for through Student Participation in school government, we will learn patriotism, community spirit, and co-operation, which are surely important lessons as training for citizenship. We should take what the Literary Societies, Dramatic Club, the "Rotunda" and Glee Club have to offer. In fact, we should stand behind all worthy activities and from them select the ones to which our particular talents are best suited, and then put forth our best efforts toward promoting this particular phase of school life.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks

and
PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books
Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry
STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EAGO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

UNIVERSAL DAY OF PRAYER FOR STUDENTS, NOVEMBER 19TH

"There is one body and one spirit, even as also ye were called in one hope of your calling. One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all and in all."

As we have been drawn through God's presence very near and dear to each other as individuals and as nations, we have felt the ties of love, of service, of hope and of joy binding us in God's big family. We have realized our great need for never "has the world so hungered and thirsted for God, never has there been greater need for the Father." Let us thank God for these revelations and for His dear guiding Spirit in all lands, among all people.

November 19, has been set aside by the World's Student Christian Federation as the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. In love and fellowship let us draw together into sweet communion with our Father God. As we, the students of the whole world, praise God and intercede for others, may true motives, lofty purposes and real student friendship prompt our every thought and word. To all who have, may the generous spirit of sharing be given, and to those who want, may offerings of love and relief be supplied, as we pray "Our Father."

The Student Volunteer Movement and Purpose was explained in preparation for World Week of Prayer by Margaret Mason. This band opens the doors of Ministry wide to those who would enter for God and Mankind.

On November 8, the Sunday School Teachers wish to discuss means of interesting more school girls in the Bible Study classes prepared for them. Following this meeting, in an important business meeting of the Association, this question was discussed by the membership. Many helpful suggestions were given, and it is hoped that response will be made. It is God's work.

On November 23, Miss Barlow will lead prayers giving an account of the Passion Play held in Europe this summer. This is a particular opportunity for all, especially those who love to hear the Story of God and His People.

S. I. N. A.

The morning after Hallowe'en a cow was found in the Administration Building of Roanoke College. It is said that not since the early 90's has anything so startling happened. One of the professors was unable to get her out alone so was obliged to call the maintenance department to his aid.

A two-horse wagon was discovered on the main portico of the Administration Building, while the roof of the Library was decorated with corn shocks.

The wagon, cow, and corn were collected later by a farmer living some distance in the country.

The Y. W. C. A. of Lynchburg College staged a mock wedding. The bride represented the Cabinet, and the groom the Reading Room, while four groomsmen represented the members of the association, and four brides maids the members of the Cabinet. After the ceremony, the bridal couple retired to the reading room where they received congratulations and were given a shower of gifts for the Reading Room.

After experimenting three years, Maude Adams has ready for practical use an invention which will permit moving pictures to be shown without dimming the theater lights. The invention is a special kind of light used in theater illumination and allowed to burn while the pictures are being shown.

Dr. Gabriel Bidow, a Paris expert, has discovered methods of replacing paralyzed and useless muscles, with mechanical equivalents. The inventor calls his system "Functional Recuperation."

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA BANQUET

Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma gave its annual rush banquet on Thursday evening, November the ninth. The Tea Room was tastefully decorated in purple and white, the colors of the sorority. The tables were arranged in the shape of a triangle, in the center of which was a large mound formed of smilax and potted plants, crowned with an immense violet. The favors were hidden among the petals and tied to purple and white ribbons which extended attractively to each place. The lights and candles were shaded by violet petals which cast a soft glow over all. The color scheme and emblems of the sorority were further carried out in the five course dinner which was served.

The guests of the evening were: Misses Isabelle Allen, Martha Blair, Betty Cole, Mary Cousins, Mable Mays, Mary Turnbull, Eugenia Vincent, Edna Norton Spear and Virginia Richardson of Farmville, Va., Frances Lynn of Lynchburg, Va., Sara Hughes of Ashland, Va., Kitty Cole of Roanoke, and Mesdames George Richardson and Hoskins Sclater of Farmville, Va.

DELTA SIGMA CHI BANQUET

The new Tea Room was a scene of beautiful color and animation last Friday night when the Delta Sigma Chi's gave their fall banquet.

The table was beautifully decorated in their colors, green, white and gold. Lighted candles in the center of the table formed the letters $\Delta \Sigma \chi$ and at each end there was a vase of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The electric hangings were draped in gold and white and one corner of the room was banked in green ferns. The girls in their colorful evening gowns stood at their places around the table while they sang "Delta Daughters."

The favors were small silver cases, at one end a lip stick, and at the other a powder puff.

The delicious dinner was nicely served, and after demitassi the girls sang "Delta Love," and then adjourned to Miss London's office and danced until time was called.

The old girls back for the banquet were: Misses Reba Johnson, Tillie Waddell, Mary Mason and Charleen Oakey.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

ALUMNAE NOTES

A pretty wedding took place on Tuesday evening, Oct. 24, in Boydton, Va., when Miss Anne Hamilton Gill became the bride of T. Broadus Trevett, of Richmond. The bride wore a gown of white chiffon velvet with pearl trimmings and court train, with veil of illusion and real lace caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. B. C. Green, of Boydton, and Mrs. Pettus M. Gill, of Richmond, sisters of the bride, were matrons of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Ethel Trevett of Richmond; Elizabeth Manson, of Kenbridge, Virginia; Virginia Goode, of Boydton, and Mildred Stewart, of Beauchite, Ark. After the wedding an informal reception was given to the bridal party by Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Green at their home in Boydton. On their return from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Trevett will be at home in the Sweet Briar Apartment, 1127 West Grace Street, Richmond, Virginia.

Miss Agnes Redgrave Lash was married on October 25, to Mr. Junius Richardson.

Another October bride was Miss Grace Dickenson, whose marriage to Mr. Addeson Quincy Elliott occurred on the thirty-first. They will live in Charlotte, N. C.

Miss Louise Bondurant is head of the English department at Chatham Episcopal Institute, succeeding Miss Carrie Sutherland, who is in Montevello, Alabama, this winter.

Miss Virgie Fuller is teaching in the Warrenton High School.

Miss Louise Grassell has a position in the Floris Agricultural High School, near Herndon.

Miss Catherine Cover's present address is Keystone State Normal, Kutztown, Pennsylvania.

Miss Helen Wiley Hardy arrived at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Hardy, October 19. As her name indicates, she is a granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jarman.

Miss Helen Blackiston is assistant in Biology in the University of Tennessee.

The Farmville Chapter elected new officers at the November meeting. They are: Vice-president, Mrs. J. N. Cocks; Secretary, Mrs. E. R. Booker; Treasurer, Miss Virgilia Bugg. The President will be elected at the December meeting.

The Farmville S. N. S. Group at Columbia University last summer included the following: Misses Fannie Dunn, Helen Blackiston, Natalie Lancaster, Lou Semones, Ruth Kizer, Lizzie Kizer, Claudine Kizer, Georgianna Stephenson, Louise Bondurant, Madeline Warburton, Clarice Bersch, Mary Thomas, Elizabeth Hawthorne, Lillian Minor, Laura Holmes, Caroline Bagley, Alice Carter, Harriet Purdy, Sarah B. Tucker, Mabel Woodson, Ruth Redd, Lucy Maclin, Pauline Williamson, Mrs. Healy.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Sadie Armstrong to Mr. George Fate Greer on November 18, at Wordville, Virginia.

Mrs. Ellen Armistead Guerrant will spend the winter in Lynchburg where her daughter, Miss Ellen Guerrant, is a student at Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

Miss Alice B. Dugger, at one time the Librarian in Farmville Normal School, is this year driving through Chesterfield County as school nurse, and at the same time is carrying on Sheppard Towner work in connection with her other duties.

The Literary Digest of November 11, pays a compliment to Miss Josephine Johnson, formerly a student and assistant in the chemical laboratory here. In The Lyric, a magazine published by the Poets' Club of Norfolk, Virginia, we find a beautiful expression of sentiment.

THE UNWILLING GYPSY

By Josephine Johnson

The wide green earth is mine in which to wander;
Each path that beckons I may follow free,
Sea to grey sea.

But O, that one walled garden, small and sheltered,
Belonged to me!

High on the mountain top I watch the sunset,
It's splendid fires flare upward and burn low.
Oh, once to know
Down in the twilight lowlands dim and tender,
My own hearth-glow!

Night faces. A thousand stars look down upon me.

But though from inland plain to ocean's foam
My steps may roam,
One clear fixed star forever is denied me. . . .
The light of home!

The Farmville alumnae and friends will have a luncheon in Richmond at the Hotel Murphy on December 1. About two hundred are expected to participate in a very good time.

A large number of the students of the Normal School attended a reception given by the Y. W. C. A. at Hampden-Sidney College Saturday evening from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. This was one of the most delightful affairs of the season.

Miss Mary B. Barlow, head of the department of physical education, gave a very interesting account of her trip through Central Europe the past summer, at a meeting of the faculty on Tuesday evening, November 7. Her collection of folders and views added much to the vividness of the description. Miss Barlow again spoke before the Travellers' Club of the school on Thursday afternoon at 5:15.

COMRADES.

Life and I quarreled
Over some small, petty thing,
As comrades will.
I vowed to have no more of him,
And then I changed my mind—
For Life—well, Life has merry eyes,
And Life is tall and fair,
And I love Life, although I know
That he cannot be faithful
And always fair in even trivial things.
But Life is Life, and I am I, and so
We're friends.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

This Space

Reserved

for

Advertisements

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR LITERARY SOCIETIES

A New Plan for Literary Societies.

There was a joint meeting of all the Literary Societies in the Y. W. C. A. room Nov. 1, 1922. The suggestions made by the committee were brought before the societies and voted on.

The first motion was that each society keep its own identity but that the six societies should divide into two groups, three in each group, the competition being between the two groups. This motion was voted upon and passed.

It was decided that each society should decide upon its own program and type of work taken up.

The method of taking in new members was discussed. A motion was made that there be a combined meeting of the Literary societies combined with a social meeting after which printed slips be passed to the new girls, each being allowed to make her first, second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth choice. The slips are handed to the committee. The committee, which is comprised of a representative from each society, passes the slips to the society of the first choice and the names are voted on. The girls who are not voted into the society of their first choice are handed to the society of her second choice and so on. It is optional with the girl whether or not she takes the society into which she is voted if it isn't her first choice. This was voted on and passed. In connection with this the question of rushing was brought up. A motion was made that the names of girls in different societies be posted on the bulletin board before the open program and that each girl be allowed to make her own choice and there be no rushing whatever. This was voted on and passed.

It was moved and passed that a committee be elected, one representative from each society, to draw up a constitution for the two groups of literary societies.

It was moved and passed that the groups be divided as follows: the Argus, Pierian, and Jefferson in one group and the Cunningham, Athenian, and Ruffner in the other.

It was moved and passed that there be a permanent committee appointed from the societies to take charge of any matters that might need its attention concerning the interests of all societies.

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

A short business meeting of the Argus Literary Society was held November 7, 1922. After a general discussion of the new plan for the organization of the literary societies, Elizabeth Moring was elected to be a member of the Literary Council, and Mary Nichols to be on the Constitutional Committee.

A very interesting program has been planned for next time.

THE PIERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Pierian Literary Society held its regular meeting in Room D. on Tuesday, November 7. In absence of the president, Miss Jean West presided at the meeting. In addition to the usual business the following girls were elected to these committees: Misses Estelle Bennett and Christine Armstrong—Joint Constitution Committee and Misses Pauline Timberlake and Emily Calcott—the Advisory Council for the literary societies.

Variety and interest were shown in the program given by Miss Mary Jefferson. She chose some of the classics in music and played these on the victrola, adding to their appreciation by giving interesting historical bits of information. The program was one of the most interesting and original given this year.

EXCHANGE LIST

"The Wildcat"—College Hill.
 "Hampden-Sidney Tiger"—Hampden-Sidney.
 "Sun Dial"—Randolph-Macon Woman's College.
 "Book Strap"—Waynesboro High School.
 "Tar Heel"—University of North Carolina.
 "Hilltop"—George Mason High School.
 "Virginia Tech"—V. P. I.
 "Blue Stocking"—Presbyterian College of South Carolina.
 "Ring-tum Phi"—Washington and Lee.
 "Grapurchat"—Radford State Normal.
 "Maroon and Gold"—Eaton College.
 "Brakety-Ack"—Roanoke College.
 "Twig"—Meredith College.
 "School Bell"—Big Stone Gap.
 "Criticograph"—Lynchburg College.
 "Richmond Collegian"—University of Richmond.
 "Emory Wheel"—Emory College.
 "Sabre"—Randolph-Macon Academy.
 Papers from these schools may be found on the table at the far end of the reading room. These papers are for the use of the entire student body, so use them whenever you wish, but please do not carry them from the library.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAINE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

Did you know Kemp talks in her sleep?
No, does she?
It's true—she recited in class this morning.

The cat produces fiddle-strings,
The fish produces glue,
The hen produces eggs and things—
But I don't care, do you?

Exchange.

The host was bewailing the enormous expense of keeping his son at college.

"Such expenses!" he cried, "and the worst of all is the languages."

"Languages?" repeated his friend, "How's that?"

"Well," said his host, "there is one item in the bill which runs, 'For Scotch, $250.'"

Crescent.

For none of these things I adore you—
Though all of unsurpassed type—
But 'twas for the hairpin you gave me,
When parting to clean out my pipe.

Crescent.

Mr. Lee (in a discussion on good and bad habits): "There was an article in the paper the other day in which a woman asked a doctor for a prescription for bichloride of mercury to put in her husband's coffee. She had heard that it was a cure for the habit of smoking."

Student: "If she did that her husband wouldn't smoke any more, would he?"

Mr. Lee: "You don't know, he might smoke
again."

What I say is that if a woman is good looking the higher education is unnecessary.

Yes, and if she isn't it is inadequate.

Life.

IF WISHES.

Do you know
What I'd like to do?
Well
I'd like
To teach a few
Of the teachers that I've had.
Just give me an hour, and a locked door,
And a class of helpless teachers in a row
And leave us there alone.
'Twould be
Happiness for me;
For them—
Well—
Just plain Unpleasant.

NEW YORK ARTISTS' CONCERT

Second Number of Lyceum Course Presented. Large Audience Attended Performance of "New York Artists."

Wednesday evening, November 8, at 8:30, the
New York Artists gave a concert in the Normal School Auditorium, as the second number of the entertainment course. The company was made up of a soprano, Mme. Claire Maentz, a violinist, Julius Durleskaivich, a baritone, Eliner
Duts, and a pianist, Arthur Klien.

A large audience, including students, faculty, and towns people, were assembled for the concert. The program began with three violin numbers. Then Mme. Maentz sang "Habanera."
This was followed by two piano solos. The baritone soloist, Mr. Duts, was perhaps the most popular and received the most insistent demand for encores. The program, as a whole, was unusually delightful and each number was thoroughly enjoyed.

The following numbers met with especial
success:

"Rarfalla"	Sauret
"Habanera"	Bizet
"Autumn"	Chaminade
"On the Road to Mandalay"	Speaks
"Tambourin Chinois"	Kreisler
"I've Been Roaming"	Old English
"Oh Robin!"	McCollin
"Un Bel Di"	Puccini

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & MCINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO Burrells Kash Grocery FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES
LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

CROWN THE VIRGINIAN!

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

ORDER
NOW!

Vol. 3. No. 8.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NOV. 25, 1922

FALL DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY PRESENTED

"Come Out of the Kitchen" Attended by Large Audience.

The play "Come Out of the Kitchen" was presented by the S. N. S. Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Edna N. Spear, Friday evening, November 17, at 8:30. The performance was attended by a large audience and was one more success for the Dramatic Club to add to its already lengthy chain.

The scene of the play was laid in a colonial home of Virginia shortly before the Civil War. The Dangerfields were an old family whose resources had become very low. Colonel and Mrs. Dangerfield were in Europe, where the Colonel was to undergo a very serious operation. The children had been left at home to manage finances as best they could. In order to raise money they decided to rent the old home to a northern gentleman during the hunting season. One of the northerner's particular requirements was that during his stay the house should be run by white servants entirely. Just as the young Dangerfields were ready to leave for their aunts they received the news that their staff of white servants had failed to arrive. They decided to take the part of the servants themselves and their ups and downs for the next two or three days were charmingly portrayed. Many misunderstandings sprung up, but things

[Continued on page 6.]

CRAWFORD ADAMS AT S. N. S.

Third Number of Lyceum Course Great Success.

The Crawford Adams Company, consisting of Mr. Crawford Adams, violinist, Miss Sybil Jane Gould, Pianist, and Miss Elinor Eastman Stearns, reader, gave one of the most successful numbers of the Lyceum Course, in the auditorium of the State Normal School, Monday, November 13.

Miss Stearns recited arousing character sketches and impersonations, Miss Gould played several instrumental solos, but the main part of the program was given over to Mr. Adams, violinist, accompanied by Miss Gould. The first partly by the audience. At the close of his enture, with selections chosen partly by him and partly by the audience. At the close of his entertainment, Mr. Adams played popular music for the benefit of those who do not fully appreciate classical music.

Each member of the company has a pleasing personality, but Mr. Adams is endowed with magnetism to a remarkable degree. It is to this quality that his success should be attributed as well as to his ability as an artist.

DO YOU KNOW?

You will be proud of the Virginian?
The Virginian is a history of your life while in college?

That in later years the Virginian will be one of your most cherished keepsakes?

Your children will want to know all about "Ma's" college days?

There's something about you in the Virginian? It has scads of snap shot pages?

He who hesitates is lost?—Order your Virginian NOW!!

PERSONALS

The following girls were out of town during the week-end of November 17-19:

Misses Isabel Allen, Rebecca Ames, Mary Lewis Bryant, Lelia Borrow, Hester Brown, Christine Brockman, Elsie Bradley, Lois Williams, Kathleen Crute, Elizabeth Chappell, Kitty Carrol, Frances Elliot, Mary Forbes, Helen Fitch, Mary Friend, Virginia and Marion Ford, Goldye Gallupp, Cabell Ganaway, Eula Harris, Nellie Hill, Frances Johns, Mary Jefferson, Josephine Merryman, Magruder Mucks, Martha Moseley, Katherine Montague, Dorma Moseley, Margaret Phipps, Anne Glenn Perry, Ringgold Prout, Alice Lee Rumbough, Marie Sulton, Margaret Shackelford, Marionette Trice, Marguerite Towner, Mary Vaughan, Rozabelle Walton, Wilma Williams, Mildred Woodhouse, Ruby Walton, Frances Ware, Elizabeth Ware, Mary Walker and Hazel Young.

Miss Cabel Gilmer who was recently injured, has sufficiently recovered to resume her studies at school.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

On Thursday afternoon, November the ninth, in the Kindergarten Room of the Training School, a hundred and fifty patrons assembled for the first meeting of the year. Mrs. Fallwell, the president of the Advisory Board of Patrons, presided. The following program was given:

- I. A Puppet Show....."The Three Pigs"
First Grade Children
- II. A Project in History.....Sixth Grade
- III. Our Responsibility to Childhood

Rev. Frederick Diehl
Refreshments were served, and a social hour followed.

The Patrons' Advisory Board for the current year consists of the following persons: Mrs. T. H. Fallwell, President; Mrs. Hunter Stegar, Vice-President; Miss Mary B. Haynes, Secretary-Treasurer.

Members: Mrs. C. S. Bliss, Mrs. Waverley Putney, Mrs. Vernon Paulette, Mrs. W. C. Newman, Mrs. W. S. Norris, Mrs. John Burger, Mrs. J. L. Putney, Mrs. W. H. McNamee, Mrs. Scott Martin, Mrs. Canada, Mrs. Frank Hubbard, Mrs. D. T. Billings, Mrs. A. P. Gilbert.

J. L. J.

The following expression from Dean Page of the University of Virginia was intended for the "Jarman Number of the Rotunda" but reached the publishers too late to be included in that issue.

"I cannot write just as I would like to about my friend, President J. L. Jarman, for fear of being accused of exaggeration. But to my mind it is impossible for anyone to know him, even superficially, without recognizing the sterling traits upon which his success is founded.

His utter sincerity is immediately apparent; and the older I become the more I reverence sincerity in anyone. His simple and transparent honesty is so obvious that he is the despair of the trickster or liar. Endowed by nature with a strong intellect, his ambition to be a scholar was early aroused; and in achieving the object of his ambition he overcame obstacles which would have been insurmountable to most young men.

To the great good fortune of the State and of the country, he decided to dedicate his life to the advancement of education; and he has already accomplished work in that field which will endure. Hundreds, and probably thousands, of the most useful women in the State look back to the day when they met President Jarman as the day in which they began to learn something of the real meaning of life: namely, that life is a precious opportunity for service.

May he be granted long life and strength to carry forward his great work.

Faithfully yours,

J. M. Page.
Dean."

November 18, 1922.

To the Editors of the Rotunda,

My dear Girls:

It would seem that I am a little late in expressing my appreciation of the compliment you have paid me, but I am sure you will understand when I tell you that my copy of the Rotunda for November 11th was laid on my desk the morning I left town—and you know I have not been home long.

My years here have been most pleasant and this is due to the fact that I have always felt that I have had the loyalty of our girls (and their co-operation); and I wish to express to you my sincere gratitude and thanks for your thoughtfulness in dedicating your paper to my twenty-one years of service.

With all good wishes for the continued growth and success of your publication, I am,

Yours very truly,

J. L. Jarman.

ENROLLMENT.

The student body this year has representatives from 77 counties, 13 cities, and 12 states.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFFEditor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor..... DOROTHY LANGSLOWBOARD OF EDITORS:News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERROMANAGERS:Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....KATHERINE KEMPWHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THE METHODS OF TEACHING?*The Montessori Method of Learning.

The labors of Montessori have aroused an unusual interest among Americans. For some time her theories and practices have been a frequent subject for investigation and discussion in meeting of teachers and parents.

Madam Montessori is the assistant physician at the Psychiatric Clinic of the University of Rome. Some 15 years ago she became interested in defectives. She learned of the Sequin method for education of idiots. From this and from personal experiences in the education of the feeble-minded, came the suggestion of using her method with the normal child.

Madam Montessori has lectured in America and has a school of her own where she puts into practice her methods. Certain aspects of the system are in themselves striking and significant. It is based on a radical conception of liberty for the pupil.

The Montessori Method is making the child wait on himself; in this way teaching him while young to do the things through practice which will come into his life afterwards. Education as development, the doctrine of liberty, the adequacy of self-expression, exercises of a practical life, and a sense training are the facts that are stressed in the Montessori Method.

We have in review the principal features of the Montessori Theory and practice. Good points and bad have appeared, but her preparation for the school art should prove helpful. Her greatest service lies probably in the emphasis on scientific conception of education and in the practical utilization of liberty.

The Rotunda staff has decided to have a regular meeting every Saturday morning at 9:30. This meeting has already aided the staff in co-operating with each other. If any member of the student body wishes to offer contributions or suggestions to the paper, please come to the office at this time.

At the meeting on Saturday, Nov. 18, Martha Phillips was added to the staff as Rotunda Typist.

The announcement has been received of Miss Kathleen Elizabeth Rosser's marriage to Mr. Eugene Care Hoover, on Tuesday, Sept. 5, 1922 at Lynchburg, Virginia.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND DURING PAST WEEK

Delta Sigma Chi.....	$ 56.00
Lucy Hine.....	25.00
Mrs. P. F. Thackston.....	1.00
Dramatic Club.....	500.00
M. Catherine Hill.....	50.00

Total $632.00
The fund to the present date is $11,443.95.

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS
INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the Farmville State Normal School

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIESC. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books
Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry
STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'SMAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

Y. W. C. A. COOPERATION

During this last week, set aside by the World Student Christian Federation, as World Week of Prayer, we have been drawn nearer and dearer to the people all over the world through our Elder Brother, Jesus Christ. Through the following services, we have thought and prayed internationally:

Nov. 12—"Our Need," Morning, Mary Nichols.

Nov. 13—"Hunger in Africa," Morning, Margaret Schackelford; Evening, Miss Draper.

Nov. 14—"Bread in America," Morning, Clementine Pierce; Evening, Miss Rice.

Nov. 15—"Nourishment in Asia," Morning, Frances Sanders; Evening, Miss Carter.

Nov. 16—"Satisfied Europe," Morning, Elmer Stringfellow; Evening, Miss Von Schilling.

Nov. 17—"Distribution in Australasia," Morning, Louise Parsons; Evening, Miss Tucker.

Nov. 18—"Bread for the World," Morning, Genevieve Bonnewelle; Evening, Mrs. Bell.

Nov. 19—"Universal Day of Prayer for Students," Evening, Marion Camper.

Let's talk for a while about finances! No, not asking for more but thanking each and everyone for her contribution. You know, we, the members of the Y. W. C. A. did not quite raise our budget. That means we must cooperate very earnestly to make our Y. W. C. A. work effective. Splendid cooperation was seen in the gratifying response on the first Y. W. C. A. pay day, November 10, resulting in contributions to the amount of $199.75. It does prove better to give than to receive especially as we remember that truly, "All things come of Thee, O Lord, and of Thine own have we given Thee." May we pray to the giver of every good and perfect gift that we may use our all in bringing about student friendship and world fellowship for Him.

You have heard the response of our present membership in regard to finance. Now listen to this. Our Alumnae have responded equally as well. The contributions so far amount to $27.50. The spirit which the Alumnae have shown by their letters is very encouraging. They have expressed their interest in the work of the Y. W. C. A. of their Alma Mater, and the following are some extractions from their letters:

"I often think of the S. N. S.-Y. W. C. A. work and the good influence it has over the girls."

"Too many years of my life and too much of my affection has gone into the school not to be deeply interested in all her activities."

"I am constantly thinking of and praying for the success of God's work at S. N. S."

Indeed it is very gratifying to know those who have left us in body have not left us in spirit.

S. I. N. A.

The cost of operation for all departments of Emory University, Georgia, during the year 1921-1922 was $374,593 while the income derived from tuition and fees was only $125,454. The average attendance for the year was 1,113. Thus it will be seen that the average annual cost per student was $336. This cost was based on the actual operation expenses for the year. Last year the University gave free tuition to 243 students who were sons of ministers or who are preparing for the ministry or mission fields.

The Argonaut staff of Lynchburg College has inaugurated a contest in connection with annual work this year. Prizes will be given to the persons submitting the best literary cartoon or photographic work, and also to the one securing the most advertising space outside of Lynchburg. This has been done to assist in gaining the further cooperation of the student body in producing an all-round good annual.

The students of Roanoke have subscribed $6,840 to the Endowment Fund. This was done as an evidence of their interest in their Alma Mater and in support of the campaign for increased endowment. It is interesting to note that every member of the student body made a donation.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dunsmuir AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

The Argus Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday, November 14. After the usual business of the society, a very entertaining and instructive program was rendered.

1. A piano solo, "Polonaise in a Flat," by Chapin.....Ruth Shockley
2. A talk on "drama".....Mary Nichols
3. One-act play, "The Prince of Court Painters," by Percy Mackaye.....Read by Mary Taliaferro
4. Current Events.....Roberta Hodgkin

The Pierian Literary Society held its regular meeting on Tuesday, November 14 in Room K. After the usual business the following program was given: In Honor of Armistice Day—Estelle Bennett, A Poem—"In Flanders Fields"—Elizabeth Chappell, November 11th as a Day of Prayer—Mary Lewis Bryant, Nameless Dead Soldiers Honored in England and France—Louise Stevenson, The History of World Peace—Annie Lisle Tucker, Current Events—Margaret Kite. As a celebration of Armistice Day the subjects were well chosen and interestingly presented.

DE-HO-EC CLUB PARTY

On Saturday afternoon, November 2, 1922 the De-Ho-Ec Club gave a delightful party in the sewing laboratory.

The room was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, corn stalks and pumpkins. The color scheme of yellow and black was carried out.

At six a lovely buffet supper was served, after which appropriate games were played, fortunes and ghost tales told.

In addition to the club members the following honor guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle and little daughter, Martha; Misses Jeter, Tupper and Millican and Mrs. Jeter.

JUNIORS PRESENT CLASS MAN

The Collette Juniors presented to the school their honorary member, Miss Mary Clay Hiner of the English Department, in Chapel Tuesday morning.

When the curtains of the stage were drawn aside, the class was revealed with Miss Hiner in the center on a throne decorated with the class colors, red and white. The girls sang a tribute to Miss Hiner, after which they marched off the stage and made an arch with red and white wands under which the faculty marched to their accustomed places on the stage. The girls then took their seats and the regular Chapel exercises took place.

VISITORS

Misses Sara Hughes, Frances Lynn, Mary Lee Stott, and Margaret Atwell, former students of this school, spent the week-end of November 10-12 with friends in school.

Misses Helen Patton, Helen Rogerson, Ettie Jones Hues, and Beth Gannaway returned to their Alma Mater for the week-end of November 10-12 to attend the annual banquet of the society to which they belong.

Miss Kate Trent spent the week-end of November 17-19 with friends in school.

Miss Eleanor Webster visited friends in school during the week-end of November 17-19.

GAMMA THETA BANQUET

The annual ball banquet of Gamma Theta sorority was given on Saturday evening, November 11th. The guests assembled in the Senior parlor, from which they went to the new Tea Room. The color scheme, the azure blue and white of the sorority, was carried out in the decorations and menu. Bowls of lily of the valley and the glow of candle light lent an air of festivity.

The tables were arranged in the shape of a large rectangle, the open space in the center being banked with pines and ferns. Long blue and white streamers suspended from the ceiling were caught together over the center, and hung low over a large vase of lily of the valley.

Between courses, various forms of entertainments such as dancing, the "Gamma Theta Bucket" and songs were offered.

The favors were little silver pencils.

The old girls who were guests of the evening were Misses Beth Gannaway, Helen Patton, Helen Rogerson and Mrs. John P. Hues, of Lynchburg.

DE-HO-EC CLUB

The Course V. girls and those majoring and minoring in Home Economics met in the Science hall on Friday night, October 27, 1922. The purpose of this meeting was to reorganize the original Ellen Richards Club. After some discussion it was decided that the name be changed to the De-Ho-Ec Club.

The following officers were then elected for the coming year:

President—Mary Baber.
Vice-President—Mary Lewis Bryant.
Secretary—Helen Miller.
Treasurer—Mary Spiggle.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners
Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

BASKET-BALL! BASKET-BALL!

Who? When? Where?

On Thanksgiving morning at nine o'clock sharp the basket-ball field will be the centre of interest for every true and loyal S. N. S. girl. In eager crowds they will gather there awaiting—what? The first great basket-ball event of the season, when the Juniors and the Seniors will clash in their contest for the basket-ball championship. The Junior team is out to win and we are backing it 303 strong. We have quality as well as quantity and with our pep and class spirit we will show our opponents what we can do. So get busy Seniors!

A Junior.

RAY! RAY! RAH! RAH! SENIORS!! SENIORS!! SENIORS!!

Just such a yell will make that old armory fairly ring and echo on Thanksgiving morning when the Senior team comes running in to take their places for the long-looked-for game. But the Seniors will not stop with one yell. No—! 220 loyal voices will rend the air with yells and songs for the good old "green and white" and for their team, throughout the entire game. Yes, it's true that we are smaller in number than the Juniors—but is quantity all that counts???? I ask you that question, Juniors. So—"haec 'em on, Senior Team" and walk away with the Juniors.

A Senior.

FAN FUMES

We were an unprotected visitor in a strange country, and accordingly, when invited out to play golf, we accepted with alacrity, flattered by this show of popularity. To the invitation was added a post script, however, consisting of the statement that we were to accept only on condition that we did not object to losing our peace of mind. This remark, though, we attributed to merely the regulation golf humor tainted with jealousy at beholding our new sport suit. Consequently, we were neither stopped nor stayed in our resolution to learn golf.

The day of promise dawned. With an illustrated Sunday supplement as guide, we adorned ourselves in such a way as to make the lilies of the field flush with rage at comparison, and sallied forth. We arrived at the club house and graciously accepted a bag full of clubs (which immediately made several ungrateful attempts to destroy our soundness of limb). Having watched our instructor tee up and drive off in perfect form, we condescendingly took a club which the languid caddy reluctantly offered. But the club was badly proportioned, or something of the sort, and in unwieldiness succeeded in almost slaying us by a swift backward lunge to the head.

With the application of a little cold water, however, we were soon ready for further duty, and with much gusto swung for a fine, long drive. Thud! And approximately a quart of dirt went sailing over the unscathed ball. We scrutinized the caddies sharply to see whether or not they grinned at our mishap. They did not; they were too bored. We will skip detailed description of the ensuing events. We will ring down the asbestos curtain and allow soft, sad music to agitate the atmosphere instead. Suffice that we made six attempts in the regulation manner to move the ball, and at last succeeded in budging it only by taking the club between our knees a la croquet and pushing it off. (At this stage of the game our temperature would have caused a thermometer to burst with a loud explosion at a distance of fifty yards.) In the next four hours we played three holes, principally by the over-hand method, i. e. by picking up and hurling the ball with immense force and vim. We perspired at every known pore and at a few that we invented ourselves. Our instructor was a mental and spiritual wreck; the caddies snored gently. And there was the ball, resting quite comfortably on the soft grass and leering evilly up at us. Saddest of all, we could not vouchsafe a single remark to relieve our feelings for fear of spontaneous combustion. We returned quickly to the club house and drank four coca-colas in rapid succession. By that time we had recovered sufficiently to be able to swear by the beard of the prophet and as many other time-honored epithets as we could remember, never more to clasp a golf club.

For the next two days we seethed. The family breath was bated; the family step resembled that of a "burglar walking on eggs." At the end of that time, we began to long to learn to play golf if only for the pleasure of marring the sleek face of that grinning, malevolent ball. We returned to the links. Practically the same experience was ours, except that this time we tore up so much turf on the green that a look of awe appeared on the face of even the bored caddy. We went out on two ensuing occasions. After that the family intimated that life under such conditions was not worth living, and that either they or we must leave. From a combination of rage and pity, we departed hence, secretly relieved to at last be quit of a place where there was something we could not do and could not refrain from doing.

From that day to this, our thoughts have been troubled, our mind is unable to attain its pristine freedom from care. Be warned, all ye who contemplate taking up golf, and don't do it, for golf fever is far, far more virulent and horrible in its effect than that of any other variety, yea, verily even unto the hay species.

A BIRTHDAY PRESENT

Dramatic Club Presents $500.00 to Dr. Jarman for Student Building Fund.

Friday, November 17; before Chapel services, the Dramatic Club presented a dress rehearsal of a few scenes from the play "Hamlet." In the midst of the play, the Treasurer of the Club rushed in and aroused the players from their melancholy state. The reason for this disturbance was that she brought with her a gift to the Student Building of $500.00. This was presented to Dr. Jarman.

This Space

Reserved

for

Advertisements

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO Burrells Kash Grocery FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES
LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed
LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

Little Willie fell through the elevator,
His parents found him a fortnight later.
All the neighbors said "Gee, whiz,
What a spoiled child Willie is."

Bill (at a ball game): "You see that sub over there?"

Mary: "Yes."

Bill: "Well, he's going to be our best man next year."

Mary: "Oh, Bill, this is so sudden."

Prof.: "Huh! Drunk again."

Stude (sympathetically): "Too bad, so'm I."

Pelican.

A gentleman who had looked upon the wine when it was red, a bit too long, stood gazing at an advertisement of a coming movie—"Home Sweet Home" in three reels," it read. "Hic! can't be done," he remarked, twining himself more firmly about the lamp post.

The Girl Across the Hall says she's heard that to the victor belongs the spoils, but that she thinks they might have it fresh after they've worked so hard to get it.

The 4 Prof. Class need never be broke, for it always has its Nichols.

The Story Told.

Boy	Gun
Gun	Bust
Joy	Boy
Fun	Dust

I wish that my room had a floor
I don't care so much for a door
But this walking around
Without touching the ground
Is getting to be quite a bore.

The Past.

Harassed Roommate: "Say, you don't play fair. It's your turn to wash your hands and mine to say prayers, and here you've jumped in bed without doing either."

In our own private

Litany belongs
The roommate who Develops
I. K. B. every Night at about
Twelve o'clock and Insists on turning
On the light
To look.

It was in one of Mr. Lear's classes and by some manner a student asked what dyspepsia was. Agnes leaped into the breach. "Oh, don't you know," she asked, "It's when dogs go mad and bite you."

Two little ghosties
Sitting on two little posties
Eating buttered toasties.

And their two little fisties
Was greasy clear up to their little wristies.
Na-asty little beasties!

Teacher: "What is three times three, Johnnie?"

Johnnie: "Nine."

Teacher: "That's pretty good, Johnnie."

Johnnie: "Pretty good, nothing, it's perfect."
Va. Reel.

First Flea: "Been on a vacation?"

Second Flea: "No, on a tramp."

Sun Dodger.

"Say, offisher, where's this Flat-Iron Building? I wanna have my clothes pressed."

Pelican.

"Pardon me, are you one of the English instructors?"

"Gosh, no! I got this tie for Christmas."

Voo Doo.

"I wonder what Sir Walter Raleigh said to the Queen when he put his coat down for her?"

"Probably 'Step on it, kid!'"

Puppet.

Riding on the railroad train at noon—
They love each other, yet dare not spoon.
Whee—tunnel!

Jack-o-Lantern.

FALL DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY PRESENTED

[Continued from page 1.]

were finally settled to everybody's liking, due perhaps to Jane Ellen's wonderful cooking.

The attractive costumes were arranged by Miss Katherine Tupper of the Home Economics department. Misses Kathleen Morgan and Julia Cave furnished music, while the scenes were being changed.

Cast of Characters.

Olivia Dangerfield (Alias Jane Ellen)	Elizabeth Williams
Elizabeth Dangerfield (Alias Araminta)	Lou Gregory
Mrs. Falkner.....	Lois Williams
Cora Falkner.....	Kitty Redford
Mandy.....	Martha Wells
Burton Crane.....	Mary Lindsey
Thomas Lefferts.....	Catherine Kemp
Solon Tucker.....	Elizabeth Paylor
Paul Dangerfield (Alias Brindy)	Mary Lydia Quarles
Charles Dangerfield (Alias Smithfield)	Mary Clarke
Randolph Weeks.....	Mary Friend

ALUMNAE LUNCHEON, DECEMBER 1

The annual luncheon of the Farmville Alumnae Association will be held in Richmond at Murphy's hotel on December the first at one o'clock. Booklets, containing school songs will be prepared for distribution among the guests.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Munoz, and many others of the faculty will be present. This is the most important meeting for the year and the alumnae throughout the state are urged to attend. A cordial welcome is also extended to former members of the faculty.

This Space

Reserved

for

Advertisement

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

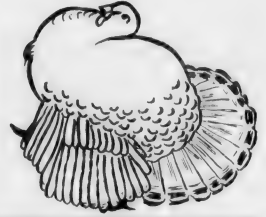

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

ROTTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3, No. 9.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

DEC. 2, 1922

APPEAL FOR THE REFUGEE STUDENTS

Fyrlil Hess Visits Farmville.

Miss Fyrlil Hess, managing editor of the Woman's Press, who is visiting the colleges of this section in the interest of the Student Friendship Fund, arrived in Farmville on the afternoon of November 23.

Miss Hess has recently spent several years in Europe working first on social investigations for the Czecho-Slovak Government and afterwards as a Y. W. C. A. Secretary in the University of Prague. During her stay in Farmville, Miss Hess made several talks at Prayer services in which she described her work in Europe and told of the great service of the Y. W. C. A. in colleges over there, especially in Prague. Her principal appeal for the Student Friendship Fund was given in Chapel, Friday morning. In her talk Miss Hess described the terrible living conditions of the students in the Slav countries. She told how those students are practically starved all the time, and of the great sacrifices they make for an education. In conclusion Miss Hess explained that it takes only $15.00 to keep a student alive for a whole year and $1.50 will keep one student for a month. She appealed to the students here in Farmville to help their brother students who are so desperately in need.

The climax of Miss Hess' visit came Saturday night at a rally of the Student Body when a sum of over $200.00 was pledged for the Student Friendship Fund.

EYES COLUMN

Winner of First Prize.

"Say, girls, did any of you bring any peanuts or candy to class today? No! well, only one hope and that is that Lucy Irving will have something to eat. If she doesn't bring something for me to chew on I know I'll go to sleep. This School Ad. is about the sleepiest subject I ever saw anyway. Here comes Lucy. Lucy, did you bring any food? No! well, here's where I have pleasant dreams."

The lesson went wearily along dragging one foot after the other until about half the period had elapsed.

"Miss McDuffie, what are the duties of the Superintendent of Public Instruction?"

"I don't know, sir."

"Miss Deihl, do you know?"

Miss Calcott chirps brightly from beside Miss Deihl. "Just a moment, Mr. Lee, and I'll wake Miss Deihl up and find out if she knows?"

When the comments on this remark had subsided it was time to dismiss class. Of course

Miss Deihl was thoroughly awake by this time and was quite ready for conversation.

"Say, girls, I move that we have a class secretary to take notes for this School Ad. class."

I, too, think it might help to have a secretary, then I can keep Miss Deihl company in her usually undisturbed slumbers.

Martha Phillips.

Winner of Second Prize.

She was in class. Absent mindedly she drew out her Dorin and daintily brushed the puff across her nose. Subdued snickers arose from impolite classmates. "How rude," thought the young lady, "but perhaps it is fashionable to have hysterics when any one powders her nose now-a-days." And not to be outdone, she giggled a little herself, but with a certain air of frigidity and hauteur. The hour passed. Still unthawed, she walked primly from the room, more than ever annoyed at the look of wonder which appeared in the eyes of the student body. She did mental gymnastics. "If it were a superfluity of powder merely—for goodness' sake hadn't they ever been out!"

"Say, lemme smell your breath!" chortled a sassy passerby. Then a horrible thought hit her like a ton of bricks. Cold perspiration burst from every pore as she felt madly in her pocket "Ah-h-h!" a faint moan issued from parched lips. For Christine had powdered her nose from the other Dorin—the one labeled "Rouge Medium."

Roberta Hodgkin.

Honorable Mention.

Absent-minded? Why of course not. Who ever heard of one so prompt to answer in class and so thoughtful in doing everything she is told to do being absent-minded? Well, we'll leave it to the reader to decide whether you would call this absent-mindedness or sheer forgetfulness of place.

"If you don't pull that skirt down I am going to put a ruffle on it."

"Will you all please leave my skirt alone? It is exactly as I have worn it all year."

"Get one of you girls please go down town and get me some crepe paper?"

"Certainly," Miss Spear, "I'll be only too glad to go."

"Well, please, pull down that skirt before you go; you are a disgrace."

"Oh! all right, I'll do anything if you will only shut up."

While going out of the auditorium door she reluctantly took out the safety pin that held the offending skirt so high according to every one else's opinion. The skirt came down with a bang. Instead of going in a place of seclusion which was its sphere, the safety pin went in the back hem of a blue sweater, much to the surprise and horrified delight of the occupants of Hubbard's.

Did Kemp blush when told about it? Well, Look at her face and you can tell whether she did or not—and that happened more than a week ago.

Frances Cooper.

DEVEREUX PLAYERS AT S. N. S.

Present 'Romeo and Juliet' and 'Arms and the Man.'

On Thursday afternoon, November 23, at three-thirty, Clifford Devereux, accompanied by Zinta Graf and other players, presented "Romeo and Juliet," by Shakespeare. The players displayed unusual dramatic ability. Mr. Devereux took the part of Romeo, and Miss Graf, that of Juliet.

In the evening at eight-thirty, "Arms and the Man," by Shaw, was very cleverly given, with Mr. Devereux and Miss Graf again taking the leading parts.

Both plays were enjoyed by all who attended.

These plays were held under the auspices of the College Club. It received $27.00 from the proceeds, which will be given to Dr. Jarman for the Student Building Fund.

VISITORS

Mrs. Morgan was the guest of her daughter Miss Kitty Morgan for the week of November 23-29.

Miss Marion Thomas, a former student at Harrisonburg, visited her sister Miss Fannie Thomas during the week-end of Nov. 17-19.

Miss Evelyn Claytor, '22 spent last week-end with Miss Elizabeth Moring.

BENEDICT'S THANKSGIVING

The following manuscript is a verbatim copy of a portion of the diary of Benedict Kitchen Catt, D. C. M. (Distinguished Catcher of Mice) degree conferred by Virginia College for Felines.)

Thanksgiving—1921—Today, those inferior animals called girls have holiday. Of course I'm not interested in the affairs of anything so plebeian and uneducated generally, why the poor creatures cannot so much as purr and are quite beneath the notice of a pedigreed cat. But, as I reap the benefits of their festive occasions, in the way of edibles, methinks a little curiosity would not be amiss. I did hear that the same once killed a cat but he could not have had my extraordinary intelligence. I'm going to peep in the window of the dining room, by Jove, and view the food prospects. That window seat has been an invaluable resource, for besides giving an excellent view of the dining room, it serves me from the attacks of villainous dogs.

By the whiskers of my grandmother, they had oysters, a dish for the gods! According to my palate the rest of the dinner was trash but those girls seemed to like it. I could see them joyfully devouring cranberry sauce and plum pudding as if they really delighted in such disgusting things. I can't imagine why they never serve mice. That's my idea of a toothsome morsel. But variety is the spice of life and I really shall relish those oysters.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-ChiefELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

NewsANNE MEREDITH
AthleticNELL McARDLE
JokeEMILY CALCOTT
LiteraryPAULINE TIMBERLAKE
ExchangeCAROLYN MORROW
AlumnaeMISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....CATHERINE KEMP
TypistMARTHA PHILLIPS

THANKSGIVING

"It is ordered ye 11 day of November throughout this jurisdiction shall be set apart for a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for his great and victorious mercies to our dreare native countrye for ye comfortable and seasonable supplying us with moderate showers and His mercy in withdrawing His afflicting hand from us."

So read the first Thanksgiving proclamation in the year sixteen hundred and twenty-one. Each year since a similar proclamation has been issued. As we approach this day of Thanksgiving, which has been set apart for the year nineteen hundred and twenty-two, may we not take time to think of the many blessings for which we have to be thankful. What have we to be thankful for that the Pilgrims did not have? Besides the greater variety of crops and a much greater abundance, our list would be filled with such things as steam boats, steam engines, good roads, sewing machines, electric lights, reapers, fire-engines, matches, furnaces, stoves and volumes of other things which help to make us comfortable. We would then start other lists of the great improvements that have been made in our schools, our churches and our government since the day of the Pilgrims. Have we not much more cause to be thankful than they?

We have been hearing much recently of the needs of other countries. What have we to be thankful for that our neighbors of other lands have not? What have we as individuals to be thankful for that other people do not have? For what are we most thankful? Suppose we take time from the busy routine of each day's work to think over the many "good gifts" in regard to our bodies, minds, families, school lives, and work, for which we should say "Thank you" on this our national Thanksgiving.

"Yet, Thou thinkest, Lord, upon us,
Thou dost care for us each day;
Give unto us grateful spirits,
And a thankful heart.
I pray."

WATCH YOUR SPEECH!

Do we need this caution at Farmville? Listen for a few minutes to the conversation around you. Recall what you yourself said a few moments ago. Are any of us guilty of saying "I ain't," "He don't," "Taint nothing different," or "I'm a wreck"? Have we stopped to think whether or not we use good English?

Most of us are very careful about dress. We spend time and thought upon dress, but how careless we are about speech, which is the dress of our minds. We think in words. If we have small vocabularies it means we have a small range of thought. If we are dependent upon slang to express our thoughts, it means that we are poverty-stricken as regards words, or that thru sheer laziness we use stale slang phrases instead of hunting up fresh and vigorous words. Let us watch our speech by abolishing slang and increasing our vocabularies.

But this is not enough. We need to watch our speech in regard to grammar and enunciation. A well-known educator says: "We talk by ear. Don't expect rules of grammar to do it all. We tend to speak as our community speaks. That is why community methods must be used. How can we raise the speech level of the community? The community can be reached thru the school." Since this is true, let us try to raise the speech level in our school. We are preparing to be teachers. We expect to become community leaders. We shall be much hampered in our work if we are guilty of using incorrect English. Therefore let us all cooperate with the English classes in observing Better Speech Week, December 4 to 11. Let us join with thousands of students in making the following vow:

"I love the United States of America. I love my country's flag, I love my country's language. I promise:

1. That I will not dishonor my country's speech by leaving off the last syllables of words.
2. That I will improve American speech by enunciating distinctly and by speaking pleasantly and sincerely.
3. That I will learn to articulate correctly one word a day for one year."

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS
INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSIS DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs for special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP: THANKSGIVING

We are students. We know something of the meaning and value of friendship, that is real friendship. Probably never before in our lives have we realized so well the spirit and joy of group friendship. We enter into the joys and sorrows of many friends, and we show true school spirit. How about our world spirit of friendship? Have we made world-wide friends through reading, similar interests and prayer? Our kinship which includes all students, especially those of Europe; who have given us so much in educational lines, was vividly brought to us by Miss Hess last week. As she pictured to us student's lives abroad, we obtained an insight into their joys and sorrows, and learned of their great struggle and sacrifice for an education. Did we not realize then what great blessings God had showered upon us? We have petty cares which our Father removes by bounteous gifts and lives of peace and plenty. Especially should we at this Thanksgiving season draw near to Him with praises and thanksgiving. As we show thanks, by deeds, let us share our plenty in the spirit of love. Most of us are expecting big boxes from home or merry times, let's not forget the lonesome. Can not we share with the less fortunate, as we have so freely received, let us freely give to others and remember God loves a cheerful giver.

...the great deal of her time will be given to field work, especially among rural schools. Miss Williamson has studied at Harvard, Columbia, and Chicago Universities. From Columbia she received the Bachelor of Science degree. The teaching experience of Miss Williamson has extended from the kindergarten through college instruction. She has also done important administrative work in education.

Miss Williamson is a former teacher at S. N. S.

Greer—Armstrong.

Thursday, November 16, at noon, the Baptist Church at Woodville, Rappahannock County, was the scene of a beautiful wedding, and one of special interest throughout the State, when Miss Sarah Browning Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ringgold Armstrong, was married to George Tate Greer, son of Mrs. G. H. T. Greer and the late Judge Greer, of Roanoke. The church was decorated in white chrysanthemums, against a background of palms and ferns, garlands of Southern smilax being also used effectively, and cathedral candles. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Cook, the bride's pastor, and the wedding marches were rendered by Mrs. Walton Wood, of Sperryville. The bride was dressed in a three-piece suit, a French model of navy marlen with squirrel trimmings, with smart tricorn hat in the same shade. Her flowers were orchids and valley lilies, arranged in a corsage bouquet.

She entered the church with her sister, the matron of honor, Mrs. J. Hill O'Bannon, who wore

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

S. I. N. A.

Emory Registers Foreign Students.

This year there were several new members added to the cosmopolitan register of Emory University. Very few American colleges with the attendance of Emory can boast of as many foreigners in their student body. Europe, the Far East, South America, and the Islands of the Sea are represented. There the two students from Japan, two from Korea, two from Cuba, and one from each of the following: China, Poland, Belgium, Brazil, Mexico, Honduras, and Porto Rico.

Memorial Gateway at Hampden-Sidney College.

The Memorial Gateway at Hampden-Sidney is at last under construction and will be completed within the month. The structure will cost five thousand dollars and is expected to be one of the most beautiful of its kind in the state. The gate will be a lasting memorial to the memory of Hampden-Sidney's sons who lost their lives in the great war.

Endowment Campaign for Lynchburg College under Way.

The half-million dollar endowment campaign for Lynchburg College is under way. President Hundley, back from a tour of the state, says "the campaign is everywhere receiving an enthusiastic reception." It is the plan of the directors to complete the half-million dollar fund by Commencement week, 1923.

He who maketh a noise when his fellows are studying, verily he is an overgrown cropper, and when the exam cometh, lo! he will not pass.—The Blue Stocking.

The sluggard sayeth in his heart, "I will arise betimes and study for my test," but when morning cometh even Big Benjamin, the alarm clock, cannot awaken him.—The Blue Stocking.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY

(INCORPORATED)
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTEVILLE—VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.
Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

"MEN PRESENTED"

Miss Florence Buford, the II Professional Man, was presented to the Student Body at Chapel on Thursday, November 23. The girls, dressed in white and wearing green headbands, marched by twos down the center aisle, divided and passed up the side aisles in single file. In the rear of the auditorium the class was met by Miss Buford, who was escorted down the aisle and upon the stage by the class president, while the class took their seats. After the presentation, the class sang a song to Miss Buford. When Chapel exercises were over, the class went on the stage and escorted Miss Buford down, and marched from the auditorium singing "Buford Its Thee."

On November 17, the I Professional Class presented their "Junior Man" to the Student Body and Faculty with a very effective program. Every girl was dressed in white and wore a red sash, thus carrying out the colors of their "sister" class and at the same time suggesting the name "of their man. The whistling, humming stream of white clad girls formed a very pretty picture, as they marched to the time of "The Stars and Stripes."

As the girls sang—

"Oh hip, hip, hurrah for Miss Spear,
We'll sing your praises all the year,
You are our friend so true,
You're a credit to the white and blue.
We'll pledge to you our love
As true as there are stars above.
We'll sing the best song that we can,
Right from our hearts
Right to your hearts
Dear Junior Man."

Miss Spear stepped out of an immense red sash on the stage and was presented by the class president, Miss Nancy Lyne.

A CORNER FOR CORRESPONDENCE

This week is the birth of a corner for correspondence. Letters from Alumnae and former teachers of S. N. S. will be printed. All you old girls please don't wait for the editor to write you asking for a letter for the Rotunda. Write us about yourself, your work, your pleasures and your thoughts of S. N. S. This is an opportunity for one girl to write to the student body, of S. N. S., present and past. Take advantage of it!

Chatham, Virginia.
November 22, 1922.

Dear Elizabeth:

You can't imagine how much the "Rotunda" means to us "old maid school teachers" who are always hungry for news from our Alma Mater.

We want to know what you are doing, because we have a deep and abiding interest in every phase of school life at S. N. S. We want to know what you are thinking in order that our opinions may be broadened. We want to know what you are laughing about, that we may laugh with you. And last, although not least, we want to see the advertisements, that we may judge the business developments of Farmville.

Every Monday morning at eight-thirty-five (the mail arrives at eight), the same two teachers, Miss Sutherland and I last year and Miss Bouderant and I this year, make a dive for the davenport in the reception hall and there we sit appearing to the casual passer-by, very much absorbed in a newspaper. And so we are! but why should't we be? We are seeing "the stone room under Room 1" transformed into the loveliest Tea Room possible. Or we are changing our mental picture of the dingy Focus office, with Harriet Purdy madly tearing off copper plates to be sold to the "junk man" to get the Focus out of debt, to that of a most orderly business office where very efficient girls are busily engaged editing a newspaper. Again, before our very eyes, is a picture of Dr. Jarman as he removes the first shovel of dirt for the Student Building. Or, perhaps, we are hearing another of his "Motherly Talks" and are beginning to hum, "What's the Matter with Jarman" as we read on about the "Y." the Student Council, the parties, the girls who have come back for the week-end, the girls who have been married, those who are still single. When all too soon, the end of the last column on the last page comes, we feel as if the train which is bringing us back from a flying trip to school has come to a sudden stop and the porter sings out, "Lady dis is Chatham." With a feeling of pride and a sense of joy to think that, we too, have once and are still a part of it all, we step off the train to take up our duties once more.

When we stop "to count the cost" which all school teachers have to do, our answer reads like the sign on a bargain counter. "All this for 5 5/9 cents, each week." It is truly the chance of a life time and I do hope no one will miss it.

I trust you will pardon the length of this letter, but when I get started talking about Farmville, I simply can't stop.

With my very best wishes for every member of your staff, I am,

As always,

Elizabeth C. McClung.

Miss Elizabeth McClung was a degree graduate in 1921.

CROWN THE VIRGINIAN

On November 22, the much debated question as to what was going to happen on that night was solved. While the audience expectantly awaited the drawing of the curtain, a conversation between Knocker of all school activities and School Spirit was held. As they could come to no agreement by argument, they agreed to fight it out in a game of checkers and made the wager that the victor should be crowned with support of the whole student body. The curtain was drawn, the lively players on a large checker board began the game, giving much entertainment with their jumping. School Spirit played VIRGINIAN against Knocker's, tightwads, lemons, non-supporters, etc., and completely abolished them. The game ended by Knocker fulfilling his wager and crowning the Virginian.

As all knockers and non-supporters are now abolished, let us support our annual and crown the Virginian. (As this goes to press only forty-eight subscriptions have been made; this is not living up to the wager of the game.)

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN-The Jeweler

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

IN
Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study, arrangements on project method, motivation, the socialized ration programs for special days. Write for information
R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

MONOGRAM CLUB ORGANIZED

Will YOU Be a Member?

There is to be formed here at school an athletic club which will be known as the Monogram Club. Every Varsity Basketball player who receives a Farmville "Letter" will be eligible for membership.

The present members, who are Margaret Matthews, Anna Belle Treackle, Mamie Sexton, Louise Parsons, Rebecca Ames, Kitty Morgan, Elsie Bell and Nell McArdle, will meet in the near future for the purpose of organizing the club and electing officers for the coming year.

This club is to be one of the potent factors in increasing school spirit and promoting athletic interest.

One of the rules and regulations of the club will be this:

"Letters" are not to be won by any others than members of the Monogram Club. Any member who breaks this rule will have to give up their "letter" and will be expelled from the club.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Pauline B. Williamson was elected State Rural Supervisor, in charge of health work for the State Board of Education, at a recent meeting of the Board. A great deal of her time will be given to field work, especially among rural schools. Miss Williamson has studied at Harvard, Columbia, and Chicago Universities. From Columbia she received the Bachelor of Science degree. The teaching experience of Miss Williamson has extended from the kindergarten through college instruction. She has also done important administrative work in education.

Miss Williamson is a former teacher at S. N. S.

Greer—Armstrong.

Thursday, November 16, at noon, the Baptist Church at Woodville, Rappahannock County, was the scene of a beautiful wedding, and one of special interest throughout the State, when Miss Sarah Browning Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ringgold Armstrong, was married to George Tate Greer, son of Mrs. G. H. T. Greer and the late Judge Greer, of Roanoke. The church was decorated in white chrysanthemums, against a background of palms and ferns, garlands of Southern smilax being also used effectively, and cathedral candles. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Cook, the bride's pastor, and the wedding marches were rendered by Mrs. Walton Wood, of Sperryville. The bride was dressed in a three-piece suit, a French model of navy marleen with squirrel trimmings, with smart tricorn hat in the same shade. Her flowers were orchids and valley lilies, arranged in a corsage bouquet.

She entered the church with her sister, the matron of honor, Mrs. J. Hill O'Bannon, who wore a gown of black chiffon velvet, with sapphire blue trimmings, and large black hat. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums. Miss Emma Greer, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a smart afternoon gown of Chinese green crepe roma, and carried Sunset roses. The groom was accompanied by James C. Greer, of Martinsville, who served as best man for his brother. The ushers were: W. C. Armstrong, of Front Royal, brother of the bride, and J. W. Keyster, of Washington, Va.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at "Clover Hill," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hill O'Bannon, when the guests included the bridal party, several large house parties being entertained for the occasion, and a number of out-of-town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Greer motored to Culpeper late in the afternoon and left for a northern trip, at the conclusion of which they will go to Florida for the remainder of the winter, but will make their permanent home in Roanoke. Mrs. Greer is well known in Richmond, where she had for several years been prominently identified with educational work.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Comstock—Paulett.

A wedding of much interest throughout the State took place Saturday, November 18, at noon in John's Memorial Episcopal Church, Farmville, Va., when Miss Viva Paulett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paulett, Jr., became the bride of Mr. Reginald William Comstock, of Minnesota. The Rev. Frederick Deihl, rector of the church, was the celebrant.

The church was beautifully decorated with green ferns, potted plants, and with a white and black background, the color scheme of green and white was effectively carried out.

Miss Mabel Paulett, sister of the bride sang "At Dawning," just before the ceremony.

At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding March, beautifully rendered by Mrs. Frank Blanton, the bridal procession entered the church, the groomsmen leading the way. They were Messrs. J. Barrye Wall, Douglas Elam, and Archie Paulett, following them, the bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Wainwright, Katherine Watkins and Mary Lancaster, entered wearing draped gowns of fawn and Chinese blue crepe, large picture hats, and carrying yellow chrysanthemums. The ribbon-bearers were little Miss Virginia Martin and Master Clyde Duvall; little Miss Frances Hudgins, dressed in yellow taffeta, carried the ring in the heart of a chrysanthemum.

The bride, clad in a brown traveling suit with accessories to match and wearing a shower corsage, entered with her sister, Miss Ida Paulett, the maid of honor. She wore a draped gown of Chinese blue and large picture hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom, who was attended by his best man, W. A. Bean, of Maryland.

Walker Paulett, uncle of the bride, was master of ceremonies.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Comstock left for an extended trip West.—Farmville Herald.

He: Mabel is a decided blonde, isn't she?

She: Yes, I was with her when she decided.

Yale Record.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books
Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

WATCH YOUR SPEECH!

Say It with Care.

Next week is Better Speech Week, so let us "Say it with care." Make it an aintless" week, a "slangless" week. In other words, make it a Real Better Speech Week.

Slang chokes originality and soon becomes as cut and dried as a state document, so let us choke slang.

Better speech involves not only correct use of grammar, but also better voices. Emerson says, "A good voice has charm in speech as in song." We want to make use of this opportunity to train our voices to sound pleasant as well as to be correct.

"Better Speech
Is in the reach
Of all! of each!"

Seize the opportunity while you have it!

We are going to use the following program, and try to bring about "Better English for Better Americans."

Monday—Play after Prayers.

Tuesday—Poster exhibit in Chapel.

Wednesday—Voice Day.

Thursday—Listening Day.

Silent Supper.

Friday—Dialect Day.

Saturday—Stunt Day.

After prayers, stunts and a debate on the subject, Resolved: "That 'Ain't' Should be Shipped, and 'Cute' Campassed."

THE PIERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The members of the Pierian Literary Society enjoyed a delightful musical program at their last meeting. The program consisted of the following numbers played on the victrola: He Shall Feed His Flock. Souvenir. Selections from Carmen, Madame Butterfly, and the Pilgrim's Chorus. Miss Mary Jefferson gave interesting facts about the various selections, adding to their value and appreciation.

On Monday evening, Nov. 20, Miss Florence Stubbs, the head of the Rural Education Department, accompanied by Misses Emily Calcott, Christine Shields, Kathleen Morgan and Christine Armstrong, gave an interesting program before the Parent Teachers Association at Phenix High School. The program consisted of several musical numbers, songs, and recitations. These were well rendered and much enjoyed by the enthusiastic audience. Following these selections, Miss Stubbs gave a most valuable and appealing talk on several phases of community life and on rural organizations. She held her audience interested throughout her lecture and gave them a real message. The entire program was a success and offered timely suggestions for creating interest in country life.

Mr. McCorkle: What is portable water?

Stude: Why-er, water you can carry around with you.

The girl across the hall says that some people get sea-sick from traveling on the water, but even that doesn't affect her like the case of "C-sickness" she gets when her tickets come in.

RURAL CLUB

The Rural Club gave a "Come and See" Friday night after Prayers, for the purpose of letting the students know of its work and how it is carried on.

Miss Pattie Jeter, the president, will go to Richmond Thanksgiving to present the prize of $25.00 given by the Rural Club of this school to the best Junior League in the State.

Any girl interested in Rural Work and desiring to join this club is invited to do so.

A REGULAR THANKSGIVING DINNER

Oyster Cocktail
Stuffed Turkey
Gilbert Gravy	Cranberry Sauce
Peas	Riced Potatoes
Celery	Biscuits
	Olives
Fruit Salad
Plum Pudding	Hard Sauce
Cafe Noir
Mints

PERSONALS

The following girls were out of town during the week-end of Nov. 24-26:

Misses Belle Atkins, Margaret Finch, Mary Forbes, Elizabeth Fugua, Nellie Noore, Mary Taliaferro, Marion Tucker, Evelyn Barnes, Maude and Grace Bailey, Frances Bastenille, Cable Gilmer, Dabney Goodwin, Grace Goulding, Mildred and Lillian Griffin, Mildred Odoim, Glenn Perry, Olive Payne, Mary Lydia Quarles, May White, Ethel Warthen, Ruby Walton, Katherine Coute, Winifred Healy, Alva Williams, Nora and Mabel Holmes, Bettie Shepherd, Marie Sutton, Ada Smith, Elsie Zehmer, Frances Evans, Margaret Eggleston, Hallie and Marie Eustace and Rachel Shepherd.

ROANOKE CLUB GIVES WIENNER ROAST

On Saturday, November 17, twenty-four girls accompanied by Miss Bierbower, set out on a wiener and marshmallow roast. In spite of the rain, a most enjoyable evening was spent around the big camp-fire and the time came only too soon for the return to school.

UNION SERVICES HELD IN AUDITORIUM

Union services, led by Dr. Yoman in the interest of the Near East Relief, were held in the Normal School Auditorium, Sunday night, November 26.

THANKFULNESS

Thru sheerest joy, and not from any Heavy sense of duty,
Dear Lord, my heart is very full—
I thank Thee so for beauty!

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

This week's contributions to the Student Building Fund are as follows:

Miss F. B. Shelton.....	$10.00
Mrs. W. T. Blanton.....	10.00
Catherine Cover.....	4.00
Doris Porter.....	5.00
Cash	1.50

Total$30.50

Making a total of $11,474.45. Help it Grow!

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss C. Bonnewell—Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

BETTER SPEECH
WEEK!

SAY IT WITH CARE!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3. No. 10.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

DEC. 9, 1922

SENIORS WIN BIG GAME

Basket Ball Season Opens with Class Spirit Running High.

The Thanksgiving game opening the inter-class Basketball season was played in the armory Thursday morning between the I Prof. and II Prof. classes. After a hard fight the final score was 11-9 in favor of the II Prof.

The old normal has never seen such spirit as raged throughout school in preparation for the big game. The I Prof. started all the pep by decorating the Rotunda with red and white at 10:30 Tuesday night. Then the competition began, each class vying with the other in trying to get their colors higher and in the most conspicuous places. The scene of greatest excitement was on top of the building. After many efforts from both classes the green and white, the senior colors, waved from the top of the flag pole.

Thursday morning found both classes ready for the fight. The Juniors were the first to get to the armory and the building resounded with their songs and yells. They held undisputed sway for about fifteen minutes and then the Seniors snake danced in, led by the Farmville band and from then until the end of the game "competition" was the keyword.

The game was one of the most exciting in the history of the school. At first neither side scored for the teams were evenly matched. At the end of the first quarter the score stood 6-5 in favor of the II Prof. The II Prof. kept the lead until the end of the third quarter, the score then being 9-8 in the I Prof. favor. In the last quarter the II Prof. made a field goal and a foul thus making the final score 11-9 in the II Prof. favor.

The teams were evenly matched and every point was strongly contested. The winning class was not sure of its victory until the whistle blew. Both teams were cheered on by their classmates on the side lines.

The line-up for the game was as follows:

SENIORS	Pos.	JUNIORS
Margaret Mathews	F.	Margaret Day
Grace Dickerson	F.	Celeste Whaley
Jessie Carter		Julia Reid
Paula Harris	S. C.	Elma Stringfellow
Louise Parsons	G.	Olive Smith
Mamie Sexton	G.	Mildred Hall
Substitute for Juniors, Dorothy Baltz; Seniors, Henny Hall, Etta Sawyer, Rosabelle Walton.

EYES COLUMN

Winner of First Prize.

The most striking object in my list of funny things is the peculiarly versatile mouth in a countenance which I gaze upon occasionally. The changes this facial cavity can accomplish by a few timely twists and turns, according to the varying emotions of its owner, are fascinating. To express bewilderment it turns practically wrong side outward; registering embarrassment, one corner obeying gravity proceeds in the direction of the chin, while the other as if propelled by an invisible force goes toward the eye; to show anger both lips go down, held firmly by the teeth, giving an unbelievably ferocious aspect to a face usually serenely peaceful and mild.

Frances Evans.

Winner of Second Prize.

The other day a Freshman was walking around the school in company with some upper classmen. Arriving at the back of the building, she suddenly stopped, saying, "Say, girls, I've been up here about three months, and I haven't found out yet what that black thing up there is."

She was speaking of the fire escape.

Anne Jester.

Honorable Mention.

A dance (the social event of the season) was given in a one room cabin. At the end of the room was a large fireplace and near the fireplace a table piled high with roasted potatoes, the refreshments.

One of our Virginia boys being in this part of the country, engaged in state work, was invited. Showing his Virginia courtesy, he went up to ask the hostess for a dance. She was peeling a potato and talking to a girl. Imagine the surprise of the boy, when after his polite invitation the following met his ear, "Skum my tater while I trot this reel with the man with the sto' binding clothes on."

Earnestine Landrum.

VISITORS

Miss Mary Finch was the guest of her sister, Miss Margaret Finch, during the last week-end. Misses Nancy and Patsy Watkins spent Thanksgiving with their parents in Farmville.

Miss Emily Clarke was in Farmville during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Thelma Yost spent the week-end of Dec. 2-3 with her sister, Miss Sylvia Yost.

Misses Myrtle Raiter, Virgie World and Addie Wells spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in school.

Miss Mary Burrell was the guest of friends in school during the past week-end.

Miss Ruth Stegaman spent last week-end with friends in school.

Miss Otie Helm returned to Farmville as the guest of Miss Mamie Nichols for the week-end of Dec. 2-3.

Miss Lola Johnson spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Farmville.

Miss Florence Hayney was the guest of friends in school during the past week-end.

Miss Sarah Moore returned to Farmville for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Gertrude Lytton was the guest of friends in school for the Thanksgiving holidays.

FIRST COMBINED OPEN MEETING

Literary Societies Give Entertaining Program. Large Crowd Attended.

Tuesday evening at 6:30, the student body was invited to attend a joint open meeting of the Literary Societies, in the auditorium. A large number of the students were present.

The program was opened with a musical selection by the orchestra after which Misses Evelyn Barnes and Anabel Treacle sang a duet. Then Mr. Grainger gave a talk on the history of literary societies in the school and their purpose. After Mr. Grainger's talk Miss Thelma Rhodes gave an amusing reading. The program was closed with a one act play featuring Misses Elizabeth Williams, Mary Clark, Catherine Gable and Peggy Wade. After the program Miss Sadie Kobre, president of the Jefferson Literary Society, extended an invitation to all the new girls to join the literary societies. Slips of paper were passed in the audience and those girls who desired to become members of literary societies were asked to write their names and their first and second choice out of the six literary societies in school.

A REASON FOR BETTER SPEECH WEEK

1. Keep your seats and pass out as you usually do.
2. The horse's tail was on the wrong side of the bridge.
3. His coat was fringed with a pair of leather leggings and moccasins.
4. Everybody on page four sing.
5. His heart was in his mouth and he couldn't speak distinctly.

NEW MEMBERS FOR STUDENT COMMITTEE

Juniors Elect Class Representatives

At a recent meeting of the First Professional Class the following girls were elected as representatives of their class on the Student Committee: Elma Stringfellow, Olive Smith, Virginia Beale, Virginia Maston, Frances Cooper, and Eugenia Coghill.

SOCIAL NEWS

On Thanksgiving evening at 6:30, the first social meeting of the Student Body was held in the auditorium, under the direction of the Student Committee. An entertaining program was presented after which the crowd divided, some going to the gymnasium to dance and others to the drawing room to play games. The drawing room and gymnasium had been beautifully decorated by members of the Student Committee.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor..... DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL MCARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager..... CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager..... GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager..... FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager..... MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager..... CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager..... CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

A WORD FITLY SPOKEN

'This has been Better Speech Week. How many girls have tried to better their speech? To throw away that pet slang phrase? To stop saying "ain't" when "isn't" should be used. To stop running words together and saying "what-cher-doin'?" instead of "what are you doing?" and to better all those numerous things that are had speech?

Good Speech Starts From Within. Like good government, which "rests upon the consent to be governed," the first requirement for better speech is the individual's desire for such improvement. Eternal vigilance is the price for Better Speech. Good Speech is Vital Speech!

Did you ever think of words as the clothes for your thoughts? Someone has said,

"The world is so full of a number of things,
I'm sure we should all be happy as kings."

Most of us miss a great deal of the fun because we do not see the many attractive things in our everyday life. If we would only let them, our eyes and ears would bring many interesting and new things to our brains. Then comes the pleasure of finding words to express these ideas. Often we do not have the proper word or words at hand and so every thing is lost. In other words, we do not clothe our thoughts stylishly or even suitably.

Did you ever think of the different words that indicate the sounds made by a cat? What word do you use to express the noise it makes when you stroke it's back? when it is hungry? when it is hurt? when it is angry? when it is in a hard fight?

Did you ever stop to think of the different words that express the way we girls get to the dining room for breakfast every morning? We are in a hurry but that is just one word among many to express the same idea.

A prominent man was once called upon to make an address to a large audience of educated people. In his address he mispronounced a common word. He afterwards learned of his error and felt very badly about it. In speaking of his mistake to a friend, he said, "If only I had learned to pronounce that word when I was in school, I would never have made that error."

Have you ever looked into a carpenter's tool-chest and noticed how many different tools he has? With some of these, such as hammers and saws, you are familiar; but of the others you do not know either the name or the use. Each of these strange tools has some particular purpose. With them the carpenter can do his work more easily, more quickly, more accurately.

Words may be called the tools with which we shape our thoughts. Many people are satisfied with a few such tools and do crude, rough work; but the good workman in words has a large kit of them and chooses to work with those that will help build strong, clear-cut, accurate sentences. Are you the crude or the careful workman of words?

We are told in the Bible that, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTEVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on proj- method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs ... special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Previous to the visit of Miss Hess, we had always classified together the process of extracting blood from a turnip and music from a ukelele. We now rescind. We apologize. Miss Hess rather changed our viewpoint on some other subjects, as well. By sheer personal charm and humanness, rather than eloquence, she aroused our feeling of kinship for the students of Czechoslovakia to such an extent that we felt emotion thrill us even unto our pocketbooks. We enjoyed Miss Hess's visit very much.

We shall soon have the pleasure of a visit from Miss Virginia Pritchard, a Randolph-Macon alumna, who comes under the auspices of the Student Volunteer Band.

THE GIFTED SCHOLAR IS FAVORED BY EDUCATORS

In past years, full scope has not been given to the gifted scholar. As a result, many brilliant students have become discouraged and have not become leaders as they otherwise might have.

This fact has now been brought to the attention of educators and a meeting was recently held at Johns Hopkins University at which the chief subject under discussion was "How Best to Give Full Scope to the Gifted Scholar." The presiding officer, president of Leland Stanford University, opened the program with some results of his own observation. Several other prominent educators spoke on different phases of the subject and the meeting was prolonged until a late hour.

It is very interesting to note the physical condition of gifted pupils. It has been found that those who make their grades easily are the larger and heavier children, with some exceptions, of course. The majority of those below the average weight for height and age have been found to be deficient in their studies and progress. Children are under weight because they are under nourished for lack of proper food or proper habits of eating, or because of actual physical defects. Very frequently the two causes go together, the one dependent on the other. The subject furnishes one of the most interesting phases of preventive medicine.

During the past five years, the subject of nutrition has been enlisting the attention of the most able laboratory and clinical workers and many experiments have been made which bring out very clearly the fact that a pupil's mental power is seriously affected by his physical condition. We would probably have many more gifted pupils if their health was properly looked after. Dr. W. A. Plecker, state registrar of vital statistics, says that he has seen pupils who could never get past the primary grades, rapidly pass from grade to grade after being cured from some disease, such as adenoids.

Many children come from families where the standard of living is below par and they are still further handicapped by an insufficient supply of the proper food. The same condition exists when pupils are the victims of infected tonsils, bad teeth or defective eye sight.

A study has been carefully made of the physical condition and progress of large groups of school children, which reveals the startling fact that thirty per cent of the pupils are under nourished and are not making normal progress in their school work.

"Educators Favor Gifted Scholars." Then why not have a greater per cent of gifted scholars by developing their physical as well as their mental condition?

A CORNER FOR CORRESPONDENCE

An extract from a letter written by an alumna of earlier days:

"Last Spring I pledged myself for $10.00 each year for five years for the Student Building. It occurred to me to-night that I was about to let 1922 pass without sending any money, so I am enclosing it to you, hoping you may have time to put it in its proper place.

My thoughts often trace back to the dear old Normal with the wish that it were in my power to be always of service to her."

Boynton, Virginia.

Dear Elizabeth,

On my return to our Alma Mater not long ago, I was thrilled anew with those words, so full of meaning for the student of the past, and also the present,

"All hail, Alma Mater, Dear Mother to thee,
Thy daughters true, faithful and loyal will be;
Thy gentle instruction, thy influence so sweet,
Will go with them always—a guide to their feet."

I thought of the deeper meaning which they now have since I have left "Her halls and arcades" and yet have the influence of Alma Mater, as a guide for my feet.

The students of the present are living up to her ideals. Shall the Alumnae fail? On with your Y. W. C. A. contributions! On with your Rotunda subscription! On with your Normal League Pledge! Yes, and, help me to shout it abroad! On with your Student Building Fund! The school is ours, and we are hers! Let us prove it! Be "doers, not hearers only!" Strengthen the ties that bind, lest they become so weak they burst asunder.

"Tis the old Normal School"

Am I good enough for her?

Hoping that this year will be a most successful one in the history of the Rotunda Staff and of every other organization of our Alma Mater.

Most sincerely,

Mary D. Finch.

Miss Mary Finch is a degree graduate of 1922.

HERFF-JONES COMPANY MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.
Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.
We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

ALUMNAE NOTES

A recent interesting visitor to Birmingham was Miss Mary Woodruff, of Montgomery, who was connected with the state department of education, and who is arranging the program for the state Parent-Teacher Association meeting, which will be held here from December 6 to 8, inclusive, says the Birmingham News.

Miss Woodruff is charming and a brilliant educated woman, is well fitted for this position of arranging a program which will interest the women of the cities as well as those who are coming from the rural districts.

Miss Woodruff stresses this idea when she said: "I am particularly anxious that we have a versatile program which will appeal to mothers from all sections of the state.

"I have invited a number of prominent women to appear on the program for the convention, with the desire of making it interesting and worth while, so that mothers who come from the most distant and remote parts of the state may feel repaid for their journeying.

"I was very happy to learn," continued Miss Woodruff, "that the convention will be held in Birmingham as the city offers so many splendid advantages and in itself will prove of educational value to many who will attend.

"There will be a state exhibit of work by the children throughout Alabama, which will be shown at the administration building. Mrs. L. Ellred, of the art department of the Birmingham schools, will have charge of it."—Birmingham (Ala.) News.

Miss Woodruff was formerly a teacher at the State Normal School of Farmville, and at one time the Y. W. C. A. secretary there. She is a sister of Mrs. J. S. Bugg, of this city.

Miss Elizabeth Haynes has been visiting friends in Farmville.

The names of some of the alumnae appeared on the program of the Virginia Educational Conference in Richmond, Nov. 28-Dec. 1. Miss Lottie Thorpe, supervisor of Physical Education of the Richmond Public School directed a demonstration of Marching, Gymnastics, and Stunts by the sixth and seventh grades at the R. E. Lee School gymnasium on November 29. Miss Pauline Camper presided at both meetings of the Virginia Supervisors Club on the same day. Miss Kathleen Saville, President of the Federation League of Montgomery County, delivered an address on "The Value of Community Leagues to the Teacher," before the Co-operative Education Association. Miss Sallie Guy Davis, Home Demonstration Agent at Goochland, spoke on "Correlation of Public School Science with Demonstration Work" at the meeting of the Science Section. Miss Florence Ingram was on the committee to arrange for the luncheon for the alumni of George Peabody College for Teachers. Mrs. Edward Sandidge (Miss Vera Tignor) gave a ten minute talk on "Visual Education as a Part of Parent-Teacher Program" during the session of the Virginia Parent-Teacher Association. She is President of the Amherst P. T. A. Miss Mary Clay Hiner discussed "Teaching of Literature in the Grammar Grades" in the English Teachers' Section.

Conkling—Acree

The marriage of Miss Florence Dunreath Acree, of Lynchburg, to Mr. Lester Jay Conkling, of Middletown, Conn. took place November 22 at six o'clock at the home of the bride on Rivermont Avenue. Mrs. Conkling is a graduate of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville and was for some years connected with the public schools of Lynchburg. Mr. Conkling is a graduate of Cornell University and is employed as research chemist at Edgewood arsenal, Edgewood, Md., his work being in the chemical warfare service. Mr. and Mrs. Conkling left immediately after the ceremony for Philadelphia, where they expected to attend the Army-Navy foot ball game November 25.

Pollard—Richardson

The marriage of Miss Virginia Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson of Farmville, Virginia and Mr. William Brown Pollard, son of Mrs. William Booker Pollard of Winston-Salem, N. C., was solemnized at the Methodist church of Farmville, Va., at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, November the twenty-ninth, by the Rev. C. F. Rankin.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and lighted by cathedral candles. Tall cedar trees formed the background. The altar and choir loft were covered in white and banked with ferns; cathedral candles outlined the choir and chancel rails.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Evelyn Barnes of Amelia sang, "Because" and "At Dawning" and Mrs. Frank Blanton rendered the Sextette by Donizetti and Berceuse from "Jocelyn" by Godard. The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus. During the ceremony, "Call Me Thine Own" was softly played.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Mr. Walter Richardson, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom attended by Mr. William Bickett, of Winston-Salem, N. C. The bride was dressed in a crystal beaded gown and a coronet of pearls and crystals from the sides of which fell ropes of pearls. The veil was attached to the coronet with orange blossoms and ended with a wide band of beaded silver.

The matrons of honor were: Mrs. Hoskins Selater of Farmville, Va., and Mrs. David

(Continued on page 5.)

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners
Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.
Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Literary Society Homes for R. S. N.

The literary societies at Radford State Normal are planning to build society homes. Each society has secured pledges from many of its former members with the result that each society has a little nest egg for the beginning of the great campaign to erect on the campus of the Normal one of the most handsome buildings of the whole plant.

7000 Students at R. S. N. in Ten Years.

The Radford State Normal will reach its tenth birthday during the summer of 1923. Up to the present there have been over seven thousand individuals studying at that institution.

Student Friendship Fund at University of North Carolina.

The students of the University of North Carolina have pledged $1,500 to the Student Friendship Fund. This is a decided gain over the amount pledged last year.

Student Conference at R. M. W. C.

The Woman's Inter-Collegiate Association of Student Government met at Randolph-Macon, November 23-25, 1922. There were ninety delegates present representing forty-seven colleges.

S. I. N. A.

Part of Tech's Program for Tech.

1. New athletic field and concrete stadium.
2. Barracks to accommodate a minimum of 2,000 students.
3. Introduction of new courses of instruction, including such as Business Administration, Commerce, Architecture, etc.
4. Establishment of scholarships, loan funds, etc., to provide education for poor.

S. I. N. A.

ALUMNAE NOTES

[Continued from page 4.]

Laughon of Pulaski, Va., sisters of the bride. Mrs. Sclater carried American Beauty roses and wore a gown of silver brocade draped in metallic lace with cut steel ornaments. Mrs. Laughon was gowned in a beaded American Beauty georgette crepe trimmed with ostrich and carried American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Elizabeth Lewis of Farmville, Va., Miss Freda Rives Hooper of Bluefield, W. Va., Miss Helen Harris of Norfolk, Va., Miss Marion Moomaw of Roanoke, Va., Miss Cabell Gilmer of Lynchburg and Miss Eliza Davis of Danville, Va. who wore dresses of silver and gray georgette silver cloth with a silver bolter girdle and American Beauty velvet draperies forming a second waist line from the side of which fell a train of American Beauty tulle. They wore wide silver bandeaux and carried American Beauty Roses.

Master Hoskins Sclater, nephew of the bride, wearing a black velvet suit and white silk blouse, carried the ring in the heart of an American Beauty rose.

The groomsmen were: Messrs. A. C. Miller, C. B. Lenily, I. B. Williams, P. T. Wilson, C. B. Osborn and Robert Critz, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

The ushers were: Messrs. D. C. Laughon of Pulaski, Va., R. S. Sclater, R. E. Garland and Joseph Jarman of Farmville, Virginia.

The party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and went to the home of the bride, 307 Buffalo Street, where a delightful reception was given in her honor. After refreshments were served the guests were invited to see the many handsome gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard left by motor for Richmond and Charlottesville where they attended the Va.-Carolina game. Their trip will include a visit to a number of the northern cities.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of Winston-Salem, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hooper of Bluefield, W. Va., Mrs. Rives Hooper of Petersburg, Va., Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs.

Dance in Honor of Miss Richardson.

A very delightful dance was given in honor of Miss Virginia Richardson on last Tuesday night, November 28th at the Club.

The rooms and hall were attractively decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The music was rendered by the Old Dominion Orchestra.

The guests included the many friends of Miss Richardson in Farmville, the State Normal School, Hampden-Sidney College and the out-of-town guests for the Pollard-Richardson wedding which was solemnized on Wednesday, November 29th.

Delightful refreshments were served and Mesdames D. H. Laughon and R. S. Sclater presided at the punch bowl.

SONG FROM GITANJALI

Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high;

Where knowledge is free;

Where the world has not been broken up into fragments by narrow domestic walls;

Where words come out from the depth of truth;

Where tireless striving stretches its arms toward perfection;

Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit;

Where the mind is led forward by Thee into ever-widening thought and action—

Into that heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake.

Rabindranath Tagore.

—Reprinted from "High Tide."

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Superior Fountain Drinks

and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

Jimmy: Dearest, I must marry you.

Shimmy: Have you seen father?

Jimmy: Yes, honey, often, but I love you just the same.

Juggler.

SST!

What?

Have you any chloroform?

Yes.

Don't breathe it!

Va. Reel.

The Toreador (after an hour's session): "Hello, hello, central. Can't I get a better line?"

Central (who has overheard most of it): "Say, bo, I don't see anything the matter with the one you've got."

Panther.

Judge: "How is it that you have no horn on your car?"

Motorist: "Oh, I don't think that's necessary. I have a little round thing on the hood that says 'Dodge Brothers.'"

Blue Jay.

Shay's that big, round thing up there the moon?

Search me. I don't (hic) live around here.

Phoenix.

A teddy bear sat on the ice,

'Twas cold as cold could be;

Then he got up and walked away,

"My tale is told," said he.

Medley.

Ike: "What is a dry dock?"

Mike: "One who refuses to give prescriptions."

Junior: "Can you Seniors practice basketball Saturday night?"

Senior: "Why, no. We Seniors have to take a bath on Saturday night."

Senior: (Seeing Junior colors on the salt shaker): "I wouldn't be a 'salted Junior.'"

Junior: "I wouldn't be a 'green Senior.'"

Dumb: "Is Mike a kind hearted person?"

Belle: "Well, I should say! He'd walk a mile for a Camel."

In Kentucky a petrified foot was found 32 ft. underground; but Kentucky roads are better than they used to be.

Mink.

I have a good job at the confectioner's.

What do you do?

Milk chocolates.

Pelican.

He (as the canoe rocks): "Don't be afraid, we are only ten feet from land."

She (looking around): "Where is it?"

He: Underneath us."

Chapparral.

Scribe: "I am writing my way through college."

Scribble: "What kind of writing?"

Scribe: "Writing home."

Lemon Punch.

If the dean doesn't take back what he said this morning I'm going to leave College.

What did he say?

He told me to leave College.

Yale Record.

He: "Why don't you like my brother?"

She: "He's always so ossified."

He: "Why, when did you start using the broad a?"

Boss: "Don't you know this is a private office? How much did you pay the office boy to let you in?"

Job Hunter: "I got in free, sir. It says 'No Admission' on the door."

Beanpot.

The girl across the hall says that in ancient times it was customary whenever a stranger appeared to take him in, but in these enlightened times, we try to deal just as fairly with him as we would our next door neighbor.

THE JUNIOR SPIRIT

It is by all means befitting that the victors should write up the Junior-Senior Game, but we, the Junior Class, wish to congratulate the Senior Class on their splendid victory and the spirit with which they accepted this victory. Then, we want to say to our team that we are proud of every girl who played and that we are back of them more than ever now, for the ever-victorious team can never be as near to the heart as the team that has been defeated and then risen above defeat to victory. We believe in our Junior Team, and we are sure that with a little more practice they will acquire the "team work" that will win the next game.

From the murmur and the subtlety of suspicion with which we vex one another,

Give us rest.

Make a new beginning,

And mingle again the kindred of nations in the alchemy of Love,

And with some finer essence of forbearance and forgiveness

Temper our mind.

—From Aristophanes' "Peace."

I would not be the ship that plies a wonted main, but I would be the tramp-boat and sail the port of the world.

I would not be the beaten path, but I would be the by-ways, the undiscovered country.

I would not be the old, but I would be the new, the vital, the oncoming.

I would not be of the ninety and nine, but I would be the one, and through the wilderness I would mark a new trail.

—Reprinted from "My Little Book of Prayer" by Muriel Strode.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

The following contributions were made to the Student Building Fund during the past week:

Mrs. Sadie Claiborne.....	$10.00
Cash.....	5.00
College Club.....	27.00
Sallie Barksdale.....	10.00
Mrs. Lela O'Neal Scott.....	10.00
Mrs. Ethel La Bayteaux.....	10.00

Total$72.00

Total contributions, $11,546.45.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—

Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

THE ROTUNDA

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3. No. 11.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

DEC. 16, 1922

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL S. N. S.!

CELEBRATION OF BETTER SPEECH WEEK A GREAT SUCCESS

Make Every Week a Better Speech Week!

Last week "Better Speech" was observed in our school. When the girls went to breakfast Monday they saw posters in the "Rotunda" and found boxes on the tables in the dining room. The boxes were for the pennies which had to be forfeited every time anyone used a slang expression or made a grammatical error.

At song class Carolyn Paine announced the program for the week. After prayers that night a play was given in the auditorium.

Tuesday in chapel Mr. Grainger and Mr. Deihl gave talks on "Better Speech."

Wednesday was "voice day" and everyone had to modulate her voice. Mr. Burrell gave a very interesting talk on "Better Speech and a Good Voice" in chapel.

Thursday was "listening day"—a novelty at S. N. S. The girls came into chapel in silence. Margaret Finch announced that there would be a "silent supper" that night. This plan was carried out with great success much to the joy of Miss Mary. After prayers two contests were held in the auditorium, one on pronunciation and one on jokes. Mary Vaughan and Sylvia Foster tied in the pronunciation contest and Janie Moore carried away the prize for the best joke.

Friday, the last night, was "stunt night." Everyone went to the auditorium to witness the mock student government trial of Cute and Ain't. The result of which was that Cute was camped for the rest of the year and Ain't was shipped from school.

"Watch your Speech" and make every week a "Better Speech Week!"

ALUMNAE BANQUET

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the Educational Conference in Richmond was the Farmville Alumnae banquet held at Murphy's Hotel on Friday, December first, at one o'clock. At this time about one hundred and sixty of S. N. S.'s "daughters true, faithful and loyal" and members of the faculty assembled at their second annual Thanksgiving reunion. Miss Pauline Camper presided, while seated with her at the table were Dr. and Mrs. Jarman, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Carrie Talaferro, Miss Fannie Berkeley, Miss Mary White Cox and others.

The hall was attractively draped in the colors of many of Virginia's schools and colleges. The tables were sumptuously spread with all the goodies of the season and it was with a great deal of satisfaction that those assembled renewed old acquaintances and exchanged experiences. During the meal Miss Munoz led the singing of school songs with Miss Kitty Morgan at the piano.

Reports were made by representatives from the Charlottesville, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Petersburg, Richmond, Roanoke-Salem, Lynchburg and Farmville Chapters. All of them reported activities such as card parties, bazaars, sales, moving picture benefits, etc. The Roanoke-Salem Chapter presented Dr. Jarman with a check for $100.00 and the Portsmouth Chapter one for $50.00. Other chapters have money on hand but are waiting to increase the amount before sending it in.

Dr. Jarman was then called upon to make a talk. He passed around photographs showing the progress of the work on the new Student Building and he told, briefly, of the further plans for its construction, gave a few figures showing the financial condition and made an earnest appeal to the girls to support him in this project. He urged them to get the matter on their hearts, to give freely to make the Student Building the best and most beautiful on the campus.

After another song and announcements the guests left to attend the basketball game between the Harrisonburg and the Farmville Alumnae.

Many thanks are due the committee which made arrangements for this delightful occasion.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Thanksgiving Week Boosted the Student Building.

Thanksgiving week seemed to give the Student Building Fund a new impetus. The contributions for this week are larger than they have been for some time. Don't let them decrease. Put your name on the list.

The contributions are as follows:

Annie Almond.....	$ 5.00
Rose Pucket.....	8.00
Roanoke-Salem Alumnae Chapter.....	100.00
Mr. W. R. Walker.....	50.00
Miss Mary D. Pierce.....	50.00
Katie Porter.....	15.00
Miss Smithy.....	80.00
Mr. B. M. Cox.....	147.00
Grace B. Holmes.....	10.00
Cash.....	3.66
Maud Frevett.....	10.00

Total for the week.....$478.66

TOTAL, $12,025.11.

RUSSIAN CATHEDRAL QUARTET AT S. N. S.

Fourth Number of Lyceum Course.

The Russian Cathedral Quartet presented an unusually enjoyable program on Wednesday, Dec. 6th, in the auditorium. These singers are native Russians, sent by their government to present Russian music in America. All members of this company possess voices that not only blend harmoniously in group singing but are also remarkably effective in solo work. They are also accompanied by one of the best pianists that has ever been to this school.

The program was in three divisions; first, the cathedral chants, sung in the Russian language, the singers being in choir robes; second, a combination of famous Russian and American songs, sung in evening dress; for the last, Peasant songs were sung in native costumes.

The following numbers were given:

Cathedral Chants.

1. Lord's Prayer.
2. Cherubim Hymn.

Songs.

1. Dawn Calma Mater of Russian Colleges.
2. The Waterbug and the Rose.
3. Rosary (in English).
4. Old Kentucky Home (in English).

Peasant Songs.

1. Schertzo in E Minor.
2. Russian Music Box.
3. Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody.
4. Second Favotte.

Bass Solos.

1. Two Gravadiers.
2. Just a Wearing for You.
3. Asleep in the Deep.

Tenor Solos.

1. Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses.
2. Alone.
3. Santa Lucia.

NOTES FROM THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club this year is larger than it has ever been. At present it has an enrollment of 70 members with more waiting to come in. The music director, Miss Munoz, made the statement that never before have there been so many beautiful singers in school.

The Glee Club Opera will be given on the evenings of February 16th and 17th. The opera this year will be founded on a story concerning the Salvation Army Movement.

A

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL MCABBLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUFIN
Advertising Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Typist CATHERINE KEMP
..... MARTHA PHILLIPS

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Everywhere we see the advance signals of the joyous yuletide season: the shop windows gayly decorated with ribbons, toys and artistic gifts, with a jovial Santa Claus smiling his hearty Christmas Greeting to all mankind, or a tinsel-covered tree in one corner. Every passerby has a suggestive bundle tucked under his arm and an anticipatory beam on his face. Even very small children know the meaning of these things and carefully hoard their pennies for mother's present.

It is well that once a year at least people think more of the joy of giving than receiving. When we see them in the stores, buying gifts with happy look, they are thinking of the pleasant surprises they intend to bestow on others, not of the possible presents in store for them. This annual relaxation of our habitual self-centeredness is one of the saving graces of human beings. Without it, our nation would degenerate into the soulless pursuers of the almighty dollars, which we are often called by foreigners, never inspired by any feeling other than selfish ambition. But do we extend this kindly glow far and wide, or do we let it rest in our own private circle, our various friends and relatives? Do we think of those who stand in desperate need of friendly aid and cheer? There are children to whom Santa Claus and Christmas seem only a treat for more fortunate wealthy children, for their little stockings are empty on that morning, when most boys and girls are happily examining their presents. Not only little ones, but many grown-ups have not even the necessities of life, such as food or shelter, whereas we expect Christmas dainties galore, let us not confine our good deeds too closely but contribute cheerfully, whenever we can, our mite to help the suffering humanity about us. Remember Christ said, "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

EYES CONTEST CLOSES

First Prize.

I witnessed a rather bad case of absentmindedness this week.

Jakey Kain walked slowly into Room 17, saying, "This has been the longest chapel period I ever saw!" I looked at my watch; it was exactly 12:30 A. M.

"Chapel period!" I exclaimed, "It's almost dinner time!"

Jakey's eyes grew as big as saucers as she turned and fled from the room crying, "Oh oooo! I had a class at 11:15." Down she ran to the 11:15 class at exactly half past twelve. I sincerely hope she wasn't tardy.

Violet Cleasby.

Second Prize.

The other night when we were coming up the crowded aisle of the Eaco Theater, a man accidentally stepped back on my foot.

Politely he said, "Pardon me, please."

"Oh certainly," said my companion before I could make an audible reply. Can you beat it???

Media Williams.

Honorable Mention.

Thanksgiving Day, as the Seniors were lined up, singing while waiting to enter the Armory, one of the most dignified citizens of the town appeared. Carried away by the music and sight of the girls, he began tipping his hat and bowing low to the girls while he proudly displayed his green and white colors, as the girls cheered, he continued on, dancing a "jig" to the time of the music.

Louise Nunn.

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Scimmons AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House

DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs, special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Wednesday—"Palestine"—Miss Edwards.
 Thursday—Christmas Music—Glee Club.
 Friday—Christmas Carols.
 Saturday—"The Hanging of the Greens."
 Monday—Christ's Ideals for Children in Industry—Miss London.
 Tuesday—"The Story of the Christ Child."—Harriet Munoz.

Caroling—10 P. M.

Contributions from pledges and Y. W. C. A. budget to the Student Friendship Fund amount to approximately $350.00. If possible everyone is urged to deposit the contribution in the pledge box near the auditorium before Christmas.

The regular business meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held Wednesday night, December 8 and the committee meetings on Thursday.

QUEEN ELIZABETH'S CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Is it possible that good Queen Elizabeth received a fraternity pin as a Christmas present way back in 1489?

At any rate, we are told by the historian William Sandys that she received a "jewel of gold like an alpha and omega garnished with sparks of diamonds."

Other gifts which, according to Sandys, this famous queen received on Christmas and New Years Days were a prayer-book richly bound and illuminated, embroidered smocks, collars of gold, silver, and silk, and—a quince pie! The last was the gift of her serjeant of the pastry and represented the custom of giving presents associated with the giver's profession.

From her apothecary, for example, we are told the Queen received a box of lozenges, while her doctors favored a pot of orange blossoms or a pot of ginger. The silk stockings presented by her silk-woman in 1560 are said to have been the first pair worn in England.

The thrifty Queen even received gifts of money from her more pecunious subjects as well as ornate purses in which to keep it. However, those about her apparently were well aware of their sovereign's delight in personal adornment for we find that jewelry, mantles, and gowns were far in the majority among her gifts. Indeed, so many were the gowns which this fashionable lady acquired during her life, that she is said to have left 2,000 behind at her death.

We are told that on occasions the Queen's gifts did not please her and then she was very frank in making known her displeasure. The prayer-book she received, for example, was considered as violating the imperial decree against religious images, pictures, and relics and the Queen made known that she wished no repetition of such a breach.

This must not be taken as evidence of impiety, however, for we are told that when the new Queen made her stately entrance into London just before the Christmas festival of 1558, there was arranged a beautiful pageant to express her Christian devotion; from one of the triumphal arches, a figure representing Truth dropped a copy of the Scriptures before the Queen who received it with deep reverence declaring that of all the gifts which her subjects might give her, this was the most welcome.

In justice to Elizabeth it must be said that all the giving was not on the side of her loyal subjects. In 1560, the Queen presented to Penne, a widow and former nurse to King Edward, the sum of sixty French crowns as a New Years gift. To others of her subjects she gave gifts of gold and silver ranging in value according to the recipient. To her brother, Edward, we are told, she gave a copy of her own translation of a Latin sermon.—Reprinted from Burr, Patterson & Co. Christmas Booklet.

GIRL SCOUT MOVEMENT PRESENTED

Miss Zillerman Addresses Senior Classes.

The value of the girl scout movement in schools was the subject of Miss Zillerman's address to the Senior Classes in the auditorium Monday night. Miss Zillerman is Regional Director of the Girl Scout Movement for Penn., Md., Del., and Va., and is now touring the State of Virginia in the interest of the movement.

In the beginning of her talk the speaker told how the scout movement began. First there was the organization of the boy scouts in England in the beginning of the 20th century. Later the girl scouts were organized on much the same plan. It was begun in America at Savannah, Georgia in 1912 by Miss Juliet Low.

The girl scout program will be a great help to the teacher, as Miss Zillerman pointed out, for it aims to develop qualities of character essential to future citizens of the country, to develop mental and physical quickness thru games, to develop daily health habits, to get handicraft, service and to get the most happiness out of life. The method of accomplishing these aims is thru the indirect method and in this connection Miss Zillerman gave the following quotation: "The telling teacher is not always the telling one."

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS
INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.
STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY
Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus 100,000.00
"The Old Reliable Bank"

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.
Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

The Argus Literary Society held its regular meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 5.

As this was American Education Week, and Better Speech Week in school, the program consisted of an intensely interesting and instructive talk on "Better Speech" by Marjorie Thompson. A few slogans which she impressed upon us should always be uppermost in our thoughts. "Good English is as 'pearls, and rubies, and diamonds' flowing from our mouth; while bad English is as 'toads, and frogs, and snakes.' Let us always have ours speech 'pearls, rubies, and diamonds.' Our speech betrays us. Back of our speech is our thought, and back of our thought is our character."

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular meeting in the association room on Tuesday, Dec. 12. After the business was taken up the following program was rendered:

1. Song—"Hark the Herald Angels Sing"—by Society.
2. Reading—Lucille Upton.
3. Vocal Solo—Pearl Young.
4. Christmas Story—Julia Cave.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY

The Cunningham Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5. The chief business of this meeting was the discussion of new members to be taken in at the next meeting. After the business meeting a short article was read on "Better Speech" and the meeting was then adjourned.

PIERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Pierian Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5. After a short but interesting program the meeting was adjourned.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Have you ever gone caroling on a cold night when there is Christmas spirit in your bones? You have more fun and give more of your Christmas spirit than can be imagined. About ten o'clock everyone assembles in the Association Room and then all go together from house to house and street to street singing carols and spreading joy. It is a beautiful thing to hear the sweet voices caroling; and a novel experience to go caroling.

FARMVILLE ALUMNAE BASKET-BALL TEAM WINS OVER HARRISONBURG

Quite an exciting game of basket-ball was played in the Richmond Y. W. C. A. gymnasium, Friday, Dec. 1, at 3:30 P. M. This thrilling event was the alumnae game between the Normals of Harrisonburg and Farmville. If the players took their names from the attitude of their respective school supporters the game might be captioned Dignity vs. Pep, for when I walked into the room all I could see or hear was Harrisonburg. They were singing, yelling, and snake-dancing—having a grand and glorious time. Opposite sat about half as many Farmvillians, quiet, and seemingly submerged by dignity. Or was it peace? Or was it the after effects of the luncheon? Or were they confident, knowing they had a team that was determined to wipe out the defeat of last year and even the score between Harrisonburg and Farmville? Or did they realize that "with Liz Vaughan as our jumping center we fear no harm?"

But let us begin the game. From the first "top off," the game was Farmville's. The first quarter ended with a score of 7 to 7, but at the end of the first-half the score was 15 to 9, Farmville holding the top score. Harrisonburg was now in the twilight of its game, the final score of 29 to 11 in Farmville's favor telling a story all its own.

Farmville's line-up was as follows:

Ethel La Boyteaux.....	Guard
Martha Fitzgerald.....	Guard
Elizabeth Vaughan.....	Jumping Center
Madeline Fitzgerald.....	Side Center
Marcella Barnes.....	Forward
Anne Belle Treackle.....	Forward

Elsie Bell substituted for Fitzgerald in Center, and Fitzgerald for Barnes as forward.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch summed up its report of the encounter by saying, "The playing of Treackle featured the game," to which all spectators agreed.

We cannot stop until we have said how very much we enjoyed meeting with Harrisonburg in friendly combat once more—how pleasant it was to see Nesbit and Ward again. Words fail us, however, when we try to express the feeling that came over us upon seeing so many of Farmville's 1922 Varsity in play!

Play ball—Farmville!

HIGH SCHOOL "MEN" PRESENTED

On Wednesday morning the Fourth Year High School Class presented their honorary member, Miss Draper. Friday morning the Third Year High School Class presented Miss Peck as their "Man." Both of these presentations were unusually attractive. The entire school enjoyed them.

CHRISTMAS QUOTATIONS

It is good to be children sometimes and never better than at Christmas when its Mighty Founder was a Child Himself.—Charles Dickens.

I have always thought of Christmas time as a good time; a kind, forgiving, generous, pleasant time; a time when men and women seem by one consent to open their hearts freely, and so I say, "God bless Christmas."—Charles Dickens.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price. Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS IN THIS WAY?

Christmas in Other Lands.

Christmas in England.

The English people celebrate Christmas as the greatest festival of the year. They decorate their houses beautifully with ivy, evergreens and holly. The festival is observed somewhat as it is here in America. The little boys and girls go around carol-singing on Christmas Eve.

One of the most sacred things that the English have on this holiday is the burning of the Yule-Log. It is always lit by the remains of the last year's log.

Another one of the peculiar things they do is to pass around the Wassail Bowl. This bowl containing spiced wine is passed from one to another with the phrase "Wass hael" which means "To your health." Hence the name Wassail Bowl.

The little children of England enjoy the Christmas dinner just as much as we do and they do not think it complete without mince pie or plum pudding.

These people sometimes dress as ridiculously as possible and go around from house to house giving little plays while the feasting is going on.

Christmas in Norway and Sweden.

The little children of Norway and Sweden are now looking forward to Christmas which they call Yule-peace. At this time of the year, all of the people who have had quarrels make up. The shoes of all members of the family are placed in a row and this means that they intend to live in peace and harmony together throughout the coming year. Many of the rich people at this time keep an open house so that the poor people can come and get a meal of many good things.

Santa Claus is not called by this name, but is called Kristine. The little children of Norway and Sweden do some very interesting things which I will tell you. The house is cleaned, the best clothes are put on, white curtains are hung and the tables are covered with white cloths. Everyone has been working for weeks on the presents, which are sometimes thrown into the rooms so that the givers may be guessed at and not known. On Christmas Eve, they put out a meal cake in the snow, so that Kristine may eat it as he passes. They also put out a candle so that he may see his way. They have a Christmas tree just as we do, only they have it at five o'clock on Christmas Eve. They go out in the snow to get a tree and decorate it so that Kristine may put presents on it. The wives give the birds and cattle more food on this day than usual. These people believe that on Christmas Eve at twelve o'clock the cattle turn their face toward the east, kneel and pray.

Christmas in Germany.

Christmas in Germany is more honored than in any other country.

Germany is the home of the Christmas tree. Every family, no matter how poor, has a Christmas tree. The tree is decorated with tinsel and stars just as our own. It always occupies a prominent place in the best room of the house so it may be seen by the people who pass by. When the church bells ring, the whole family assembles in the living room. The father tells the story of the Christ-Child. Each member of the family eats a little cake which they call "Pfeffer Kuchen."

In some parts of Germany the little children call Santa Claus "Ashy Claus." They beat drums on Christmas Eve so that the wolves will not eat him up.

It is customary in many parts of Germany for a little figure representing the Christ-Child to pass by the window where the little ones sleep so they may see him. This makes them very happy for they think the Christ-Child has not forgotten them and they will have many presents on the tree for them.

Christmas in Holland.

The little rosy-cheeked, round-faced, fair-haired children of Holland do not celebrate Christmas as we do. They keep it as a holy day and a day of feasting. There are no presents given on this day at all. Santa Claus, whom they call St. Nicholas, comes on the sixth of December instead of on the twenty-fifth. He leaves presents sometimes hidden in cabbages, turnips, pumpkins, or in some other place that is funny. Then again a friend of the family disguised as Santa Claus comes and distributes the presents himself. While the children are gazing at the presents and at St. Nicholas, the father unseen will throw candy into the air which falls among the children, and is supposed by them to have fallen from the skies. In order to make the children who have begun to think that there is no Santa Claus believe in him, the Dutch dress the coach-man or gardener in a white fur coat and place him on a white pony. They then fill his arms with presents and tell him to gallop around the house. The children peep at him through the windows and they believe sure enough that there is a Santa Claus.

Shoe or Stocking?

In Holland, children set their shoes.
This night, outside the door;
The wooden shoes Kucht Globes sees,
And fills them from his store.

But here we hang our stockings up
On handy hook or nail.
And Santa Claus, when all is still,
Will plump them without fail.

Speak out! you "Sobersides" speak out
And let us hear your views
Between a stocking and a shoe
What do you see to choose?

One instant pauses Sobersides,
A little sigh to fetch—
"Well, seems to me, a stocking's best
For wooden shoes won't stretch!"

On Christmas Eve in Holland
The land of the wooden shoes,
What do you the people—
The queer Dutch people do?

All together round the fire
Sing, talk, and gaily wait
For St. Nick to come and see them
By and by it grows late.

The door is opened and he comes,
In an outlandish queer array,
He scatters candy on the floor,
For the children with their play.

Then all hang up their wooden shoes,
And leave the room for the night.
St. Nick comes in and brings the gifts
We find them as soon as it is light.

On Christmas Day we go to church
We keep it a holy day,
We make the feast and people, all
Are happy, well fed, and gay.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—

Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

Student: "I want the 'Rotunda' for a week back."

Elizabeth: "Certainly, but why don't you try a porous plaster first?"

The girl across the hall says she doesn't see why they call the play "Way Down East" when the scene is laid way up in New England.

Soph: "Let's walk up High Street and then come back and sit on the campus."

Fresh: "Oh, I can't wait. I've heard so much about this campus, and I haven't seen it yet."

Miss House: "I was down town this morning and noticed a store with 'Bugg's' written on the window. I hope I never marry a man named that, because when the announcement appeared in the paper it would be 'Bugg-House.'"

One of the questions of today: How did Pilgrim make any progress with a bunion?

Dr. Tidyman (in G. G. M. class): "What is a problem?"

Class: "Teaching school!"

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Emory Men Visit Ford Plant.

A Ford born every minute! That was what the students of Emory College witnessed on their visit to the Ford plant. The student body was divided into sections and assigned specific hours for visiting the plant. They were shown in order every process of a Ford "in the making." They watched the placing of every nut, bolt, and screw, until the "newly born fliver took life and rolled off to take its place with others of its kind."

S. I. N. A.

Elon College Has Radio Class.

One of the most interesting courses at Elon College is the one offered in electricity. The greater part for the work has been of an experimental nature. The class is now erecting a complete set of instruments for a radio receiving set. The department is also erecting a radio room for experimental work which is expected to be a permanent receiving station for the college.

Radium Price Shrinks.

Radium has dropped to the lowest price ever. Seventy thousand dollars buys as much radium as $120,000 bought six months ago. The price is down because the supply exceeds the demand—though the total supply of pure radium in the world is not more than five ounces.

S. I. N. A.

Hampden-Sidney Dramatic Club Presents First Play.

The Gongleurs, Hampden-Sidney's new Dramatic Club, entertained in the H. Tucker Graham Gymnasium, presenting "Suppressed Desires," a one-act play by Susan Gaspel. With a few more practices, the Gongleurs would surely score a distinct hit at Farmville, and it is a certainty that practically the entire student body of Hampden-Sidney and S. N. S. would be there.

S. I. N. A.

THE ORCHESTRA

The work of the orchestra is especially interesting to both the old and new members because they are studying parts on the first and seventh symphonies of Beethoven. The Orchestra has 22 members this year.

THE HANGING OF THE CHRISTMAS GREENS

It has been a custom of the S. N. S. girls to celebrate the beautiful old legend of the hanging of the greens. After the legend is told and the holiday spirit is abroad, every girl in school is given some greens to hang anywhere she desires. How beautiful and Christmasy our school home is made!

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

Reserved

for

Advertising

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

START THE
NEW YEAR RIGHT!

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

HOW ABOUT THOSE
RESOLUTIONS?

Vol. 3, No. 12.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

JAN. 13, 1923

PART OF A LETTER FROM MISS CULKIN WHICH MAY BE OF INTEREST TO READERS OF THE ROTUNDA

"This morning, Dr. Bagley in his Normal School class, endorsed very strongly the idea that we worked on last year, namely, graded steps in teaching. He made no especial distinction between apprentice work and regular student teaching, but apparently strongly approves the idea of a gradual breaking in, close supervision and ultimate full responsibility; with the idea that the student teacher should feel the power of the supervisor and director back of her at first; and that appeals on her part is help should be regarded up to a certain point as an indication of strength rather than weakness."

"This is an old story to you, but I thought you might be interested in the point of view here and to show that the work of the two committees last year, though unfinished, was in line with educational thought here."

The two committees referred to were (1) the Committee on Apprentice Work, consisting of Miss Haynes, Chairman, Miss Savedge, Miss Bullock, and Mrs. Lear; and (2) the Committee on Graded Steps in Student Teaching, consisting of Miss Von Shilling, Chairman, Miss Culkin, Miss Peck, Miss Norris, and Miss Carter.

W. F. Tidyman.

Student Government Association,
State Normal School,
Farmville, Virginia.

It is with deep regret that I tender my resignation as president of your Student Government Association. The days spent with you and the privilege of working with you will always be among my most cherished memories.

May the New Year be a most successful one with your continued fine spirit and loyalty.

Best wishes to each.

Sincerely,

Lily Thornhill.

The entire school regrets, that through illness, Miss Lily Thornhill has had to resign as president of our Student Association. She has filled her position with outstanding efficiency; and it is needless to say that the student body will miss her.

KINDERGARTEN CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS STORY HOUR

The Kindergarten Club held its regular Christmas party Tuesday, December 19 from five to six o'clock in the Kindergarten Room. The president read letters from Miss Culkin and several old members that were enjoyed by all. After a short program Santa Claus came and distributed attractive "kindergarten" gifts to all. Following this dainty refreshments were served.

to help but compare the scene in the Rotunda just before Christmas with Mother Carey and her effortless labors. Behind the counter sat the stigmatizer of the riot, calm and peaceful, talking here and there a word of praise or instruction, occasionally making with a few deft strokes one of the little things over which her discomfited work with so much perspicacity.

Sealing Wax, until Miss House came, was used only to seal packages and letters, but she held a stick of it over an alcohol lamp and daubed it on a bit of cardboard, beads, buttons, pins and necklaces dangle in the baubles of a south African kraal. They were so easy to make, a simple twist of the wrist it were—until we tried to make them. Our efforts continued for the three weeks preceding Christmas holidays, and when we left, we left gifts of wax, rope and paper for every member of the family. And the Rotunda's bank account was rotundly by $100. (Which gives the staff so much joy that it refuses to apologize for the pun.)

We thank you, Miss House, for bringing crowd with your beautiful Dennison display instruction. We thank you, dear crowd, for bringing your money—for a cartoon or picture now and then is relished by the best of us.

HERFF-JONES COMPANY MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS INDIANAPOLIS

Among the many thoughts that rush to our minds at the beginning of this new year, comes the thought of the wonderful opportunities which we have. After glancing back over our lives, we see the numberless chances we've had to do things, which we did not take advantage of. Those lost chances or opportunities worry us awhile; then comes a ray of hope in that another chance will be given us. Will opportunity knock again at our doors?

John James Ingalls' solution to this question, as we see in his poem above, is that opportunity comes but once to a person. This is indeed a dreary outlook for one who thinks his opportunity has come and gone, without being utilized. Perhaps we would be more careful in seizing opportunity if this idea of Ingalls was taken as the truth.

Walter Malone's "Opportunity" brightens our outlook. If, during the last term of school or during our past life, we realize our wasted opportunities to do good, we will find another chance, so Malone tells us. Think of our opportunities in school for a four square education! Seize the chances for growth in mind, in spirit, in social intercourse and in physical welfare. Remember Malone says "At sunrise every soul is born again."

ARE YOU EXCUSED FROM MISSION CLASSES?

Twelve Students Excused from Studying Missions.

1. The back-number student who does not desire to be abreast of the times.
2. The narrow-gauge student who is content to be provincial.
3. The unambitious student who aspires after a limited culture and a limited equipment for his life work.
4. The indolent student with leisure who prefers to fritter away his time.
5. The short-sighted student who is busy but who is unwilling to release from his program the things of less value.
6. The easy-going student who does not value his religion or who does not care to prize it more.
7. The selfish student whose social conscience is numb and who prefers to have it remain so.
8. The materialistic student who lives on the lower levels and is indifferent to the enrichment of his religious life.
9. The prejudiced student who declares that Christ is unnecessary to the world's salvation and who is unwilling to consider the evidence in the case.
10. The cowardly student who is afraid to face the issues which an expanded intelligence might precipitate.
11. The unreasonable student who, forgetting that he is a product of missions, does not believe in missions and is not open-minded on the question.
12. The disloyal student who calls Jesus Master and Lord, but is regardless of His ideals and program and commands.

Enroll Now.

FIRST SOCIAL OF THE NEW YEAR

Y. W. C. A. Gives Social for New Girls.

Monday afternoon, January 8, from 5 to 6 o'clock the Cabinet and Social Committee of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the fifteen girls who have matriculated since Christmas. The hour was spent in playing games and having a general good time. Dainty refreshments were served. When the bell rang for supper and the little group had to disband, it did so with the feeling that everyone had spent an enjoyable afternoon.

"Reuben, Reuben, I've been thinking
What a good world this would be
If the men were all transported
Far beyond the northern sea."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic.....NELL MCARDLE
Joke.....EMILY CALCOTY
Literary.....PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Alumnae.....MISS BROWNE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....CATHERINE KEMP
Typist.....MARTHA PHILLIPS

BE A GOOD SPORTSMAN

We are told that poets are born and made, but this is certainly not true of a good sportsman.

The more you see of school girls the more you realize how few fundamental ideas of sportsmanship they possess. Of course I believe that everyone has the capabilities of being a true sportsman, but it is so hard to rouse these feelings.

We tell a girl,—

"Be a sport now;" and perhaps she desires above all else to be a good sportsman but does not know what it is to be one, the essentials thereof. Here is our problem—The words "sport" and "good sport" are such misused words. Sport means to the ordinary run of school girls a boy who will give them a good time. Hip-pocket refreshments, cigarettes, and petting parties. A girl is a good sport who will thus indulge. Here in school life a sport is one who knows that a person is breaking an essential rule and yet does not report it to proper authorities—the one who will lie to save a friend from punishment. These are the usual meanings given to the words "good sport."

But what an entirely different thing is meant by real sportsmanship. It simply means playing the game fairly, abiding by the rules, and accepting the decisions with the best of grace.

Shakespeare said that all the world was a stage but I think it can be as truly said that all the world is a game and we are the players therein. Of course we know that it is the highest of organized team games, and that teamwork is the first requirement.

Kipling says all that is necessary to say about teamwork when he says:

"It ain't the guns of armament

Nor the funds that they can pay

But the close cooperation that makes them win the day.

It ain't the individual

Nor the army as a whole

But the everlasting teamwork

Of every blooming soul."

But how can we be good sportsmen here in school?

First, we have leaders here in our school life, Student Government officials, Class Officers, Athletic Councilmen, and Committeemen of all sorts for a short or long time. Having elected these leaders ourselves by the will of the majority we should not criticize or knock our leaders. That reacts on the very people who practice it. They undermine their own chances of achievement.

As leadership comes to us in school and life, the

S. I. N. A.

THE ORCHESTRA

The work of the orchestra is especially interesting to both the old and new members because they are studying parts on the first and seventh symphonies of Beethoven. The Orchestra has 22 members this year.

THE HANGING OF THE CHRISTMAS GREENS

It has been a custom of the S. N. S. girls to celebrate the beautiful old legend of the hanging of the greens. After the legend is told and the holiday spirit is abroad, every girl in school is given some greens to hang anywhere she desires. How beautiful and Christmasy our school home is made!

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Small quantities of goods at special prices.

I want to go out with my head erect,
I want to deserve all men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and self
I want to be able to like myself
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.
I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know,
I never can fool myself and so,
Whatever happens, I want to be Self-respecting and conscience-free."

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House

DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT

WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation program, special days. Write for information to R. G. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

V. P. I. Memorial.

Last May at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association at Blacksburg, President Fridly recommended that a fund of not less than $150,000 be raised and used to build and equip a "community house." This is to be erected in honor of the men who fought in the Great War.

He stated that he had sent a questionnaire to one hundred and fifty colleges and universities to learn what the alumni had done in contributing money to their colleges since 1918. The students of these colleges have given an average of $47.3 per man.

The building planned is to be built of stone and will contain a large gymnasium, auditorium, halls for the different societies, and sleeping rooms. The estimated cost is $150,000 but an attempt will be made to secure $250,000.

The suggestion approved by the committee as to contributions was that a man should give ten dollars a year for the first ten year period; after he graduated, twenty dollars for the second period; thirty dollars for the third period; and forty dollars for the fourth period. This is only a suggestion as to the minimum subscription.

At the present time, 557 subscriptions have been made for a total of $83,494.

S. I. N. A.

Parking Them in 1927.

The auto trade checks up and predicts that American factories last year turned out nearly 2,500,000 passenger cars and trucks. In 1914 there were less than 1,600,000 autos and trucks in the United States but the figure will be at least 11,000,000 this year.

Maybe Einstein can figure out where the cars will be parked during business hours five years from now. Airplanes will come into common use. They'll have to.

Exchange.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Cash	$9.35
Norfolk Chapter.....	100.00
Cash	5.80
Miss C. B. Taliaferro.....	10.00
Cash	1.50
Cash	1.25
College Club.....	15.00
Cash	1.50
Mr. W. W. Jackson.....	5.00
Delta Sigma Chi.....	40.00
Pauline Hawks.....	5.00
Miss Mary B. Barlow.....	25.00
Lucy McIlwaine.....	50.00
Ellen Armstrong.....	20.00
Interest	188.48
Miss Eloise Coulling.....	5.00
W. H. Robertson (through Louise Severson).....	100.00
Interest	12.86
Mr. Chas. Carroll (through Julia Cave).....	25.00
Martha Bue.....	5.00
Total	$625.74

HOUSE AND LOTS OF MONEY

You've heard of Mother Carey? She sits quietly on a big gray rock at sea in the midst of confusion and disorder, a calm, rather indifferent expression in her wide gray eyes. But she is busy. Very busy. She is making new sea animals. Her orders and instructions are given in a low tone, but it creates dolphins and whales and cunning little sea-things with shining scales and lacy gills. Somehow, we could not help but compare the scene in the ROTUNDA office just before Christmas with Mother Carey and her effortless labors. Behind the counter sat the instigator of the riot, calm and peaceful, throwing here and there a word of praise or instruction, occasionally making with a few deft strokes one of the little things over which her disciples worked with so much perspicacity.

Sealing Wax, until Miss House came, was used only to seal packages and letters, but since she held a stick of it over an alcohol lamp and daubed it on a bit of cardboard, beads, bracelets, pins and necklaces dangle in the barbaric splendor of a south African kraal. They seemed so easy to make, a simple twist of the wrist, as it were—until we tried to make them. Our efforts continued for the three weeks preceding Christmas holidays, and when we left, we had gifts of wax, rope and paper for every member of the family. And the ROTUNDA's bank account was rotund by $100. (Which gives the staff so much joy that it refuses to apologize for the pun.)

We thank you, Miss House, for bringing the crowd with your beautiful Dennison display and instruction. We thank you, dear crowd, for bringing your money—for a cartoon or picture now and then is relished by the best of papers.

HERFF-JONES COMPANY MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.
Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

THE TEACHER'S VOCABULARY

In the earlier days of our country, the preacher was the central figure in the intellectual life of a community. This was especially true of country districts and small towns where he was often teacher as well as preacher. We find now that times have changed. Since the automobile has so radically shortened distance, the country preacher has become an almost extinct species. As a result the teacher finds herself in a position of authority in the community whether or not it is her desire to occupy such a place. In no respect, perhaps, does her responsibility become so evident as in the linguistic life of the people. She may, at any time, be called upon to pass judgment upon some doubtful point in grammar or rhetoric, to approve or correct a paper, to read in a public meeting, or even to spell a word for someone whose orthography is uncertain. Another thing which one has a right to expect of a teacher is that her own speech be such that it will lead no trusting person astray, and will not offend the sensitive ears of other educated people.

We will first consider some of the general characteristics essential to a teacher's vocabulary. It must be adequate, first of all, for any occasion. Much depends upon having an ample supply of words. To know how to use this supply is hardly less important. A teacher should be able to express her thoughts clearly, concisely and happily; and without apparent effort. She must have a "linguistic conscience," but must not be a prude.

Let us now turn our attention to the various types of vocabularies needed by the teacher. Someone has said, "Every person has at least two ways of speaking his mother tongue." No teacher can fulfill her mission with less than three, and each of these is quite different.

The first we will discuss is the more technical or professional vocabulary, with its terms and phraseology peculiar to the teaching profession. Every teacher, worthy of the name, will keep in touch with the movements and changes which take place in the educational sphere. Books, periodicals and conventions are all means to this end, and all involve a professional vocabulary. The schoolroom vocabulary, also, would be a branch of this type. This will vary with the subjects and grades taught. Each subject has its individual set of terms with which the pupil must become familiar, and the teacher must be careful to use language suited to the grade and intelligence of the children.

Another style of speech, which is necessary to everyone to some extent, and to the teacher to great extent, is the formal style. This is used when speaking to those with whom one is not well acquainted, or when transacting business. The teacher must frequently consult patrons upon matters pertaining to the children of the school, and she must be able to meet each upon his own ground, whether he be mayor of the town or janitor of the school. A vocabulary which contains a supply of words necessary or desirable to converse intelligently with the intelligent and sympathetically with those less fortunate is a valuable and even essential asset to the successful teacher. It is not necessary to use an elevated style of diction often, if at all. To express one's thoughts in simple, well chosen language requires more skill and is infinitely better taste than to cover them, or their absence, with sonorous words of many syllables.

As the teacher is expected to take part in the social life of the community; and will, of course have her own circle of friends and associates; an informal as well as formal vocabulary will be used. As this will vary with the character as well as mood of the owner, no description or advice will be adequate. A warning against forming the habit of slovenly speech, however, might not be out of place.

In conclusion the question might be asked: Are we willing and prepared to take our places as the moulders of the speech of the generation now in school, and as critics and authorities of speech in the communities where we will take up our work. This should, at least, be the aim of everyone who intends to teach, for only by their most strenuous efforts will America be delivered from the stigma cast upon her by the slovenly habits of speech indulged in by so many of her citizens.

STUDENT BODY BOOSTS STUDENT BUILDING

At the completion of a Student Body meeting held on Monday night, January 8, it was suggested that the entire student body snake-dance from the auditorium to their rooms singing the little song:

"We're coming, we're coming,
This brave little band;
A nickel, a nickel,
In each tiny hand."

And come they did, from every part of the school, everyone bringing some donation. When Dr. Jarman finished counting his nickels, he found that the Student Building Fund had been increased by over a hundred dollars.

WELCOME! NEW GIRLS

Upon our return from the Christmas holidays, we found, much to our delight, that in our midst were fifteen new girls, starting out upon a perfectly new phase of life, in other words, upon their days at S. N. S.

In behalf of the entire Student Body, New Girls, we want to welcome you into our midst. Soon you will stop being "new" and will find that you have unconsciously settled down into the regular routine of our school life. We earnestly hope and trust that your days with us will be happy and that you will soon learn to love our dear old S. N. S. as the rest of us do. You will have your good times, and such good times they are; and you will have your troubles, too, as all of us do everywhere, but always remember that we are all your friends and that it's "The old Normal School, and it's good enough for me."

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery
School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners
Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.
Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

ALUMNAE NOTES

Fulcher—Jenkins

Miss Sarah Blanche Jenkins, of Green Bay, was married to Mr. Thomas Julian Fulcher in Lynchburg, Saturday, December 30. They will make their home in Farmville, where Mr. Fulcher is the efficient assistant cashier in the Planters Bank. Mrs. Fulcher taught the last few months at Bethel School, in Nottoway County.

Mustoe—Glenn

The home of Mr. Harvey Glenn was the scene of a quiet but beautiful wedding on Tuesday, December 26, at eleven o'clock, when Miss Audrey May Glenn became the bride of Mr. Jesse Mustoe of Hot Springs, Va.

Rev. R. S. Baughan performed the ceremony and only the immediate family were present. The bride was very popular and will be greatly missed by her many friends at Prospect. Mr. and Mrs. Mustoe will return to Hot Springs on Jan. 1, where Mrs. Mustoe will resume her school duties and Mr. Mustoe will continue his work at Canton, Ohio.

Hamrick—Hiner

A beautiful wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. John J. Hiner, South Market Street, Staunton, Wednesday afternoon, December 27, at 5:30 o'clock, when her daughter, Jennie, became the bride of Richard Minor Hamrick. The guests included only the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. The entire lower floor was decorated with holly, Southern smilax and sweet peas. The bride and groom entered the parlors and proceeded through an isle of palms and ferns to the altar, lighted with many candles.

The bride wore a gown of brocaded satin trimmed with pearls, and her veil of illusion was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Before and during the ceremony Mrs. French Hiner, of Hinton, W. Va., played "O Promise Me." There was a reception after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamrick will spend their honeymoon in New York City.

The bride is a sister of Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner, who attended the wedding.

Phillips—Johnson

Miss Myrtle Johnson, of Roanoke, was married on Nov. 23, to Mr. Esie Rolland Phillips, of New Church, Va. The Virginia Heights Baptist Church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, and chrysanthemums. The bride wore a draped gown of white crepe Roma trimmed with rose point lace and pearls, and a veil of tulle caught coronet fashion with imported lace, orange blossoms and pearls. Miss Mattie Johnson, maid of honor, wore a sunset brocaded crepe dress, while the brides' maids, Misses Grace Johnson, Elizabeth Gill and Frances Cundiff, wore dresses of orchid crepe and carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Miss Daphne Gilliam is engaged in mission work in Camajuan, Cuba.

Morris—Duncan

The marriage of Miss Naomi Duncan to Mr. George W. Morris was solemnized Saturday, Nov. 25, at the home of the bride, 115 East Franklin Street, Richmond. The wedding trip included New York and Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Morris are now at home at 1011 West Grace Street, Richmond.

Mrs. H. J. Koester (Miss Virginia Paulette) of Bristol, Va., and Mrs. W. G. Wood (Miss Ruth Blanton) of Massie's Mill, Va., have been recent visitors to Farmville.

Cowan—Baldwin

On Saturday, Nov. 25, Miss Laura Baldwin became the bride of C. C. Cowan, the ceremony being performed by the pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church, Rev. George H. Spooner. Only members of the bride's family were present. The marriage took place at the home of the bride immediately after the breakfast hour and the couple left at once by an auto for Burkeville, where they boarded the train for their honeymoon trip. Mr. and Mrs. Cowan will make their home here, where Mr. Cowan has been for a number of years engaged in business.

Notice to the Alumnae!

If any of you have not been getting your ROTUNDA, please write us, so that we may send the missing numbers. The circulation manager has found that some girls are not receiving the paper, even though they are mailed regularly every week. The staff will appreciate it, if you will let us know if your ROTUNDA has not been coming every week.

VARSITY SQUAD PICKED!

At a called Student Body meeting after dinner, Saturday, January 6, the Varsity Squad of our school was presented. Miss Florence Buford, coach, called the names of the lucky, or as she expressed it, unlucky players and after telling the Student Body what was expected of the squad, she presented the "V's" to those selected.

Six players were chosen for the position of forward and three for each of the other positions.

The following are the players who will represent our school this year:

Forwards—Anna Belle Treake, Margaret Mathews, Celeste Whaley, Margaret Day, Etta Sawyer, Henrietta Hall. Guards—Manie Sexton, Mildred Hall, Olive Smith. Jumping Centers—Nell McArdle, Julia Reid, Rosabelle Walton. Side Centers—Elsie Bell, Maude Bailey, Elmer Stringfellow.

These are your representatives, S. N. S. Are you going to get back of them and stick back of them through victory and through defeat?

As the coach told you, those Varsity members have hard work before them, but they are not going to mind it if they know the Student Body is behind them and that "through thick and thin" they have your support.

We will play, on February 3, our first intercollegiate game, with Harrisonburg on our opponent's home court. The team that will be chosen to play this game will leave Farmville for Harrisonburg Friday morning, February 2.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

HAVING YOUR PICTURE TAKEN

You start out, joyously timorous. Carefully you wipe away all trace of cosmetics (because they just make the picture look scaly, you know) and with equal care you arrange your hair in a style calculated to strike terror to the heart of a Hottentot chief. You then proceed to make life miserable for the inhabitants of your hall by dashing wildly up and down demanding of them if the green evening gown really looks better than the black. It doesn't, so they tell you it does, as revenge for the annoyance your hysterical chirrupings have caused them. You go out by the rotunda to wait your turn, enjoying in the meantime witty jibes which you hurl at the sitters, also the shrill yodels with which you hasten the work of the photographer. You are much annoyed by the unnecessary catinisms which the other sitters contribute to the victims and their attempted cuteness in yelling to the photographer. Your turn comes. The man insists of course in turning you so the boniness of your neck shows; protests are impotent. "Sit still, please. That's all." And you arise feeling that the position he placed you in was exceptionally ill advised, disgustingly dumb, so to speak, but it was a good-looking evening dress, and your hair—"hotchen!" Several days later notice is given of the arrival of the proofs. Complacently you stroll around to view your own. You view. You are aroused from your swoon by a voice protesting over your shoulder the super-excellence of the proofs. You give the person a glance eloquent of scorn, anger, and rage and disdainfully stalk away, determined to slay the photographer at sight.

Moral: Photographers are of two classes, those that malign their victims and those that malign their victims.

OPPORTUNITY

Master of human destinies am I!
Fame, love, and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and passing by Hovel and mart and palace—soon or late
I knock, unbidden, once at every gate
If sleeping, wake—if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate.
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate, condemned to failure, penury, and woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not and I return no more!

John James Ingalls.

KLU KLUX

We have sent him seeds of the melon's core,
And mailed a warning upon the door:
By the Ku Klux laws we can do no more.

Down in the hollow, mid crib and stack,
The roof of his low-perched house looms black;
Not a line of light at the door-sill's crack.

Yet arm and mount! and mask and ride!
The hounds can sense though the fox may hide!
And for a word too many men have died.

The clouds blow heavy toward the moon.
The edge of the storm will reach it soon.
The kildee cries at the lonesome moon.

The clouds shall flush with a wilder glare
Than the lightning makes with its angled flare,
When the Ku Klux verdict is given there.

In the pause of the thunder rolling low,
A rifle's answer—who shall know
From the wind's fierce hurl and the rain's black blow?

Only the signature, written grim
At the end of the message brought to him—
A hempen rope and a twisted limb.

So arm and mount! and mask and ride!
The hounds can sense though the fox may hide!
For a word too much oft men have died.

Madison Cawein.

How much do you know concerning the present Ku Klux? Be national-minded, read about the present affairs of our United States, and form your opinion! Don't be a provincial-minded student, but read, study, discuss, and thus have an intelligent view of present day problems.

BLIND

The spring blew trumpets of color;
Her Green sang in my brain—
I heard a blind man groping
"Tap-tap" with his cane.

I pitied him in his blindness;
But can I boast, "I see?"
Perhaps there walks a spirit
Close by, who pities me—

A spirit who hears me tapping
The five-sensed cane of mind
Amid such unguessed glories—
That I am worse than blind.

Harry Kemp.

"If the good were only clever
And the clever were only good
This world would be better than ever
We thought that it possibly could!

But oh! it is seldom or never
That things happen just as they should:
The good are so harsh to the clever,
The clever so rude to the good!"

Source unknown.

THE WORLD'S NEED

So many Gods, so many creeds,
So many paths that wind and wind,
While just the art of being kind
Is all the sad world needs.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

26: "What is a kilogram, anyway?"
25: "A hundred feet, isn't it?"
26: "Naw, that's a centipede you're thinking of."

Black and Blue Jay.

Willie (excitedly): "Oh, Pop, there's a poor man crying outside; can I give him a nickel?"

Pop (producing nickel): "Why yes, it's mighty kind of you to want to give him a nickel. But what is he crying about?"

Willie (disappearing through door): "Peanuts, five cents a bag."

Cabe Brulo.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

SENIOR COLLEGE
ISSUE!

THE ROTUNDA

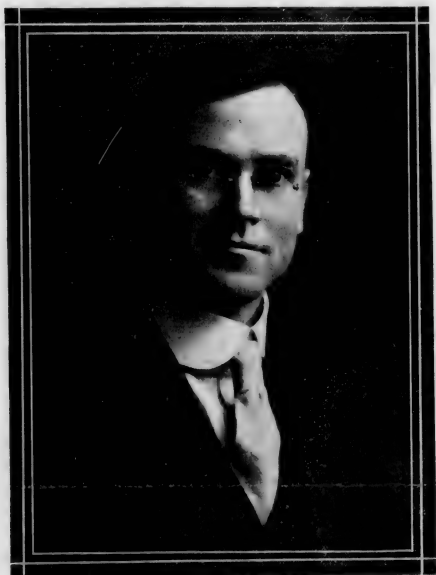

GET YOUR CAP
AND GOWN
AT S. N. S.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3, No. 13.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

JAN. 20, 1923

TO DOCTOR W. F. TIDYMAN, OUR HONORARY MEMBER,
GOOD FRIEND, AND ADVISOR, WE SINCERELY DEDICATE
THIS ISSUE OF THE ROTUNDA.

SANTA CLAUS AND THE STUDENT BUILDING

Every Day in Every Way It Grows and Grows.

Santa Claus was a good o'd fellow and came to see and to help the Student Building just like all other good fellows do. Saturday night there was a meeting of the student body at which Dr. Jarman was present to see just what Santa had done. First, Dr. Jarman announced the contributions that had been sent him during the Christmas Holidays. Then the girls presented the money they had received for the Student Building. The amount was not quite as large as the student body thought it ought to be. An enterprising student, Evelyn Barnes, had a sudden inspiration and in two minutes she had a snake dance started that went all over the building to the chant:

We're coming,
We're coming,
This brave little band,
With a nickle
A nickle
In each tiny hand.

Sure enough when they got back to the auditorium the "nickle" was right there and the amount was raised considerably.

Here is a list of some of the people who joined the student body in their snake dance. Aren't you going to join?

Julia Turnbull	2.00
Hattie Fore	6.00
Cash	28.18
Margaret Fairghan	10.00
Mary Beazley	5.00
Virginia Nelson	10.00
Miss Smitley	20.00
Cash (students)	44.32
Gladys Camper	5.00
Julia E. Jones	10.00
Elizabeth McClung	30.33
A Friend	500.00
Total	$670.83

Send the Student Building a New Year's Present.

Famous Sayings.

You've got to show me—"I'm from Missouri."
You've got to teach me—"I'm from Harvard."
You've got to watch me—"I'm from Sing-Sing."
You've got to feed me—"I'm from S. N. S."

COMING!

The Glee Club Opera, February 16 and 17.

"At the County Fair" the Glee Club Opera of 1923 will be given in the Auditorium of the Farmville State Normal School on the evenings of February 16 and 17. The Glee Club and Orchestra under the direction of Miss Munoz are both extremely busy in preparation for the event of the season. Two of the principle numbers upon which the Orchestra is working are "The Dawn and The Storm from the opera of "William Tell." Accompanying this music will be a beautiful dance, "The Passing of the Seasons."

The story of the opera, "At the County Fair" is based upon the ideals and principles of the Salvation Army and brings out the noble work of that organization.

The Alumnae are cordially invited to return to their Alma Mater for the opera.

SUPERVISED STUDY SPELLER

By WILLARD F. TIDYMAN

Reviewed by MISS MARY CLAY HINER

In Dr. Tidyman's Supervised Study Speller we find none of the weaknesses of the traditional spelling book, all of the merits of the best of the modern spellers, and in addition at least two strong points not possessed by any other text in spelling. Instead of the inherited list of words in the traditional text, there is in common with other modern texts, a course of study in spelling based on reliable investigations as to the words children actually use in writing. The grading of the words is likewise based upon scientific study rather than upon mere personal theory or limited investigations. The prevailing practices of chance grouping or grouping by associated meaning or by common structural elements are replaced by grouping according to a common difficulty, this plan having been found by the author's concrete studies to secure 10 per cent greater improvement than the ordinary plans.

These are real advances in the making of spelling books. But this book goes further. The very title indicates that the emphasis is to be placed upon study procedure, upon the prevention of errors and the development of self-help in the pupil, rather than upon testing and correcting. It is a book of minimum essentials with all the helps needed to insure the intelligent directing and supervision of individual and class study without undue demands upon the time and energy of either teacher or pupils. It is a book that will actually teach children how to spell.

Previous to this Dr. Tidyman has written a book, "The Teaching of Spelling" which is recognized as one of the best books if not the best on the subject. This book has recently been added to list of the North Carolina "Teacher's Reading Circle."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NEIL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

ATTENTION. SENIORS AND ALUMNAE!

We, the Degree Class of 1923, want to tell you why we returned to Alma Mater for our degrees. Most of us have been here for four consecutive years, but some of us taught in the state before coming back. We know that the third and fourth professional years are most worth while. We felt that at the close of the second year we had but tasted of the fountain of knowledge, and remembering the poet's warning to "drink deep or taste not," we came back to learn more.

What have we gained? First, subject matter. We have studied sociology, world history, political geography, ethics, philosophy, and many other things which were unknown to us as second professionals. Moreover, we have had a longer teaching experience, for as fourth professionals we teach during the entire year. The continued intercourse with teachers and supervisors has been very helpful. We have had the privilege and delight of using the library for two years more. We have participated in school activities, some of us developing talents that were latent heretofore.

As a class we want to urge the second and third professionals to return next year. We want to assure the alumnae that Alma Mater will welcome their return and will enable them to obtain greater efficiency and broader culture.

WHY WE CAME BACK

Every one is always fussing about going to school. Yet we had a chance to stop and didn't. We came back!?!?

Two years ago we had our chance of leaving, and leaving with honors. But we didn't take the chance.

The idea of becoming old maid school teachers two years before it was really necessary was horrible.

So we came back!?!?

We thought if we came back two more years the agony would be put off that long and maybe in the meantime means would come whereby it would not be compulsory for us to be old maid school teachers.

So we came back!?!?

Our B. S. degrees and our M. A.'s would aid. Then 'tis said if one can't get a M. R. S. before our name we intend to get all after it we can.

So we came back!?!?

THE YEARS

The years slip thru my fingers—a molten mass; Like jewels on a string, they sing and glide— Beautiful years, I stand aghast— You go too soon—you slip too fast!

Of molten fire and moon mist, and wistful dreams.

They shimmer with delight, and joyous life— Those Future beads that will not last— Those other, fragrant beads that are the Past.

But those within my fingers—how queer it seems—

That make the Now—are full of ugly blemishes. Why lose your beauty, slipping years— Or do I dim it, with my tears?

Yet beautiful, or ugly, I love you, Years— I tell you o'er as would a priest his beads— Oh gleaming beads—aghast I stand— Too soon into—and from—my hand!

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS
INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on proj. method, motivation, the socialized recitation program—special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

"To lead students into membership and service in the Christian Church" is a part of our Association purpose. The success which we attain in our Association is measured by the extent to which we live and accomplish our purpose. Have we been entirely successful in our Christian lives for God? No. Why, haven't we done our best? No. Each of us is a vital part of our whole Association, and each of us has not lived our purpose especially in regard to Sunday School and church attendance. Should we not take an inventory to see that we are doing our parts? Of course there are three groups, probably more, of us, all negligent in a way. There are the ones who always attend both, yet we can so interest others that they would wish to go with us. It is our privilege to do it. There are those of us who are members yet we go only when conditions are favorable, the weather permits and we feel like it. We might remember, "Man cannot serve God and Mammon (Self)" both, for either he will hate the one and love the other: or else he will hold to the one and despise the other." Math. 6:24. Lastly there are those of us who for various reasons have not felt that we could obligate ourselves to go. Maybe we haven't anyone to go with, yet there are girls that would be so glad to take us; maybe we feel we need the sleep at that time yet how could we fail to come to God's House when we've been away a week; maybe we don't know about the class and what is taught, the best way to find out is to go. Lastly just possibly we feel that it is different here, if we were home we would go. Do we not realize that we are losing something in the upbuilding of our characters? As future teachers, we must be Christian community leaders. The demands of the new day will be met only by those who are thoroughly equipped to live and to serve. We are best furnished with this equipment through Bible study, by learning, loving and living the Bible.

Let's begin anew now!

What have been our varied reflections, reactions and benefits of having mission study classes? Two hundred and sixty of us are enrolled, each enjoying a great privilege and opportunity. Let's take more of our friends with us next time.

FOUR YEARS

"Four Years! Goodness, I'd die if I thought I had to stay here four years, I couldn't live through them" a Junior remarks every now and then, especially when a College Senior is nearby. "Well, you don't know what you'll miss if you don't stay four years," she replies.

Not mentioning the pedagogical prestige, better salaries and positions and the other material advantages that a B. S. in education brings, there are new visions, deeper feelings and appreciations, broader understandings, greater opportunities for service and enjoyment in a four year course than a two-year stay at S. N. S. can possibly give. All things can not be absorbed in two years, for it takes more to plumb the depth and bring out the wonderful possibilities of a girl's mind and personality. Think of only two years affiliation and close contact with life in such organizations as our Y. W. C. A. and Student Association, when we might have four years. Why, it takes all of a Junior's time to adapt herself to college life and all of a Senior's to steer herself successfully through the Training School. After having been through these two experimental years, a College Junior and Senior can, so to speak, put such eccentricities and training school mania on the proper shelves with other things either necessary or useful in the modern educated world. Such thinking and study broadens one's outlook and releases one's character, thus fulfilling the real aim of education. B. S. comes to mean to us Better Sense. Self is forgotten, and service, work and happiness just naturally follow of themselves. All in all school days are the happiest and best of lives—let's make them as such as many as possible.

VISITORS

Miss Jane Cobb who is teaching at Keysville spent the week-end with Elizabeth Paylor.

Miss Elizabeth Finch, graduate of '22 teaching in Blackstone was the week-end guest of Misses Ardelle Cogbill and Nonnie Watts.

Miss Mildred Smith from Petersburg was the guest of Mary Nichols for the week-end.

S. N. S. welcomes Sarah von Schilling, who has returned to continue her work here.

WHO'S WHO IN '23

Laziest.....	Mamie Nichols
Peppiest.....	Stella Lang
Most enthusiastic.....	Mary Jefferson
Most Studious.....	Lou Gregory
Most Sporty.....	Mary Bolen
Best singer.....	Katharine Thompson
Biggest Vamp.....	Marjorie Thompson
Thinnest.....	Hefty Landrum
Fattest.....	Marie Sutton
Most intellectual.....	Louise Scott
Most frivolous.....	Marion Camper
Most old maidish.....	Elizabeth Moring
Most indifferent.....	Lois Williams
Most independent.....	Anne Meredith
Best dancer.....	Pearl Young
Biggest Crook.....	Ellen Carlson

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

ALUMNAE NOTES

A message of optimism and courage and inspiration comes to us from the heart and pen of Miss Lula Ocillee Andreias, Dean of Women of Winthrop College, formerly of the English department of Farmville, S. N. S. It is in the form of a poem entitled:

A True New Year.

Let's make this year a new year,
With purposes fresh and strong;
Forget past faults and failures,
Forgive old hurts and wrongs;
Renew our hope and courage,
Fulfill our high desires,
Rekindle love's devotion
And light faith's altar fires.

Let's make this year a true year,
With work of honest worth,
With fun that is the cleanest
And fairest play on earth;
With friendships pure and steadfast,
With sweetest, happiest youth;
With hearts the homes of Honor
And temples meet for Truth.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter held its first meeting of the new year on January 11, in the Normal School. The new president, Miss Elizabeth Lewis, presided, and enthusiastic interest was manifested. During a social hour tongues wagged merrily while fingers flew busily and three sewing machines hummed softly, engaged in making aprons and hemming table linen for the Normal School. This industry is to add big round dollars to the Student Building Fund. Besides the unusually large number of members in attendance, some guests were present and added greatly in the work of the chapter. Mrs. Jamison served delicious chocolate and cake.

During the business part of the meeting many money making projects were discussed and plans laid to carry them out. First on the list was a subscription card-party for which Mrs. Jarman had kindly offered her parlors. The time chosen was Friday afternoon, January 19. Dr. Whitaker has generously offered a movie benefit in January or February. Mr. John Powell is considering a proposal to come to Farmville and his appearance will undoubtedly mean a full house and a substantial increase in the Fund. It is probable that February will be enlivened by some teas. More definite plans for these will be made at the next sewing meeting, Thursday evening, Jan. 18.

Byers—Grumiaux

Miss Florence Louise Crumiaux, of Norfolk, and Mr. Howard B. Byers, formerly of New York but now of Norfolk, were married recently. The church was decorated with Christmas greens and the altar with poinsettias and cathedral candles. Mrs. Florence Howk gave a short organ recital before the ceremony, assisted by the bride's brother, Mr. Ellsworth Grumiaux, who rendered several vocal selections. After a northern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Byers will reside at 407 Warren Crescent, Norfolk.

SOCIAL COLUMN

Miss Anne Meredith was specially honored with a birthday supper given by Miss Earnestine Landrum at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Fallwell, 400 Virginia Street. The party was a complete surprise to the guest of honor who was escorted to the home of Mrs. Fallwell by Miss Landrum. After removing their coats they entered the semi-dark living room lighted only by an open fire. Suddenly the lights were turned on and Miss Meredith was asked to walk into the adjoining room where she found her friends at their places around a lovely table laid in red and white, already for the birthday supper. In the center of the table was a floral decoration of red roses, favors of red hearts were around the table and the scene was lighted with red candles. Place cards were written for Misses Anne Meredith, Marie Sutton, Lelia Burrows, Louise Scott, Evelyn Barnes, Frances Evans, and Earnestine Landrum.

Misses Lois Williams, Kathryn Thompson, Marie Sutton, and Anne Meredith were delightfully entertained at tea Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrit Lear in their apartment on Baptist Hill.

On Saturday afternoon, January 13, the Cunningham Literary Society gave a "bacon bat." The members all assembled in the reception hall at four o'clock and walked to the Meadow where a large fire was built. Everyone then hunted for a stick on which they cooked weenies and bacon. These with sandwiches, pickles, and "dopes" formed a very enjoyable repast. Afterwards, games were played until the time came for the merry crowd to return to school.

Instead of the regular meeting of the Athenian Society an informal social was given to the new members on Tuesday afternoon, January 16.

The new members were first initiated into the society by having each girl perform some stunt after which games were played and refreshments consisting of hot chocolate, cakes and salted peanuts were served.

The meeting adjourned with "fifteen rahs" for the new members, and three yells for the "Athenians" by all.

The Student Volunteers and Y. W. C. A. Cabinet entertained the Ministerial Band of Hampden Sidney Friday evening in the Association room. Several games were played at which the boys and girls became better acquainted while having a good time. As the games were led much dramatic talent was shown in the staging, coaching and final naming of the play, The Gathering of the Nuts. Later everyone truly looked the part as each made, in a short time, a paper hat and then passed in review before the judge who awarded a small hat as prize. Much amusement was afforded by the selling of forfeitures from those caught in playing Feathers; everything from selecting the best looking in the room to a mock marriage was carried out. The boys helped the girls serve light refreshments after which there were songs, yells and farewells.

An old preacher, who always used big words, was once asked, "Why do you use such big words? No one ever understands you."

He quickly asked, "What word?" The reply was, "Procrastination. What does that mean?"

The preacher answered, "Well, that is the foundation of the doctrine of the Presbyterian Church."

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price. Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

A very important business meeting of the Argus Literary Society was held on Tuesday, January 9, at 4:15. The following new officers were elected:

President: Mary Nichols.
First Vice-President: Lovard Priddy
Second Vice-President: Olive Smith.
Recording Secretary: Louise Parsons.
Corresponding Secretary: Lucy Reid Brown.
Treasurer: Ann Calloway.
Reporter: Mary Julia Leech.
Critic: Hope Baines.
Censor: Ann Terrell.

TRAINING SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The recent benefit picture at the Eacho Theatre, managed by the Advisory Board of Patrons was very successful. A considerable sum of money was realized, that will be used to make needed repairs and to purchase equipment for the lunch room.

The children have been active in the community work, incident to the holiday season. The custom of making a Red Cross offering on Armistice Day was continued this year. The children contributed $10.67 for the work of the Red Cross. For Thanksgiving the children contributed 40 baskets of provisions to needy families in Farmville. At Christmas time the children sold 2,000 Red Cross seals and made 36 stockings and sent them properly filled to the sick soldiers at Camp Eustis.

Claudia Flemming received the following letter from an appreciative soldier:

Company A, 34 Infantry,
Camp Eustis, Virginia,

December 24, 1922.

To My Little Friend:

I was the lucky boy to receive your Christmas present, and I thank you very much. It makes me feel good. I am in the hospital at Camp Eustis and could not get home for Christmas, and it makes you feel very down hearted to be away from home on Christmas and I hope you will always be able to enjoy Christmas at home. I hope you have a very happy Christmas and happy New Year.

I remain a soldier,
Private Robert J. Baird.

SENIOR COLLEGE STUDENTS IN S. N. S.

Of the five major offices in the Y. W. C. A. four are held by members of the Third and Fourth Professional classes. Two of the four major offices of the Student Government are held by upper classmen. And the two most responsible positions on the ROTUNDA Staff are held by members of the same classes. That is, of the eleven most responsible positions in three outstanding student organizations, eight are held by upper classmen. These are only a few of the important positions that are held, and that have been held by members of the upper college classes, but they indicate strikingly the large contribution that these classes are making to the life of the school.

Attention is called to these facts not with the purpose of eulogizing the individual members of the upper classes who hold these positions, but with the purpose of pointing out the important place that the upper classes hold, and the great service they are rendering the school.

I think we may assume that the students were elected to these positions because of their superior fitness for the positions. This superior fitness is due in no small part to greater maturity, and the added experience and training acquired in the extended college course. Without taking anything into consideration except the good of the school, the policy of the Board in establishing the college department is abundantly justified. Through the presence in the school for four years of a considerable group of students, a source of leadership, stability, and school spirit is obtained, that could hardly be supplied in any other way.

"THE LAND OF STORY BOOKS"

It is with a strange sense of having lived in some previous world that I recall the enchanted "Land of Story Books" of my childhood. Whenever I see it suggested or hear it recommended that fairy stories, and other children of a fertile and pleasant imagination be eliminated from the child's literature; and the practical, informing products of a sane and conventional grown-up mind be substituted, I cry with my old friend, the White Queen, against the promoter of such heresy, "off with his head!"

Would one deprive a child of all the joys of Mother Goose merely because he never saw a cow with enough ambition to jump over the moon? I defy anyone to prove to me that no cow ever did, for I have seen a picture of one caught in the act. I will admit that the antic was rather unusual, but did not the little dog, the dish and the spoon prove by their actions that the proceeding was not a common, every-day occurrence. So it is with the other rhymes. There is always a sense of proportion about them, and what child is so stupid as to demand so prosaic a quality as mere reason?

Then there are the fairy tales of Grim Anderson and others. I sincerely pity the child who has not followed with breathless interest the adventures of Hansel and Gretel, the Brave Little Tailor, Sleeping Beauty, and Beauty and the Beast! What plain child has not received a ray of hope from the tale of the Ugly Duckling? If the hope fails to materialize later, the child has then grown to an understanding of the fact that beauty is not synonymous with happiness. Lessons too may be derived from these fairy tales. Callous indeed is the little girl who does not learn the beauty of obedience, and faithfulness to duty, as well as the veil of envy and tyranny from the story of Cinderella, as well as from others of that kind. If the rewards of virtue and the penalties of wickedness are somewhat extreme, the lesson is all the more forcible.

I should not, however, recommend an exclusive diet of fairy stories and improbable tales for children any more than I should recommend an exclusive diet of raisins for his physical food. Poetry of child life and activity has always an appeal to a child and will develop a taste for beauty in expression which will be much deeper than if it is acquired later in life. Little poems I learned in my first school days still possess for me a charm and sweetness not contained in any of my later acquaintances in the realm of poetry.

I suppose that Alice's Adventures should be classed with fairy stories, but they always held a distinct place in my life. In fact they are chapters in the history of my youth. I took the journey down the White Rabbit's hole, gently waited downward, slowly motioned to experiment with the various articles on the shelves, and was close by her side until she awoke with her head in her sister's lap. When she journeyed through the looking glass, I partook of her every motion.

A child will learn soon enough of the tragedies and sorrows of life. It is nothing less than cruelty to deprive him of the rosy hue which is spread over the common-place by the delightful fancies embodied in the stories which have stood the test of time and adult criticism. Personally I should be unwilling to exchange my background of childhood literature for any equal volume of reading I have done since. I shall never again have the power, to live with my book friends, that I had then. Now it is easy to read and easier to forget, but the early impressions are enduring to the end.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

Sunday School Teacher: "And Nebuchadnezzar was in the midst of his riotous orgy, when, looking up, he saw the handwriting on the wall. Now can any of you little boys or girls tell me what words he saw?"

Bright One: "Watch your coat and hat."

Phoenix.

Daughter: "Mommer, I'm going to be a model."

Mommer: "What for?"

Daughter: "For Art's sake, Mommer."

Mommer: "Who's Art?"

Record.

Young Wife (reading her new movie scenario): "Two burglars here enter the living hall, and the clock strikes one."

Bored Husband: "Which one?"

Black and Blue Jay.

Ole: "Tillie, will you marry me?"

Tillie: "Yaas, Ole."

A long deadening silence falls. Finally it is broken.

Tillie: "Vy don't you say something, Ole?"

Ole: "Vell, I toink Oi say too muche alreddy."

Sour Owl.

"Just to think," said the tourist, "I came all the way from Boston just to see your wonderful sunset."

"Some one's been stringing you, stranger," answered Alkali Ike, "it ain't mine."

Black and Blue Jay.

Cake Eater (to druggist): "Will you give me something for my head?"

Druggist: "I wouldn't take it as a gift."

And when it rains, it rains alike
Upon the just and unjust fellow
But more upon the just because
The unjust steals the just's umbrella.

Janie D.: "What did you say in your speech in chapel this morning?"

Kitty: "Nothing."

Janie D.: "Oh, I knew that, but how did you say it?"

A peanut lounged on the railroad track.
Its heart was all aflutter.
The 4:19 came thundering down!
Toot, toot!—Peanut butter.

Emily Calcott (after being bumped by strange sophomore): "Hey, don't you know who I am?"

S. S.: "Well, don't you know your own self?"

The girl across the hall says she learned yesterday that the infant Hercules saw snakes while yet in his cradle, and she certainly thinks there was a crying need for a branch of the W. C. T. U. in ancient Greece when the very babies were so corrupt.

Prof. (in Sociology class): "Now, young ladies, if you want to find out more about Darwin's 'Origin of the Species' you must fix your eyes on me for a few minutes."

Teacher (writing on board): "Misbehavior—Johnny Smith, Ellen Jones."

Bright Student: "Teacher, who is Miss Behavior?"

Mother: "Dottie, answer the door."

Dot: "Ma, do doors talk?"

Black and Blue Jay.

2 Grade Pupil (looking at Miss Parsons' new belt buckle): "Miss Parsons, does 'Va. Tech.' stand for Virginia teacher?"

First Convict: "When I git outa dis pen I'm gonna have a hot time, ain't you?"

Second Convict: "Don't know, I'm in for life."

Cracker.

"Say, Mama, was baby sent down from Heaven?"

"Yes, Dear."

"Um, they like it quiet up there, don't they?"

Black and Blue Jay.

She: "Do you see any change in me, Jack?"

He: "No, why?"

She: "I've just swallowed a penny."

Exchange.

"What kind of a plant is the Virginia Creeper?"

"It isn't a plant; it's a railroad."

Little Brother (after reading the Jungle Book): "Didn't they have a lot of collisions in the jungle with all those big beasts running around?"

Big Sister: "Oh, no, Johnny. In those days the animlas had horns."

Lampoon.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Superior Fountain Drinks

and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY and SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON and PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

THE ROTUNDA

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

DON'T FAIL
TO GET YOUR DEGREE!

Vol. 3, No. 14.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

JANUARY 27, 1923

"NOT FAILURE, BUT LOW AIM IS CRIME!"

MASQUERADE BALL

Student Building Benefit.

On Friday evening, January 19, a large number of our faculty and students attended one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season, a benefit costume dance for the Student Building.

The Gym was attractively decorated in colored crepe paper, and—pretty girls in gay costumes representing several nationalities and personages. A prize was awarded the best costumed girl, this being won by Miss Sarah Von Shilling who was dressed very effectively to represent a gypsy.

The music was furnished by the town orchestra and thoroughly enjoyed by spectators and dancers. Refreshments were sold during the entire dance, by costumed waitresses.

The affair was pronounced a decided success by all who attended.

THIRD PROFESSIONAL PERSONAGES

Miss Hiner—Our Man.
Emily Calcott—Court Jester.
Pauline Timberlake—The Poet.
A. B. Treake—The Athlete.
Kitty Kemp—Rodolph Valentino (with our apologies to Mr. Valentino's handsome countenance).

Evelyn Barnes—Primaclonna.
Liz Thompson—The Vamp.
Julia Alexander—The Artist.
Janie Moore—"Songster" ("It's a long way to Tipperary")
Lily Thornhill—"Gone But Not Forgotten."
Agnes Baptist—Class Baby.
Mary Lindsey—The Coach.
Lucy Irving—General Nuisance.
Louise Glenn—"A Good Prospect."
Christine Shields—Sunday Night Soloist.

We wish to announce that 61% of the Third Professional Class was on the Fall Term Honor Roll.

PERSONALS

Misses Kate Trent, Ariana Amonette, Lila Sinclair, Caroline Harrell, Violetta Wilson, Alta Barnes, Gelda Jones and Hilah Butles are visiting their Alma Mater for the week-end of January 19.

Miss Elmer Stringfellow is once more out of the Infirmary where she has been enjoying chicken pox.

Miss Grace Bailey is spending the week-end at home.

DEDICATION

In appreciation of the sympathy and understanding she has always extended to us, and the benefit we have derived from her splendid example, the Junior College Class lovingly dedicate this issue of

"THE ROTUNDA"

to

MISS MARY CLAY HINER

Misses Mary Jefferson and Mary Taliferro are visiting Miss Virginia Hardin in Norfolk.

Miss Sallie Woodard has been called home on account of death in the family.

Misses Annie Glenn Perry and Delia Williams are suffering from Job's complaint.

Misses Parsons and Hodgkin will leave next week for Norfolk to be the guests of Miss Virginia Hardin.

The latest addition to the evenings' entertainment is a three piece orchestra in the "gym." Music furnished by enthusiasts of real music.

Miss Elizabeth Moring spent last week-end in Richmond.

My dear Dr. Jarman:

I was much interested in a booklet of views of the State Normal School which accompanied some correspondence from a class in the Training School to a class abroad. One of the Red Cross representatives in Italy on seeing this booklet asked if it would be possible to secure another copy so that she might frame the picture of the Juvenile Library at Farmville in a library which has recently been established by the Junior Red Cross for some children in Italy. We wrote one of the teachers in Farmville asking for this booklet and received no reply so I am taking the liberty of writing you. If there is any expense attached to the sending of this I shall be glad to meet it.

Thanking you for your attention to this matter, I am

Yours sincerely,

Dorothea Campbell,

Administrator School Correspondence

Junior Red Cross.

This shows that our school is recognized in other countries.

FARMVILLE FACES CRISIS

Freshmen Wear Hats.

During the last cold spell, we noticed with grief and displeasure that several members of the Student Body (mostly from the Freshman class) wore hats when out on the street. When called upon for an explanation, they hummed and hawed a bit, and at last offered the excuse that their heads got cold. Students of the State Normal School for Women at Farmville, Virginia! Do you appreciate the situation? Hats! Does not the thought cause you to swoon? (Well, you might at least be tactful enough to pretend that it does.) For some years this institution has been attempting to make itself a college. How can its aspiration be realized when an insidious influence from within does its best to destroy the collegiate atmosphere? For that is one distinction between a college and a prep school; the one covers its head in shame, the other flaunts its head flamboyantly uncovered. On second thought we are inclined to be more lenient toward the underclassmen. Perhaps they merely resent the fact that the school is not collegiate enough, and in lieu of the usual fried-egg Freshman cap do their best to atone by wearing hats. That is the kindest explanation, at any rate. Of course it may be a revolution, it may be a new school of aesthetics, it may be insanity or it may be the results of being in love—in any case it must be stopped. Let us seize the hat from the head of the next offender and trample it in the mire, at the same time calling upon the assembled multitude to witness that we are doing our best to protect the reputation of our Alma Mater from the slaving lips of the "demnition how-ows."

THIS WEEK'S CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Miss Blackwell	$ 10.00
Mrs. Williams	10.00
Cash	30.00
Mr. W. W. Jackson.....	5.00
Miss Dietrich	20.00
Gladys Allen	5.00
Miss C. B. Taliaferro.....	10.00
A Friend	5.00
Jean Powell	5.00
Mrs. Elizabeth Wat.
Russ Houston	50.00
Miss Abi Russell.....	7.50
Mrs. Louise Ford Waller.....	10.00
Miss Virginia Bugg.....	20.00
Gamma Theta Sorority.....	47.00
Cash	12.00

Total..... $246.50

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-ChiefELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

NewsANNE MEREDITH
AthleticNELL MCARDLE
JokeEMILY CALCOTT
LiteraryPAULINE TIMBERLAKE
ExchangeCAROLYN MORROW
AlumnaeMISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....CATHERINE KEMP
TypistMARTHA PHILLIPS

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE B.S. DEGREE

Does the desire for a degree embody only the privilege of wearing cap and gown, and that of doing a few things which must be denied the students as a body? Those may have entered into our envious desires when, in our freshman year, such heights seemed almost unattainable; but now we realize that the responsibilities of the upper classes are more numerous than the special privileges. We are capable, also, of looking upon the degree itself with an enlarged vision of what its acquisition really means to us.

It is, first of all, a goal toward which we are steadily making our way. We begin now to realize something of what is expected of one who holds such an emblem of work faithfully done, and character successfully disciplined; for attainment to our goal involves greater responsibility than we have yet been called upon to bear.

We can, then, look beyond this goal and see that it is but a stepping-stone to other and greater achievements. It will prove an "Open Sesame" to many opportunities which would not, otherwise, be ours, but beyond that our future success depends upon individual strength and desire to serve. While we are here at school our activities are, of necessity, restricted within prescribed limits. Our true test will come when, with degree in hand, we venture forth to try our wings; some of us for the first time, and others, having paused awhile to renew strength and resources, to soar to heights not reached before.

With these more personal aspirations in our mind, we also recognize another fact: that it is not only desirable, but necessary that we put more energy and spirit into our preparation for our degree than is necessary in an institution whose degrees have been recognized for many years. It is "up to us" to prove, where-ever we may be, that the B. S. degree offered by our Alma Mater is equal if not superior, to that offered by any other college or university. To us is given the privilege, not only of upholding the standards of our Alma Mater, as already known; but of making the degree given by her hand an honor not to be valued lightly, nor to be striven for by any but the most earnest effort of which one is capable.

All this and much more does the B. S. degree mean to us of the Third Professional class as we look forward to the happy day when it shall be ours. Our hopes and fears for the future are embodied in the warning which we have chosen as our class motto: "Not failure, but low aim is crime."

DO YOU WANT A DEGREE?

Read This and Think It Over.

Having resided within the walls of this right noble institution of learning some five sessions, I can say truthfully to the girl who has stayed here one year that each year means a little more than the one that has gone before.

This past September on returning to school I had a peculiar feeling that I was left out. No longer was I a First Professional, nor was I a dignified Senior, to my astonishment (truly that) I found myself a college junior,—a little more than some seniors and not quite as much as others, a horrible feeling of residing on a shaky fence, yet realizing that fence to be substantial enough to hold me on it for nine months.

After the schedule confusion had subsided slightly, to my horror I found that among the faculty there were those who had come to believe by some unknown means, that the minds of the "had been seniors" had developed some six years growth during the summer months. Alas! What were we to do!! What we did do was work the first three months, and by so doing we accomplished results that are reasonably gratifying, in so far as academic records are concerned, according to office records.

Since Christmas we have a little more settled feeling, and as though we had a place in the routine of life. June 1924 isn't so very far off and the longed for degree will be ours.

Fellow students, stop long enough to think before you decide your course of procedure for the coming year. Think well before determining not to return for two more years of college education which will entitle you to your B.S. degree and which will give you recognized prestige over the two year course, and in nine cases out of ten you receive preference to an academic college graduate.

Think well and long before choosing your path; remember, your education is something no one can take from you, and something that will ever repay you for any and every sacrifice you make to obtain it.

RESULT OF ELECTION

Miss Margaret Shackelford has been elected president of the Student Council to fill the unexpired term of Miss Lily Thornhill.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study, Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs—special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

A HINT TO THE WISE

Who Will Be Your Roommate
Next Year?

In my ignorant youth, I once thought it would be a wonderful feeling to have a roommate whose importance would cast a halo of respectability over the entire room. But alas, I have become much wiser and sadder by experience. I'd like to warn all Freshmen who contemplate rooming with any one connected with all activities of the school. I shudder when I think of my long suffering past. Though I am utterly insignificant, I have to endure more troubles than my more imposing roommate.

In the first place, every girl in school has to see her about something or other. She, herself, is always busy or absent, so I have to converse with all visitors. These are always reproachful if I am not able to locate her exactly every minute of the day. I have a sympathy with that utterance of Cain "Am I my brother's keeper?" He was probably more to be pitied than censured. Every one leaves messages, until my poor head is bursting. As a result, I am getting more and more crabbed and cross every day, a regular pessimist. Who wouldn't be, if they never had an instant's undisturbed repose? Think of the effect on a disposition, not angelic to begin with, and you'll realize what possibilities the situation may develop. And that isn't all, by a long shot.

It seems that our room is a dumping ground for materials, costumes and such trash for all purposes. I cannot sit down without getting permission, for fear I might ruin something valuable and have to pay for it out of my slender pocket book. Then, too, I am dreadfully uncomfortable because I am nobody's skinny child, and require lots of elbow room. On top of that I have a reputation for being un-neat, and I get all the blame for the untidy room.

Occasionally a member of the Faculty comes up to call on my important friend. I am always in a most undignified position if nothing worse, and of course I cannot explain matters. I feel disgraced for life consequently, for I know Miss So-and-So will get an ineradicably horrible impression of me which will never leave her.

Heretofore I have kept silent about these misfortunes, but a kindly regard for my fellow citizens inspires me to this effusion. It may help some poor inexperienced Freshman, and save her a year of misery. I always believe in doing things for the good of humanity.

THE DEGREE CLASSES AN ASSET TO THE SCHOOL

Short has been the life of the college course in the Normal School, there is already connected with it a wealth of interest and even of tradition, part of which is of course a heritage left by the two thousand students who have completed the two-year course. The Third Professional, as if she comes from another school, begins her arrival to absorb the atmosphere of the school, to fall unconsciously into the life of the school, to view things from the angle of the normal school girl of the years that have gone before. The characteristics that differentiate life from life in other normal schools and colleges quickly become to her matter-of-fact necessary. So she comes into her her two members of the class for roomers a foothold in the Juniors and heritage—a heritage of a home atmosphere not possible in institutions where the dormitories are scattered; of a class spirit unknown in some of our schools; of a chapel service that is an integral part of our day; of well organized student activities that are of incalculable value; of names of halls and buildings and people that give, in some cases, charm and atmosphere; of a common cause that is one of the ties that bind—the erection of the Student Building; of many other tangible and intangible forms of inheritance.

The degree student in turn adds something to the heritage in her two—or four year residence here. The degree classes add to the sum total of the resources in every direction—an unearned increment in which the whole school shares. They give a sense of continuity and permanence to the life here that is not possible in a two-year student generation; they can by placing the emphasis properly help the whole student body to discriminate between the good, the better, and the best in school life; they help to keep alive and strengthen the customs and traditions that should be kept and to get rid of those that are not desirable; they, so their records in the office show, put a premium upon scholarship and upon school citizenship as well—all these and more the degree classes have added, are adding, and will continue to add to our ideal of what our school shall become as a college for training teachers.

But the added two years of college work must mean something very definite to the student as well as to the school. She should when she receives her degree test what she has received in the light of what Dean Briggs says she has a right to expect if she has lived her four years rightly:

"You have found enough learning to make you humble, enough friendship to make your hearts large and warm, enough culture to teach you the refinement of simplicity, enough wisdom to keep you sweet in poverty and temperate in wealth. Here you have learned to see great and small in their true relation, to look at both sides of a question, to respect the point of view of every honest man or woman, and to recognize the point of view that differs most widely from your own. Here you have found the democracy that excludes neither poor nor rich, and the quick sympathy that listens to all and helps by the very listening. Here too, it may be at the end of a long struggle, you have seen—if only in transient glimpses—that after doubt comes reverence, after anxiety peace, after faintness courage, and that out of weakness we are made strong. Suffer these glimpses to become an abiding vision, and you have the supreme joy in life."

May the college work thus come up to the test the degree classes have a right to apply, and may the classes in turn help in keeping the best we now have and in adding the elements needed to meet changed conditions!

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN-The Jeweler

Monogram Stationery

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

VIRG

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

ROTUNDA

Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

The Association membership appreciates the wonderful opportunity and privilege it had this week in the visit of Miss Margaret Wrong, Athletic secretary for the World Student Joke Christian Federation. Miss Wrong was graduated from Oxford, England and has been exchanging and working abroad for some years. She brought us world messages and contact which are necessities in order to be World Business Assistants. Circulation Assistants are very gratifying and marks a nearer approach to our purpose to have such an interest and attendance at Sunday School, Church and enrollment in Mission Classes.

POETRY

It comes like the hush and beauty of the night,
It goes too deep for laughter
It is a vibration and a light
Of worlds before and after."

SIGNIFICANCE

Now and love poetry one must have at least a small amount of aesthetic education. The aid of this, that power of appreciating beautiful things of life, poetry means anything to the individual. Does the privilege of music is with the uneducated lover of music, doing a few of the lover of poetry who has no doubts of interpreting the beauty of thought, the carefully elaborated harmonies go by unnoted.

What is poetry? The embodiment of age old thoughts, only a few when essence has been reached, into beautifully expressed lines—thoughts that you have probably had a thousand times but had no power to express. Did you ever read a piece of poetry and say at the finish, "I have had that thought, it's mine!" Yes, it is yours and possibly a million others claim it too—and it is theirs. The poet's place in the run of civilization is one to be envied by the best of men, he is the interpreter of beautiful thoughts for all the world. He has the art of expression, the love of beauty and an emotional nature, the combination of which makes the writer of poetry. His power has no law except the perception and love of beauty, they constitute the whole.

One poet put his law into words that we are familiar with:

"Beauty is truth, truth beauty,—that is all Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know."

Emerson tell us

".....if eyes were made for seeing Then beauty is its own excuse for being."

We judge a man by his works; these men before us their philosophy of life in their works, the keynote of all being beauty and the worship thereof.

To go on—in poetry we find every phase of human existence dealt up: advice to the young, for the old, encouragement for the weary, the strong. We find words in every piece of poetry that we

our degree than is necessary in an institution whose degrees have been recognized for many years. It is "up to us" to read that apply to ourselves, things that if heeded would go to help in making us the better individual.

In reading this particular type of literature we find lines and lines that demand careful thought. They appeal to the side of us that is now just a little afraid of what is to come to us in the first few years of life outside the walls of our Alma Mater.

Tho we have little time to spend in meditation, we somehow feel and realize within ourselves that new Life in the Great Beyond. We know not what it holds except opportunity—ours if we care to grasp it. When we read lovely poetry this idea comes to us strongly and impresses us more forcibly than ever that—

The door will soon be open
The key is already turned
We all find ourselves hoping
That a part of the best is learned
A part of the knowledge of men
Collected through ages past
With the aid of the always helping hand
Of the God who expects our best.

The door has swung a tiny bit
Life's arena so brilliantly lit;
By the lights that our lives now lack,
The lights that are lit by service
Of man to his fellows lent
The lights that tell of the sacrifice
That unselfish souls have spent.
We see life's pathway through that door
That now has swung so wide;
We hear the cries of the poor
That have come to their eventide.
Is your life going to help keep glowing
Life's arena so brilliantly lit
By the youths who have done their bit;
With less opportunity than you now have
To reap a harvest in the field of service.

THE CALL!

Life beckons
With a pale white hand;
Eagerly do we go
To what
We do not know!
It is the spell of the unknown
Thrust upon us by Life
As she opens up her gateway
And leads us thru
With a smile.
Some paths lead upward
Others down,
We know not which to take,
Again she smiles
This Life of ours
And claims us all
With the pale white hand
And—
Eagerly do we go
To what
We do not know!

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Dairy

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, S Supplies

ATHLETICS

THE NEW ERA!

In what? In basketball! Who for? For everybody, but especially for the Third Professional Classes. Why? Well, that is a longer story than can be put in a few concise words.

In the first place, basketball, up until two years ago was a "dead" game here at Farmville, as far as obtaining the interest of the school en masse. Nobody except the players themselves were concerned or excited enough to "play the game" heart and soul or who believed that a team representing the school with a schoolful of backers to cheer them on was not only a good but a necessary thing.

The year 1921 marks the beginning of Farmville's intercollegiate events. We played one interschool game that year—with Harrisonburg—at Harrisonburg. The team practiced night and day and did what they could in arousing interest in the game. But it was to no avail, the school's spirit was dead. The team left, with not more than fifty students, including the members of the team who did not make the trip, knowing why, when or where they were going. You don't believe it? With the spirit and co-operation you see now-a-days, it is hard to accept as a fact. It is so, nevertheless. Farmville's team lost the game but they "started something." The next year, it was easier to play intercollegiate games and to stir the slumbering spirit. We played every other Normal School and besides, two teams from Lynchburg. We split even, losing four games and winning four.

This year, the spirit and interest is very much better and although we haven't played any intercollegiate games yet, it has been shown in our class games. You know the result of those.

But did you stop to consider the result of the games the Third Professionals played? The year 1922 marks the beginning of the participation of the Three Professionals in Basketball. Up until then, the Third and Fourth Professional Classes had not shown any active interest in the game. So, the present Third Professional Class, realizing this, and feeling that with four varsity players, they could make a good showing, launched their campaign, secured the services of two recruits for vacant positions on the team, gathered together the remaining twenty-two members of the class for rooters and gained a foothold in basketball. They also split even, losing one game to the Juniors and winning one game from the Seniors. That's not the only result however. They are the fore-runners of a new era in athletics here. Will the classes to follow "keep up the good work?"

Let us be optimistic and hope that since they've paved the way, the others will come behind, making the event bigger and more important as the years pass by. How 'bout it, Farmville?

I love Clarice
For the tilt of her nose
And Rose for her shadowed hair.
Beauty like Anne's
There's no one knows;
Maude's grace is beyond compare.

Mildred, adorable,
With apron and spoon,
Makes delectables luscious and rare;
And Jeanne I adore
With her eyes deep blue
And the candle lights on her hair.

A good sport is Jane.
She tramps and swims,
She rides and she dances and sings—
Oh, I love them all
And I love each for
A special, different thing.

For there's love and love
And still other love
And each may be truest true:
I love each one
For a different trick
But I love you—because you are you.

And laugh as I may
I know just the same
That it's you holds my heart in thrall
For I love each one
When I'm with that one
But you when I'm with them all!

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"
AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and
PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books
Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907
Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.
At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Pauline Russell

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society, which was held on Tuesday, January 16, an unusually enjoyable program was given.

The first number was an account of the lives of David Belasco and John Luther Long, by Mary Julia Leech. Then a synopsis of "Madame Butterfly" was given by Agnes McDuffie. Hope Baines rendered a solo which harmonized beautifully with the story of "Madame Butterfly." The last number was current events by Grace Bailly whose selection of events was very good.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The subscription card-party given at Mrs. Jarman's on January 19, by the Farmville Alumnae Chapter was thoroughly enjoyable and successful. Eleven tables were filled, and bridge, rook, and five hundred were played. Refreshments were served at the end of the game. Twenty-seven dollars was realized from the sale of tickets, and gifts of friends. This was the first of a series of parties planned for the winter and spring. The next one will probably be at Mrs. E. R. Booker's on February 13.

The Chapter held another meeting at the school on Thursday evening, January 18, at which time further progress was made on the sewing order undertaken by the Chapter.

The moving picture benefit for the Farmville Chapter will be given both afternoon and evening of Monday, January 29. The picture will feature Ethel Clayton in "The Cradle."

Miss Kellogg Holland, of Richmond, recently visited Miss Rockett Walton.

Miss Rachel Frasier, of Bluemont, a former student at S. N. S., was recently married to Mr. Daniel Pancoast, of Purcellville. Both are very popular in the county. They will make their home near Purcellville.

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

"Garage Row."

Due to the fact that the building restrictions require that at least $10,000 be spent in the construction of homes in a certain residential district of Dallas, Texas, near Southern Methodist University, many families, and among them several members of the faculty have erected garages as their homes. The name of "Garage Row" has been suggested for this street which is now known as University Boulevard.

S. I. N. A.

H. S. C.: "That snappy fellow you just danced with is in my class."

S. N. S.: "You flatter yourself."

Laura, Queen of the Cannibals, has just finished the last juicy morsel of the poet.

"Your Royal Highness, what epitaph shall we place over his bones?"

The Queen pondered for a moment; then a roguish smile played around the corners of her mouth.

"Why not simply say, 'Here lies the poet Laureate'?"

—Gargoyle.

The girl across the hall says that talk may be cheap, but gossip sure is expensive.

A maiden at college named Breeze,
Weighed down by B.A.'s and M. Deeze,
Collapsed from the strain, the Doc said, "'Tis plain She's been killing herself by degrees."

—Octopus.

Overworked Soph: "Say, Liz, find me a sonnet for English class."

Liz: "Sure."

O. S.: "But don't get one that's too long."

Legal Student: "What are you going to do after you pass the bar?"

Legal Co-ed: "I don't know. What would you suggest?"

Legal Student: "Why don't you join the Follies?"

—Boll Weevil.

Flapper (to returned Rhodes Scholar):
"Tell me, is this Oxford movement anything like our own dances?"

—Georgia Cracker.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS

INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN
FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND

ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAINE COMPANY

INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS

CHARLOTTESVILLE...VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

SENIOR
ISSUE!

THE ROTUNDA

The Green and White
Will Wave On High!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3, No. 15.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

FEBRUARY 3, 1923

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS LYCEUM CONCERT

Mary Potter and Boston Symphonic
Quintet at S. N. S.

The sixth number of the Lyceum course was very interesting and entertaining; inasmuch as it starred Miss Mary Potter, a native of Richmond, Virginia. It is seldom that an audience is so fortunate as to have an opportunity to hear a truly fine contralto voice—a voice that has received none but favorable criticism throughout the country. All of the songs rendered by Miss Potter were received with applause. But an unusual combination of power, quality and sweetness of tones called forth the applause of the audience again and again when she sang "Spring Song of the Robin Woman," "Mon cœur s'ouvre a ta voix," and as an encore, "An Indian Love Song."

Mr. Herman Sulzen, the director of the Boston Symphonic Quintet, showed marked ability both as a conductor and soloist. Fritzi's "Russian Rural Scene" was so well played by the Quintet that one with a little imagination could almost see the Russian peasants, in their gay holiday garb, on Fair Day, dancing and making merry at the end of a day of selling and buying in the village market. "Fairy Tales" and "Ad-

[Continued on page 2.]

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. Kline and Miss Rice representing the State Board of Health have been conducting a dental clinic in the Training School for the past two weeks. The teeth of all children were examined, and reports were sent home to the parents, advising them of the work that needed to be done. Dr. Kline also performed the necessary operations where parents specifically asked for him to do so. Also, a large number of children are going to local dentists to have the work done.

The purpose of the work is educational in part, to show the parents the dental work that the children need, and to emphasize the importance of keeping the teeth and mouth in good condition. In part the work was corrective, to actually repair the teeth of the children.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

A very important meeting of El Circulo Espanol was held Saturday afternoon, January 20th, at 2 o'clock. The following new officers were elected:

La presidente..... Lelia Peebles Burrow
La Vice-presidente..... Ruth Draper
La Secretario..... Dama Hill
La Tesorero..... Gertrude Redford
La Reporter..... Daisy R. Goodman

As an expression of our love for one who has always been loyal to the class of '23 we dedicate this issue of the ROTUNDA to FLORENCE BUFORD, our Senior Man.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO STUDENT BUILDING IN PAST WEEK

The contributions last week for the Student Building were, on account of the number of them and the amount, very gratifying. The following donations were made:

Jean Powell.....	$2.50
Ethel La Boyteux.....	10.00
Sigma Sigma Sigma.....	56.00
Miss Smitley.....	40.00
Miss Alice Carter.....	20.00
R. Belle Burke.....	25.00
Miss M. V. Rice.....	20.00
Mary Booker.....	1.00
Lennie Blankenship.....	5.00
Carey Jeter.....	25.00
Miss Ada Bierbower.....	20.00
Moving Pictures—Benefit.....	8.56
Annie Via.....	5.00
Ruby Paulett.....	10.00
Total.....	$248.06

"GATHER YE ROSEBUDS WHILE YE MAY"

Dear Second Professionals:

I have heard that you were going to have a special number of the ROTUNDA all for your own and I wonder if you will let me talk to you through your issue. I am not waiting for a reply but am going to take a chance on your kindness and send a message to all Second Profs.

Perhaps you are wondering what I can possibly have to say to you. For almost nine years I have sat silently but thoughtfully here in the center of your school life—the hub of your universe—the ROTUNDA, and at last I am going to break my long silence. Don't you think it quite natural for me to talk to you through the ROTUNDA? But are you wondering why I should be breaking this nine year silence by talking to you—Class of 1923? Are you thinking that I am going to give you a scolding? Perhaps I am, but it will be because I love each of you and perhaps it is because you are such an extraordinary class in lots of ways.

I have just one big question to ask you, dear girls—"Are you gathering your rosebuds while you may?" You know the rest of the saying. Are you getting all out of your school life and the associations thereof that you can? Are you or are you not leaving valuable bits between the covers of your books? To use some of the slang I have heard reechoing around me—"get your money's worth, girls." When you get out in the state I am afraid you won't have time to search through your text books for what you have failed to get.

Again are you getting all that your teachers have to offer? Or do you sit half asleep in your classes, or do you sit stupidly with mouth open so all that you hear comes right on out?

Then too are you using the training school as you should? I wouldn't cut my observations if I were you—but would spend extra time in other grades. Now, I see a lot of you 2nd Prof. sitting in the Reception Hall observing your fellow students with gossiping ears and eyes,—I see so many of you pass by me on your way down town to observe and be observed. This should not be.

There is nothing that hurts the very heart of me quite so much as to see girls gossiping, repeating what they do not know to be absolutely the truth. Dear Second Prof's, you are leaders by virtue of your position and the work you are preparing for and I do wish you would take a decided stand against gossip. I would dearly love to see a stock placed by my pedestal and all gossipers placed therein.

Leaving now the Academic side of school life, what are you getting? Do you know that it is very probable that you will have to take

[Continued on page 3.]

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFFEditor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOWBOARD OF EDITORS:News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERROMANAGERS:Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

Here's to the class of '23
Whose motto is "We Can."
We pledge our hearts in loyalty
To Buford our "Senior Man."

She's been true to us for two whole years,
She's led us to victory—
When defeated we've shed no tears—
For we're the class of '23!

"Buford 'tis thee for '23,"
We sing as a toast to you.
For we're the class of '23
The faithful, tried and true.

E. Y. B.

SENIORS AT S. N. S.Heard Everyday.

"How many times have you been down town this week? Now don't abuse Senior privileges!"
"Going to the Drawing Room?"
"How do you organize lesson plans?"
"Just wait 'till you get to the Training School."
"Every day, in every way, we are becoming more and more Seniors."

Last year we waited breathlessly—almost—to be Seniors. Those high and mighty folk who went to the Training School every day for at least three months and knew how to write lesson plans were to be looked upon with round eyes. They could even sit up in the Drawing Room every night until eleven o'clock to—Oh, yes, to study, of course! They really made believe they had lots of work to do but we didn't believe it, you know.

Father Time has "autoed" over another three hundred and sixty-five days and "day by day, in every way, we have become Seniors."

We can go to the Training School, now—first, to watch, (as the Cat watched the Queen), some miserable predecessor of ours toiling along the road to pedagogy and later—for the express purpose of "helping and watching the little minds sprout," and to be watched by our successors. We are sitting up in the Drawing Room every night—studying, of course! We have lots of work—but nobody believes it!

Ours is the privilege of writing lesson plans and as Caesar said of Gaul so we say of them,
"All Lesson Plans are divided into three parts, organization—more organization—most organization."

It is we—the Seniors of '23—who have a Senior Day the first Tuesday of every month, on which day we wear white and green and become very clanish. Klu Kluxey almost!

Now, the Senior feeling is very complex—quite unexplainable, to tell the truth. There seems to be a muddle of Training School, lesson plans, Hygiene, Civics, Phy. Ed. Methods, etc.—just like an old-fashioned "what-not," but—

"Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?"

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS LYCEUM CONCERT

[Continued from page 1.]

oration" were other selections that were very much enjoyed.

The program included the following numbers:

1. Egmont Overture.....Beethoven
Quintet.
2. a. "It Was a Dream".....Eilenberg
b. "Romance".....Hegner
Quintet.
3. Aria. Mon cour s'ouvre a ta voix
C. Saint-Saens
Miss Potter.
4. "Adante Cantabile".....Tchaikowsky
String Quartet.
5. Faust Fantasie.....Sarasate
Violin Solo.
Herman Sulzen.
6. Russian RuralFriml
Quintet.
7. Songs. a. Mah Lindy Lou.....Strickland
b. A Lullaby.....Wild
c. Hard Trials.....Burleigh (Negro Spiritual.)
Miss Potter.
8. ElegieMassenet
Cello Solo.
Gilbert Sidman.
9. a. Fairy Tales.....Komzak
b. AdorationBorowski
Quintet.
10. Songs.
a. The Old Road.....Scott
b. Tally-HoLeoni
c. The Spring Song of the Robin Woman
Cadman
(Shanewis.)
Miss Potter.
11. Hungarian Fantasie.....Tobani
Quintet.

DAVIDSON'SDepartment Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive
Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSSES DAVIDSONThe Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch
Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENTAND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS*Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'SMAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned
Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study.
Departments on proj- method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs... special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

S. N. S. GIRLS HELP TEA ROOM

At a student body meeting Tuesday evening, January 23, Dr. Jarman reminded the girls of their promise to contribute a certain amount every month for four months, for the purpose of installing mirrors and a console table in the tea room. After being informed that the first instalment was due, the girls went to their rooms, and soon returned to give a glad hand (with coins therein) to Dr. Jarman's able assistant—a money box.

By virtue of this contribution, the tea room is more ours than ever. Let's show our appreciation of the new decorations in it by continuing to pay our instalments, and by otherwise supporting it.

S. N. S. GIRL WINS HONORABLE MENTION IN CONTEST

"El Eco," a Spanish paper published by W. Page and Co., Garden City, Long Island, New York, offered five prizes for the best letters from students stating why "El Eco" was a good school paper, and why it should be studied in Spanish classes.

Miss Dama Hill, of our school, has won third place in honorable mention. She has two places ahead of the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The conditions were that no suggestions nor corrections be made by the teacher.

WHERE WERE YOU SUNDAY NIGHT?

The Tale of the Dead Lights.

The Wall Street brokers were unable to account for a sudden jump in the price of shares in the X. Y. Z. Candle Co. on Tuesday morning, January 23. Had they communicated with S. N. S. at Farmville, 'twould not have been long 'er they learned the cause of rise of this particular company's stock.

It was Sunday afternoon. The 5:30 bell rang and still we wrote long, interesting letters to our dear ones. But some of us needed "light on the subject" and with a sigh rose to turn the magic light on. Lo and behold! No light cometh! "Oh well, Mr. Toller very likely turns the main switch on on Sundays, and he's not on duty yet." We wait patiently. Supper bell rings. We break several trunks, bump into a dozen or more girls, and finally reach the reception hall, without the aid of crutches. What do we see adorning the pedestal of our Joan of Arc? Lamps! We enter the dining room and find a table here and there graced by a lamp or candle. For awhile only subdued tones are heard—the dim lights have had their effect.

It is 7 P. M. and anxiously we await our Hampden-Sidney knight's arrival. But we are doomed to disappointment. Why, oh why, must the lights go out on Sunday night so that our "date" has to return to his den and brood?? over the trick Dame Fortune has played him. "Spooky Alley" lived up to its name. Did you hear the residents of that illustrious hall discussing the size, shape, and general appearance of the ancient ghosts who paid their long past due call to them during those few precious hours of utter darkness? (Apologies to the author of The Fall of the House of Usher.)

Monday found us all down town, spending our pennies for tallow candles and matches. The lights were shining brightly, but "Preparedness" was our motto.

"GATHER YE ROSEBUDS WHILE YE MAY"

[Continued from page 1.]

charge of a High School Literary Society out in the state? What are you giving to your Literary Society so that it in turn can be of service to you?

'Tis true also that all of you will be called upon to do some form of Athletic Work. Do you know a "goal shooter" from a "goalkeeper"? Do you know one new game that thirty or forty children can play? I am afraid some of you are going to be rather dumb about your Farmville Normal Varsity record when you get to discussing basket-ball with girls from the other normals.

What about friends—are you making those life-long friends so often made in school life or are you of the changeable jumpy kind? Do you know each other Second Prof? and what about it 2nd Prof. Class of 1923 as a class—do you care what they say about her? You are the largest class in number, can't you be the largest in school spirit and class spirit? Are all of you doing your part in making this a great cooperating class?

Yes, I love everyone of you—good, bad and indifferent! And I want you to be remembered here in the years to come and also to remember us. Can't you get the come back or write back habit? I shall always be glad to hear from you and more than glad to have you gather around me in the years to come.

Now, in the last few months of your school life—stop and think of the days to come when we shall see and hear you no more as students. Fill your mind, heart and soul with the spirit and ideals of the Farmville Normal.

Remember that only by giving can you receive—and live so you can in turn be remembered as the class that loved its Alma Mater whole-heartedly and in loving so gave to her the best they had.

Best wishes for each of you.

Joan of Arc.

We've heard of a Welsh rabbit, but we never could decide whether the rabbit came from Wales, or the wales from the rabbit.

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS

INSURANCE THAT INSURES

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN

FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Virginia.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN

HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

Those of us who are Seniors and those who hope to be, all want to be worthy representatives of the whole life of S. N. S. We want to enter every activity while we are here in order to be well-rounded, broadened graduates from our Alma Mater. We sometimes are asked what constitutes a good education, and our answers vary but, perhaps, we all agree on certain fundamentals which include active interest in the life around us.

The Young Women's Christian Association is one of these activities which might be said to include almost all phases of school life, certainly opportunities for extensive service and leadership in community and campus activities. In its many-sided work, everyone has a sphere of interest somewhere and a work to be done. We think of education as including with service, broadened viewpoints, strengthened characters, world-wide visions and ideals. Contact with Association life in its local, national, and international affiliations aids us here. We cannot be narrow in any sense of the word to be of real service. We must associate with others here and read of others away. Do we read? "The true university of today is a collection of books," we believe this and yet we do not even make full use of a splendid collection of magazines and religious periodicals in our reading room. We need this extensive reading as a basis. Again, when we go out into the state, we shall be called on to lead in community activities, especially Sunday School teachers. We need the Sunday School teacher's training courses offered in each church as an essential part of our life's equipment. Let's realize our vast opportunities offered for life's equipment and seek to grasp and use as many of these resources as will be possible in our remaining school life.

SOCIAL COLUMN

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Allan Stokes had the following to tea: Misses Georgie Norris, Ardelle Coghill, Nannie Watts, Doris Beale, Belle Atkins, Virginia Beale, Mary Virginia Walker, Mary Bibb, Abby Edwards, Jean West and Elizabeth Moring.

Dr. and Mrs. Tidyman entertained the college seniors on Friday evening, January 26th. Playing quints furnished much amusement. Misses Landrum and Camper were most adroit at this game. So much enthusiasm was aroused that Miss Scott is contemplating making a clay model of Miss Landrum which will rival the classic "Discus Thrower."

A questionnaire was compiled by means of which much valuable information concerning the faculty was obtained. The answers to the following questions were discovered:

1. Who is the neatest member of the faculty?
2. What member of the faculty is most tried?
3. Name a grain, a measure, and a city in the faculty.

Miss Meredith was voted most clever in asking and answering questions.

Amid much laughter the guests were led into the dining room which was decorated with the class colors, gold and white. The ingenuity of the hostess was shown in the refreshments served. Each plate contained an exact replica of the class flower, the daisy. This proved to be a delicious egg salad. The hostess also thoughtfully provided a "date" for each one present.

Unexpected talent was revealed upon the return to the living room. Miss Moring showed amazing skill in playing the piano, while Misses Williams and Scott sang a duet with marvelous expression.

All too soon adieux had to be said, but each guest wore home a nosegay of maiden hair fern and daisies as a memento of a most pleasant evening.

PERSONALS

The following girls spent the week-end of January 26-28 out of town: Misses Annette Anderson, Evelyn Barnes, Lois Childress, Mabel Cathey, Kathleen Crute, Ruth Draper, Ford Eubank, Mary Eggleston, Frances Evans, Elizabeth Fuqua, Lou Gregory, Helen Glenn, Elsie Gray, Susie Garden, Kate Johnson, Mary Jefferson, Louise Jackson, Josephine Moses, Miriam Odom, and Ruby Walton.

Misses Mildred Dickerson, Carolyn Coghill, and Thelma Yost were guests of friends in school for the week-end.

S. N. S. welcomes Miss Elizabeth Coghill who has recently entered school.

Dr. Jarman attended a meeting of the Virginia Normal School Board at East Radford Saturday, January 27th.

JOURNEY OF TRAVELLERS CLUB

The Travelers went on a very enjoyable journey at the regular meeting of the Travellers Club, when Miss Katherine Redford took them to Porto Rico. Miss Redford taught in Porto Rico all last winter and she gave a very interesting account of her experiences while there. Her talk was made more vivid through a collection of pictures taken of people and places of interest in Porto Rico. Evidently the speaker made a deep impression on some of the girls as several are contemplating teaching there in the near future. By special request from the club, Miss Redford will continue her talk at the next meeting of the Travellers Club. All are invited to come.

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over

Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society which was held on Tuesday, January 23rd, an unusually enjoyable program was rendered.

One of the oldest members, Elizabeth Morning, gave a talk on the past of "Argus" and plans for her future.

The rest of the meeting was given over for social recreation. Sandwiches and chocolate were served.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, January 23, 1923. After the business was discussed the following program on Lee and Jackson was rendered:

Song—"Dixie," by Society.
Recitation—"The Sword of R. E. Lee," Elizabeth Paylor.

"What Lee and Jackson Mean to Virginia," Ardelle Moore.

Reading—"Stonewall Jackson's Way," Carrie Alford.

Contest: "Questionnaire on Lee and Jackson."

JEFFERSON LITERARY SOCIETY

The Jefferson Literary Society held a very interesting meeting January 23rd. The program consisted of the life of Thomas Nelson Page, and several selections were read from his writings.

The following officers were elected for the coming term: President, Anne Robertson; Vice-President, Sadie Kobre, Recording Secretary, Clara Thompson; Corresponding Secretary, Frieda Crockin; Reporter, Ida Hill; Critic, Frances Cobb; Censor, Dorothy Askew.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Mary Lydia "quarrels."
Gracie "bets."
Rebekah "aims."
Margaret "shakes-a-foot."
Agnes "walk'er."
Christine's "arms strong."
Lelia "burrows."
Kitty's "cold."
Marshall has a "great head."
Nancy has a "lion."
Erna "shot-well."
Mamie has "nichols."
Lovard is "pretty."
Margaret's "right."
Dorothy "deals."

Mary G.: "Oh, who is going to see Venus in the morning?"

Freshman (who had cut chapel Friday): "Who's she?"

Get your lessons before they get you.

Jessie Carter: "Dr. Field, I think I swallowed a tack, and it is stuck in my throat."

Dr. Field (after examining Jessie's throat): "Jessie, I can't find any tack. When you go home Christmas you'd better have an X-ray picture taken of it."

Jessie (excited): "I don't think the tack is worth an X-ray picture!"

Miss Mary: "Girls, please don't iron and curl your hair in your room."

Louise Scott (holding up a picture of a zebra before her class): "What is this?"

Johnnie: "A horse in a bathing suit."

Johnny: "May I call tonight?"

Susie: "But our lights are out of order."

Johnny: "Have you dates for the rest of the week?"

Miss T. (in Sunday School Class): "Why was Goliath very much astonished when David hit him with a stone?"

Elizabeth Duling: "Because such a thing had never entered his head before."

FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Farmville won her first Basketball game of this year when the Varsity beat Petersburg High School 32-11.

A few changes were made in Farmville lineup since it was a practice game in view of the intercollegiate games to come, the first to be played tonight in Harrisonburg. Bell was substituted for Stringfellow, Smith for Sexton, and Hall for Sawyer.

The game was not very exciting after the first few seconds, Farmville outclassing her opponents in height and pass work.

The first half ended with the score 14-6 in Farmville's favor and the Varsity scored 18 points to Petersburg's 5 in the second half.

The only thing that can really be commended was the splendid spirit of P. H. S. Although outclassed, they played earnestly throughout the game. Farmville did not play as well as she might have, and neither did Farmville support her team as she should and will be expected in the future.

Varsity Members!—the whole school is looking to you for a good season. Are you going to give them a final score of which they'll be proud and are you going to show them that you are worthy of their support?

Farmville Backers!—the team is looking to you for a good, "healthy" backing. Are you going to give them the support they want and need and are you going to make them proud of you?

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & MCINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—

Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

Policeman: "Young man, you must accompany me."

He: "Awright, offisher, what'll you sing?"

—Blue Jay.

He: "I spent a lot of money at Kelley pool this winter."

She: "Do you like it as well as Hot Springs?"

—Purple Cow.

Jimmie and Willie were having a heated argument about the uses of turpentine. Jimmie vowed that it was used for fleas, and Willie (who had reason to know) was equally sure that it was for a cold. In the midst of the discussion Jimmie appealed to his elder brother in the next room.

"Bill, isn't turpentine for fleas?"

"Yes, if they want it."

For beauty I am not a star
There are people more handsome by far,
But my face I don't mind it
For I am behind it.
It's the folks out in front that I jar.

Source Forgotten.

In Spanish class the students were laboriously studying verbs. Lucy Irving had a question. "If I said, 'I have not spoken today,' what would that be?"

And a voice from the rear of the room answered, "We-ell, not the truth, anyway."

Hey frosh, what time is it?
How'd you know I was a frosh?
Guessed it.

Then guess what time it is!

—Va. Reel.

Prof.: "Sir, how many stars are there in the elements?"

Stude: "There are —er—er three—hundred—eight billion—er—two—hundred—twenty-five million, six—hundred—fifty-two thousand, no hundreds and eighty-seven."

Prof.: "Eh? On what authority do you base your statements?"

Stude: "Sir, if you can't take my word for it, count them yourself."

—Boll Weevil.

Prof.: "Success, gentlemen, has four conditions."

Voice from back row: "Tough luck, the registrar will kick it out of college."

—Burr.

First negro: "Say, nigger, you couldn't live up where I come from—it's so hard up dere dat de canary birds sing bass."

Second negro: "Law, Mose, dat ain't nuffin

—over dere at Hampden-Sidney where I come from, dey's so hard dey requires the sparrows to wear muzzles."

The young man played for a heart,
The young lady a diamond played.
The old man came down with a club,
And the sexton used a spade.

—Boll Weevil.

Study your lessons while you may
For time is still a-flying;
Your Math and History for today
You ought to be a-tryin'.

This tedious term of school day drear
Already fast is going
And soon when mid-exams appear
Your ignorance you'll be showin'.

That girl does best who day by day
Learns just what is assigned her
Then no fears of tests will ere dismay
Nor "notes" be sent to remind her.

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Rhodes Scholarships.

The Rhodes Scholarship committee for Virginia met at the University of Virginia this year and chose the Rhodes scholars for this state. Messers Baker and Campbell, of the University of Virginia were the successful men. The Rhodes Scholarship carries with it a sum of $350 and it is tenable for three years.

S. I. N. A.

No Stadium for University of Chicago.

An interesting attitude, taken by the students and faculty of the University of Chicago regarding athletics, has come to light in a recent editorial in the Daily Maroon, official student publication.

The editorial declared that the students and faculty of that institution do not want a stadium and the University need not cater to the public's football taste.

S. I. N. A.

R. M. C. Will Enter Triangular Debate.

The Debate Council has this week posted notice of the first intercollegiate debate for the season of 1922-23. This debate is to be a triangular affair between the colleges of Hampden-Sidney, Roanoke, and Randolph Macon. The question is: Resolved, That a Bonus Measure Similar to the Defeated Veteran's Adjusted Compensation Bill Be Adopted by the United States Government. R. M. C. will uphold the affirmative against Roanoke at Ashland and the negative against Hampden-Sidney at Hampden-Sidney.

S. I. N. A.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock	$ 50,000.00
Surplus	100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.
2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND

ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dermisond AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAINE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

$10,000 IN CASH
FROM THE ALUMNAE
BY MARCH 7!

THE ROTUNDA

HAVE YOU SENT YOUR CONTRIBUTION?

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3. No. 16.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

FEBRUARY 10, 1923

STUDENT BUILDING NUMBER

State Normal School for Women,
Farmville, Virginia.
February 10, 1923.

Dear Alumnae:

Not long ago the students in school met in the Auditorium to bring in their Santa Claus gifts to the Student Building Fund. They were very happy and very enthusiastic. One of the girls proposed that they do a snake dance through the halls singing this little song:

We're coming, we're coming,
This brave little band;
A nickel, a nickel,
In each tiny hand.

They went through the halls, dropping out of the ranks as they came to their rooms, and joining the band later on as they returned to the Auditorium. As they came up to put their nickels and quarters and dollars on the platform, they were greeted by applause from the ones already there. When the nickels were counted, it was found that the "tiny hands" had brought in about one hundred dollars.

Then Dr. Jarman made a remark which prompted me to write this letter to you. He said that he wished the alumnae would "snake-dance" all over Virginia and do as well as the students did that night. I felt that I must start that snake dance right then and there, and I didn't wait longer than the next morning.

I am so proud that I have the privilege as president of the association to lead our snake dance. I know the hearts of the alumnae, so I know the spirit of love and enthusiasm with which you are going to join in the ranks. I can see the line growing—the hand of the vice-president, Mary Clay Hiner, is on my shoulder—the other officers are following her. This is what we are singing;

We're coming, we're coming,
This strong mighty band;
Five dollars, five dollars,
In each wielding hand!

Here is my five dollar bill. Already members of the Farmville Chapter are in the line with five dollars each to put into the box when we finish our snake dance on Founders Day—March 7th. For that is what we want to do: BRING IN FIVE DOLLARS EACH AND WE CAN PRESENT TO DR. JARMAN $10,000 IN CASH BY FOUNDERS DAY!

I can think of no way for us to celebrate Founders Day this year more fitting than our making this cash contribution to the Building Fund. The individual contributions will be credited on the pledges, and it will be the beginning of payments of those who have not made pledges, as yet. The building is going up rapidly; and this means that the contractor is calling for money. We can't afford to borrow, for the interest is too expensive.

STUDENT BUILDING IN PROCESS OF ERECTION.

Don't put off doing this. Write a check now before you finish reading the ROTUNDA and send it in to Dr. Jarman. It isn't much for each one to do, but the aggregate if every one responds to this will mean a splendid sum.

Cordially yours,

PAULINE CAMPER.

Miss Florence Buford:

Get in the game and win. We're with you.
Senior Class.

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

Alumnae! Alumnae!
If only you knew
How hard we're working
You'd get to work too.

You'd give of your time,
And you'd save up your cash—
You'd be so enthused
That you'd even get rash

And send in a check
For a hundred or so,
And be fully repaid
Just to see the Fund grow.

For its growing and growing,
A bit every day;
If you've put in a pledge
Hurry up with your pay.

Every check that comes in Helps the Building along
And causes our hearts
To break forth into song.

So, get busy, Alumnae!
And work night and day!
Send your pledges and checks—
And delight "J. L. J.!"

Have you sent your $5.00?

February 10, 1923.

To the Members of the Alumnae Association:

You probably know that we have let the contract for the first two stores of our Student Building, at a cost of forty-eight thousand dollars. I have made up my mind to add the other two stories if the necessary amount can be raised.

This whole project is built on faith in the loyalty of our alumnae and friends and as the days go by my faith is strengthened—I know it can be done and will be done.

When our faculty of forty members pledges five thousand dollars (one tenth of the amount we are raising) and eight members of the Home Department give or raise another thousand, it certainly seems that our twenty-five hundred alumnae should have no trouble in raising forty-five thousand; if they would give in the same proportion, it would amount to three hundred thousand dollars. You can make your own calculation and see that none of them would have to make a real sacrifice in order to reach their goal. Every member of the Alumnae Association is asked to give or raise a minimum of ten dollars a year for a period of five years, and to sign a pledge card to that effect; if thoroughly interested in doing something for their Alma Mater and in having a share in this undertaking, every one will be glad to fall in line and comply with the request.

One out-of-town friend of the School has sent in his check for five hundred dollars; another, for a hundred dollars; and a number of smaller contributions have been sent through students—one student alone has raised a hundred and thirty dollars among her friends and several others as much as twenty-five dollars. Why? . . . because they are interested!

The present student body will undertake to raise at least ten dollars apiece by Founders Day, March 7th.

The Farmville Chamber of Commerce has unanimously endorsed the erection of the Student Building and will appoint a Committee to canvass the town during the month of February, fixing as their goal thirty thousand dollars, and will make their report at the Founders Day Exercises.

We are hoping that every Alumna, without an exception, will send in a contribution before March 7th. Those who have made pledges are urged to bring their payments up to date and those who have not made pledges are urged to cut out, fill, and return the card printed in this issue.

Not only are our students working as students, but they are also working through their organizations; in November the Dramatic Club made a cash contribution of five hundred dollars.

Remember that the Student Building is to be the largest and handsomest building on the campus and that it needs your help.

Yours very truly,

J. L. JARMAN.

"AT THE COUNTY FAIR"

To Be Presented by Farmville Glee Club,
February 16 and 17.

The attention of the alumnae is particularly called to the fact that the Glee Club Opera will run for two nights, Friday and Saturday. Those who will not be able to reach Farmville in time for the performance Friday night will be able to attend the opera Saturday night.

The story of the opera, "At the County Fair" deals with two mothers who have each lost a son. It is very interesting and also at times, very amusing.

The principal roles of the Salvation Army group are taken by Misses Kathleen Morgan, Louise Jones, and Olive Smith.

Miss Anabel Treake is very interesting as the "Honorable Mrs. Van Rensselaer."

Miss Katherine Kemp is the leading character in the Italian group.

The fun of the opera will be supplied by Miss Nell McArdle as "Lizzie" and Miss Janie Moore as "James Eddy, the Balloon Man." Those of the alumnae who saw the "Snowman" in "The Land of the Fairy Snow" will know what to expect of "James Eddy."

FOUNDER'S DAY MARCH SEVENTH

What Founder's Day Should Mean.

The privilege of celebrating each year the birthday of our school should be a source of inspiration to us all. In the first place, we are led on this day to take an inventory of what we have done in the way of an institution for the professional training of teachers. This study is a matter of no small moment, for it begets the pride that makes for such loyalty as we need and as we have always had in furthering the aims of our school. In the second place, we take time on this day to acquaint ourselves with the story of how we have become what we are in these less than forty years. The unfolding of this almost miraculous progress inspires us to catch a vision of what we may be, so we pause to become conscious of certain aims and aspirations yet unattained, and to project further plans for the development of the institution that is our Alma Mater.

HUMAN NATURE IN CHICKENS

In my studies of evolution, I have not yet discovered whether or not man passed through the bird stage, but I am sure he must have or else how is it that man resembles a chicken in so many different ways? The title would seem to indicate that chickens, in their evolution, passed through the man stage. Who knows, perhaps so. Whether this be true or whether we change the title to "Chicken Nature in Humans," we will agree that they are alike in many ways.

When we see a rooster strutting proudly around among a flock of hens, we think immediately of the young man who walks proudly around thinking that all the girls are crazy about him; who struts pompously down the street sending killing glances at the girls and charming them so that they can talk of nothing else for weeks. When we see a rooster flap his wings and crow, we think of the young man of college age, who keeps his crowd entertained by the latest of his wonderful achievements and especially of the way in which he brought the conceited young freshmen down.

The middle aged man can hardly congratulate himself on the fact that he has outgrown the foibles of youth and resembles no longer this, his possible ancestor. He, probably, still has the crowing habit. We can see him now at the club, telling how he won a brilliant game of golf or how he pulled off a business deal that had baffled all his associates. Most of all we think of the middle aged man, when we see the rooster roam over the field, find some choice tidbit and, after he has eaten all he wants, call loudly to his family to come and partake of the meal which he has so generously supplied. The head of the home comes in after a successful day in the office, sinks into the big armchair, and speaks thusly to his wife:

"My love, I've had a very successful day. I pulled over a thousand dollar deal. I think we should feel very proud of the way I've succeeded in business. Here is twenty dollars. Go and buy you a new dress, hat and shoes tomorrow. I expect you will be glad to have some new things."

"But—" his wife starts to reply.

"Do not protest, my dear, it is nothing. Here, take ten dollars more and buy all the children some clothes."

Men do not have a monopoly on this chicken nature. Women also show the traits of their hen ancestors. Our favorite anamistic characterization of women, after kitten and cat, is chicken and hen. When we see chickens wandering restlessly up and down, we think of the girl of the later 'teen age, who shops every morning, rides every afternoon and dances every night. When we see one chasing madly after a butterfly, we think of the girl, always in pursuit of the most thrilling thriller. When we see two chickens, each straining at the end of a worm, we remember that man, when he yields to the charms of woman, is merely a worm whose future will be determined by feminine caprice. If they break him each will gobble up half of his money; if one gives up in despair, the other will gobble it all up. If, by chance, they should both drop him to chase a butterfly, he may consider himself a very fortunate worm.

It is the nice mature hen that reminds us most of woman. She is a motherly old soul who promines sedately up and down, gathering up bites to eat from here and there. She walks around relating bits of news to her friends. Once in a while she chases a butterfly but not very long. Her plump body prevents a long and speedy race. She cares for her children very nicely. She sees that they have a plenty of food. She protects them from enemies that might harm them. She resents all interference from other hens who wish to offer advice on the best methods of raising good chickens. She will even fly into the face of her lord and master if she does not approve of the course he is taking towards his offsprings. This hen, although she likes gossip somewhat, is a pretty good mother, who sees to it that her children get a good start in life.

Roosters and hens both young and old, though they may annoy us by eating our fine vegetables, make up a race that provide very fine Sunday dinners and their descendants, "evolted" to a much higher stage, make very nice companions at the same Sunday meal.

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE ECHO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs, special days. Write for information to R. G. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL MCARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

What is this we see, brick rising upon brick, daily reaching upward toward the sky? Oh, a new building, you say. Is that all? Can you see nothing more than that? Look again. Do you not see the great faith, the undaunted courage, the high hopes of one among us who dares to dream great things and to make the dreams come true?

We alumnae remember a time when our president first began to dream of such a building as this. Back in 1906 we used to say, "Wouldn't it be wonderful if the literary societies had halls of their own?" When we first started student government our longing was for a special room of our own. As the school grew, more and more this need was felt.

In our president's mind an ideal was formed. He dreamed of a building large enough to house all student activities, a building that would satisfy the longings of past years, meet the needs of future growth. At last the time came when the dream became a reality. Today we look out upon the beginnings of the Student Building, our home of dreams. Verily it shall be our House Beautiful. It is not a thing of mortar and brick. Ah, no, it is built of faith and hope and love; the faith of our president, the hope of the students, the love of the alumnae.

The workmen lay brick on brick, but what makes this possible? Do dreams come true of themselves? There must be dynamic force at work in order to see our cherished dreams realized. The faith of our president has begun the work. Shall the hope of the students and the love of the alumnae fail to complete it? Never! Because of our love for him who has the faith to undertake this work, because of our desire to enter our house of dreams we shall stand behind him until the dream is fully realized. We pledge him our loyalty.

Students and alumnae, let us put our shoulders to the task. We are fully able to do it if we will. It is our own House Beautiful that is going up. Let us give of our money, of our time, of our interest. Some student says, "I have no money to give." Then make a sacrifice, deny yourself for our house of dreams. One of the alumnae says, "I have already given." Give again. Not yet can we enter into our House Beautiful. There are many bricks to lay before we can see the fruition of our hopes.

Can we not give of our time to interest others in the Student Building? We have many friends who do not know about it. Next year several hundred new girls will use the building. Perhaps they, too, would like to have a part in it, to make it their house of dreams. Tell them about it. Let them have an opportunity to give.

Shall we not give of our interest? Let us not become so busy about other things that we forget this and leave the whole burden to our president. That must not happen. It is not by faith alone, nor by hope alone, nor by love alone, that our House Beautiful shall rise, but by combined effort, president, students, and alumnae, all working together, we shall build the house and finish it.

Farmville Basket Ball Team:

Get in the game. We're backing you up.
Athenians.

When will your $5.00 come in?

Dr. Tidyman: "Miss Parker, will you help us a little with this question?"

Miss Parker: "I'm helping as little as I can, now."

Farmville Varsity:

Best of luck. We're backing you up.
Glee Club.

COMING !!

It's coming this month
We prepared for it in the fall
It's the grandest sort of meeting
For the gathering of us all.

Keep in mind February
The date is 23-25
For our Annual State Conference
Which is not a myth.

We meet for inspiration
And for information true
And then to give the vision
So others may go too.

Do plan to give yourself this treat
Now ask for desired news
And plan to bring your friends
To hear the mission views.

To go to foreign lands
Is our purpose true and strong
The Volunteer Conference
Helps to carry this along.

So don't forget the date
And don't forget to pray
That the spirit of our Master
O'er the Conference will hold sway.

The Annual State Conference of Virginia Volunteer Union will be held at Radford Normal School, February 23-25, 1923.

Have you sent your $5.00?

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Large Stadium for University of Illinois.

The new stadium of the University of Illinois, costing over two million dollars, will be dedicated on November 3, at the annual game with Chicago University. The stadium, exclusive of approaches, will cover an area of eight acres. The east and west stands alone contain seventeen miles of seats with a capacity of 55,000 persons. The completion of the North and South ends will bring the total seating capacity to 120,000.

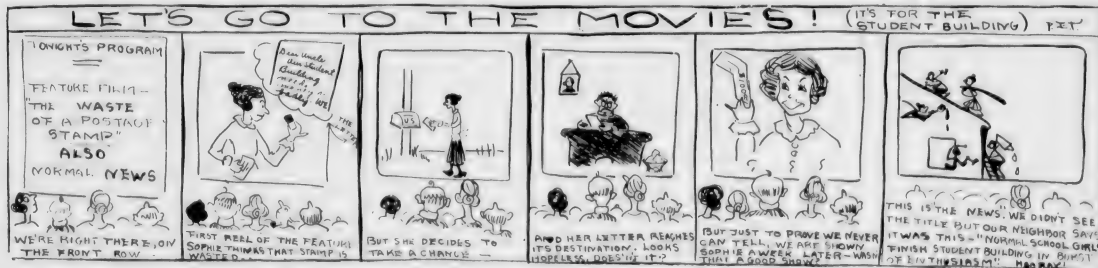

S. I. N. A.

Captain Farmville Basket Ball Team:

Do your best and we will be satisfied. Good luck.

J. L. Jarman.

When will your $5.00 come in?

FARMVILLE DEFEATS HARRISONBURG S. N. S.

Past Sextette Wins Hard Game.
26 to 22.

The first game of the Interscholastic Basketball season was won by the Farmville Normal Sextette when it met the Harrisonburg S. N. S. team in Harrisonburg Saturday night, February 3rd.

From the first tap off it was evident that the game was going to be hard-fought for and close, each team showing a fighting spirit that never says die. At the end of the first quarter Harrisonburg was one point ahead and at the end of the first half Farmville was one ahead. From then on the game was too thrilling to remember such details—the game being won by Farmville in the last thirty seconds of play, each forward shooting a field goal.

There was no out-of-the-ordinary star playing on either side, both playing good ball, the long shots of Adah Long being the outstanding feature of Harrisonburg which was equalled by the close guarding of her guard—Mamie Sexton.

The official record is as follows:

Harrisonburg	Pos.	Farmville
Adah Long	Forward	A. B. Treake
Z. Wagstoff	Forward	Henrietta Hall
M. Bell	Center	Julia Reed
Helen Wagstoff	Side Center	Elsie Bell
Coleman	Guard	Mildred Hall
Hendricks	Guard	Mamie Sexton

Field Goals: Harrisonburg 7—Long (4), Wagstoff (2), Rosen (1). Farmville 12—Treake (6), Hall (6). Free throws: Harrisonburg 8 in 11, Wagstoff (6), Long (2). Farmville 6 in 8, Hall (6).

Substitutes: Harrisonburg: Rosen for Wagstoff; Wagstoff for Rosen; Chenaut for Hendricks.

Referee—Geo. Walker. Umpire—Kramer. Scorer—James. Timekeeper—Deanton.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY DRAMATIC CLUB AT FARMVILLE

Presents "Suppressed Desires" and Minstrel.

Friday evening, February 2, at 8:30, the Jongleurs of Hampden-Sidney College presented "Suppressed Desires" and a Minstrel in the Auditorium of the Farmville State Normal School.

The players manifested unusual dramatic ability. The audience dangled on a thread of suspense and tears sprang, unbidden, to the eyes, through the troubles of the supert Henrietta and the masterly Stephen, while it was completely captivated by the coy and demure Mabel.

The scene of the Minstrel was laid in a cabaret, where the wit and humor of the waiters, the elegantly groomed men, and the alluring charm and grace of the women, especially the bobbed-haired blonde, portrayed against a setting of gorgeous gowns and brilliant lights gave to the spectators an hour of pure delight.

THE BIENNIAL MEETING OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

An Announcement.

At the last biennial meeting of the Alumnae Association we were exposed to the contagion of Dr. Jarman's enthusiasm for the Student Building, and not being entirely immune, we caught it. And before we knew what had happened, we had unanimously voted to undertake to raise half of the $100,000 needed to erect this building. With the slogan, "50,000 by the Biennial Meeting, June 1923," the various chapters went right to work; and Dr. Jarman with a high faith in us also went right to work. It is earnestly hoped that every loyal daughter of our Alma Mater who can possibly do so will return this year to see the opening of this splendid building, which represents the hopes and dreams of thousands of Alumnae and friends and which is to serve as the center of the social and religious life of the school through the years to come. Let us justify Dr. Jarman's belief in us, and help make this a memorable year in the history of our Alumnae Association!

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

Thursday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. gave its first birthday party of this session. Girls whose birthdays come in September, October, and January were invited to the gymnasium at four-thirty. Everybody had a lovely time playing games and dancing. Delightful refreshments were served by members of the Y. W. Social committee.

Have you sent your $5.00?

POOR RELATIONS!

In my youth I have suffered from many diseases, among which were measles, whooping cough, and pneumonia, but worse than all of these was the bad case of ancestors that I had.

I had a wonderful time when I had the measles, because I could just stay in bed and eat and sleep, but that was not nearly so good a time as I had looking up the pedigree of my great, great aunt Amelia. The reason for the fun was that Grace Shepherd had flaunted some of her ungodly ancestors in my face. Just to prove that mine were as good as hers I looked up Aunt Amelia. Held up as a paragon of virtue she was a quiet, dignified sort of old lady and was the wife of lord Senator Jeremiah Snodgrass. When I had completed my lengthy narration of Aunt Amelia at school the next day my joy knew no bounds. Grace withdrew from the field with dropping colors while mine waved high in glory. My joy was still at its height when we went back to school the next day. It was not to wave high very long for it was doomed to an untimely death. Grace prissed, yes prissed, in with the news that an inconsiderate brother of Aunt Amelia's had been hung for stealing a horse.

While in the mountains one summer I ran across an old maid who bragged of her ancestry from morning until night. I was always quite a bit of a smart-aleck and chirped up and told her of my mother's great grand uncle, Mr. Joshua Whimiddle, a member of one of the oldest families in America. Alas, I spoke too soon for Miss Sophie Doolittle knew the immediate descendants of uncle Josh and it took her but a very few moments to make the fact plain to me that one of his sons remained in Richmond for seven years for having taking ways.

Since these two sad experiences occurred I have filled out a questionnaire for the school board.

The questioner asked, "Have you had the mumps?"

"No."

"Have you had smallpox?"

"No."

"Have you had typhoid fever?"

"No."

"Have you tonsils?"

"Have you ancestors?"

"NO!"

When will your $5.00 come in?

Teacher: "Will you please wake that student up for me?"

Student: "Wake her up yourself. You put her to sleep."

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS

INSURANCE THAT INSURES

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Virginia.

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY

Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,

Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN—The Jeweler

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY NEWS

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular meeting in the Association Room on Tuesday, January 30th. Following the business, a very interesting program was given on James Whitcomb Riley.

Vocal Duet.....Ellen Calloway, Mabel Edwards
The Life of James Whitcomb Riley

Reading.....Doris Fletcher
Riley "The Children's Poet".....Daisy Mitchell

Genevieve Bonnewell
Short Selections from Riley.....Sylvia Folston

The Pierian, Argus, and Jefferson Societies met Tuesday, January 30, for the purpose of organizing a joint society. The name and colors of the society were discussed and a committee was appointed to select these. The constitution was presented by committee representatives of each society and was adopted by the group. The officers were elected as follows:

President.....Elizabeth Moring
Vice-president.....Emily Calcott

Miss A. B. Treacle:

Many blood thirsty adurations and here's hoping your luck holds.

Third Professional Class.

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

The contributions to the Student Building Fund for the past week are, as follows:

Mary Stephenson.....	$10.00
Gamma Theta Sorority.....	5.00
Frances Evans.....	10.00
Miss Bullock.....	10.00
Mildred Cobbs.....	1.00
Miss Von Schilling.....	15.00
Mary Jefferson.....	1.00
Teresa Scott.....	10.00
Mrs. Lillian Obenshau Cocks.....	5.00
Blanche Gentry.....	2.00
Lucy Howell.....	2.00
Mr. W. W. Jackson.....	5.00

Total $76.00

GRAND TOTAL, $13,892.24.

Farmville Varsity Squad:

Absent in body, with you in spirit. Win.
The Remains.

Have you sent your $5.00?

801 Ohio St., Urbana, Ill.

January 28, 1923.

Dear Girls at S. N. S.,
Farmville, Va.

The decreasing number of familiar names in each successive issue of the ROTUNDA that I have seen warns me that, if I adhere to my original plan to write to you, I must do so soon or there will be none of "my girls" there to receive the letter.

I think the ROTUNDA a very creditable paper and always full of interest to an ex-Farmvilleite. I search every column of the copy sent me for the names of those I know. I am sending you a copy of our school paper, which you may find interesting. Recently it has been made an all-year-round daily and contains the essentials of both general and local news.

How busy you all must be and happy, too, in anticipation of the new Student Building. Success to you in your effort for what you have needed so much. I wish it were possible for me to drop in long enough to say "Hello," and to witness the progress you are making.

I find the University of Illinois a very busy and interesting place. Our enrollment this year is about eighty-three hundred, which, with the additional thousand of faculty, office help, and research workers, make enough for a fair sized city in itself. I like the students very much. The girls are lovely, but I must say they do not excel the girls I knew at Farmville in real sweetness and courtesy. And the boys! Did you know there are three and three-tenths boys for every girl? Now don't you all want to come?

There are so many things to do and see that it is to be regretted that one can not be a part of it all. This week the leading attraction to me is Stuart Weller's dramatic production of "The Book of Job." This afternoon I enjoyed a very able discussion of the problem of suffering involved and the literary structure of the "Book," which was intended to prepare one for the dramatic rendition Wednesday evening. I have been too busy to attend many of the fine attractions, but managed to see Mrs. Fiske in "The Last Card" and the Urban High School faculty in "Come Out of the Kitchen" this month, and expect to see the Coffee-Miller players in "Gammer Gurton's Needle," a very old play, next Friday evening. If they ever come to Virginia and S. N. S. can get them, do so, for they are fine.

I wish I might hear from all of "my girls;" I am wondering about the whereabouts of so many of them. Urbana is not so far from Farmville that maybe some of you will stray this far from home some day. If so, do not fail to let me know. You will be quite likely to find me at 801 Ohio St., Urbana, or at 131 Natural History Building, University of Illinois.

Most cordially yours,

Bessie L. Ashton.

Miss Florence Buford:

Beat 'em up, we're behind you.

College Seniors.

When will your $5.00 come in?

Farmville Basket Ball Team:

Work to win, yet play. We are back of you.
Miss Barlow.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.-Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

STUDENT BUILDING FUND— JANUARY 29, 1923

CLASS	QUOTA	PLEGDED	PAID
1885	$ 75.00	$.....	$.....
1886	200.00	15.00	15.00
1887	350.00	100.00	5.00
1888	575.00	150.00	121.50
1889	700.00	505.00
1890	350.00	5.00	5.00
1891	300.00	50.00	10.00
1892	875.00
1893	700.00	130.00	30.00
1894	700.00
1895	1,050.00	50.00
1896	1,000.00	10.00	5.00
1897	1,000.00	10.00	10.00
1898	1,050.00	50.00	50.00
1899	650.00	175.00	70.00
1900	700.00	50.00	50.00
1901	875.00	150.00	95.00
1902	925.00	65.00	15.00
1903	1,225.00	235.00	80.00
1904	1,725.00	335.00	35.00
1905	1,400.00	125.00	25.00
1906	1,650.00	170.00	95.00
1907	1,575.00	65.00	15.00
1908	1,400.00	240.00	37.00
1909	1,700.00	220.00	90.00
1910	2,150.00	300.00	90.00
1911	2,625.00	964.50	582.50
1912	3,100.00	1,367.00	787.00
1913	2,700.00	1,429.50	785.00
1914	3,500.00	1,240.50	609.50
1915	2,575.00	529.00	295.00
1916	3,925.00	1,251.00	498.00
1917	3,675.00	491.00	251.00
1918	4,200.00	1,220.00	299.50
1919	3,175.00	321.00	128.00
1920	3,150.00	156.00	55.00
1921	4,175.00	2,479.00	460.00
1922	4,475.00	3,315.00	160.00

As President of the Alumnae Association, I have assigned a reasonable quota for each Graduating Class, based upon the number in the Class. The above tabulation shows the amounts pledged and paid to date.

Please cut out and return the pledge card, filled in, with as generous a pledge as you can make. We would like to have the first payment cash.

PAULINE CAMPER,
President Alumnae Association.

STUDENTS' BUILDING FUND STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

.....192.....
NameClass.....

Home Address.....

I hereby promise the following payments to the Students' Building Fund:

.....Paid
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....

THE STUDENT BUILDING ALPHABET

A is for Alumnae, their loyalty showing.
B is for Building, so rapidly growing.
C is for Campus upon which it stands.
D is for Debt, making urgent demands.
E is for Effort, each brick to install.
F is for Fun, as we work, one and all.
G is for Gymnasium, with swimming pool near.
H is for Hearth, where the fire will burn clear.
I is for Interest, by many friends shown.
J is for Dr. Jarman, beloved where'er known.
K is for Knocks, as the hammers fast fly.
L is for Legislature, our willing ally.
M is for Money, fifty thousand green bills.
N is for Need, which this money fulfills.
O is for Organizations, a room for each one.
P is for Pledges—when made, the work's done.
Q is for Quarters, where Alumnae may rest.
R is for Reunion—next June brings the best.
S is for Students, who've answered each call.
T is for Triumph, when the roof covers all.
U is for Union, in which there is strength.
V is for five dollar bills, marching in for March 7.
W is for Walls, rising high in the air.
X is for "Question"—how much do you care?
Y is for Yell, for our Normal the best.
Z is for Zeal, which assures success.

Have you sent your $5.00?

Dear Joan:

Poor thing! You are such an ardent supporter of my Varsity and you can never go to any of their games! I feel so sorry for you. And I am going to tell you about some of the high-lights of our trip. I won't bore you with an official account of the game because Miss Buford is going to write such an account and I know you will see it.

Of course, you heard the peppy send-off the students gave us as we were leaving Friday morning. And Miss Camper was so sweet to take our baggage to the station, although I didn't have any. Doc Frasier and Miss Barlow were the official senders-off and there were a lot of unofficial senders but I won't call their names for fear of that Student Committee. They were not there to see for themselves and they will never hear a word from me.

I was quite a joyous monkey until I got on the train and saw old Nicko—that Krazy Kat of Teence Bell's. We had quite a peaceful trip to Lynchburg, though, only if the train had been going at the same rate as String's tongue we would have reached Lynchburg before we were due at Tuggles.

We were met at Lynchburg by a Miss Thornhill who seemed quite glad to see us. Here Miss Buford fed us—the girls had ham sandwiches, while she had a nice steak. Nicko cried for milk but she paid no mind to him.

On the train from Lynchburg to Charlottesville we traveled with another basketball team, but they couldn't be compared to my team—why they had to carry a basketball to show they were a team.

At Charlottesville I was met by two Professors from the University. They were the sweetest things to me. Carried me for a street car ride and bought me a drink—milk-shake—at a drug store.

I got awfully sleepy from Charlottesville to Harrisonburg—don't remember anything but that Miss Buford almost got left at one of the stations. Enough about my trip.

Harrisonburg was lovely to the girls and also showed me quite a bit of attention. Why, I was introduced to Miss Lancaster. The team got awfully sleepy Saturday so Miss Buford advised them to go to bed. But the three flappers—Elmer, Etta and Rosabelle had a grand time flapping and I went along as chaperon.

Now, I shall tell you a few bits about the most thrilling game I ever saw. Yes, the Farmville rooters carried me and Nicko to the game and we had reserved seats. Joan, I never heard so much noise. The cheer leaders were the peppiest I have ever seen or heard. I wish our girls could have heard them. You know about imitation. But, Joan, I can't tell you much about the game. I held my breath most of the time and my heart stopped beating when A. B. dented the floor. But we beat them, Joan—we did. But just think what those girls had to bring them good luck. Miss Coach had two "Buck-eyes"—Teence wore a rabbit's foot and Nicko and I were there—they could have won without us all, for I never saw such playing.

Poor Julia got a black eye, but she was so proud of it. Said she wouldn't get rid of it for money.

After the show we were given a wonderful banquet by the Harrisonburg people. I went but old Nicko got left and I just laughed and laughed!

I wish you could have seen and heard our girls after the game. They were so happy. Coach let them break training and they ate some candy.

Enough about Harrisonburg. The trip was long but interesting. You see, Mrs. Day sent us some delightful fried chicken. The girls ate and then slept! Then came Richmond—here we changed. And I changed my mind about traveling for those girls just pulled me up and down street cars.

But the trip has nearly finished me—I must go to sleep. I'd rather have my bed in Farmville than all Harrisonburg.

Yours in basketball,

Poly (Julia's monkey).

When will your $5.00 come in?

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"
AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

We are fortunate in having Dr. T. K. Young come to us February 12, 13, and 14 to speak on Christian Fundamentals. He will have informal talks on spiritual subjects these three evenings at prayers and will also talk at chapel on The Laws of God, as follows:

Tuesday—The Law of Sacrifice.
Wednesday—The Law of Service.
Thursday—The Law of Love.

Miss Gladys Bryson, a traveling secretary for Y. W. C. A., will visit Farmville February 10, 11, and 12.

Alumnae, we wish to welcome you always to your school Home, especially to membership in your Y. W. C. A. where your suggestions and active participation will be of great value.

Farmville Basket Ball Team.

Care Harrisonburg Normal School:

Forget it and play ball. Pulling for you at this end.

Doc. F.

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

LOYALTY TO ALMA MATER

Love for Alma Mater.

"Alma Mater, Dear Mother," what do these words mean to us, her daughters? They are so beautifully expressed in our Alma Mater Song. Do we love our Alma Mater Song? Does it not bring into our hearts the love and devotion for Alma Mater, which her daughters should have?

Alma Mater, according to Webster, means "fostering mother." This meaning is certainly true of our Alma Mater. She fosters us in every way while we are here in school and after we leave. She is a true mother, unselfish and untiring is her efforts to bring to her daughters the best in knowledge, truth, and service. Think of the ideals for which she stands, think of her struggle through the years to obtain these ideals. She has grown from a very small institution to a larger one, richer in wisdom, goodness and truth. Let us as her daughters follow her noble example, aspiring to attain the ideals which she holds for us!

When we see some of the results of her work, one particularly, the Degree Class, at it comes to pay tribute to Alma Mater, and we join in this tribute by singing our devotion; does it not stir our hearts? Does it not arouse in us a desire to do something for our Alma Mater? We work for those whom we love, we sacrifice things for them, but do we work and sacrifice anything for Alma Mater?

There are many opportunities for showing this devotion—one that each of us has, namely working for the Student Building. We hear so much about the Student Building but let us not think of it as a matter of fact thing which some one else should work for, instead—each of us, students as alumnae should feel that the Student Building is our home, that we have a part in helping to build it. It is a privilege which may never come to us again, and a way of showing that we are loyal. The Student Building so far will be our largest gift to our Alma Mater. Is each of her daughters going to have a share in giving this gift? Or are we going to be selfish and let some one else do our part? This should never be! Let us rally to the aid of our Alma Mater, giving unselfishly to her as she has given to us. Then, we can truly sing:

"All hail, Alma Mater! Dear mother to thee,
Thy daughters true, faithful and loyal will be."

Miss Anne Belle Treagle,
State Normal School, Harrisonburg, Va.:
Play hard. We are backing you.

Athletic Council.

Have you sent your $5.00?

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry
STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND

ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND

ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDAE COMPANY

INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS

CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

When will your $5.00 come in?

ALUMNAE NOTES

The revision of the courses of study for the high schools of Virginia has been begun by the direction of the State Board of Education, and will be completed in time for the new courses to be available at the beginning of the session of 1923-1924. Mr. J. M. Grainger is chairman of the committee on English, Mr. Lear of the committee on History, Miss Nellie Smithy, of the Roanoke High School, is a member of the committee on Mathematics and Miss Louisa Glassell, of Floris Vocational School, Herndon, is serving on the committee on Agricultural and Home Economics.

Miss Myrtle Grenels will complete work for her B. S. degree at George Peabody College for Teachers this year. The General Education Board awards annually in that institution three scholarships, each having the value of $100 a month and expenses. Miss Grenels, though still an undergraduate student, has been honored with the gift of one of these scholarships.

Miss Janie Slaughter, who is studying for her Master's degree at William and Mary College, has received the $25 prize given by the college magazine for general excellence and variety of contributions. A recent number of the magazine contained a story and poems by Miss Slaughter.

Miss Lynette Brock is administrative principal this year of the Armstrong School in Elizabeth City County. There are five grades with seven teachers. The building is new and has two lunch rooms, a hospital room, a library and a teacher's rest room. The Patrons' League is interested and active, and has done much to make the school thoroughly up-to-date.

Miss Katherine Cook is one of our busiest alumnae. She is principal of the Commerce Street School in Roanoke, a member of the Normal School Board, President of the Roanoke-Salem Alumnae Chapter, and last summer she assisted in conducting parties of tourists abroad. Next summer she will have her own travel parties to Europe, making two trips during the vacation.

The Roanoke-Salem Chapter gave a tea on January 19, which was much enjoyed. A nice sum was realized for the Student Building.

The Farmville Chapter has been feeling very happy since January 29, when $66 was added to its Student Building Fund, the proceeds of a moving picture benefit for which the Chapter tenders Dr. Whitaker hearty thanks. A subscription card-party will be given February 13, and a George Washington Tea later. Mr. John Powell, because of his interest in our institution, will come to Farmville this spring to give a concert, for the benefit of the Student Building. The date has not yet been definitely settled, but it will be advertised in time for a large audience to greet him.

An alumnae chapter has just been organized in Bristol, Va., with twenty members.

Mrs. George Esser, of Norton, died at her home January 3. Mrs. Esser was formerly Miss Mary Cary Taylor of Accomac, and graduated from Farmville Normal in 1914. She was popular in school and very active in the communities in which she taught.

Many alumnae will learn with regret of the death in Washington, D. C., January 22, after a brief illness of pneumonia, of Dr. Alfred James Morrison, son of Mrs. Portia Morrison, formerly Head of the Home Department here. He was an accomplished scholar and writer, and at the time of his death was preparing, in collaboration with Mr. Philip Bruce and Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, a History of Virginia as told in the lives of its leading citizens.

Mamie honey, I'm betting on you. Good luck to all. Louise.

$5.00 for the Student Building Fund!

Student: "There's some mistake in my grade. I don't think I deserve an absolute zero."
Teacher: "Neither do I, but it's the lowest grade I am allowed to give."

Teacher (in nature study class): "When do the leaves begin to turn?"
Drowsy pupil: "The night before exams."

A daring young chemist Ed. Hyde
To make nitro glycerine tried
With a flash and a roar
Ed thru the clouds tore
"He's a rising young fellow," they cried.

Prof.: "When is a student not a student?"
Pupil: "Nine times out of ten."

Mary: "What does B. A. stand for?"
Liz: "Oh, that's a Bachelor's degree."
Mary: "Is that what Mr. Lea has?"

Mr. Fattig: "Why are the days longer in summer than in winter?"
Bright Pupil: "Because heat makes every thing expand."

Margaret: "What's that you're drawing?"
Julia: "A dog."
Margaret: "Where's his tail?"
Julia: "Oh, that's still in the ink bottle."

We wonder if the business manager of the ROTUNDA is going to be able to keep straight and yet make both ends meet.

Senior: "My hose are so cowardly."
Junior: "Why?"
Senior: "Because they're always running."

Academic Senior: "And you're teaching, too, this term?"
Teaching Senior: "Two, I'm teaching 'bout sixty."

The girl across the hall wants to know if the "Western Union" isn't a cowboy's wedding.
Miss Russell, in English: "Order, order!"
Maria Sterrett (dreamily): "Chocolate stir, please."

When will your $5.00 come in?

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE,

VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

JUNIOR ISSUE!

THE ROTUNDA

HELP US HELP THE STUDENT BUILDING!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3. No. 17.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

FEBRUARY 17, 1923

JUNIOR RECEPTION BIG SUCCESS

THE JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

Faculty Rushed.

It happened on the evening of Friday, February 9 and it was an event. For weeks before Uncle Robert had staggered under loads of evening dresses that had been frantically written for. All of them arrived intact and were joyously worn as the Juniors escorted their Senior Girls and so forth to the entertainment.

The evening's pleasure began with a little play charmingly presented by Misses Kitty Redford, Lois Cosby, Nancy Lyne and Marty Friend, under the direction of Miss Edna Norton Spear. The theme was that we would give our ghostly ancestors heart-failure if Sir Conan Doyle could get them in touch with us and if spirits were subject to disease. In this sketch we were treated to a remarkable display of Terpsichorean trippings, both ancient and modern. While an orchestra played, valentine refreshments were served by white-clad maids wearing heart-shaped aprons and caps.

Then the scene of action shifted to the Reception Hall which was gaily tricked out in hearts, with poor Joan quite a wall flower in the background. The orchestra played and we danced; that is, all of us who could or had the courage. It was a charming scene. Our evening frocks were many-hued and the colors blended, mingled and contrasted pleasantly. Men were much in demand, especially men who danced. Those of our faculty who had the courage to step out were much sought after and greatly rushed. The popularity of matinee idols must suffer by comparison. The student body is dumb with admiration of their gameness. The dancing lasted until after eleven. Then we really were not tired at all but nevertheless we left—to talk it over.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON SPEAKS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Large Attendance.

William Eugene Johnson, better known as "Pussyfoot," the renowned detective, author, journalist, and reformer, addressed a large audience in the auditorium of the Normal School on February the eighth. The subject of his talk was, "The Orient Moving Toward Prohibition." Mr. Johnson gave a very interesting account of his travels in the interest of world wide Prohibition, and of the work he had accomplished in Indiana. He pointed out that instead of America being the laughing stock of the world, people everywhere are looking to America as their one hope of salvation.

DEDICATION

To Miss Edna Norton Spear, our beloved honorary member, this issue of the ROTUNDA is dedicated in love and admiration for her, and in appreciation of her interest in behalf of our class.

FRENCH CLUB

At a recent meeting of the French Circle, the following officers were elected:

President.....	Miss Marie Sutton
Vice-president.....	Miss Janie Moore
Secretary.....	Miss Bessie Smith
Treasurer.....	Miss Agnes Baptist
Reporter.....	Miss Anne Robertson

ABOUT THE ROTUNDA

The ROTUNDA is your paper and you owe it your support.

We want your subscription, but remember that your obligation cannot be cancelled by this alone.

A true school paper is not the brain child of the editors.

To be really representative, it must be made up of contributions from the whole school.

Competition is the life of the school paper. Every time you write an article for the ROTUNDA, you raise the standard of your paper and your school.

Let's have your contributions.

IS AMERICA SUFFERING FROM THE VAUDEVILLE MIND?

Dr. Lichliter Offers Two Solutions to the Problem.

It was a thoroughly interested and delighted audience that listened to the stirring lecture of Dr. M. H. Lichliter on the evening of February 6. Dr. Lichliter, our lyceum lecturer, came recommended as one of the ablest lecturers on the platform, a thoroughly informed and convincingly eloquent speaker, and we were not disappointed. His book learning has a strong background of a knowledge of men; and the contact with real life which he has had gives strength and authority to what he says.

The subject of the evening was "The Vaudeville Mind." In general the address was a plea for a revolution in our present viewpoint of life. The people's mind today is best compared to a vaudeville show: as in the vaudeville many things are going on at once, with no special concentration on any one thing, so today our

[Continued on page 2.]

PERSONALS

Misses Mary Cleaton, Cabell Gannaway, Virginia Haden, Martha Wells, Evelyn Harrison, Mary S. Jolliff, Josephine Moses, Jane Potter, Nena Quarles, Etta Sawyer, Mildred Woodhouse, Lucile Garden, Elizabeth Garden, Susie Garden, Mary Booker, and Ruby Walton are spending the week-end away from school.

Among the former students, who were back at S. N. S. for the reception, are Misses Eleanor Greathead, Page Trent, and Mrs. R. H. Stratton. Miss Annie Alvis spent last week as the guest of Ellen Carlson.

Miss Evelyn Barnes is back from the infirmary where she has been suffering from a severe cold.

Miss Frances Montague was the week-end guest of her sister, Miss Katherine Montague.

Miss Elizabeth Bowden entertained Miss Helen Moore of Randolph-Macon College during the week-end of February 10.

The new tea room was the scene of much jollity on February 3. The new members of the Delta Sigma Chi Sorority entertained the old members at a delightful dinner party. The room was decorated in green and white, the colors of the organization. The effect was carried out in green ivy twined in a trellis of green and white which surrounded the room.

Among those present were Misses Laura Anderson, Emily Clark, Elizabeth Lewis, and Mary Meade Mason, members of the alumnae.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL McARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

DO YOU WANT SUCCESS?

Have you ever stopped to think of what a very small number of us ever attain success in this world of ours? Have you asked yourself exactly why this is so? There are many reasons for failure, but the chief among these is the lack of initiative, originality and ability to plan. The man who reaches a position of eminence among his fellow-men, must be self-guiding. He who goes in advance must assume and bear great responsibilities. He must of necessity depend upon himself, for no one ever rises above the average of any community unless he is self-reliant. Following closely upon this, is a second rule: Don't allow yourself to be too easily influenced by the opinion of others. Decide what course you will follow, and stick to it, taking whatever criticism it causes. Remember that every man must further his own interest, and that you are your own best friend. Believe in yourself, but don't boast. The world doesn't care about what you can do, but what you have done. Moreover, don't advertise your past achievements—let the world discover them, and then modestly admit them. Don't be impulsive. Never do anything unless you are sure it is the best course to follow, then reconsider and reflect. Above all avoid moodiness—it is a form of selfishness and admits of no defense. There is good in everything God has made. Look for it, and soon your world will right itself.

Happy is she who at the end of the day
Finds her work well done—
The soul's content is the mind's reward
And a good night's rest is won!

IS AMERICA SUFFERING FROM THE VAUDEVILLE MIND?

[Continued from page 1.]

minds are scattered over many things; our creeds are taken from churches rather than what we ourselves believe; there is little discrimination; little distinguishing between real and petty emotion; in short, the minds of today are not thinking minds. The "vaudeville mind" has gripped the institutions to which we look for help in particular our schools and colleges. This "vaudeville grip" has been educationally, politically and religiously.

Educationally, Dr. Lichliter said, there is a constant seasawing in our modern educational process—an eternal battle if the matter of curriculum. The children of today are being taught what to think rather than how to think. There is a tendency to attempt too many things without accomplishing anything. It is not the curriculum, but the extra-curriculum that is the main thing today.

Politically, the vaudeville mind has gripped America so that instead of careful political thinking and choosing, she "swallows the ticket whole."

And religiously, the vaudeville mind has carried us to the point where we should stop and ask, "Do we go to church to meet God or people?" "Is it to be church or entertainment?"

Dr. Lichliter then proceeded to point out the best cures for the vaudeville mind. They are: a correct use of leisure time and a new attitude towards life—being able to look at a thing from the other fellow's view-point, and at the same time hold your own opinion. This means real thinking, the thing the world is standing in need of; for, as Dr. Lichliter said, "Brains have been on a holiday for a hundred years."

With a gleam here and there of finest satire and humor, the lecturer delivered his message so forcefully that each student felt the power, that urged her to aspire higher than to be merely "born a woman—die a school-teacher."

"EAT, HELP THE S. B. AND BE MERRY"

Every Thursday night from now until Founder's Day, the First Professional Class will sell sandwiches between quarter of ten and light bell, for the benefit of the Student Building.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO STUDENT BUILDING DURING PAST WEEK

Mildred Dickenson.....	$ 5.00
Cash	2.00
Lillian Cox.....	5.00
Cash	4.00
Lillian Hayes.....	5.00
Delta Sigma Chi.....	25.00
Margaret West.....	10.00
Mary Vaughan.....	5.00
Julia Asher.....	10.00
Thelma Brown.....	5.00
Annie Alvis.....	10.00
Gladys Camper.....	25.00
Frank Blanton.....	5.00
Ethel La Boiteaux.....	10.00

Total$126.00

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs—special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

Virginia Student Volunteer Conference.

Place: East Radford Normal School, Virginia.

Time: February 23-25.

Who should go: 1. Every student volunteer.
2. Any student interested in foreign missions and Christian internationalism.

3. Interested professors.

Who are going from here:

1. Miss Willie London.

2. Margaret Mason.

3. Mary Cleaton.

4. Margaret Finch.

5. Alice Dishroom.

6. Irma Dickerson.

Entertainment: Free entertainment will be given all delegates from Friday night's supper through Sunday night except luncheon Saturday.

Expenses: 1. Reduced railway rates on basis of one and one-half the regular two-way rates, provided there are 250 delegates.

2. Saturday's lunch.

3. Registration fee of $2.50.

For any further information see Miss London or Margaret Mason in room 10 at once.

As this goes to press, we are looking forward to having Miss Gladys Bryson, traveling student secretary, as our week-end guest and Mr. T. K. Young of Lexington, Virginia to speak on Christian Fundamentals February 12, 13, and 14.

The Association held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, February 7. After the devotion, a discussion was held as to how to vitalize the meetings and to increase the attendance. Lois William, U. R., explained the student's part in national finance, and Mary Bolen, treasurer, reported the pledges made and those paid, as follows:

Paid in full.....	25%
Paid in part.....	29%
No payments.....	46%

Mother,
I hold you above
All earthly love;
The thought of you
Does my heart embue,
As thru the days I go
In this wide world below—
You are my only guide,
One to whom I confide
All my joys and sorrows,
All my hopes of tomorrow;
Your loving hand
Has taught me to stand
For only the right,
In Life's big fight,
Mother,
I hold you above
All earthly love!

C. S.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK AT S. N. S.

Chief Characteristics of Our National Educational Philosophy Brought to Mind.

February 5-11 was set aside in the school calendar as American Education week. The aim was to present the different aspects of American education by chapel talks given by students themselves. Throughout the program emphasis was laid on the American side of our education. The following is a sketch of the week's program:

Monday: "American Music," Miss Munoz.

Tuesday: "Citizenship," Misses Susie Floyd, Margaret Finch, Margaret Shackelford, and Kathleen Morgan.

Wednesday: "American Language," (treating the current events phase of language teaching), Misses Freida Crockin, Gretchen Oberheim, Elizabeth Coleman, and Genevieve Bonnell.

Thursday: "Rural Education," Misses Dorothy Askew, Virginia Sizemore, and Christine Armstrong.

Friday: "Health Education," Misses Barlow and Flamentine Pierce.

The climax of the week's program was a service held in the auditorium on Sunday afternoon, at which Mr. J. M. Grainger presided. The general theme of the meeting was the various aspects of the religious life of S. N. S. Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Southern Methodist Church, was present, and spoke on the importance of religious training in the school curriculum. Miss Grace Bryson, a field secretary of the Y. W. C. A., (a week-end guest of our school), and Misses Lois Williams, Marian Camper, and Mary Nichols spoke on the different phases of the Y. W. C. A., locally and nationally. A most enjoyable violin solo was rendered by Miss Julia Cave.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The following quotation is from the Richmond Times Dispatch of February 3. "Of interest here and to many throughout the state was the appearance of the picture of Miss Sara Hughes in the Baltimore American in a series of Beautiful American Women. Miss Hughes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hughes of Ashland, and the great-niece of Governor Thomas Watkins Ligon of Maryland. Miss Hughes is now a member of the faculty of the Handley School, Winchester."

Miss Ada B. Smith and Mr. Robert F. Shaffner were married last fall at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith of 1152 Twenty-sixth Street, Newport News, Virginia.

Elizabeth Berkeley Tennent was born on December 12, 1922. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Tennent of City Point, Virginia. Mrs. Tennent was Miss Lurline Moring of the class of 1918.

Thirsty days hath September,
April, June and November,
All the rest are thirsty too,
Unless you make your own home brew.—Ex.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath

J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

LITERARY SOCIETIES

JEFFERSON LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Jefferson Literary Society held February 6, a very interesting program was rendered in which the life and works of Henry Ibsen were studied.

A review of the life of Henry Ibsen was given by Dama Hill. Then a synopsis of his play "The Doll House" was given in a very interesting manner by Freida Crookin. The program closed with current events by Gladys Hubbard.

RUFFNER LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Ruffner Literary Society, Tuesday, February 6, 1923, an unusually enjoyable program was given. The semi-annual election of officers was held and the following were elected:

President.....Lucile Farrar
Vice-president.....Virginia Ford
Secretary.....Josephine Moses
Treasurer.....Jennie Harmon
Reporter.....Hattie Blankenship
Critic.....Frances Morton

WINTER CARNIVAL AT S. N. S.

The long anticipated event has happened. We have had a regular "ringtailed roarer" of a snowstorm. Last Monday at the unheard of hour of seven-twenty, when some of our more energetic roommates actually got up, we were disturbed by a joyful yell, "Oh, it's snowing!" Dear me, so it was! The bare, brown hills and unromantic roofs were disguised in glittering white. We "just couldn't wait" to get out in it.

When at length the tedious routine of Monday was over, we joyously trooped forth bundled up in every available scarf, coat, and cap. Some of us actually possessed knickers—and what is more we really wore them. Yes, 'tis so. Some of the girls at S. N. S. turned out in the garments heretofore sacred to the male. Hampden-Sidney and the masculine faction of Farmville turned out, too. A pitched battle with snowballs promptly ensued and lasted as long as the snow did. Everyone engaged in the activities. Even the members of our respected faculty lost their dignity, voluntarily or involuntarily. None was spared a pummeling. What with the ice and snow covering the ground and the missiles striking various parts of our anatomy, navigation was exceedingly difficult. Everything having the least semblance of a sled was called into active service. All who could not slide stood around and looked on in envy. Rumor hath it that certain members of our faculty, despising safety and teacherly behavior, took their lives in their hands and coasted down a very steep hill. So far no casualties have been reported and, beside a square foot or so of skin, none of us have lost anything but our equilibrium.

We are indebted to Harrisonburg for the following piece of poetry—for surely we may call it poetry, since it expresses our thoughts in far better language than we would hope to express them:

THE BELLS

(With apologies to Poe.)

Hear the loud alarm bells—
Rising bells!
What a world of woe their melody foretells!
With their warning so forlorn,
In the icy air of morn!
While the stars that oversprinkle
In the heavens, still do twinkle,
All the joys of dreaming now are gone;
Calling time, time, time,
On to breakfast, then to class,
'Midst a whirl of maddening yells
Just the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells—
Always by the signal of the ringing of the bells.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00
Surplus100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pair of U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12 which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred per cent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented we will cheerfully refund your money upon request.

NATIONAL BAY STATE SHOE COMPANY

296 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles
Superior Fountain Drinks
and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal
Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH
OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Intercollegiate Carnival at Atlanta.

Georgia Tech will hold its first annual Intercollegiate Carnival at Atlanta, April 28. Invitations have been issued to seventy-one colleges and over a hundred preparatory schools throughout the South. The event will be modeled after those held at the University of Pennsylvania.

S. I. N. A.

Davidson Now on Approved List of Colleges.

Davidson has recently been put on the list of approved universities and colleges of America. The American Association of Universities has two lists of members, the first one containing only universities. The second list is for colleges whose work and standing are approved by the association. This means that a student with an A. B. from Davidson will be accepted abroad and will be admitted to the highest privileges of any institution. Before this time Davidson men have been accepted by Yale, Harvard, Hopkins, Princeton and other colleges without examination. This new distinction will be of particular benefit to Rhodes Scholars who go to Oxford.

S. I. N. A.

Foreign Students Criticize Universities.

Three foreign students who are investigating American institutions criticize them on the ground that American students pay no attention to religion or politics during their college courses. Their interests are centered in less important matters than is usual in foreign universities.

S. I. N. A.

$600,000 Campaign Launched for Elon.

The board of trustees of Elon College in session Wednesday, January 24, adopted as a consequence of the recent fire which destroyed the administration building and library, plans to launch a campaign for $600,000 for a greater Elon. This includes the erection of an administration building to cost $150,000 to be ready by the opening of the school term next fall, and to be followed by a library building and science hall.

S. I. N. A.

Administration Building Burned.

The greatest catastrophe in the history of Elon College occurred when flames razed the Administration Building of the College to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The administration Building was the first structure of the college to be erected on the campus. It was constructed in 1890. The burned building housed the library of the college, the three literary society halls, the class rooms and the administrative offices. The loss is estimated at $150,000, of which $27,000 is covered by insurance. The loss is by far the heaviest that the college has ever sustained.

S. I. N. A.

Eight Men Dropped as Result of Semester Exams.

As a result of the first semester's examinations at Roanoke College, eight men were dropped from the college rolls on account of having failed to pass the minimum amount of required work. The "casualties" this year are much lighter than last year when twenty-four men were forced to leave on account of having failed to measure up to the requirements.

S. I. N. A.

The Backs of Your Gloves.

The three lines of stitching on the back of a glove are a survival of the early days of glove making. At that time the work was done rather clumsily, the stitching being carried part way down on the back of the glove from the points between the fingers. To cover this up, embroidery was used, and the three ornamental lines have survived, though there is no longer any stitching to hide.

S. I. N. A.

A rush here,
A rush there,
A rush here and everywhere.

A girl here,
A girl there,
A girl standing on the stair.

A pin here,
A pin there,
A pin flying through the air.

A shout here,
A shout there,
A shout with ne'er a single care.

A comb here,
A comb there,
A comb shining in her hair.

A dress here,
A dress there,
A dress with folds ever so fair.

Wherefore?
Junior-Senior Reception!

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?
Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN
FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN-The Jeweler

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

CARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

H. J.: "Caesar must have been an awfully strong man."

Miss R.: "Why?"

H. J.: "This book says he pitched his camp across the river."

Boy—Book.

Girl—Look.

Book—Neglected.

Flunk—Expected.

Captain: "What are you scratching your head for, Rufus?"

Colored Private: "Aw, sah, I got arithmetic bugs in mah hade."

Captain: "What are arithmetic bugs?"

Private: "Dey's cooties."

Captain: "Why do you call them arithmetic bugs?"

Private: "'Cause dey add to misery, dey subtract from mah pleasure, and divide mah interest."—Ex.

Senior (passing girl who just dropped armful of books): "Have some trouble?"

Junior: "No thanks, just had some."

Senior (at Garland and McIntosh): "Give me two tickets in Row L."

Mr. Garland: "What in 'L,' do you want?"

"Why is a woman like an angel?"

"Always up in the air; eternally harping on something; and never has an earthly thing to wear."

Mr. Fattig: "Where does digestion begin?"

Eula Harris: "On page 190."

Great Truths.

1. "They Satisfy"—A's.

2. "So Easy to Make"—E's.

3. "A Skin We'd Love to Touch"—Sheepskin.

4. "Stops Pain Instantly"—115 Bell.

5. "57 Varieties"—Miss Dietrich's Questions.

6. "The Boy You Can't Forget"—The one who got you on Campus.

7. "There's a Reason"—Why girls loaf in Hubard's.

8. "Built for Lifetime"—S. N. S.

9. "America's Greatest Weekly"—The Rotunda.

"Say, pa—

"Well, my son?"

"I took a walk through the cemetery today and I read the inscriptions on the tombstones."

"Well, what about it?"

"Where are all the wicked people buried."

She: "Dear Lord, I ask nothing for myself! Only give mother a son-in-law."—Ex.

D. B. S.: "Why are flappers, old maid school teachers and Fords alike?"

C. E.: "I don't know."

D. B. S.: "Because they can be found anywhere."

She: "Don't you like tea?"

He: "Yes, but I like the next letter better."

Eliz. P.: "Who introduced salt pork into the navy?"

H. L.: "Noah, when he took Ham into the ark."

L. S.: "I want some lard."

Miss J.: "Pail?"

L. S.: "I didn't know it came in two shades."

Miss Mary: "What time did you get in last night?"

N. L.: "Quarter of twelve."

Miss Mary: "Nancy! I waited until almost three for you!"

N. L.: "Well, isn't three a quarter of twelve?"

Photographer: "How do you want your picture made?"

B. L. W.: "I want my feet to show."

Photographer: "Just wait a minute please, till I get my group camera."

Play the game and play it fair!

Dare do right and live to dare!

Stand up for what you know is best.

The student council does the rest!

The school paper is a great invention—

The school gets all the fame,

The printer gets all the money,

And the staff gets all the blame.—Ex.

Hubby: "I found a button in my salad."

Wife: "Came off the dressing I guess."—Ex.

Serious trouble might be avoided many times if the second thought were to come before the first.—Ex.

Flapper.

Nancy was a flapper,

Nancy was a flirt,

She used to come to my house

In sweater and short skirt.

And when I went to Nancy's house

She wasn't always there.

She was off a-buying earrings,

Or a-bobbing off her hair.

Now, when I go to Nancy's house,

She sings to me this song:

"I'm letting down my dresses,

And my hair is growing long."

New York Sun.

Insane man: "Bring me a piece of toast."

Attendant: "What do want with a piece of toast?"

Insane man: "I'm a poached egg and I want to sit down."—Ex.

S. S. Teacher: "How did David kill Goliath?"

M. Odon: "He rocked him to sleep."

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND

ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND

ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY

INCORPORATED

PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS

CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

THREE CHEERS FOR THE GLEE CLUB

ROSTON THE TUNDA

"At the County Fair"
Enjoyed By All

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

Vol. 3. No. 18.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

FEBRUARY 24, 1923

"AT THE COUNTY FAIR" PRESENTED BY GLEE CLUB

Written and Directed by Christine E. Munoz. Attended by a Large Crowd Both Nights.

"At the County Fair" was given in the Auditorium of the Farmville State Normal School, Friday and Saturday nights. It was attended by a large crowd each night.

This Opera was written and directed by Miss Christine E. Munoz, head of the Music Department of the school. It dealt chiefly with the work of the Salvation Army and the good it is doing among the poor people of great cities.

The Dance of the Seasons was very beautiful, airy, graceful, and colorful. Miss Lois Cosby, as the wind, and Misses Harriet Booker and Claudia Anderson, as butterflies, were charming.

Miss Evelyn Barnes delighted the audience with her solos. The chorus singing was also very much enjoyed. The music was furnished by the school orchestra.

Miss Kitty Morgan and L. Louise Jones, who played the parts of the Salvationist and a reformed boy, deserve especial mention.

The fun of the evening was provided by Misses Janie Moore and Nell McArdle, as James Eddy and his "Teeny, weeny Lizzie."

CHARACTERS:

Giovauni.....	Julia Reid
Dominick.....	Mabel Mays
Tonio.....	Catherine Kemp
Italia.....	Stella Lea
A Woman.....	Evelyn Barnes
A Child.....	Dorothy McNamee
A Salvationist.....	Kathleen Morgan
A Boy.....	Irene Davis
A Washerwoman.....	Nell McArdle
Betty.....	Olive Smith
John.....	Laura Louise Jones
James Eddy.....	Janie Moore
Polly.....	Margaret Hubbard
Lizzie.....	Nell McArdle
Gus.....	Margaret Shackelford
Mrs. Van Rensseler.....	Anna Belle Treake
Her Maid.....	Nellie Moore
Farmer Brown.....	Ruth Bartholomew
Mrs. Brown.....	Rebecca Dedmon
Christine Armstrong
Irving Armstrong
Florence Cralle
Their Children.....

(Continued on page 2.)

HAMPTON QUINTETTE SINGS AT FARMVILLE

Concert Attended by Large Crowd.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30, the Quintette from Hampton Institute gave a concert in the auditorium to a large audience made up of both town people and school girls. The program was composed of negro folk songs of a religious nature. They were divided into three groups. (1) Songs Based upon Old Testament Stories, (2) Pathetic and Harmonic Songs, and (3) Spirituals. Mr. Peruis, the Field Secretary of Hampton Institute, who came with the singers, explained the character of the songs before each group was given.

Before the end of the program, Dr. Jarman gave a short talk on Hampton Institute, the place itself and the great work it is accomplishing.

PROGRAM

1. Old Testament Stories, and incidents.
"Way in Middle of Air."
"Little David • Play on Your Harp."
"Peter on the Sea."
"Fare You Well."
"Coming of the Saviour."
2. Pathetic and Harmonic Group.
"Listen to the Lamb."
"Steal Away."
"I Couldn't Hear Nobody Prayin'."
"Nobody Knows But Jesus."
3. Spirituals.
"Great Camp Meetin'."
"Reign Ma'ssa Jesus, Reign."
"Were You There?"
"Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

VISITORS

We were glad to welcome the many old girls who came back for the Glee Club Opera: Ruth McKelway, Charlotte Hall, Helen Rogerson, Helen Patton, Beth Gannaway, Liza Davis, Virginia Woodard, Helen Pinder, Doris Christe, Lillian Williams, Mary Herrington, Mary Sutherland, Lily Thornhill, Ruth Carwile, Mary Sue Hammond, Mary Pruden, Virginia Coghill, Virginia Atkins, Grace Beard, Rosalie Cofer, and Barta Worrell.

The following were the guests of their daughters in school during the past week: Mrs. Thomasson, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Wythe, Mrs. Palmer, and Mrs. Bell.

FARMVILLE TO HELP STUDENT BUILDING

Chamber of Commerce Attend Banquet at S. N. S.

On Thursday, February 15, a banquet to the Farmville Chamber of Commerce was given in the Normal School dining room by Dr. J. L. Jarman. At this banquet the subject of financial assistance to the Student Building was discussed. A committee was formed to see each person in the town and give them an opportunity to contribute to the Building Fund on the basis of a 5-year program. The goal for the town is $30,000. It is to be accomplished by March 7.

On leaving the banquet hall the members of the Chamber of Commerce left a cash offering on the tables which was given to the Student Building Fund.

When the Student Building rises toward the skies—

A thing of beauty to delight your eyes—
You will point to it with pride
And mention (on the side)

That we
Farmville
People helped to make it rise.

And when its splendor crowns the campus fair,
Our students and alumnae everywhere
Will point to it with pride
And mention far and wide

That you
Farmville
People helped to put it
there.

FACULTY NEWS

The faculty, under the competent instruction of the Sigmas, is taking lessons in dancing, by which means they hope to raise the Student Building a brick or two.

Miss Grace Russell has been called home on account of her sister's illness. Mrs. Allen Stokes, a former teacher, is taking Miss Russell's classes during her absence.

Miss Jennie Tabb's mother is very ill in her home on Buffalo Street.

Mr. Lear was out of town during the latter part of the week.

Several members of the faculty are planning to go to Cleveland to attend the meeting of the N. E. A.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News.....ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic.....NELL McARDLE
Joke.....EMILY CALCOTT
Literary.....PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange.....CAROLYN MORROW
Humor.....Miss BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....CATHERINE KEMP
Typist.....MARTHA PHILLIPS

WHEN SILENCE IS GOLDEN

For a long time, the behavior in the dining room has made us wonder if some of the members of our student body had not escaped from a menagerie or zoo before they came here. Every day when the blessing is asked at meals, instead of courteous silence, the general uproar seems to increase. Scraping of chairs, tinkling glasses, shrill feminine screams, and jabbering, all conglomerate into a fearful hubbub. We shudder to think about the probable impression our guests receive of our manners. We must seem crude, uncouth barbarians to the beholders.

The situation is just as bad when anyone comes in to make an announcement. Some girls have no better control over their appetites than to continue the operation of eating while this is going on. We have often noticed knives, forks, and jaws going at a rapid rate, which is most amazing to the speaker and to others who are interested in the speech.

These lapses from courtesy are growing into a habit, a bad, illbred habit which we should abolish and cast into the region of rubbish.

UP-TO-DATE CLUB

The members of Mr. Grainger's 2:15 English Class have organized an Up-to-Date Club for the purpose of studying current events. One period each week is given to this. Several interesting programs have thus far been given.

CHRISTIAN FUNDAMENTALS

PRESENTED BY DR. T. KAY YOUNG

Much Interest Manifested by Students.

A series of talks on Christian Fundamentals was given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. by Dr. T. Kay Young, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Lexington, Virginia.

The lectures began Monday night at prayer services with a talk on "The Conception of the Kingdom of God," which was followed by a series of talks on "Social Laws of the Kingdom of God," "The Law of Service," "The Law of Sacrifice," "The Law of Love," and "Personal Consecration followed in this order, the services closing Wednesday night with the talk on "Personal Consecration." The social laws of the Kingdom were presented very clearly and forcibly by Dr. Young. "The law of service," said the speaker, "is deeper than a sense of obligation, the necessity for service is made into the fabric of things, it is organic." "Sacrifice," Dr. Young said, "is the measure of service rendered, and love is the motive prompting service." Personal consecration is a practical thing when given in the spirit of Romans 12:1. "I beseech ye therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable sacrifice."

"AT THE COUNTY FAIR"

PRESENTED BY GLEE CLUB

(Continued from page 1.)

PROGRAM

ACT I

Adante from the First Symphony.....Beethoven
Allegro from the Overture of William Tell

Orchestra

A Dance of the Seasons
The Wind will be represented by Miss Lois Coshy

Mercy.....Manna-Zucca
Evelyn Barnes

ACT II

Light in the Darkness
Susan Brown and Glee Club
Halleluia, 'Tis Done
Salvation Army

Hush Thee, My Babe.....Sullivan
Salvation Army Group
Chorus of citizens, milk maids, etc.

ACT III

Opening Chorus
Glee Club
Here We Are at the County Fair
Milkmaids and their Beaux

Caro Mio Ben.....Giordani
Evelyn Barnes

Sweet is the Sound of Charity's Voice.....Rossini
Glee Club

Finale and Good-night

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House

DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies

FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs, special days. Write for information to R. D. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

The Association wishes to express the appreciation of its whole membership to Dr. Young, who, by his lectures and private conferences, helped many girls to get clearer conceptions and to rededicate her life to God.

Miss Gladys Bryson paid an official visit to the Association Feb. 10-13. She spoke in prayers and also met with the Advisory Board and the Cabinet in their regular meetings.

The sixth and last meeting of the Mission Study Classes was held Thursday, Feb. 15. Enrollment and attendance at these meetings increased steadily. It is hoped from the broad range of subjects and interest manifested that much good and help were obtained from them.

As we have had so many thoughts along different lines brought to us recently and our visions have grown, let us continue to grow especially by reading good literature and books. Let us make use of our spare time and of our Y. W. C. A. reading table.

CUB REPORTER RECEIVES FRIGHT

"Go around and write up the new hangings in the Junior parlor and the two pictures in the reception hall." These were the instructions given the cub reporter of the ROTUNDA. So, after sharpening her new yellow pencil she proceeded to view the pictures with much ostentation, seeking to impress passersby with the importance of her mission by such tricks of trade as a foot rule and a small, overcrowded note book. She noted that they were:

1. Two views of the Rheims Cathedral (in and exterior).
2. 17 by 23 inches.
3. Framed in dull gold.
4. Very handsome.

Much pleased with her success thus far, she puffed her chest a bit more and strode majestically into the Junior parlor. This was during the time that dances were being perpetrated at the University of Hampden-Sidney, and consequently several gentlemen were waiting in the parlor for damsels of their choice. This the cub reporter did not know until she was well in the room. Her data concerning the draperies are as follows:

1. The boy in the corner had nice eyes.
2. The cub reporter had on a dirty middy blouse.

Dr. Jarman is still beautifying our school home. The pictures add a great deal to the reception hall. The brown draperies in the Junior parlor make the room much more attractive.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Seventh Grade Play.

The Training School has been putting on a clean up campaign in all the grades for the last week. Honorable mention was given to each group of grades making the best poster and also giving the best play. The judges chose an attractive bulletin board of the best posters were exhibited and the best plays given in Assembly.

Thursday morning at chapel the Seventh Grade presented its play. The scene was the dirty school ground with old trash cans and a dog eating from the scattered garbage. The children resolved to clean it up before the inspector's next visit and a clean up club was organized at once. One member composed a song which was sung while the work went on and the club repeated the motto: "Cleanliness is Next to Godliness." The cooperative work proved effective and the inspector pronounced the Training School grounds the cleanest in the state.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Since February 5, the following contributions have been made to the Student Building Fund:

Margaret Wist.....	$10.00
Lillian Hayes.....	5.00
Delta Sigma Chi.....	25.00
Julia Asher.....	10.00
Mary Vaughan.....	5.00
Gladys Camper.....	25.00
Annie Alvis.....	10.00
Miss Thelma Brown.....	5.00
Mr. F. S. Blanton.....	5.00
Ethel LaBayteaux.....	10.00
Miss L. O. Andrews.....	14.36
Bettie Sue Bailey.....	5.00
Sigma Sigma Sigma.....	36.00
Doris Thomas.....	10.00
Maria Meredith.....	10.00
Ethel Spaid.....	5.00
Miss Winnie Hiner.....	7.50
Miss Marie Schroeder.....	100.00
Mr. H. E. Richardson.....	5.00
Katherine Daniels.....	1.00
Miss M. W. Coulling.....	30.00
Mr. P. W. Fatig.....	40.00
Rev. Ivanhoe Boverston.....	5.00
Evelyn Barnes.....	5.00
Elsie Bell.....	5.00
Cash	28.17
Anna Vries.....	10.00
Mrs. Julia Johnson Davis.....	20.00
Anna B. Robertson.....	10.00
Sue Puckett.....	10.00
Bertha M. Hunt.....	5.00
Mae Blankenship.....	5.15
Miss Carrie Sutherlin.....	6.75

Total$483.93

Grand Total $14,376.17.

Join the grand procession. Add your name before March 7.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER

Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at

LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE

on Third Street

We Are Knockers

Every Day We Are on the Job—We

KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duvall Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery

CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S

Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Athenian Literary Society held its regular meeting on February 13, and a very enjoyable Valentine program was given:

Instrumental Solo.....Pearl Smith
Story—"Cupid and Psyche".....Margaret Taylor
Recitation—"St. Valentine".....Thelma Rhodes
An interesting contest in the guessing of "heart" names was held, in which Ellen Gallo-way won first place. Dainty refreshments, consisting of tea and heart shaped cookies were served.

JEFFERSON LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting the the Jefferson Literary Society which was held on Tuesday, February 13, several matters of business were brought before the members of the society and decided upon. There was no social program.

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

The Argus Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday, February 13. After some discussion as to how to make the meetings more vital the following program on the drama was given:

The Characteristics of the Early American Drama.....Bessie Smith
Story of "The Prince of Partia".....Elma Stringfellow
Jokes.....Kitty Kemp
Current Events.....Clandia Gilchrist

The program for the next two meetings will be on the later and modern drama with students of special dramas.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The Student Building Number of the ROTUNDA has been mailed to practically all of the alumnae. The folding and wrapping of twenty-three hundred papers is a real undertaking, but cooperation on the part of many students accomplished the feat in two afternoons. Incidentally, some information about graduates was obtained:

Mrs. Richard G. Webb (Miss Louise Walker) has moved from Franktown, Virginia to Kenbridge, Virginia.

Miss Mary Barnes is now Mrs. Edward Goins, of Bloxom, Virginia.

Miss Annie Mason is Mrs. Elcan Gladston, of Parksley, Virginia.

Miss Hortense Lewis is teaching at Hallwood, Virginia.

Miss Lucy Heath's address is 1208 E. Central Ave., Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Miss Florida Ashby is living in Wilsall, Montana.

Miss Alice Atkinson is Mrs. Louis Tants, Danville, Va.

Mrs. John Harwood (Miss Fennell Crawley) has moved to Westhampton, Va.

Miss Nellie Fitzpatrick is Mrs. H. B. Jordan, of Bedford, Va.

Miss Ruth Howard was married in June, 1922, to Mr. Raymond W. Wilson, and her home is Buckroe Beach, Virginia.

Miss Katherine Field was married on February 3 to Mr. John Blake Campbell. They are now at home at 4511 Chester Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

Miss Martha Cunningham is Clerk of the State Movie Censor Bureau, in Richmond.

Miss Ruth Elizabeth Draper was married on February 13 to Mr. William T. Peters, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Peters left for a honeymoon in the South, after which they will make their home in Roanoke.

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock	$ 50,000.00
Surplus	100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co's Store

Main Street

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pair of U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12 which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred per cent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented we will cheerfully refund your money upon request.

NATIONAL BAY STATE SHOE COMPANY

296 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Superior Fountain Drinks

and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC

NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Kriese Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—

Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Smith Memorial Building at R. M. W. C.

The Smith Memorial Student Building was opened for use on Thursday morning, February 8, 1923. The first service was a Chapel service which took place at 8:30. Members of the Board of Trustees were present and Dr. Anderson, president of the college, presided.

S. I. N. A.

Underclasswomen and Unbuckled Galoshes.

Whether underclasswomen should wear unbuckled galoshes is creating considerable comment at West Virginia University. The seniors feel that the privilege of wearing foot apparel unclasped should not be abused by the "freshies." If the practice is not soon stopped the upperclasswomen threaten to take action.

S. I. N. A.

Athletics at Amherst.

Amherst College, Mass., claims the athletic championship of the United States on the fact that four hundred and seventy-eight of her five hundred and twenty students are training as athletes. This is a score of ninety-one per cent. "Doc" Hitchcock, director of Athletics at Amherst, with a slogan of "sports for every man," was responsible for this large number of students taking part in athletic events at the Mass. institution.

S. I. N. A.

Youngest Student Wins Rhodes Scholarship.

Robert Driscoll Shea, only nineteen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Shea of Indianapolis, Indiana, has won the Cecil Rhodes Scholarship from the state of Indiana, the youngest student so honored. Shea, who is at present in the Harvard Law School, will leave for Europe to enter Oxford University at the end of the present school term in June.

S. I. N. A.

Thanksgiving Recess Unnecessary Says Dartmouth Student.

A Dartmouth student objects to the Thanksgiving recess as unnecessary and demoralizing to study. He would like to see the extra day's holiday given between the semesters or else distributed among the big football games.

S. I. N. A.

DO YOU KNOW "MISS HUMAN-NATURE?"

"Miss Human-Nature"—when I think of writing on a subject as broad as this one I feel just as if I'm in a library full of books and cannot decide which volume to open first! For the simple reason that this friend of mine has meant so much to me in so many ways and from so many different points of view that I am at a loss what to say first!

Since my arrival at school I have met and become quite a close acquaintance of "Miss Human-Nature." Have you ever met her?" If not, you certainly have a treat in store: She has quite a charming personality, reminds me of a Chinese puzzle—because of the many, many sides she has. I've seen "Miss Human-Nature" when she was very, very happy, why she was smiling so broadly you could hardly find her funny eyes! She has also had her taste of sorrow and disappointment—why I've seen her when I was dreadfully afraid she would flood the school with tears! Full of mischief? My goodness, yes! Really, I believe she would have "popped" if she could not have broken at least seven rules a day; and can you imagine "Miss Human-Nature" studying? Sounds most improbable, doesn't it? But 'tis facts! I've seen her in Room M or the Drawing Room many a night until eleven o'clock just "digging away!" Now, this is what I hate to say about my friend—sometimes I've seen her "snob" people—and my heart went out to her because of her narrowness.

Because of all these sides to this acquaintance of mine I've learned to love, respect and understand her. This friendship with "Miss Human-Nature" has broadened my own out-look upon life—and I can see so clearly the many, many, places that need changing in my own disposition. In other words I've learned to appreciate the other "fellow's" feelings a little more.

Miss Dorothy Askew has been elected to membership in the Pi Kappa Omega Society.

The following girls were entertained at tea Saturday, from four to six, by Miss Georgia Norris: Virginia Beale, Gretchen Obenshain, Margaret Phipps, Margaret Finch, Janie Potter, Belle Atkins, Elizabeth Moring.

HILLBILLY.

Do you know the one about:
The empty box? Nothing in it!
The shirt? That's one on you!
The stove pipe? Too smutty to tell!
The two men? He! He!
The two holes in the ground? Well, well!

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings

MARTIN-The Jeweler

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners

Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.
Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

Breathes there a girl with soul so dead
Who never to herself has said
As she stumped her toe against the bed
(O—!—?—?—?—?—?)

The girl across the hall wants to know if when you tell anyone to kiss your foot, you want a sole kiss.

When big brother sees his sister paint
He always wants to slap'er
He wishes her to be a saint
But he falls for the flapper.

Jessie Carter: "Yes, I have learned to make little things count."

Somebody else: "How's 'at?"

Jessie: "Oh, I taught arithmetic in the third grade."

Somebody: "Ellen, I'd rather hear you laugh than eat."

So would most of us.

Kemp: "I want some Black Cat stockings for gym."

Clerk: "All right. What number does he wear?"

A man, trying to get up a conversation with the gentleman sitting beside him on the train, said, "Isn't that an ugly lady in front of us?"

"Why, that's my wife."

"Oh, no, I mean the one beside her."

"That's my sister."

"I mean the one in front of them."

"That's my mother."

"It's a lie. I never said it."

Hillbilly.

Martha Wells: "I wonder why that reporter looked at my nose so much."

Somebody else: "Don't you know a reporter is supposed to look at anything that turns up?"

Lucy Reed: "You should have heard me teach Henry Timrod this morning."

Spot: "I though you taught in high school.
He's in the Training School, isn't he?"

Father says he cannot understand the young men of today. About twelve o'clock they hang over the front gate saying "Just one."—Awgwan.

A career is a fine thing, but you can't run four fingers through his hair.—Exchange.

A little bit of bluffing.
Lots of air that's hot.
Makes a recitation
Seem like what it's not.—Ex.

He: "I am always moved at the sound of music."

She: "Let me play something for you at once."

Teacher: "Has any one a question?"
— (sleepily): "Yes, what time is it."
Mr. Fatigue: "If you examine a dog's lungs under a microscope, what do you find?"
Senior: "The seat of his pants."

Mary Bibb: "Mr. Lee, I do so want to go to the movies this afternoon. Please let me go early."

Lear Spitler: "I do too, Mr. Lee."

Mr. Lee: "No-oh. We only have 3 hours to work in anyway, so I reckon you had better stay."

Lear Spitler: "Oh, Mr. Lee. What difference does five minutes make?"

Mr. Lee: "Yes, that's just it. What difference does it make whether you spend it here or at the movies?"

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pair of U. S.
Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12 which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred per cent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented we will cheerfully refund your money upon request.

NATIONAL BAY STATE SHOE COMPANY

296 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete
catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and
Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note
Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.
2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS
INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

AGENCY
LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS STATIONERS
CHARLOTTESVILLE-VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

HARRISONBURG 11
FARMVILLE 22

ROTTUNDA

WE'RE PROUD OF YOU, VARSITY!

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3, No. 19.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MARCH 3, 1923

STUDENT CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

Dr. Jarman Addresses Student Body.

The Student Campaign to raise funds for the Student Building Fund was formally begun Tuesday night, February 20. Dr. Jarman made a short talk telling the students how the people of the town were organized, the response he is already beginning to receive from the alumnae, and what many of the students have already done toward the amount of money to be raised by March 7. At the conclusion of his talk Dr. Jarman repeated the original program for the students, which is for each student to write to as many of her friends as she wishes to, asking them for contributions. For this purpose leaflets have been printed telling about "Our Student Building." The opening of the campaign was met with enthusiastic response on the part of the student body and Wednesday's outgoing mails carried many letters containing the above mentioned leaflets.

"Hike 'em on, Farmville, Hike 'em on."

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Jarman, Dr. Tidyman, and Mr. Bell spent last week in Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the annual meeting of the N. E. A.

Mrs. Jarman left, recently, for Tampa, Florida, where she will be for the rest of the winter.

Miss Mary E. Peck, Supervisor in Junior High School and Miss Mary Jefferson left Thursday for New York, where they will spend several days.

Miss Alice E. Carter, Supervisor of Fifth Grade, has been called to Atlantic City on account of the illness of her aunt.

Miss Tabb's mother continues ill in her home on Buffalo Street.

Miss Grace Russell, who was called home on account of the illness and death of her sister, is back in her place at school. The Student Body extends its deepest sympathy to Miss Russell in her recent bereavement.

A TRIP TO HAITI

Alese Anderson and Sarah Von Shilling delightfully entertained the Travellers Club with accounts of their experiences in Haiti last year. The first speaker gave an interesting phase of their trip—government, uprisings of the people, etc. Sarah Von Shilling kept the club in gales of laughter with her amusing tales of the peculiarities of the people—their suspicious nature, and beliefs in such stories as buried treasures, etc. These meetings are proving a real benefit as well as a great pleasure to all of us who attend. All who are interested are cordially invited to come.

MR. ABRAHAM SPEAKS FOR NEAR-EAST RELIEF

Mr. Abraham spoke in Chapel Tuesday morning in behalf of Near-East Relief. In his talk the speaker told of the conditions over there in the Near-East and showed how necessary aid is to those people. After the address, a collection was taken. Mr. Abraham is touring the United States in the interest of the Near-East Relief Fund.

FOURTH GRADE PRESENTS PLAY

Clean-up Week at Training School.

The fourth grade of the Training School presented a very interesting play in the Normal School Auditorium Tuesday morning. The play was a mock trial between the Trash Can and the Training School. Much discussion ensued between the lawyers, but after the "paper-bag," "newspaper," and "tablet" had appeared in person as witnesses for the Trash Can, the judges after short consultation declared the Trash Can "Not Guilty" and sentenced the Training School to harder work in order to keep its grounds neat. All of the children of the grade were found in the play and each one played his part admirably. This play was written by the students of the fourth grade and won the first prize in the group of the lower grammar grades.

Miss Haynie Ogburn, who left school at Christmas, has entered training in one of the hospitals in Washington.

CONTENTMENT

How nice it is to lie abed,
And have two pillows for your head;
And when you're sick, tired out and blue
To feel you've not a thing to do
But close your eyes in peaceful repose
And off to Dreamland sweetly dose.
Nothing to fret or to give you worry,
No bells to make you get up in a hurry.
You can just lie there and rest or "tat"
And do lots of nice things like that.

But, ah me! 'Tis quite a different thing
When to your bed castor oil they bring,
And various sizes and kinds of pills
For various kinds of pains and ills,
And have the nurse come with a long slim mop
With iodine in your throat to sop;
And then cough syrup taken every half hour,
Some sweet, some bitter and some even sour.
Yes, 'tis quite nice, I'll readily agree,
When you're the one instead of me.

HEALTH FILMS SHOWN AT S. N. S.

Dr. Maurice Ricker of the United States Public Health Service showed several of his films in the auditorium Friday afternoon. On account of the very unfavorable conditions of showing the films in the auditorium in the afternoon, two of the films were reshowed after the basket ball game.

Dr. Ricker's films have been pronounced by experts as the best films that have been produced. Film two as seen at night was a wonderful film. Thousands of biologists who have been studying and teaching biology for twenty years have never observed some of the things that this film shows. The malarial film is also a very fine film. This has been one of the hard films to make. Dr. Ricker is to be congratulated for the fine films that he has produced.

THE STUDENT BUILDING FUND

The following contributions have been made to the Student Building Fund since February 17:

Miss M. P. Jones.....	$ 25.00
Miss C. E. Munoz.....	20.00
Cash	16.00
Miss B. H. Jeter.....	10.00
Lelia Haden	10.00
Gipsie Johnson	10.00
Ella Jinkins	10.00
Clara O'Brien	50.00
Frances Evans	5.00
Mrs. Grace Warren Rowell.....	5.00
Fannie L. Bugg.....	5.00
Mrs. C. C. Fleming.....	10.00
Delta Sigma Chi.....	10.00
Claudia Fleming	5.00
Frances Fleming	5.00
Virginia Wall	10.00
Sigma Sigma Sigma.....	100.00
Cash	4.35
Mrs. Margaret Clay Kyle.....	10.00
Edith Marshall	5.00
Ethel Rodes	50.00
Anna Bullock	5.00
Mrs. Josephine Good Win Wapsons.....	5.00
Mrs. Mattie Amos Reichardt.....	5.00
Sarah Johns	5.00
Stone Cottage Girls.....	3.05
Elizabeth Ivy	5.00
Cash	18.00
Mrs. Eleanor Jamison Folk.....	5.00
Mrs. Lucy Rice English.....	5.00
Jennie M. Tabb.....	25.00
Mr. E. S. Taylor.....	20.00
Thurzetta Thomas	5.00
Emily Pables	5.00
Helen Craddock	5.00
Mrs. Bertha Dolan Cox.....	10.00
Total.....	$501.40
Grand Total	$14,877.57

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ARNE MEREDITH
Athletic NEAL McARDIE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Circulation Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

UP-TO-DATE CLUB

Are you keeping up with the development in the Ruhr district? What do you know about the recent discovery of Luxor? Does your knowledge of these things depend upon the chance conversation of those around you, or are you reading for yourself? These were some of the questions asked by one of Mr. Grainger's first professional classes with the result that the Up-to-date Club was organized, for the purpose of studying the topics of the day. This club meets once every week and carries out a definite program. Reports of current events are made, followed by a general discussion of the questions of genuine interest. In the busy rush of school life, girls often neglect to read the newspapers either through carelessness or lack of time. The Up-to-date Club forces these things upon their attention and the general discussion stimulates their interest and gives them other viewpoints besides their own. It is both educational and recreative. Through this club every member is a better informed citizen, more interested in the things about her, and of more interest to those about her. What this interest in outside things has done for this group of girls, it can do for every one of us. Let's all get busy and keep up with what the world outside of our school is doing.

GRAND CARNIVAL ON MARCH 9

On March 9, the children of the Training School will present a novelty operetta, Grand Carnival in Little Folks Town.

It is a holiday in Little Folks Town. Everybody is in holiday dress and holiday mood. Attractive booths, with beautiful toys and tempting dainties of all kinds, line the street. The bill posters enter and announce the attractions. Visitors arrive from Fairyland, Toyland, Mother Goose Land, Elfin Land, Wonderland and Shut Eye Town. The parade comes down the street. Pied Piper is in the lead, and he is followed by Mother Goose, Mother Hubbard, King Cole and Fiddlers Three, Cinderella, Red Riding Hood, Brownies, and the rest. After exchange of greetings the folks of Little Folks Town entertain their guests with a carnival, including a pageant of play, pickinny songs and dances, and other attractions.

This is the most pretentious entertainment that the Training School has ever attempted. Three hundred and fifty children will take part in it. Each child will be appropriately costumed. It promises to be the best of the long line of splendid entertainments that the Training School has presented.

The performance will not be repeated. Another one will not be given for four years. Take advantage of this one. Remember the time and place—March 9, Normal School Auditorium, at 8:15 P. M. Tickets are now on sale. They may be gotten from the children or at Garland and McIntosh's. Seats may be reserved at Garland and McIntosh's after 10 A. M. on Wednesday.

Due to the many other attractions during the year, and the time and labor consumed in the production, Training School programs have been given only once in four years in the past. This will probably be the only opportunity that the present student body will have of seeing a Training School program.

Each student should plan to go. As an entertainment it will be worth while. As a type of work that any student may be called upon to do it will be instructive. Productions in the past have been followed by numerous requests for descriptions of the entertainment. In anticipation of such a demand, a synopsis of the operetta including the lines and enough descriptive matter to enable a person to put on the production, has been prepared, and will be sold for a small fee to cover the cost of printing. With this synopsis those who see the play should be able to reproduce it without difficulty.

Y. W. C. A. GIVES BIRTHDAY PARTY

Saturday afternoon at 4:30 the Y. W. C. A. gave its second birthday party of the year. This one was given to those girls whose birthdays come in the months of November, December and February. The guests were asked to meet in the gymnasium where they played games and danced until supper. Refreshments were served by the members of the social committee.

A Good Sport.

He never believes he has played his best.
He never quits.
He has no alibi.
He smiles when he loses.
He is a quiet winner.
He plays fair.

(Cynical aside: And probably wears canvas covers to protect his wings.)

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of

Toilette Necessities and Stationery

FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery

FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House

DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs... special days. Write for information to E. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

At a called meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held on March 20, it was decided to send Miss Willie London and Elizabeth Paylor as representatives to the Student Volunteer Conference held at Radford last week-end.

An open cabinet meeting at which the Advisory Board and committee members were present was held Saturday, March 21, in the Association room.

This page is a reprint from the issue of February 10, of which too few copies were ordered to supply all who wanted them. This paper will be sent to those who missed the former number.

State Normal School for Women,
Farmville, Virginia,
February 10, 1923.

Dear Alumnae:

Not long ago the students in school met in the Auditorium to bring in their Santa Claus gifts to the Student Building Fund. They were very happy and very enthusiastic. One of the girls proposed that they do a snake dance through the halls singing this little song:

We're coming, we're coming,
This brave little band;
A nickel, a nickel,
In each tiny hand.

They went through the halls, dropping out of the ranks as they came to their rooms, and joining the band later on as they returned to the Auditorium. As they came up to put their nickels and quarters and dollars on the platform, they were greeted by applause from the ones already there. When the nickels were counted, it was found that the "tiny hands" had brought in about one hundred dollars.

Then Dr. Jarman made a remark which prompted me to write this letter to you. He said that he wished the alumnae would "snake-dance" all over Virginia and do as well as the students did that night. I felt that I must start that snake dance right then and there, and I didn't wait longer than the next morning.

I am so proud that I have the privilege as president of the association to lead our snake dance. I know the hearts of the alumnae, so I know the spirit of love and enthusiasm with which you are going to join in the ranks. I can see the line growing—the hand of the vice-president, Mary Clay Hiner, is on my shoulder—the other officers are following her. This is what we are singing:

We're coming, we're coming,
This strong mighty band
Five dollars, five dollars,
In each wielding hand!

Here is my five dollar bill. Already members of the Farmville Chapter are in the line with five dollars each to put into the box when we finish our snake dance on Founder's Day—

March 7th. For that is what we want to do: BRING IN FIVE DOLLARS EACH AND WE CAN PRESENT TO DR. JARMAN $10,000 IN CASH BY FOUNDER'S DAY!

I can think of no way for us to celebrate Founder's Day this year more fitting than our making this cash contribution to the Building Fund. The individual contributions will be credited on the pledges, and it will be the beginning of payments of those who have not made pledges, as yet. The building is going up rapidly and this means that the contractor is calling for money. We can't afford to borrow, for the interest is too expensive.

Don't put off doing this. Write a check now before you finish reading the ROTUNDA and send it in to Dr. Jarman. It isn't much for each one to do, but the aggregate if every one responds to this will mean a splendid sum.

Cordially yours,

PAULINE CAMPER.

February 10, 1923.

To the Members of the Alumnae Association:

You probably know that we have let the contract for the first two stories of our Student Building, at a cost of forty-eight thousand dollars. I have made up my mind to add the other two stories if the necessary amount can be raised.

This whole project is built on faith in the loyalty of our alumnae and friends and as the days go by my faith is strengthened—I know it can be done and will be done.

When our faculty of forty members pledges five thousand dollars (one tenth of the amount we are raising) and eight members of the Home Department give or raise another thousand, it certainly seems that our twenty-five hundred alumnae should have no trouble in raising forty-five thousand; if they would give in the same proportion, it would amount to three hundred thousand dollars. You can make your own calculation and see that none of them would have to make a real sacrifice in order to reach their goal. Every member of the Alumnae Association is asked to give or raise a minimum of ten dollars a year for a period of five years, and to sign a pledge card to that effect if thoroughly interested in doing something for their Alma Mater and in having a share in this undertaking, every one will be glad to fall in line and comply with the request.

One out-of-town friend of the School has sent in his check for five hundred dollars; another, for a hundred dollars; and a number of smaller contributions have been sent through students—one student alone has raised a hundred and thirty dollars among her friends and several others as much as twenty-five dollars. Why? . . . because they are interested!

The present student body will undertake to raise at least ten dollars apiece by Founder's Day, March 7th.

The Farmville Chamber of Commerce has unanimously endorsed the erection of the Student Building and will appoint a Committee to canvass the town during the month of February, fixing as their goal thirty thousand dollars, and will make their report at the Founder's Day Exercises.

We are hoping that every Alumna, without an exception, will send in a contribution before March 7th. Those who have made pledges are urged to bring their payments up to date and those who have not made pledges are urged to cut out, fill, and return the card printed in this issue.

Not only are our students working as students, but they are also working through their organizations; in November the Dramatic Club made a cash contribution of five hundred dollars.

Remember that the Student Building is to be the largest and handsomest building on the campus and that it needs your help.

Yours very truly,

J. L. JARMAN.

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers
Every Day We Are on the Job—We
KNOCK SPOTS
W. E. ENGLAND
Phone 249 Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.
HOME OF THE FAMOUS
Queen Quality Footwear
VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY
MAIN STREET FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE
Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet
GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN
Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles
Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

SHANNON'S
Soda Shop and Bakery
MAIN STREET AT HIGH
Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.
We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

W. J. HILLSMAN
Wholesale and Retail Distributor of
LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE
Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS LITERARY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society, February 20, a very entertaining and unusually enjoyable program was given: George Washington Rules of Conduct—Maude Bailey.

Current Events—Elizabeth Moring.

Eulogy—Frances Baskerville.

Games—Society.

Piano Solo—Olive Smith.

Miss Catherine Kemp won the first prize in a George Washington game, and very generously shared it with the society.

The following new officers were elected:

Secretary—Grace Bailey.

Reporter—Bessie Smith.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

A very enjoyable meeting of El Circulo Espanol was held on Saturday, February 24, at 7 p. m. The following program was given:

The Importance of El Circulo Espanol—Daisy R. Goodman.

Jokes—Anne Meredith.

Games—Miss Smithy.

Victrola Music.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Alice Dugger, who has been county nurse for Chesterfield County, is now assisting Mrs. Robert Croxton, head of the nursing division. Miss Dugger will have charge of all Red Cross nursing activities through the state.

Miss Minnie K. Lewis is now president of the Richmond Alumnae Chapter. Until last November that office was filled most efficiently by Miss Sadie Armstrong. At that time the case of Teaching versus Matrimony was brought to trial, and the verdict rendered in favor of the latter. The chapter decided that their appreciation of her work would be best shown by setting aside $50 for a picture to be hung in her honor in the reception hall of the Student Building. The note informing Miss Armstrong of the action of the chapter was accompanied by the following poem, written by Mrs. A. P. Forbes (Miss Margaret Henderson):

Sarah Browning Armstrong.

When I dip into the future as the happy years roll round,

Alma Mater's spirit leads me once more to her hallowed ground;

Rising o'er the rolling campus, towering as a massive whole,

Greets my gaze a wondrous vision, Alumnae's dream and students' goal.

Comrades, gather here in spirit, just within this sacred hall.

Tarry here and turn your faces toward the tablet on the wall;

See the name that's there engraven, 'tis familiar to the throng.

For loyalty to Alma Mater has the Synonym "Armstrong."

But come now, friends, and draw still closer, what's the whisper that I hear?

Some tell me Cupid's meddled, and the name doth changed appear;

But 'tis the heart attains the highest, and she who follows Love's behest

Makes Minerva yield to Venus, and in truth finds Life at best.

Then come, Alumnae, lift your glasses, toast the new name added here

And bless the tie that binds together, Sarah Browning Armstrong-Greer.

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST

FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE

FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock$ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw

QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pair of U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12 which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred per cent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented we will cheerfully refund your money upon request.

NATIONAL BAY STATE SHOE COMPANY

296 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Superior Fountain Drinks

and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY and SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager
503 Krise Bldg. Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

ATHLETICS

February 24, 1923.

Dear old Doris,

More visitors this week-end! More excitement! More fun! A game! With whom? With our old rival, Harrisonburg!

Why the exclamations and all? Well, you should have been here and "got in the swim" with us all. And after I begged and pleaded and even sent you a "special"—as impetuous as I am—you failed to arrive at the appointed time. So that's the kind of girl you are! If I didn't have such a kind heart I wouldn't even tell you about it. But since I am afflicted with kindness of the heart, I will proceed.

The Harrisonburg girls arrived on the 4:10 Thursday afternoon. We weren't expecting them until later and when we got the telegram at 3 o'clock you never saw such a cleaning up and a straightening around as we did. An army of maids appeared on Boardroom Hall and began to wash windows and floors and to sweep, mop and dust.

And goodness such spotless rooms when at 4 o'clock the doors stood open to receive their guests for the week-end!

And in the meanwhile, others were decorating the Rotunda and the Armory in the Harrisonburg colors.

Don't think we didn't impress the visitors much when they came up the walk into the reception hall and were greeted by a "Rotunda-full" of purple and gold streamers and a crowd of yelling girls, 'cause we did!

Thursday night, the girls were taken to an exhibition in the gym, and later to the movies to see Wallace Reid and Elsie Ferguson in "Forever." Then Friday morning they "saw the sights" until chapel time, and afterwards went riding. Our varsity took them to the tea room for supper before the game, and Friday night the game! To tell the truth, though, the game was disappointing in a way. Neither team played the kind of ball that is expected of them always. The Farmville guards would hold the honors of the game if one were to pick out special "stars." To make a long game short—the score stood 12-8 in Farmville's favor at the end of the first half. At the end of the last half, Farmville came out on top with the score of 22-11. Of course we yelled ourselves hoarse and rushed over to slap our team on the back and congratulate them.

The two teams after "washing up" a bit went down to our Tea Room for a "feed" and a chance to talk over the game and to tell each other how "perfectly awful they played" as they usually do, don't chuknow?

And finally I draw to a close—aren't you glad?—by telling you that Harrisonburg left this morning at 9:35. We were really sorry to see them go, because we had become such good friends.

We gave ourselves this morning to rest up and talk over the game and this evening we begin to look forward to next Friday night—which will see us beating?!?! Radford just we beat Harrisonburg.

Now Doris, you've got to come to that game. Don't let me hear from you except with the words "I come"—do you hear?

So, waiting patiently to see you I remain,
Yours,

Nancy.

P. S. I enclose the line-up of the game. I thought you might be interested in it.

H. N. S.	Pos.	F. N. S.
Long	Forward	Treble
Wagstaff	Forward	Mathews
Bell, M.	Center	Reid
Wagstaff, H.	Center	Walton
Coleman	Guard	Sexton
Chinault	Guard	Hall

Substitutions: Rhodes for Coleman, Sawyer for Mathews, Stringfellow for Walton, and Bell for Stringfellow.

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

The First College Paper.

"The first college paper," says the Harvard Crimson, back in 1911, "was not established by the oldest university, but by one of her younger sisters, Dartmouth. Realizing what an excellent thing it would be to issue at stated intervals a paper of the college, written by its own students, a band of young men got together in 1800 and organized a journal called the Gazette. This paper was a 'howling success.' It was contributed to and made famous by Dartmouth's most distinguished son, Daniel Webster. It was not until 1810 that Harvard made her first venture into journalism, and then Edward Everett, with seven associates, issued the Harvard Lyceum. S. I. N. A.

Radio Fad Is the Latest at Va. Tech.

"V. P. I. is not unlike a great city in its ability to take up the latest fads and fancies. This year finds individuals among the student body pursuing the radio bug in all its varied forms and variations. "At present there are eight receiving sets in operation in the barracks and every one of these sets is composed largely of home-made apparatus. The range over which stations are heard is enormous. The limits may be placed at Springfield, Mass.; Havana, Cuba; Duluth, Minn.; Fort Worth, Texas; and one outfit has twice recorded programs from Los Angeles. Three of the operators who are familiar with the code have copied the signals of amateurs from every district in the country, not mentioning the reception of transatlantic messages from France and Germany. S. I. N. A.

No Automobiles at William and Mary.

It is probable that in the future no student at William and Mary will be allowed to have an automobile while at the college. Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the institution, states that he agrees with the ruling of Princeton prohibiting the students from keeping their cars at the University.

Dr. Chandler gives as his reason that if a student is injured in an accident, the college gets the blame; that in the long run a student who keeps a car will receive low grades; and that there is a tendency toward class distinction between the owners and non-owners of cars. S. I. N. A.

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Banners
Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR

Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes, Dry
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for Over
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and
Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets
at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our specialty.

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

STUDENT BUILDING FUND— JANUARY 29, 1923

CLASS	QUOTA	PLEDGED	PAID
1885	$ 75.00	$.....	$.....
1886	200.00	15.00	15.00
1887	350.00	100.00	5.00
1888	575.00	150.00	121.50
1889	700.00	505.00
1890	350.00	5.00	5.00
1891	300.00	50.00	10.00
1892	875.00
1893	700.00	130.00	30.00
1894	700.00
1895	1,050.00	50.00
1896	1,100.00	10.00	5.00
1897	1,000.00	10.00	10.00
1898	1,050.00	50.00	50.00
1899	650.00	175.00	70.00
1900	700.00	50.00	50.00
1901	875.00	150.00	95.00
1902	925.00	65.00	15.00
1903	1,225.00	235.00	80.00
1904	1,725.00	335.00	35.00
1905	1,400.00	125.00	25.00
1906	1,650.00	170.00	95.00
1907	1,575.00	65.00	15.00
1908	1,400.00	240.00	37.00
1909	1,700.00	220.00	90.00
1910	2,150.00	300.00	90.00
1911	2,625.00	964.50	582.50
1912	3,100.00	1,367.00	787.00
1913	2,700.00	1,429.50	785.00
1914	3,500.00	1,240.50	609.50
1915	2,575.00	529.00	295.00
1916	3,925.00	1,251.00	498.00
1917	3,675.00	491.00	251.00
1918	4,200.00	1,220.00	299.50
1919	3,175.00	321.00	128.00
1920	3,150.00	156.00	55.00
1921	4,175.00	2,479.00	460.00
1922	4,475.00	3,315.00	160.00

As President of the Alumnae Association, I have assigned a reasonable quota for each Graduating Class, based upon the number in the Class. The above tabulation shows the amounts pledged and paid to date.

Please cut out and return the pledge card, filled in, with as generous a pledge as you can make. We would like to have the first payment cash.

PAULINE CAMPER,
President Alumnae Association.

STUDENTS' BUILDING FUND STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

.....192.....
NameClass.....

Home Address.....

I hereby promise the following payments to the Students' Building Fund:

.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....
.....after date $.....

Miss Hiner: What poem describes today?
Voice: None, it's too slushy.
Christine A.: Well, I've read some pretty slushy poetry.

The girl across the hall says she learned the other day that woolen cloth is made from the fleas of sheep, and no wonder winter flannels scratch so.

Skull: A man told me I looked like you.
Bones: Where is he? I'd like to knock his head off.
Skull: I killed him.

—I'a. Reel.

Little Willie from the mirror licked the mercury all off,
Thinking in his childish fancy it would cure the whooping cough.
At the funeral Willie's mother smartly said to Mrs. Brown,
"Twas a chilly day for Willie when the mercury went down."

"I do wish hens would lay something besides eggs," sighed the Freshman as she gave the breakfast table the once over.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton

INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN
FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN-The Jeweler

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.
2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND
ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY
FRATERNITY STATIONERY

AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY
INCORPORATED
PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS
CHARLOTTEVILLE...VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

WE KNEW YOU
COULD DO IT
VARSITY!

ROTTUNDA

RADFORD 12
FARMVILLE 14

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3, No. 20

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MARCH 10, 1923

FARMVILLE SPIRIT WILL NEVER DIE!

THE SPIRIT OF THE GAME

What Is the Test of a Good Sportsman?

What is the most important thing, next to the actual playing, that determines the outcome of a contest? An Al American college girl answers, "Good sportsmanship." One channel for the expression of good sportsmanship is a true, "backing" spirit on the part of the student body. There are three great phases of the spirit that means a successful game: before, during, and after. Each one of these phases has its own important place in making the general college one of which the student body is proud.

The "pep" meetings, learning new yells and songs, Snake-dancing, and all those things which aid in arousing general enthusiasm are all-important features not to be made light of; they culminate in the true spirit that is a great part of the victory. During the game itself it is easiest to show enthusiasm and "pep", especially when your team is winning. But it is also then most important that the spirit be one of helpfulness and friendliness rather than one of antagonism. The spirit after the game is often the test of a real sportsman. The spirit shown in defeat is even more important than that shown in victory, as it is so much harder to keep away a feeling of antagonism in the former case.

The recent game with East Radford was one never to be forgotten. And one of the most important things of the game was the splendid spirit on the part of each contestant and rooter. Think of the spirit of this game in the three phases: Let each girl ask herself the question, "What do I think of our spirit before the game? What did I do to cooperate and help in working up the proper enthusiasm and a strong spirit of loyalty?" The "team boosters"—my, weren't they splendid! The whole school is grateful to them for their loyal support and cooperative spirit. Keep up your spirit, team boosters, and get others to join your ranks! And three cheers for Farmville spirit during the game; it helped the players so much and added to the glory of the victory. East Radford certainly should be proud of their group of rooters, too. They are to be congratulated on their splendid spirit. And after the game, when the test of the real sportsman comes, the spirit shown by each side was that of which the colleges should be proud, and at the same time be careful of preserving. The spirit on the part of the losers was one of friendliness, and that of the winners anything but antagonistic, and that is what we want. Keep up this spirit, Farmville! It helps the team more than you realize, and adds much to the whole school's fame.

DELEGATE FROM VIRGINIA PEACE COMMITTEE SPEAKS AT S. N. S.

War to Be Outlawed Through the Schools.

Mrs. Lucia Ames Meade, of Boston, a member of the Virginia Peace Committee gave addresses at the Normal School Thursday and Friday of last week, in the interest of World Peace.

Mrs. Meade gave a series of three lectures during her stay in Farmville. The central theme of the talks was universal peace, and how it could be obtained. The principle address was given in Chapel Friday morning on the subject of "Necessary Reorganization of the Course of Study as a Result of the War." In the beginning of her talk Mrs. Meade stated that since man was created he had progressed along two lines, spiritual and material. Until the Industrial Revolution, explained the speaker, the spiritual element was in the ascendancy, since then the material progress of man has reached and passed the spiritual side. "The work of the coming generation," said Mrs. Meade, "is to see that the spiritual side of man's interests gains on the material side." Only by doing this can war be outlawed. Mrs. Meade stated that this work must be done through the schools. She took up different subjects such as History and Mathematics and showed how these subjects must be vitilized so that the children will grow up knowing the true facts in the true light.

In conclusion Mrs. Meade gave the United States as an example for world organization to avoid wars. The chief necessities for peace, continued the speaker are a world arbitrating body and free trade.

S. N. S. GIVES PLAYS AT H. S. C.

The Dramatic Club gave two very attractive plays at Hampden-Sidney, Friday night, February 23. "The Trysting Place of Our Ancestors," and "Six Cups of Chocolate," were given in the college gymnasium. A large number of people, especially college boys, attended the performance. After the entertainment, delicious punch was served in the Association Room; following which the girls spent a delightful evening at the Kappa-Sigma Fraternity House.

"SIX CUPS OF CHOCOLATE"

Played by S. N. S. Dramatic Club.

Friday evening after the Radford-Farmville game the S. N. S. Dramatic Club gave a one act play "Six Cups of Chocolate" in the Auditorium for the benefit of the Student Building. The play was attended by a large number of school girls and the visiting team with its friends.

The setting of "Six Cups of Chocolate" was in the drawing-room of a home in a college town. The characters were six girls who were all in love, and had just received letters from the men of their dreams. As the conversation continued it was discovered that the men were all one man. To get even they write a note returning his letters for "future use." The whole play afforded a great deal of amusement for the audience.

STUDENT BUILDING FUND

Mrs. Ella Trent Taliaferro.....	$ 10.00
Dare Taliaferro	5.00
Fannie Berkeley	5.00
Catherine G. Hancock.....	10.00
Mrs. L. V. S. Nunn.....	5.00
Maggie Taylor Cardwell (Mrs.).....	10.00
Carrie Dungan	5.00
Grace Smith	5.00
Mrs. Pauline Doyne.....	5.00
Miss Pauline Camper.....	50.00
Mary S. Smith.....	5.00
Hattie Bugg Duvall (Mrs.).....	5.00
Cash	53.90
Mrs. Mattie Wainwright Hubbard.....	10.00
Bessie McD. Turner.....	5.00
Annie Gamaway	5.00
Lucile Stone	5.00
Mrs. Laura Baldwin Cowan.....	8.00
Mrs. Margaret Porter Howard.....	10.00
Cash	20.21
Miss Smithy	10.00
Esther Davenport	10.00
Irene Bridges	5.00
Mrs. Sadie Claiborne	10.00
Miss Jeannette Edwards.....	25.00
Mr. Walter G. Dunnington, Jr.....	25.00
Ethel LaBoyetaux	10.00
Evelyn Barnes	5.00
Cash	20.00
Mrs. Mattie Lee Wolfe.....	5.00
Miller and Rhoads.....	25.00
Total.....	$387.11
Grand Total	$15,264.66

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

News ANNE MEREDITH
Athletic NELL MCARDLE
Joke EMILY CALCOTT
Literary PAULINE TIMBERLAKE
Exchange CAROLYN MORROW
Alumnae MISS BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager CATHERINE KEMP
Typist MARTHA PHILLIPS

LOYALTY OR FAME?

We all recognize that our highest individual good is our own happiness, but when we stop to consider exactly how this happiness may be attained, we are somewhat at a loss. The modern woman can be content only with complete self expression, and there is only one way in which she can reach the highest phase of personal development; and that is through loyalty, or the practical expression of devotion to a cause.

Perhaps this does not appeal to you, so you turn to power. If you are wise, you will at once discount this as a means of attaining happiness, for you will recall that the theme of heroic tragedy has, for the most part, been an account of the fate of power seekers, and comedy an account of the absurdity of their quest. Upon no topic have sages, writers and critics been more universally agreed than upon the impossibility of happiness by means of power, except when it is sought as a means of reaching some more ideal goal. Aside from this, there are these other objections—its attainment is a matter of fortune; the desire for power is insatiable; and the power of external things is greater than the power of man, for the more power he has, the more places he comes in contact with the unconquered.

Loyalty is also subject to fortune, but loyalty joyfully accepts destiny in advance. Loyalty calls for originality, since you must often invent your duties as well as their manner of execution. We see from the definition that you cannot be loyal unless you have a cause, so it is necessary to choose a cause. This cause should be larger than yourself, and freely chosen by you in accordance with your opportunities. Begin your life of loyalty now, by being loyal to your school. Remember that loyalty is not mere emotion, but the expression of sentiment in a practical way. Loyalty means service, and he who serves best is not always the one who holds a position of eminence among his fellow men.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

The students of Liberty High School, Liberty, N. C., have formed a club known as the "Go to College Club." According to their secretary "the purpose in organizing the Club is to write to the different colleges to get information about them, so that when we finish high school we shall have in view some college that we should like to attend."

In writing to the various institutions in which they are interested, these young students are going about it in a businesslike way. Besides their request for a catalogue they ask the following questions:

Is your college an "A" college?
What are your entrance requirements?
What is the expense for the year?
What is the size of the student body?
Is it a co-educational college?

When the students of Liberty High School complete their course there, they will not have to begin then to look around for a college which will suit their needs; they have gathered the necessary information ahead of time and will have made their decision after due deliberation. It would be well if more high schools would follow the good example they have set.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
HOT AND COLD WATER
Rooms with or without bath
J. O. HARDAWAY, Proprietor
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Suppose You Have a Fire Tonight?

Garland, Martin & Blanton
INSURORS
INSURANCE THAT INSURES
FARMVILLE, VA.

NORMAL SCHOOL JEWELRY
Watches, Clocks, Diamonds, Rings,
Class and Sorority Rings
MARTIN-The Jeweler

DAVIDSON'S

Department Store

"Farmville's Largest and Most Progressive Store"

The Finest in Wearing Apparel, Millinery and Footwear

207-209-211 and 213 Main Street

FARMVILLE, VA.

"WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS"

First National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

Every Convenience Offered Women Depositors

MISSES DAVIDSON

The Ladies' Specialty Shop

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dry Goods and Notions

FARMVILLE, VA.

Gray's Drug Store

The Drug Store with the Personal Touch

Carrying an Up-to-date Line of
Toilette Necessities and Stationery
FARMVILLE, VA.

R. W. Garnett & Co.

Leaders of Fashion

IN

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Millinery
FARMVILLE, VA.

OGDEN STUDIO

Portraits: All Sizes and Styles

School Work a Specialty

Amateur Work Finished

FOR GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
AND FIRST-CLASS SHOWS

Go to THE EACO THEATRE

Farmville's New $50,000 Play House
DR. L. D. WHITAKER, Manager

Good Things to Eat Just Across the Street

AT

D. W. GILLIAM'S

MAKE YOUR HEADQUARTERS AT
WADE'S

Fountain Drinks, Confectioneries, Canned Goods, Olives, Pickles, School Supplies
FARMVILLE, VA.

THE COMMITTEE OF 39 ON PUBLIC
SCHOOL METHODS

AT YOUR SERVICE.

Material covering all subjects in the course of study. Departments on project method, motivation, the socialized recitation programs, special days. Write for information to R. O. WICKHAM, Organizer for Va., Hampton, Va.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION HELD AT EAST RADFORD NORMAL SCHOOL FEBRUARY 23-25

Seven Go from Farmville—Convention
Great Success.

Did someone mention the Student Volunteer Convention at East Radford Normal? It was wonderful. Only those who have experienced the deep, soul-stirring feelings that come to one at a gathering of God's Workers can realize that words are indeed inadequate to express those feelings. This conference was one that meant a great deal in a great many ways. I gained a much broader outlook on the Student Volunteer Movement and Christian work in colleges as a whole; and I gained a deeper knowledge of the real significance of it all. The convention meant much to the delegates as a whole, because it meant inspiration to realize that they were all there with the same purpose—all there because they loved Christ, and wanted to learn better how to further his work. It also was inspirational to come into contact with the leaders and speakers of the convention; men and women of the highest spiritual influence.

The delegates were most hospitably entertained by the citizens of Radford, and the Normal School Students added to the pleasantness of the week-end.

The speakers were mostly returned missionaries. The strong Christian character and the love of service to mankind were a back-ground to their messages that meant power and inspiration. At the first assembly, Friday night, Dr. H. F. Williams took us on a trip around the world with his stereopticon views and accompanying explanation.

Saturday and Sunday there were three sessions and between times, periods for interviews with the speakers and convention leaders. Miss Virginia Pritchard and Mr. Lyman Hoover, travelling secretaries of the Y. W. C. A., and Y. M. C. A., respectively, were among the foremost speakers; their talks were so helpful in suggestions for furthering Christian work on our campus. Mrs. John Anderson, of the Peking Language School, China, brought to us vividly, the needs of China, especially the great opportunities awaiting women workers there. Rev. W. M. Clark, returned missionary of Korea, brought challenges to the youth of America from the country in which he has so successfully worked. The messages concerning China, the present conditions there and the consequent opportunities for service, brought to us by Dr. A. N. Sherman, late worker in that country, will never be forgotten by those who heard him. Dr. D. J. Fleming, of Union Theological Seminary, well known author, talked on India. His thoughts were ones every Christian worker would do well to think over. Dr. Soren gave such a pleasant talk. Dr. F. F. Soren is a native of Brazil and a missionary there. His pleas for Christian work in Brazil were made especially forceful by his deep sincerity and firm knowledge and experience. Each delegate will always remember the lecture of Mr. Frank Gilliam, returned missionary from Africa. He spoke with the firm conviction of one who has found the greatest happiness—that which comes from serving God.

I trust each girl may sometime attend a convention like this, and then they will be ready to say with me, "It was wonderful!"

PORTSMOUTH Y. W. C. A. MOVEMENT

Unique Program for Better Education.

The girls reserve department of the Portsmouth Y. W. C. A. is putting on a unique program for better education to last for a month.

The purpose of this project is to interest the girls in higher education, to show them the advantages to be derived from education; and to induce them to strive for more, larger, and fuller education. As one feature of this program the Y. W. C. A. has asked various normal schools and colleges to send representatives to talk on the higher education, especially the advantages offered by their own school.

At Dr. Jarman's request Miss Lois Williams, of Portsmouth represented the Farmville Normal School. Miss Williams left School on Saturday and was gone until the following Wednesday.

A TRIP TO TURKEY AND
THE HOLY LANDS

Miss Edwards Makes Interesting Address.

The Travelers went on a very enjoyable trip at the last regular meeting of the Travelers Club, when Miss Edwards took them to Turkey, The Holy Lands, Constantinople, Venice, Paris and many other cities of interest. Her collection of jewelry which she exhibited made the talk very interesting.

I never knew
That calm contented way
Most people know,
My heart must go
In brilliant sun while it is day—
Fathomless dark when light is gone—
They laugh and say
That I am sadly wrong—
That it is better so
To deaden all the heart that it may know
Naught but twilight, still and calm—
But close to my soul, I hold my balm—
I know, I know, even while I weep—
Joy is only sorrow-deep!

A. E. WILLIS-FLORIST
FARMVILLE, VA.

Cut Flowers for Every Occasion

High Class Jewelry and Watch Repairing at
LYNN'S JEWELRY STORE
on Third Street

We Are Knockers
Every Day We Are on the Job—We
KNOCK SPOTS

W. E. ENGLAND

Phone 249

Merchant Tailor

R. B. CRALLE & CO.

HOME OF THE FAMOUS

Queen Quality Footwear

VAN RAALTE SILK HOSIERY

MAIN STREET

FARMVILLE, VA.

VIOLIN, PIANO, VOICE

Banjo, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet

GOLDMAN'S CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GOLDMAN

Pupils prepared for orchestra, concert and church work

PLANTERS' BANK OF FARMVILLE
FARMVILLE, VA.

STATE, CITY AND COUNTY DEPOSITORY

Capital Stock $ 50,000.00

Surplus 100,000.00

"The Old Reliable Bank"

MILLINERY

All the latest and up-to-date styles always on hand

HATS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS A SPECIALTY

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw
QUALITY MILLINERY

Rear Chappell Co.'s Store

Main Street

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pair of U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12 which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred per cent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented we will cheerfully refund your money upon request.

NATIONAL BAY STATE SHOE COMPANY

296 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ARGUS

At the regular meeting of the Argus Literary Society on February 27, the following program, which was voted by all as the best of the year, was given:

- Jokes—Frances Warren.
- Characteristics of Later American Drama—Caroline Morrow.
- Story of Rip Van Winkle—Ellen Carlson.
- Interesting Facts about Gospel Jefferson—Nellie Norman.
- Current Events—Olive Smith.

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Literary Society on February 27, held a very important business meeting to elect their officers for the Spring term. With this competent group at its head the society is looking forward to a successful term:

- President—Elizabeth Williams.
- Vice-President—Elizabeth Paylor.
- Treasurer—Daisy Mitchell.
- Recording Secretary—Virginia Bondurant.
- Corresponding Secretary—Ellen Galloway.
- Reporter—Sylvia Folston.
- Critic—Marshal Greathead.
- Censor—Louise Day.

JEFFERSON

At the meeting of the Jefferson Literary Society held Tuesday, February 27, a very enjoyable program was given. The program consisted of the following:

- Piano Solo—Daisy Goodman.
- Vocal Solo—Anne Robertson.
- Piano Solo—Clara Thomson.
- Charade (Dictionary)—Elsie Shawen and Freddie Crockin.
- Charade (Cleanliness is next to Godliness)—Dorothy Askew and Isabel Crowder.
- Reading—Sadie Kobre.

The new literary society song was practiced and several interesting games were played.

PIERIAN

On Tuesday, February 27, the Pierian Literary Society held a short but important meeting, during which time new officers were elected.

- They were as follows:
- President—Helen Miller.
- First Vice-President—Christine Armstrong.
- Second Vice-President—Mary Spiggle.
- Treasurer—Mary Baker.
- Secretary—Dorothy Deal.
- Critic—Emily Calcott.
- Censor—Mable Britton.
- Reporter—Kitty Fray.

After the election of officers important business was transacted. The meeting was then adjourned.

THINGS ARE NOT ALWAYS WHAT THEY SEEM

We have a cousin who rates a reputation of beauty, charm and attractiveness. She really is quite the thing, when she emerges from two or three hours of dressing herself, for she is slender, blue-eyed, and carries her clothes and conversation with enviable dash and style. But she has been informed about her attractions until she thinks she has all the movie queens knocked cold. Beauty like pride sometimes has its falls, as any sage can tell us. My fair relative, in the episode of which we speak, was on her way to some function, escorted by her latest cake-eater attachment. She was much curled up as to bobbed hair and geared up in her sportiest garments. As she proceeded, a gentle shower poured on the happy pair and shortly afterward she was conscious of many glances in her direction. But she was used to these and interpreted them as the homage of admiration. She even put on a few more airs and graces to show off like flappers usually do. Soon she reached her destination and was shown to the dressing room. As she gazed in the mirror to powder her nose, she was horrified to see her once curly locks, hanging in straight, ungainly profusion, a truly pitiable sight. She is now a sadder and a wiser girl, we hope.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Montgomery Clingenpul announce the marriage of their daughter, Flora Tice, to Mr. Leslie Hammer Patterson, on Saturday, February 24, 1923, at Martinsville, Virginia.

Mrs. A. D. Calcott continues to improve at her home in Norfolk.

Miss Tabb's mother continues ill at her residence on Buffalo Street.

Miss Lois Williams was in Portsmouth from Saturday to Wednesday of last week to assist in the better education program being conducted there.

Miss Evelyn Claytor of Portsmouth spent last week-end with Elizabeth Moring.

Miss Dora Lee Gray of Newport News was the week-end guest of Genevieve Bonnewell.

Duval Motor Co.—Automobiles

Trucks, Tractors and Farm Machinery
CORNER THIRD AND NORTH STREETS

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN FARMVILLE, VA.

J. L. JARMAN, President

For Catalogue address THE REGISTRAR,
State Normal School for Women, Farmville,
Virginia.

W. J. HILLSMAN

Wholesale and Retail Distributor of

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Dry Goods, Notions and Furnishings, School Supplies

HUBARD'S

Hammermill Bond Social Stationery

School Supplies—S. N. S. Pennants—Ban
Pillow Cases

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

GARLAND & McINTOSH

DRUGGISTS

The REXALL Store

Agents for Eastman Kodaks

We invite you to visit our new fountain

FARMVILLE, - - - VIRGINIA

BALDWIN'S

NORMAL GIRLS HEADQUARTERS FOR
Classy Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Shoes,
Goods, Notions, Etc.

WHITE DRUG COMPANY

Established 1868

The Confidence of the Community for
Half a Century

Finest Toilette Requisites, Drugs and

Stationery

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE TAKE PRIDE

In preparing and serving the most elaborate banquets at the most reasonable price.

Banquets for school organizations our special

VIRGINIA CAFE

PHONE 227

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

BARROW COAL CO.

QUALITY

SERVICE

PHONES 166 and 148

FARMVILLE CREAMERY, INC.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Ice Cream and Butter

PHONE 55

RADFORD LOSES TO FARMVILLE SEXTET

Drops Rough Game by Score of 14 to 12 on Floor of Victors.

Again the fast hard-playing Farmville Sextet, pulls a victory on their home floor. This time Radford went down before them. Farmville took the lead at the first of the game and kept it throughout. Radford played a hard aggressive game but the "never say die" spirit of the lighter Farmville Sextet prevented them from carrying the victors' laurels home.

The game was fast and rough—due perhaps to the referee's interpretation of rules—and was not delayed by fouls.

The entire Farmville team played excellent ball. Again the brilliant work of the guards featured, especially the dash and spirit of Miss Sexton. Miss Treake played her usual stellar game and the accurate foul shooting of Misses Hall and Mathews featured the forward work.

Line-up:

Radford	Pos.	Farmville
Thomas	Forward	Hall, H.
Herrick	Forward	Sawyer
Whetaker	Center	Reid
Baylor	Center	Walton
Ginhert	Guard	Hall, M.
Shumate (C.)	Guard	Sexton, M.

Summary:

Substitutions: Bell for Reid; Treake (Capt.) for Sawyer; Mathews for Hall, Sawyer for Mathews. Field goals: Thomas (5); Treake (2), Mathews (1), Hall (1). Fouls—Radford 2 out of 10, Thomas (1), Herrick (1), Farmville 6 out of 9. Hall (3), Mathews (3).

Referee: Stauffer (Roanoke). Umpire, Dr. A. C. Frasier (F. A. C.). Time: 15 minute halves.

There was a young lady from Bleacher
Who thought she'd be a good teacher.
But, queer to say
'Twas the other way
So then she married a preacher.

What a wonderful girl is our Mabel,
She sits right near my table,
She is always so good
Never complains of the food.
I really think she's a fable.

There was once a young man named McBane,
Who came to call on his Jane,
When he saw all the girls
His head got the whirls
So he turned and ran out again.

Agnes (as alarm clock rings): "Ah hah! I fooled you that time, I wasn't asleep."

COLLEGE CUT OUTS

Advantage of a College Diploma

A graduation diploma seems to be more than a certificate indicating the completion of a college course. It also seems to be a guarantee against ever having to spend any time back of bars, for according to the report of the warden at Arkansas penitentiary, of the 1,302 persons at the institution during the last year only fifteen were of university or college training. Surely this is one big advantage of a college education.

S. I. N. A.

Why Not Be a Football Coach?

State University, Baton Rouge, will pay its football coach ten thousand dollars per year for the next four years at least; but in fact, this salary is to be raised by the loyal alumni of that institution.

The present constitution of Louisiana reads: The Governor shall receive a salary of seven thousand, five hundred dollars per annum and the Lieutenant Governor a salary of two thousand and four hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly on their own warrants.

S. I. N. A.

Tennis Tournament to Be Held at Chapel Hill

Letters inviting six institutions to enter a South-Atlantic tennis tourney to be held at Chapel Hill, were sent out a few days ago by the manager of Varsity Tennis. The schools invited are: Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Virginia, Maryland, Washington and Lee, and North Carolina State. The University will be represented of course. All the schools invited were members of the Southern Inter-collegiate Conference. It is a matter of doubt as to whether an invitation will be extended to South Carolina.

S. I. N. A.

How College Students Spend Their Time

The average undergraduate works nine hours daily, sleeps eight and one-quarter hours, and spends four hours in recreation each week day, according to data collected by The Dartmouth, the student daily of that institution. Freshmen spend more time in study: four hours and forty minutes each work day, while Seniors bring this total down to three hours.

S. I. N. A.

What Co-Eds Talk About

According to statistics compiled by Professor Ralph H. Power, of the University of California, the co-eds of his college talk more about men than they do about any other subject. Here are his figures: Talk about man, 57 per cent; talk about dress and fashion, 27 per cent; talk about amusements, 3 per cent, etc.

S. I. N. A.

Colored Rector: "And now, brethren, let us pray fo' dem heathen dat lives in de uninhabited parts of de world."

Lampoon.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Monogram Stationery

$5.00 PER CABINET

FARMVILLE HERALD

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

POST OFFICE PHARMACY

Drugs and Toilette Articles

Superior Fountain Drinks

and

PAGE and SHAW CANDIES

C. E. CHAPPELL COMPANY

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books

Stationery, School Supplies

Fraternity and Club Jewelry

STATIONERY

WE MAKE THE DEGREE CLASS RINGS

L. G. BALFOUR CO., Attleboro, Mass.

SOUTHERN BRANCH OFFICE

401-02 Methodist Building, Richmond, Va.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Affiliated with the S. N. S. since 1907

Gives modern instruction in Piano and Vocal

Theory, Harmony, Aesthetics, &c.

At reasonable tuition rates

ROY MOOSE

PHOTOGRAPHER

OVER GARLAND & McINTOSH

OPEN ONLY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SPECIAL PRICES TO S. N. S. STUDENTS

The Pure Food Store

FOR

LUNCHEON AND PICNIC
NECESSITIES

LET US SUPPLY THAT FEED

CHAS. BUGG & SON

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MONTAGUE REALTY CO.

Real Estate and Insurance

MRS. A. P. MONTAGUE, Business Manager

503 Krise Bldg.

Lynchburg, Va.

"ATTENTION LADIES"

AT LAST

GUARANTEED SILK HOSIERY

4 pair for $5.00—See Miss G. Bonnewell—
Room 122

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills

Even the buckwheat cake has to await its turn.

Father: My son, it is time for you to be taking a wife.

Son: Very well, father, whose wife shall I take?

I wish I were a little cup
From which you sip your evening tea,
And every time you'd take a sup
I'd make believe you're kissing me!

What's the difference between a woman and a postage stamp?
Well?

A woman is a female, and a stamp is a mail fee.

The Joke Editor realizes that this week's jokes are below par in both quality and quantity, but she has a grouch and refuses to apologize.

Teacher: Tell me something about the North Pole.

Johnny: It's sixteen feet high.

Teacher: But what about the climate?

Johnny: Eskimos climb it.

Spring has come,
Winter has went,
And it was not did
By accident.

The girl across the hall says she doesn't understand how a sailor can ever be financially embarrassed when there are always at least two bitts on every ship.

Seen Al?

Al who?

Alcohol. Kerosene him yesterday and he ain't benzine since.

Parry: "Fishing?"

Goric: "Naw, drowning worms."

Prof.: "What is A S? O?"

Stude: "E-er-I have on the tip of my tongue."

Prof.: "Spit it out quick, it's arsenic."

Other One: "Have you writtten to that wonderful man you met at Hampden-Sidney?"

Aleen M.: "No, I meant to, but I've forgotten his name."

Customer: "Seems to me that knife is rather dull."

Barber: "Mought be, sah. It was to party last night."

Widow.

Virginia Fox: "The native people of Australia have straight curly hair."

Flannel: "New sweater?"
Worsted: "Nope, new roommate."

Chaparral.

Conductor: "Ticket, please."

Prof.: "Socialist."

Chaparral.

Lady (as drunk falls against her): "How gauche!"

Drunk: "Fine, thanks. How goesch it with you?"

Widow.

THE EACO THEATER

Week March 12th-17th.

Monday—Pola Negri in the Paramount Picture "The Eyes of Mummy." Here is bewitching Pola Negri as an Oriental dancer who comes from the burning Sahara to capture London society by storm. All the charm and mystery of the West caught into a passion-sweet romance of irresistible appeal. Also Pathe News.

Tuesday—Wallace Reid, Lois Wilson and a lot of other big stars in "The World's Champion." He licked every pug in sight! Was a pal of lords and dukes. But when he faced a certain girl—Come see him take the count. Here are six joyous reels to a finish with beauty and "class" at the ringside. Also a good comedy.

Wednesday—Dorothy Dalton, Milton Sills, Wanda Hawley, and an all star cast in the Special Paramount picture "The Woman Who Walked Alone." A sensational love-melodrama without a dull second. With lavish gowns and settings, and a fine supporting cast. This is Romance, shivery thrills, and a brilliant fashion show—all in one.

Thursday—The Theatre will be rented to the Ladies' Missionary Society of The M. E. Church, and they will put on a local talent show, the nature of which is unknown to the writer at the present time.

Friday—Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood and an all star cast in the Special Paramount picture "The Man from Home." This is Booth Tarkington's famous romance produced with an all star cast and actually filmed in the beauty spots of America, England and Italy. It is a love drama as warm as the Italian skies under which it is filmed. Also a good comedy.

Saturday—Thomas Meighan in the George Ade story "Our Leading Citizen," with Theodore Roberts and Lois Wilson in the supporting cast. This is one of the best Meighan pictures we have ever seen. It is the sunny side of Main Street portrayed in an elaborate entertainment sparkling with real American pep and wit. Also 4th episode of Go Get 'Em Hutch. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

Admission to Normal students 25 cents on Friday night, and 20 cents all other nights.

SHANNON'S Soda Shop and Bakery

MAIN STREET AT HIGH

Delicious drinks and the most satisfying dainties to eat.

We specialize in catering to Normal School Students.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FUTURE TEACHERS! Write for our complete catalogue of School Supplies. We carry in Richmond a large stock of Kindergarten Furniture and Supplies, Water Colors, Drawing Paper, Note Books, Inks, Tablets and in fact every article for Schools and Colleges.

Write for latest catalogues and price list.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SUPPLY CO.

2000 W. MARSHALL ST., RICHMOND, VA.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

Will Fix Your Shoes While You Wait

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

People's National Bank

FARMVILLE, VA.

4% Interest on Deposits

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

MOORE'S ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

In front of Post Office

All Work Guaranteed

LADIES' SHOE SHINE PARLORS

COME TO

Burrells Kash Grocery

FOR

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERFF-JONES COMPANY

MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND ENGRAVERS

INDIANAPOLIS

We Manufacture the Standard Ring for the
Farmville State Normal School

College Stationers and Printers

FINE STATIONERY AND

ENGRAVING

SCHOOL SEAL STATIONERY

FRATERNITY STATIONERY

Dennison AGENCY

LEATHER GOODS

SEND US YOUR INQUIRIES

SURBER-ARUNDALE COMPANY

PUBLISHERS-PRINTERS-STATIONERS

CHARLOTTEVILLE... VIRGINIA

PRINTERS OF THE ROTUNDA

FOUNDER'S DAY
BOOSTS BUILDING FUND

GRAND CARNIVAL
A GREAT SUCCESS

THE NORMAL SCHOOL WEEKLY.

VOL. 3. No. 21.

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

MARCH 17, 1923

Second Founder's Day Celebration

FOUNDER'S DAY CELEBRATED

March Seventh Witnessed Interesting Program.

On March 7, 1923, the Farmville Normal celebrated its thirty-ninth anniversary with its second Founder's Day program.

The chief subject of this program was the Student Building that is being constructed thru the efforts of the Faculty; Alumnae and Students. March 7 was set as the big drive to raise money for the Student Building.

The program opened Wednesday morning at eight-thirty with the decoration of the buildings in the school colors. Blue and white was seen in every side. Chapel exercises at ten o'clock were given over to singing of school songs and in address by Judge Asa D. Watkins of Farmville, on the Beginning and Growth of the Farmville Normal. In his talk, Judge Watkins told of the work done by each of the four presidents, Dr. Rufner, Dr. Cunningham, Dr. Fraysier, and Dr. Jarman. After which he mentioned the many ways in which the school has been of benefit to the town of Farmville. Before concluding his address, the speaker mentioned Mr. B. d. Cox, Miss Mary White Cox, Mrs. Jamison, and Miss Jennie Tabb who have served the school so well, and so loyally.

The afternoon program consisted of stunts performed by the four professional classes. The Fourth Professional Class gave a mock acety meeting, dealing with the subject of spring holiday and the faculty dancing class. The Third Professional Class gave lesson in the Training School, taught by a student teacher and attended by observers. The Second Professional Class represented the faculty at Chapel. The parts were taken quite cleverly. The most ingenious stunt was carried out by the First Professional Class who built the Student Building, then poured in their nickles, dimes and quarters to help pay for it. After the stunts were over the First Profs. shouldered their building and paraded down Main Street followed by the whole school.

The chief features of the evening program were a play, "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil," presented by the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Spear, and reports of funds raised to raise the Student Building.

"Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil" was a very attractive one act play, well presented, and thoroughly enjoyable. It was the story of how a little boy saved his queen from being beheaded.

Dr. Jarman made a short talk concerning the plan for the Student Building, dwelling especially

(Continued on page 6.)

"GRAND CARNIVAL IN LITTLE FOLKS TOWN"

Presented by Training School—Directed by Supervisors.

Friday evening at 8:15 the Training School presented a "Grand Carnival in Little Folk Town" under the direction of Miss Haynes and Miss Von Shilling, ably assisted by the other supervisors of the Training School.

The scenes were laid in the streets of Little Folks Town and on the Carnival grounds. All of the performances were attended by the mayor and his worthy councilmen. The first act introduced the carnival to the people of the town. In the second act the "grand parade" was given. The third and last act was the regular nightly performance of the Carnival, closing with the fire works.

The costumes were very attractive, lending to the characters the charm of storyland from which they came.

The "Bubble Dance" by four little girls from the second grade was lovely. The Brownies charmed everybody. The Cake Walk drew more laughs than anything else unless it was the "Dwarf's Dance." The entire program was extremely entertaining and cleverly handled.

The music on the program was furnished by the school orchestra, Miss Julia Cave at the piano. Singing by the children, directed by Miss Munoz.

Miss Irma Dickenson was in charge of the scenery.

DISAPPEARANCE OF FAMOUS CHARACTER

Hinky Dee Abducted.

The numerous friends and relatives of the famous red Krazy Kat, Hinky Dee, are prostrated with grief at his complete disappearance. He was last seen at the Farmville-Radiford game at Radiford, where his continued efforts did much toward keeping up the enthusiasm and vim of the Farmville team. After the game, his fond parent saw him no more, but rumor has it that he was carried off by an inmate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Every possible step is being taken to secure his recovery. If any one knows aught of his whereabouts, let him present himself, thereby gaining the eternal gratitude of several torture-wracked souls.

"DOINGS OF THE DOLLAR"

Shown under Auspices of Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. was successful in procuring a five reel moving picture, "Doings of the Dollar" which was shown in the Auditorium of the Normal School last Monday night.

The history of the beginning of the Y. W. C. A. and the work it has done in the past and is doing in the present was most interestingly portrayed in the picture. The beginning of the movement was first shown, then its growth, and finally the sixteen countries in which it works today. After this brief sketch the attention was turned entirely to the United States branch of the Association and the work it does. Interesting pictures were shown of girls attending the summer conferences at Blue Ridge. Then followed pictures showing the work being done in cities, especially with the Industrial girls, also with colored girls. The work of town and country associations was shown, and the need for more work of this kind. After finishing with this country the picture showed interesting phases of the work our American Y. W. C. A. is doing in other countries as China, Japan, India, South America, and Europe.

STUDENT BUILDING PAYMENTS

Miss Fannie Ligon.....	$ 5.00
Mary P. Berkeley.....	10.00
Henrietta Dunlap.....	50.00
Annie Laurie Stone.....	10.00
Miss Tucker.....	10.00
Bertha Owen.....	5.00
Mary Cleaton.....	5.00
Helen Skillman.....	10.00
Mrs. Vera Tignor Sandidge.....	50.00
Frances Sterrett.....	15.00
Mr. George Walker.....	5.00
Health Campaign Fines.....	6.86
Mr. McCorkle.....	5.00
Mr. W. J. Hillsman.....	25.00
Mr. C. C. Cowan.....	50.00
Gwendolyn Wright.....	10.00
Bertha Spradlin.....	5.00
Mrs. A. T. Gray.....	12.50
Mr. J. W. Wilson.....	5.00
Mr. H. T. Stokes.....	10.00
Dr. R. E. Hamlett.....	5.00
Mr. W. C. Newman.....	100.00
Mr. F. O. Jones.....	20.00
Mr. R. B. Cralle.....	10.00
Mr. H. N. Madison.....	5.00
Mr. D. L. Traylor.....	10.00
Mr. John C. Hamlett.....	1.00

(Continued on page 4.)

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n

Published weekly by the students of The State Normal School, Farmville, Va.

Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1921, at the post office of Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription $2.00 per year.

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-ChiefELIZABETH MORING
Assistant Editor.....DOROTHY LANGSLOW

BOARD OF EDITORS:

NewsANNE MEREDITH
AthleticNELL McABBLE
JokeEMILY CALCOTT
LiteraryPAULINE TIMBERLAKE
ExchangeCAROLYN MORROW
AlumnaeMiss BROWNIE TALIAFERRO

MANAGERS:

Business Manager.....CHRISTINE ARMSTRONG
Assistant Business Manager.....GENEVIEVE BONNEWELL
Circulation Manager.....FLORENCE MILLER
Assistant Circulation Manager.....MARY MAUPIN
Assistant Circulation Manager.....CAROLYN PAYNE
Advertising Manager.....CATHERINE KEMP
TypistMARTHA PHILLIPS

HOW WILL YOU VOTE IN THE SPRING ELECTIONS?

Will you be back next year? Who else will? Who will take the places of those who will have left us, or who will be the officers for next year in the Student Government, Y. W. C. A., and on the ROTUNDA Staff? Will the new officers do their work as well as the ones we have this year? Which girl will be best for each place? These are some of the questions we will soon be asking and answering.

When we select the girls who are to be our officers, to look after our interests, and to influence the new girls and also us for the best, what girls should we choose? Do we nominate or vote for a girl because she is popular and will probably be elected anyway or because she will be best for her place? If the girl of your choice is competent, is she where she fits best or could she do better work in a less conspicuous place? In order to have the very best school possible we must not choose a girl because she is our friend, but we should take a broader view and conscientiously put our vote where it should go. Again, we must remember that there are many girls just as competent as our friends. If girls whom we do not know are nominated for certain offices we are going to vote for the one who appears best when the nominees withdraw from the student body while being discussed, or are we going to busy ourselves to learn the girls during the time between nominations and the time to vote, and then vote wisely?

Let us remember that fitness for service is the thing we are seeking, rather than to place our friends in office.

THE SPRING TERM

